Reading the week off by getting up early this morning, I wasn't here to see it, and thus I don't get credit unless he reads this. Then I might be asked to prove the first circle around the block to show anything of particular interest except that Herbert Hoover has a shirt upon which pocket is fading while the other is holding its color. ### Figures in Drama Of Millions

By GUS

BAIRD, Texas, July 11.—Ed Alexander, 48, rancher, his wife and their son, Johnny Fred, 10, were in the hospital here today following an attack yesterday by Jim Alexander, brother of the rancher and a former inmate of the Wichita Falls sanitarium.

All were struck with a pick handle, but only the boy's injuries are considered serious. He was still unconscious today and physicians said he had concussion of the brain. His parents may leave the hospital today.

The family was seated about a checker game on the porch when the former sanitarium inmate grabbed a pick handle and began to beat all in reach. He came to his senses before Sheriff R. L. Edwards arrived and went to jail. Authorities planned to return him to the Wichita Falls institution, where he was released last December. Since then he has been living with relatives at Breck- enridge and came here only for a visit.

Courts may be called upon to decide whether the $1,000,000 settlement, which Smith Reynolds, 29-year-old heir to tobacco millions, made to his first wife, Mrs. Anne Cannon Reynolds (above), and their 2-year-old daughter, fulfilled all his obligations to them. Reynolds' death less than two months after his marriage to Libby Holman, Broadway "torch singer," has caused speculation over the settlement of his estate, estimated at $21,000,000.

A total of 12 sealers were brought into the county agent's office for repairs and adjustments. Fifty individuals came in with sealers and questions about the same. Some of the ailments of the sealers were: Rollers used in sealing the cans were out of adjustment, the different parts needed cleaning and oiling, washers in the wrong place, the part in the handle for adjusting the rollers for No. 2 and No. 3 cans put on the pin wrong, the chuck at top for holding cans in place dropped down too low, making it impossible for a perfect seal, the rollers worn and new ones needed, the correct use of the washers with the sealer.

Wounded Ball Player and Girl Who Shot Him

Like the good infielder that he is, Bill Jurgens, shortstop for the Chicago Cubs, made a couple of spectacular stops of bullets, but the error of the play must be charged to Miss Violet Popovich, 21-year-old Chicago brunet. Disappointed at Jurgens' lack of response to her affection for him, Miss Popovich went to his hotel room intent on suicide. Jurgens intervened and was shot. He is shown above on a hospital bed. What the Two Parties Need Most Right Now Is One of These Treasurer Detectors!

HIGH COMMISSION AND ITS NEW POLICY
 Texans are to be congratulated on the personnel of the state highway commission. Messrs. Ely, Johnson and Martin are men of high character, high personal integrity, progressive at all times and ever doing their level best to serve the best interest of all the people of all sections of Texas. They have adopted a policy that should appeal to all the people everywhere.

Hereafter county or local aid will not be required for further construction of the state highway.

This is under road building policy of the commission. In counties where bonds have already been voted for highway work the commission will undertake to continue its road building program under some arrangement equitable and just to all concerned. An excerpt from the new order tells the story:

"It would be idle for counties or road districts to be required to come in at one door and put their funds with the highway commission for future construction, and then a little later, go to another door and collect it back through some possible legislation."

"HOW BIG IS A TEXAS GOVERNOR?"
 Rollins Rodgers of Texarkana is a lawyer and a democrat who has known personally all the Texas governors since Sul Ross. He introduced Gov. Ross Sterling in his Fourth of July speech at the Bowie county fair grounds. He has a magnificent audience. Rollins Rodgers answered the question "how big is a Texas governor?" He declared Sterling is the biggest governor since James Stephen Hogg. He described Hogg as slightly shorter than Sterling but heavier. He declared Sterling had made one of the best governors since the passing of Hogg. He reminded the voters of Bowie county: "It is only once in a while that Texas does have a really great governor."

All this is a reminder that Lawyer Rodgers is one of the outstanding wheel horses of the democratic party in his section of the state. In his career he has ever been for responsible government, for honest government and for efficient government and for the rule of righteous principles of government.

ARMSTRONG WILL FLY HIS OWN FLAG
 Judge George W. Armstrong of Fort Worth has openly bolted the democratic party, ordered his name stricken from the primary ballot and will make the race as an independent against the democrat successful in the July primary. Judge Armstrong has been on the outside looking in for a long time. Away back in the days of Woodrow Wilson he bolted on the federal reserve banking act. He has been bolted ever since. He bolted Al Smith in 1928. He followed the flag of Hoover. He has a pet financial proposal of his own. He would create a state bank of issue; he would have his native commonwealth issue its own currency, the volume to be expanded or contracted to meet the demands of trade and business or adverse conditions.

Judge Armstrong evidently read the hand-writing on the democratic wall. He side-stepped in order to escape the coming deluge. There appears to be an opening for a lone eagle in Texas and the Fort Worth steel maker and planter and ranchman and a would-be creator of a state bank of issue may fill the bill.

NICHOLAS MURRAY IS TAKING THE AIR
 Nicholas Murray Butler is in London clamoring for a declaration of inter-dependence between America and Great Britain. If you know what it is, embrace it. This is the latest:

"We cannot exist by the declaration of independence alone. Splendid as it may be we must supplant it by a declaration of inter-dependence. We must join together the riches of our ability, wealth and achievement to serve mankind."

Uncle Sam made his brilliant venture along the same line on the other side of the Atlantic. It costs his sons and daughters something like $50,000,000,000. Just now Uncle Sam's sons and daughters would like to see a smashing of tariff walls in order to make it possible for a foreign demand for cotton and wheat and other farm staples as well as American-made manufactures. Glittering generalities are the bunk. Markets for American goods are not the bunk.

FIRST OVER THE DEADLINE
 In 1928 the Scripps-Howard newspapers backed Hoover to a successful finish. In 1932 the Scripps-Howard chain demanded the nomination of Al Smith. Now speaking through the New York World-Telegram and other Scripps-Howard newspapers this verdict is returned: "The democrats have made a wise move politically." Away up in the state of Washington the Seattle Times, a republican independent newspaper of high prestige and large influence, editorially declared it would "battle for Roosevelt and Garner in the election." Away down here in Texas the fight is on for responsible government, for all that goes with responsible government, for the government that gave to the people, that Culberson gave to the people, that Moody gave to the people and that Sterling is giving to the people all the time.

MOTOR INDUSTRY EXPANSION ON THE WAY
 Expansion in the automobile industry reflected by both industrial and retail figures constituted the most cheerful aspect of the department of commerce monthly business review for June. Indeed, the June comparison with the June a year ago was most favorable. There were gains reported in cement, food products, lumber and tobacco industry. Magazine and newspaper advertising held up well.

There was a drop in mineral output but the decline in the production of coal was the major factor in the mineral group. Well, the diggers are digging and it is the record of history that the diggers always dig their way out. Their work is noiseless. They never have publicity agents but they dig out just the same.

KING HOG ON THE WAY BACK
 On the fourth of July a top price of $4.95 was paid for hogs at Kansas City. This was exactly $2 above the half-century low touched about a month ago. Also the general market rules strong, 10 cents higher. Is King Hog coming back? In May he hit the low 50-year level in swine history.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON
 WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer
 (Copyright, 1932, NEA Service, Inc.)

WASHINGTON—Big, bald, genial, fast-thinking, fast-trading Irishman who is chairman of the New York Boxing Commission, has brought his man safely through the elimination bouts on his first entry into the arena of national politics.

Now come the finals with Jim managing one of the two contestants in what may be a presidential battle of the century—Roosevelt vs Hoover.

He is sure to do some splendid work in his new high post as national chairman and campaign manager of the Democrats. He may make some tactical blunders which will tax his demonstrated facility for leaping quickly from his own menses but he is a fellow with a flare for political success and he is likely to be the most popular national chairman anyone will be able to recall.

He worked with incredible speed and energy. And Roosevelt came to the convention with a substantial majority of delegates.

Farley was still green at national politics and sometimes he blundered. He let others lead him off on the wrong foot in the proposal to abandon the old two-thirds rule and he allowed certain of the party's loose-mouths, more loud than important, to graze too much limelight in Chicago.

But he delegated important work to some good men, such as Bruce Kremer of Montana, Don Roper and Homer Cummings, veterans who wound up their job by pulling out all the stops on the old Wilson idealism in the critical drive for the Texas and California delegates.

The Chicago Strategy
 FARLEY must have worried frightfully after that third ballot and adjournment. He had held the delegates all night, believing the band wagon rush would start. But the opposition was intensely bitter and W. G. McAdoo hated Roosevelt because of his management of Al Smith's 1924 campaign.

While those best qualified went to work on Speaker Garner and McAdoo, Farley was taking Carmak of Illinois, Tom Pendergast of Missouri and the Indiana bosses into camp on the representation that Roosevelt would eventually have Garner's delegates.

Through all that day Farley outwardly was his smiling, optimistic self. And as soon as the nomination was over Farley was out among the governor's bitter enemies patting them on the back, trying to welcome them into the campaign.

Neither Drinks Nor Smokes
 HE doesn't drink nor smoke, but he chews gum on any and all occasions—chews it ferociously and conspicuously, even on the platform as he brings his candidate Roosevelt forth to address the convention.

His extraordinary memory for names and faces was demonstrated a hundred times a day during the convention, as the important and less important Democratic politicians of the south and west poured into his headquarters.

After Roosevelt's re-election by 755,000 majority as governor of New York in 1930, Farley said:

Few Spaniards Secure Divorces
 MADRID.—The courts already are handling many divorce petitions in accordance with the law passed by the Cortes recently.

In keeping with the Spanish tradition of respect for an individual's private life, the newspapers pay little attention to divorce news. The story of the first decree handed down in Spain was told in a few lines. The names of the divorced persons were not given.

The Spanish divorce law was drawn up in accordance with the precepts of the Republican Constitution, which in its Article 43 says that "matrimony is based on the equality of rights of both sexes, and may be dissolved by mutual dissent, or upon petition of either of the parties, who in this case must allege a just cause."

Although the Republic now is a year old, there is still much sentiment against the divorce law. The Catholic Church remains as firmly opposed to divorce as ever. The Catholic newspapers take every chance they can to attack the divorce law as one of the "mistakes of the Republic," and suggest that they would seek to repeal when the "day of revision" arrives.

Bullfinch Whistles "How Dry I Am"
 By United Press.
 GRAHAM, N. C.—Parrots have talked and canaries have warbled but here Col. and Mrs. Don E. Scott have a whistling bird.

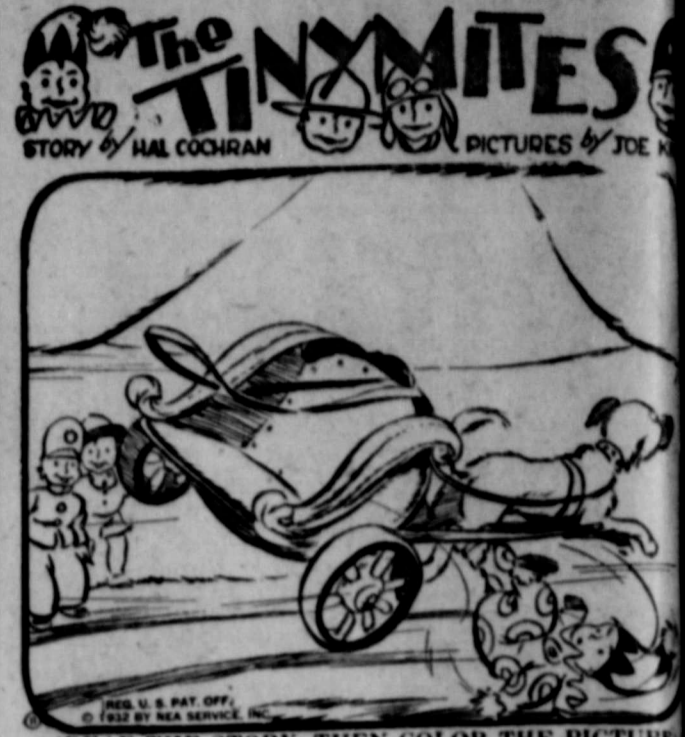

A beautifully marked bullfinch, the bird is a native of the famed Black Forest of Germany. It can whistle "How Dry I Am" on request. "Home Sweet Home" on request. Its tones are so natural as to be deceptive.

Colonel Scott received the bird from a friend in Germany, where their whistling training is started very early in life.

THE mule that kicked the ball in the air gave all the Tynymites a scare by booting it a bit too strong. The ball flew out of sight.

"Oh, look!" cried Coppy, "it just went right through the canvas of the tent. Come on, we'll run and find it. Then I'm sure 'twill be all right."

They all joined in and scampered 'round. Soon Windy cried, "The ball is found. Now let's go back and have some more fun with that crazy mule."

"I love to see him kick, 'cause he has legs as powerful as can be, and when he lets them fly out through the air he doesn't fool."

"I HAVE a better hunch than that," said Duncy, as he waved his hat. "I'm going to try and ride that mule. 'He seems a friendly sort."

"Someone please help me on his back and then give him a gentle crack. If I can keep from falling off, it ought to be real sport."

Poor Duncy! He real shortly found that he was being hoisted around. The mule objected to stunt of giving lads a ride.

It raised upon its two feet and thus tossed Duncy. 'twas neat the way 't flopped to the ground and rolled on his side.

A CIRCUS man ran up and said, "Come! Ride a chariot, lads. Here comes a dandy one now, to which a dog's hitched."

"Hop in and ride around me. I'm sure no harm will come. Just keep my dog close by. Don't let him run out of sight."

Once more poor Duncy had luck. He jumped right in. Lots of pluck, but when they began to run, the chariot began around.

It promptly hit a great stone and Duncy let out a groan as he was tossed into the air and dropped upon the ground.

(Duncy is carried to the hospital tent on a stretcher, at next story.)

They spread so rapidly and ate so much that soon little pasture was left for livestock, and only through the severest kind of legislation has Australia been able to check the rabbit menace.

"We will take a star, probably will be the star at the end of the Big Dipper, and transform its light into radio waves," he said.

The highway department spent 16,000,000 for labor alone during the fiscal year ended May 31. The department constructed 3,579 miles of new highway since last September.

Pennsylvania To Inspect All Cars.

HARRISBURG, Pa.—The compulsory motor vehicle inspection law passed in Pennsylvania on July 1, 1931, is being enforced very strictly in this state. All motor vehicles must be inspected at least once within a three-month period. Waterproof perforated stickers, pasted on windshields, attest approval of the vehicle as "safe to be operated." Motor Vehicle Bureau officials act to reduce accidents by the action which checks brakes, lights, steering apparatus, tires. The first period began in 1931 and ended April 1.

Famed Old Hotel Still Serves Guests

MADISON, O.—The Century Hotel, historic old hostelry, that was built here in 1829, still caters to the needs of travelers.

Preservation of the building as an inn was assured recently when operators obtained a renewal of their long-time lease.

The structure first served as the central part of an estate owned by Samuel Stratton who came here by stage coach and boat. He built it almost without help, using brick manufactured in a home-made kiln.

It was first used as an inn in 1862 when federal soldiers were quartered here while waiting orders to move to the Civil War front.

New Nation Is Far East Battlefield

By United Press.
CHANGCHUN, Manchuria.—From the days of unrecorded history down to modern times, Manchuria has been a battlefield and the home of conquerors.

Two hundreds years before the start of the Chinese era, the Chinese emperor, Shih Huang-te, founder of the Chin dynasty, extended the Great Wall of China for 2,000 miles over mountain and desert to protect his empire from the war-like Manchus and Huns of Manchuria and Mongolia.

Two modern wars—the Sino-Japanese conflict of 1894-95, and the Russo-Japanese war of 1904-05—utilized Manchuria as their battlefield.

Thrice War.
For a third time, a war raged there in September, 1931, when Japanese seized Mukden, and fostered internecine struggles that in March, 1932, saw part of War Lord Chang Hsueh-liang's generals proclaim the independence of Manchuria from the national government and install Henry Pu Yi, last of the Manchu emperors of China as nominal ruler.

From the end of the Russo-Japanese war until the outbreak of hostilities last September, Manchuria was a land of peace.

A movement of population unparalleled in recent history was steadily under way, as thousands upon thousands of Chinese emigrated there from China proper to escape civil warfare and extortionate taxation. The movement was estimated at 1,000,000 persons a year.

Country Flourished.
Agriculture flourished. Great industrial enterprises, including vast coal fields and valuable iron deposits, were exploited. Manchuria became the storehouse and provider for the overcrowded Orient. Even with Europe and the United States, its trade balance was decidedly favorable.

Marshal Chang Tso-lin, father of Chang Hsueh-liang and the "young marshal's" predecessor as virtual ruler of Manchuria, reluctantly hurried the bandits, who were the modern prototypes of the predatory gangs that had roamed Manchuria since the days of unrecorded history.

The present "independence" of Manchuria from China is not the first one that was ever proclaimed. Manchuria had an independent status in 1644, when the Ming dynasty in China ended with the emperor a suicide in a self-fashioned hangman's noose.

Seized China.
The Manchu ruler's forces pushed past the great wall that had been erected and seized China. He founded a dynasty that endured 268 years, to fall when Henry Pu Yi stepped down from the dragon throne in 1912.

Again in 1916 Manchuria's independence from China was proclaimed—this time by the war-like Chang Tso-lin. Alternately, he issued and withdrew the proclamation, using Manchuria as a weapon to gain the title of grand generalissimo of all China. On June 4, 1928, he was killed by an explosion beneath his private railway car. His son speedily established a reconciliation.

Harridge's Chance

A CHANCE for statesmanship such as has not occurred in the life of Will Harridge since he became president of the American League is afforded by the Dickey-Reynolds feud.

Dickey, catcher for the Yankees, sneaked across a sucker punch on Reynolds, Washington outfielder, after Reynolds had bowled him out of the picture on a close play at home plate. The blow fractured Reynolds' jaw and will keep him out of the game for five or six weeks. The next day Prexy Harridge announced that Dickey was suspended indefinitely.

Think what it would mean to the other seven clubs in the American League if Harridge should keep Dickey out of the game until Reynolds is able to play again!

It would tighten the race as it has not been tightened in many years.

It would give the Athletics, the Senators, the Tigers, Indians and Browns an opportunity to talk about a pennant this year. Even the White Sox and Red Sox would be helped, though it is hard to see how any decision could hurt them at that.

Boon for the Gate

INFERRING that statesmanship is not entirely divorced from financial considerations, it follows that Harridge could, in one fell swoop, enrich every team in the league, not even excepting the Yankees, by suspending the New York catcher until Reynolds is able to resume his duties.

When the attack occurred, the Yankees were out in front of the Tigers and A's by 7 1/2 games. That was a game and a half more than the margin between the first place and seventh place teams in the National League.

And Washington, in fourth place, was 1 1/2 games behind the Yankees, half a game farther than the last place Cincinnati Reds were behind the league leading Pirates in the National League.

It lasted four years—until the

Jorgens on the Spot

DICKEY'S suspension leaves Arndt Jorgens with a very large pair of shoes to fill. Mr. Dickey, who is 6 feet 3 inches tall, and wears size 12, was hitting around .350 when suspended. He is the best hitting catcher in the league. At handling the Yankee pitchers he has proved a master.

Jorgens, who has been with the Yankees since 1929, is a runt in stature, and while he batted .375 in some 13 games this year, his hitting mark for last season was but .270. At the time of the fist exercise, Jorgens happened to be the only catcher McCarthy had on the roster.

Obviously Jorgens is an inferior catcher, though he gives great promise of becoming a very capable receiver. With him behind the dish, the Yankees would be considerably handicapped. With the Yanks handicapped, the race might be expected to warm up, and a hot race is what the fans will pay for.

Statesmanship? Surely, you're not asking me now!

A Life Without Love

MR. DICKEY is to be censured, of course, for hating Reynolds on the bench when the Washington outfielder wasn't fouling for it. But even so, a catcher's life is not a happy one.

A day or so before the unhappy Washington incident, Roy Johnson came charging into the plate and knocked Dickey not only sprawling but unconscious. One of Dickey's teeth was chipped in the collision.

On the other side of the argument, Mr. Dickey is a very effective blocker at home plate, with his towering height. Reynolds, with weak ankles, had been ordered not to hit the dirt unless it became absolutely necessary.

Since the play in which Dickey was spilled was a mixup, Reynolds darting back and forth between third and home until a throw of Sewell's hit him on the back, the Washington outfielder's football tactics might be partly excused, since Dickey was standing right smack on the baseline which Reynolds was expected to pursue.

"young marshal" was driven out and Pu-yi, spirited to Changchun from his retreat, was set up as overseer of a fictitious republic in the land from which his ancestor had come in 1644 to found the last imperialistic dynasty of China.

See the Big Show

....now going on

As you read these lines, the Big Show has already begun. It's a new bill every day—right here, in your favorite newspaper. Make yourself comfortable, and turn the pages.

You'll find it a sparkling review—full of movement, and life, and interest, and news. News of the world of people and places. And news of the world of goods and services.

See it all; read it all. The news columns will keep you posted on events of the day, and the advertising columns—why, they're news columns, too, of course. Advertisements are news of the things you need and want. If you don't want them today, you probably will tomorrow.

Here, as the news passes before your eyes, make a note of this product, and that service. Tomorrow, when you start out to shop, you'll be able to make a bee-line for the place that has just what you want, at the price you want to pay. Considering the tiny amount you've spent for a seat down-front, our Big Show is far, far more than your money's worth on that score alone.

When you ask for a product by name, as a result of advertising, do not accept a substitute—substitutes are offered not as a service to you, but for other reasons.

Ottawa Conference May Divide World In 3 British Parts

By United Press.
 LONDON.—As ancient Gaul was divided into three parts, so will the world be divided into three parts as far as Britain is concerned, if Britain's long term trade policy works out as planned. The three parts will be: British Empire; countries willing to deal on a satisfactory basis with Britain; all other countries.

In matters of trade policy and tariff preferences, the empire will receive the most generous treatment of all. Foreign countries willing to negotiate satisfactory trade agreements with Britain will receive slightly less favorable treatment. The products of all other countries will be subjected to maximum tariff rates. No quarter will be asked, but quarter will be given if it is asked for, and if reciprocal concessions are granted.

Third Category
 According to present indications the United States will be in the third category, just one of "all other countries." Argentina and Denmark probably will be the first to enter the second category. They already have expressed a desire to conclude reciprocal trade agreements with Britain.

The first part of the scheme is to be worked out at the Ottawa Imperial Economic Conference. Then the lists will be opened for other countries to get on the band wagon, lower their tariffs for British goods in exchange for Britain granting their commodities lower than maximum tariffs.

Any doubt that might have existed as to where the United States might rank in Britain's future trading relations were finally dispelled by President of the Board of Trade Walter Runciman in a recent speech.

Open Hearts
 "We are prepared to encourage trade with any country provided they give us a chance," he said. "It is because the dominions are giving us a greater chance than any other countries that our hearts are open to them."

And then, referring to the United States, he continued: "If foreign countries are not prepared to accept our goods, if they insist on the payment of our war debts and will not accept payment in produce, what are we to do but turn to other parts of the world where there is a more generous feeling?"

Secures of United States branch factories in Canada may be the first to suffer inconvenience from a new empire economic policy. At present they can receive semi-finished products from the United States, assemble them and finish them in Canada, then ship them to Britain or other parts of the empire as goods "made in Canada."

Rough Seas Ahead
 But all will not be plain sailing at Ottawa. Dominion government have a few bones to pick with Britain. They have caught the fever of war debt cancellation talk. The dominions borrow comparatively large sums from Britain during the war to pay their own war expenses. Most of them settled their debts on a basis of two per cent with interest at very nearly 5 per cent meanwhile, compared with Britain's 82 per cent settlement of her debt to the United States with 3 per cent and 3 1/2 per cent interest.

Dominion politicians think they are justified in asking cancellation or reduction of their debts to Britain, because Britain remitted 30 per cent of France's debt and 25 per cent of Italy's debt, and received more generous treatment from the United States than she accorded the dominions. They are not prepared to accept Britain's arguments about the great benefits conferred by Britain on the dominions, including protection by the king's navy.

A Camera Editorial

This picture is a camera editorial about the way Americans celebrate the Fourth. Six young men were celebrating the Fourth on the outskirts of Butte, Mont., in the traditional way—by setting off explosives. These youngsters selected were dynamite caps.

Exactly what happened isn't known—except that somehow all of the caps went off together.

Some time later a passerby, going near the ball park where the boys had been celebrating, saw this debris scattered over the ground.

That was just about all that was left of the six celebrators.

The remains of their bodies were scattered over a area 300 feet wide.

The picture tells its own story and points its own moral.

For several decades the fight for a safe and sane Fourth has been waged in this country. Evidently it hasn't succeeded very well. Few states have passed laws banning the sale of fireworks; few parents see to it that their children recognize the dangers of explosives and leave them alone.

You might save this photograph and look at it again next year, when the Fourth of July draws near.

It might save the life of your boy.

News and Information About County Demonstration Work

Miss Ruth Ramey, Eastland county home demonstration agent, was extremely interesting in conducting the work she is conducting among the demonstration classes in county clubs, throughout Eastland county, and is quoted verbatim in the following information stories, which Miss Ramey was kind enough to furnish this department at the request of Mrs. W. K. Jackson.

The opening of the interview brought the report of the County Council Meeting.

The Eastland County Women's Home Demonstration Council met in Eastland in regular session Saturday, July 9, at 7 p. m., in the commissioner's courtroom, with 11 of the 15 home demonstration clubs represented. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. Lee Burkhead and roll called and minutes read by secretary, Mrs. J. S. Turner, Flatwoods club. Following the business session Mrs. W. E. Stalter of Eastland, district chairman of Better Homes of America, gave a brief discussion of the rug exhibit planned for this fall and sponsored by the Eastland County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Round-table discussion of canning problems came next. With this the adjustment of a canner used in sealing the open top canners used in the present day canning. The new canning equipment on market this year was discussed, and date set for demonstration of same for merchants and individuals who have this equipment.

The meeting adjourned to second Saturday in August, in courtroom of Eastland courthouse.

The County Council is the advisory board of the home demonstration clubs, meeting once a month on the second Saturday in Eastland. Each club is entitled to two members; the president of the club and one elected delegate.

- North Star—Mrs. Lee Burkhead, president; Mrs. J. T. Coursey, delegate.
- Ranger—Mrs. Louis Pitcock, president; Mrs. Lillian Neal Eastland, delegate.
- Friendship—Mrs. A. Bint, president; Mrs. E. M. Oney, delegate.

Canning.
 Last year was a banner year when we think of canning in the homes in Eastland county, but it will have nothing on what 1932 is going to be. With the start in the homes, the town canneries and the different organizations working on food preservation, the number of containers put up this year will far exceed that of last year.

Canning is the application of heat to food in air-tight containers to preserve it as nearly as possible in a condition similar to that of the freshly cooked product. Successful canning depends upon applying a sufficiently high temperature for a period of time long enough to destroy the enzymes, yeasts, molds and bacteria. It is important that the products be canned as early as possible after gathering.

Fruits, tomatoes, pimientos and pickled beets may be canned by heating for a definite period of time in boiling water. This method is known as the water bath. Non-acid vegetables such as asparagus, string beans, snap beans and peas, shelled fresh peas and beans, corn, greens, okra, pumpkin, beets, squash, carrots and sweet potatoes, must have a higher temperature and a longer period for heating. For this reason the pressure cooker or steam pressure method is recommended.

Containers.
 Whatever the canning method, either tin cans or glass jars may be used. Cans heat through quickly and may be plunged into cold water immediately after processing. Rapid cooling checks the cooking, lessens the possibility of overcooking, and produces a more desirable product. The large opening in the newer type of cans makes it easier to pack some products in tin than in glass jars. When tin cans are used, those with special enamel linings are recommended for canning certain products. Use the enamel cans only when recipe calls for them.

The jars and cans should be selected in sizes to serve the family. For families of two, half pint jars or No. 1 cans; for four or five, pint jars or No. 2 cans; for six to eight, quart jars or No. 3 cans. There are some exceptions to this rule. Corn and greens are recommended canned in No. 1 and No. 2 cans or in half pint and pint jars only. Tomatoes for a family of five should be in No. 3 cans or quart jars. Many people prefer string beans and snap peas in No. 3 cans or quart jars.

Canning Corn.
 Use either plain tin cans or "corn enamel" cans for the corn. The letter "C" in the bottom of the enamel can is not the mark of the corn enamel can, but the mark of the company. The differences in the corn enamel can and the plain lacquered cans we have had on the market for several years are: 1. The corn enamel is a dull finish; 2. the lacquered can has a better finish of tin lining. The following method should be used in canning corn:

half teaspoon salt and two teaspoons sugar to each No. 2 can. Fill can within one-half inch of top with boiling corn, seal and process immediately. No. 2 cans 70 minutes at 10 pounds pressure. Cool quickly in tub of cold water when removed from cooker.

The following table should be followed when getting cans for the products:

Plain tin cans: Apple butter, apples, apricots, asparagus, string beans, chicken, meats, okra, and tomatoes, peaches, pears, tamales, corn.

Corn enamel: Carrots, corn, hominy, lima beans, mustard greens, onions, English peas, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, spinach, turnip greens.

Standard enamel: Beets, berries, cherries, grape juice, kraut, mince-meat, pickles, plums, pumpkin, strawberries, squash.

Leeches Are Not In Demand Now

By United Press.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—And
what, you might well ask, are leeches?
In literature harkening back to the days when medicine was largely a hocus-pocus affair, leeches were blood-letters.
That was one kind of leech.
Another was an animal by that name. If you were a country boy, you collected them sometimes when you went swimming.
Up until a few years ago, the animals were used by people to abstract blood from local areas, in cases of rheumatism, bad bruises, black eyes, and even for pneumonia, headaches and nervousness.
Then the leeches, what with the rushing advance of science and the passing of country doctors to give way to specialists; well, the leeches rather passed out of the picture.
But when the druggists came here for their state convention, it was brought out there are still some left.
Dr. P. W. Baker, head pharmacist of a drug store here, revealed the last stand of the leeches in he said, exhibiting one. It was

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

By Cowan
BEGIN HERE TODAY
CHERRY DIXON, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, marries DAN PHILLIPS, newspaper reporter, after a quarrel with her parents. It is a Leap Year marriage and Cherry does the proposing.
She and Dan move into a cheap apartment and Cherry's best friend, DIXIE SHANNON, encourages her.
DIXIE is friendly. Cherry meets handsome MAX PEARSON, also of the News, who tries to make love to her.
After several weeks Cherry's mother becomes seriously ill. The girl goes home and there is a reconciliation with her parents.
Financial aid from them allows
MR. and MRS. DIXON depart, making another attempt to improve the mother's health.
BRENDA VAIL, magazine
self, comes to visit and Dan meets her. She asks him to cancel his wedding in writing. Dan begins to spend most of his evenings at Miss Vail's apartment.
There is a day of kissing and there is gossip about Dan and Brenda but Cherry will not listen.
After a day of kissing and when Cherry is tired and nervous Brenda's quarrel with her parents allows her to see Brenda is in love with him.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XII
CHERRY sat in the window seat and looked out at the only tree in sight. Some of its leaves had blown to the ground but those that remained were bright yellow. They danced in the sunlight, the very emblem of carefree gaiety.
Cherry did not even see the dancing leaves though she was staring at them. There were tiny vertical lines between Cherry's brown eyes.
The eyes were brooding and serious now. Cherry's lips pressed together in an anxious line. She was struggling with the most difficult problem she had ever faced.
The situation was terrifying. She had felt it daily for the past week.
The thing that frightened her was nothing you could put your finger on and say, "This is wrong. We'll correct it." It was something in-tangible. Something Cherry was powerless to combat because she could not even name it.
In some way a barrier had risen between herself and Dan. She could not see over this barrier or around it. Dan was on one side and she on the other. There had been no more quarrelling between them.
Ever since the night of the argument about the house cleaning Dan had been meticulously polite. He left the house early each morning and usually arrived late at night.
When he came home for dinner he departed almost immediately.
Cherry was so proud to inquire how he was spending his time.
She went about the housework, cooked the food he liked, made herself attractive for the hour when he arrived—and would have died rather than let him know how she was suffering.
It had been five days now since that dreadful night.
"It was my fault—partly," Cherry told herself for the thousandth time.
"I shouldn't have let myself get so tired and nervous and I shouldn't

Eastland Singing Class Announces Next Date.

Ray Harwick, president of the Eastland Singing Class announces the third Sunday night meeting will be next Sunday night at 8 o'clock in I. O. O. hall.

This singing class, which has an attendance of possibly two hundred singers and meets regularly on the third Sunday night of each month.

They will have an important singer with them, in Euell D. Bond, who taught singing school here last year, with signal success, having classes that ran into a hundred or more.

All the singers according to Mr. Harwick, would love to have Mr. Bond teach a singing class here this coming season. Mr. Bond has been teaching a singing school in Nashville, Ark., since last Dec., when he left here to take charge of that school. He is a fine singer with a melodious, reaching voice.

He studied the methods in Hartford, Ark., and Dallas, Tex. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bond, who have long been residents of Eastland.

Eastland would like to have this singing school established in this city, such massed singing as these classes hold, draws singers from all the adjacent territory, and that means that many more people coming to Eastland, visiting her and becoming familiar with what Eastland has, is and does.

Remember the singing class next

Young Stallter took his father for his first airplane flight on occasion of this visit, and the novice was thrilled by the beautiful panorama, that flowed beneath him on their flight over the Leon Power Plant, and of course over the city of Eastland.

Mrs. W. E. Stallter is the weather observation reporter for the Eastland Airways Emergency Field.

An unique experience was encountered by her in the course of her duty, when she was phoned from the Dallas American Airways office, to go over immediately to the landing field and see what could be done for a mail airways plane that was down in distress.

This was near midnight. Nothing daunted Mrs. Stallter, accompanied by her husband, motored to the field to find the plane mired and helpless. All the air mail bags were transferred to the Stallter car and a speedy drive was made to Abilene carrying the mail sacks in time to make hook-up with the railway service.

In this High-pressure Age smokers want a Milder Cigarette

WE LIVE in a fast-moving age. We work harder... play harder... travel quicker. And we smoke more cigarettes.

But there's this about it: They have got to be milder today. In this high-pressure age, smokers don't like strong cigarettes.

About four miles of warehouses are filled with mild, ripe, Domestic tobaccos, stored away to age for two years to make them mild and mellow for CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes.

To make sure that CHESTERFIELD is a milder cigarette, the greater part of 90 million dollars is invested in the tobaccos used in CHESTERFIELD. These tobaccos are "Cross-Blended."

This "Welding" Together—or "Cross-Blending"—permits every kind of tobacco used in the CHESTERFIELD blend to partake of the best qualities of every other type. It's the same principle that Burbank used in crossing different fruits to make a still better fruit.

CHESTERFIELDS are milder... never harsh... and that's why, in this high-pressure age, more smokers, men and women, are changing to CHESTERFIELDS every day.

BEETS are one of the few vegetables that do not lose their flavor and natural sweetness if more than an hour's time elapses between the gathering and use. They are less perishable than almost any summer vegetable, and for that reason the woman who buys her vegetables for canning runs less risk of spoilage after canning.

Although winter beets are available, many homemakers find them inconvenient and expensive to use on account of the long cooking required. The housekeeper who buys her fuel by foot or units discovers that several hours spent in cooking of a vegetable is quite an item.

The oven method of canning is particularly easy for beets. If you have a thermostatic controlled oven, the regulator is set to 250 degrees F, and the oven heated while packing the vegetables. A portable oven thermometer can of course be used, but frequent checking is necessary to insure satisfactory results.

Slice Larger Beets
Small beets known as "baby beets" (they're about the size of a walnut) require no slicing or dicing and are most attractive for serving. Larger ones should be cut in quarters, diced or sliced ready for serving.

Wash beets thoroughly, using a vegetable brush. Cut off tops, leaving about two inches of stem. Take care not to break the skin nor cut the long, straight "tap"

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: Baked apples, cereal, cream, broiled liver sausage, toast, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Baked potatoes stuffed with creamed dried beef, carrot straws, whole wheat rolls, chilled watermelon, milk, tea.
DINNER: Broiled flounder, browned sweet potatoes, broiled cod with Hollandaise sauce, lemon sponge pudding, milk, coffee.

Fill jars to within an inch of the top, half seal and place in reheated oven. Leave two hours, remove from oven and completely seal. Invert for a few minutes to be sure the seal is perfect, then place upright and let stand until cool.

As soon as a jar is filled, place it in the oven and keep jars about two inches apart to allow for circulation of heat around each jar. Two racks may be used, one above the other, if the oven is large enough.

Work fast and dip beets in cold water only long enough to slip skins, not long enough to chill them.
