Sidelights on the campaign. Elzo and Merritt Hines riding into Ranger this morning in the same car. J. W. Cockrell of the Woman's Progress gets out a special campaign issue thereby making the other candidates kick in and defray Cockrell's campaign expenses. Not bad.

T. L. Cooper has handed me no more than 15 cents since he started campaigning. And each time he sees me he thinks it is the first time he ever saw me in his life. I told him yesterday that if he handed me just one more cent I'd guarantee him not to vote for him.

Will Wood was out early Saturday morning meeting the boys, but John Hart was out, too. They are running a friendly sort of a race without muddling.

Bill McDonald was going to give me that pretty 20-cent note he provided he could make his race without an opponent, but Lewis Cressley kept me from getting the note. Bill and Lewis have carried their scrap-out in a clean manner, neither of them slinging any mud at the other.

The matter of habeas corpus and the great number thereof seems to be occupying prominence in the race between Judge Davenport and Allen Dabney. I fail to see wherein Judge Davenport can be criticized on that account, for writ of habeas corpus is always issued by the defense attorneys and all the judge has to do with the matter is to hear the evidence and set the bond of the defendant, and I doubt if Mr. Dabney is gaining many votes over the habeas corpus publicity. But I'm not his campaign manager and really should not say too much about it.

T. J. Anderson and Morris Leveille tried their best to sell me a Ford Saturday. They made a satisfactory sales talk and a satisfactory demonstration. But the car of the 1924 vintage and I felt that some practical joke might be up and name it the New Spirit of Ranger and cause me unnecessary embarrassment. The motor was good if you don't try to listen to it. It is a little difficult to start, but then it doesn't run very hot anyway. The upholstery is practically worn out. I say practically because it is so old and when it wouldn't stand patching, one of the doors is sprung to where it will hardly shut and the glass is broken out of the other. It's nothing new to me because I never did have a car with all the lasses in it at one time. Now if they can arrange for a little better terms than they offered me I might trade with them yet. They won't allow me enough on my new hat as a trade-in.

James Smith, James Phillips and the Major are going to Coleman Monday where they will enter the golf tournament. Smith says he has developed a book this summer which plays havoc with all his lasses and keeps him out of the inner class. This same trio played in a recent tournament at Hamilton. Their qualifying scores were printed on the back bar at the country cafe. I could tell you what they were, but they say the Major is slightly sensitive on the subject and I do not crave to aggravate his animosity.

Congress Passes The Relief Bill

National Guard Athletic Show to Be on Monday

All matches on the National Guard Athletic show will be carried out as scheduled, with the exception of a necessary substitution on the main wrestling match, which was made necessary because Sergeant Bill Angus wrenched his side while training.

Captain Wayne C. Hickey telephoned to Fort Worth and got the services of Sergeant Benny Wilson, who has appeared in the local arena before, to wrestle with Blonny Crane of Abilene.

An additional curtain raiser has been added. Garland Winnegar will fight a 130-pound boy from Abilene, who comes well recommended, but whose name is not to be disclosed until the opening of the show.

Other bouts have been confirmed as printed in these columns, as all participants have signified that they will be present.

All members of Company I who are on the program are donating their services, as all the net proceeds will go into the company fund, which will be used to augment the menu at the annual encampment in August and to furnish the company with delicacies.

Tickets are on sale at all drug stores in Ranger. Reserved seats are selling for 40 cents with the general admission price 25 cents. Advance sale of reserved seats indicates that a good crowd will be present.

Negro Woman Is Slashed By Mate

A negro woman was suffering from numerous cuts about the neck, hands, arms and body and a negro man, her husband, was being sought by police following a cutting scrape that occurred in the negro quarters of Ranger Friday.

Johnny Cotton, the man, left town on freight. He got off at Straw and walked back to Ranger, according to Chief of Police Jim Ingram and went to his home. He found his wife in bed and began slashing her with a razor.

When he quit he left and doctors sutured 17 stitches in the many razor slashes he made. From 20 to 30 cuts, not deep enough to require sewing, were also treated by doctors, and several of the cuts, which were close together, were sewed up by the same stitches. Otherwise many more stitches would have been required, it was said.

Fire Destroys Faircloth Grocery

Fire of undetermined origin, which broke out in the Faircloth grocery; Straw road, Saturday morning, destroyed practically the entire stock of groceries and damaged all fixtures in the store. The apartment above the store, which was occupied by R. L. Faircloth, was also badly damaged. Glass doors in the refrigerators were broken by the heat and all perishable goods were destroyed.

Although the cause of the fire was not known Saturday, it was thought that it caught from the motor in the refrigeration plant.

Much of the damage in the fire was done by heat and water rather than by burning. No estimate of the loss had been made Saturday, but it was believed the entire contents of the store would be a loss.

Examining Trial For Mrs. Greer Promises Fight

DALLAS, July 16.—Examining trial for Mrs. Bona Greer, 35, charged with murder in connection with the slaying of her husband yesterday, may see a fight between defense and state attorneys over freeing the woman.

Mrs. Greer, pretty and blond, indicated today she would ask immediate freedom on a nominal bond. Such a move is certain to bring a stiff refusal from the state's attorneys, it was said.

Mrs. Greer, pretty and blond, was taken today to the mortuary where her husband's body was taken. She appeared more composed and cried less frequently after the visit.

HUSBAND OF DEAD WOMAN IS HELD, TOO

Officers Think Woman Was Drowned For Her Life Insurance.

MIAMI, Okla., July 16.—Sheriff Jesse Lambert of Sweetwater left here today for Texas with Mrs. H. L. Condit, 24-year-old divorcee, arrested for questioning in connection with the death of Mrs. L. M. Parks of Sweetwater.

In an investigation of letters between the dead woman's husband and Mrs. Condit, Sheriff Lambert said he picked up a clew implicating a woman.

She was arrested at the farm home of her father, Logan Stone, near Fairland, and brought to the county jail here.

Sheriff Lambert said Parks had been charged with murder and he planned to file a charge of accessory to the crime against Mrs. Condit. He said his investigation revealed Mrs. Parks was drowned earlier this month in an alleged plot to collect $15,000 in life insurance. Then, he said, Parks intended to marry Mrs. Condit, with whom he had been keeping company for several months.

The divorcee lived in Sweetwater until recently. Her letters to Parks were intercepted at the Sweetwater post office and when read to him in the San Angelo jail, caused Parks to admit relations with her, officers said.

District Attorney George Mahon, accompanied Sheriff Lambert here. The woman waived extradition.

Parks is a 27-year-old soft drink bottler. He was transferred from Sweetwater to San Angelo for wife keeping. He contended his wife drowned in a fishing accident.

TWO EMINENT PERSONAGES IN THE PICTURE

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., who bolted to the republican camp in 1928, has decided to remain an enrolled member of the party of the elephant. Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania lifelong republican and lifelong dry is said to be moving toward the camp of Franklin D. Roosevelt for the reason that he cannot support the economic policies of the great engineer and likewise believes the great engineer is "for the classes and not the masses."

Gifford Pinchot was as close to Theodore Roosevelt as it was possible for a loyal follower to register. He fought all the battles of economic progress side by side with Theodore the First. This included a battle royal for the conservation of the natural resources of the American people. He is serving his second term as governor of Pennsylvania, second American commonwealth in point of population and wealth. In his first battle he threw down the bauntlet to the republican machine bosses. Ever a champion of labor, the organized workers, including the miners of Pennsylvania notwithstanding they are opposed to nation-wide prohibition, rallied to the flag of Pinchot. They put him over. Two years ago, after an intermission of four years, Pinchot entered the race again. He fought all the republican bosses. He made a wonderful campaign. Again the organized miners and organized unions of wage workers, 90 per cent wet, backed Pinchot and carried his flag to victory. Now the miners and the unions are said to be for Roosevelt and Garner. They have had plenty of the great engineer. Why shouldn't this early friend and lieutenant of Theodore Roosevelt cross over to the camp of Franklin D. Roosevelt in the election?

UVALDE IS ON THE AMERICAN MAP NOW

When Joseph Weldon Bailey was the pride as well as the boss of millions of Texans Gainesville was one of the best advertised towns in the United States. When "The Last Democrat" stepped out of the picture, Gainesville lost its proud position. Now Uvalde is on the map of America. Uvalde is the home of many prominent men and women, but first of all Speaker John Nance Garner, democratic nominee for vice president, and who may be president some day. According to the tax rolls of Uvalde county there are twice as many hogs on Uvalde county farms this year than last year; about three times as many dogs were rendered for taxation this year than last year; and sheep numbered 6530 more than in 1931. There is one county in Texas where the owners of dogs pay the tax. All this goes to show that the Uvalde dog owners love their canine friends and refuse to dodge the tax collector or lie about the ownership.

JOHN BULL AND THE GOLD STANDARD

Great Britain has no intention of returning to the gold standard in the immediate future. Directors of the World bank urged a return to the gold standard as the best available monetary mechanism. Montague Norman, the John Pierpont Morgan of the British empire, was responsible for the adoption of the World bank resolution. Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, smashed the proposal. He appeared before the British parliament, declared that the World bank statement had no immediate bearing on the British government or any other government. All the big talkies are busy the wide world over.

AMERICANS ARE HOARDING TWO BILLIONS

There are many noted economists in the American world. Robert Warren is one of their number. He appeared before the Virginia Institute of Public Affairs and made the astounding declaration that $500,000,000 in "centuries" and "grands" has been withdrawn from circulation in the United States by members of the underworld since Col. Alphonse Capone was arrested and sent to prison. He estimated that Americans are hoarding two billion dollars in cash. This was withdrawn in $100 bills, $1000 bills, and $10,000 bills, he answered in a reply to a question regarding government issues of $100,000,000 in $10,000 bills.

Well, who are the hoarders in Texas? Who are the owners of the big bills ranging from $100 to $10,000? Where did Robert Warren get his inside information? Two billion dollars is a lot of money. Evidence is evidence; junk is junk. There is a small army of economists the world over who were thoroughly discredited after the coming of the crash in 1929 and have been discredited ever since.

SAN ANTONIO ABOLISHES TWO DEADLY MENACES

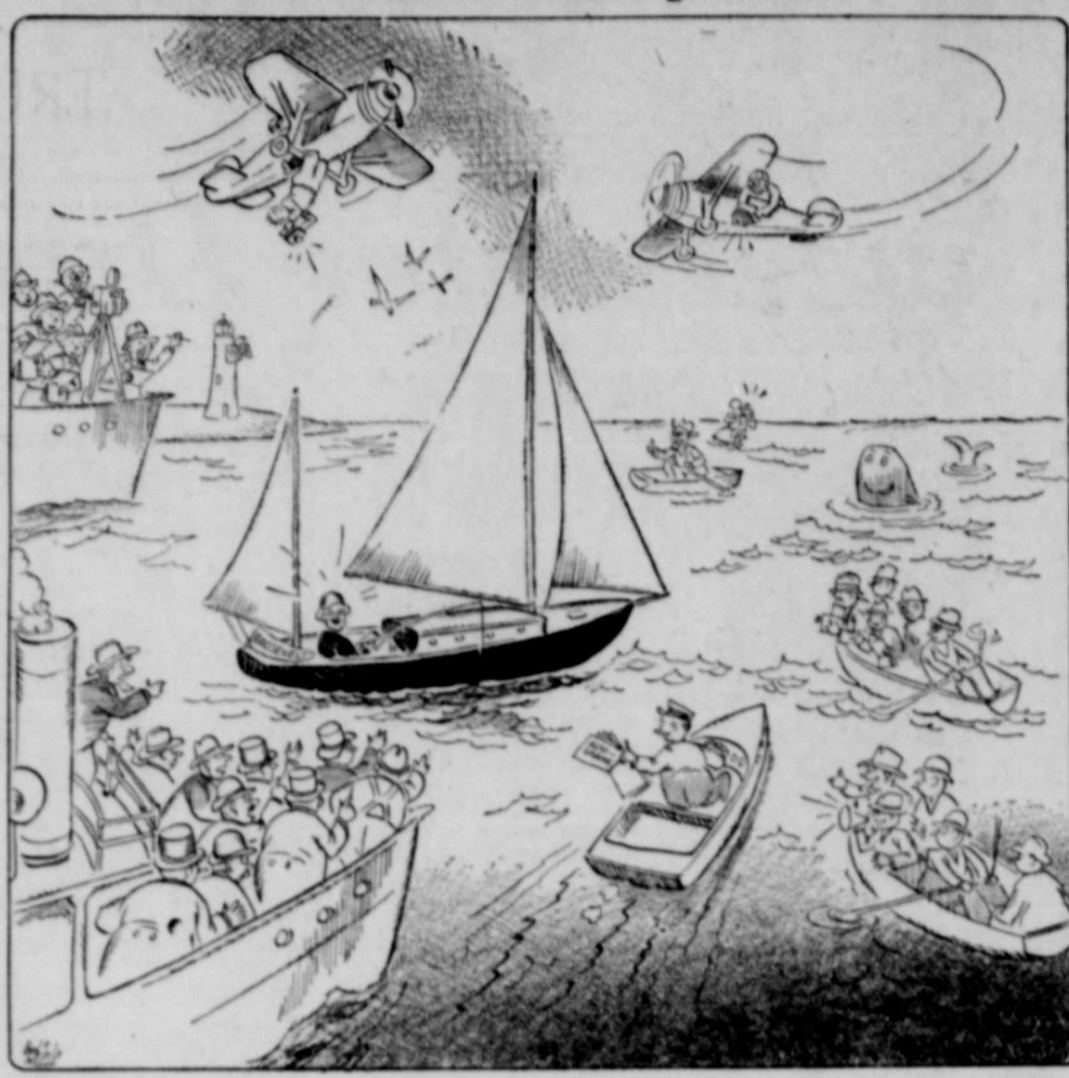

And it has come to pass that in the saintly city of San Antonio, where the shadows of the Alamo are found and the first church was built perhaps 250 years ago, the civil service commission has prohibited the games of checkers and dominoes in fire stations. Now lawn tennis should be prohibited in the recreation parks. It is another menace to morals and leads the players direct to the gates of hell. Protect the morals of the youth of the country. Protect the morals of the veteran fire fighters of the Alamo City who in their leisure hours have been led to the pitfalls of the devil and thoroughly demoralized by these infamous pastimes.

SPEAKING OF THE HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION AMENDMENT

Texans are reminded that a constitutional amendment exempting homesteads from taxation up to an assessed value of $3000 will have a place on the November official ballot. They are reminded that Ross Sterling threw the weight of his influence behind the proposal while it was being pushed through the legislature. They are reminded that former State Sen. F. C. Weinert is a member of the legislature and that for years he has been urging an homestead exemption act for the benefit of the small homeowners in town and country. They are reminded that it was made an administration measure last winter, and that finally it ran the gauntlet of both houses with the sweeping endorsement of the governor.

A famous author, a Kentucky celebrity, years ago in a very famous book, remarked "Pigs is pigs." Well, the reader should know "facts is facts." Also that a fact isn't a fact until it is backed up by the frenzied raving of a political acrobat.

Asks For Re-Election

T. L. COOPER

Cooper Asks For Second Term As Tax Collector

In announcing my candidacy for re-election to the office of county tax collector for a second term, I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation for your hearty and loyal support in the past.

For the benefit of those who do not know me I will state that I was born and reared on a farm near Gorman, having spent the greater part of my life in Eastland county. I have lived at Gorman, Sabanno, Sherman, Cisco and Eastland, and have had personal dealings with many people in practically all parts of the county.

When you elected me two years ago I promised you honest, efficient service and my greatest desire has been to make you the best tax collector possible.

Pretty Little Birthday Party

Mainly little 2-year-old David Benton Owen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Owen, had his all important birthday celebrated by his mother Friday afternoon, from 4 to 6 p. m., at the family home, which was beautifully decorated with many flowers for the event.

Beach ball games on the lawn gave the little tots plenty of amusement. Games were lead by Mrs. Owen, assisted by Miss Leona Buchanan. The real party, ice cream and the beautiful birthday cake, was an important feature of the entertainment.

The white iced cake was topped with two pink lighted tapers and placed in the center of the dining room table, in a wreath of flowers. Plate favors were marbles for each child.

The little guests included, Edna Clark, Marylin Larner, Lois Larner, Billie Shurriffs, Bobbie Collier, Charles Layton, Aniel Jr. Owen.

Mrs. Owen was assisted throughout the afternoon by Mrs. Edward K. Layton and Mrs. Turner M. Collier.

Family Dinner Party Honors Mrs. Collier Jr. Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Haley entertained with a family dinner party noon Saturday in honor of Marvin Collier Jr., in celebration of his 14th birthday.

A delicious family meal was enjoyed. The table was centered with the pretty birthday cake, topped with 14 lighted tapers.

A special guest was Marvin's chum, Frank Conley of Ranger. Others about the family board were Mrs. Marvin Collier, and daughter, Doris, and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Haley.

Mrs. Marvin Collier and her children, Marvin Jr. and Doris, have been wonderfully entertained during their visits with relatives in Eastland and Ranger.

Church of God Camp Meeting Opens Sunday, July 24. In a previous announcement in the Eastland Telegram, the date of the camp meeting was given as of July 17.

The announcement given office was so worded that the date was not quoted but statement was made that the revival would open on Sunday, and it was naturally assumed to be Sunday of this week.

The mistake as to dates was unavoidable and unintentional on the part of both the paper and the informants.

Remember that all previous announcements should have been of date of Sunday, July 24.

will be kept from the winter door. Fruits of every description in glittering polished cans tempt the appetite, and send their message, sweets for cold weather.

Are you interested in the prize, the chamber of commerce offers for the most appropriate slogan for their community canned products?

This slogan will be chosen from among all those to be submitted, the selection to be made by a committee appointed for that purpose.

Some suggested the following conceits: "The C. of C. is canning for me."

Any number of ideas may be submitted for this slogan, and perhaps some very simply worded, snappy hit, will catch the eye and attention and be the very one to be chosen.

Send all slogans to Dr. H. B. Tanner, secretary chamber of commerce, who will file and care for them, until they are passed upon by the judges.

So much activity in Eastland-C. of C. has never been noticed before. The effort to conserve surplus food crops is most commendable and the plan being worked out for future charitable aid to the needy, most practical.

Their object to secure a supply of canned goods for distribution to the possibly needy next winter is being accomplished in a practical way.

An important thing to be remembered is that all vegetables should be canned the day of picking. Bring them in during the morning, and can them two hours from the time of pulling.

The hours from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. are at your disposal.

Voluntary workers have greatly added to the success of this undertaking, and it is encouraging to note that the public service corporations, the Texas Electric Service company and the Community Natural Gas company have promised continued support.

In share canning, patrons are expected to provide their own help, until the cans are sealed.

If you have extra vegetables or fruits, donate them to the chamber of commerce for their charitable, as the plant is not operated for profit, and all proceeds acquired will be given to charity.

You can can for cash, furnishing cans, material and seasoning, and you will pay only 2 cents for No. 2 cans and 3 cents for No. 3 for the work. Or share canning can be done, when you furnish everything, and the cannery retains one fourth of your output. Last, you may furnish the materials, the cannery the seasoning and cans, and you keep one fourth and the cannery three-fourths of the product.

Busy folks there have been W. B. Peoples, R. F. D. No. 2, B. L. Butler, R. F. D. No. 2, Mmes. H. O. Satterwhite, J. A. Stover, S. W. Kitley, R. E. Sikes, W. A. Martin, and Sun Day, all of Eastland and

A. A. Norton of Olden. Mrs. W. E. Staller, Mrs. Jack Meredith and Miss Opal Meyer, are doing fine civic work in their volunteered services as operators for the different processes of canning, during the past week.

It would not be seemly for the chamber of commerce or the community to accept the services of these and other women, and the cooperation of firms and individuals, that made this cannery a practical success, and a promised relief means for the possibly needy of our city this coming winter without extending formal thanks.

So appreciation is extended the Texas Electric Service company, Community Natural Gas company, Piggly Wiggly, James Horton, Hoffman & Page, Butler & Harvey, Earl Bender & Co., Wolf's Corner Drug Store, Dr. J. H. Canton, Frank Castleberry, Beauty Drug Store, Kimbrell Hardware company, George Harper, L. C. Burr & Co., N. N. Rosenquest, R. P. Crouch, J. A. Miscellaneous Showers Names Mrs. Blackwell Honoree.
A prettily appointed miscellaneous shower named Mrs. A. H. Blackwell honoree last week, with Mrs. Henry A. Yerton hostess at her home, 609 Burdell street. A gay profusion of roses and tinnias made quite lovely the entertaining rooms for the mid-afternoon hour attended by a large number of the honoree's friends.

Gifts encased in white wrappings and tied with varicolored bits of ribbon sounded another harmonizing note of color blending effectively with the soft color motif repeated in the refreshment plate of cake and delicious sherbet.

The pleasant affair was attended by Meses. J. N. McFetter, J. A. Robinson, Joe Calder, R. B. Robinson, L. Effether, J. S. Mitchell, T. J. Melton, Sig A. Blackwell, Mattie Cox, Tillie Kelly, Bill Clardy, Fred Witt, J. B. Heister, and Miss Faye Thurman.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook Are Honored Before Departure for New Home.
Mr. and Mrs. Don Cook were most pleasantly honored recently when a large group of members from the Old Fellows lodge No. 350 and Ranger Rebekah lodge No. 140 motored to their home in early evening paying them a surprise visit. High point of the occasion was that of a well and completely arranged miscellaneous shower. The Cooks, who have been residents of Ranger for the past few years have been transferred to McCarney, where Mr. Cook continues his connection with the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company.

Following an evening made enjoyable with diversions of various kinds the guests served a dessert and ice course.

The host of Ranger friends regretted deeply the departure of the Cook family. Many good wishes are extended for success and happiness in their new home.

Those present bidding farewell to the honor guests included Messrs. and Meses. Sam Anderson, C. K. Stallings, J. A. Robinson, Blackwell, Tom Fox, Joe Calder, John Usery, H. Usery, A. H. Fred Witt, E. Carl Brumelow to Be Presented in Piano Recital Monday Evening.
Carl Brumelow, recognized in many cities of Texas as an accomplished musician and splendid instructor of piano, will be presented in a recital to be rendered in First Baptist church auditorium, Monday evening at 8:15 o'clock. This delightful program has been arranged through the Women's Missionary society of the church, who values as does the entire church Mr. Brumelow's worth in past as choir director and one who has taken an outstanding part and interest in all musical undertakings and church activities at all times.

Mr. Brumelow has perhaps done more or at least a great deal in placing Ranger quite in the limelight as a city who can deservingly boast of well organized clubs of various kinds.

Under his capable direction the Ranger high school glee club has gained a title as being one of the best clubs of its kind in any high school. Having been presented on many programs at prominent affairs and also lending their musical services to a score of entertainments.

Everyone who enjoyed the "Hallelujah" chorus program given in compliment to the Ranger high school graduating class of 1932 are indeed looking forward to Monday evening when they will again have the pleasure of hearing this musician at the keyboard playing a program from classical composers entirely. All ex-club members, former pupils and personnel of the civic chorus together with music lovers and friends are invited to attend this recital which will afford the opportunity of an appropriate farewell.

This hour of rare musical entertainment climaxes many similar occasions which have been given by pupils of Mr. Brumelow.

This event also affords the chance of displaying the talent and technique of one who has worked untiringly despite advantages and disadvantages. Interpretations will be selected from compositions from Beethoven, Chopin, Mozart, Rachmaninoff and others.

As the last number is ended a gracious group of ladies helping to compose the active society and serving as the hospitality committee for the hour will serve fruited bunch throughout the social.

STRANGE COMBATANTS.
LONGMONT, Colo.—A battle to death between two strange combatants was revealed when the bodies of a porcupine and a rattlesnake were found in South St. Vrain canyon. The victims were lying only a few feet apart when discovered. Apparently the poison fangs of the snake had sunk into the porcupine just as quills of the "porky" had reached a vital part of the reptile.

CONSTANTLY IN DANGER

BUT HE RARELY THINKS OF IT

Doctors are so constantly running risk of infection and contagion that they rarely give it a thought. They do the necessary operation, treatment, or make the necessary visit, regardless of risk. That is part of their job, and accepted as such.

Every precaution is taken and every aseptic, sterilizing and preventive measure is employed for the safety of each individual patient, but the Doctor must, in many cases, take a chance on personal safety. Friends and loved ones may fear and avoid contagion, but the Doctor must carry on—and does as a matter of routine duty.

You Owe It To Your Family To Pay Your Doctor First

YOUR DOCTOR WANTS TO KEEP YOU WELL

LET'S RE-ELECT
C. L. [CLYDE] GARRETT
FOR COUNTY JUDGE

DON'T DISCHARGE A FAITHFUL EMPLOYE AT THE TIME EXPERIENCE, ABILITY, HONESTY AND EFFICIENCY ARE MOST NEEDED

The administration of Clyde Garrett as County Judge has been marked care, forethought and efficient management of such matters as lawfully come under the supervision of that office.

It is notable that the county funds did not suffer any loss when the county depository closed its doors with some $265,000 of the county and school funds on deposit. These funds were protected by securities which the bank by agreement pledged the county. The careful watchfulness of Clyde Garrett over this one phase of the county's business was largely responsible for the fact that neither the county nor any school district will lose any money.

On occasion of the closing of a former county depository, the county's funds suffered a loss of $355,587.38, which is no doubt partly responsible for its financial stringency today.

Most of the duties of the County Judge are prescribed by law, and an investigation of the record of Clyde Garrett will show that he has been guided by the law in such actions.

He has been criticized for the retaining of special delinquent tax collectors. It has been said that these duties could have been performed by duly elected county officials. It has been intimated that Clyde Garrett along with other county commissioners might have had special interests in the hiring of the special delinquent tax collectors.

The facts are that the county has actually been saved money through the special collectors by reason of their efficient work and their promptness in collecting taxes on personal property which was about to be removed from the county, to say nothing of the saving by reason of the difference in their commission and the fees which would have accrued through the filing of delinquent tax suits.

Clyde Garrett's supervision over probate matters estates, insanity proceedings and other matters in the line of his duty is absolutely free from criticism. Persons who have had dealings with him will tell you that he has been kind, courteous patient, honest, and prompt in handling the matters.

A perusal of the record of proceedings of the commissioners court will show that Garrett has acted fairly and wisely in handling adjustments of valuations of property. His plan whereby the bondholders of the county accepted a refinancing plan to defer payment of some of the bonds coming due this year was materially responsible for the company's being on a cash basis now.

Before you make up your mind to cast Clyde Garrett out, talk to some of his friends or investigate the records for yourself. You'll find that his administration has been for the good of the people of Eastland county from beginning to the present and that he should be re-elected because his experience is needed NOW.

ST. RITA'S CHURCH.
Masses will be at 7 and 9 a. m. by Rev. M. Collins.
This is the ninth Sunday after Pentecost and the Gospel read is taken from St. Luke 19:41-47. In this Gospel Christ refers to the destruction of the city of Jerusalem. He also enters the temple and finds people selling in there whom he puts out saying: "My house is the house of prayer; but you have made it a den of thieves." Churches erected and dedicated to the service of God ought to be used for that purpose only. Too often they are used as political platforms or for some sensational scandal or local gossip. The result is empty churches. The fault is not that of the people but of the spiritual leaders.

EASTLAND CHURCHES

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.
Rev. D. Pryde Gillis, Pastor.

Preaching service, 11 a. m. You are invited to be present at this communion service. The sermon theme will be "The Crimson Cup."

ST. FRANCIS XAVIER CHURCH.
Mass will be at 7 a. m. by Rev. P. Ruano.
This is the ninth Sunday after Pentecost and the Gospel read is taken from St. Luke 19:41-47. Christ foretells the destruction of the city of Jerusalem. He also enters the temple and finds people selling in there who he puts out, saying: "My house is the house of prayer; but you have made it a den of thieves." Churches erected and dedicated to the service of God ought to be used for that purpose. Too many use them for political purposes, sensational scandals or local gossip. Hence we have many empty churches. The people are not to blame but the leaders who are using the churches for their personal vanity, political purposes, or merely as social centers. Churches are houses of prayer and people expect them to be used for that purpose, and when they are not used for that object the people remain away, and rightly so.

THE WILLETS

Out Our Way

By Williams

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Cherry Dixon, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, marries Dan Phillips, newspaper reporter, after a quarrel with her parents. It is a Leap Year marriage and Cherry does the proposing.

She and Dan move into a cheap apartment and Cherry's first struggles with housework are discouraging. Dixie Shannon, movie critic of the News, is friendly. Cherry meets handsome Max Pearson, also of the News, who tries to make love to her.

Brenda Vail, magazine writer, comes to Wellington and Dan meets her. She asks him to collaborate in writing a play. Dan begins to spend most of his evenings at Miss Vail's apartment. Discord arises between Cherry and Dan. He agrees to meet her for lunch one day but fails to appear. Later she sees him with Brenda. When Cherry accuses Dan of deceiving her they quarrel. He leaves the apartment and when he returns Cherry is gone. A week passes in which he does not hear from her.

Dan asks Brenda to go to New York at the end of a week. He gives up his job. Meanwhile Brenda prepares to receive a visit from M. P. Harris, representative of a motion picture company, from whom she hopes to win a contract as a scenario writer.

Dan discovers a story he has written published in a magazine under Brenda's name. He goes to the apartment where in an angry scene Brenda admits taking the story. She tells Dan she is through with him. Just then the doorbell rings.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLVI

Brenda's expression altered instantly. There was just time for a quick glance into the mirror to reassure herself. Angry color flamed in her cheeks but that was all right. Rather becoming.

"I'll get out as soon as I can," Phillips promised beneath his breath. They heard the hall door open and close, the murmur of voices and then footsteps, Brenda, radiant and smiling now, hurried to greet the newcomer.

"Mr. Harris!" she said with seething inflection. "This is such a pleasure—" "And for me, too, Miss Vail."

The man on the threshold was young looking. Tall, well set up and rather handsome. His hair and eyes were dark. He wore a dark suit, carried a brief case. As he spoke he stepped forward, surveying the room with a swift glance and his eyes turned to Dan.

Brenda intervened. "Mr. Harris," she said quickly, "this is Mr. Phillips. He's—why, why, Dan?" For suddenly Dan Phillips had thrown his head back and burst into a shout of laughter. "Mr. Harris!" he exclaimed. "So this is your Mr. Harris, is it? Oh, this is too much—"

The laughing continued, became noisier. Brenda Vail said hotly, "I don't know what you're laughing at. I don't understand—"

All at once she saw that something had happened to Mr. Harris. The brisk, business-like manner was gone. Harris was—yes, he looked sheepish. He was actually grinning, looking at Dan as though the two knew each other. It was incredible.

"What's—what's this all about?" the woman asked helplessly. "I'd like to know the joke, too." She looked at Harris. "You—you are Mr. Harris, aren't you? That's your name, isn't it? Do you know Mr. Phillips?"

The stranger's face sobered. "Yes, I know him," he answered. "I didn't expect to see him here, though. It's—rather a surprise. Changes things somewhat. I—well, with Dan here I suppose I may as well be frank. Dan the Mr. Harris you were expecting, Miss Vail, and then again, I'm not. My name is Harris—that is, it's my middle name. You had a note from me saying I'd call this afternoon to talk to you about picture rights on your stories. The fact is—well, I'm not a representative of United Actors as I told you—"

"You're not with United Actors?"

Lyric—Now Playing

Ann Harding, FKO-father star in "Westward Passage," in which Laurence Olivier plays the romantic lead opposite her at the Lyric Theatre, Eastland.

Then you're not the man who wrote me?" "Oh, yes I am. I wrote the letters and sent them to a friend of mine to remail from New York."

"But, Mr. Harris—" Brenda Vail's face had lost its animation. She was staring at the man uncomprehendingly, almost stupidly.

"If you're not THE Mr. Harris, who are you?" she demanded. "My name is Pearson, Miss Vail. Max Harris Pearson. I'm on the News."

"You—on the News! You mean here in Wellington? You mean you've written anything to do with motion pictures? Then United Actors—they don't want my stories?" Suddenly she turned on Pearson with blazing anger. "What did you do it for?" she cried. "How dare you? Oh, but there must be a law against this sort of thing. I'll see that you pay for it! Tried to trap me, didn't you? Thought you'd get money—"

Brenda's afternoon had been too much for her. She snatched up the nearest thing at hand, a polka vase, and hurled it across the room. The vase hit the wall, shattered into pieces. Brenda's anger was not appeased. She caught up a cushion from the davenport, ripping the silk so that the cotton lining fell to the floor.

"What did you do it for?" she screamed. The two men exchanged glances. A hysterical woman is not a pleasing sight. Phillips said, "There's no use losing control of yourself, Brenda. People will hear you—"

"What if they do? Do you understand what he's telling me? It means I can't go to Hollywood! The money—I'd counted on $10,000 at least—it means there won't be any money! What am I to do now? I've never been so humiliated. So—so mistreated! I'll see that you pay for this. I'll see that you suffer—"

Pearson was actually sorry for her. Age had made Brenda Vail into a haggard, shrew-like old woman. She looked years beyond her age. Her lined, twisted face was pathetic.

"I'm sorry," he said sincerely. "I shouldn't have done it. There were reasons but—well, there's no use going into that. Miss Vail, I deliberately deceived you and I deserve whatever you think of me. But after I've said I'm sorry I'm afraid there's nothing more to be—"

"Oh, you think that, do you?"

"You think I'd believe that? You think I'd even listen to you? Well, I'm going to see my lawyer!" "Then you'll only be obliged to pay fees for nothing. It will be rather foolish."

Perhaps Brenda believed him. Perhaps she saw that suddenly every one of her glamorous dreams had faded. The vision of Brenda Vail, the great scenario writer—her name flashing on the silver screen—her photograph in newspapers—wealth, fame, influential acquaintances—all that had vanished. The woman turned away, covering her face with her hands. "We'd better go," Phillips said. "Brenda doesn't want us here, Max."

"Yes, go! I never want to see either of you again! Get out of my sight, I tell you—"

Her angry, high-pitched voice followed them out into the hall. Silently the two men entered the elevator and rode to the ground floor. They stepped out on the street and Phillips was surprised to see how light it was. A little after five o'clock it seemed hours since he had entered Brenda's apartment but in reality it was less than 45 minutes.

"Car's parked here on the right," Pearson said. They turned a corner, got into the roadster, and Pearson started the engine. They had traveled several blocks before either spoke again. Then Dan said, "There are several things about all this I don't get."

"There's a lot I don't get, either. Guess all I did was make a fool of myself."

The lines of Phillips' face had hardened. "You're not the only one!" he said venomously. "Look here!" It was Pearson speaking. "Don't tell me if you don't want to but there's one thing I'd like to ask. Are you and Brenda Vail—I mean do you—"

"You heard her say she never wanted to see me again, didn't you? Well, I can assure you it's mutual! What's more, she never will see me. I'll take care of that all right!"

"But what about your play?" "What about your motion picture company? Brenda was explaining to me just before you came that the play's so bad the agents laughed at it. Unfortunately, it wasn't supposed to be comedy. Oh, I've been getting a line on myself all right—"

"I'm glad of it," Pearson told him. "I was beginning to think you'd lost your head entirely. That's how I got into this mix-up. Senseless apparently. I suppose that's what usually comes from stepping into other people's affairs. But I couldn't stand by and see a dame like this Vail woman put the skids on you! I figured that if I could get her interested in going to Hollywood—make her think she had a chance at the big dough—she'd, well, show up in her true colors. She's vain, of course. Terribly vain. You see I took the trouble to look up Brenda Vail rather thoroughly.

"How'd you do that?" "Oh, sent a couple wires. You didn't happen to know about Brenda's marriage, did you?"

"Married? But she's not—" "No, she isn't married now. Husband died two years ago—killed in a taxi smash-up. Seems he was crazy about Brenda and she led him around by the nose. The dope is that this husband could really write and people who knew both of them insist he wrote the magazine stories printed under Brenda's by-line. At any rate she hasn't had a thing published since his death."

Phillips' lips tightened but he did not speak. "Listen, Dan," Pearson went on. "I hope you're not sore about what I tried to do. Suppose I should have known the thing was silly but it seemed to work. At least she fell for those letters. I wouldn't have tried such a thing if I hadn't known about the phoney game Brenda pulled."

"I'm not sure," Phillips assured him. "At least, not at you. When I think what a complete idiot I've been—"

"Forget it. She's not worth worrying about!" "Oh, isn't she? Listen, let me out of this car. I've got to find a telephone!"

"You can't do that, Dan. I won't let you. You can't go back to that vampire, I tell you!" "She's not a vampire! She's an angel. She's the sweetest, dearest, most wonderful girl in the world! Stop this car, Max. I tell you I've got to telephone! Good Lord—you don't think I'm talking about Brenda Vail, do you? It's Cherry! I tell you I've got to find Cherry!"

CHEVROLET SIX CYLINDERS NO MORE - NO LESS For GREATEST ECONOMY and BUILT-IN SMOOTHNESS With more than six cylinders you sacrifice economy—With less than six cylinders you sacrifice smoothness.

When buying a low-priced car, do as America is doing: Count cylinders! And you'll say, as America is saying: "SIX! No more. No less!" America is saying that in the most convincing way it could possibly be said! With SALES! Since January 1st, the public has purchased more Chevrolet Sixes than the combined total of all four-cylinder cars and all eights priced under $1000. Why? America counted cylinders and came to this conclusion: six is the ideal number for a car of lowest price! No more, because an engine with extra cylinders is bound to cost more for gas, oil and upkeep. No less, because six is the smallest number of cylinders you can have in a car and avoid the undesirable effects of inherent vibration. A six, as Chevrolet builds it, is the happy medium between two extremes. It gives unexcelled economy. No other motor car engine in America today costs so little for gas, oil and upkeep. It gives built-in smoothness. From 6 miles an hour to 65 or 70, Chevrolet is quietly, comfortably, enjoyably smooth. And because of this smoothness—plus the fact that the whole car is so solidly, ruggedly built—Chevrolet is a low-priced automobile that really stands up. It's a good, reliable, economical car the day you buy it... and it keeps on being good, reliable, economical after 5,000—10,000—15,000 miles of driving. In addition, Chevrolet is a modern car with Free Wheeling, Synchro-Mesh gear shifting, Fisher bodies—and many other advanced features. Be cylinder-wise! Follow America's lead and make your next low-priced car a six—a Chevrolet Six! Unless you do, you can't expect the smoothness, economy, and lasting satisfaction to which your money rightfully entitles you. All prices f. o. b. Flint, Mich. Special equipment extra.
