TAX MEASURE GOES INTO CONFERENCE

KEEPING THROUGH THE HOLES WITH BILL MAYES

Mer was started in the Will swimming pool Tuesday afternoon and the Lions natatorium was filled in time for the big opening on Thursday night.

The committee has been busy in making arrangements for a pageant, which will be the feature of the opening night. The Star band will present a 30-minute concert immediately before bathing revue starts and a quartet will furnish music for the beauties as contesting prizes to be offered.

The Lake Cisco swimming pool open on the same day. It is being advertised extensively over the entire country by two delegations of ladies visited Ranger to see about city for the opening date. Placards have been printed and distributed and the mayor of town has been invited to be present. We offered excuses for the Thurman of Ranger, explaining that he would be busy part in the opening of our pool over here.

While trying to find out something about the opening of the pool yesterday we got together several of the Lions in the office of the Chamber of Commerce. While waiting for someone to show up or something more got to paning someone who was not present. Fans is a great pastime. When you think up anything else to do about a fellow you make up a story. No one believes you or that you are honest.

Finally told them we had to work but we would be afraid for fear we would be put on the spot. That seemed to check the meeting and everyone went to leave. I looked like a fool.

Finally someone called that we all got a cup of coffee and adjourn from the office which was a relief. Several got a free coffee out of the machine that Lee Killingsworth got with the check.

At night while waiting to see city fathers were going to talk over the problems, a crowd assembled in the potation and watched efforts to catch the magazine from the 32nd street and which was thought to be the one with which Daniel was killed on Feb. 8.

ter a lot of work and more stories in the magazine was written and one in the barrel, herusted in rust so that it was to get them out. It was that Daniel was shot with bullets, which would indicate it might have been the gun, would hold seven shells in the barrel.

BROMLEY HOP OVER PACIFIC AGAIN DELAYED

By United Press.
LOS ANGELES, June 1.—The plans of Lieutenant Harold Bromley, who had intended to attempt a trans-Pacific flight from Seattle to Tokio, were indefinite today.

The firm intention of the sponsors of a $25,000 prize for the first aviator to make the flight to Tokio, were indefinite today. Bromley's effort at midnight tonight brought a halt to his proposed expedition.

Plans are to be completed this afternoon for the beauty pageant to be held in connection with the opening of the Willows on Thursday night.

A meeting has been called this afternoon at 3:30 for determining the needs in connection with the decorations and furnishing suits for the contestants in the beauty pageant.

A unique feature of the review this year will be that instead of parading around the edge of the pool the contestants will be carried in a boat to the platform in the middle of the pool, where they will walk around the edge of the pool to be meeting with success.

The committee in charge of the review is planning unique and artistic decorations to be used on opening night, which will furnish a pretty setting for the review.

Committees are busy today selling books of tickets to the pool and the advance sale is reported to be meeting with success.

Signs Armistice in Hospital

Formal signing of the Sino-Japanese armistice at Shanghai was delayed by a bomb blast which injured several Japanese dignitaries and resulted in the death of General Yoshinori Shirakawa, Japan's supreme war councillor. Several signatures to the armistice were obtained from injured officials in Shanghai hospitals. The above photo shows General Kenkichi Ueyeda, Japanese military commander, signing in his hospital bed.

USE OF FRANK IS EXPLAINED BY W. WOODUL

By United Press.
DALLAS, June 1.—Copies of a brief speech before congress by Speaker John Garner were mailed from the national Garner headquarters here under the mailing frank of Senator Tom Connally.

Claude Weaver, Oklahoma candidate for congress, today charged Connally with helping Garner with franks when Senator Carter Glass of Virginia refused to frank a second 40,000 copies of a speech made by Weaver.

"Connally wanted some of the speeches sent to friends," said Woodul. "The office here prepared it for mailing at his request. I have never talked to Connally about it and never saw the literature."

Woodul said the office here will be closed today and all activity transferred to Chicago.

Clerks at the office said the Connally frank had been used to send the speech to delegates to the national democratic convention and that about 1,000 were sent out. They said the mailing had been completed.

May Be Cuba's President

Well-informed political circles in Havana assert that appointment of Dr. Orestes Ferrara as Cuba's secretary of state portends the resignation soon of President Gerardo Machado. Under Cuban law the secretary of state succeeds to the presidency when that office becomes vacant.

Observers believe President Machado will step aside by July 1, when a payment of $7,000,000 on Cuba's foreign indebtedness is due. It is said that Dr. Ferrara is considered an acceptable ad interim president, although his Italian birth bars him from candidacy at the regular election scheduled for Jan. 1.

HOUSE VOTES BILL WITHOUT DISSENSION

Committee From House and Senate To Meet In Near Future.
By United Press.
WASHINGTON, June 1.—The house today sent the tax bill to conference with the senate without a single vote in opposition.

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, June 1.—Plans from press, public and resident jammed a $1,116,000,000 tax bill through the senate today in elimination of a 13 1-2 hour session of excitement and surprise.

Secretary of Treasury Mills told the United Press that sum would balance the national budget to all practical purposes.

As the unprecedented peace-time burden was adopted the senate appropriations committee reported to the senate a $239,000,000 economy program to aid the budget balancing. The senate was scheduled to begin consideration of this controversial and essential measure at 2 p. m. The tax bill passed the senate almost 12 hours to the minute after President Hoover broke with his own practice to appear in person before the senate with a plea for speed in a national emergency.

By a vote of 72 to 11 the senate sent the tax bill to conference with representatives of the house. A few days should see the measure or its way to Mr. Hoover's desk.

In 15 days the senate disposed of the bill despite bitter non-partisan dispute. Tariff battles swept over it, but the coal, oil, lumber and copper schedules remained in the bill. Taxed industries organized against it but to no avail.

Secretary Mills reported yesterday that new sources of revenue had to be found to balance the budget. Income taxes, gasoline and electricity for power and light were selected. They were given a $257,000,000 additional burden.

The Connally amendment, with only three senators dissenting, added at least $70,000,000 more to the burden of income tax payers.

After Mr. Hoover spoke the senate recessed an hour to enable the finance committee to find more money. It met again at 2 p. m. to learn that gasoline was to be taxed on each $100 of future raises on commodity markets to raise $8,000,000 of revenue.

The principal items in the economy bill were a 10 percent in all federal salaries, calculated to save $121,000,000, a reduction of approximately $88,000,000 in appropriations for war veterans and a saving of $22,000,000 by reducing annual leave of federal employes from 30 to 15 days.

The veterans' cut divided the appropriations committee almost evenly but with a margin for the economy.

Rotary Club of Eastland Has Good Program

The Eastland Rotarians enjoyed a snappy program Monday night at the home of Mrs. W. E. Chaney, president.

The usual appetizing plate was served by Mrs. Chaney. The program was given by Elizabeth Ann and Mary Jane Harrell, in reading and classical dance, with Miss Jean Kitley as pianist.

Several discussions engrossed the members. A committee reported the death of Earl Bender, and also the death of the brother of Earl Bender.

A committee of members was appointed to visit Walter I. Clark, confined to his home by illness, and it was arranged to have flowers sent to the Brice Franklin Bender funeral.

Fifteen of the 17 members were present. Guests of the club were Mrs. S. W. Kitley and Misses Elizabeth Ann and Mary Jane Harrell.

Roof Becomes Home of Fish

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Off-hand, one might say the conception of goldfish scattering about on the Board of Trade building belonged with that of pink elephants and other species of fauna and flora associated with hangovers.

But have a look; there they are. And there's talk of a duck, or a swan, keeping them company later on just for the sake of variety.

The phenomenon occurred with the transformation of the roof of the fourth floor setback into an aquarium. The fish bowl, about 40 by 60 feet, is kept filled by a stream of water.

Each summer the roof is flooded to a depth of from two to five inches, to catch dust blowing in from the street. This spring the fish-pond idea originated among the stenographers.

A contract was made with the janitor to take care of the fish each week when the water is changed. Office forces are adding their own types of fish for the sake of distinction.

The stenographers feed the fish by the simple process of leaning from the office windows and tossing down the food.

ROTARIANS OF RANGER HEAR TIMELY TALK

The Ranger Rotary Club heard a very interesting and educational talk on the life and services of George Washington today when L. H. Fawcett addressed the members at the principal speaker of the day.

The program was under the direction of W. N. McDonald and F. D. Hicks.

Judge Fawcett, in pointing out the high points in the life of Washington that practically every act in his life was accomplished with the thought of helping his country and serving it, rather than for personal or selfish gain.

His talk, which was based on the subject of national and international service, brought out many acts of service on the part of Washington, which showed that he was not only one of the greatest thinkers the country has ever produced, but at the same time each act of service had been for the advancement of the country.

He pointed out that his decision not to accept a third term had been followed throughout the history of the country and that man had never broken the precedent established by Washington.

Dr. F. M. Kuykendall, president-elect, presided at the meeting today in the absence of Howard Ghelson.

His program next week will be under the direction of Harry Wheelton and W. C. Hickey.

Ranger Home Is Destroyed By Fire

The home of Mrs. J. B. Ames, Cypress street, Ranger, was completely destroyed by fire, that broke out Wednesday morning shortly before 3 o'clock.

The alarm was turned in by W. S. Adamson, who lives nearby, at 3 o'clock and his report to the fire department was that the house was a mass of flames when he first discovered the blaze.

Two hose lines were laid, one direct from the fire plug and the other from the pumper but the fire had gained too much headway to be put out. One stream of water was used to keep the fire from spreading to nearby houses.

Fire Chief Murphy said today that the fire apparently started from an explosion as neighbors reported hearing a blast as the fire started and a curtain rod was found blown clear of the blaze. It had lodged in a tree. The top of the hot water tank was blown off, according to the chief.

The loss was reported to be partly covered by insurance.

Cause of Sleep Laid To Gland

LONDON.—One of the most natural habits of animal and man, to-wit, sleep, always has been one of the greatest physiological mysteries, but Prof. Hermann Zondek, of Berlin, writing in the current issue of the "Lancet," here advances interesting discoveries about the "cause" of sleep.

Medical opinion long has believed that sleep is induced by the pouring into the blood stream of a chemical manufactured by one of the body's ductless glands.

Professor Zondek now announces that he has isolated a new hormone stored in the pituitary gland at the base of the brain. This hormone is presumably discharged during sleep into the fluid surrounding the brain (and hence into the blood stream), the flow ceasing when the person, or animal, awakes.

Injections of the secretion, the professor reports, produce "fatigue, apathy, and a great decrease in motor power." The hormone is rich in hormine, an element various forms of which long have been used in materia medica as sedatives.

Professor Zondek arrived at his discovery during the treatment of certain patients suffering from mania-depressive insanity.

Funeral Is Held For B. F. Bender

Brice Franklin Bender of Phoenix, Ariz., brother of Earl Bender of Eastland, passed away last Wednesday at his home, following a brief illness.

He is survived by three sons and two daughters, four of whom accompanied the body to Gorman, the former home of the family.

Funeral services were held by the minister of the Methodist church at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon in Gorman. May 30, with interment in the family burial lot in Gorman cemetery.

Sons and daughters were present with the exception of one living in Los Angeles, Calif., unable to attend.

Several Eastland friends of the family accompanied the latter to Gorman.

Town Clerkship Just a Heritage

SCITUATE, R. I.—The town clerkship of Scituate seems to be a heritage of the Remington family.

Dewitt C. Remington was elected as town clerk in 1875.

Daniel H. Remington, his son, was his deputy, and succeeded him in 1878.

Daniel is now serving his 47th year as town clerk, having been out of office from 1901 to 1913.

Leroy Remington, his son, now is deputy clerk, and probably will succeed his father.

A TEXAS HERO OF THE WAR IN THE COILS

William T. Ponder, a Texas flyer, and known as the second greatest ace of the World War, is in the coils of federal pro agents. He landed near San Angelo with a plane load of beer after a thrilling moonlight chase over the Big Bend country on the Mexican border. He arranged a $1500 bond on charges of aerial liquor smuggling from Mexico.

William T. Ponder has made Fort Worth his home in recent years. He crossed the Rio Grande and on this side of the border fine two customs officers in a government plane gave him a chase that must have reminded him of the reckless courage that once sent him into combat against 13 German flyers. He refused to sign any confession document. He declared that he would not give evidence against anyone. He won a distinguished service cross for going to the aid of an Allied plane beset by 13 German craft. All in all, he was credited with bringing down 11 enemy planes. He risked his life many times for the flag of his country. Now he may be sent to prison for floating a plane load of beer. It is the irony of fate, perhaps. "When is a hero a hero?"

MEXICAN COPPER KINGS ARE PANICKY

A dispatch from the City of Mexico predicts that copper mines in Lower California will be forced to close down as soon as the United States puts the copper tariff into effect. It is hinted in the dispatch that 2200 miners and 10,000 other persons will be affected directly or indirectly. Well, thousands of copper miners in American commonwealths are idle, and thousands of other persons are affected in pocket and happiness as a result. If a high tariff is good for foreigners, why not for Americans?

Congressman Hawley of Oregon and Senator Smoot of Utah are responsible for the republican tariff act. They drafted it and it was named for them. Since its enactment all the nations of the earth have been hammering into shape tariff acts aimed at the products and wares and manufactures of the United States. Oregon republicans voted just the other day that Hawley should take himself out of public life and invade the big thicket reserved for lame ducks. Senator Smoot is not facing defeat. Politically he is a stand-pat republican and spiritually he is one of the big voices of the Mormon church. In Utah it appears to be a winning combination in a political race.

TEXAS REPUBLICANS SOLID FOR THE PRESIDENT

National Committeeman Rene B. Creager and his organization absolutely dominated the Mineral Wells convention. They picked 49 national delegates, gave positive instruction for Herbert Hoover, pointed with pride to his administration, declared he was the Moses of the hour and he would be re-elected next November for a second term of four years. Prohibition issue? Why, the Texas republicans ignored it. They are playing for points. They are going to permit the national platform makers of the party to make the declaration of planks and policies and principles of the party. Harry M. Wurzbach passed on within a year to his eternal reward. For 10 years he has been a thorn in the side of the Creager organization. Now an outstanding democrat and regular, Richard N. Kieberg, is the democratic successor of Wurzbach. There is no thorn in the side of the Creager organization. As for National Committeewoman Mrs. J. G. Griswold of San Antonio, the republican leaders snuffed her out. She was a thorn and they removed it.

JAPS UNDER SOUTH AMERICAN SKIES

Japan is colonizing Brazil and other South American countries as rapidly as ships can carry the immigrants there. This news comes from Los Angeles where the Japanese are unpopular, the Chinese highly respected and the federal exclusion act bars all comers from the Orient with the exception of the Filipino. Well, if Brazil and others of the South American republics are satisfied with conditions and are welcoming the Japs why should Uncle Sam enter a protest? Why should he be the big father of the world—ever holding the financial bag when a blowup happens along?

HOOVER HELD BY THE COMMISSION BOGEY

President Hoover has named more commissions than any president in the history of the republic. Now he has invented a program for setting up a series of reconstruction commissions or committees throughout the country. He evolved this nationwide plan of commissions after his meeting with editors and publishers invited to attend a Hoover conference. Isn't it true that too many cooks spoil the broth? Isn't it true that too many commissions and committees result in a nation-wide huddle? What happened to the report of the Wickersham commission?

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

UNITED STATES SENATOR ARTHUR CAPPER, of Kansas, Says:

"Racketeering is costing us 13 billion dollars a year and last year more than 12,000 men, women and children were murdered."

"Satiaticians tell us that there is an army of occupation of 600,000 men and women in this country living wholly on crime, and that the army is increasing at the rate of 25 per cent a year."

"It is the time for an outraged nation to strike for a better social order, to launch a war to the finish against crime."

"I want to see reverence for law become the practical religion of the nation. The crying need of this day is for every living being to respect the Constitution of the United States and obey the laws of his country."

"As long as the people are content to have these cities ruled by graft-ridden, wholly corrupt political machines, their well-equipped armies of police will license and protect crime and criminals for a price."

"If the theft of the Lindbergh baby does not prove the turning point of a restoration of wholesome observance of law and order in the United States, America is lost."

The Cussword Puzzle

GRIPINGS

By GUS

This column is published as a daily feature and may not be construed as representing the editorial views of this paper. What follows is merely what one man thought at the time it was written, and the writer reserves the right to change his mind concerning any subject, without notice, explanation or apology.

In discussing the present economic stress with Jack Lewis Jr. of Eastland last night and in the presence of R. C. Smith and some other young folks, I found it quite encouraging to know that young folks are taking an interest in the affairs of the nation. You'd be surprised to know what they know about the subject of taxation. They present the opinion that things have already reached their worst in the last two days because the poor have finally realized that there are no longer any rich men and have ceased looking for some unheralded philanthropist to bring forth his hoarded billions and divide up with everybody.

On account of the majority of the property tax falling on the rich and the rich not having the money to pay taxes on their property, the seriousness of the government's financial plight has only begun to be realized within the last week. When President Hoover went before congress and appealed for the passage of certain tax measures, he really meant business.

The young people were not quite clear on what was meant by an excise tax. Yet they understand thoroughly what was meant by a sales tax. They contend that a sales tax is impractical because it is hardly workable. If we put the tax on the retail sales of all merchandise, our people will all go to buying wholesale or through merchandise bootleggers. We are a tax dodging people.

We discussed the practicability of a per capita tax; a tax of a certain amount of money per year to be collected from each individual. In other words, divide the total cost of government by the number of people within certain age limits of eligibility and then collect that amount from each one. We agreed that there would be counterfeited receipts printed and sold at special bargain rates to transients. Therefore that tax would not be a fair one. Besides the machinery for collection of such a tax would be large and unwieldy and only serve to increase the number of government employees.

Then, how shall we finance our government. A certain Ranger citizen has been railing at me for days upon days because I don't tackle the problem. He contends I'm smart enough to solve it. After hearing his arguments and statements concerning the inefficiency in government, I finally gained the admission from him that his motive was principally to get his taxes on his real estate reduced to where he wouldn't owe so much back taxes.

Somewhere in Eastland county there should be someone who can offer a reasonable suggestion. Please write, if you are the one. Don't begin by telling me what's wrong. . . I know as much about that as you do. Make me a 150 word letter suggesting a brief outline of a workable plan of taxation which will raise sufficient revenue to operate the government and spread it out so that it will reach all those whom in any way come under the protective arm of the government. Send it postage collect if you're broke.

Returning to the discussion with the Eastland young people: The question was raised as to just what was the difference between when we were Democratic and the Republic by the parties. All right, what let his body, you're a Democrat, why are you a Republican. Local assembly pay no attention to this. Time has been a chat with John Y.

Texas Ranger Hale And Hearty at 99

By United Press. SINTON, Texas.—James C. Edwards, Texas ranger and Confederate veteran, celebrated his 99th birthday here recently. A saddle and harness maker by trade, he served as a Texas ranger in the first year of the Civil war, stationed at Fort Clark. As a Confederate veteran, he took part in the recapture of Galveston from the Federals, Jan. 1863. The veteran reads without glasses and walks with the help of a cane. He smoked for 85 years, but last year decided the weed was not good for him and laid aside his pipe. He looks forward to one thing—his 100th birthday.

Firestone Tires Prove Worth In Indianapolis Race

A graphic story of the remarkable part played by tires in the 500 mile Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Decoration Day, was told today by Firestone dealers in Ranger. It was the thirteenth consecutive triumph for Firestone in this great motor racing classic. There is no more severe test of automobiles tires than that to which they were put at Indianapolis. The cars darted along the straightways at close to 150 miles an hour and swept into the embanked curves at an appalling pace. It was on these turns that the stress and strain was the hardest. As the cars dived into the turns, their momentum caused them to clumb the embankment from the lower rim to the outer. This was an uncontrollable action by the car and it is called "drifting." In these perilous moments it was necessary that there be a perfect co-ordination between the skill of man and the strength of steel and rubber to avoid disaster.

At these terrific speeds one would expect to find great holes burned in the tread and the rubber worn entirely away. But nothing of the sort happened. An inspection of Firestone tires after they had traveled the full 500 miles revealed an amazing state of preservation. Very little wear was discernible. It is the patented construction features of Firestone tires which have made it possible for them to hold a supreme master's record for thirteen years in the 500-mile contest. Gum-dipped is one of these features. By this process the unprotected fibers of the cord body are coated with rubber and protected against the fierce heat which in other tires is developed by friction at high speeds. At 100 miles an hour the centrifugal force in a tire increases its circumference by more than ten percent, which would throw off the tread of ordinary tires. Firestone engineers solved this problem by means of a construction principle known as two extra gum-dipped cord plies under the tread. By this patented method of construction the tread and body are held together in a perfect unit. The life of a racing driver is dependent at all times on the performance of his tires. It is not surprising that the majority choose Firestone.

NATURAL ICE SALES BANNED

By United Press. ST. THOMAS, Ont.—The St. Thomas board of health has passed resolutions prohibiting the sale of natural ice in St. Thomas. The board informed they could leave the room, but two days later their resignations were refused, with the statement: "I propose continuing to be myself the judge as to when a member of my cabinet shall be dismissed." Nor was he hesitant to ask for resignations when he deemed it essential, according to Warren. To Montgomery Blair he wrote: "You have generously said to me more than once that whenever your resignation would be a relief to me, it was at my disposal. The time has come."

"Racing Youth" At Columbia Today

The girl, the future of a huge automobile plant and his neck will all be vitally at stake when Teddy Blue wheels his trim racing car out to the starting line of one of the most exciting races in years on the Columbia screen today. The occasion is the opening of Universal's thrill-dotted film, "Racing Youth," which features Frank Albertson, as Teddy, beautiful June Clyde, lanky Slim Summerville as himself and Louise Fazenda as a fake secretary. The lanky, wry-faced Slim Summerville and Louise Fazenda furnish the comedy of the film, and Arthur Stuart Hull, Forrest Stanley, Eddie Phillips and Otis Harlan, all of the elite of the stage complete the cast. In addition to the feature picture, Manager Garner of the Columbia announces the short subjects include a two reel musical starring Ruth Etting, the famous entertainer. In the subject Miss Etting sings three songs. The bill runs today and tomorrow at the Columbia. That high school boy who said that diplomatic relations were wayward cousins wasn't so far wrong, at that.

THE TENTH MAN
AN OPEN LETTER TO MY FELLOW EMPLOYEES
By L. B. Denning, President Lone Star Gas Co.

Every one of you is interested in the present depression. You are thinking about it and talking about it with your fellow employees and your neighbors. We all agree the times are hard. For long times we have heard nothing but gloom, pessimism, discouragement and fear. Lots of people say this is the worst depression this country has ever seen; that it will never end and we will never see prosperity again.

Labor leaders and government officials tell us that at least one man out of every ten is out of work. All over the country relief agencies of various kinds are trying to provide means to take care of this unemployed tenth man and his family. The picture is dark and dreary. Hope, faith and courage seem to have vanished from the earth.

Let's get our facts together and see if we cannot look at them calmly and sanely; see if we cannot find out what ails the patient and possibly find a remedy. We call the present economic condition a depression. I am beginning to call it a suppression. By that I mean I am wondering whether you and I and all the rest of the people in this country are really doing what we can and should do to bring about a better condition. Suppose one man out of every ten is unemployed; that means that nine out of every ten are employed and have some earning power and possibly some purchasing power. While we are thinking so hard about the one man who is unemployed, let's remember the nine who are at work. The nine workers are now attempting to take care of the one unemployed by contributions and through various relief agencies. While in most instances the unemployed one is obtaining the necessities of life, he is still idle. It seems to me the way to solve the unemployment problem is to put this tenth man to work if some way can be found. "Made work" or odd job work, but real, honest labor in the production of goods.

To those of you who feel that this is the hardest and longest depression that this country has ever seen, let me say that out of the 78 years for which we have sufficient information, 36 were depression years and 42 were prosperous years. From 1854 to 1931 there were 21 depressions, small and great, averaging a little less than two years each. The greatest depression we have ever experienced began late in 1873 and ended in the last part of 1879. This country came out of every one of them and enjoyed greater prosperity than before.

I can dimly remember our struggles to get enough to eat as a child on a farm in Indiana during the latter part of the 1873 depression. Of the later depressions my memory is rather acute. Out of a job in Cincinnati in 1892, there were no bread lines but there were occasions when I was quite thankful for the free lunch in the old saloon. In my lifetime I have seen the coming of the mechanical reaper and binder, threshing machine, electric dynamo, gasoline engine, telephone, radio, automobile, tractor, Pullman car, airplane, the advancement in medical science, worldwide communication and many other things. I have seen all these made available and commonly used by the average salaried worker. To say that this depression will never end, to my mind, is to say the growth of civilization will stop, that invention and scientific progress is at an end, that people have everything they want, that their desires and needs will not demand any new things. I don't believe anything like this is going to happen. We live better than our fathers live and I believe our children will live better than we do. It is absurd to attempt to measure the desires and needs of the coming generations by the desires and needs of the present.

It is my observation and experience that these depressions are caused from the bottom and not from the top. Passing of new laws or making credit easy doesn't completely solve the problem. If this country had ten million dollars in cash, it could pay off that amount of bonds but by so doing it would not put one single man to work. Money is timid; it seeks to hide at the first sign of trouble. Idle money is the most useless thing on earth. All of it piled together couldn't produce a loaf of bread, a pair of shoes or a bushel of wheat. Money hid in the safety vault, buried in the back yard and hid away, is useless. It is only when money is put to work that it is of value to the owner and to the community. There is plenty of idle money in the country but it will not go to work until it is sure that it can do so safely. There is no use in starting up a mill or factory until there is a certainty of disposing of the manufactured goods. So long as the mill or factory is idle the tenth man will be idle and the nine who are working will have to support him.

There are 2700 of us working in the Lone Star System group. Perhaps most of us have fixed charges in some form. Some of us owe the banks; some bought radios, automobiles and other things on time payments; some bought homes and are paying for them. Most of us assumed these fixed charges out of our margin of earnings over and above actual living expenses when times were good in 1929. Notwithstanding that all of us had our wages and salaries adjusted downward, I am satisfied that most of us have a larger margin over and above fixed charges and actual living expenses than we had in 1929 on account of the greater decreased cost of living.

This being so, what are we doing with it? Most of us have been buying nothing we could get along without. All of us have been using up the things we bought before. This is true all over the country. Automobiles, household furniture, shoes, clothing, are wearing out, being consumed by use and not being replaced to any great extent. That is why the tenth man is idle and is being supported by charity.

I think it is time you and I should begin buying the things we need and can afford to buy. I don't mean buy recklessly. Budget the things you need and if you have the cash to spare for them, go ahead and spend it. The things that are holding most of us back is the fear of losing our job or of some catastrophe. Fear is a form of cowardice. If we fear a thing we admit to ourselves that we are not big enough to overcome it. Let's remember that Lone Star Gas System is going to continue in business, that it is going to require men and women to operate it and fulfill its service function and that if we attend to our jobs right the odds are that we will keep them.

I am beginning to see signs that this suppression is being turned around and that we are on the way back to prosperity. I have heard of several cases recently where young married couples who have been living in rented furnished apartments, realizing that furniture is cheaper today than it has been at any time during their lives, are moving into unfurnished apartments and buying furniture. They are paying their money to the furniture dealer and moving their goods out of his stock; the dealer in turn sends their money to the manufacturer who can begin to set his factory in motion and put some of the tenth men back to work. During the last two weeks I have talked with no less than a dozen people who for the first time in two years have spent money buying new clothes. If this is beginning all over the country and the nine workers are actually buying, we will have the country swung out of the depression and on the way to prosperity and most of the tenth men to work before we fully realize it.

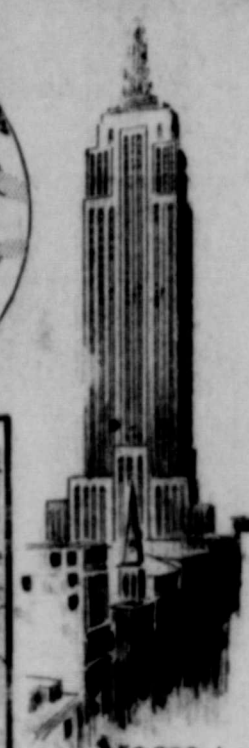

I firmly believe that in no other way will we lay a solid foundation upon which will be built the next period of prosperity. If every one of the nine workers were to spend five cents a day for each member of his family in the purchase of new goods actually needed for consumption, we would let loose a wave of buying power in this country that would soon solve the entire charity problem so that there would be no tenth man to take care of. I think you and I have an obligation and a duty to do our share. Let's renew our faith in ourselves and in our institutions, let's strengthen our courage and drive fear from our hearts. If we do this it will not be very long until our economic problems will be on the way to a successful solution and we will again have entered upon an era of great prosperity.

WHAT CHANCE AL. SMITH?

ACTIVE IN BIG DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS
DIRECTOR OF NUMEROUS LARGE CORPORATIONS

$50,000 A YEAR HEAD OF EMPIRE STATE BLDG.

The famous brown derby of four years ago has given way to the silk hat, for Al Smith is a big business man now. Smith is pictured here in a closeup, while the sketches show some of his activities that have kept him before the public since he was defeated for the presidency.

"Happy Warrior" is Successful in Business

In the last state convention, the dry element in the Democratic party tried to oust him as leader but failed.

His break with Tammany Hall was never fully explained but there was a break after his defeat. As Hoover had carried New York state in 1928 it was generally reported that Tammany had double-crossed the famous product of the sidewalks of New York.

Al refused to take a part in the Seabury investigation into graft in New York City, although he is on record as declaring that "the unfaithful should be brought to justice." His break with Walker was not of a serious nature and was probably occasioned by the much publicized playboy activities of New York's mayor.

Smith has insisted that he agrees with the principle of Grover Cleveland that "A public office is a public trust."

"tough spot" almost at once. James J. Riordan, his friend and president of the County Trust company, killed himself. Al, a member of the board of that company, had to act swiftly. He was elected chairman of the board. People had confidence in him and the bank was saved.

When John J. Raskob, the Democratic national chairman, and his associates started financing the projected Empire State building they conferred with Al. He was picked as president of Empire entry into big business, but he came in as a salaried employee, at $50,000 a year, not as a capitalist.

The achievement of building the highest man-made structure in the world is well-known. But there is another side which isn't so well known. Since the building has been completed Al has been in the thick of the fight to rent it, keep the observation tower tourist business profitable and spike the wild rumors about it. In a depression like this, with an initial investment of $51,000,000, that alone might have shaken a weaker man. But Al has survived and has found time to do many other things. He has found time to make addresses at many public gatherings and has attended many of the important national conferences of his party.

Smith isn't a millionaire but he is, as they say, well-fixed; and he has made what money he has in the years since he rose from the East Side Slums to national prominence.

After a long absence, Smith appeared at the Victory dinner of Tammany last winter and on the surface, at least, differences between the hall and him were patched up. To the rank and file he is still the great hero of the Tiger, although John F. Curry, head of Tammany, and he undoubtedly clash on several points.

The break with Roosevelt and Farley can be traced to the same source. They both reasoned Al was through as a presidential possibility. Roosevelt tactfully started a drive for the presidency and Farley went along with him as campaign manager. That irked Al.

And when he leaped to his feet at the Democratic Jefferson Day rally recently in Washington and cried he would "take off his coat and fight" he soon proved that Roosevelt and Farley had made a mistake in counting him out. He isn't through. He's an aged-in-experience Al, a warrior who isn't wholly happy but a strong opponent for even Franklin Roosevelt with all his personal charm.

'28 Nominee Again In Race for the Presidency

BY DEXTER TEED
NEA Service Writer
(Copyright, 1932, NEA Service.)
NEW YORK.—The Al Smith now opposing his former boom friend, Franklin D. Roosevelt, for the Democratic presidential nomination is a different Al from the brown-derbyed, jovial "Happy Warrior" who was defeated by Hoover in 1928.

In the three and a half years that have passed since he finished the last of his four terms as governor of New York state, Smith has been battling to keep afloat in business and save himself from being sunk into the political oblivion that is usually the lot of defeated candidates.

It has involved breaks with his political pals, Roosevelt and James A. Farley, a mixup with Tammany Hall and Mayor Walker and the overcoming of a series of bad breaks in a business world struggling with depression. That he has escaped unscathed is a matter of record.

But it has produced a new Al, a more serious Al, with gray hair and a renewed confidence in himself. This confidence is partly because of his successes in the face of obstacles, but it also is due to the popular swing toward principles he has advocated—return to the states of all power on the liquor question, federal relief for unemployed, lower tariffs and nationalism as opposed to extreme internationalism.

His supporters say the experience he has had since 1928 has increased it, regardless of whether he can be nominated or merely play a role in dictating the nomination and party platform.

It was generally supposed after Hoover defeated him that Smith was through with public life. In that first year he dictated his biography and articles for newspapers and magazines. Many guessed it was a summing up at the end of a distinguished career.

Al refused to run for mayor of New York, although he did campaign for his assembly cronies, James J. Walker. His friendship with Roosevelt continued and he nominated Roosevelt for governor

NEW MOBILOL ANNOUNCED BY MAGNOLIA COMPANY

Declared First Lubricant To Meet All Requirements of Modern Motor Cars.

DALLAS, June 1. — Designed and manufactured as the first automotive lubricant to better meet every requirement of modern day motor vehicles, a new motor oil—the New Mobilol—is announced by the Magnolia Petroleum company. New Mobilol goes on sale for the first time today, at more than 12,000 Magnolia and Mobilol stations and dealers throughout the Southwest.

Representing the combined achievement of the makers of Mobilol, the world's first refiners of automotive lubricants, and of Magnolia, first in the Southwest, the New Mobilol is being introduced with the knowledge that it is superior to the former Mobilol, largest selling motor oil in the world, and to Socony Motor Oil, most popular premium motor oil in the Southwest. E. P. Angus, vice president and sales manager of the Magnolia Petroleum company, said in announcing the new lubricant: "Tested for months in the laboratories of Socony-Vacuum companies and under every conceivable climatic and highway condition in the southwest by the Magnolia fleet of test cars, New Mobilol has proved its ability to meet the exacting requirements of high-compression motors which demand more complete lubrication than can be expected from old-fashioned oils."

For Greater Economy Through the utilization of more efficient manufacturing methods, interchange of patent processes and a closer co-ordination of the vast resources at the command of the Socony-Vacuum Corporation, it is possible to market this superior motor oil in all parts of the Southwest, except the extreme western portion, at a price considerably less than the premium motor lubricants which it supplants," Mr. Angus said. "However, economy in the use of New Mobilol is not confined to the price alone. It is in the extra oil mileage that it provides and the protection against costly repair bills which its use assures that the New Mobilol proves its real economy."

"By the scientific selection of crude oils, refined by latest improved methods to provide those desirable qualities, the makers of Mobilol have succeeded in producing a lubricant which will protect motors against wear under high-speed operating conditions and still give complete lubrication with moderate driving. Such is the selection of the crude oils used that the New Mobilol resists evaporation and excessive consumption at high temperatures and in consequence gives more miles per gallon. Carbon formation, valve gumming and other detrimental oils have been reduced to a minimum in the New Mobilol."

Specialized Lubrication "Magnolia station men, trained by Magnolia Specialized School of Training in lubrication in accordance with the recommendations of automobile manufacturers, and equipped to provide complete and correct lubrication for any make or model of motor vehicle. Their Mobilol charts show the proper grade of lubricant for every automobile part as recommended by the car makers and designate the grades which give most efficient and economical service under the particular climatic conditions involved. With the coming of hot weather Magnolia service men are urging car owners to change to the correct grade for summer driving in order that the New Mobilol and greases may prove conclusively their superiority over all other lubricants."

BRITISH PLAN NEW SCHEME TO AID JOBLESS

By HERBERT MOORE,
United Press Staff Correspondent.
LONDON.—An entirely new kind of unemployment relief, by which wealthy families will adopt jobless persons, is being launched in one place in Great Britain.

In the Sutton coal fields of Worcestershire, the Society of Friends is preparing the scheme which is modeled along the lines of the movement which led to the adoption of refugees from the East's zones during the World War.

Broadly speaking, the promoters propose to treat the jobless like "orphans of the economic storm." If successful, it is believed that the scheme soon may spread around the world. Experts believe it would be especially feasible in the United States.

Fourteen prosperous families in the Sutton area are said to be ready to support the movement to adopt one unemployed family each so as to save them from mental and physical deterioration which is increasing in many places.

It is proposed that a wealthy family can either take the adopted jobless persons into their home, or provide a house for them on their estate, or even pay their rent and food bill. In this way, those families which have exhausted most of their "dole" benefits and cannot live on poor law relief, would be spared.

Once adopted, the jobless man and his family, for all practical purposes, would be part of the benefacting family. General outdoor work and domestic occupations would be expected of them in most cases as the scheme is not intended to be outright charity.

Hunt For Dates Led Man To Queer Places

By United Press.
LOS ANGELES.—Braving
physical hardships and a civil war in Turkey, Paul Paponoe, former California newspaperman, has made it possible for date growing to develop into one of southern California's important agricultural crops.

The quest for a date palm that will thrive in the irrigated desert regions of California has led Paponoe and his brother, Wilson Paponoe, around the world and into several barbarous sections of northern Africa.

Paul Paponoe was ready to sail from Naples, Italy, for the United States after a vacation abroad several years ago when he received a letter from home. It contained $500 with which he was requested to purchase as many date offshoots in Algeria as the sum would buy. He cancelled his sailing date and went after the offshoots.

The success of the Paponoe brothers found with this importation of date palms, which included many varieties, caused Paul to make another foreign foray after additional varieties to take out in southern California's climate. He went to Masquat, Oman, said to be one of the hottest places on earth.

Paul enlisted the aid of the American consul at Masquat to secure permission to go to the Fardh, 100 miles inland over a dangerous territory.

The sultan tried to discourage the American from his proposed trip. Warlike Bedouins inhabit the Fardh area.

Failing to do this, the sultan furnished a bodyguard of soldiers to accompany Paponoe. Two days' journey inland the California
"date hunter" and his escort were attacked by a band of Bedouins.
Returning to Masquat the sultan was informed of the attack.
He ordered out his army and set forth to teach his disloyal subjects a lesson in discipline.

Paponoe got his Fardh date offshoots. But they caused a fear of warfare between the sultan's troops and the Bedouins. It ended when the sultan died.

The Fardh date trees are producing excellent crops on the Paponoe date ranch in the Co-chella valley, near here, according to Paponoe.

"The girl's face had whitened. Apologetically she turned to her mother.

"Please, Mother," she begged. "I don't want to go away now. Why, I don't need a trip anywhere. I'm perfectly well!"

"You will do as I say!" he told the girl warningly. "Suppose I tell you that I saw you this afternoon in a taxi-cab on Sixth street."

"I didn't break my word!" the girl denied angrily. "And Dan isn't a scoundrel!"

"Silence!" Suddenly the girl threw her head back. "I won't be silent!" she cried.

"Oh, yes, I do!" the girl insisted. She turned blazing eyes on both parents.

"You'll apologize for what you've said, young woman, or you'll leave this house!"

For an instant father and daughter eyed each other. Then with a little cry Cherry turned. "I'll never apologize!" she flung over her shoulder. "I'm going away!"

ing his campaign a success. The day of the lace flounce, and the rose in the hair, the languid hand, and mother of pearl fan, has passed.

The day of the industrialist for women is here.

It's as though the tobaccos were "welded" together...

"CROSS-BLENDING" means much more than just mixing tobaccos together. It "welds" together different kinds of the several varieties of tobacco... many types of Bright tobacco, a great many types of Burley tobacco and numerous grades of Turkish tobacco. THIS "WELDING" TOGETHER--or Cross-Blending--permits every kind of tobacco used in the Chesterfield blend to partake of the best qualities of every other type. Each tobacco is thus made to yield its finest flavors. CROSS-BLENDING takes all these pleasing flavors and aromas and combines them into one--the Chesterfield taste. And we think you will agree that it is a far better taste... worth all the extra care that Chesterfield takes to get it. EVERYTHING that money can buy and that science knows about is done to make CHESTERFIELD milder and taste better.
