MAJOR O'KEEFE OF TEXAS IN THE PICTURE

Major Patrick O'Keefe of Texas, of Dallas, to be next in the Chicago convention picture. He is an assistant sergeant-at-arms. Major O'Keefe is 88. He attended his first national convention in the city of New York when Horatio Seymour was nominated for president. That was ages and ages ago. Major O'Keefe has attended every national convention since Seymour was made standard bearer. He has omitted Irish jigs at every national convention. This time he will omit the jig dancing feature. Like "The Old Gray Mare" of Texas song and story, Major O'Keefe's legs "are not what they used to be."

The major voted a regular democratic ticket without intermission. He was horrified when Texas landed in the republican camp four years ago. Now he is wondering if the Chicago convention will pave the way for another republican victory in November. Major O'Keefe isn't a prophet. Indeed, he is a most unique individual. He is an anti-prohibitionist of the Jacksonian vintage and it is his proud boast that he never tasted intoxicating liquor in his life. Indeed, years ago he said to a newspaper writer, "Young man, whisky is made to sell. It isn't made to drink. Pass it up."

WORLD WAR VETERANS AND THEIR INSURANCE

President Hoover has signed a bill enabling 30,000 World War veterans to their five-year government insurance contracts for an equal period without further medical examination. There is a provision in the new law for the renewal of expired policies as the date of expiration upon payment of four months of back premium. All this is a reminder that two of the 18 Texas representatives voted against the Wright Patman bonus proposal. They are: Fritz Lanham of the Fort Worth district and Hatton W. Sumners of the Dallas congressional district. Advices from these districts are to the effect that many Legionnaires are lining up for the renomination of Lanham and Sumners; that business men and farmers are clamoring for the renomination of Lanham and Sumners and that they are quoting from the reasons given by Senator Tom Connally for casting his vote against the bill when final action was taken by the Senate. This makes at least two interesting contests for congressional seats in Texas. By the way, capital police of Washington are seeking congressional support "and a big push to get the bonus seeking veterans' army out of the city of Washington."

SPEAKING OF THE LOW PRICE OF MEAT STUFFS

There is a big conference on in Denver. Heads of the Intermediate Farm Credit banks of the West are in conference there with federal officials. This is the verdict of the bankers. "Under consumption and not overproduction is responsible for the ills of the livestock industry." It was brought out in discussion that livestock prices merely reflect the drop in all commodities. Is this an explanation or a statement or a reflection on the part of financial economists. Now it takes money to buy meat. If there are millions of men who are idle, then there are millions of men whose pocketbooks are flat. Another reason why the greatest, most acute and vexatious problems of the hour is that of devising methods or ways and means to furnish jobs for the jobless. In order that the purchasing power of the millions in city and country may be increased and that the specter of the dole may not disturb or cause sleepless nights to eminent citizens of America who are forever saying or predicting that the dole would be damnable in its consequences—and then let it go at that. Yes, under-consumption of meat is responsible for the ills of the livestock industry and there is a reason why.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma
Well advertised products enjoy great popularity. Each year shows them being sold in greater quantities than ever before. Business concerns who have been traveling on the road of prosperity are those concerns who have used advertising as a motive power. Truthful, persistent advertising makes each year's business more pleasant and profitable and assures for the future a bigger, better business. Good advertising is always broadcasting messages that create demand for products advertised. Persistent advertising is an opportunity for every business concern to secure business that no competition can take away. Advertising is what puts pep in business. The biggest asset of a business is its reputation. Persistent, truthful advertising builds reputation. The advertising of quality goods means a host of pleased customers. The wonderful merit of well advertised, quality goods has built up a tremendous business for those business concerns who had a vision of what advertising will do. Quality is the keynote of the persistent advertiser, and this is well exemplified by a constantly increasing demand. It always pays merchants to handle advertised products. It adds prestige to their business.

QUESTIONS FOR CANDIDATES FOR THE LEGISLATURE

(Both Houses) BY EASTLAND COUNTY TAXPAYERS ASSOCIATION.
1. If elected will you do all you can to eliminate all unnecessary bureaus, commissions, departments of government and offices; combine as many of those that are necessary as will best serve the interest of the people at the least expense; and reduce all salaries of public officers and employees to the level of values generally in the state of property and wages?

2. If elected will you do all you can to enact a state income tax law that will result in relieving the property of all state ad valorem taxes, and cause the profit bearing industries to bear their share of the cost of government?

3. If elected will you do all you can to repeal Art. 1533a R. S. 1925, which enables foreign monopolies to manage the business of corporations doing business in this state without subjecting themselves to the laws of our state or the jurisdiction of our courts?

4. If elected will you do all you can to repeal that part of Art. 1124 R. S. 1925, which protects utility corporations in profits on their investments of not less than 10 per cent, when we have no laws protecting the individual citizen in any profits at all?

5. If elected will you vote to repeal the present truck law after the traveling public from an improper use of the highways by the truck owners, but will give them a right to use the highway in a fair, reasonable way, and haul freight at their own prices, provided they charge the same price for the same services wherever they do business?

6. Since our state constitution forbids monopolies as being against the spirit of a free people, and since the utility companies have, by a combination of great wealth and the aid of laws granting them special privileges not enjoyed by citizens, monopolized the utility business of our state, and are even raising the rates where they have no competition; and since they have, in defiance of public policy and common justice, made it a practice of killing competition by reducing rates below the cost of production and a fair profit where competition appears, and at the same time raising rates (sometimes double) in other places for the same service; therefore, if elected will you do all you can to enact a law that will prevent this banditry in business by the utility companies, with such penalties and provisions as will make the law effective?

Please answer each question "yes" or "no," and then add whatever explanation you wish to add. Signed: COMMITTEE OF EASTLAND COUNTY TAXPAYERS ASSOCIATION.

U. S. War-Horse 24, Is Retired

By United Press.
PARIS.—Old Fairbanks, last war-horse of the A. E. F., in prolonged service in France, has been demobilized by the United States government and sent to a pasture of clover, to end his days. Fairbanks, a beautiful animal who won the admiration of all the doughboys by his jumping prowess at Coblenz, during the days of the watch on the Rhine, and later won points for the United States in the riding events of the inter-allied Games in Paris, is now 24 years old. The horse was brought back from Coblenz to Paris after the Americans left the Rhine and his name was added to the list of property of the U. S. Embassy. Lately, Fairbanks began to pine for the country air and clover on its roots. At Reservation. The government, rather than turn him over to one of the Paris horse butchers, sent the animal to the American reservation at Romagne-sous-Montfaucon, where the largest of the American army cemeteries is located. There Fairbanks was turned loose with a nice warm stable and 10 acres of clover to himself. He may live for 10 years longer, but there is a government order now which assures him a fine old age on full clover pension. Just to show that he has not forgotten, Fairbanks prances and leaps until his creaking joints make him halt.

Old Rattlesnake Theory Exploded

By United Press.
LONGMONT, Col.—There is nothing to that old backwoods theory that a rattlesnake will look up the barrel of a rifle until you pull the trigger and blow it into a snake's hereafter, according to "Denver Dick" Griffith. "Denver Dick," gave a rattler several chances to peep up the barrel of his rifle, recently, but the snake would have none of him. "He looked everywhere but up at the rifle, and every time I pulled the trigger and tried to put a 22 slug in his face, he was looking around admiring the scenery," Dirk said. "So I killed him with a rock." The snake had eight rattles. PLAINVIEW.—W. B. Smith, El Dorado, Ark., received $89,750 contract for construction of new postoffice here.

HOW THEY LOOK IN CARICATURE

HERE-- AND THERE

By ELYIE B. JACKSON

Perhaps the average man, or woman, has failed to consider that good citizenship is really based upon the fundamental rule of kindness. It is seldom that one can be kind without being just, and to be just one must be true to the principle in hand or condition involved. The more one reads the current magazines and special correspondents' stories, the more thoroughly it is impressed that action which motivated trying situations, with no measure offered for their relief, or which failed to find a measure of relief, that such actions were based on a lack of kindness, a callous indifference to its justness, and an ignoring of the right involved. As a specific instance there might be cited the bonus army which has aligned in splendid strength and order, in protest of the non-payment of that money which our government voted long ago was their due. It makes one weary to read reiterated statements, "the march of the army was orderly," or "their occupation of Washington is orderly." What would be the reason for their agitation if by their very conduct they should work against the very thing they are seeking? This movement is a genuine crusade and should be recognized as such in the opinion of many men and women citizens of this country. Joan of Arc led her armies and led them to victory. Even though history tells us her following was decimated, her army ragged, and her ambition to succeed the then condition of early France, hooted by the country. She succeeded in her crusade. Yes. But she lost her life on the burning pyre. Just so are the leaders of this protest or crusading march situated. Their illusions, their loyal patriotism, is going through the fire, spiritual and mental. What the ultimate outcome will be, whether it be an evasion of the situation between the government and this army just as what ever will be the results of the reparations conference, remains on the knees of the gods. For, as long as this government of our grand United States, our country, for which our patriots fought through snow and ice on bleeding feet, remains vacillating, undetermined and irresolute, then just so long will these debts so justly owing our United States and the debts justly owing our modern crusade army, remain unpaid to the everlasting shame of our republic. We will soon celebrate our national holiday, July 4. What does it stand for?

Old Salt Victim of Chickenpox

By United Press.
SOUTH BEND, Ore.—A veteran of adventures in every quarter of the seven seas and surviving of tropic fevers and frigid Arctic blasts, Capt. James D. Murray, former master of the S. S. Memphis City, became a victim of a childhood malady—the lowly chickenpox. From bow to stern, from gray capped skys' to spanker, the skipper had 'em—big spots, little spots, middle-sized and others. He had 'em, and how! But the old cap'n took his troubles philosophically, however, and declared the 'pox helped his lameness.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

BEGIN HERE TODAY CHERRY DIXON, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, falls in love with DAN PHILIPS, newspaper reporter. She quarrels with her father about Dan and then, taking advantage of Leap Year, asks Dan to marry her...

THEY drove in silence. Cherry was shivering in spite of the coat. It was difficult to see the road ahead. A dozen times the girl was sure they were on the verge of disaster.

PEARSON glanced at his watch. "Can't tell. He was waiting for a long distance call when I left. But you needn't worry about Dan. That lad leads a charmed life!"

There was another burst of thunder. The girl shuddered and crouched close to the seat as the countryside was illuminated by the blinding lightning.

PEARSON drew the car to the side of the road, set the brakes. "We'll get the top up," he shouted. It took much tugging and pulling to get the top of the convertible roadster into place.

London Police Play Convicts

LONDON—Detectives disguised as convicts to various prisons outside of London in the hope of discovering the master minds behind numerous big art and jewelry robberies.

Valuable clues are said to have been obtained by this ruse. A raid in South London, resulting from a prison tip, is understood to have provided the police with certain criminal diaries containing mysterious entries in the form of Latin quotations, and correspondence in invisible ink.

The diaries are said to contain references to leaders of a notorious gang (indicated by numerals), which includes several bobbed-haired feminine operatives, expert automobile drivers and disguise experts, who, by systematic changes of address, elude capture.

Guests of the Earl Conners This Week.
Judge and Mrs. Earl Conner have had a number of guests the past few days, who have either visited Earl Conner Jr., or the Conner seniors.

This hospitable home keeps open house in fact all through the year.

But at this season house guests are possibly more frequent as friends are passing through town en route to more distant points, and always call on these charming people.

Johnnie Swinford and Ed Garrett of Norman, Okla., former classmates of Earl Conner Jr., were recent overnight guests at the Conner home, when en route to California to attend the Olympic games.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Drewery of Dallas were Wednesday guests of the Earl Conners.

Mr. Courtney Wells of Houston and Miss Waks-field of Brownwood spent the week-end as guests of Earl Conner Jr.

Jimmie Phillips of Ranger visited in the Conner home several days last week.

Lieutenant Pennick and wife and Captain Allison and wife, of Booneville, Mo., Kemper Military academy, Sunday with the Conners and Sam Conner, a recent Kemper student, when on their trip through Texas in the interest of the academy.

Gilbert Reineman is now located in East Texas, with present headquarters at Gladewater and associated with Cornelius Brown, oil producer. Mrs. Reineman, who has spent the past few weeks following their residence at Conner apartments, with her parents, the Earl Conners, has joined her husband, and is looking for a suitable location in which to resume housekeeping. Their new daughter is with the Conners until the Reinemans are settled.

Junior Boys and Girls World Club.

This splendid little class or club, held its regular weekly session yesterday morning in the booster classroom of Methodist church, presided over by Mildred McGlamery, the little president.

The program opened with the patriotic song, "America the Beautiful," with the director, Mrs. Fred I. Drago, at the piano.

Songs typical of the teachings of this class were then used, "Bring Them In," and "Love Message."

A delightful little reading, "Teacher, Can I Go Home?" was given by Lorraine Starr.

The Thirtieth Psalm was given as a responsive reading, led by Nan Mickle.

New members welcomed at this time were Cone and Eloise Johnson and Lorraine Starr.

Edward Vickery, who is visiting Julia Parker, was a guest.

Those present included Nelma Robinson, Charlotte Ball, Julia Parker, Doris Robinson, Dorothy McGlamery, Jean Atchley, Virginia Ferguson, Dorothy Perkins, Marjorie Murphy, Louise Jones, Nan Mickle, Cora Johnson, Lorraine Starr, Eloise Johnson, Mildred McGlamery, and Mrs. Drago.

The club will meet next Wednesday morning, directed by Mrs. Claud Stubbsfield.

Nettopew Group Camp Fire Girls.

Mrs. J. L. Cottingham, guardian of the Nettopew group of the Eastland Camp Fire Girls, held their recent session at her residence Tuesday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock, with meeting called to order by Doris Lawrence, vice president, who presided in the absence of the president, Helen Butler.

Regular club procedure was followed, and roll call was answered by 11 members.

Lacy May Cottingham, treasurer, reported $1.20 on hand.

Catherine Garrett expressed very pretty her appreciation for the surprise birthday party, tendered her on Thursday, June 10, by the Camp Fire group, who entertained in her home at the Cottingham residence.

The talented little Alice Jones was appointed press reporter for the group, which will meet next Tuesday, 8:30 p. m., at the home of their guardian.

A swim party at Olden lake or the lake near Ranger will follow the business meeting.

Those present, Katrina Lovelace, Elizabeth Jones, Frances Lane, Oneida Jane Harbin, Mildred McGlamery, Madge Hearn, Alice Jones, Catherine Garrett, Doris Lawrence, Nora Frances Mahon, Lucy Mae Cottingham, and Mrs. J. L. Cottingham.

Penney Managers Hold Meeting

A business meeting preceded the social hour, presided over by Mitt Williams, manager of the Cisco Penney store.

A clever feature of this discussion of the successful affairs of the business was the question box, from which many of the queries drawn, gave rise to fruitful measures and business decisions.

The clear Texas moonlight night, the glowing lamps, the radio music that softly mingled with the conversation, furnished a wonderful setting for the social hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Stire were acclaimed most genial and successful entertainers.

Hitherto the managers, their wives and employees have held a co-operative basket supper on the occasion of these social and business meetings, held by this group of the Penney stores.

This innovation of having their supper on the co-operative plan and enjoyed in the manner that obtained at this hospitable home, was a delightful success.

Officers attending were, P. H. Glenn, manager of the Breckenridge Penney store, with J. B. Brewster, assistant manager.

Roy W. Gilbreath, manager of the Ranger Penney store, and C. E. Kerby, assistant manager.

Mitt Williams, manager of the Cisco Penney store, and G. S. Store, manager of the Eastland Penney store.

Wives, employees, and relatives of this group from Penney store present last night included, in addition to foregoing, from Ranger, Mrs. Roy W. Gilbreath, Mrs. Clarence E. Kerby; Misses Alice Hanson, Lois Landtroup; and Messrs. Garland Powell, Arnold Conser; Mrs. Novella De Vere and small son, Jerry.

From Breckenridge, Mrs. P. B. Glenn, Misses Evelyn Cole, Bessie Bralley, Anna Sanders, Ouida Marie Beard, Joan Glenn, Gladys Beard; Mrs. Hanks; Messrs. Otis McKey and C. B. Reed.

From Cisco, Mrs. Mitt Williams, and Misses Louise Karkalits, Eula Howell, Lonnie Shockley, Lillian Jobe; Mrs. W. A. Pippen, Mrs. R. B. Gutafson; Messrs. Eugene Stire and John Howell, and R. B. Gustafson.

From Eastland, Misses Ellen Sneed, Winnie Snider; Mrs. L. E. Beaty, Mrs. G. C. Smith, Mrs. L. A. Noel and Mrs. G. S. Stire and daughter, Miss Betty Stire; Messrs. L. E. Beaty, G. C. Smith, L. A. Noel, and Rob Stire, son of host and hostess.

Loot Creamery But Return An Insurance Policy

By United Press.
STRATFORD, Ont.—Thieves who forced their way into the Willowsdale Creamery and escaped with $4,500 in cash, were considered in one respect.

Investigation, which followed the discovery of the theft, revealed that an insurance policy, which partly covered the theft, was also missing. The following day, however, the policy was found in the post office, with the words, "Good Luck," scrawled on it.

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS.—Evening dresses, in this day of enlightenment, are double first cousins to bathing suits. The only difference is in the skirt, and one clever manipulator of the mode has designed a sure enough bathing suit with a skirt attachment that can be removed after the bath is over, used as a cape over the shoulders while the dashing dandel kicks off her satin dancing pumps and makes for the Mediterranean and a final plunge before breakfast and bed for the day!

Jane Regny does a gown for evening that has the swim suit motif for the corsage at least. She calls it "Audace" and uses one of the new mat crepes for the materials. The bodice is cut in two points in front, which are attached to the skirt and which leave large triangles of the lady's birthday frock bared to the breeze. Two straps from the front points continue over the shoulder and down the back, crossing only when they reach the waist. A knot and wide ends center the attention as if the aim and ambition of the gown were to wander around over the body to culminate the just this one spot.

AS GASOLINE GETS OLDER GASOLINE GETS WEAKER

STALE GAS IS FEEBLE—fresh GAS PACKS POWER

LEAVE an uncorked bottle of gasoline around your house and what happens? It evaporates—the light ends—the "easy starting" elements—go slowly off into thin air.

But more than evaporation takes place as gas gets stale. A chemical change occurs. That's why the older gas gets, the weaker it gets. That's why gas can get so stale—so "powerless"—it won't even kick over a motor!

And as gas gets staler, it gets stickier, too—is more apt to clog valves. And it decreases in anti-knock value—is more apt to knock and thump.

The whole petroleum industry has long known these facts. Gulf has worked on the problem—and has now perfected a system that assures the motorist of getting FRESH gasoline. Here's how...

Gulf makes the best gas that can be produced—and so refines that gas so as to take out the very elements which cause rapid deterioration. Hence, Gulf gas stays FRESH longer.

Next, Gulf has organized its distribution system to rush that FRESH-MADE gas to you in a hurry.

It handles gas as though it were perishable food.

The huge Gulf refineries have been carefully placed in many sections of the country, so that it is easily possible to rush FRESH gasoline to every one of the 45,000 Gulf filling stations. A vast fleet of tank trucks speeds FRESH gas to Gulf stations every day in the year.

When you buy gas you're really buying power. Stale gas can't give you all the power you pay for. Get FRESH gasoline. FRESH-MADE—delivered FRESH. Get Gulf. Use nothing else. Your motor will have more power. It will be cleaner and quieter.
