... is published as a daily feature and may not be construed as representing the editorial views of this paper. It follows in nearly what one week of the time it was written, and the writer reserves the right to change and to explain any subject, without notice, explanation or apology.

NOW becomes my painful duty to remind Julius Krause that it is the 15th day of August, that the sign which graces the front of his gentlemen's clothing store is slightly out of date. It reads "July Clearance Sale," and should either bring the sign to date or else close the store and take the sign down. He can do whichever he likes.

PITZER is guilty of a similar neglect. At least he was last night and I didn't notice this morning. These boys are beginning to fall merchandise in and it is the town look a little seedy as the July Clearances still un- way.

IT'S about time for Joe to put up another sign. The present one is somewhat faded and torn and faded and not to mention shattered and shorn. However, Joe is liable to put up a sign that will last for a long time and declare a new sign.

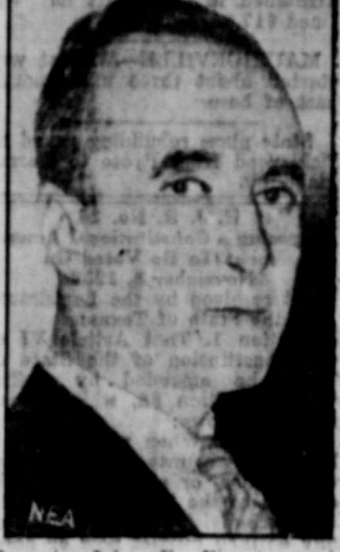

IN East Texas where they raise great gobs of tomatoes, advertise "Tomato Season" and side of his store with signs and pictures of tomatoes. When the last tomato has been used to ripen or rotten to ship to market, the merchant sells tomatoes and lets his sign on the wall for six months. It is seldom that you will see a sign after the first bale of tomatoes and he awakens to the fact that it's no longer to season but that old King Cot- ton mounted the throne again.

THE tomato sign comes down. The sign is still on the wall. It is twice a day and don't believe I have seen it for six months. This morning I noticed that a new coat of paint was getting a new coat of paint. The sign is still on the wall. The sign is still on the wall. The sign is still on the wall.

OTHER than argue politics, Donald Kinnard, Willard Wead and I discussed the causes and the inherent differences in cyclone hurricanes and what they do to the weather. It is seldom that you will see three people together who are as much about the weather as we tried to make either believe we did.

Donald told about seeing a stray blow into a fence and a dome neck rooster blown by a jug, up in Oklahoma. He said that he had seen a sign that was not blown down by a side, but the vacuum at the top of the atmospheric whirlwind was a house to explode the interior.

States Can Make Liquor, He Says

Here is John F. Finerty, eminent Washington (D. C.) lawyer, who contends there's nothing in the 18th amendment to prevent states from engaging in the manufacture, transportation and sale of liquor within their own borders. He has submitted his opinion to governors of three states where legislative action to set up state-controlled liquor industries for revenue purposes might change the complexion of the prohibition controversy over night.

EASTLAND GUN CLUB SHOOT POSTPONED

A northeast wind, driving sheets of rain ahead of it, made it too uncomfortable for those assembled at the Eastland Gun Club Sunday afternoon and the invitational shoot was postponed until next Sunday.

Texas May Join Fight On Tax On Athletic Contests

AUSTIN.—Texas may join a fight on the 10 per cent tax on athletic contests provided in the recently enacted federal tax law. Texas Tech at Lubbock and the University of Texas have asked the attorney general's department here for an opinion on the validity of the tax levy. Before writing an opinion, Assistant Attorney Seal Powers will confer with Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the University of Texas.

Breck To Bowl In Ranger Tonight

HOOPER FISHING

LEONARDTOWN, Md., Aug. 15.—President Hoover's fishing party, aboard the 110-foot Commodore department boat, Sequoia, was reported angling today in Chesapeake bay, 15 miles north-east of Point Lookout, Md. The vessel is famous for catches of hard-heads and sea-trout.

SURVEY SHOWS MUCH EVIDENCE OF ILLEGAL VOTING OVER STATE

132 Counties Over State Cast More Votes Than Poll Taxes Paid, Ferguson Carried 94 of Counties.

AUSTIN, Aug. 15.—Discovery that more votes were cast for governor in July than there were poll taxes paid in 132 counties has followed the return of indictments for illegal voting in Gregg county. Investigation by the Gregg county grand jury, under direction of District Attorney John E. Taylor was made on the non-partisan basis of upholding the purity of the ballot in Texas. In the 132 counties where illegal voting was indicated by the excess of votes over poll taxes—in many counties even exceeding the exemptions, had every poll tax paper and exemption voted—Ferguson carried 94 counties; Hunter carried 20 counties; Sterling 17 counties, and there was a tie for high place in one county.

The Ferguson lead over Sterling in these 132 counties was 75,940. The total excess of votes over poll tax payers for the group of counties was 57,719.

Two years ago, in the same set of counties, there was 60,187 fewer votes than poll taxes.

In a conversation with Mr. Hassen this a. m. he said they had a cabin on the beach some 300 feet from the water and the morning they left the water was slowly coming in and was at that time less than 40 feet from the cabin.

COAST GUARD PLANE IS LOST IN DENSE FOG

By United Press.
GLOUCESTER, Mass., Aug. 15.—A coast guard amphibian plane with four men aboard, which flew during the night to the rescue of a dying fisherman far at sea, reported by radio today that it was down in a thick fog, but could not estimate its position.

Everybody aboard was well, the message said.

The coast message was received by coast guard officials while a dozen coast guard craft groped through the fog in the possibility of locating the missing plane.

Good Attendance Is Registered At First of Addresses

CHARGED MAN WITH LOVE THEFT

DETROIT.—James Sehran filed suit against his 37-year-old roomer, William Mair, charging him with alienation of the affections of his wife, Sarah. Mair won the suit because he died before the case went to trial.

SHORTAGE OF FOOD, WATER IS SERIOUS

Emergency Hospitals In the Homes and Stores Care For Injured.

By STUART E. JONES, United Press Staff Correspondent.
HOUSTON, Aug. 15.—With the death toll mounting by the hour, relief agencies, beset by many handicaps, today administered to the injured and homeless in the storm-swept area centering about Freeport, Angleton and West Columbia.

At noon the toll of known-dead stood at 22 men, women and children. Reports of other fatalities lack confirmation. Emergency hospitals cared for hundreds.

Relief workers in the coastal area, lashed by the week-end hurricane, were handicapped by serious shortage of food, drinking water and medical supplies.

A report that troops had been ordered into the storm zone to aid the relief work appeared unfounded. Brigadier General Jacob F. Walters, who in past years has commanded troops occupying stricken areas, said he had heard of no such orders.

Major General John A. Hulen, commanding the 36th division, Texas national guard, encamped at Palacios, could not be reached because of disrupted wire facilities.

Many of the injured were in serious condition. They received first aid treatment at emergency hospitals set up in private homes, schools and stores in Angleton, Freeport and elsewhere.

Search among demolished homes was expected to add to the death toll. The pumping station at Angleton was destroyed and a shortage of drinking water faced that little town in which many fled Saturday when hurricane warnings were posted along the coast.

Galveston coast guardmen went to the aid of a party of Houston yachtsmen, stranded aboard their craft near Hoskins Sound. They had been missing since Saturday morning and were reported safe by an airplane pilot who sighted them.

The Missouri Pacific lines sent 30 empty box cars and eight tank cars of water to the stricken area. The box cars will be used to shelter the homeless.

The Red Cross received requests for aid from cotton and rice growers who faced poverty after destruction of their crops. Damage to the cotton and rice crop, staple products of the area, was estimated by G. C. Ellis, Harris county agricultural agent, to exceed $1,000,000.

Abandoned automobiles were everywhere. Some of them were literally torn to pieces by the wind. West Columbia, where the first capitol of Texas was built in 1833, was virtually wiped off the map. Seven persons lost their lives there.

Officials of the Freeport Sulphur company estimated damage to their property at $25,000. The damage consisted mainly of derricks blown down. Of 23 oil derricks in the West Columbia field, only one remained standing today. Whole strings of box cars were blown from the Missouri Pacific tracks and flung upon their sides. At Danbury, a hamlet south of Angleton, a church was blown down and everything in it destroyed except a statue of Christ and one of the Virgin Mary, which remained intact and stood upright in the debris.

LESSON-SERMON GIVEN
 "SOUL" was the lesson-sermon subject in all Churches of Christ, Sunday, Aug. 14. The golden text was from James 1:9, 10: "Now the lowly be lifted up; but if any man be high, he shall be low: for he that exalteth himself shall be abased, and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted." The service also included the reading of the Bible including Psalms 84:2: "My soul, yearn after the courts of the Lord; my heart and my flesh cry out for living God."

for LOVE or MUNEY by H.W. CORLEY

LOVE OR MONEY
 MONA MORAN, receptionist in a Wall Street law office, is in love with HARRY TOWNSEND, rich and socially prominent, whom she met through STEVE SACCARELLI, largely by chance—Steve became associated with Harry in operating a diamond mine, once believed worthless but now valuable. Steve owns a huge diamond called "The Empress of Peru." Gangsters try to steal the stone but he outwits them. Steve has earned Mona's gratitude by befriending her errand brother, HED, sending him to South America and giving him a job in the mine.

Mona needs $500 for hospital treatment for her invalid father. Her employer agrees to loan her the money and then makes an amazing proposal. He tells Mona a wealthy client of the firm wishes to marry her immediately with the understanding she shall occupy her own apartment, have unlimited accounts and do whatever she wishes for one year. At the end of that time she may become the man's wife, or accept of a secure divorce. She asks the man's name and is told it is Harry Townsend.

Mona agrees. Her friend, LOTTIE CARL, model in a fashionable dress shop, helps her select her wedding costume.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIII

THE Townsend limousine arrived at Lottie's apartment promptly at 10 o'clock. It remained there waiting until well after 11 because Mona and Lottie had set out at 9:30 to shop. On the list were shoes, hose, gloves, purse and even a rose-point handkerchief.

Lottie's suit, donned with much twirling and twisting before the mirror, had been pronounced exactly right for Mona. Both girls agreed that it was far better than a new one, hastily selected and not fitted properly.

Lottie selected a blouse to go with it. "You look simply adorable!" she told Mona as she tucked a stray lock carefully beneath the new blue hat.

She surveyed Mona approvingly, then dropped to her knees and bustled herself with the hem of the skirt. "You say they're opening accounts for you," she went on, rising and scowling at the refractory hair. "And you're not even going to live at Twilands. Wonder why?"

"I'm to spend the year—or most of it except the hot months—at the town house," Mona repeated patiently.

"Learning to be a lady I suppose! Using the right fork. Which sauce to order with the fish. Learning to be a credit to the Townsend family."

"Well, I've a lot to learn," objected Mona. "And I do want to be a credit to them!"

"What I mean is this," the other girl interrupted. "When you get back right after the ceremony you're going to find time heavy on your hands. No job, no house work. Just time to kill. Well, suppose we step out and buy your clothes together. Maybe I dress like a vamp myself but I know what the well-dressed young 63rd street wife should wear. That will take up part of your time. Of course I'll be as busy as a bee myself but I can get off now and then."

"Busy as which bee?" asked Mona, wrinkling her nose, her disturbing thoughts for a moment forgotten.

LOTTIE was wringing into the sleeves of her coat. "The one that hangs around the hive and doesn't work, maybe," she answered. "Still, that's not fair, Min. I did work every day this week."

"And earned twice what they paid you," Mona said promptly.

"Do you have everything?" Lottie asked at the door to ask. "Take a last look at this place, Miss Moran. Maybe Mrs. Townsend won't be able to get here often."

"Don't be like that!" Mona's voice was distressed. "You know I'll always keep all my old friends."

Lottie slammed the door shut, tried to make sure of the lock and tossed the key into her purse.

It was a trim little bride whom Jackson, the chauffeur, saluted before he opened the door of the car with a low bow. Privately Jackson decided that the other young lady was decidedly attractive too. The chauffeur, thinking of his own happy but frowsy little wife back in the country, sighed.

The car glided up Seventh avenue to the park. "I've got an idea!" Lottie announced suddenly. Staying protests with a smoothly gloved hand, she leaned forward.

"Jackson," she called through the window which she had opened, ignoring the speaking tube. "Has Mr. Saccarelli's yellow roadster been at Twilands lately? He's a friend of mine. I thought maybe I'd see him today."

"The yellow roadster?" Jackson thought a moment. "Yes, Miss. The yellow roadster was there yesterday. Not at the garage because Mr. Steve never bothers to drive to the garage. I saw the roadster last night parked by the hedge."

Lottie surveyed Mona triumphantly.

"Was it there this morning, Jack-

Kellogg Company To Add Another $250,000 Factory

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Aug. 13.—Immediate construction of a major addition to the Kellogg plants here to provide new manufacturing and other facilities as an expression of confidence in the future and to give further immediate employment was announced here today by W. K. Kellogg, founder and president of the Kellogg Company, world's largest manufacturer of ready-to-eat cereals.

Including the new $250,000 plant, factory improvements and additions now under way at the Kellogg Company represent an investment of more than half a million dollars. The new plant will be designed by the well-known architect, Albert Kahn, of Detroit, who also planned the Onn J. Kellogg School here.

"We have implicit confidence in the soundness of this country and the return to prosperity," said Mr. Kellogg. "Our business is good now and we expect it to get better steadily. Therefore, in order to help the present situation and to prepare for the brighter future that is sure to come, we are starting work right now on the additions to our plant."

"Our plans all through this period have been laid primarily to keep all of our people busy and to stimulate an active flow of our products through the trade by the expenditure of larger sum of money in newspaper advertising and sales promotion than ever before. The results have been very satisfactory and convince us that once the tide turns we will need a greater capacity than we have at present to take care of the business."

"Significantly, the Kellogg Company is operating under a six-hour day system, with four shifts working daily. Put into effect approximately 20 months ago, the Kellogg shorter-day system has proven satisfactory for both the company and its employees, despite the fact that wages scales were adjusted at the same time so as to offset largely the reduction in the individual employees' working time.

"Our company adopted the six-hour day in December, 1930, as an immediate means of increasing employment," explained Mr. Kellogg. "The plan has proven satisfactory to everyone. We were able to maintain and subsequently increase the number of our employees and they in turn have found many advantages in their increased leisure. At the same time, our operations now are upon a more efficient basis than ever before."

C. Satterwhite, and Colin Gray, their son; Mrs. May Harrison.

Eastland County Home Demonstration Council.
Ten clubs were represented at the Eastland county home demonstration council meeting held in regular session Saturday at 2 p. m., in 91st district court room, with 45 women present.

would not otherwise have, but should find time to attend the two-a-month meetings.
Mrs. Lillian Neal Eastland of Ranger, garden demonstrator for the Ranger club, presented her lights on "Live at Home," program, carrying on the same irrigation a part of her talk, which West Texas uses, so much at present, with great help in garden work.

The four "H" pantry, progress and steps that can be taken in this county in this work, during last week in the home of the McDonald sisters, formerly of Ranger, she was accompanied by Miss Pat McDonald, who has been visiting Ranger girl friends. Before her return home Miss Killingsworth will visit at Paris, where she will be the guest of her cousin, Miss Margaret Ann Killingsworth.

Mrs. D. G. Stinebaugh, Grapevine club, presented a fine report on bedroom improvement, in personal work, to improve a room, this year. The attic was used and what was once a dark and small apartment, with little windows, admitting less light, was transformed into a seemingly much larger room, through use of yellow paint, which makes light, and was employed in painting an old bed, two chairs, with one upholstered.

Mrs. Stinebaugh concluded with a report on better beds and bedding. A lecture demonstration, given women at the short course, by a representative from Austin. Miss Ruby Mae Harbin of Miller club reported outline of lecture, "Yourself?" delivered by Hon. Pat M. Neff.
Mrs. J. E. Bills of Flatwood club, presented a report outline of trip to and return from College Station.

Only about half of interesting and helpful things that were presented at the short course at A. & M., were given, and the balance will be presented by other delegates at later meetings.
Some of these reports will be heard at the county federation meeting in September, to be held, with the Bass Lake and Elm Home Demonstration clubs on the third Saturday of that month.

Announcement was made at this meeting, that county federation meeting will be an all-day session, to which each one is asked to take a basket lunch. Program for meeting will consist of a report contest, with a prize for the best home demonstration club report, and a prize for the best report from town clubs.

The meeting will be on the order of district and state federation meetings, and will be directed by Miss Ruth Ramey, county home demonstration agent, and Mrs. J. M. Perkins, president, Eastland county federation.
Junior Auxiliary Baptist Church.
The Junior Missionary society of the Baptist church held their regular meeting Saturday morning in divisional groups, with general assembly conducted by L. J. Lambert Jr.

The song service was led by Miss Opal Hunt, and numbers presented, "Let the Tide Come In," "I Shall Not Be Moved," "I Would Be True," and "The Coming of Jesus."
Routine business was transacted and the assembly was dismissed with prayer by Bonnie Kate Wood.
The intermediate program was devoted entirely to a Bible contest, based on biblical characters, taken alphabetically by opposing sides, with a cain each, and contest directed by Miss Hunt.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY, N.E.A. Service Writer
AS each vegetable comes into a season and becomes plentiful, its possibilities must be studied and carefully worked out if the homemaker receives full value and benefit from it. Vegetables produce an abundant, varied and altogether satisfactory diet at low cost. This time of year, if time and thought are spent in their preparation...

Where for Hornsby?
ROGERS HORNSBY expresses himself as hopeful of acquiring a playing-manager job in the major leagues before another season begins. Where will he go?
One guess is as good as another. Perhaps, process of elimination would help toward a conclusion. There are four National League cities where he cannot light. They are St. Louis, New York, Boston and Chicago. Pittsburgh is not likely to displace George Gibson after he has led the team to the top. The same goes for Philadelphia, a club Burt Shotton brought out of the cellar into the light of day.

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT, United Press Staff Correspondent.
PARIS—Fashion grows more ageless every day. It is appalling how the same frock with a few subtle changes as to collar and cuffs, additional yoke or beltline, looks just as lovely on grandma as it does on 16-year-old Susie.
If in the calmer moments of our hurried lives, however, we sit down and go over this situation with an open mind we cannot but realize how logical it is, nor how it simplifies this thing called "style" which succeeds in getting us all into a bi-annual frenzy.
Even the big dressmakers over here—those who belong in that sacred circle of Haute Couture—have accepted this fact which, at first glance, would not seem practical from their point of view. Everything is being scaled down to such more accurate foundation these days and what little mystery still exists can purchase better values than ever before.

COUGAR HALTED BERRY PICKING
By United Press.
KELSO, Wash.—B. F. Graybill and a son Richard had their berry picking rudely interrupted recently when a full-grown cougar ran across the patch not 40 feet away. They forgot berry picking to leave the vicinity.
POPULATION INCREASES.
MARSHALL, Texas.—A population of 17,635, or 1,434 more than the total given Marshall by the 1930 federal census, is reported by the 1932 city directory.
