ROOSEVELT, GARNER SHOW NEW GAINS

GRIPINGS

By GUS
This column is published as a daily feature and may not be construed as representing the editorial views of this paper. What follows is merely what one man thought at the time it was written, and the writer reserves the right to change his mind concerning any subject, without notice, explanation or apology.

Walking down the street this morning in Ranger, talking to Bill Mayes and Brother Kirby, assistant manager at Penneys, the subject of horses was being discussed. In that connection the remark was made that the horse is due for a great comeback both as a farm implement and as a motive power for vehicles. Then some one asked a question as to how long it would be before we'd have a good wagon yard installed in Ranger. Then another remarked that it would be a losing proposition because there is plenty of grass growing on the sidewalk between Main and Pine on South Rusk to make several meals for the average horse.

It doesn't seem like over a week since the city mower cut the grass in the lot across from the Ranger city hall. But it's waist high nearly now and needs cutting again. It wouldn't be so important, but sitting across the lot and walking in the weeds in the middle of the day if any, and of which there are few.

Only received one complaint about the few tender remarks here in yesterday with regards to the quality of ice cream. And I feel sure that the man who made the sick didn't make the ice cream I was talking about. However, several of my customers took time out to agree with me and say that they thought that cotton-like ice cream was terrible and that they didn't care for any more of it. So if it needs the approval of everybody, it will soon be taken off the market.

One Mr. Armstrong of Fort Worth was through the country today making speeches in his race for the governorship of Texas. He talks like a good honest fellow. Told a story about a bank check for a dollar that went the rounds of 20 merchants before reaching the bank and finally got here and payment was made. The 20 merchants decided to kick in a nickel each and split the loss. They figured that each had made 20 cents on the deal at that, or a total profit of $4.00 on a $1 hot check. That figuring was too fast for me. It sounds like some of Channell Cat Dowdy's fish stories.

Cisco is planning a big do for the Fourth. Baseball, swimming, bathing revue and political speaking. The piece de desistance of the speeches is when Joe Jones and Tom Blanton get to talking about each other's kin folks. I've heard several folks say they wouldn't miss that verbal battle for anything. Looks like a big crowd will be there.

As a caution, you folks better stay in the food supply Saturday because the stores are going to close. All the salespeople in the county will get a holiday Monday and business will be practically at a standstill. Some folks claim it is already that way, for that matter. I have noticed that the ones who have the less to say about business being poor are doing the most business, while those who are griping are doing less.

Now, answer this question: Does griping about bad business run prospective customers away from the store? Or does the old smile and a good word for everybody bring customers in? Does bad business make the merchant gripe? Or does his griping make his business worse?

Which was here first, the chicken or the egg?

Yipee! Garner!

W. L. Roe, 78-year-old spectator from Refugio, Texas, is whooping things up for Jack Garner, his state's favorite son, at the Democratic convention.

TEXANS WILL CAUCUS AGAIN BEFORE SESSION

By United Press.
CHICAGO, July 1.—Before clambering wearily to bed, Texas delegates to the convention agreed to consider their future course in a caucus scheduled for 6 p. m.

There was a disposition to predict the Texas vote may ultimately go to Roosevelt if the New York continues to gain.

Some of the Texans thought Garner should be given the vice presidency but his leaders were not trading. One Texan said he was told New York would give the vice presidency either to Garner or Senator Tom Connally in return for the Texas vote.

Candidate For Governor Visits Eastland, Ranger

Judge George W. Armstrong, candidate for governor of Texas, addressed a crowd of voters in Ranger Friday morning at 11 o'clock on the corner of Main and Rusk streets and at Eastland at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Judge Armstrong favors a state currency plan upon the plan of a state central bank to act as a depository for the state and its institutions and as a reserve bank for state banks.

He spoke in favor of a moratorium on all bond and mortgage indebtedness until this currency system can be established and the values of property and service be restored.

He advocated a new constitution for the state in order to modernize the present 56-year-old constitution and abolishment of the ad valorem tax on real estate. He said that he favored the continued appointment of the highway commission for the governor.

He also stood for repeal of the state truck law, rigid economy in government and opposed the liberal use of the pardon system, saying that the only way to inspire respect for the law was to enforce it and to let it stay enforced.

Judge Armstrong comes of pioneer Texas stock, his mother being a native Texan. His father was a Methodist preacher. He was born in Jasper county and has lived in Hill, Limestone, Ellis and Tarrant counties all his life, living in the latter county for the past 44 years.

2 Armed Bandits Rob Houston Bank

By United Press.
HOUSTON, July 1.—Two young men, armed with pistols, held up the Harrisburg National bank at noon today and escaped with cash loot estimated at $4,000.

They locked two employees and a customer in one vault and forced a third employee to open the other vault, from which most of the money was taken.

Kansas Crops Razed By Hail

By United Press.
ROBINSON, Kan.—Farmers of this section are now plowing fields where only a few days ago green crops grew, after the most severe and most freakish hailstorm in the memory of lifelong residents here.

The storm, which struck without warning, left a solid sheet of ice over the green fields. Twenty hours later farmers still were sacking ice for home use. The pellets ranged in size up to lumps as large as billiard balls.

Roofs of houses and barns were punctured, hundreds of windows were broken, all birds in the area were killed, and every fruit tree was stripped bare. Corn was mowed down as if by a cyclone.

The storm over a large section of the best farming land in Kansas, in a strip about three miles wide and more than seven miles long. Five inches of rain followed the hail, the cloudbursts flooding all streams and causing further damage.

Farmers planned to plant 90-day corn, soy beans, millet, and alfalfa in the barren fields.

Stores to Close On the Fourth of July

Business houses of both Eastland and Ranger will be closed all day Monday in celebration of Independence Day.

The Ranger Times office and the office of the Eastland Telegram will be closed, too, on that day and no issue of the paper is to be published.

When Convention Roared Its Approval of Repeal

Hands clapped "The Sidewalks of New York," the world's mightiest organ joined in the strident refrain, thousands of delegates and spectators in Chicago's mammoth stadium leaped to their feet and cheered when Al Smith mounted the platform at the Democratic convention to speak in favor of the prohibition repeal plank. This closeup of a section of the delegates gives an idea of the general pandemonium.

CLINT DAVIS HEADS RANGER LEGION POST

At the most enthusiastic meeting of the Carl Barnes post of the American Legion held in many months, officers of the Ranger Legion were elected last night.

Clint Davis, one of the most active members of the post, was elected as post commander for the coming year. He will relieve L. R. Herring, who has been commander of the post for the past year.

Other officers elected at the meeting were Max Starr, first vice commander; W. N. McDonald, second vice commander; J. L. Chance, adjutant; J. E. Meroney, chaplain; W. C. Hickey, historian; Charles Subrock, post service officer, and John Milburn, sergeant-at-arms.

Some discussion was entered into as to whether anything would be done in the way of celebrating Independence Day in Ranger, but it was voted that the time was too short to plan a celebration of any kind. As Ranger has always aided other towns in this section in celebrating July 4, Nov. 11 was selected as the day on which the local legion post would put on a program of some kind. W. C. Hickey, Felton Brasher and D. W. "Dutz" Johnson were appointed as a committee to prepare for a celebration on Armistice Day.

Following the business meeting an entertainment program was put on in which some good wrestling and boxing matches were staged for the entertainment of the members and visitors.

Several legionnaires and ex-service men from Eastland were present at the meeting.

Miss Earhart Off For Los Angeles

By United Press.
NEWARK, N. J., July 1.—Amelia Earhart putman took off from here at 7:10 today in the same airplane in which she made her recent trans-Atlantic flight for a possible nonstop flight to Los Angeles, Calif.

With her as passengers were her husband, John Palmer Putman, the publisher, and his son, David Binney Putman, known as an explorer and author.

Husband of Former Ranger Girl Dies

Word was received in Ranger Thursday of the death of Ernest R. Locker of Fort Worth, registrar of Texas Christian university. Mr. and Mrs. Locker have a host of friends in Ranger who were grieved to hear of his untimely death.

Mrs. Locker will be remembered as Miss Hazel Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Thompson, formerly of Ranger.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, pending arrival of relatives in Fort Worth.

S. W. Bobo and Mrs. F. E. Langston of Ranger, accompanied by Mrs. C. R. Baxendale of Strawn, left Thursday afternoon for Fort Worth to attend the funeral services, which are expected to be held on Saturday or Sunday.

Mrs. H. B. Johnson Is Critically Ill

Mrs. H. B. Johnson, wife of Rev. H. B. Johnson, pastor of the First Christian Church of Ranger, is reported in a critical condition at her home on Main street.

Mrs. Johnson was showing some improvement a few days ago, but since has taken a turn for the worse and her condition is thought to be serious.

"Repeal It!" Thunders Al

Hand upraised, jaw set, eyes flashing, Al Smith is pictured in this remarkable closeup as he called on delegates at the Democratic convention to vote in favor of a prohibition repeal plank, which they did by an overwhelming majority.

Qualifying Rounds Start In Eastland Golf Tournament

Everything is in readiness for the twelfth annual Fourth of July golf tournament of the Eastland Golf and Country club, according to C. A. Chestnut.

The greens are all in good shape, thanks to the activity of Fred W. Blatt, who has been very busy the past week getting everything in shape.

Qualifying scores have been turned in as follows:

R. X. Wallace, Ranger, 96.
J. E. Harkrider, Eastland, 99.
A. H. Johnson, Eastland, 93.
F. E. Moore, Ranger, 89.
Nath Pirkle, Ranger, 89.
Ray Trammell, Ranger, 75.
Homer Slicker, Cisco, 88.
Lonnie King, Eastland, 80.
F. P. Brasher, Ranger, 100.
Joe C. Stephen, Eastland, 84.
C. A. Chestnut, Eastland, 82.

Indications are that entrants will be present from Mineral Wells, Thorber, Jackboro, Phillips, Graham, Dublin, Gorman, Hamilton, Brownwood, Breckenridge, Coleman, Ranger and Cisco.

The qualifying round of 18 holes medal play will be on from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m., with registration at the clubhouse on Saturday with the stag barbecue at 7:30 to fill out the program for the day.

Eastland Postoffice To Remain Closed Sat. Afternoons

Postmaster A. H. Johnson of Eastland announces that due to the economy program of the present administration that no arrangements could be made to keep the local postoffice open Saturday afternoons.

In consequence the postoffice will close at 12 m., sharp, Saturday.

Tuesday morning at 8 a. m. the postoffice will open for business as usual.

Man Hitch-Hikes With Pet Lamb

By United Press.
DETROIT.—With his pet lamb, Snookie, at his heels, Theodore Arndt, a middle-aged farmer, hitch-hiked through Detroit recently enroute from Watertown, N. Y., to Coon Valley, Wis.

The hitch-hiker told curious pedestrians who questioned him that he had walked most of the way from Watertown. The lamb followed him like a dog, he said. Snookie was nine weeks old when the strange pair straggled through the city.

DALLAS.—New $2,500,000 cut-off between Rhine and this place, state highway No. 114, completed.

TIMPSON.—New shipping shed under construction here.

THIRD PARTY IS URGED BY DRY LEADERS

By United Press.
CHICAGO, July 1.—An appeal for prohibition forces to unite behind a dry third party with United States Senator William E. Borah, republican, Idaho, as its presidential candidate, was made today before a secret meeting of the dry board of strategy, the United Press learned.

Thirty-two leaders of prohibition organizations heard Dr. D. Leigh Colvin of New York declare in an impassioned speech that Senator Borah would be willing to be a dry third party candidate for president if assured of the support by "the moral forces of America."

Dr. Colvin said it was understood that Senator Borah not only had been approached on his willingness to run, but that those who sought the interview interpreted his reaction as "respective."

Contact Is Made With Kidnapers Of Haskel Bohn

By United Press.
ST. PAUL, Minn., July 1.—Contact has been made by Gerhard Bohn, millionaire refrigerator manufacturer, with the kidnapers of his 26-year-old son, Haskel Bohn, the United Press learned today.

Following a number of mysterious letters made by the elder Bohn during the night, reports were that the kidnapers had succeeded in furnishing Bohn with directions for payment of $25,000 ransom.

Two men abducted the youth at pistol point from the family car garage yesterday.

Dr. Kuykendall And Family Return To Ranger Thursday

Dr. and Mrs. P. M. Kuykendall, accompanied by their daughter, Allie Ray, returned to Ranger Thursday night from Seattle, Wash., where Dr. Kuykendall attended the Rotary International convention as a delegate from Ranger.

Dr. Kuykendall said today that they returned by way of Yellowstone national park, combining the trip to the convention with a vacation trip. Dr. Kuykendall is president-elect of the Ranger Rotary club and will assume his duties at the meeting held next Wednesday, at which time the Eastland Rotary club will be guests of the Ranger club.

Sarazen Wins

Gene Sarazen was only one more stroke away from the National Open championship when this picture was snapped. He'd just shot out of a sand-trap, down a narrow human lane of spectators, and onto the eighteenth green. Then, one putt—and he'd clinched the coveted title with a 286 at the Fresh Meadow Country Club course, Flushing, Long Island.

VOTING WILL BE RESUMED AGAIN TONIGHT

Oklahoma Swatches Mail Her Votes To Texas On Third Ballot.

By RAYMOND CLAPPEL, United Press Staff Correspondent.
CHICAGO, July 1.—The democratic national convention adjourned today at 9:16 a. m. after a 12-hour session in which three ballots failed to contain the necessary two-thirds vote to nominate a presidential candidate.

Roosevelt gained strength slowly as the balloting proceeded. From 66.6% on the first ballot he crept to 57.7% on the second and to 62.7% on the third.

After three ballots in a session which lasted from 9 o'clock last night, delegates, dog tired, streamed out of the convention hall for bath, breakfast and bed.

The third ballot showed Roosevelt picked up over the second ballot the following additional strength: Missouri, 2%; New York, 1%; Ohio, 2; Pennsylvania, 1.

He lost, meantime, North Dakota 1, North Carolina .56.

The vote on the third ballot was: Roosevelt, 62.7%; Smith, 19.4%; Garner, 10.1%; Ritchie, 2.3%; Baker, 8%; Traylor, 4.0%; Byrd, 24.96; Reid, 27%; White, 52%.

Pennsylvania gave Roosevelt one and scattered its other votes among Smith, Ritchie, Baker and White.

Oklahoma, doing some political acrobatics, gave its 22 votes on the second ballot to its famous son, Will Rogers, after having stuck with Governor Alfalfa Bill Murray for the first two ballots. The third ballot it jumped to 11 for Reed and 11 for Garner.

Garner showed the most secondary strength on the third ballot when he went to 101.2 after having had Texas and California's total of 90 votes and a quarter vote from Illinois for the first two ballots. He picked up on the third the 11 Oklahoma votes which were leaning about.

Smith, meantime, dropped from 26.1% on the first ballot to 19.4% on the third.

Smith on the third ballot lost 2% votes in New York and nine in Pennsylvania.

Ritchie, the white hope of the "top Roosevelt" forces, picked up on the third ballot 2% votes in Pennsylvania and ended with a total of 23%. Baker, another potential man to stop Roosevelt, went through the three ballots unchanged at 8%, contributed by Indiana and Pennsylvania.

Traylor, Chicago banker, born in a log cabin, dropped from 22% to 4.0% on the third, losing one each in Indiana and Alaska.

Murray disappeared in the third ballot.

Governor White of Ohio gained a half vote, net. He polled Ohio's 62 votes on the first ballot; on the third he got 49% from Ohio and 5 from Pennsylvania.

It was a hectic 12-hour session. Today the Roosevelt forces continued work to sway some large block of votes as a start for a landslide rush.

Twins Epidemic Hits District

By United Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Call it nature, climate, environment, or just plain coincidence, but in any case, the answer is the same: There's a jinx on the Chestnut and 40th street neighborhood.

True, there are still a diminishing few families which do not boast twins. But it's becoming an epidemic.

So the neighbors told Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Kelly when they moved in from Green River, Wyo., some years ago. The Kellys thought they were immune. They were not. The names of their twins are Lea Lois and Lela Louise Kelly.

Within the same block are four other sets of twins, none of the sets related.

The block's twin-pioneering was done by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Delaney, who live four doors from the Kellys. John and James claim Lea Lois and Lela Louise as their "girls." John never mistakes Lea for Lois, because Lela has a tooth out.

There was something of a stir when twins were born in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Keene. But the novelty wore off when within six months three more sets of twins followed Clara and May to the neighborhood.

Federal Treasury Shows Big Deficit

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The government closed the fiscal year 1932 with a deficit of $2,885,000,000, compared with $903,000,000 for 1931, the treasury announced today.

The deficit is an all-time high total for any nation.

DEPRESSION HITS FOREIGNERS

GREEN BAY, Wis.—Leo Ruel, circuit court clerk, blames the depression for the fact that not a single petition for citizenship has been filed in Brown county since Jan. 1. Applicants must pay $10 for first papers and $15 for second. Green Bay has a large foreign population.

TWO-STORY HOG HOUSES.

AMES, Ia.—Double-decked hog houses with a ramp to the second floor, are now advised by the agriculture department of Iowa State college. Warm, dry and clean sleeping quarters can thus be arranged. Hogs will voluntarily climb the ramp to sleep in the second floor quarters, experiments proved, but will not use the second floor during daylight hours. Thus the second floor can be kept clean and reserved for sleeping.

JUVENILE STEALS TRUCK.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich.—When Jane Pettibone and Nellie Collins saw a truck moving down the street, apparently without a driver, they followed in their own car to investigate. To their surprise, they found an 8-year-old boy piloting the truck, which had been stolen. The juvenile auto thief was held overnight by police "for a lesson."

PLANT THOUSANDS OF TREES

ALBANY, N. Y.—Thousands of trees were planted on school of community land in New York State this spring in nine tree-planting demonstrations among school children and Boy Scouts, conducted by the State Conservation department.

BRONZE BRINGS $5,400

PARIS.—A Greek bronze of the 4th Century B. C. and entitled "Aphrodite au Miroir," has been sold at the Haviland auction here for 135,000 francs ($5,400).

Here Are Leaders of War Debt Conference

Clothing Stores Have Clearance Sale During July

The Globe in Ranger and the Men's Shop in Eastland announce a July Clearance Sale, beginning immediately.

Frites on men's clothing has been greatly reduced during this July clearance and prices are lower than ever before.

The men of Eastland and Ranger will find that prices have been lowered considerably on quality merchandise offered by these two stores during the period of the sale.

Some people just can't be satisfied. There's the case of that fellow in Michigan who bought a marriage license a year ago, didn't use it, and now wants his dollar back.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

Text: Ex. 2:1-10; Oc. 7:22.
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for July 3.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

From the close of the last quarter's lessons, with the going down of Jacob with his family and his caravan into Egypt and his reception there with the favor of Pharaoh and all the glory that attached to having a son as the first minister of state, we come now, after a long period, to a very different situation for Israel.

A change of dynasty had brought in a king who knew not Joseph, and a people who had formerly been in favor were now in a condition of slavery and oppression.

With the virility that throughout history has so strongly characterized the Jewish people, the increase of population only added in some ways to their burdens—their masters fearing their increasing strength and therefore suppressing and oppressing them the more.

It was under these circumstances that the brutal order was issued that every new-born Jewish male child should be thrown into the Nile.

If there is anything that could defeat the evil purposes of tyrants, it is mother love and a mother's love for one babe made a preparation for her child which proved his salvation.

For three months she hid the babe, and then when it was impossible to hide him longer, she took the lesser chance where she was faced with inevitable tragedy, and she cast her babe to the mercies of a frail basket of rushes, made water-tight with tar, and entrusted to the river. Then she placed the babe's sister to watch the fortunes of the little ark of bulrushes and its precious passenger.

Thus it was that the daughter of Pharaoh, coming down to the river to bathe, saw the basket, sent her maidens to fetch it, and as she beheld the weeping babe was touched with compassion, and though she knew it was "one of the Hebrew's children," her compassion was evidently more the less real.

Then it was that the older sister made her presence known with a wise suggestion.

She said to Pharaoh's daughter, "Shall I go and call thee a nurse of the Hebrew women?" And in this way the child's own mother was installed as nurse.

MOSES' CHILDHOOD

In this way the life of Moses was saved, and he began even in his babyhood his preparation for leadership. It began, as most great leadership does, with a mother's influence and instruction.

It began, also, with an opportunity for larger education in the wisdom of the time. The one form of preparation was no less needful, nor useful, than the other. For effective work, efficient preparation in knowledge and in the proper training of the faculties is as essential as an earnest purpose and a kindly disposition.

We make, sometimes, the very great mistake of assuming that good intentions and kindness of character are substitutes for ability and intelligent application to the task in hand. It is a mistaken judgment.

It is not enough to be good and let somebody else be clever, but goodness, if it has any real meaning, implies that we are seeking also to be as clever and able as we can be, and to do our work not only with good will but as well as we can with the faculties and powers that God has given us.

Ranger Junior College Has An Unusually Strong Faculty for 1932-33

"As the faculty, so the school," may well be considered an educational axiom; for in the final analysis, the results achieved with pupils in a large measure characterize the teachers. The state department of education and the Texas Association of Colleges, as well as most other educational accrediting agencies, have recognized this truth to the extent that they have set up certain very definite and rigid standards regarding faculty qualifications that a college must meet before it may be recognized as a first class college, and before its credits are affiliated.

Ranger Junior College has fully met these requirements from year to year. In fact, the standing of the faculty as a whole is somewhat above that of most junior colleges and also probably above the average of the teachers in the first two years of most senior colleges in the state. For the session of 1932-33, an unusually strong faculty has been selected.

E. F. Holloway, B. A., Texas Christian university, and graduate work in the University of Texas and the University of California, is president of the college and head of the department of mathematics. In addition to his long years of experience as teacher of mathematics in various high schools, Mr. Holloway has had a number of years' experience in college work. He was formerly head of the department of mathematics in T. C. U., and also in John Tarleton college, and he has taught mathematics in the summer school at the University of Texas.

H. S. Von Roeder, B. S., in Ed. and M. A., University of Texas, with some work toward his Ph. D. in the same institution, is dean of the college and head of the department of education. His years of practical experience as principal of rural and city schools together with his excellent training in the field of education qualify him thoroughly for his work. In his last two years at the University of Texas, he was holder of the Peabody Fellowship in Education, and during this time he also served as vice president of the Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, men's national honorary educational fraternity. In his last year at the university, he was educational representative on the Men's Honor Council and also president of the University Educational Association.

O. G. Lanier, B. A., Abilene Christian college, and C. P. A., National Association of Certified Public Accountants, Washington, D. C., is registrar of the college and head of the department of business administration. Mr. Lanier was registrar of Thorpe Springs Christian college for a number of years before coming to Ranger, and he has thoroughly demonstrated his efficiency as a registrar and teacher of commercial work in his connections with the public schools and the Junior College of Ranger. In the past, Mr. Lanier's duties as registrar have consumed a major portion of his time, but he has been relieved of some of this work for the coming year, and he will devote all the time necessary to put over a thoroughly equipped and efficient business college program. He will offer all the work ordinarily given in a regular business college, and in addition, he will teach courses in business administration on the true college level giving regular college credits. Mr. Lanier is secretary-treasurer of the Oil Belt Educational Association.

Mrs. Mae Healer, B. A., Abilene Christian college, and now doing graduate work in the University of Texas, is dean of women. Mrs. Healer is a woman of excellent training, strong personality, and great efficiency. Her work with girls and young women is an invaluable feature of Ranger high school and college.

Miss Frances Burrage, B. A., Simmons university, and B. S. in library science, University of Illinois, has been elected librarian of Ranger high school and Junior college for the coming year. She is thoroughly trained for her work in one of the leading schools of library science of the nation, and she comes to Ranger very highly recommended.

Convention Notables in Caricature . . . By Don Wootton

Mrs. Gladys Reid Wilbanks, B. A. and M. A., Baylor university, has been elected as head of the department of English and public speaking. Mrs. Wilbanks has done research work in English in Southwestern Louisiana institute and in Louisiana Polytechnic institute, and she was student assistant in Baylor university one year.

Mrs. A. Neill, B. A., graduate work in Colorado university and Southern Methodist university, is instructor of American literature in Ranger high school and Junior College. She is an expert and popular teacher, especially in the field of American literature.

Mrs. Margaret Maddox, B. A. and M. A., Baylor university, head of the department of modern languages, is a graduate with "highest honors" from Baylor university for her M. A. She is a very popular and capable teacher of French, Spanish and Latin.

Miss Gladys E. Pinson, B. A., Arkansas Teachers college, and M. A., Peabody college of Vanderbilt university, and post-graduate work in the University of Texas, is head of the department of social sciences. She is a teacher who ranks far above the average.

Mrs. T. E. Ward, B. S., Sam Houston State Teachers' college; M. A., Columbia university, and graduate work in the University of California, has been head of the department of natural sciences since the organization of the college, and she has thoroughly demonstrated her efficiency by securing full affiliation in the sciences offered.

Other members of the faculty for 1932-33 are: R. L. Maddox, B. A., Baylor university, who is a very capable and popular director of the band and orchestra; T. E. "Tricky" Ward, B. A., Texas Christian university, and graduate work in the University of California, director of physical education and coach of athletics in the college; and Miss Mary Marjorie Buchanan, A. A., Ranger Junior college, with a year in Texas Woman's college, director of physical education for women.

This brief review of the faculty of Ranger Junior College for 1932-33 reveals the fact that each of the members is a specialist in his or her lines of teaching and that the faculty as a whole is well qualified, very capable, and highly efficient.

"STERLING SAVED EAST TEXAS OIL OPERATORS"
Gen. Jacob F. Wolters was the commander of the state troops in the East Texas oil area.

"Practically all of the oil operators in the East Texas field would have gone broke before now if proration of oil production had not been in force."

General Wolters could have added that price levels were sent from 10 cents per barrel to 90 cents or $1 a barrel, and that as a result of the Sterling order more than a million dollars of a day has been placed in the pockets of hundreds who needed the money in the East Texas field.

That act alone deserved a unanimous re-election of Ross S. Sterling and it would have called for a second term without opposition for any of his predecessors in the office of governor.

There is a lot of bunk in all political campaigns. There is a lot of hypocrisy. Ross S. Sterling is not a bunk maker or a bluff orator. He is a blunt and practical and honest man of affairs.

Nationally speaking, the democrats are grinding in their great national convention. They may adopt a platform and nominate standard bearers before the coming of the month of July or they may celebrate the Fourth of July on the banks of Lake Michigan in a knockdown and dragout fight for control of the party of Jefferson—but not for the control of the reins of power of the federal government.

What a Difference a Few Years Make!

HERE--- AND THERE
By ELVIE R. JACKSON

It is interesting to note that what seemed a vital paramount question, "Just for Today," was an equally vital question some several years ago, as may be indicated by a clipping from a former newspaper issued in Eastland, The Daily Oil Belt News of April, 1926, which discusses in an editorial, the salaries paid to school teachers, and shows the paper's attitude.

This, plainly states "starvation wages" are manifestly unfair to this class of loyal and useful public servants. They are also unfair to the nation's children for they mean "starved education."

Compare this with the statement made in a special article by Kate Hassell, in the Dallas News of Thursday, June 30. "Children are being denied their birthright in many communities, through shortening of the school term, abolishing of certain types of classes, and by general enlargement of classes."

Teachers have been asked in many cases to accept a much heavier load than they formerly carried, and this does not permit of individual work for the boys and girls, said George D. Strayer, professor of educational administration, Teachers college, New York, in his address before the National Education association in session in Atlantic City, N. J., on Wednesday, June 29.

The address contains much more matter pertinent to rights of children to proper education, and their rights as future citizens of this United States, and deals with the heroic sacrifice involved on the part of teachers, who work for meagre salaries, and give in return the best years of their life, and the results attained, through an extensive and expensive education.

There is possibly no field of missionary work in which there are more earnest teachers than the field of education in our country.

Added to the fact of their lack of proper pay is the lack of time after school hours to add to their income, through some other means of work or effort.

Added to this present discussion concerning teachers and their wage is the mooted argument of employment and unemployment of the married woman teacher.

The average school board as a rule, is prone to turn down the application of a married female for a school-teaching position. This is manifestly unfair on the face of it.

Often the head of the household can meet a portion of the expenses of his home, provided he has the co-operative assistance financially of his wife.

Especially is this the case where there are children to be considered. Often a man teacher and a woman teacher marry, and establish a home.

Children are born to them. Their individual expenses increase as well as the expenses of their menage. Both may be capable teachers, and desirable from every viewpoint. Wherein is the justice of lopping off the salary of the woman teacher, reducing her to a straightened circumstance, simply because she is married?

Then there is the single woman teacher, who comes from a home of wealth, or from well-to-do homes. What about employing her?

There are many phases of this argument, of whether or not married women should be employed as school teachers. Possibly the strongest argument in their defense would lie in whether or not their services are clamored for by the school officials, parents and community, and not whether or not a local board sits in judgment on the application and makes decisions that are not based on qualification of the married woman teacher, but emanate wholly from considerations as to whether or not she is a married woman.

Man Bitten By Rattler Says It Was Only Sting

OAKDALE, Cal.—A rattler's bite means nothing to Henry Stockslager, construction employe. While working on the Hetch Hetchy water project, Stockslager felt something on his right ankle. He reached down and brushed at his foot.

When he returned to camp, he told fellow workers something had stung him. Medical investigation proved he had been bitten by a rattlesnake. Stockslager neither saw nor heard the snake.

French Village Offers a Prize

BEAUVAIS, France.—In accordance with the custom inaugurated in the year 531, when the bishop of this region, Saint Merard, offered a prize and a wreath of roses to the most virtuous maiden of the village of Salency, Miss Odette Resille was selected this year to receive the honor.

After a short church ceremony and the placing of flowers on the Soldiers' monument, the entire village and guests went to the city hall and visited a retrospective "exposition" exhibition with historical and artistic documentation. One of the most interesting exhibits was a photograph representing the same scene as it took place many years ago when photography was in its infancy.

CHANUTE, Kan.—For the first time in history, the scream of the angered gorilla and the chatter of the African pigmy has been successfully translated to the realm of the "talkie"—but only with the greatest difficulty, Martin Johnson, famous explorer, said at his home here.

With his wife, pretty and brunette, who always accompanies him on his explorations, Johnson spent months in the heart of Africa, seeking film shots which he says have never been duplicated.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
SENA SERVICE WRITER
CHICAGO—Now that it seems fairly well established that most of the chest-thumping in the 1932 campaign will be over prohibition and the compromise resubmission plank in the Republican platform, let's have a look at the man who will have to do most of the explaining—Everett Sanders of Indiana.

As chairman of the Republican national committee, it will become Mr. Sanders' job to conduct a campaign for a candidate who creates little enthusiasm, even in his own party, and who has been unfortunate enough to be president during the depression.

After four years there he decided to retire to his private practice—or so he announced—and did not offer for almost certain reelection. But when he stepped out as congressman, he merely moved his personal papers over to the White House, where he succeeded the suave C. Bascom Slemo as President Coolidge's private secretary.

Sanders had made a good party record in Congress and was well liked in Washington generally. He was prominently mentioned as the vice presidential candidate at the Cleveland convention in 1924, but Jim Watson spilled his guns just as it seemed that he was the logical running mate for Coolidge.

Lives Modestly
DURING the 1924 campaign, Sanders was chairman of the Republican speakers' bureau, and was given his share of the credit for the Coolidge landslide. Since Coolidge left the White House, he has been a member of a Washington law firm.

Sanders is 50 married and has no children. Since coming to Washington in 1916 he has lived modestly in a small apartment. When he was named Coolidge's secretary his first automobile was a part of the pay for the job. Before he had always explained that he was compelled to live entirely on the $7500 a year he received as congressman and that he was trying to get some of it away for a rainy day.

British Smart Set Finds Leader In Prince of Wales

By HARRY FLORY
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON.—As Queen Mary is undisputed leader of the cream of British society, her eldest son, the Prince of Wales, aided and abetted by his boon companion, Prince George, is the moving spirit of Britain's smart set, the section of society about which the public knows most.

Democratic Spirit
The smart set extolizes the spread of the democratic spirit in society, the revolt of the bright young people against old time entertainments organized by their seniors, in favor of green beer and sausage, parties, champagne and cocktail parties, cabarets and treasure hunts organized by themselves.

The world's most eligible bachelor, irritated by constant matrimonial rumors, chose young married women as partners when he took up dancing after the war. Mrs. Dudley Ward was one of the first to become one of his regular partners. She is a petite brunette, noted for her dry humor and wit, with a debutante daughter who is more like a sister.

American born Viscountess Furness is another who is usually seen wherever young royalty goes for an evening's entertainment. She was the former Theima Morgan Converse, daughter of Harry Hays Morgan, former United States Consul General in Belgium.

Members of the famous Guinness family, including the Marchioness of Dufferin and Ava and the Hon. Mrs. Drogo Montagu, are among the liveliest spirits of the smart set.

No Rigid Rules
The smart set has no hard and fast rules, such as the rule of the cream of society that no guilty party in a divorce suit may have a badge for the royal enclosure at Ascot. Members of the smart set are chosen for their sparkle, wit and bright ideas, and their ability to spend money, although this last is not an absolute requirement.

The political set, which used to be one of society's most important branches, is not what it used to be. Political entertaining is somewhat passe. The Marchioness of Londonderry, wife of the Minister for Air, is the day's most noted political hostess. She has practically assumed the task of social mentor to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald. A political reception at Londonderry House in Park Lane, with Lady Londonderry, ablaze with the family jewels, receiving at the head of the grand staircase, is an event never to be forgotten.

Lady Astor, of Virginia, is just as assiduous as Lady Londonderry in political entertaining, but she lets down the barriers much lower than Lady Londonderry would ever think of doing, even to the extent of making evening dress optional at a political soiree. An M. P. in rough tweeds is just as welcome as a cabinet minister in full evening dress.

Musical Set Small
Society's musical set is small, as would be expected when the world's largest city can support only a few weeks of grand opera yearly, but what there is of it is led by the American born Lady Cunard.

By contrast, the racing or sporting set is large and varied, as might be expected of a small island which can and does support race meetings all the year round, sometimes as many as three or four in one week. Lady Stanley, wife of the son and heir of Lord Derby, may be said to lead the racing set. She and her sisters, Lady Blandford, Lady Hillingdon and Lady de Trafford, all granddaughters of the late Lord Castlereagh, became known as "Cadolgan Square," because of their habit of attending all possible race meetings together.

Stage Patron of Society
When it comes to the stage, it can be said that the stage now patronizes society, where society once patronized the stage. Gertrude Lawrence, just as well known in New York as in London, is definitely a member of the smart set.

All the sets, with the exception of the Queen's own circle, are continually thrown together by the mood of the moment, "eat, drink and be merry for tomorrow we may starve."

HAS HOUSEFUL OF CANARIES

By United Press.
OSKALOOSA, Ia.—Five years ago Mrs. J. F. McMullen moved from her farm home to Oskaloosa. She missed her work of raising little chickens and pigs, so began raising canaries. From an original purchase of three birds, she now has almost 150, and has not parted with any. For lack of housing space, she is contemplating returning to the farm. The five rooms in her town bungalow are all congested with canaries.

PREPARING FOR ECLIPSE.

By United Press.
ST. POHNSBURY, Vt.—Burke mountain, 3,500 feet high, will be an excellent vantage point from which to view the total eclipse of the sun, Aug. 31. So plans are being made for the construction of a highway up the mountain side to accommodate hundreds of sun-gazers expected here to witness the phenomenon. A tower will be built on top of the mountain.

The best way to prove to an unbeliever that miracles do happen is to show him your summer suit which has just come back from the laundry with all the buttons still on.

A writer says that a good story must always have an ending that satisfies. The trouble with that is that most wives won't wait to hear the end.

FRIEND TOLD HIM ABOUT ALL-BRAN

And It Brought Relief From Constipation

Those who are bothered with constipation should read Mr. Gelpke's unsolicited letter:
"I have suffered with constipation for years. A friend of mine told me to try ALL-BRAN. I have taken ALL-BRAN for the past six weeks as a breakfast food. It has regulated my bowels as clockwork. Now I would not be without a package at all times."—Mr. Leslie Gelpke, 273 Ridgewood Ave., Newark, N. J.

Common constipation—with its headaches, loss of appetite, sleeplessness—is due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines. Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. Both are present in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Being a natural corrective, ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming.

Try ALL-BRAN in place of pills and drugs—on often harmful. Just eat two tablespoons daily—serious cases with every meal. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

In the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Academic Garb Is Scrutinized

By United Press.
CAMBRIDGE, Eng.—Graduates of Cambridge University presenting themselves at the Senate House on days of ceremony or at other university functions will henceforth be liable to close scrutiny, and if their academic dress is not in accordance with the regulations, they may be refused admission.
Specifications of the correct materials, colors, and designs for the gowns to be worn by various grades of doctors, masters and bachelors have been drawn up. The colors for the lining of doctors' hoods and festal gowns in the various branches of study are as follows:
Divinity—Turquoise blue shot with rose pink.
Law—Light cherry.
Medicine—Mid-grey.
Science—Light grey shot with rose pink.
Letters—Scarlet.
Music—Dark cherry satin with cream damask.
Philosophy—Scarlet cloth with black.

Masters' and bachelors' hoods are to conform to the above specifications, but certain changes in the cut of gowns and hoods have been recommended to distinguish the lesser academicians from their more learned brethren.

Britain Views New Policy In Handling Criminal

By FREDERICK OCHSNER
United-Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON.—Important changes in the present British system of handling hardened criminals are expected to follow the submission of a report to the Home Office by a Committee on Persistent Offenders.

The committee's recommendations look to a more adequate protection of society and, where possible, to greater efforts in the regeneration of the criminal himself.

Two School Sentiments
Sentiment on prison reform in Britain is divided between the usual two schools: that which thinks that prisoners should be treated more humanely, and that which thinks that they should be treated more strictly, with an occasional taste of flogging. The committee's report has steered a course between these two schools.

In the first place, the committee thinks that hardened criminals should be sentenced to longer terms than is now the case, and it also advocates an improved system of industrial training for the convicts during their longer terms.

Two important factors, among others, have given impetus to the campaign for British penal reform. One has been the marked increase in crime (mostly the work of gangs of hardened criminals), and the other was the mutiny at Dartmoor prison last January.

Boasted of Jails
Up to the time of the Dartmoor affair, prison officials had publicly boasted that jail riots such as had occurred in the United States were not possible in Britain. Dartmoor gave shocking evidence to the contrary, and brought forth a sharp charge that Great Britain actually lags far behind many other countries in the enlightened handling of convicts.

The fact that, of 39,000 prison sentences imposed in 1930, over 20,000 were given persons previously imprisoned (9,244 had served five or more previous terms, and 2,125 had served more than 20 previous terms) suggested one obvious line of attack. Temporary imprisonment, it showed, did not serve as a sufficient deterrent in the case of the habitual criminal.

Want New Sentences
The committee, therefore, recommended the institution of two new sentences: one a sentence of detention of between two and four years, the second a sentence of "prolonged detention" of between five and ten years.

Power of Parole
The secretary of state, the committee also urged, should be empowered to parole any prisoner after he had completed a third of his sentence, if detention had effected its purpose, and there was a reasonable probability that the offender would abstain from further crime. Good conduct and industry, it was added, should also open the door to parole.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

LEAP YEAR BRIDE. She brushed them aside, rose and went to the doorway. Five minutes later Cherry was calling eagerly, "Is that you, Dan? Oh, I'm so glad to hear your voice! No, we're not at Willow Lake. The storm caught us and we missed the road. We're at a place called Scott Junction. Yes, of course, we're all right only I've worried! What? You didn't start out? Yes, dear, I can hear you. Yes, we're coming back. You'll wait at the office? All right. Wait a minute—Max wants to talk to you." PEARSON did not return. It was the other young man who finally appeared in the doorway. "Storm's letting up some," he announced. "He says if you're willing he'll try to make Scott Junction. You may be able to telephone from there." Cherry hesitated. "Do you think it's safe?" "Well, the car seems to be all right. The road will be bad but by driving carefully and going slow you ought to be able to get there." Cherry was on her feet. "I suppose we'd better try it," she said. "We certainly can't stay here." Ten minutes later she and Pearson were in the car. The motor sputtered, then settled down to a steady purr and they were off in the darkness. It was difficult driving. Pearson and Cherry both kept their eyes on the road ahead. It was still raining, the drops coming down in a steady drizzle. The road that had been caked with dust before the rain was slippery and treacherous now. Part of the time Cherry could see only a few feet ahead. There was little conversation. Pearson was intent on his driving and the girl had no wish to divert him. Once he spoke of a noise in the mechanism of the car. "Doesn't sound right," he said. "Well, if the old bus can get as through this I guess she'll deserve a little garage attention." Cherry listened. Here was a new prospect of danger. "You don't think it's anything serious, do you?" she asked. Pearson gave her a quick glance. "Not unless it gets worse," he answered shortly. His gaze returned to the road ahead. She asked the time and was told it was almost 10 o'clock. After that they settled down to a long silence. It was Cherry who cried out at the first sign of lights. "Look, Max!" she exclaimed. "Do you suppose that's Scott Junction? Oh, if we can only telephone!" It was the junction, a rural neighborhood including half a dozen stores, a garage and filling station. Pearson halted the car in front of the garage and went inside. "There's a telephone," he announced when he returned a few minutes later. "Do you want to structure at Moran Friday. Saturday. Twelfth annual golf tourney opens three-day session. Barbecue at clubhouse, 7:30 p. m. Junior Missionary society, Baptist church, 9:30 a. m.; Misses T. J. Pitts and J. P. Truly, and Miss Opal Hunt, directors. Public library, 2 to 5:30 p. m., community clubhouse. Trades day; merchants welcome county and local visitors. Special features, fun and amusement for all. Bring the whole family and enjoy a good time.

A Busy Day. Saturday will be a busy day in Eastland. The twelfth annual Fourth of July Eastland Golf and Country club tournament will open at 9 a. m., with registration at clubhouse, followed by the various events as already announced, and concluding with the stag barbecue at the clubhouse, 7:30 p. m., and the Calcutta pool, one and one-half hours later. Then there is trades day, when Miss Ruth Ramey, county home demonstration agent, will give a free canning demonstration in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. This enterprise is fostered by the Chamber of Commerce, and is due the initiatory effort of Dr. H. B. Tanner, secretary Chamber of Commerce. Through this means of canning contributions and other supplies in food it is hoped by the chamber to meet, at least partially, the appeal for relief, that is anticipated. Very few social affairs are on tap for today. All one hears is the local golf tournament plans, and the trades day special amusements.

House Guest. Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Jones have as their house guests from today until over the Fourth, Miss Sarah Hamilton of Bryan, and Robert Steele Jones, student of A. & M. college.

on Thursday night of next week, the Ranger team will conduct the installation for the incoming officers, following the regular opening of the lodge at 8 p. m. In order to create interest in such affairs each member attending the meeting last night drew a calendar date from a box, and will be personally responsible for the entertainment features on the Rebekah meeting night of that date, which will begin on July 11, and close Sept. 29. Those programs are to be kept as a surprise and are designated "surprise programs." Those attending the meeting: Miss Pauline Cook, noble grand; Miss Dorothy Watson, incoming noble grand; Mrs. W. C. Marlow, Mrs. Don Parker, Mrs. Mattie Butler, Mrs. Blanche Nicols, Mrs. Stella Lou Hardwick, and Miss Rosalind Coleman of Vernon, sister of Mrs. Don Parker, and the only visitor present.

Entertaining Guests. Burette W. Patterson and wife are entertaining J. F. Patterson of Coosa, the father of Judge Patterson, and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Martin of Little Rock, Ark., who will be with them over the weekend. The Pattersons find their out-of-door summer livingroom a delightful place for guests and family gatherings. The sunken garden, flanked by the rose garden, all enclosed by a fence of living green in handsome shrubbery, with the thick, cool grass underfoot, forms a restful retreat these warm afternoons and evenings and is popular with their neighbors and friends.

Mrs. Earnest Hostess Bluebonnet Club. The Bluebonnet club had a very delightful meeting at the home of Mrs. J. O. Earnest Thursday afternoon. The three tables arranged for bridge were attractively appointed in clever tangles and other bridge features. Charming bouquets of roses and nasturtians added their decorative touch to the rooms. At close of an interesting game, club favor for high score, a handsome bath mat, was awarded Mrs. V. O. Howard, and the cut-for-all favor, a flower vase, went to Mrs. Bernice Blowers.

The guest favor, a tinted porcelain mayonnaise bowl, was presented to Miss Fay Crossley. A dainty tea plate was served of fruit salad on lettuce, cheese balls, ice box cake and olives, with leed, minted tea. The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Robert Ferrell. Those present, Mrs. Veen Howard, Mrs. E. T. Cox Jr., Mrs. Bernice Blowers, Mrs. Robert Ferrell, Mrs. David Carter, Mrs. Sam Gamble, Mrs. Guy Patterson, Mrs. James Watson, Mrs. Roy E. Allen, Miss Fay Crossley, Mrs. Joe Caffan, Mrs. Tom Amis, and Mrs. J. O. Earnest.

Informal Tea Tomorrow. Mrs. P. G. Russell will entertain with a tea reception informally tomorrow afternoon, at her residence, from 5 to 7 o'clock, honoring Eastland society's most recent newcomers, Mrs. Neal Day (nee Jane Angstadt), and Mrs. Richard Beach Phillips (nee Peggy Taylor), charming additions to our younger matron set.

Children's Story-Telling Hour A Success. Thursday morning the Children's Story-Telling hour was conducted in the community clubhouse for the fourth consecutive week, under the direction of the Thursday Afternoon club. Folk songs were led by Bruce Pipkin and Kay Jean McDonald. Mimeographed song sheets have been provided for the children by Miss Ruth Ramey and used at each session. The Salute to the Flag was led by Nancy Seaberry and a group of patriotic songs prefaced the reading of the poem, "The Independence Bell."

Caroline Robison of Ranger, who was judged as the best storyteller in the spring interscholastic contest, delighted her audience with her interpretation of

"The Bear and the Candy." Little Miss Vivian Cooper, a dainty colonial costume of yellow, danced a descriptive "Vain Little Miss" toe dance. With mirror, powder puff, and poke bonnet, she made herself beautiful, and accompanied on the piano by her mother, she pleased the children in her audience greatly.

"June Time is Rose Time" was sung by a group of girls, led by Virginia Ferguson and Dorothy Perkins. The miniature page which has been the center of attraction each week again developed the colonial theme and was arranged by children of the group. Photographs have been made of the stage settings to be sent to A. & M. college in connection with the recreation work which the extension department has featured in Eastland and other towns. A group picture outside the clubhouse was also made.

"Tar-Baby" and "Brer Rabbit in the Briar Patch" were reviewed and illustrated by the large drawings made last week by Mrs. Virgil Seaberry. The new stories for Perkins, who has been in charge for the month of June, William Dean Howell's tale of "The Pony Engine and the Pacific Express" was told to the entire group. Then Mrs. M. C. Hayes, who has made splendid kindergarten work, took the pre-school children into the committee room where she entertained them with motion games and stories. While they were singing and playing the older children listened to the dramatic story of "The Little Brown Bird," by Julia Brown.

During the month of July the Book club will be responsible for the story-telling hour. On next Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, Mrs. J. M. Armstrong and Mrs. John Turner will take charge. More detailed announcement will be made later. The story-telling is conducted under the general chairmanship of Mrs. J. M. Laughlin, library chairman for the Thursday Afternoon club. August sessions will be conducted under the direction of Music club members. Splendid co-operation has made the children whose ages range from 2 to 11 thoroughly enjoy the stories and songs.

Mothers and grandmothers have accompanied the children and among those present at the week were Mrs. John Turner, Mrs. J. M. Armstrong, Mrs. Earl Cooper, Mrs. Donald Kinnaird, Mrs. V. V. Cooper Jr. and Mrs. V. V. Cooper Sr. of Ranger. Thursday club members other than those mentioned were Mrs. James Horton, who assisted with the registration, and Mrs. W. B. Collie. Magicians Rod Fails On Gold. DELHI, N. Y.—Benjamin Bennett's diving rod might be all right for telling good liquor from bad, "without even opening the bottle," but as for finding gold, it is a failure. Bennett had the village folk in a high state of excitement after arriving here from his Bloomfield farm and announcing he intended to find $50,000 in gold and currency believed buried by a bank bandit 75 years ago. "According to local gossip, two bandits robbed a bank in Illinois in 1857. While traveling through Delaware county, they stopped at a hotel here and buried the money in a hill nearby. Subsequently they were captured and sent to prison. One died, and when the other was freed, he returned here to retrieve the loot. He failed. When the story reached Bennett, he hurried to Delhi with his diving rod—a hazel stick. While awed, but eager, men and women-folk followed, Bennett led the way to a spot where the State College of Agriculture property. "There's where the gold is buried," he exclaimed. Whereupon a hole 16 feet deep was dug. Although there were indications of previous digging, villagers found nothing. Discouraged, they abandoned the search. Bennett, however, believed the loot will be found here some day. To prove the powers of divination his stick possesses, he directed that a dollar bill be hidden. He aroused considerable surprise by finding it. That's not the only claim his rod can do, he claims. "Why can't you tell good liquor from bad without even opening the bottle," he asserted.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—Gene Duval, a former international league player, has taken over management of the St. Adelbert's semi-professional baseball team here. Duval, who once played with Jersey City, will take his place at second base.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY NEA Service Writer. A GROCERY list is essential when one goes to market, but the inexperienced housewife will find that she often can effect a worthwhile saving if she makes a feasible list with a consequent reasonable budget. The market list is a valuable device that prevents overstocking of both staples and fresh products.

However, the market list which is prepared results in opportunity of choosing the fruits and vegetables which are most plentiful and in the finest condition. An unusually large shipment of produce tends to make that particular fruit or vegetable cheaper than the one which is scarce. Consequently, if the housewife is willing to buy the best that is offered at the most reasonable price, after a quick review of her menu and market list, she can serve her family the best in the market.

A list representing a variety of possible vegetables is helpful. If green peas are first choice for the substantial dinner vegetable, a second choice jotted on the list aids in a quick decision.

Very often, if the meat originally planned has to be changed, the entire menu list must be re-made. The selection of the meat course influences the dessert as well as the vegetables.

Consider Use of Foods. When making the list, the way in which vegetables, meats and fruits are to be used should be kept in mind. Vegetables wanted for soups need not be as perfect as those wanted for table service. Coarse winter stalks of celery are quite as good for soup as choice pieces and are a much cheaper article.

Close calculation as to the amounts needed is another means of economical buying. Nearly all foods are cheaper when purchased in large quantities, but if there is danger of food spoiling before it can be used, nothing is gained by buying the larger amount. If a definite plan has been worked out to make use of the extra amount, Vegetables are helpful. Of fruits and vegetables, two pounds per day per person is recommended. The average man doing moderately hard physical work needs from two to five pounds of vegetables each week in addition to five or six pounds of potatoes. People doing light work will not require so much. Fruits bought in quantity can be used fresh as wanted, and the surplus canned or preserved.

Cream of London Society Still Remains Exclusive

By HARRY FLORY United Press Staff Correspondent. LONDON.—The old order changeth, particularly in British society but the cream of that society, a small group gathered about Queen Mary, remains as exclusive as ever. Aside from that upper stratum, society, now in the throes of the London season, is a conglomerate affair, made up of various sets, the smart, the art, political, musical and sporting. Members of these sets are now chosen for their pocketbooks or their personalities.

Set Changes Little. But the Queen's set changes little. Members remain about the same as they were 15 or 20 years ago. They are still chosen for their birth and rank. New entrants into this stratum are rareties, the only ones being those of the court circle, when they dine on the royal yacht, stay at Sandringham or Balmoral or are visited in their own homes by the King and Queen.

Leaders of this set, in addition to the Queen, include two American born women. They are the Honorable Lady Ward, daughter of the late Whiteley Reid, former Ambassador to the Court of St. James, and the Duchess of Roxburgh, daughter of the late Ogden Goelet of Newport and New York. Then there is Lady Ellesmere, wife of the Earl of Ellesmere, who gave the Derby winner this year, when Ambassador Mellon wore the knee breeches he failed to wear at Court. She is also noted for having put a stop to gate-crashing a few years ago when she firmly requested a group of bright young people she had not invited to her party to leave her house. Since then, hostesses in her circle have adopted the system of forcing guests to present their invitations when they arrive. Lady Elphinstone is one of the youngest of the Queen's social companions. She is 49, the eldest sister of the Duchess of York. She entertained the Queen at Carberry Tower long before her younger sister married the Duke of York. Another member of the set is the Duchess of Portland, a vegetarian, who was mistress of the robes to the late Queen Alexandra. Free at July's End. By the end of July society will have fled from London to Goodwood, Cowes and other places. Members of the lower strata of society will be in evidence in London later in the year, particularly during the little season in October and November, but London will hear little of the cream of society until next May, when the private view of the Royal Academy heralds another London season.

Business and Luncheon Hour Held With Mrs. Killingsworth. A very delicious luncheon was served to members of the Young Matrons Sunday school class of the First Methodist church yesterday at 12:45, with Mrs. J. T. Killingsworth acting as hostess at her home, 809 Young street. After luncheon a business discussion was opened at which time plans were made to aid in helping the needy of Ranger this winter. Report on their work will be made at a later date.

Those enjoying the monthly social included Misses E. K. Smith, W. H. Clark, C. A. Smith, S. P. Boon, E. H. Bishop, A. N. Larson, A. W. Turner, H. D. Bishop, J. A. Branson, C. D. Davis, A. J. Ratliff, E. H. Mills, R. S. Balch, G. O. Strong, Ray Campbell, and Miss Mary Kohler.

Miss Owendy is House Guest of Miss Wier Over the Fourth. Miss Pauline Owendy of Dallas is the delightful house guest of Miss Kenneth Wier, Strawn highway, over the Fourth. The gay party group at the Wier home will attend various celebrations which are scheduled for the week-end and Fourth.

Play Progressing Well Under Direction of Miss Townsend. The play, "Oh, Professor," which is being given much time under the capable direction of Miss Townsend, is reported progressing quite well and will be presented under the auspices of the Ranger Elks club on the evening of July 7 and 8. A cast of well chosen characters take prominent roles and each individual character suited to his particular part, helps in making the production more effective. Practice is held each evening at the Elks club.

Ranger People Invited to Attend Opening of Zuella Shoppe. Ranger people are invited to attend the opening of the Zuella Smart Shoppe this evening at 8 o'clock, which is being opened by Mrs. Ruby King, in the building formerly occupied by Hasen Company, next door to Joseph Dry Goods Company.

This neat smart shoppe with all interior finish in two shades of orchid trimmed in black, presents a very chic appearance, together with the aid of mid-summer and fall suggestions. For milady's convenience there will be a richly furnished and modernly equipped beauty salon, owned and operated by Mrs. Mary Young, expert and experienced beauty operator. Again, the orchid and black tones of color are repeated in this department.

A triple color scheme of red, white and blue, will lend desired effect to the attractive window display, showing in a pretty manner the season's silk hints, and highly appropriate for the celebration only two days ahead. Mrs. King will be assisted in operating this shoppe by her mother, Mrs. R. C. Carville.

Funeral will be served and the general public is cordially invited to attend.

Elks Dance to Entertain Members Celebrating July 4th. The many who are planning a full program for July Fourth, no doubt also have dotted in their calendar the dance to be given at the Elks club on the night of the Fourth, when Clayton Hunt and his seven-piece orchestra plays during the hours from 9 'til 12.

With the large, smooth, floor-splendid peppy music and cool hall the affair will be well attended by many Ranger and out-of-town guests.

Country Club Dance Plans to Be Announced in Sunday's Times. The hospitality and entertainment committee headed by Mrs. Pete Jensen, chairman, has been busy for the past few days composing plans for the German dance to be given at the club opening the morning of the Fourth.

Every detail will point to perfection with so capable a group of ladies in charge. In addition to a large number of guests who will be visiting in Ranger homes, the affair will be attended by the gay college members who are vacationing at home during the summer. Full plans for the celebration will appear in this column Sunday.
