Attorney General Mitchell found that many of the veterans of the bonus army had police records. Wonder if they were "K. P." records?

GRIPINGS

The columns published as a daily feature and may be continued as long as the editorial staff of this newspaper has the right to change or discontinue any subject, without notice, explanation or apology.

MEMORY that can't be depended on is responsible for the fact that I can't say "I told you so" about the weather which predicted the opening of the Eastland Fair and continues its greentinted even yet.

planned last week to forecast a spell on account of its being ainox. But I forgot it. If I had remembered to gripe about it, I could now be in position to ride bank Williams and George Harland and Sid Pitzer for selecting a week as fair week.

THE FAIR got opened last night. J. C. Patterson was playing as a one-armed piccolo as trying to get the community into the fair. He had corn, cut-up what have you scattered over the place.

Miss Ramey had just closed a day. I wouldn't say she had shed, but she was just "taking" and waiting until today to show her displays.

Among the more prominent visitors to the fair on opening night was Dr. Clyde C. Craig of Elgin. He is the man which has such a mean job of playing bass fiddle in the Tickville. Last night he looked like a show model with his perfect-fitting clothes and his swanky snake hat.

ake Ralston and John Tibbles Ranger were in the rabbit show playing where John has some rabbit display. I wish I knew something about rabbits. I'm glad to try to write anything but wrong words. That's one subtlety the linotype operator can't lighten me out on.

HERE'S an automobile tire in Julius Keweenaw window with a straw stuck through it. I wish I got more into details of the matter, but it would be under the head of advertisement and Jim Horton might not like donating me my three cents.

Eastland Drug Store has a window. A seemingly insubstantial window, depending on a faucet suspended in mid air. An electric light is burning seemingly without contact with any wires whatsoever. Do you reckon there's some of a trick in it?

LAST SUNDAY this paper carried a story saying that Lee Roy of the Eastland Mavericks was ineligible for football this year. This column expressed regret at the loss of the stellar captain and end.

Last night the Star-Telegram of town had the nerve to contradict my story. I wish they could be right, but they were wrong or later, my customers, I'll learn to depend on me for you the right dope on these things.

Youngest Solon Is Only 22 Years Old

By United Press.
AUSTIN, Sept. 22.—The youngest member of the next regular session of the House of Representatives will be 22-year-old Bert H. Anderson, representing the 99th district.

Anderson, who recently was graduated from the University of Texas, is the son of John H. Veatch, who until his death was the oldest representative in the state, in point of age.

The young legislator began his studies while engaged in the law course of his studies for a law degree. Despite the attention taken from his studies to campaign, Anderson finished with the highest grade record in the school in more than ten years.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—A survey of the numerous coal fields of Pennsylvania showed abandonment of 22 mines in five years.

HOOVER WILL SHUN ALL NEW AID MEASURES

(Copyright 1932 by United Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Authoritative word today indicated President Hoover in his forthcoming campaign speeches will shun new economic medicine and urge that the recovery program already in action be allowed to progress under friendly paternal hands.

The defeat of the La Follette in Wisconsin by regular pro-administration Republicans encouraged the white house group. It wiped out much of the depressing effect of the loss of Maine last week.

To the Republicans, the most disconcerting aspect of the Wisconsin result is that it supports the theory that voters are everywhere against those who happen to be in office, regardless of party.

Friends close to Mr. Hoover realize they face a contest which they may lose.

GUARDS BACK IN OKLAHOMA CITY FIELDS

By United Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 22.—National guardsmen patrolled the Oklahoma City field today at the order of Governor W. H. Murray.

The troops were sent to the field to prevent asserted oil thefts "riot and racket."

Marz's action followed clashes between guardsmen and employees of the Wilcox Oil & Gas company. Several workers were injured before the troops dispersed them with the aid of fists, pistol butts and tear gas.

It was understood the Wilcox company planned to seek a federal court injunction and, if necessary, appeal to the United States supreme court.

Two Are Held in Austin Slaying

By United Press.
AUSTIN, Sept. 22.—A second suspect, a man about 45 years old, was arrested here today for questioning in the fatal shooting Tuesday night of Edgar Arledge, 21-year-old University of Texas student.

The man was arrested at his home here. Officers refused to disclose what connection the suspect may have had with the slaying. Meanwhile five law enforcement departments, including the Texas rangers, combined their efforts to find the killer.

Archery Meeting Called For 5:30

A meeting of all in Ranger who might be interested in taking up archery and in forming an archery club, has been called for 5:30 this afternoon at the national guard armory on Rusk street by J. E. Menoney, sponsor of the movement to form a club.

Serum Prepared For Mrs. Borah

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The United States public health service today prepared a special serum for the treatment of Mrs. William E. Borah, wife of the senator, who is ill of parrot fever at Boise, Idaho.

CENTENARIAN SMOKES PIPE

LINCOLN, Kas.—Mrs. Abbie Holman doesn't give tobacco credit for her longevity—but she celebrated her 102nd birthday by sitting placidly in the shade smoking the pipe which she has used since she was 15 years old.

DEMURE

Draped shoulders and a high neck lend a demure touch to this evening gown which is fashioned from a new bubble satin with crepe back. Wide bands of fur widen the shoulders, the skirt molds the hips and flairs as it grows longer.

Roosevelt Makes His Third Major Speech at Portland

By United Press.
ABOARD THE ROOSEVELT SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt entered California, the home state of President Hoover, today as the nation digested his eight-point policy calling for a new deal in government conduct in utility regulations.

Roosevelt delivered at Portland, Ore., the third of the four major speeches scheduled for his trans-continental campaign tour.

To charges of radicalism on matters of public policy, Roosevelt asserted "my policy is as radical as the constitution of the United States."

Ranger Lions Talk Business Matters Today

The Ranger Lions Club dispensed with the regular entertainment program at the meeting at noon today and discussed several projects that are before the club at this time.

Ranger Legion To Hold Important Meeting Tonight

Clint Davis, commander of the Carl Barnes Post of the American Legion, today urged all legionnaires to be present at the meeting tonight as there were several important matters on which he wished the post to take some action.

India Appeals For Relief From Crisis

BOMBAY, India, Sept. 22.—Indian nationalists appealed to all races and communities today to urge Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald to "save India from disaster" by reaching a compromise that will enable Gandhi to end his "fast unto death."

LEAPS TO HER DEATH

HOUSTON, Sept. 22.—Despondency over unemployment was blamed today for the suicide of Miss Elaine Haden, 25, who climbed to the twelfth floor of a skyscraper here and after her placed, 35 minutes after her arrival from Dallas.

LAFOLLETTES MAY SWING TO DEMOCRATS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 22.—The fighting La Follette, whose name had been political magic in Wisconsin for nearly 40 years, today were believed planning a bitter reprisal on the conservative Republicans who defeated virtually the entire progressive ticket.

Predictions were that Governor Philip La Follette, who lost the gubernatorial nomination to former Governor Kohler, by 100,000 votes, and Senator John J. Blaine, who was defeated by J. B. Chapple, young newspaper editor, by 20,000 votes, would attempt to lead their loyal followers into the democratic camp.

Armstrong Is Confident He Will Be Next Governor

By United Press.
FORT WORTH, Sept. 22.—Bills of the 42nd legislature left on Governor R. S. Sterling's desk today for signature or veto, included:

The new tax penalty remission bill, correcting one under which corporations could escape huge penalties on special taxes.

A bill authorizing the state railroad commission to fix gas rates in small towns.

A resolution asking congressional investigation of cotton exchange, also waited the governor's signature.

A state board started work today on allotment of the state gasoline tax, to pay interest and sinking funds on county and district road bonds.

During the session 191 bills were offered in the house and 95 in the senate. Of these 54 reached the governor's desk in his regular and three special sessions. The legislature was convened for 210 days.

McCorkle Enroute To Austin With Contest Petition

DALLAS, Sept. 22.—Sam McCorkle, in charge of a private investigation of the run-off primary in behalf of Gov. Ross Sterling, was believed to be enroute to Austin this afternoon with an amendment to the governor's petition asking a recount of the ballot.

Col. A. J. Houston Is Critically Ill

HOUSTON, Sept. 22.—Colonel Andrew Jackson Houston, aged son of General Sam Houston, today was so critically ill that his physicians said death might come at any time.

Colonel Houston, 78, had been ill since Sept. 9, when he underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis.

"CRYPT" WHERE BODY OF WIFE WAS HIDDEN

LEGISLATURE CHARGED BODY LEFT 54 BILLS FOR GOVERNOR IN HIS HOME

By United Press.
FORT WORTH, Sept. 22.—The charred body of a man, burned to death after an explosion in a private home here today, was identified as that of W. W. Akorn, Fort Worth attorney.

Two men seen driving away from Akorn's home shortly before the blast, were sought by police today.

Firemen found the body twisted and smoking near a closet at the bottom of the stairs of the Akorn two-story brick home. A faulty water heater may have caused the blast.

Mrs. Sallie Garrett Dies In Carbon

Mrs. Sallie C. Garrett of Carbon died Wednesday night following a ten days illness at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lenna Stabfield. Mrs. Garrett with her husband known as "Squire" Garrett, came to this county a number of years ago from Mississippi and settled between Carbon and German. She was 82 years of age.

Mrs. Garrett is survived by nine living children, Judge Clyde Garrett and C. H. Garrett of Eastland; Fred Garrett, Spur; Elmer and John Garrett, Houston; Mrs. Minnie Love, Ranger; Mrs. D. P. Fox, Lubbock; Mrs. Montgomery, Oklahoma; and Mrs. Lenna Stabfield of Carbon, with whom she has made her home since the death of her husband in 1917.

Triple-Threat Alibi That Failed

DETROIT.—The triple-threat alibi which Alphonse Borowick, 26, figured would aid him in winning a discharge from a traffic violation arrest, vanished into thin air, and the young man left the courtroom $50 poorer than he had entered it.

WORK BEGINS ON RANGER'S BIG JUBILEE

Merchants Vote On Site For Merchants Carnival.

Two of the important committees, appointed by Walter Harwell, general chairman of the merchants carnival to be held in Ranger Oct. 5 to 7, met this morning in Ranger and worked out further details in connection with the big celebration.

The concessions committee, with Clyde Davis, chairman, presiding, met at the Davis Jewelry company and worked out a schedule of prices to be charged for the various concessions to be sold. The Rotary club has already signified its intention of having at least one booth and W. N. McDonald has been appointed chairman of the committee to work out the details of the concession.

The details of the concessions were of various amounts, depending on the nature of the organization. The kind of concession to be sold, the church organizations, the society or organization putting up the concession, a charge of 25 per cent of the gross revenue was taken in by the organization will go into the treasury of the organization.

Since the Lions and Rotary clubs are service clubs and the money they might make from concessions would more than likely be donated to some other organization, a charge of 100 per cent of the net proceeds was decided upon. It was found that this amount would be necessary in order to help defray the expenses of the carnival. If the expenses do not make this rate necessary a lower percentage will be charged.

No amount was set for the American Legion nor the Elks club, as it was decided to confer with these two organizations and find out what percentage the members thought would be a keeping with the other charges. It was said by Clint Davis, member of the committee and commander of the Carl Barnes Post, that he felt sure the Legion Post would make a very liberal arrangement with the concessions committee inasmuch as the carnival was not being put on for profit.

A flat rate of from $5 to $15 for concessions requested from professional concessionaires was decided upon, depending on the nature of the concession and the location. No outside concessions are to be considered where they would interfere in any way with those local to local organizations, however.

The location committee, headed by C. E. May, met at 9 o'clock this morning and went into a discussion of the places where the carnival might be held.

After considerable discussion it was decided that since the celebration was being put on for the merchants of the town they should have a voice in selecting a site. Accordingly, the committee made a personal tour of the town and asked each merchant his opinion as to the location. After the votes were taken and counted it was found that a large majority favored having the carnival along Main street between Rusk and Marston.

Walter Harwell, general chairman, stated after the committee had made its report, that the other committees which had been awaiting a report on the location, would begin functioning immediately and would get up their part of the work as soon as possible.

McCorkle Enroute To Austin With Contest Petition

DALLAS, Sept. 22.—Sam McCorkle, in charge of a private investigation of the run-off primary in behalf of Gov. Ross Sterling, was believed to be enroute to Austin this afternoon with an amendment to the governor's petition asking a recount of the ballot.

The time for filing the amended petition expires tomorrow.

The document is unusually lengthy, it is understood and it has been promised will contain specific allegations of illegal voting in the August 27 primary in which Gov. Sterling was defeated on the face of returns canvassed by the state committee by 4,700 votes.

Colonel Houston, 78, had been ill since Sept. 9, when he underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis.

WHY MISSING PERSONS

When newspapers recently announced the mysterious disappearance of Colonel Raymond Robins, they touched once more on the fringes of one of the strangest, most eerie phenomena of human life—the way in which people now and then vanish, almost literally, from human sight, leaving no clew and never making a reappearance.

Such things happen, cause a brief sensation, and then are forgotten. But a sensitive reader gets a shudder or two out of thinking about them. They are sometimes so utterly inexplicable, so profoundly weird, that one almost can believe in those heebie-jeebie stories of the old days about maleficent spirits and trappdoors in the earth's atmosphere.

What, for example, became of Dorothy Arnold, the New York society girl who strolled along Fifth avenue in broad daylight 22 years ago, on her way to have luncheon at a mid-town hotel with her mother, and who has never since been seen?

Where is Judge Crater of New York's supreme court, who got into a taxicab in front of a restaurant one evening in August, 1930, waved goodbye to some acquaintances, and went off into an obscurity so profound that although $200,000 has been spent on a hunt for him no one has been able to discover a reason for his disappearance?

Where are the scores of other lesser known folk, who vanished just as mysteriously but who didn't get such big headlines in the newspapers? Were they victims of that odd, little-understood malady called amnesia? Did sudden illness of some other nature strike them down? Did kidnapers, footpads, white slavers or what-not make away with them? Did they yield to an unexpected and inexplicable impulse simply to run away, discarding the old life and trying to create a new one in different surroundings?

Asking these questions is easy. Answering them, usually, is impossible. We only know that someone who seemed contented and busy has disappeared; and the mystery has an eerie, shivery tinge to it that makes us, in spite of ourselves, remember the old wives' tale that used to frighten our credulous ancestors.

EXHIBITS ARE ARRANGED FOR FAIR VISITORS

Rain Keeps Many Away From Opening of County Fair First Night.

Braving a cold west wind driving a light shower of rain with it, the streets of Eastland were thronged with people Wednesday night for the opening of the Eastland County Fair.

Only five of the county exhibits were arranged for display, but each of these showed the quality of this year's farm products and illustrated the diversity of crops produced in the county. The county exhibit, from Pleasant Hill, Morton Valley, Olden, Flatwoods and Reagan.

The arranging of these displays was being supervised by J. C. Patterson, county agent.

While many of the visitors knew that the rabbit raising industry was growing in the county, few of them had any idea as to the interest in rabbits until they visited the rabbit show and saw the rows of cages with the fine rabbits in them.

As an added attraction in the rabbit show, A. L. Agate has a ferret on display with his family of six little ferrets. It draws the attention of practically every one who visits the rabbit show.

County Women Have Displays Displays of the work of the members of the county home demonstration clubs have been arranged in various show windows around the courthouse square. Those displays were put in under the supervision of Miss Ruth Ramey, county home demonstrator.

There are 15 women's home demonstration clubs in the county with a total membership of approximately 325 women. These clubs are under the leadership of Miss Ramey, yet each club has its own officers and individual club members. They have made window displays to illustrate the various branches of their work.

In the window at L. C. Burr & Co. is a display of the 4-H girls club work which illustrates by the cake displayed the amount of food necessary for a family of five for a year. According to the figures on the chart, it is only necessary for the family to spend about $80 a year in order to feed itself, provided the family raised the required variety of fruits and vegetables and raised them at the proper time.

The window at Miller's Variety Store shows a model yard improvement scheme. One member in each member of each club can have a glass lawn in the next year or two.

At Betty Drug Store is a window showing what can be done with ordinary tow socks. The socks have been torn into strips, some of the strips dyed different colors and then woven by hand into beautiful rags for the farm household.

At Kimbrell's Hardware Store is a display of a chess making process whereby surplus milk can be converted into yellow cream cheese. The remarkable truth in this is that it only cost the farmer's wife a small amount to make it. In Eastland county the past year there have been made some $25 pounds of cheese by this process from which the women making it have realized a net profit of $670.50.

The Men's Shop window displays a model bedroom for the farm home. It is done in miniature, using doll furniture and this room seems to be woven from strips of old hosiery. However, the 325 county women have used this model to pattern their own bedrooms and arranging the room for the convenience of the user.

Piggly Wiggly Store will be showing a display known as "The American Girl's Beauty Parlor." This will illustrate how beauty lotions and face treatments are prepared from vegetables grown in the average farm garden and their preparation is comparative simple, once you know how.

United Has Curio Window One of the most unusual windows in connection with the fair is that of the United Dry Goods Store. L. J. Ayling, owner of the Eastland Gasoline Company and a newcomer to Eastland, has loaned his collection of curios collected in China, India, and other countries of the Orient.

Hand-carved ivory, Chinese and other foreign coins, faces made by the men and boys of China, table covers and tapestries and many other art works are shown. A hand carved work table is in the center of the display. A small jewel box decorated in broken egg shells set in lacquer, a pair of sharp-toed shoes worn by the natives of India, a long knife and sheath said to be a native weapon of the sheiks of Arab.

That Near-Sighted Hired Man!

What Other Scribes Are Saying

Pertaining Mostly To Comment Concerning High School Football in the Oil Belt.

By BLONDY CROSS in San Angelo Morning Times

The ruling of Judge George L. Davenport of the 91st district court at Eastland on Cisco high school's football suit against the Oil Belt and Texas interscholastic league for damages and reinstatement in the league is interesting indeed. The jurors upheld Cisco's drive for reinstatement, denied damages, and put the court costs on the Oil Belt and league.

The two major points of interest to this writer lie in the manner which the judge figuratively rebuked the suit's school officials who had departed themselves like a lot of spoiled housewives, first declaring Fred Hightower, Cisco backfielder and the initial point of argument, eligible, then declaring him ineligible, assessing punishment, then reopening the case a third time and assessing further punishment.

Still, it appears very strange that a district court judge or any body else should have the privilege to tell a high school or a set of high schools whether they must or must not play a certain football team. The judge's opinion on the woefully irregular manner in which the Oil Belt handed the Cisco situation to this writer is the only fair and intelligent opinion that could be rendered. But we can see it only as an opinion and most certainly not as a command or order based on any law, civil, criminal, unwritten or imaginary.

The Oil Belt watches with intense interest the movements of the district 3 executive committee in the Sweetwater "Rooster" case. The eligibility of Sweetwater athletes was questioned at the district 3 executive session here the last week-end and deferred action to the next convening of the "Rooster" rule committee.

It has come to a fine show-me-down in the Texas interscholastic league when a set of schoolboy athletes guided by gentlemen and educators who are supposed to be intelligent, broad-minded and clear-thinking leaders in their communities, cannot settle their petty arguments without hauling each other into a district court of law.

But the Oil Belt and the learned Eastland jurist have taught us something that may come in handy before many weeks pass. The district 3 football executive committee the past week-end declared George Deiker, San Angelo full-back, eligible for competition this year in district games. Since the decision was handed up, the writer for one, has shivered in his shoes for fear the eminent commissioners will move off to themselves, think the matter over a second time, decided to reopen the case and figuratively toss George out of his delicate, shell-like left ear. If they try that, it will be insisted the case be taken to Judge Davenport for settlement. At least, the judge has set a precedent to go by, no matter what court the case would go to.

While Ted Jeffries, the coach who was the crux of the argument,

A swelling calf, and a rounded hip. Add to this outline the new style in fur emphalettes, and you will have your figure, casting its shadow before in rounded dimensions. Fashion tells us there will be bandings of fur of all kinds of dresses. And also all sorts of hand-fagoting, braids, beads and fringes, as well as buttons for trimmings. The day or simplicity is of yore, and trim up you must, or bust; and fashion says "bust" anyhow!

All-State Band Is Now Planned

DALLAS.—Organization of the Texas All-State Band to have a membership of 100 musicians from all parts of Texas who are experienced in both band and orchestral work was announced here yesterday by W. A. McDaniel, co-founder of the Dallas Band, and prominent in musical circles.

McDaniel said when the organization is completed there will be a concert band instrumentally with a sufficient double for a proper instrumentation of an 85-piece symphony orchestra. Explaining the membership will come from towns and cities in all sections of the state, McDaniel said it would be a "Texas institution for the people of Texas."

It is planned to make two state tours yearly with special performances at fairs, conventions and centennials and other state-wide gatherings. "A centennial like the Chicago World Fair," said McDaniel, "where the band could visit for an indefinite period of time playing concerts under instrumentally national and international guest conductors would be of wonderful value to Texas."

The plan includes formation of a mixed vocal chorus which would be assembled for statewide gathering such as the Texas centennial in 1935, McDaniel said. McDaniel said an association is being formed for the purpose of financing the group through an underwriting plan of citizen membership. Such an organization, he explained, is being set up for a period of five years largely for the purpose of completing and financing for the Texas centennial in 1936. Selection of a board of directors and an executive committee will be made from each locality where there is membership in the organization.

McDaniel has already received a certificate of trademark for the organization. A charter for the association of citizens aiding the organization of the band has been applied for from the secretary of state, Mrs. Jane McCallum.

Successor to Phar Lap Chosen

EUGENE, Ore.—D. J. Davis, who owned Phar Lap, Australian wonder horse, said while visiting here that he had purchased a new thoroughbred, Pillow Fight, and would bring the racer to America after it had gained experience in Australia. He said he never hoped to have a horse that equaled Phar Lap, who died after winning the Agua Caliente Handicap, but declared his new racer is a great horse. Pillow Fight will be ready for invasion of the United States turf after running in the Auckland, New Zealand, Derby.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis were en route to New York to oversee mounting of the great Phar Lap, whose skin already had been sent to a taxidermist there. The stuffed racer will be sent to an Australian museum.

A railroad has "laid off" five vice presidents. The unemployment situation must be reaching a crisis.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE with BILL MAYES

The Ranger High school pep squad has been organized, leaders have been elected and practice has begun on the yells. To date no formations have been practiced, but this will come up later in the season and before the first conference game with Abilene on Oct. 22. The uniforms for the squad were designed by the members of the squad, many making suggestions, some of which were accepted. The uniforms, however, were made up from the mass of suggestions offered and were not designed by any one member of the squad. White coats, trimmed in maroon, skirts, scarfs with bulldog on them and brown hose and black shoes will make up the ensemble. Oh, yes, and white tams.

The pep squad numbers 86 and will be one of the best and noisiest in the Oil Belt, is the prediction made by the members. Along with the pep squad the Ranger High school band will perform at each conference and some of the non-conference games. The band has been practicing marching under the direction of Director E. L. Maddox, who has charge of the musical organization again this year. Both the pep squad and the band are expected to add much to the color of the games this year, just as they have done in past years.

Sports in general are taking quite an upturn as this is the open season on most activities, with the exception of golf and possibly ping pong. The Dixie Series is now being played. The World Series is to start in New York on Sept. 28, with another game on Sept. 29. The one day will be spent in travel and the third, fourth and fifth games, if any, will be played in Chicago on Oct. 1, 2 and 3. Then, if necessary, another day will be spent in travel and games played in New York on Oct. 5 and 6. The last three dates being tentative, depending on whether or not the series lasts that long.

Then on Sept. 26 Herr Max Schmeling is scheduled to engage in fistfights with Mr. Mickey Walker at New York. The date was first set for last week sometime and was later changed to Monday night. Something or other seems to be at stake, but we do not remember what at this writing. Maybe the winner will be allowed to whip champion Jack Sharkey and lose the match.

H. S. Von Roeder is in receipt of a letter from J. T. Hooks of Dallas, formerly of Ranger, who says he is glad the junior college is going to have a football team this year. The letter follows: "I'm glad to learn that there is a prospect of a football team being organized by your school. It has my support, whatever that may mean. Please go ahead with the organization. Win a couple of games and then let me see you tackle some tough opposition in the Fair Park stadium here. Seriously, as a native of Ranger and one interested in the town, I would like to read in the Ranger Times, to which I subscribe, about the organization of the team. Why not have a contest in selecting a name? Let the people submit suggestions."

"Cordially and sincerely," "J. T. HOOKS." That may be an idea. We have been undecided what to call the RJG squad and to call it the Ranger Junior College football team is somewhat inconvenient, though it does fill up space. Any names submitted will be turned over to H. S. Von Roeder, with due credit, and maybe the team or the student body or someone will select a name for the team real soon.

The TINNITES STORY by HAL COCHRAN PICTURES by JOE KIRK

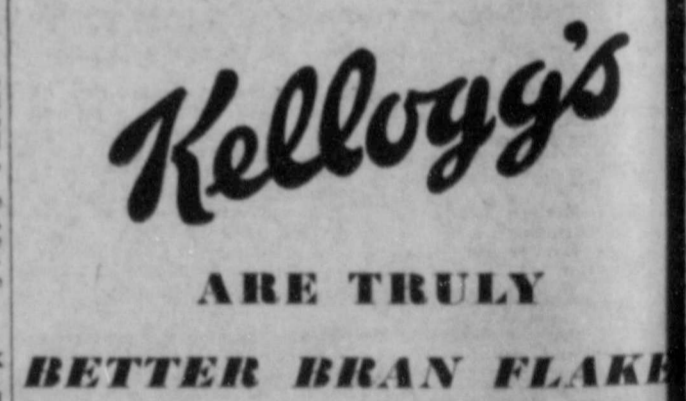

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"THE peanuts that the monkeys ate," said Scouty, "must have tasted great. Just watch the monkeys jump around. They're happy as can be." The zoo man then said, "They all stuff and never seem to have enough. Whenever they get hungry they start in to pester me. "However, they are friends of mine and we all get along just fine, until they start their funny tricks. Then, sometimes I get mad. "Of course they help me 'round the zoo when I have lots of work to do, but you would be surprised to know of little spats we've had. "They reached a tree that crept up high and then they had the zoo man cry, 'The monkeys form a swing by hanging from a big limb.' A fine swing board soon brought out and, mid the merry shout, the monkeys seeped up the tree and hung by their tails. They grabbed the board held it tight. 'Wald Duncy, this is all right.' He hopped aboard and shortly cried, 'See how fine this falls.' (Copyright, 1932, NEA Service.) (The Tinnites have a real life at Scouty's expense in the story.)

CALL of the WEST

BY R. G. MONTGOMERY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Stan Ball, an agent for cattle, comes to Asper Delo in his office. Asper is accused of killing a cow on the Three Rivers. Ball accuses him of making a person back Delo says he will personally see that he does not make the law.

Stan saves Asper from kidnapers. She proves to Asper Delo, Asper's daughter. When Stan learns her name she tells her is Stanley Black and goes away.

Winters, in love with Asper, agrees to go to Three Rivers and bring Asper back. Dona, with him and at a little ranch on the way Dudley puts a stop to the plan of getting Asper Delo to return. She agrees to hold back when Stan Ball, on his way to Three Rivers, steps out of the night and kisses her.

At Three Rivers they meet Asper, Asper's timber boss, and says he is ready to kill Ball. Ball shot a ranger.

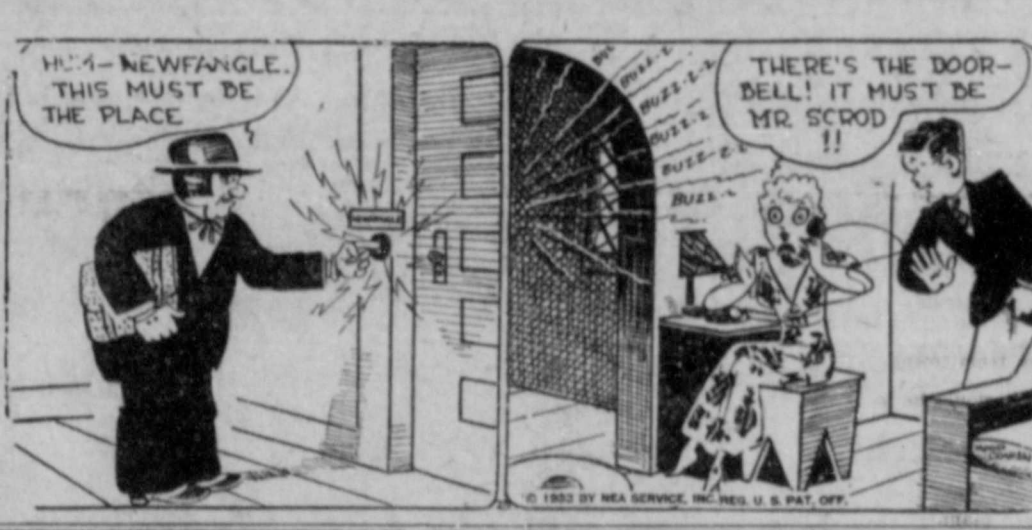

Dona decides to ride in the hunt. Ball catches a bad horse and has to try to ride him to keep her safe.

GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VIII

Dona stifled a quiver in her throat as the cowboy slid up to the roan she had roped. His chaps flapped noisily and he was evidently reluctant to obey her. He had shortened the stirrups and knotted the bridle reins but he was still undecided as to whether he should dismount Asper Delo and allow Dona to mount a bad horse.

Dona became impatient. Her nerve was beginning to waver just a little. "Make it snappy!" she ordered.

Her words had the effect she desired. They caused the cowboy to jerk the saddle forward and toss it across the roan's back. Dona knew that after that she would have to go ahead.

The roan submitted to saddling and bridling with a minimum of snorting and swaying. He intended to have his inning when the rider hit the saddle. He did not want to wait long for his opportunity. Without trying the cinch Dona swung into the saddle and jerked the roan's head up.

The big fellow arched his back and shot into the air. Dona jerked off her hat. She knew this big fellow would expect it. Her spurs raked his withers and his straining chest as far forward as she could reach. The battle was on, with the roan twisting and shooting into the air and landing stiff legged in a jarring jolting croup. The cowboy stood in open-mouthed admiration and watched.

From then on Dona would have him as an abject slave.

Her entire attention had to be given to the big fellow twisting and plunging beneath her. She did not want to pull leather. Her pride made her keep from reaching for the saddle horn but she was desperate. Six jumps, then seven and eight and still the roan was going strong. Suddenly he leaped sidewise and sprinted straight for the fence. That was his last trick. Dona pinch down tight with her knees and let him go. Two jumps from the pole barrier he set his feet and slid. Dona felt she must loosen up and sail over his head but she clung desperately with her knees and the wide roll on the saddle saved her. The roan shook himself and came to a full stop.

"Boy!" shouted the corral boss tossing up his hat.

"What a ride!" He strode forward to help her down.

Dona shook her head and waved her hat toward the gate.

The cowboy grinned and flung it back. Dona rode out master and friend of the big roan. She knew he would be coming to the corral fence for sugar lumps within a week and she slapped his lather-covered neck affectionately.

"Pal, we're going to do some riding," she whispered.

The tall cowboy stood beside her after closing the gate. "Anything else, Miss?" His eyes were devouring her slim beauty.

"I want a carbine. A light .33 will do." She smiled into his gray eyes.

He shook his head sadly. "Strictly against orders, Ma'm. Both Delo's and Swergin's," he smiled. "I'll wait here till you get it for me. And then you might act as my bodyguard."

This was too much. "I'll get you mine but you don't need no 33 to ride these woods with Stan Ball hidin' in 'em." There was a queer look of defiance in his eyes as he finished.

Dona smiled. "All you cowmen stand up for this man Ball. He's a murderer, isn't he?" she spoke softly.

"Most any of us—" He cut off abruptly and finished. "I'd sure like to take you up on that bodyguard offer, Miss."

Dona tucked the well oiled carbine under her stirrup flap. A crowd had gathered in front of the office and main building. "I'll be up there," she indicated.

Dona cantered off. She rode up to the gathering almost un-he gritted.

"I've taken care of him," Asper grunted.

"He's to be my bodyguard," Dona put in sweetly.

"What about me?" Dudley cut in. "I suppose I'm to be ditched because I have never ridden a mean horse?"

"You are to go with us, Dud," Dona smiled at Dudley.

"There's too much foolishness around here," Swergin growled. "This is a killin'—not a picnic. These two will have to ride down the canyon where they'll be safe."

Asper grinned and puffed a cloud of thick smoke out from under his wide hat. "Them's my orders," he stated evenly.

The way he said it made Swergin flare up. "Some of this tenderfoot crew is going to get nicked with a bullet and I'm not going to be responsible!" His eyes rested boldly upon Dona.

"You're going to boss this hunt," Asper snapped, "and that is all."

Swergin went on, speaking in the same tone. "None of you are to ride up Pass Creek trail. Ball is more than likely hiding up there. I'll take that trail myself. I've given the men orders to lay off it. Anyone who hits that trail is due for a bullet unless they know the country."

Dona turned her horse and rode away. Swergin's manner was a challenge and his bold impudence angered her. She met the tall cowboy riding out of the corral. With a smile she greeted him.

"You haven't told me your name?"

"Denny Malloy," he said and his sun-browned face flushed.

"Late of Blind River?"

Dona decided he was likable in a rough, homely way. She bent toward him. "Can you show me the trail to Pass Creek?" she asked and watched his eyes closely.

Malloy's face remained unchanged but his eyes caught and held her's for an instant. "Sure can," he said simply.

"Let's go," Dona straightened. "And we better ride down around the corral as though we were going north into the lower country."

Faculty and School Board Held Joint Meeting.

Members of the Ranger faculty and school board held a get-together in the library of high school Tuesday night.

Members of the faculty were introduced by principal of the high school, H. S. Von Rooder, after which Mr. Holloway gave a short talk. Mr. Floweren, president of the school board, made an interesting talk and Mr. Ringold spoke on finances. Dr. Jackson and Felton Brasher also made short but inspiring talks.

Refreshments were served by girls of the home economics department, of which Miss Adrian Hagaman is head.

This meeting was both interesting and profitable for those present.

Lost 20 lbs. of Fat In Just 4 Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 years old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at Oil City Pharmacy or any drug store—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not fully satisfied with results—money back.

Party For Jelly Jinxes

Mrs. A. F. Taylor has hosted Wednesday afternoon at her residence on South Seaman street, to her Sunday school class of the Methodist Church, entertaining with an informal program of games that interested the young people thoroughly.

A brief business session was conducted by vice president, Madge Hearn, substituting for Louise Cook, president, unable to attend.

The minutes were presented by Doris Lawrence, secretary program.

The work was completed for the honor roll, for the Methodist Church Sunday school, Promotion Day, next Sunday.

Delightful games, included, Bible Girls, when characters of the Bible were sketched, and Music Symbols, which employed musical terms in context.

Small tea tables were laid with linen luncheon sets by the hostess, for the refreshment hour, when ice cream and caramel cake was served.

The young people enjoyed the diversion of popping corn in the kitchen, a novel entertainment.

Those present were, Ruby Lee Pittchard, Doris Lawrence, Velma Robinson, Madge Hearn, Lucy May Cottingham and Anna Faye Taylor.

Announcement
Visitors to Eastland who are members of the Eastland County Federation and are here for the fair, are notified that the Eastland County Federation of Women's Clubs will meet Saturday.

Martha Dorcas Class Enjoys Party
The Martha Dorcas class of the Methodist Church enjoyed a delightful afternoon Wednesday, in their classrooms in the church, hosted by Mrs. W. B. Hester.

Before the social division, the election of the officers for the new year was held; personnel: Mrs. W. E. Coleman, president; Mrs. R. E. Sikes, first vice president; Mrs. F. B. Cook, second vice president; Mrs. M. O'Neal, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. M. B. Griffin, assistant secretary; Mrs. June Kimble, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles C. Robey, teacher; Mrs. W. H. Mullings, assistant teacher; Mrs. George W. Shearer, pianist; Mrs. C. W. Hoffman, reporter.

A delightful social period was employed in piecing a quilt block, by each individual member, who assembled 42 blocks in all, each etched with the worker's name, and the gift presented the retiring president, Mrs. Will A. Martin, to be treasured as a friendship quilt.

Mrs. Martin expressed her appreciation in a very pretty way. A brief devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Martin, based on the 10th chapter of Matthew. Hymn, "He Leadeth Me," ensemble, and silent prayer with the Lord's Prayer in unison, concluded this service.

Miss Lily Williams, from Bookkeeper Studio took a group picture of the members, and will have a proof to submit to the class, Sunday morning at their class meeting.

The hostess served a dainty prepared plate of ribbons, sandwiches, chocolate cake, and iced tea, with a flower as plate favor, at close of afternoon.

Present, Miss W. A. Whitley, E. G. Foster, G. W. Hoffman, R. E. Sikes, Howard Brock, C. G. Robey, J. L. Raper, W. H. Mullings, George E. Cross, A. J. Taylor, George W. Shearer, M. E. Kemp, McRee, J. W. Miller, Nellie Lee Miller.

Martha Dorcas Class No. 2
J. L. Winkelman, D. J. Johnson, C. Shupe, O. C. Mickley, Mark O'Neal, Guy Quinn, June Kimble, W. E. Coleman, M. B. Griffin, Frank D. Robinson, D. W. High, J. E. Adams, Anna Faye Lippard, W. A. Hawley, Jack Dyer, Virge Foster, C. Michael, V. L. King, and children, Freda Michael and Sonny Brock.

Appointed District Officer
Mrs. A. F. Taylor of Eastland, has been appointed by Mrs. Wylie, president of the sixth district, Texas Federation Music Clubs, as sixth district chairman of the Junior course of music study for Junior Music clubs, enrolled in the federation.

This is a well deserved compliment. Mrs. Taylor has specialized in children's organizations, in music work, the past several years.

She has been in charge of the music studio of the South Ward Junior Music club, enrolled in the federation.

Mrs. Taylor has put on several very beautiful junior musical teas, for the music club of Eastland, during annual music week celebrations, and has individually sponsored and presented several successful children operettas in connection with her music work in public schools.

Quaint Appointments
Feature Mexican Luncheon
Mrs. Herbert J. Tanner entertained with a colorful luncheon at 12:30 o'clock Wednesday, at her lovely home in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Joe Halleran of San Antonio, who arrived Monday for a several day visit.

Three tables laid in Mexican drawn work luncheon sets, were appointed in clever tallies and place cards combined, that bore the Mexican national colors and indicated courses for the out-of-town guests.

Mrs. A. M. Buse and Mrs. F. R. Clark of Albany; Miss Lou Waring of Cisco, and Eastland guests, Mrs. Milburn McCarty, Mrs. Alex Clarke, Mrs. W. E. Chaney, Mrs. J. M. Armstrong, Mrs. J. P. Little, Mrs. J. B. Leonard, Mrs. A. H. Rhodes, Mrs. E. Roy Towsand, Innora, Mrs. Joe Halleran and hostess, Mrs. Tanner.

The menu of hot tamales and tortillas with Mexican beans, hot rice and relish, with second course of individual pumpkin pie and coffee, excited out the chosen motif.

Her guest favor, an etched, impacted Mexican scene, framed, was presented Mrs. Halleran. High score favor was a Mexican bowl. The cut-for-all favor, was aquaint porcelain basket in which colored sands built up a flower.

The afternoon was a most delightful one, and conserved the Mexican atmosphere in all details.

Tex. Honoring High School Faculty, a Delightful Success
Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins' hospitable, spacious home was opened to the members of the Parent-Teacher association and their guests, the faculty of the Eastland high school Wednesday afternoon, with a preliminary executive board meeting held, prior to the announced tea hour.

During this meeting the personnel of the official board, as announced was changed in some appointments and the following is the completed list of officers that will serve during 1933-1934:

Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, president; Mrs. W. P. Palm, first vice president; Mrs. Glen Stirs, second vice president; Mrs. Dan Childress, third vice president; Mrs. L. C. Brown, fourth vice president; Mrs. Frank Lovett, corresponding secretary-treasurer; Mrs. J. Le Roy Arnold, recording secretary; Mrs. L. J. Lamborg, treasurer.

The officers elected last spring will serve; the new members being elected to those places that have been vacant.

The president appointed as assistants on membership committee, Mrs. Childress, third vice president; Miss Wood, Edward E. Laydon, Mrs. A. E. Campbell and Mrs. Frank W. Williams. Mrs. W. K. Jackson remains as publicity chairman for the association.

Mrs. W. P. Palm, program chairman, no committee.

Mrs. L. E. Brown, fourth vice president and hospitality chairman, committee; Mrs. Frank Sparks, Mrs. Clyde L. Garrett and Mrs. Ora B. Jones.

Mrs. Glen Stirs, second vice president and finance chairman, committee; Mrs. L. J. Lambert, Mrs. W. C. Marlow and Mrs. W. I. Lane and Mrs. Eddie Johnson.

Liberty chairman, Mrs. J. L. Johnson, committee; Mrs. P. B. Bittle and Mrs. Joe A. Gibson.

Best Room chairman, Mrs. C. C. Ligan, committee; Miss Nelson, for both junior and senior high schools.

It was voted to have dues this year of fifty cents per member.

The tea hour was delightfully hospitable, the many day forgotten in the cozy interior, brightened with bowls of luscious pink roses mingled with purple lilacs, that centered the tea table and adorned the mantels and stands of the living room.

At intervals throughout the tea hour, a charming program of violin and piano music was presented by Mrs. Joe Thomas Cook, and accompanied Mrs. Thomas J. Pitts.

Mrs. Perkins was ably assisted by her graceful young daughter, Betty, and Mrs. A. J. Campbell, assisted in serving the dainty refreshments of iced tea, with speed lemon and mint, and small tea cakes, attractive in green crystal service, and enjoyed at intervals as guests arrived and were served. The informal afternoon was enjoyed by Mrs. F. O. Hunter, Ora B. Jones, Joe A. Gibson, J. O. Brothers, A. J. Campbell, Frank Lovett, E. J. Pitts, W. P. Palm, G. Stirs, F. W. Williams, Joe E. Jones, W. Mrs. Lanier Is Feature Speaker
At Child Study Club Program.
The Child Study Club, No. 1, a club and organization, most outstanding in Ranger's prominent study associations met at the home of Mrs. D. Joseph, West Main street, Wednesday afternoon, at which time Mrs. O. G. Lanier was the feature speaker, choosing as her subject, "Health."

The instructive and well rounded talk given by Mrs. Lanier, covered an hour of the very best and most closely followed lectures to have been heard by the club's members for many months.

Mrs. J. A. Bronson, from a carefully prepared paper, read the "Proper Care For Children's Teeth."

The program was directed by Mrs. J. S. Reynolds. As the brief social hour was entered into the hostess served a lovely plate of refreshments to the program representatives and Miss Dalton Reese, Edwin George Jr., F. N. Hassen, John Hassen, P. E. Moore, C. O. Bolen, E. L. Fontaine, and R. E. Harrell.

Misses Haughton and Davenport Honor Mrs. Martin With Shower
Coming as a pretty mid-week affair was the shower naming Mrs. Bonds Martin, honoree, when Mrs. J. B. Houghton and Mrs. D. H. Davenport, acted as co-hostesses.

The afternoon callers assembled in a group motoring to the home of the honor guest, Elm street, in mid-afternoon.

The gift wrappings featured notes of pink and white, blending with other appointments used. Iced doughnuts with fruited punch was served after a delightful hour of chatting to Mrs. Martin and 19 guests.

Guardian Presides Over Woodman Circle Meeting
Twelve adult members and four juniors were present for the Julia Alexander Grove No. 1954, of the Woodman Circle, Wednesday afternoon when the guardian, Mrs. C. C. Cash, presided over the meeting.

Inspiring talks were made by several members. The session was entered into with much enthusiasm by all members.

The juniors will meet at the hall next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Be sure and send your children to this meeting.

Charred Kegs Are Still in Demand
By United Press.
RICHMOND, Va.—Bad conditions may cause the budget to be cut in many departments, but it evidently has reached the ceiling, for the cheap business has dropped off slightly since the peak of the year was reached three years ago.

During the past year, approximately 20 carloads of such articles have been sold to monomers. It was pointed out this number will run around carloads for the entire state.

"Nature in the Raw"
—as portrayed by the great animal painter, Paul Branson... inspired by the leopard's fierce fighting power and relentless hunt for prey which makes him the terror of every beast of the African jungle.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man writes a better book, preaches a better sermon, or makes a better mousetrap than his neighbor, he'll build his house in the words, the world will make a better path to his door." —RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTES
"IT'S TOASTED"

At intervals throughout the tea hour, a charming program of violin and piano music was presented by Mrs. Joe Thomas Cook, and accompanied Mrs. Thomas J. Pitts.

Mrs. Perkins was ably assisted by her graceful young daughter, Betty, and Mrs. A. J. Campbell, assisted in serving the dainty refreshments of iced tea, with speed lemon and mint, and small tea cakes, attractive in green crystal service, and enjoyed at intervals as guests arrived and were served. The informal afternoon was enjoyed by Mrs. F. O. Hunter, Ora B. Jones, Joe A. Gibson, J. O. Brothers, A. J. Campbell, Frank Lovett, E. J. Pitts, W. P. Palm, G. Stirs, F. W. Williams, Joe E. Jones, W.
