ROBERTS GIVEN 99 YEARS IN SLAYING

KEEPING THIRTY- ONE KNOTHOLE WITH BILL MAYES

Yesterday afternoon we looked at H. B. Johnson, pastor of the Christian church, to get some information from him. We never get the information we sought, we found him working the garden around the church and got agricultural and gardening information from him.

We found one man spading up the side of the church near the onion bed and the thing. Brother Johnson told us he had planted out the onions October and had gotten high on them to keep the family fed all through the winter. He still had plenty left.

He had a number of nice tomato plants put out, which haven't done well as yet on account of three leghorn chickens and a couple of bluebonnets. However, the pasteur has a few zinnias, bluebonnets, roses and other flowers, the names of which we do not know what part of the onions, tomatoes, Kentucky beans and the black-eyed peas he is going to plant in the garden he is having spaded. Incidentally another man was chopping weeds around the tomatoes, we do not know what part of the work Brother Johnson does, as it is the eating.

We told us that last year he canned 24 No. 3 cans of Kentucky beans from four rows in the present crop is, but that he has a better stand than he has ever.

Several of the old benches that were in the church before the seats were bought and installed last fall are to be rebuilt and painted and put out under the cherry trees in front of the church to furnish places for the people to sit in the shade. Prohibit there and rest after helping work on his garden, he did not say so.

A total of 42 cars had joined the motorcade before it reached California, Mr. Conway said today.

FIXING THE BLAME

This is a story about a little boy, a group of gangsters and a nation of 120,000,000 people.

The little boy was born with a silver spoon in his mouth and died in a lonely thicket off a country road in New Jersey.

The gangsters slid up out of the underworld, stole the little boy from his parents, killed him—and made $50,000 out of the job. And the nation of 120,000,000 people helped to call the gangsters into existence, helped to support them while they waited the chance to pull the job, and helped them, all things considered, to get away with it.

It did it without meaning to, without knowing what it did, without knowing, indeed, that it was doing anything except follow the easiest course.

It makes a House-that-Jack-built sort of story, when you stop to think about it.

The House that Jack Built, of course, is that broad, charming, energetic, upright and occasionally thoughtless country known as the United States of America. If you'll read to the end of this little story, you'll see why the House that Jack Built is a good name for it.

This, then, is the House that Jack Built.

Next, of course, we have the little boy who lived in the House that Jack Built.

Then we have the gangsters who stole and murdered the little boy who lived in the House that Jack Built.

Back of them we have the underworld that produced the gangsters who killed the boy who lived in the House that Jack Built.

Next in the line come the rackets—the booze racket, the gambling racket, the vice racket, the thousand and one allied rackets, but first and last and most important the booze racket—the rackets that supported the underworld that produced the gangsters who killed the boy who lived in the House that Jack Built.

Then there are the crooked cops who tolerated the rackets—tolerated them partly because they got paid and partly because the higher-ups told them to—tolerated the rackets that supported the underworld that produced the gangsters who killed the boy who lived in the House that Jack Built.

Next we have the politicians who found the underworld useful, and who got a cut on its illegal earnings, and enlisted its leaders in their political machines and protected them and made it possible for them to thrive—the politicians who controlled the cops who tolerated the rackets that supported the underworld that produced the gangsters who killed the boy who lived in the House that Jack Built.

Back of the politicians we have the Big Shot—there's one in every big city, and sometimes more than one, and in each city the Big Shot has all of the town's important illegal activities right under his thumb—the Big Shot who fixed the politicians who controlled the cops who tolerated the rackets that supported the underworld that produced the gangsters who killed the boy who lived in the House that Jack Built.

Then we have the bootlegger—the ordinary, undistinguished bootlegger, who sometimes peddles his liquor from a suitcase and sometimes maintains a speakeasy or a beer flat—the bootlegger who paid the Big Shot who fixed the politicians who controlled the cops who tolerated the rackets that supported the underworld that produced the gangsters who killed the boy who lived in the House that Jack Built.

And then, last of all, looking quite innocent, we have the ultimate consumer, the bootlegger's customer, who gave the bootlegger the money which the bootlegger passed on down the line to the Big Shot, and which the Big Shot used to fix the politicians.

It's clear now, isn't it?

This is the man who bought the booze that enriched the bootlegger who paid the Big Shot who fixed the politicians who controlled the cops who tolerated the rackets that supported the underworld that produced the gangsters who killed the boy who lived in the House that Jack Built.

This is the man—who is he? Who, but—you and I!

IS CONVICTED IN DEATH OF OLLIE PARKS

By United Press.
BRECKENRIDGE, May 19.—Harry Roberts, 25, of Throckmorton who was tried in the 90th district court here on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the slaying of Deputy Constable Ollie Parks at a dance hall on the night of March 16, was assessed a penalty of 99 years in prison by the jury, deliberating the case.

The jury received the case at 12:30 Wednesday and returned the verdict of guilt and assessed punishment at 99 years in the penitentiary late that evening.

Arguments in the case started Wednesday morning after completion of taking testimony.

County Attorney Robert E. Bowers opened for the state and spoke thirty minutes. He was followed by B. H. Reynolds, member of the defense counsel, who also spoke thirty minutes. Jeff A. Fowler closed for the defense in a one hour's address. Dean closed for the state, speaking from 11:30 until 12:30 o'clock.

Fowler asked that the jury not send the youth to the electric chair, as "there was no malice aforethought in this slaying."

The trial was brought to an abrupt ending at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, when the defense closed after putting the defendant and three other witnesses on the stand. Several rebuttal witnesses were used by both the state and defense to close the testimony. Testimony in the case did not start until Tuesday morning.

Roberts testified that he was twenty-eight years old, married and had one child and two stepchildren.

He admitted he was at the dance the night of the slaying and that he and Bybee were there together.

POLICE QUIZ NEGOTIATORS IN KIDNAPING

By United Press.
HOPEWELL, N. J., May 19.—New Jersey State police and their colleagues of national and metropolitan forces followed today, in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, trails, many of which had grown cold with time.

Their most helpful aid, Dr. John F. "Jaffie" Condon, resided in his home, fatigued by the strain of many hours in the search for an identification to help trace down the murderer of Colonel Lindbergh's baby, Charles, Jr.

John Hughes Curtis, whose fabricated story of "contact" with the "kidnappers" had landed him as prisoner No. 13 in Flemington city jail after waiving hearing, was still a subject for examination, and his colleague, the Very Rev. Dean W. Dubson-Peacock of Norfolk, is likely to undergo sharp interrogation at his home.

Gov. Harry Moore of New Jersey let it be known today he is anxious to have a New Jersey authority cross examine Dubson-Peacock, who has virtually defied the state police in efforts to bring him here to confront Curtis. The latter, remorseful over the roles he played in the hope of gain has bitterly denounced Dubson-Peacock as a publicity seeker.

Jubilee Singers Are On Ranger Lions Program

The Colored Jubilee singers of the Macedonia Baptist church of Ranger, entertained the Ranger Lions club at their regular meeting held at noon today at the First Christian church.

In addition to the jubilee singers, the meeting was made enjoyable by the ladies of the church, who served an excellent meal.

The colored singers thrilled their audience with their rendition of old-time negro spirituals, among which were "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Steal Away to Jesus," "Sinners, You Can't Stand That Fire," and a vocal solo, "He Will Hold Me Fast."

Announcement was made at the meeting that the swimming pool, The Willows, would be opened again this year by the club. All members of the club agreed to be present at the pool at 6 o'clock Friday morning with a rake and a hoe to help chop weeds and make the grounds presentable for the opening.

A committee was appointed to furnish and cook bacon, eggs and coffee in the open and serve breakfast on the grounds to the workers, who will go direct from the pool to their jobs.

No announcement has been made concerning the opening dates for the pool or the admission price, though it is expected to have everything in readiness by the last week in May or the first week in June.

One of the largest crowds in several weeks attended the meeting today. Visitors were Lion Wyley of Fort Worth and District Governor Horace Conley of Eastland.

RANGER SENIORS OBSERVE CLASS DAY AT SCHOOL WITH FITTING EXERCISES TODAY

The senior class of the Ranger High school held their annual class day exercises at the high school auditorium this morning between the hours of 10:30 and noon.

Key Stephens, president of the class, presided at the exercises. His introduction of the various members of the class as they presented their parts on the program was worthy of a toastmaster of a much older group of representative citizens of the town.

R. F. Holloway, superintendent of the Ranger public schools, opened the exercises with a prayer, following which he explained the nature of the gathering and the object of Senior Day.

Chaire Dyer presented the salutatory for the class, followed by the history of the class by Mary Jane Dreinhofner and the reading of the class poem.

An octet, composed of members of the class sang a selection, "Love Greetings," which was enjoyed very much by the seniors and visitors.

The class prophesy was presented by Bruce Harris followed by the reading of the class will by Bob King. Mildred Hill, valedictorian of the class, presented her address before the assembled seniors.

Following a custom of the school, the seats of the seniors are given over to the junior class. This was an impressive ceremony. In turning the seats over to the junior class, President Stevens of the seniors said, "Perhaps you have heard us say, 'Oh, I will be'."

Private Building Plans Depression's Brightest Spot

By United Press.
WASHINGTON.—One of the bright spots in the Rumanian economic situation is the slight boom in private building that is foreseen for the early summer.

Reports received here from Bucharest by the commerce department state that there have been more than 4,000 building permits granted in the Rumanian metropolis since Jan. 1, 1932.

The majority of these permits are for small dwellings, usually two-family affairs.

Final Second 5 Year Plan Figures Due In August

By United Press.
MOSCOW.—Final figures for the second five year plan must be in the hands of the council of people's commissars by Aug. 20, according to a decree.

By that date the state planning commission must submit detailed plans for the 1933-1937 period, including a more elaborate outline of control figures for 1933.

The general outlines of the second five year plan were announced early this year and explained in some detail at the conference of the communist party. But the final plan is far from complete. Local planning organizations, as well as individual industries, are working hard on their own plans. These, in turn, will be co-ordinated by higher organs.

The council of people's commissars has emphasized the importance of drawing millions of ordinary workers and peasants into the work of preparing the plans.

"THE WEST COMING EAST"

Bascom N. Timmons is a Texas newspaperman very prominent in the ranks of Washington correspondents. He is the president of the National Press club. According to an editorial carried by the Washington Post he has introduced the old time Texas barbecue to the people of Washington and those on the fringe of Washington. "Chesapeake Beach is a rather unusual locale for a Texas barbecue," editorializes the Post. "Barbecue, Eastern and Southern style, are not a rarity in this section, but the event which the National Press club has announced for May 21 is of the unique character that long ago made Amarillo and San Antonio famous and then extended its sway as far westward as Los Angeles." Barbecues of supreme genius are few and far between, declares the Post, and one of them is John Snyder who is en route from Amarillo to Washington to prepare the feast to be given in honor of President Timmons, the president who presides over the Press Club.

John Snyder prepared barbecue for cattle barons in the days when that hooded and sombered crowd ruled the Southwest. Moreover, the old barbecuer is jealous of his reputation. He must personally supervise the construction of his pits and he never leaves those pits during the 24 hours while the beebes are cooking. Lest we forget, the Post editor must be familiar with the history of Texas. He reminds the reader that a Texas barbecue is reminiscent of the days when the Farewells at Chicago built the Texas state capitol in exchange for the 3,000,000 acres of land and started the XII ranch; when Lord Adair of Ireland was a feudal lord of the Panhandle as well as in Ireland; or even further back, to the days of the wiry, nervous, long limbed cattle of Spanish blood with their slender branching horns. More stuff of an informative nature follows. Beginning in the 60's thousands of Texas longhorns went up the Chisholm, the old Shawnee and the Goodnight trails. Those were the palmy days of the cattlemen. Their wealth increased at a ratio beyond their capacity to spend it. Many of them did not know how many cattle they owned. When in the 70's and in the early part of the decade following, their power and wealth were at the highest point. They practically owned the Lone Star state from No-Man's Land to El Paso, their cattle ranged. Prices were high and money was flowing in for investment.

Texas, the reader is reminded, is still the leading cattle state and in the census taken in 1930 for the first time the Lone Star state had less than a cow per capita. FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE TEXAS WAS A REPUBLIC, IT HAD MORE PEOPLE THAN CATTLE BUT EVEN IN 1930 THE RATIO WAS CLOSE—5,824,715 people and 5,567,173 cattle. At the turn of the century in 1900 there were 9,428,196 cattle in Texas, compared to 3,048,710 people.

Time in its flight has made remarkable changes. Col. Charles Goodnight, "the first gentleman of the Panhandle," passed on to his reward in the not distant past at the age of 94. Lord Adair died long ago. Mrs. Adair, American born and the aunt of former U. S. Senator James W. Wadsworth of New York, is among the silent sleepers. All the old cattle barons have passed out. More important than all this, a Texan born on a Panhandle ranch, who quit the range for the newspaper game, is president of the National Press club and is introducing the Texas barbecue to be handled by the last of the old chuck wagon cooks to the people away down East. Likewise, a Texan is speaker of the house of representatives, may be the nominee for president, and seven Texans are chairmen of important house committees. Yes, TEXAS IS IN THE BIG PICTURE!

ORGANIZED LABOR DEMANDS BEER AND WINE

And now the annual convention of the Texas State Federation of Labor has resolved for the modification of the Volstead act to legalize .275 per cent beer and light wines. Indeed a resolution offered received the unanimous votes of the delegates. Moreover, the resolution urged the unification of labor in a real effort to elect congressmen who wished a change in dry laws. Another resolution condemned the manager form of city government. Why should labor condemn the manager form? It is the best system of municipal government yet devised. All concerned are reminded that Texas has constitutional prohibition and an enforcement act known as the Dean law. Repeal of the 18th amendment would take constitutional prohibition out of the law of the commonwealth. It is there to stay unless repealed and it requires a two-thirds vote of the lawmakers to submit to the people for their action a repeal amendment.

There were other resolutions adopted, namely: the five-day week and six-hour day; an excise tax on imported refined white sugar as protection to Texas refineries and new sanitary laws applying to motion picture projection booths. John W. Parks, a former member of the house of representatives, was elected to be his own successor as president of the Federation. There are many real problems facing the wage workers of America. There are many which will be solved in the readjustment which is on. There is a new civilization and in the last analysis it will fit in with economic conditions and perhaps the world will be the better for it.

OKLAHOMA BANKERS ON THE WARPATH

Behind closed doors in Tulsa the members of the Oklahoma Bankers association voted to take drastic steps "to rid the state of bank robbers and bank robbery." "Tis well. Oklahoma banks and bankers have been terrorized by native hijackers as well as visitors from Arkansas and Missouri who know how to make their getaway with their loot. Self preservation is the first law of nature. A campaign of extermination directed by courageous men will be a winning campaign.

ARMY OFFICERS TO HOLD THEIR PLACES

After prolonged debate a democratic house of representatives voted to retain the provision in the army supply bill which would save annually about $4,000,000 by forcing retirement of 3000 officers. No record vote was taken but republican representatives led the fight against the reduction. Theodore Roosevelt in the long ago preached the gospel of preparedness. His military soul continued to go marching on.

CAPTAIN GUYNEMER had many unique records to his credit. He once caught a bullet while engaged in combat with an enemy plane. The bullet had passed through several parts of his own ship and its force was spent when it came to rest between Gynemer's finger and thumb. Seven times he was shot down from the air, each time escaping unscathed. But on the morning of Sept. 11, 1917, he sailed away to battle, and never returned. And to this day no reliable clue to his disappearance has been discovered.

This column is published as a daily feature and may not be construed as representing the editorial views of this paper. What follows is simply what one man thought at the time it was written, and the writer reserves the right to change his mind concerning any subject, without notice, explanation or apology.

Charley Moore of Ranger made his first solo flight in an airplane Tuesday. A solo flight is one where the pilot goes up alone, flies around a while and then makes a landing. It is necessary to get a government permit to make a solo flight and certain requirements must be met before the permit is issued. Charlie had finished up all the preparatory work and it must have given him quite a feeling of achievement when he took the ship up and brought it down without someone along to tell him what to do.

If anyone in Ranger has taken an active interest in Ranger's airport it has been Charlie Moore. He was the leader in the movement to establish the port, helped solicit funds for it and did some of the actual manual labor in its construction. Only recently Charlie took a grubbing hoe and cut down small growths of shrubbery from the landing lanes so as to make for greater safety. Charlie is lazy in a way just like some more of us, but the work needed to be done and the city funds wouldn't permit hiring labor to do it. Charlie issued a call for help and got one response (and I've forgotten his name), but anyway the objectionable shrubbery was removed.

Any vote of thanks the town might give Charlie wouldn't help him sell any more automobiles, but he is due some recognition for his efforts and if this column can cause you to appreciate them in any way, it won't be wasted type.

Burette W. Patterson of Eastland was in the office yesterday afternoon in the interest of his campaign for district judge. We swapped a few stories and then the Judge commented on how good it made him feel to receive a hearty welcome in Ranger. I didn't want to make him feel badly, but those Ranger folks have a way of making you feel welcome and at the same time they'll turn right around and vote the craziest of any gang I ever did see.

I walked into a store yesterday afternoon and a lady jumped right on me and demanded to know if I had a poll tax receipt. I told her heck yes I had paid my poll tax. I didn't pay it because I was such a loyal democrat that I just felt it my duty to vote. I paid it because I knew I would be asked many times during the campaign if I was really a voter or not. If I hadn't paid my poll tax they could tell me to go on and shut my mouth and wipe off my pen because I didn't have any say in the election. But, bless your soul, I do have a say in the election. I have as much of a say as any one vote in the state.

And so, now therefore and

Hurley's Work Got Results

CHICAGO.—Both national conventions are being held in Chicago this summer largely because of the war-time shipping board.

"Of course we'll get both conventions; it is as good as right now," Hurley, chairman of the war-time shipping board, Chicago capitalist, and chairman of the citizen committee on national and democratic national conventions, was saying last month before time for the national committees to make nominations.

Prospects looked none too good to most Chicagoans. The city had been hard-pressed for money. Teamsters and policemen had been unpaid for months. Times were hard. People who had money were inclined to keep close hold of it. But circumstances did not deter Hurley. He talked convention and night. Little by little, money was pledged. Finally he had $150,000 guarantees deemed quite.

The democratic committee promised to be a bit easier on cause Hurley is a democrat. It proved tougher. Atlantic raised the ante to $200,000. "Sure, we'll meet it," said Hurley.

The democrats picked Chicago. Chicago was selected by the publicans over Atlantic City, Detroit, Cleveland, Philadelphia, St. Louis. By the democrats Atlantic City, San Francisco, Kansas City.

HERE--- AND THERE

Written by Mrs. W. K. Jackson,
Editor Eastland Telegram

Again Memorial or Decoration Day draws near, and the usual thought comes uppermost, of the last resting place of those we know no more, and of the beautiful sentiment, that sets this day apart from all other national holidays in the year.

In an interview with Dr. H. B. Tanner, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, some original suggestions were made by the Doctor, always keenly interested in the prideful look of Eastland, and ever ready to pay due respect and honor to those who have served their country, who have marched in the soldiers step, who fought and died.

The Doctor would like to get the lot owners of the cemetery interested in their space, and have it cleaned and reasonably improved. He has been promised the assistance of the mayor, who will see that the cemetery caretaker, has a general house cleaning of the grounds.

The Doctor has received a United States government headstone free of cost, to be placed on the unmarked grave of a Confederate soldier.

This will be a memorial to Horace H. Gray, whose mortal remains are in our Eastland cemetery. A beautiful informal unveiling ceremony, with a short talk, possibly by Judge Clyde L. Garrett, will be set for the morning hour.

Several of the old settlers here will assist in marking the graves of the soldiers, with flags, and Mrs. Harrell, sponsor, will be with the Camp Fire Girls, when they, too, help with this beautiful service, and strew flowers over the grave, just as was their pretty custom last year.

The afternoon will be given over to a little ceremony on the bridge over Lake Eastland, on the old Breckenridge road. Flowers will be dropped on the water, a short patriotic talk will be made, the Boy Scouts will sound "taps" in honor of the sailors who lost their lives and were buried at sea.

Horace Conley will march the Boy Scout troops, and assist in many ways, with this beautiful program for Decoration Day.

Our secretary of the chamber of commerce will have minutes outlined after the lawyers of Eastland return from the Mineral Wells convention.

The chamber of commerce will furnish the flags about, 60 to 70 being required.

With his usual thoughtfulness, Dr. Tanner plans to place flags in nearby cemeteries on the soldiers graves.

We remember, the Decoration Days of good old Missouri. In daydays long past. Flags and bunting fluttering over the wind-swept streets, blown clean, by the breeze from the old Missouri river. Hot sunshine—farmers with wagon loads of noisy, happy children and women—the huge "Studebaker" drawn by fat, sweating horses. People on foot—on horseback, in carriages and dogcarts—all streaming out towards the beautiful Mount Mora cemetery. "Old Sam Pryor" in his gaudy uniform, with his tall beaver hat, marching proudly at the head of Pryor's famous band, twirling his brass baton, throwing it high in air, and catching it adroitly as he turned and marched backward up the road, leading his "boys." One boy in particular, we admired, for his puffed-out cheeks as he blew lustily on his big brass horn. The boy, who is the famous Arthur Pryor, now known all over Europe and America, the boy who had the undying admiration of a curly-headed girl, dressed in her plaid silk and bronze, tasseled shoes, who sat with her sedate, old-young mother, in the family landau, surrounded by picnic baskets, bouquets of flowers, jugs of lemonade, and on their way to the "family lot," the soldiers graves, and the public speaking!

Glad days! Sad days! Memorial days!

Miss Elizabeth Pitzer of El Paso is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Louis Pitzer and brother, Sid Pitzer. This attractive woman is a successful radio artist, also singer, reader and mimic. She provided a charming group of friends group of numbers for the women of the Bethany class of the Presbyterian church at their recent meeting.

ONLY 36 CARS OUT OF 990 STILL BUILT

By United Press.
DETROIT.—Of 990 automobiles which have been "sent to scrap" since the start of the industry in the United States, only 36 are still in existence, according to a study made by 21 manufacturers, who survived.

Oldsmobile is the oldest car among the survivors. It was started in 1897 and named after William E. Olds, who later built the Olds, giving it his initials as a mark of distinction.

Packard is second oldest, having first been produced in 1899 and named after the late J. W. Packard of Warren, Ohio. Packard, named for qualities its builders hoped to give it, was born in 1899.

George N. Pierce, a Buffalo, N. Y., bicycle manufacturer, started "Pierce Great Arrow," and H. Franklin introduced an air-cooled car bearing his name in 1902. Cadillac, too, received its name in that year, although the company had been formed in 1900 by Henry Ford as chief engineer.

In 1903, the Ford Motor company started production, and in 1904 the Marmon family started the Marmon Auburn, named for Auburn, Ind., where it was built, first came out in 1903.

Three names still famous in automobile history were added to the list of "permanents" in 1904: Buick, Studebaker, and Oldsmobile. David Buick designed the car named after him. The family of Henry Studebaker were responsible for the car bearing his name. Olds had quit Oldsmobile and started Reo.

In 1907 the Oakland, named for the county in which it was manufactured at Pontiac, was made by the late Robert C. Hupp.

Hudson, named for a Detroit merchant prince, who was one of the original stockholders, came being in 1909. Essex, named for the English Earl of Queensberry, followed in 1917.

In 1911 the Cunningham, named for its builder, was introduced. In 1912 Chevrolet and Stutz were added.

John N. Willis introduced the "Knight" in 1915. Knight signed the type of motor.

Dodge Brothers, who for years built motors for Ford, ended the field in 1914. Charles Nash, former General Motors executive, brought out the car bearing his name in 1917.

Fred L. Duesenberg built the car bearing his name in 1920. The DuPont also appeared in 1920.

The late Henry Leland, pioneer automobile man, founded Lincoln in 1921. The Durant also was built out in 1921 by William C. Durant, former president of General Motors.

It was in 1924 that Walter P. Chrysler started the Chrysler cars. LaSalle on Market.

General Motors announced LaSalle in 1927.

In 1928 the De Soto was founded. Plymouth came out in the same year.

It appeared in 1929. Graham Paige started in 1930.

Austin, bantam product hatchback in 1930, is named after the British manufacturer, Sir Herbert Austin.

Rockne, named for the late Notre Dame football coach, started in 1931. Continental-Vaux began production this year.

SPEAKING of SPORTS

By RALPH HEINZEN.
United Press Staff Correspondent.
Drake to Make Another Bid in Grand National.

John A. Drake, of Chicago, one-time partner of "Bet-a-Million" Gates in some of the greatest betting coups of turf history, is going to take one more fling at the turf and win or lose, he will wind up his racing career by running his half-bred French horse "Coup de Chapeau" again in the 1932 Grand National at Liverpool.

"Coup de Chapeau" went lame and failed to take the first jump in the recent Grand National but Drake, an astute judge of horse flesh, feels that his horse can win the hardest race the game has to offer. The horse is good for this one race only and will be kept in training for one more run.

Drake and Gates were the scourge of New York and London bookmakers at the turn of the century. Drake was the son of a former governor of Iowa and had been treasurer of Indiana, Illinois and Iowa railroad. He was soon a spectacular figure in Wall Street and, as Gates' partner, he attracted attention by his daring and successful raids on the stock market.

He was the least reckless of the two, but then he was a better handicapper of horses. If Gates had listened to him he would never have set the world's record for the largest known bet which he won on Royal Flush in England. On the other hand, Drake's knowledge of horse form won many huge wagers for Gates on American tracks.

Drake came into international prominence in 1902 on the turf when the year's two most successful horses carried his colors—his Wyeth won the Derby and his Savable won the Futurity prizes. At Saratoga he had lost as much as $250,000. Despite the fact that his horses appeared all out of form he backed them each time they started. Fully 85 per cent of his bets were lost.

One of his earliest ambitions was to win the Futurity. Savable was not considered then to have a chance, so Drake's crowd in Chicago planned to start something exciting. Savable was a prime for the two-year classic and by his behavior and bearing was an encouragement to his backers. Gates was slow to fall in with the party but finally sided with them in their betting.

"I'll get even this time," said Drake, "for that Saratoga tragedy."

As soon as the odds were posted Drake and Gates entered the ring and Gates, going down the line bet so high that Savable's odds dropped. When, however, Savable won, Gates collected $250,000 and Drake drew in $200,000 as his winnings.

Gas Users Paid State 179 Million In Eleven Years

By United Press.
HARRISBURG, Pa.—Gasoline users have paid Pennsylvania $179,500,000 in gasoline taxes in 11 years, records of the department of revenue showed.

The first state tax on gasoline was applied in 1921 at the rate of one cent per gallon. In 1923 the tax was increased to two cents and two years later to three cents. The 1929 legislature established an emergency four-cent rate for a period of one year, ended June 30, 1930. Since that time the tax has been three cents.

Of the amount collected, $32,800,000 was returned to the counties in which the tax was paid for use in keeping up their county roads.

Two-Tailed Lizard Given to Museum

By United Press.
SAN ANTONIO.—Witte Memorial museum here has been presented with a fork-tailed lizard which grew a second tail from a point on the original tail where it was injured.

The lizard, which was captured by Miss Margaret Dees, is about six inches long. Its original tail was injured, and the accessory tail grew from the injured place. The vertebra is not reproduced in the accessory tail, but a cartilage growth makes it rigid.

It, along with the Anguill lizard, blind worm, and grass snake, is capable of breaking off a portion of its tail by muscular contraction when pursued by the pursuer will be diverted from his chase by the wriggling portion long enough for the lizard to get away.

Texas Amateur Golf Players Will Meet Out Of The State

By United Press.
TEXARKANA, Ark.—This year's Texas amateur golf association tournament will set history in that it will be played on an out-of-state course. This is a by-fortune, the parallel of which a check of state tournament histories of this or any other state fails to produce.

For the links of the Texarkana Country Club, which will be host to the event on May 24-25, are not in Texas but in Arkansas. They lie approximately one-half mile across the state line which divides this twin city in two equal parts.

The fact that the course lies as far removed from the "center of population" of Texas golfers as it is possible is bound to raise scores since few of the contestants will have played it before the short allowed preceding actual match play. With this in mind, perhaps, the course has been played during recent weeks by many prospective entrants of a mind to get the jump on opposition.

The course itself is responding to intensive attention paid it this spring, and, according to J. K. Wadley, Texarkana, president of the Texas Golf association, will be in excellent shape as play starts.

The greens have been softened by recent rains and consequent growth of grass. Moreland blamed hard fast greens for a poor score made here in April, and contrasted them with those of Brook Hollow, Dallas, where he said he could "drive on with a brassie" and stick. Conditions of the greens are now such that Moreland could stay on with at least a midiron.

The course itself, admittedly outstanding among southwest links, almost defies description. Built over terrain that might have been ordered for the purpose, its airways carved from virgin growths of pine and oak, and owned by people who were willing to achieve their object, it is a fitting scene for the 1932 Texas classic.

It is fast becoming recognized in this section as having a say-so when tournament sites are being selected. Although the approaching Texas amateur will be its most important event in point of size, it has twice been host to the Arkansas men's, once to the Arkansas women's, and once to the Texas women's. The latter will be played there again this fall.

Installation of Three P. T. A. Boards

Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock the three boards of the Eastland Parent-Teacher associations were formally installed by Supt. P. B. Bittle of the public schools, with ceremony held on the stage of the high school auditorium, before an interested audience.

Junior and high school officers of last year were re-elected, with the exception of Mrs. A. J. Campbell, who requested relief from duties of first vice presidency.

Mrs. W. P. Palm was elected to this post. Other officers include president, Mrs. J. M. Perkins; second vice president, Mrs. Glenn Stire; third vice president, Mrs. W. D. R. Owen; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frank Lovett; recording secretary, Mrs. J. Leroy Arnold; treasurer, Mrs. L. J. Lambert.

The West Ward School Parent-Teacher association retiring officers were Mrs. Ernest Jones, J. C. Patterson, Guy Parker, Claude Stubbfield, Frank Crowell, in the foregoing order of officers; succeeded by president, Mrs. Paul McFarland; and balance of officers, Mrs. W. P. Leslie, W. C. Marlow, A. M. Hearn and David Eubanks.

Treasurer, Mrs. J. U. Johnson, succeeded herself. The additional officer, chairman of health work, formerly filled by Mrs. O. O. Mickie, is supplied by Mrs. J. C. Patterson.

Retiring officers of the South Ward School Parent-Teacher association, in the usual routine, were Mrs. J. L. Cottingham, P. P. Pool, J. Frank Sparks, Earl Bender, Frank Pierce, Frank Bida; succeeded by president, Mrs. J. M. Armstrong, and officers Mrs. Johnnie Hart, Lou Crossley, Earl Bender, J. Frank Sparks, Lewis Pitzer, who succeeded herself, and J. Hapeman.

All incoming officers were seated in semi-circle on the stage, which was decorated in flowers, purple and gold, the Parent-Teacher association colors. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Perkins. Report of the P. T. A. banquet was submitted by Mrs. A. J. Campbell, and formal thanks were voted, Davis bakery for punch bowl and rolls; Mrs. W. P. Leslie for the beautiful flowers; Mrs. C. U. Connelley for the use of her home for the banquet; Mr. and Mrs. Belcher, for Connelley show entertainment for guests; Mrs. K. B. Tanner for candles and pencils, and Mrs. W. K. Jackson, for the year's publicity for the P. T. A.

The retiring president of the South Ward Parent-Teacher association, Mrs. Cottingham, expressed grateful thanks for the chairman of publicity's service, and assistance of officers and patrons.

Mrs. Perkins in graceful fashion, also expressed appreciation for the splendid co-operation last year.

Mrs. J. M. Armstrong, incoming president of the South Ward Parent-Teacher association, acknowledged reference to her new office, and asked that members of her association remain for conference.

Superintendent Bittle took charge at this point, stating that the choice of the officers indicated the faith of the parents in their selection, and that no matter how well duties might be discharged, success could not be achieved without the parents' aid and interest.

His charge to the officers was given earnestly, and showed the Parent-Teacher association as non-political, non-sectarian and non-personal.

His individual charge to the finance chairman of the boards included instructions: To secretaries, to keep records in permanent form, and that their privilege was to serve as aides to their presidents.

That they should inform themselves thoroughly in P. T. A. precepts.

The presidents were charged with the responsibility of their posts; that leadership determines in a large measure the value of their work, just as a whole school room is judged by the contact of the individual pupil; that they must direct work in harmony of ideals of P. T. A. work, and asked if they would acknowledge their acceptance of their places.

The three presidents responded in unison:

"In undertaking the services, which this office implies, I pledge a fair portion of my time, thought, interest, and labor, for myself and for these my fellow officers."

Then turning to the audience: "We believe in the Parent-Teacher movement."

"We believe in its great objects."

"We ask you members to give us that measure of your support, which will insure the success of Eastland Parent-Teacher associations."

Mrs. Perkins assumed charge, and "America the Beautiful" was sung in unison.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. A. J. Campbell, the retiring program chairman, who introduced the following numbers, given in their order:

Piano solos, Anna Joe Tableman, and Billy Gage; Mrs. F. O. Hunter's pupils.

Readings, by Virginia Garrett, and Melba Ruth Woods, pupils of Miss Onetta Russell.

Piano solos, Ray Mildred Hearn, and piano trio, Marie Plummer, Frances Lane, and Ruby Lee Pritchard, pupils of Mrs. A. F. Taylor.

These young people were greeted enthusiastically.

Adjournment was taken to the cafeteria, where an attractive refreshment plate was served by the committee hostesses, Mrs. R. E. Sims, Ligon, and Elliott.

This closes the Parent-Teacher association season for this year. Meetings resumed in September.

Colony Goes Back To Land

WALL HILL, Miss.—On a 35-acre plot of land near here, a little group is putting into practice the "back to the land" theory of unemployment relief and also acting as an experiment in the single tax theory.

The plan was originated by Abe Waldauer, Memphis, attorney, who gained the support of Col. Kenon Taylor, honor of the land.

The colony started with seven persons of two families, and several other families have joined them.

For the use of the land, Waldauer explained, the colonists will pay the economic rent, about six per cent of the value of the land.

Out of this all taxes will be paid. "I'm not putting these people on a dole; I'm giving them the right to apply their labor to land," Waldauer explained. "We plan to incorporate the colony, and the corporation will hold the title to the land."

"We are going to raise about five or six acres of cotton as our cash crop. There will be a two-acre truck plot. Enough produce will be packed to supply the colony."

An expansion of the plan is contemplated for the future, but no land is available now. Waldauer has applications for five more families who want to return to the farm.

A writer says 4,000,000 inhabitants of New York cannot tell you the name of their congressman. Maybe they know, but are ashamed to tell.

Minister Tells of Horrors of A Siberian Prison

By United Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The misery of life in a Siberian prison camp was described vividly here by the Rev. Carl W. A. Anderson, of Helsinki, Finland.

The minister, ordained into the Finnish Baptist Church, was sentenced to 10 years in the barren wasteland for "spreading religious propaganda" among the Russians.

Anderson, sent to Russia in 1925, was touring the northern section with a small group of missionaries, preaching to prisoners and doing as much relief work as possible with his scanty supplies.

With him were his wife and two small children, Elsie, eight years old, and George, six.

"We saw prisoners being worked from 12 to 16 hours a day and being fed only black bread and water," the minister said. "At night, they were forced to huddle together in low-roofed sheds, with nothing but filthy rags for warmth."

Families were separated. Husbands were literally driven from one prison camp to another, leaving behind their wives and children.

Anderson and the members of his family were arrested in Leningrad, only a few days before they intended to return to America. They had been in Russia more than 11 months then, and had been allowed to travel unmolested and hold their services. In Leningrad, however, their services had been secret.

For six months, Anderson and the members of his family were forced to remain in an underground prison before being taken to Siberia in stock cars. During that time, they saw 84 prisoners lined up and executed by Russian machine gunners.

"For 30 days we rode in stock cars," the minister said. "We were unloaded at Omsk, Siberia, facing a 2,000-mile march to our prison camp just 150 miles below the Arctic Ocean."

"Of the 2,604 persons who started that long trek, only 311 survived. When a man died on the five-months march, his body was left by the roadside, food for the wolves."

Anderson's wife and two children, weakened by the trip, died within a week after arriving at the prison camp, the missionary said.

Anderson, with 63 other prisoners, finally escaped after two and one-half years in the camp.

Former Texan to Be Speaker At Lawyers Meeting

By United Press.

MINERAL WELLS.—Martin W. Littleton, who as a youth walked the Texas & Pacific tracks near here, will return Thursday night as one of the most famous attorneys of the country to address the 51st annual convention of the Texas Bar association.

Littleton, attorney for the defense in the Harry Thaw, Harry Sinclair, and other celebrated cases, will speak on the subject "What Price Progress." Many of his boyhood acquaintances from Weatherford are expected to hear him.

Littleton began his rise to fame by self-education and the reading of law in the county attorney's office at Weatherford. He went from there to Dallas in 1894 and became an assistant county attorney.

With only $100 and a letter of introduction Littleton left Dallas for New York with his wife, the former Miss Maud Wilson of Beaumont. Four years later he was elected president of Brooklyn borough and later was a member of Congress.

His securing of a verdict of insanity for Harry K. Thaw and a resulting acquittal after an array of more famous attorneys had established Littleton's national fame as a criminal lawyer. Thaw had killed Stanford White, famous architect, in the presence of Thaw's wife, the beautiful Evelyn Nesbit.

Guy A. Thompson, St. Louis, president of the American Bar association, will be another notable on the program. He will speak at the Saturday morning session.

Other speakers will include:

Chief Justice R. W. Hall, Austin; Justice of civil appeals, S. S. Samuels, Fort Worth; Harry Lawler, Dallas; W. P. McLean, Fort Worth; Judge Ocie Spivey, Austin; and Judge J. E. Hickman, Eastland.

The Fort Worth and Tarrant County Bar associations will be joint hosts to the association. A program of golf, banquets and dances as scheduled.

EAGLE PASS.—Municipal swimming pool opened.

DO YOU INHALE?

...wonder why cigarette advertising generally avoids this question?

ONE of the mysteries in cigarette advertising has been the apparent fear of the word "inhale." It seems rather foolish—for everybody inhales—whether they realize it or not... every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Think, then, how important it is to be certain that your cigarette smoke is pure and clean—to be sure that you don't inhale certain impurities.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question... because when you smoke Luckies your delicate membranes get the protection no other cigarette affords. All other methods have been made old-fashioned by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Of course you do! So truly this message is for you.
