We are glad we got the calendar, because we were on point trying to get the calendar ready with the job department cause of the one we swiped from Robert How Could You?

One Robert Craft Campbell, service hobbie, editor of the magazine, has broken one of his bright New Year's resolutions, and before first month is half gone.

We quote from the records: On Dec. 31, along with numerous other resolutions, which we preserved in order to check on him from time to time, he said: "Resolved: To call Mr. William Mayes of the Ranger Times Willy William no more."

Then on Jan. 11 he wrote: "Willy William Mayes of the Ranger Times is having his trousers, Willy William has burdens to wear, as it were. We sluffed off to less than 30 cents calling Mr. Mayes Saturday night to ascertain if the Eastland-Albany basketball game came out, and Mr. Mayes informed that he was very sorry but he didn't know how the Eastland-Albany game came out and what more he didn't care how it came out. Trying to find out correct tallies of games played in the O. H. Bell basketball league is the trying to find out which Nubian carried the ball around a certain end when the Nubians are playing away from home. Prexy Anderson of the Abilene Morning News is growing gray headed with rapidly due to the fact that although he calleth he receiveth no mowers regarding the scores."

As all the Ranger games are played away from home it is pretty hard to keep track of them. Coach Fricky Ward told us that when he returned from a game he would stop in and give us the dope on it. The first game was won by the Bulldogs and Ward came by and told us. The next time they played we asked numerous people and did lots of telephoning without even finding out the score. Once we called Eck Curtis, the football coach, and he said the score was 11 to 24 "or thereabouts," which was the most definite word we could get. Since we never could find anyone who even knows the scores, no doubt there are few who care much about basketball.

ADAMS ORDERS MEN HELD ON BOARD VESSEL

Call For Martial Law Made By Meeting of 1,000 Prominent Men.

HONOLULU, Jan. 12.—Emergency orders were given troops at Fort Shafter today as citizens of Honolulu, aroused by island terrorism and the "honor" slaying of a young Hawaiian, issued demands for martial law.

With Hawaii's rigid territorial law already invoked to protect women from further attacks, it was learned that commanding officers of the 64th coast artillery were prepared to answer riot calls on 10 minutes' notice.

The call for martial law was made at a meeting of 1,000 prominent residents just as a new grand jury was chosen to consider indictments in the kidnaping and slaying of Joe Kahanawai.

The accused held aboard the warship Albatross at Pearl Harbor are Mrs. Grace Foresee, 49, New York and Washington society figure; Lieutenant Thomas Massie, 25, her son-in-law, and E. J. Lord, 22, and Albert O. Jones, 57, enlisted men.

Before a meeting of five natives recently tried on charges of attacking 20-year-old Thalia Massie, wife of the lieutenant and daughter of Mrs. Foresee, was killed last Friday. His battered body, wrapped in a sheet, was found, officers said, in an automobile occupied by Mrs. Foresee, Massie and Lord.

GARNER TOO BUSY TO BE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—President Hoover's cabinet combined today with other agencies of the government in a rapid-fire series of government aimed at bringing speedy justice to all concerned in the recent outbreak of lawlessness in Honolulu.

Secretary of the Navy Adams brought the matter to the attention of Mr. Hoover and other cabinet members.

Before attending the cabinet meeting Adams issued orders to the navy commandant at Honolulu to retain custody for the time being of Lieutenant Massie, rather than surrender him to civil authorities for trial on a charge of murdering one of the alleged attackers of the officer's wife.

Special Venire Is Summoned For Trial of Negro

Six Members of Family Burn To Death in Utah

MYTON, Utah, Jan. 12.—An entire family of six were burned to death today when their ranch home was destroyed by fire.

Remarkable Picture Shows Doctor Operating On Himself

This remarkable photograph shows Dr. Evan O'Neill Kane of Kane, Pa., operating upon himself for inguinal hernia. It is believed that this is the first time this operation has ever been performed on a patient by himself. Dr. Kane startled the medical world 11 years ago when he was the first man ever to remove his own appendix.

GARNER TOO BUSY TO BE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Speaker Garner has such a big job running the House he has not the time to think about his boom for the presidency.

Talks were made by impromptu speakers who explained that the purpose of the meeting was not to criticize, but to co-operate. W. S. Michael, county auditor, was elected general committee chairman. Michael will select a group of 25 from the list of depositors who in turn will select an executive committee consisting of three depositors.

This executive committee will co-operate with the state liquidating agent in providing truthful information about the ability of debtors of the institution to pay and assist the banking department in arriving at satisfactory decisions on such compromise propositions as may be offered.

The co-operation of the banking department has been offered and it is thought that in this way the depositors will be more nearly satisfied that their interests are being cared for.

Precinct Weigher Is Selected And Then Fired Again

Last week the county commissioners' court met and appointed Mark Pelfrey of Rising Star to fill the unexpired term in the office of public weigher of precinct No. 7. The vacancy was caused by the death of S. J. Poteet.

Pelfrey made the necessary bond and qualified for the place.

The court then passed an order declaring the place vacant. To quote from order No. 26, "Whereas, the court after further consideration said appointment is of the opinion that it was not only hasty in making the above appointment, but that proper regard and due deference was not shown the widow of S. J. Poteet."

Then the court ordered that Mrs. S. J. Poteet be appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of her husband.

Speaking of the Weather—It Really Occurs In Many Parts of United States and Europe

The discovery of red snow is reported from time to time and is a subject of unending popular interest. Such snow occurs chiefly in the polar regions and among the snowfields of high mountains, though it has been observed occasionally at low levels.

De Saussure, in the eighteenth century, described its occurrence in the Alps. In 1818 Sir John Ross discovered the Crimson Cliffs on the northwest coast of Greenland near Cape York. The dark red snow of the cliffs was many feet deep. Specimens of the melt snow that he brought home were found to owe their color to a minute organism.

Several other lowly species of plants and animal life impart to snow different shades of red as well as green and yellow. Broad stretches of yellow snow were found on the ice of the Kara Sea by the Arctic expedition of the Due d'Orleans; green and blue varieties have been encountered elsewhere.

Snow colored by dust is another story. Showers of reddish dust, to borrow a term from the section of the country for the next two months, is stated today.

Approximately $10,000 a month in pay rolls is being spent in Ranger each month, it was estimated today by filling station operators who have been furnishing gasoline for trucks.

The company is reported to be taking up pipe between Ranger and Grafrod and maintains a shop for repairing the pipe before it is shipped. Standard wages of $4.95 a day is reported as the salaries given for ordinary labor.

COMPANY REMOVING PIPE LINE PAYING THOUSANDS IN SALARIES

The Standiford Pipe Line company has been employing about 58 men regularly for the past six weeks taking up pipe along old pipelines near Ranger and will continue to work in this section of the country for the next two months, it was stated today.

Approximately $10,000 a month in pay rolls is being spent in Ranger each month, it was estimated today by filling station operators who have been furnishing gasoline for trucks.

The resignation has been accepted.

Holmes is the oldest man ever to sit on the supreme bench. He will be 91 next March 8. He was the only surviving civil war veteran in high official life.

Born in Boston, the son of the Holmes fought throughout the famous post of the same name. Holmes fought through the Civil war's bloodiest battle and was wounded three times. He has served the supreme court nearly half a century.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
WASHINGTON—America's unemployed legion really came to this capital for the first time with Father Cox.

At midnight we found the marchers piling in from pouring rain to the dismantled old National hotel, once Washington's pride. They lay trying to sleep on the lobby's bare marble floors.

With vague, puzzled looks they had waited vainly late the previous night for food they knew was coming because "someone" had said so.

But we doubt that Mr. Garner is being helped any by the back-fire efforts of William Randolph Hearst to strike at others by championing him.

MONEY APPEARS TO BE A MERCILESS DRIVER.

This is an age of the machine and science. This is the age known as the industrial, and the scientist and the chemist and their laboratories have transformed the agricultural age to a great extent into an industrial age.

Now the stage has been set for the trial of the ouster suits against the major oil companies. Now the owners of natural gas properties, speaking of the independents, claim that they are unable to provide a market for this natural resource.

Just the other day came the story from Hollywood that drastic slashing of overhead expenses and sweeping reductions in salaries for all concerned was the order of the day.

These spectacular contests should engage the attention of all the people. They concern the welfare of all the people. They concern investors as well as the vast army of consumers.

Rushing around town this morning trying to scare up a few bits of news, I was pleased to learn that Army Armstrong has sufficiently recovered from a recent operation that he can receive visitors who may play bridge.

Before I had finished my breakfast this morning, my friend Gator from L. C. Burr's came to me with as pitiful a story as I have heard recently.

Thence to the United looking for Sid, who was out somewhere. Someone asked me if I had found her a guitar yet, which reminded me that if any of you folks have a guitar to sell and it's cheap, I will buy it for you.

Thence to the Chamber of Commerce where found Dr. Tanner in the throes of a bad humor. And received the news of the birth of a crop of sons and daughters to the Chung family.

And saw our postmaster, Mr. Johnson, back from a honeymoon trip which included visits to San Angelo, Del Rio, Villa Acuna, and Big Spring.

I don't just understand the action of the commissioners' court in appointing a man to fill out an expired term in an office and then unappointing and disappointing him and declaring the office vacant right away quick.

I also see by the minutes of the court that it has decided not to authorize the payment of ex-officio salaries to county officers for the year 1931.

And it seems that several places in the county have made their proper application and supplied bond as required by law and have been appointed as official headlight testing stations.

on the broad, bright highway of moderate and lasting good times. There have been other depressions. In the past one hundred and thirty years we have had thirteen of these lapses of prosperity.

The temporary collapse of the world's business structure was caused by a combination of circumstances, and only through courage and well-considered action can we bring about a return of prosperity.

French Embassy Austin Holds Much of Interest

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles on the historic landmarks of Texas, written by Samuel E. Gideon, associate professor of architectural design and architectural history at the University of Texas. Mr. Gideon is national committeeman of the American Institute of Architects for the Preservation of Worthwhile Landmarks throughout the United States.)

On Robertson Hill in East Austin, at Eighth and San Marcos, stands the French Legation, the best house in Austin. When built, it was the center of the settlement, but the city has now grown around it and the grounds, so much curtailed.

In 1840 France recognized the republic of Texas and sent, as ambassador, Monsieur Saligny, a young bachelor, who later became Count Saligny. About 1842 Monsieur Saligny built the house on the hill and the house now is, as it was then, except for minor changes. A lattice rail, reading "Legation de France," was removed from in front of the former residence and a service wing added to the rear of the house. The locks, hinges, and doors came from France and the lumber came from the West. It was sawed by a man in a pit and another man using a two-handled saw. There is a dignity in the moulded architraves around the doors and windows, both inside and outside the house; the mantels, which are simple but refined in proportion, give the keynote for the entire house.

During Monsieur Saligny's residence, the embassy was the scene of much hospitality and frequent parties, ladies, properly chaperoned, were included amongst the guests. A source of much entertainment was a hand organ.

If you enter you will find an ornate hall, which leads to the sitting room, until, not long ago, there were many pieces of furniture that belonged to Monsieur Saligny, and you will note the huge locks and trap hinges on the doors, but the furniture, seen in the rooms, is the property of Miss Robertson, who, in 1837, hailed much of it overland from Tennessee.

An unfortunate incident occurred in Monsieur Saligny's household when the Republic of Texas was making effort to secure a loan from France. An Austin inspector, named Bullock, attacked a member of Monsieur Saligny's household and the matter was later aggravated by Bullock's dogs getting into Saligny's stable and eating the corn intended for the Legation horses. A servant killed the dogs and Bullock was promptly thrashed by Saligny. Not satisfied with the result, Bullock, Texas government dog.

to look into the matter, Monsieur Saligny threatened to make an international affair of it. He suspended relations with the Texas government and withdrew from Austin, but remained in Texas. The republic protested against his residence within its territory and he went to New Orleans. As he was a brother-in-law of the French minister of finance, the loan that was being negotiated, naturally received a severe shock.

Audit Shows the Highway Dept. Is Very Efficient

AUSTIN.—It was long hinted by political factions as a Texas bombshell. It has turned out to be a prosaic dud. That is the long-awaited audit of the state highway department. The audit has been made by Moore Lynn, state auditor and efficiency expert. It will contain many pages of statistics. Auditor Lynn is now preparing his recommendations and comments, based upon the results. The most that those expecting to make political thunder out of the audit may now count on is to find that two or three county highway foremen have been fired for payroll padding amounting to a few hundred dollars apiece. The audit covers financial operations amounting to $100,000,000 a year, including federal aid, state motor license and gasoline tax fees, county aid to state highways, maintenance and construction budgets of the biggest department, from a financial point of view, in the state. It will make numerous suggestions for revisions of operating details. It will recite many improvements and changes in operating system already integrated into the huge department by the highway commission itself. The audit will show direct accounting for every dollar going into the highway fund, and direct accounting for every dollar taken out of the fund. It will thus be a failure, so far as those are concerned who prompted, month after month, and repeated sessions of the legislature, a legislative command for the audit. It is a success so far as presenting to the people of Texas a complete picture of the financial operations of the highway department, down to date, is concerned. It has been made at comparatively low cost, because persons in the auditor's department have done the work.

THREE KINDS OF LOVE

BY KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Ann, Cecily and Mary Frances Fenwick live with their grandparents. The sisters have been orphaned since childhood. The grandparents, known as "Rosalie and Grand"—have long since lost their wealth and the household is supported by Ann's and Cecily's earnings. For this reason, Ann, 28, and Philip Ecrody, young lawyer, are still postponing their marriage though they have been engaged 8 years.

Cecily, 22, is in love with Barry McKeel, an engineer, but when he proposes she refuses to name the wedding date because she cannot leave Ann with the financial responsibility of the home.

Mary Frances, 15, and still in school, strikes up an acquaintance with Earl DeArmont, stock company actor. She meets him secretly and he tries to persuade her to become his partner in a vaudeville act.

Phil takes Ann to dinner. A girl she has never seen before sends him a note. Phil's explanations are vague. On the way home Phil stops the car to investigate some engine trouble. Letty King, wife of the actor, Kenneth Smith, her escort, come along in another car. Letty addresses Phil with endearments and Ann, angry, gets in Smith's car and asks him to take her home.

Miss Lane, a teacher, reports that Mary Frances is neglecting her school work.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXX

As the door closed, Ann looked up from the ironing, and Cecily turned from the shelves. Cecily said, "Goodness, Ann! I didn't know she was going. I'm afraid I hurt her feelings. I forgot to listen. We didn't even tell her we were glad about the Carmichaels, did we?"

"She talked too much," Ann said, but faintly defensive. "I know. But she means to be so much better than she is. So does Grand. They both do."

Ann said, "I think I'll go to see Miss Lane this afternoon."

"Phil will you go," I'd go, but Barry is coming early—I didn't think Mary Frances is boy struck."

"What of it? She's a normal, healthy girl of 15."

"We weren't boy struck at 15," said Ann.

"We were so worried and so busy. Still, I do remember a little Jewish boy named Milton; and what a handsome—Carl was his name, wasn't it, Ann?"

"Dear me," Ann almost smiled. "I hadn't thought of him for years. His father was a butcher—I hated that. Cecily, does it impress you that Grand and Rosalie have suddenly begun, of late, to talk a lot about our being married? They never used to. Lately they drag it in by the scruff of the neck whenever they talk to us. Or—don't they?"

"They do," Cecily agreed. "I was thinking of that just now when Rosalie was talking. I decided it was for one of two reasons. Either they are trying to find out whether Barry and I are engaged—"

"Are you?"

"No—not really. Oh, angel, the way things are now with Barry and me is simply almost too perfect. I—"

"Yes, I know, honey. But you said one of two reasons. What is the other reason?"

"I don't know exactly. But I sort of wondered if at last they had waked up a little. Got hold of the fact that we kept things going here and were, perhaps, worried—trighted?"

Ann shook her head. "Well? But that couldn't be it. I'm sure it isn't. No. They seem to wish us to marry."

"Yes, I know. But don't you see—they would? Seem to, I mean. They'd think just far enough to desire that they wouldn't stand in the way of our happiness; but they wouldn't go on and think about what they would do if we went off and left them. They might feel worried and frightened, but they wouldn't allow themselves to think it—much less say it. They are that way with everything. Right now they are both planning a lifetime ahead of them. They won't recognize death—they won't so much as nod to it."

Ann sighed. "I don't know what I'll tell them about Phil and me. They'll question so."

Foot Troubles Are Caused By Walking

By United Press.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Most foot troubles are caused by walking with the toes pointed out instead of straight ahead, according to Dr. Albert Key of the Hospital for Crippled Children here.

"If people would learn to walk with their toes pointed straight ahead, foot trouble would be greatly reduced, provided they wear shoes that fit them," he said.

The ideal shoe is the one that is built in the same shape as the foot, he said. It is harder on the feet to stand than to walk, Dr. Key said. Overweight is a principal cause of foot strain, he said.

Forest Firefighters To Go Muleback

MISSOULA, Mont.—Forest service fire fighters will ride mules instead of walking to fires as in the past.

Tests in the Selway forest revealed 42 per cent of the pack mules in the forest service strings are available as saddle animals.

Forest service officials will start training the mules to carry riders at once in order that the men can be fresh to begin work when they arrive at distant blazes.

and the strong attachment existing between him and his master has attracted the attention of many as Judge Purcell rides about the county with his horse. Buster Brown was born in April, 1905. His owner raised and trained the pony himself, but in the first ten years of his life did not ride him much as he was then still practicing law in Archer county.

The horse still is known as one of the finest four-gaited galle horses in the State of Texas. Judge Purcell said that the horse, being an animal of almost human intelligence, learned the different gaits by name and would immediately take the one called for by his master.

"Since I retired to private life more than 17 years ago, he has carried me faithfully in my ranch work and to and from my home in Archer City to my ranches. During that long time he has been my constant companion and friend without guile, utterly free from hypocrisy, deception or selfishness. Too often found in human beings, a perfect understanding developed between horse and rider; I knew him, he knew me. In his way he let his wants be known; I under-

POPOVERS offer a happy change from the muffins and rolls usually served at luncheons and breakfasts. Strangely enough, however, they bespeak an unknown resin to many a housewife and she hesitates to include them in her menu. Here is the secret of delicate popovers lies in the simple factor, temperature.

The materials—milk, flour, eggs and salt—required to make popovers are always at hand. If an emergency arises, it's an easy matter to stir up a dozen of these fascinating shells and they are sure to be liked.

When the physical change that takes place during the baking of popovers is understood the mystery of their "popping" becomes clear. Milk contains a large percentage of water and the sudden application of intense heat to the popover batter causes the water rapidly to change to steam. Steam is, of course, many times the volume of water and stretches the gluten walls of the flour to their utmost. This with the help of the egg forms the hollow shell of the popover. This explains the necessity of pre-heating the pans as well as the oven.

Heavy Pans Are Best
 Iron or cast aluminum gem pans and glass or earthenware custard cups are suitable for popover baking. The lighter weight gem pans can be used, but the popovers do not always "pop" as they should. You will find popovers an unusually versatile bread-stuff. They can be used as a case for creamed chicken or fish in place of timbale shells or patty cases. Creamed dried beef served in popovers is a bit more festive than plain cream-dried beef. Used for a dessert with a filling or sauce poured over them, they reduce the amount of sugar in the menu to an appreciable degree. Popovers piping hot from the oven served with fresh maple syrup make a delicately seasonal early spring dessert.

Popovers
 Two eggs, 1 cup bread flour, 1 scant cup milk, 1-3 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon melted butter.
 Mix and sift flour and salt. Add milk gradually, beating to make smooth. Beat eggs until light. Add the eggs to first mixture, beating with a Dover beater for two or three minutes. Heat muffin pans until sizzling hot and grease thoroughly. Fill each pan half full with popover batter and place at once in the hot oven. Bake for 20 minutes at this temperature, then lower the temperature to 350 degrees F. and continue baking for 20 minutes. Turn off heat and let stand in the oven for five minutes. Serve at once. Preheat the oven to 450 degrees F.

Laplenders are more trouble to make but are very delicate and crisp. Two cups of milk and two teaspoons melted butter are used and the whites and yolks of the eggs are beaten separately. The whites are folded in last.
