The column is published as a daily feature and may not be construed as representing the editorial views of this paper. What follows is merely what one man thought at the time it was written, and the writer reserves the right to change his mind concerning any subject, without notice, explanation or apology.

TOMORROW is the day the Democrats of Texas go to the polls and decide the lesser of two evils, which shall be the democratic nominee for governor, Sterling Ferguson? I say the "lesser of two evils," forming my own opinion from what I have heard representatives of both candidates say at both parties.

HANDLING the news stories concerning the local speeches on behalf of both candidates, I think it can be said that this paper has not favored one over the other. We have covered Ferguson speeches and Sterling speeches alike and tried to publish a fairly accurate account of what the speakers had to say on behalf of their respective candidates. We haven't tried to print every word of the speeches nor every thought expressed, because much of it was merely repetition and some of it probably obscene or slanderous or simply abusive.

THE CANDIDATE for county offices will probably note that this paper published their signed resolution in reference to the anonymous and seditious marked ballot that was circulated in this county. Some of the other papers don't publish it. I give you this information without further comment.

THE SAME election officials will preside as in the first primary. Guy Parker will be in charge of Precinct No. 1, Eastland. C. C. May will be at Ranger No. 2, and LeRoy Pearson will be at Ranger No. 25. Tom Stanton will preside at Olden.

Every precaution will be taken to see that no illegal votes are cast. Voters are requested to bring their poll tax receipts so as to save time in making affidavits.

NEARLY forgot to tell you folks about the footrace which was held in an admiring crowd of meadow bushes in a pasture near Eastland this week. Clyde Shelby and Ed Barker went hunting. It is known that they were hunting because everything I know of out of season except cactus spines.

But anyway... whilst sauntering through a pasture they suddenly came upon a gentleman cow which they apparently disturbed from his grazing. He leaped at them and viewed his visitors with more or less alarm and emitted a sort of cry, being brought up on farm near Coleman, took it to merely a snort of recognition and warned Ed not to run, but to continue away in the leisurely manner. But Ed's feet and legs were not so brave as his heart and they proceeded to take him out of danger. The race was in the absence of any routers to encourage them on to greater effort. Clyde and Ed snarled each other on, not to mention the cow's having anything to do with it for by this time they could feel a heated breath warming the seat of their pants.

They reached a fence and safe-just in time for the exhausted Clyde to fall over the fence and express his hope that the steers was a fence jumper. Moral: Never be in a hot cake batter.

CALL me up late tomorrow night and I'll tell you who is going to be our next sheriff.

Advertising in Times Covers a World of Items

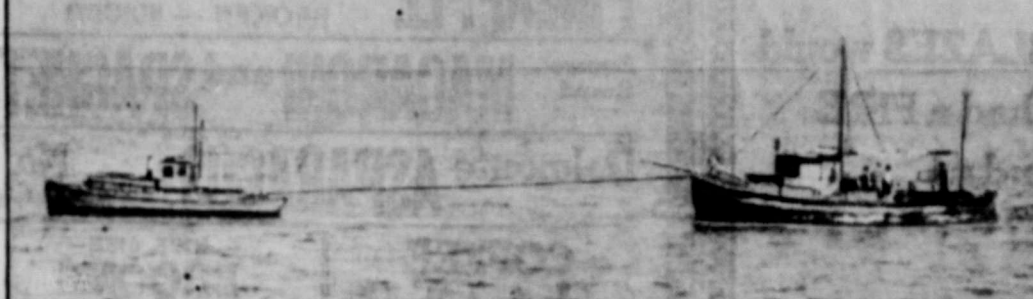

Today the Times presents a varied assortment of advertising from groceries, furniture, and clothing to political advertising of the candidates who will be in the run-off primary tomorrow.

Saturday will be a big day. People will come to town to do their shopping and to find out how the election is going.

Merchants, knowing that they can reach all these people through the columns of the Times, have placed their advertising where they know it will be the most good. One indication of the number of people who read the Times can be seen through the political rally Thursday. These people learned of the rally through the columns of the Times.

Your advertising will reach many people as heard the speakers Thursday, and many more, because all who read the Times did not attend the rally.

Mariner Saved After Drifting on Pacific 116 Days

A harrowing tale of hardships and perils encountered while drifting on the Pacific Ocean in a rudderless boat for 116 days was told by Captain P. A. Riggs (left), of Dutch Harbor, Alaska, when he was picked up near Point Buchon on the California coast. The photo above shows Riggs' battered 30-foot fishing boat, the Novi, being towed to Port San Luis. Riggs left Alaska April 28 for a short trip down the coast but was blown far to sea when his auxiliary engine failed and squalls disabled the mast and rudder. Rigging a jury mast and temporary rudder, he began a long fight to reach land. He was near the end of his food supply when rescued, and had lost 50 pounds in the ordeal. He plans to sail to Santa Barbara as soon as his boat is made seaworthy again.

KILLS STEP FATHER AND THEN SUICIDES

By United Press. AMARILLO, Aug. 26.—W. Frank Zimmerman, 64, pioneer grocer of Amarillo, died near midnight Thursday from gunshot wounds inflicted by Roy Brownson, 37, his step-son, who earlier in the day had told his mother of his intention to kill his step-father. Brownson died, shortly after he had wounded the elderly man, of self-inflicted wounds.

LARGE CROWD AT FERGUSON RALLY THURSDAY EVENING

Eggs and execrations flew fast for a few moments at the big Ferguson rally in Ranger Thursday night when unknown persons hurled eggs from the top of a building during the course of remarks by Judge R. C. Roland. The judge abandoned his talk for Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson and hurled abuse and curses at the unknown and unseen egg hurlers.

A crowd equally as large as the one present on Monday night when the first political rally was held, was on hand to hear the music and the speaking.

Judge Roland, acting as master of ceremonies apologized to the crowd because two principal speakers who had been engaged for talks had been unable to be present and Judge L. H. Flowerlin, who was to act as master of ceremonies, was called out of town. After a short talk in which he introduced himself as a native Texan and a staunch supporter of Mrs. Ferguson, Judge Roland then introduced the American Legion Tackville band, directed by Dr. Harry A. Logsdon.

The band, in its usual inimitable manner, swept the crowd before it as it played for 30 minutes prior to the opening of the speaking arrangements.

Judge Roland then mounted the platform again and began a speech in behalf of Mrs. Ferguson. He said that he had known E. S. Sterling as a neighbor and had visited in his home. He hurled abuse on the governor, calling attention to the fact that he lived in "silk stocking row" at Sylvan Beach and pointing out the trouble that arose over the toll bridges between Texas and Oklahoma.

The judge had been talking some five minutes and was beginning his introduction of Ghent Sanderford of Eastland when the egg barrage began. The judge stopped his remarks and hurled abuse on those who threw the eggs, cursing them roundly and inviting them to personal encounter.

Ghent Sanderford, former secretary of Mrs. Ferguson, next addressed the crowd. He said that he liked the people of Ranger and wished that it was possible for him to make his home in the town, but this was impossible because he was glad of the privilege of addressing the people for whom he had nothing but respect and love.

The speaker said that he did not blame anyone for their political views and did not take issue with them because they did not see things as he did. He said he had many good friends who were Sterling supporters and after the election they would still be his friends and he would still be a friend of theirs.

Sanderford called attention to the administration of Mrs. Ferguson, saying that it was one of the most abused and bed-aborn administrations in the history of the state. He said that recently he looked up the records and was amazed and delighted to find that during the term of James E. Ferguson more buildings had been built by the state for the afflicted, for the school children, the insane and in fact for all eleemosynary institutions, than during the regimes of all other governors from San Houston "down to the present vacancy."

He mentioned the Brooks bill that was designed to relieve the counties of road bond indebtedness and said that Sterling had let this bill stay on his desk for 20 days and had then vetoed it after it was too late for the legislature to pass it over his veto, giving as his reason that there was not enough money in the highway department to pay off the bonds. Later, Sanderford said, the governor gave as his reasons for vetoing the bill the fact that it was unconstitutional and later still called a special session for the purpose of passing a similar measure.

He then introduced Frank Judkins of Eastland, whom he said was called by long distance from his home in the state to speak in behalf of Governor Sterling, but refused to speak for Sterling with his expenses paid, though he was broke at the time, saying that he had rather speak for Mrs. Ferguson for nothing than for Governor Sterling for pay.

Mr. Judkins made an appeal to the voters to cast their vote for Mrs. Ferguson, saying that Governor Sterling was the tool of the big corporations and that two years more like the past four would see nothing but corporations in the entire United States and the little man would be out of business and the corporations in control with a business manager of the United States instead of a president. He blamed Hoover for conditions over the country and Sterling and his administration for conditions in Texas.

He said that in a county where the chief manager of the United States is a judge, appointed by Sterling and a district attorney appointed by the governor obtained three indictments for illegal voting. They then found that the three indicted for Governor Sterling in the first primary, he said, and the charges were immediately dropped.

He explained the so-called illegal vote, saying that in Gregg county, where the largest so-called illegal vote occurred, thousands of people had moved into the county who were not qualified to vote.

The Times is proud of the splendid crowd that came to this speaking to which it gave the publicity. The Times is proud of its friends who differ with it in their political views. The Times is NOT proud of the showering of eggs at any speaker, neither is it proud of the language used. There were ladies present—wives and daughters of Ranger citizens, and the wives and daughters of our neighbors, whom we had invited to be present. The Times regrets the affair very much. We are indeed sorry.

The Times is still supporting Ross S. Sterling for Governor and believes that every man and woman has a right to vote for whom he chooses. We urge all to vote for their choice. The people's minds are made up—we are willing to abide by the decision of the majority.

BALLOT MUCH SHORTER THAN ON JULY 23RD

Governor, Railroad Commissioners and Congressmen, Lead Interest.

Texas democracy Saturday will name the party's standard bearer, two railroad commissioners, three new members of congress and a supreme court justice.

The ticket is less bewildering than the five-foot sheet which faced voters at the July 25 primary. And equally satisfying, is the report tabulations of the race will probably be known before midnight Saturday.

Chief interest in the state campaign revolves around the governor's race, where 57-year-old Miriam A. Ferguson is for the fourth time a candidate for office. Her opponent, Ross S. Sterling of Houston, is seeking re-election on the thesis his tasks as state's executive are not done, that the administration achievements deserve for him re-election.

Membership to the important state railroad commission is sought by two incumbents, Chairman V. Y. Terrell and Col. Ernest O. Thompson, former mayor of Amarillo, and an appointee of Governor Sterling. Terrell is opposed for

GRAND JURY IS SELECTED BY 88 COURT

The following persons compose the list of grand jurors selected by the jury commission to service at the September term of the 88th district court, which convenes Monday, Sept. 5th:

- F. W. Roberts, Rising Star; E. C. Satterwhite, Eastland; C. A. Goswami, Rising Star; Ed Jones, Gorman; P. O. Burns, Okra; F. G. Yonkers, Ranger; W. C. Bedford, Dendemonia; Walter Harwell, Ranger; W. E. Rick, Cisco; L. C. Cash, Pioneer; C. J. Leclair, Olden; H. G. Bailey, Cisco; T. L. Parker, Eastland; Harry Hall, Carbon; W. F. Walker, Cisco; Ben Landreth, Rising Star.

Suit Brought In An Alleged False Arrest

Alleging malicious prosecution and false imprisonment A. J. Sims, formerly of Eastland and now in Eastland belonging to the Panhandle Refining Company, has brought suit in the 88th district court here for alleged damages totaling above $7,800 against the Panhandle Refining Company et al. $2,800 is asked for actual damages and $5,000 for exemplary damages.

Sims alleges that one Kilgore who was an agent for the Panhandle Refining Company signed and swore to complaints charging him with petty embezzlement in a number of cases and that as a result of the complaints officers went to Weatherford where he (Sims) was operating a filling station, arrested him and placed him in jail.

Ruling Obtained On Pauper Vote

Day At Nudist Colony Replete With Somersaults

By RALPH HEINZEN
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS.—By going to the office and buying an entrance ticket for 8 cents you can spend a day on the island of Physiopolis among France's only colony of 99 per cent nudists, but you must keep your own clothes on.

If you pay 400 francs a year, the fee charged "visiting nudists," you can take your clothes off. For the 8 cents you get a better show than the Casino de Paris and Folies Bergere offer for $3 plus usher's fee.

True, most of the French nudists appear afflicted with an overfat, or an undernourished condition before they seek nudism as a cure-all, but they have a willing spirit regardless of the weakness of the flesh and what they lack in quality or quantity they make up in undiluted vim and vigor.

The 99 per cent nudists are really more of a show than the 100 per cent class. They have quite a game and use considerable art in scattering their bits of covering to hide the 1 per cent. Their ingenuity merits much praise and since the fact has become generally known that it is possible to watch the nudists disport on the green, Paris has solved its problem of what to do on Sunday.

I spent Sunday on the island of Physiopolis and obeyed the warning of my 8-cent ticket to keep my clothes on. I came away with tired eyes, a terrific sunburn down to the collar line, a terrible hunger which was not appeased by the two "naturist" meals—the salad con-

Striking Farmers Give Milk to Poor

Rather than sell milk to Sioux City wholesalers at lower prices than they demanded, dairymen allied with Iowa's striking farmers opened free milk stations in the city, such as the one pictured here at the city market. Free milk is being dispensed from the truck. Producers scored a partial victory when agreement was reached granting them an increased price for their milk, but not as much as they had asked before the strike.

to be obtained by a summer's vacation tour of the naturist camps from the Atlantic to the Volga and from the heather to the cockle-burr belt.

During the week days you are privileged to become a 100 per cent nudist, but on Sundays you must wear something if a man and two pieces if a woman. There are no regulations as to the sizes of the somethings and some of them do their job amply, but others are eight fits and threaten to give way during the somersaults.

There is a recent regulation that the clothing must be of cloth.

sisted of grass chopped with small onions—and a fierce admiration for those 4,000 people who are not ashamed to bare their abdomens regardless of unesthetic contours.

Several provocative 99 per cent nudists, one blonde and the other brunette, and a somewhat knock-kneed 99-9-10 per cent blonde with henna hair invited me to join in their games. The ticket says specifically that one must not undress, but it says nothing about joining in the games. We played lots of ball games until dark.

Physiopolis is an island, happily shrouded in weeds and willows. Two miles long, it is just 50 somersaults across. The central part of the island has been smoothed down and the grass skimmed off by the millions of somersaults the nudists turn there every bright day.

The island was once known by the prosaic name of Straight Island. Then several years ago the naturist movement—which numbered but eight enthusiastic disciples after its first two years of existence—bought the island and changed its name. There are no bridges, but the nudist committee obligingly provides a ferry and charges 4 cents to get over and as much to go back.

Cement walks stretch down the island, because cockleburrs abound and nothing seems to bother 99 per cent nudists as much as cockleburrs. In the center is a stadium; in fact it is only a field where somersaults are turned and where cockleburrs have been uprooted. On either side are houses which look like hermit cells. They have no doors, but your name is placed in large letters so that you never get into the wrong cell.

There are now 4,000 active disturbing nudists in the French colony. Foreign nudists are welcomed and by paying the visitors fee are allowed to share in the sport. There is quite an education in anatomy of the European nations

TO THE VOTERS!

We want to commend to your favor Hon. Joe Burkett, of San Antonio, for Congressman-at-Large, Place No. 3. West Texas is entitled to another Congressman by reason of the increased population, and Burkett is, in our judgment, preeminently the best man for that position. His opponent lives in Dallas.

Senator Burkett is now in the prime of life, 46 years of age, born at Llano, Texas, reared in West Texas, and resided many years in Eastland. He held office here, was District Clerk, County Judge, District Judge, Representative and State Senator from Eastland County. While he now resides in Southwest Texas, he is still very closely identified with our County, and would be our friend if in Congress.

Senator Burkett is a man of extraordinary ability, and energy, is capable and conscientious, a hard worker, and has ability to get results; a man of broad experience, and a true and tried Democrat.

In our judgment he is going to win in this second primary, and we earnestly solicit your vote for him next Saturday. Let Eastland, his old home county, give him a unanimous vote.

son all participated in the first primary.

Worms' activities were great during this year during the campaign. Mrs. Ferguson was a candidate again. Mrs. Ross S. Sterling went on the stump for her husband, reiterating his accounts of economics and improvements in state departments and matching them with savings she effected in running the mansion.

Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, campaigned for the governor with Mrs. Sterling part of the time and alone in some instances. Mrs. Cone Johnson of Tyler, wife of a highway commissioner and herself a former assistant attorney general, directed the entire Sterling women's division. She had 250 women speaking for the governor's renomination during the final week of the campaign, stressing issues of particular interest to women.

Mrs. Phebe K. Warner of Claude, the "Little Brown Wren of the West," who was a candidate for congress in the first primary, was another widely known woman campaigner for Sterling as was Mrs. Noyes Darling Smith, Austin, a member of the state board of education.

Railroad Offers Lower Rates For Labor Day Trips

Many families who have delayed vacations until September are taking advantage of exceptionally low Labor Day excursion rates being put into effect by the Texas & Pacific railway, according to W. E. Daniels, general agent. Both nearby and distant cities may be visited at a fraction of the usual cost on one of the Labor Day excursion offers. Mr. Daniels said. Return limits have been arranged to provide for trips of the desired length.

On sale Sept. 3, the Texas & Pacific offers a low round trip rate to El Paso, Dallas or Fort Worth, with a return limit of Sept. 8. These drastically reduced rates are good on all trains, either in coaches or Pullman cars. Pullman car rates also have been reduced. In addition to these rates the Texas & Pacific is offering greatly reduced round trip rates to northern and eastern points including Little Rock, Chicago, Memphis, Little Rock, St. Paul and Minneapolis. Tickets under this offer will be on sale Sept. 2 to 5 with a return limit of Sept. 12. The rate is approximately one cent per mile in coaches. In sleeping cars the rate is the usual one-way fare plus 25 cents for the round trip.

On sale Sept. 3 to 5 with a return limit of Sept. 10 the T. & P. is also offering a round trip rate of approximately one cent per mile to all points in Texas and Louisiana on the T. & P. lines. It is good either in coaches or sleeping cars.

The Ranger singing class will meet at the First Baptist church at 8 o'clock Sunday afternoon and will be assisted by visiting singers from over the county. Lovers of good singing are cordially invited to be present.

Arithmetic to Be Presented in Hued Spotlight This Evening at Arcadia Theatre

The Four Rhythmettes, composed of Misses Pauline Head, Edelle Clark, Merle Stewart and Edelle Head, four of Ranger's accomplished entertainers, will be presented from the Arcadia's stage this evening at 9 o'clock, in a rosy and splendidly colored production of the enterprising who appear in pastel tinted evening gowns fashioned in becoming styles.

Clayton Hunt and his seven-piece Golden Gate orchestra will accompany this feature of special entertainment arranged for added enjoyment with the showing of the most looked forward picture of the year, "Devil and the Deep," with Tallulah Bankhead and Gary Cooper.

No doubt this program for the evening will extend an appeal irresistible to many who are invited to be present for this delightful evening.

A thorough discussion was held during the hour attended by the usual group of members and three visitors, Mrs. J. W. Price, Mrs. E. Glanier and Mrs. D. Hassen of Sanford.

Club members were Misses E. L. Estaine, G. W. Earp, C. O. Hassen, D. Joseph, John Hassen, J. A. Hassen, Edwin George Jr., and others.

Workers Club Meets with Mrs. Parrish

The Co-Workers Home Demonstration club met with Mrs. J. W. Parrish at her residence, Desdemona boulevard, this week. At this time Miss Ruth Ramsey, county home demonstration agent, was present.

A feature and high point of the profitable meeting was the demonstration given by Miss Ramsey, presenting a demonstration with instructions of Italian hemstitching, Bermuda hemstitching, and Welsh weaving, as a finish for hats, scarves, pillow cases and bedsheet sets.

During a brief business discussion plans for the meeting to be held at Bass lake soon were decided upon.

The next meeting for club members will be conducted at the home of Mrs. Williams, Lone Star street, Sept. 13.

Women Played Large Part In State Election

DALLAS, Aug. 26.—Women of Dallas played a larger and more important part in the governor's election this year than ever before. More important even than in 1926 when three women were candidates for the office. It was that year that Mrs. William A. Ferguson, Mrs. Edith Hays, and Mrs. Kate M. John-

Texas Will Have Large Squad Out For Grid Season

By United Press.
AUSTIN.—Coach Clyde Littlefield will have the largest squad of eligibles ever reporting at the University of Texas when practice for the 1932 football season opens here Sept. 10.

Seventy-six players, including 21 letter men have been declared eligible. Eleven players of last year's squad have either graduated or finished their eligibility period and 12 squadmen from the large freshman group failed to make the grades.

Fullback Ernest Key of Sealy and Guard Wilson Cook of Austin will lead the 1932 Longhorns as co-captains.

The squad this year gets three experienced men who were ineligible last year. They are Earl and Voyles, ends, and Bond Hilliard, back.

Men who will be missed from this year's squad are Captain Maurice Baumgarten, guard; Robert Hardridge, back; Wilson Elkins, quarter; John Craig, quarter; Andrew Brown, full; Walter Duell, tackle; Bill Hodges, guard; Walter, center; Charlie Haun, center; Carl Tyson, tackle, and Louis Weaver, half.

The complete Texas university roster follows: Buster Babel, Sealy; Charles Bankhead, Paris; Fred Beasley, Junction; Arthur Benson, Galveston; Dause L. Bibby, Dublin; Thomas Birdwell, San Antonio; Claude Blanton, Hewitt; Joe Bloom, Toledo, O.; Leon G.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

By GEORGE KIRKSEY, United Press Staff Correspondent.

Deal Not So Good

Officials of the St. Louis Cardinals were bitterly assailed by home town fans last winter when they traded Chick Hafey, National league batting champion, and Burleigh Grimes, World series pitcher, here, to other clubs.

The Cards sent Hafey to Cincinnati after his refusal to accept the salary terms offered him, and traded Grimes to the Chicago Cubs. The Cards received pitcher Benny Frey and outfielder Harvey Hendricks from Cincinnati, and outfielder Hack Wilson and pitcher Bud Teachout from the Cubs in these two deals. They later turned Frey and Hendricks back to the Reds, sold Wilson to Brooklyn and sent Teachout to one of the farms.

So for Hafey and Grimes, they realized nothing in players to bolster their world championship array. Sam Breadon, however, collected cash from the Reds, Cubs and Dodgers to the equivalent of what Grimes and Hafey were worth.

Breadon's reputation of never making a bad deal, however, did not suffer from these two deals as Hafey has been out of the lineup more than half the season with injuries and illness and Grimes has been almost useless to the Cubs because of poor health.

If Breadon had stopped there, the Cards might have survived the disposal of two of the team's stars and still be in the thick of the pennant race, but he went to the well once too often when he sold Flint Rhem, right-handed pitcher, to the Phillies.

Rhem had won four and lost two for the Cards when he was sent to the Phillies along with infielder Eddie Delker in a cash transaction.

Upon joining the Phillies Rhem promptly started pitching the best baseball of his career, winning eight of his first 10 games and proving the leading factor in keeping Bur Shotton's club in first division.

If the Cards had kept Rhem, and he had performed for them as he has for the Phillies, the world champions might be battling for the pennant instead of trying to keep out of second division.

Tallulah Bankhead Stars in Exciting Desert Melodrama

Against the romantic background of a seaport on the north African coast and the neighboring Sahara, Tallulah Bankhead, Gary Cooper, and Charles Laughton enact a dramatic story of love and jealousy in "Devil and the Deep," at the Arcadia theatre for the last time today.

Miss Bankhead is seen in her latest film as Pauline Sturm, beautiful wife of the commander of a British submarine stationed on the Mediterranean. This man, genial and likeable to his friends, is really obsessed to the point of insanity with a conviction that his wife is unfaithful to him. His suspicions finally drive her into a love affair with a young lieutenant in her husband's command, and, faced with the proof of his suspicions, Sturm goes entirely insane. The method of his revenge carries the film into a melodramatic climax aboard a sinking submarine.

Miss Bankhead as Pauline, Cooper as the lieutenant, and Laughton as the crazed husband give performances of rare distinction, and help to make the film one of the most dramatic and exciting pictures in many moons.

Ranger Junior College Prospects Are Now Bright

By United Press.

Ranger Junior College was organized six years ago with an enrollment of 21 students. It was recognized the first year as a first class junior college by the state department of education and was admitted to membership in the Texas Association of Colleges and Universities and in the American Association of Junior Colleges in the second year. Thus, it secured full affiliation with other colleges, so that any work done in Ranger Junior College is acceptable in other institutions of higher learning at full value, and a student will receive credit therefor when he transfers to other colleges or universities.

Teh college grew slowly but steadily until last year when it had a 20 per cent increase in enrollment over the previous year. This year an even larger per cent increase is expected in the enrollment. H. S. Von Roeder, dean of the college, who has been appointed this summer to solicit students in the surrounding sections of the country, reports excellent results from his work. An enrollment of 100 or more students is expected this year. Ranger's graduates of the classes of 1932 and 1933, who are going to college at all will enroll almost 100 per cent in Ranger Junior College.

A number of students from nearby towns have made arrangements to attend, and others are expected to make arrangements soon. Several students from farther away have made inquiries concerning the college, and it is expected that some of them will enroll in Ranger Junior College. Several students who attended other colleges their first year will enroll in Ranger Junior College this year.

He Made 200 Bales Of Cotton in 1918 Three Bales in 1919

Atlanta, Ga.—"I made 209 bales of cotton in 1918 and only three bales in 1919. That's what the boll weevil did to me. Then something over a year ago my health failed. I have had my share of hard knocks but I have had my rewards, too, and the greatest of these was Sargon. It brought back my health and has been worth more to me than all the cotton in Georgia. Sargon Soft Mass Pills overcame my constipation of years standing." George W. Smith, 25 Little St., Atlanta, Georgia.

established in 1902, and the first one in Texas was established in 1922. Under the junior college act passed by the 41st legislature the then existing junior colleges were validated and restrictions were set up limiting the future establishment of these colleges that no other city in this section nearer than Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Waco, or Abilene could establish such a college.

Thus, Ranger and this section of the country should indeed feel fortunate in possessing such a college and they are appreciating this and patronizing Ranger Junior College is facing the bright prospects in its history this year and a large enrollment is expected when its doors swing open for registration on Sept. 5.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Precinct No. 2 (Ranger)

Pony Harrison has lived amongst us since the days before the oil boom and has never asked for public office. He was actively engaged in commercial enterprises and the thought of holding office seldom, if ever, occurred to him.

Harrison has no preconceived opinions regarding any particular phase of the duties of the office. His friends know from past experiences with him that he will render the people faithful service and do everything in his power to treat everybody right.

At the solicitation of many of his friends, he was induced to become a candidate for the office of Justice of the Peace and received the greatest number of votes in the first primary. This is evidence of his popularity and the confidence people have in him.

In asking you to vote for Pony Harrison, his friends are presenting him as a good man, competent to fill the position and worthy the support of the voters. The duties of the office are such that a man with a cool head and an open mind can fill it and Pony Harrison is the man.

UNIVERSITY REGENTS DEMAND A SHOWDOWN

Now the regents of the University of Texas have requested the attorney general to make an investigation to determine if the university is getting a fair share of royalties on gas produced on its lands. Action was ordered after Chairman R. L. Batts of the board of regents placed the question before the board and suggested that the attorney general act on five points. First, to secure action by the Texas railroad commission fixing the maximum ratio of gas to oil produced. Second, consider if the university is being properly paid for gasoline produced. Third, institute suit for royalty not paid for gas used in producing oil and then burned or turned loose. Fifth, institute a suit for gas used in excess of that required for the lifting of the oil, in case it should be determined that the lessee may use without cost to it all the gas necessarily used in producing the oil.

Judge Batts in his time has been one of the famous corporations lawyers of America. As a member of the board of regents he places the university first and the rights of the state second. This is the record he has made as a regent. Chairman Batts asserted that up to May 31 gas produced and measured in the University Reagan county oil field aggregated 90,378,461,000 cubic feet. He declared that this is not all the gas produced but that part that runs through casing head plants, produced since May 31, 1932, would probably add about eight billion cubic feet, and the 90 billion cubic feet to May 31 has had extracted from it gasoline to the extent of .8 of a gallon per thousand cubic feet.

Furthermore, he said that on the gasoline extracted the university had been paid one-eighth royalty on the basis of 3 cents a thousand cubic feet to Oct. 31, 1930, and thereafter one-third of the value on Nov. 1, 1930; that is to say the university has received in the latter period one-eighth of one-third of the value of the sale price of extracted gasoline. He made the direct charge that the total of the receipts by the university from the 90 billion cubic feet of gas produced until May 31, is $141,690,611. This, he said is 757 cent for every thousand cubic feet. That is to say, the university secures a cent for every 6,450 cubic feet or one dollar for every 645,000 cubic feet. His conclusion:

"The actual value of the gas taken from the university land is difficult to determine. The citizens of Austin are paying for this gas 75 cents a 1000 cubic feet. The value of the gas turned loose in the university field measured by the charge to the citizens of Austin, would amount to $90,760,000. The university recently negotiated with one of the gas companies for gas to use at the power plant and offered 16 cents a thousand. At this rate, gas wasted in the university fields, would have a value of more than $14,000,000—one hundred times what was received by the university."

Well, the board of regents has passed on to Attorney General Jimmy Allred another puzzle for solution. He has had many hard nuts to crack. He will have many new problems to solve before the coming of 1934.

GARNER DOWN ON THE BANKS OF THE RIO GRANDE

Speaker John Nance Garner is down on the banks of the Rio Grande. Just now the publicity agents who center around and about the White House table are pin-shooting the "Cavalier of the Rio Grande," Franklin D. Roosevelt, going to make a coast-to-coast speaking trip in September. Speaker Garner is going to carry the message of democracy east and west and north and south. John Hand, a noted newspaper writer in New York, will accompany the vice-presidential nominee on his tour of the states.

In the days when the New York World was the great voice of the Eastern democracy John Hand was one of its most conscientious as well as ablest writers. He is not a "yes" man. He is not a table crumb grabber. He is not as crazy as a chorus girl to bask in the spotlight of the temporarily great. He goes his way and he performs his work. Mark this prediction. The border states and all the Old South states east of the river, as well as in the Southwest, west of the river, to the border line of California, will give good account of themselves on November election day. What was known as "Hoover prosperity" in 1928 is known in all the regions or sections mentioned as "Hoover political pauperism" in 1932.

John Nance Garner, while in the East, did not apologize for Texas going dry in 1928. He never mentioned the word "dry" in his New York interview. He apologized for Texas going republican in 1928 and a vast army of democrats under the skies of the Southwest are glad that he told it straight to the American people regardless of party. There are thousands of democrats who voted for President Hoover in 1928 who have apologized for their action on election day in that bleak month of November four years ago. George W. Armstrong, independent candidate for governor is one of the leaders who apologized. Cato Bells is another. Cyclone Davis has made his way back to the democratic wigwam, and there are thousands like him in the campaign that is now on who look upon the republican administration as the heaviest handicap ever inflicted upon the people of the South and the West and the East. These are facts and the crums grabbing publicity agents on the banks of the Potomac river are invited to make the most of the facts.

AN IMPORTANT RULING BY A FEDERAL JUDGE

Federal Judge R. J. McMillan of San Antonio made a ruling sustaining the State franchise tax law of 1930. This law was attacked by 9 corporations and $825,000 franchise taxes have been held in escrow pending decision. Unless appealed to the United States circuit court the $825,000 will go into the state general revenue fund.

Texas in the adjustment period of three years has more than held its own against rival sister states of the union. Texas has a past that is glorious and a future that will be prosperous and patriotic. This is the way it is written in the books of destiny and mere men, who are mostly accidents or incidents, cannot set aside the workings of the eternal laws.

There seems to be a lot of folks who are firmly convinced that people can be made good by an act of congress.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE with BILL MAYES

At the request of Prexy Anderson, the Morning News, we are publishing the following information. Prexy, likewise, has given us some dope on the Abilene team, which will be found farther down in the column.

There will be nine lettermen back from the 1931 Bulldog team, each of whom is expected to fill an important place on the first string this season. They are John Bray at center, Squint Williams and Udel Duvall at guards, Henry Standard and Ray Adkins at tackle, Gloyd Lyons at quarter, Cleo Gray and Aaron Anderson at half and J. L. Jones at full.

Promising looking new material is seen in Rankin Britt, Tom Blair, Paul Bray and Wayne Mitchell as ends, Herbert Love and Boyce Lee at guard, Raymond Cole, Jimmy BrumbeLOW and Rabbit Jones in the backfield.

There will be any number of other men at the early season workouts, but those mentioned above showed the most promise in the spring training session.

Also, for the information of any who want to know, and there have been several who have asked, the schedule will be as follows:

- Oct. 1--Amarillo at Amarillo.
Oct. 7--Central High at Fort Worth.
Oct. 14--Open.
Oct. 22--Abilene at Ranger.
Oct. 29--Open.
Nov. 4--Open.
Nov. 11--Eastland at Ranger.
Nov. 18--Brownwood at Ranger.
Nov. 24--Breckenridge at Ranger.

It will be noticed that all conference games on the schedule will be played in Ranger this year, the first being with Abilene on Oct. 22. Three non-conference games will be played before the Abilene encounter, and two, at least, of these, will not be set-up. Amarillo was runner-up in district 1, losing to Lubbock after the most closely contested season in district 1 history. Many of the 1931 lettermen of the Amarillo team are said to be eligible this year.

Central High of Fort Worth was district winner of the fifth district, defeating Oak Cliff of district 6 by a score of 21 to 7 for the bi-district title and losing to Greenville by a score of 31 to 7. Greenville, it will be remembered, played the Abilene Eagles, Elephants to you, to a 0 to 0 tie, losing the game on penetrations.

Seven prizes are to be awarded in the swimming and diving contests to be staged at the Willows in Ranger tonight. These prizes are being offered by the Lions club, sponsors of the pool. Both cash and merchandise prizes will be awarded to the winners in the various events.

Contests will be held in 60 yard, free-style swim for senior boys, 30-yard back-stroke and diving contest.

For the senior girls prizes will be given for 30-yard free-style swim and diving.

Junior boys, under 13 years of age, will compete for prizes for 30-yard free-style swim and in diving.

An attempt is being made to schedule two baseball games in Ranger for Sept. 4 and 5, which will be Sunday and Labor Day. Letters have been sent to the same teams from Dallas that played here last year on Labor Day, but no answer had been received.

COTTON AGAIN CLOSES HIGHER

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—A rousing bull market broke out on the cotton exchange in the final hour of trading today lifting prices more than a dollar a bale. Previously the market had engaged in highly erratic price fluctuations. Local shorts scrambled to cover and outside buying showed a huge increase when a late rally developed on the stock market. Prices which at one time were 75 cents a bale under the previous closing, snapped back vigorously.

WORD IS RECEIVED OF OCEAN FLIERS

By United Press.
 OGDON, Aug. 26.—The air was without indication of the Allen Lee and John had crossed England in an airplane today, 50 hours after they left Harbor Grace, New Brunswick, reports the British navy. The British navy has no clue to the fates of the fliers off Ireland and a drizzling rain over half the day today in the aerial search. Reports of a dozen or more transatlantic ships are on the North Atlantic, the big red plane appeared and had been expected to land in Norway. Norwegian capital Oslo, Norway, reports the fliers should have landed in the Irish coast early today. The estimated their plane was down for several days.

First Leading Eastern Aviators

By United Press.
 ST. LOUIS, Ill., Aug. 26.—Dorset, Augusta, Ga., led the coast wing of the Cordeliers away from Parks airport on route to Indianapolis at 11 a. m. today. The McCloskey, Pittsburgh soloist, was second to leave. The fliers followed at short intervals. The coast wing will follow in the afternoon. The fliers will stop at Indianapolis at noon and then fly to Miami for the night stop, before proceeding to Cleveland tomorrow for the air races.

for LOVE or MONEY by H.W. CORLEY

BEHOLD HERE TODAY MONA TOWNSEND, married six months and widowed, inherits her husband's millions, providing she does not reveal her marriage arranged by Townsend's lawyer who was her employer. She is a strange affair, leaving her free at the end of a year to become her husband's wife in actuality or secure a divorce. Mona, in love with her husband's nephew, BARRY TOWNSEND, agreed to the marriage when she thought Barry was her.

Barry is in South America where he and STEVE SACABELLI are partners in a diamond mine. Mona's brother, BILL, works for them. LOTTIE CARR, fashion model, is Mona's closest friend. Mona feels Barry is entitled to a share of his uncle's fortune but there is no legal way for her to arrange this. She employs Lottie as her secretary and companion and they decide to sail for South America.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXIII

THERE was only a week in which to prepare for the journey. It was a busy seven days. Lottie gave notice to her employer that she was leaving and did it in such a way that Henri, bursting into aggrieved tears, demanded that she pack up her belongings and go immediately!

Lottie did that. She had no sooner reached her apartment than the telephone rang.

"I'm not at home," she told Sallie. "If it's for me it's Henri. He probably wants to ask me to come back."

The voice at the other end of the wire was Henri's.

"But Miss Carr can never be reached at home in the day time," Sallie explained deftly. "Miss Carr is employed."

There was a Gallic sputter at the other end of the connection. Sallie's manner was composed as she answered. "Oh, you are Miss Carr's employer? She did not come in today?" There was a pause and then Sallie said, "Oh, I see!"

With one hand over the transmitter she turned, smiling. "It's Henri all right. He wants to hire you back."

"Tell him I haven't come in yet," Lottie instructed. "Say you'll deliver the message when you see me."

Obligingly Sallie complied. She put down the telephone saying, "So you're really going to South America, are you?"

Lottie sensed worry in Sallie's tone and hastily explained Mona's plan in regard to the apartment. "I'll pay half the rent until the lease expires anyhow. That'll be next October. I want a home to come back to."

"Maybe I can get another girl to come in while you are gone and save you that expense."

Lottie shook her head. "It's all right. Get another girl to come in if you like, but get her out again when I come back, won't you? Meanwhile I'll swing my share of the rent. I can afford it," she added, "and it's nice to have a place to come back to."

THE days flew by. Besieged at the telephone by a repentant Henri who had not taken her announcement of a new job and departure from town seriously, Lottie finally capitulated to the extent of working two afternoons.

The little apartment was piled with luggage. A wardrobe trunk stood open, filled with a careful selection of clothes. Sallie brought a nurse who had lived in the tropics who offered much advice.

"Take cotton clothing," she insisted. "Even cotton underwear. It's much cooler. Be sure all your hose are light colored. Mosquitoes feast on darker shades."

She urged Lottie to take plenty of cotton frocks and leather shoes of rubber soled sports shoes. Laundry was cheap but not rapid. The girls would need plenty of clothes.

Lottie, whirling back and forth between her own apartment and Mona's home, arrived with this bit of information, that "tricky little model just Mona's size," this hint as to sensibility.

"I hear the Miranda is a regular tub," she insisted, "and that means mal de mer with a vengeance."

Mona was equally busy. There were papers to sign, the house to close, servants to discharge temporarily and pay for the interval. Mona was too recently removed from the terrors of a lost job to do anything except what she considered the right thing by her employees.

The girls bought cameras, dark glasses, magazines (the Mirandas carried no supply) fancy little deck bags to hold glasses, books and handkerchiefs.

A supply of a remedy for seasickness. Mrs. Callahan had told her about it. "How does your family feel about the trip?" Lottie asked Mona.

"Great. I'll see Dad, you know."

THEY packed articles of lingerie by the dozen, for the trip was a long one.

"The booklet says that we can get laundry done at several ports of call while we are waiting," objected Mona. "Do we need all those things in our cabin?"

"Laundresses come down to the boat," Sallie informed her amusedly. "Very dressy laundresses, wearing the duds other travelers were silly enough to entrust to them on earlier voyages!"

"They'll have to leave a deposit, then," Lottie declared.

Raincoats and umbrellas for the rainy season. Chiffons for evening. Very little silk. And countless hose!

"It seems too bad to leave all those knockout clothes here," Lottie murmured, referring to her beloved evening dresses. "But it would be worse to take them and have them ruined."

Mona had met with little difficulty in booking passage. An official from the Virgin Islands had cancelled a suite. It was, obviously, the best to be had on the Miranda and Mona promptly engaged it.

There were telephone calls, goodbye, last minute purchases.

Sallie rushed to buy a six months' stock of cosmetics and packed them compactly and cleverly in a single small overnight bag.

"What are you going to do with the Empress?" Lottie asked. She had hoped that a quietude urge would insist that Mona present it to Steve.

"Leave it with Withington's, of course." Mona had decided against taking any jewelry except her wedding ring. They would only prove a burden.

MONDAY came and went. Tuesday, Wednesday. They were to sail Wednesday afternoon at four.

The baggage had gone aboard the day before. Only the last few things remained to be done. A single suit case for last minute packing lay open on the chaise longue.

For the most part Mona had hunted her wardrobe to black and white or simply white. Black was a difficult color to wear in the heat. It was warm and out of keeping with tropical surroundings.

"Mourning isn't used as much as it has been," she told Lottie. "And, even though I am looking for some way to get around the will, I loved my husband. In a way, I mean, in every way except the way I love Barry. That last day John promised to do for Barry what I am trying to find a way to do now."

"Wait until we see Steve," Lottie advised. "Steve is the boy who will show us how."

"Maybe. If he and Barry aren't furious with us for showing up."

"That's a thought. That is a thought, Mona!" Lottie paused to the occupation of wrapping some new perfume in a cocoon of silk hose. Then she shook her head. "They can't stay mad long," she decided. "Didn't they both say there were hardly any attractive women down there?"

"I am not going with the idea of attempting to bowl anyone over," Mona remarked, repeating a phrase that was a favorite of Lottie's.

"You don't have to attempt to do that, darling," Lottie said. "You do it no matter what your intentions are."

The bags were packed and Lottie and Mona were arrayed in dark winter dresses to be shed the second day out. Two fur coats lay waiting to be worn to the boat and then brought back by Sallie and placed in storage.

"Make your first costume do for the first two days," Sallie told them. "Nobody dresses on boats like the Miranda. The third day probably will be warm enough to start emulating summer."

Luncheon was served in Mona's sitting room. Later the car brought over the entire Moran family. They were going to the boat.

Mona and Lottie, hatted and coated, flew about checking everything. A taxi was called for the remaining baggage and Sallie, as the least interested member of the party about to see the girls off, consented to ride with the bags. Lottie and Mona rode in the car with the Morans.

Servants would close the house and lock it within an hour. As the car whirled through the park Mona felt that a new era in her life was beginning. And so it proved.

New Gasoline Is Introduced By Magnolia Co

"Climatic control" is being made available for the first time to local motorists with the introduction of "Mobilgas" by the Magnolia Petroleum company, according to George Harrell, Magnolia agent at Eastland.
This new motor fuel, Mr. Harrell said, provides an entirely new quality in gasoline which has been designated as "climatic control," descriptive of the fact that Mobilgas manufacturing specifications have been adjusted to meet variations in climatic and driving conditions.
Every car owner has observed how sensitive the engine in his automobile is to changes in the weather conditions. We have all experienced difficulty in starting on cold mornings, or loss of power from a "starved" motor in hot weather, Mr. Harrell said. These symptoms indicate that the gasoline used is not adapted to the climatic conditions in which the car is being operated.
Climatic conditions cannot be controlled, but Magnolia has succeeded through the readjustment of manufacturing specifications to produce a gasoline which will assure the highest usable level of performance under all driving conditions and changes in the weather. This is being done at Magnolia refineries in the manufacture of Mobilgas.

Former Abilene Star Loses One Arm

By United Press.
ABILENE, Texas, Aug. 26.—Jack Christian, former Texas A. & M. football player and all-state high school player in 1927, lost his left arm here today in a scoring machine at an ice plant.
Christian's arm was completely severed below the elbow. The former gridiron ace, who graduated from Texas A. & M. last year, was working temporarily at the ice plant before the opening of the coming Abilene school term. He is to be assistant high school coach.

Oil Allowable Not To Be Cut

By United Press.
DALLAS, Aug. 26.—The East Texas oil field allowable will go lower than it is at present, was the belief of C. V. Terrell, chairman of the railroad commission, expressed at a meeting of independent oil operators here last night.
Terrell also said any further cut in allowable would result in damage to wells.
