A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE WAITING SOUL: Truly my soul waiteth upon God: from him cometh my salvation. He only is my rock and my salvation; he is my defense.—Psalm 62: 1, 2.

OUT IN THE RAIN BELT OF WEST TEXAS

It is an error to say that "it ain't gonna rain no more" in West Texas. Citizens of Nolan and neighboring counties are in a position to give expert testimony. Sweetwater is the county seat of Nolan. It is a most appropriate name for a county seat where the rain god, Jupiter Pluvius, has showered his favors with rare prodigality in the year 1932. Now the average annual rainfall of Nolan and neighboring counties is given as 22 to 25 inches. This has been the minimum and maximum records of bygone years. Well, it has been different this year. Edward S. Mayes is a prominent lawyer of West Texas. He was born in old Tom Green county, near the banks of the Concho river, and Sweetwater is his place of residence. He is a regent of the State College for Women at Denton. These are his rain belt figures: "Is Nolan county in the rain belt? Yes. Are the neighboring counties of Nolan in the rain belt? Emphatically. Our annual rainfall for years had a minimum of 22 and a maximum of 25 inches. In the nine months of 1932 our rainfall has been 60 inches, leaving three months for a new high record and that will break all the records in the history of the West. Pastures are lush and green. Livestock ranchers and producers predict an open winter with plenty of feed for the herd. It would be glorious for their pockets and their condition of mind if higher price levels prevailed. As for Texas, my own viewpoint is that conditions are far more promising than can be found in any other American commonwealth." All this is a reminder that the West is coming back; that all Texas is coming back. Prosperity, like the pace of a snail, is not swift, but the comeback march is on the way. For instance: M. H. Cahill of New York, president of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway system, has made another tour of Texas. President Cahill found conditions most encouraging. He renewed his prophecy of yesteryear that Texas would be the first of all American commonwealths where the tide would turn from the depression stage to the fair prosperity stage of economic conditions and price levels.

POSTAL SAVINGS AND BANKERS

Country bankers in Missouri appeared before the Shannon house investigating committee and objected to the government postal savings system as competition with their business. It is competition, very aggressive and very substantial competition. They asked for elimination of competition between private institutions and the postal system. This is their argument: "The government could do nothing better toward making the communities more prosperous than to turn the money in the postal savings banks over to the banks so that the banks could use it in the community." There are many who believe that their argument is based on sound logic.

SPEAKER GARNER SENDS HIS MESSAGE

President Hoover made a direct attack upon Speaker John Nance Garner in his Des Moines message. Well, the speaker is ever ready for direct action. He made a very lofty and very dignified and a very caustic reply. He declared that every recommendation that the president had made had been acted upon by congress and that all the relief measures enacted were the creation of democratic and republican-progressive servants of the people. Now the speaker of the house is holding himself in readiness to answer any presidential bombardment in future. Regardless of politics whenever a president throws vitriol in the face of the democratic vice presidential nominee, he needs more than a gas mask for self protection.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

W. D. LITTLE, publisher of the Ada (Okla.) News, says: "Who really pays the cost of advertising? The merchant who advertises and sells for the same price as his competitor, or, as is true in most cases, sells for less, does not pay it, for he increases his volume to such an extent that he makes more money at the same price.

"It is not the customer who pays for the advertising, for he pays no more, and usually less, to a merchant who advertises than he would pay to one who does not.

"Then if neither the advertiser nor the purchaser pays the newspaper, who does? THE MERCHANT WHO DOES NOT ADVERTISE PAYS IT? Strange? Nothing strange about it. By sitting idly by and letting his more aggressive competitor go out and get his business, he loses more than the advertising competitor pays. So the cost of operating our great and small daily and weekly newspapers comes NOT from the person who buys the space or the consumer who uses the advertised goods, but from the person who does neither.

"This is but one phase of our complex commercial and industrial life. To the man who understands it and is willing to back his judgment, fortune comes easily. From the man who ignores it, fortune flees."

Beautiful Autumn Sight

THE FERGUSONS—MA AND JIM

EDITOR'S NOTE—Herewith is one of a series of six articles on James E. and Miriam A. Ferguson written by Gordon K. Shearer, staff correspondent of the United Press Associations and chief of the Austin bureau. Shearer's word picture of the Fergusons, their rise to power after years of disfavor, is intimately pictured by a writer whose acquaintanceship with them and political leaders of Texas has been of long standing.

AUSTIN.—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson's administration began with an era of good feeling. Proposed legislation against the Klan was toned down. An amnesty bill was passed purporting to take back the senate verdict against "Governor Jim."

Mrs. Ferguson supplemented it with an executive order. The Forum blossomed with a "good will" issue, bulky with advertising. Soon the Forum was carrying a good roads advertising campaign. Prominent contractors contributed to it and advertised in it.

At a later investigation, one of these told how the advertising solicitor worked. He did not solicit advertising. He took a room at a leading hotel and summoned the contractor.

Then the fireworks was touched off. A paving contractor, awarded a city paving job in Houston, started work with equipment that bore the state highway department insignia. L. W. Kemp, then secretary of a state organization of contractors, protested it was unfair and started an investigation. He was refused access to highway department records.

Ugly rumors began to circulate. Texas newspapers, bound by the fetters of the Texas libel laws had to remain silent. A meeting of the county judges and county commissioners association was called for Amarillo. Kemp asked a hearing. The chairman of the state highway commission was to be present. That prevented the proceedings being ex parte, and made them privileged for publication.

Kemp and a Houston newspaper correspondent, who had gone from Austin to Amarillo in the hopes the news would "break" there, sat up until 2 a. m. Kemp dictated his charges to be presented the next day to the convention and the newspaperman hammered them out on a typewriter keeping a convenient carbon copy.

When Kemp finally took the floor at the Amarillo convention the story was on its way to the world. Attorney General Dan Moody already was suspicious. As a young lawyer, without funds, he had campaigned the state speaking from wagon boxes on town squares, and hitch-hiking, with old university friends from town to town.

After his election he was visited by a former friend who said he wanted to contribute $1,000 to offset the expense Moody had been under in the campaign. Moody turned down the offer and kept alert for a motive.

He began an investigation of the highway contracts and records. Suits were filed against the Hoffman Construction company and the American Road company. More than $1,000,000 was paid back to the state, and contracts cancelled.

The highway department had sided with the contractors. The governor employed counsel to represent them.

Lines, already closely drawn between the governor and her administration's attorney-general became more taut. Moody's friends propose he run for governor. He held off. One Saturday afternoon he walked into the capitol press room at Austin. He handed correspondents a pencilled announcement for governor, written on the train between Dallas and Austin.

High lights of the campaign were the highway contracts, pardons issued by Mrs. Ferguson, employment held by former Governor Ferguson while M/s. Ferguson was executive, writing of highway contract surety bonds by a relative agent of a surety concern. Moody led at the first primary

148 Companies Granted Charters During September

AUSTIN.—New corporations numbering 148 were granted charters by the secretary of state during September, according to the compilations of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Their authorized capital stock amounted to $2,015,000. The average size of the new corporations chartered during September was smaller, than that for the previous month, as evidenced by the decline of 32 per cent in authorized capital stock coupled with the gain of 7.2 per cent in number between August and September. Last year in September, 146 firms with authorized capital of $4,677,000 were granted charters.

"Of the total number of new corporations, 55 had authorized capital stock of less than $5,000, an unusually large gain in the number of very small corporations as compared with the 36 in August and 41 in September a year ago," the university bureau's report said. "Only four new corporations were capitalized at $100,000 or more, as compared with 10 in September last year. "Oil companies accounted for 34 of the new corporations, but the merchandising group continued to occupy first place in number with 41 new corporations. The number of real estate and building firms increased from 10 in August to 13 in September, and five transportation companies received charters during September as against only two the previous month.

"Perhaps the most significant feature in the report on charters for the third quarter is the sharp decline in the average size of the new companies being incorporated. The number capitalized at less than $5,000 gained 21 per cent from 118 in the third quarter of 1931 to 143 for the three months just past. Only 12 corporations with authorized capital stock of $100,000 or more were incorporated during the third quarter this year as compared with 26 in the corresponding period a year ago. Total authorized capital stock dropped 36 per cent from $12,083,000 for the third quarter in 1931 as compared with only $7,682,000 during the same three months this year, while the number of firms receiving charters

"Bovee! Just watch my smoke! ughdown!"
Haven't you seen him a dozen times since football season began? your neighbor boy, full of all pep and speed the advertisers utilize on. There's a dollar skin tucked under his arm and sunny, dirty pup at his heels as fights his way through ranshes, while an imaginary grand goes wild. If you watch him oke you'll see the world set on

And that reminds me, this is Fire Prevention week. Ask that same boy what he'll be doing tonight when the football and dog are safely locked on the back porch. With scowling brow and much pencil-licking he will, no doubt, be in the act of producing a theme concerning fire and all the trimmings. What a shame, and all because Chicago failed to watch her smoke.
Do you know that the Ranger high school library has ordered 20 new books, featuring material for the English and history departments?
Comes the news from gay Paris. Madame Fashion is hiding behind a vast array of veils, a combination of dots and dashes, as it were. She is enveloping herself in velvet and fur, with a touch of suede here and there. Day by day French shoppers and artists are attempting to put her ladyship on a pedestal to be admired and adored. And Miss America sits aloft her majestic throne and chews her way to happiness.
I saw her yesterday. She was tall and blond, with lovely eyes peering enchantingly out from behind a charming veil. She wore a nice little costume with all the earmarks of a Parisian shoppe . . . and she was chewing. And then I drove past a farmhouse not many miles from Ranger . . . and I saw her. She wore the smooth tan nature had provided her with, and her placid eyes gazed out from behind nothing at all, and she switched her tail calmly and viewed me with great unconcern . . . and she, too, was chewing. And suddenly I was aware I was doing the same, thanks to Wrigley. It has become an American custom. We all do: you, the cow, and I.

Throughout the English-speaking states, this week is being observed as National Pharmacy week. It is a period of good health promotion: more smiles from the inside, so to speak.
According to Dr. Thomas Darlington, former health commissioner of New York, there are 16 great steps to health. One might dub them the "Ten Commandments of Health." He suggests: Keep your mouth closed when breathing and angry, drink much water, bathe daily, eat slowly, exercise daily, do not read while eating, work 10 hours and sleep eight, do not be discontented, neglect no portion of the body, be moderate in all things.
America has added the eleventh to read:
Seven days shalt thou, Oh Ye American People, study fire prevention and good health observance, but the remaining 355 art thy doctor's and fire department's. Please do not trespass.
Four hundred forty years ago today Columbus set foot on American soil: minus the radio, ocean liner, airplane, and telephone. There were no brass bands to meet him and no New York governor to present him with a key to the metropolis. Yes, Columbus missed a lot of publicity by not waiting awhile to discover us. One might almost say he was born 400 years too soon.

OF COURSE nothing is sweeter than a cape this year. This one is fashioned of dark Japanese mink skins. The high straight collar fastens with two buttons of fur.

Aristophanes stands bewildered

Aristophanes remarked of women, 23000 years ago, "They dip their wool into hot water, according to the ancient plan, all of them without exception, and never make the slightest innovation. They sit and cook as of old. They carry upon their heads as of old." Could you summon Aristophanes into our today—he would stand appalled at the speed of women's present innovations.

Just about everything you are accustomed to becomes out-moded, discarded, in an incredibly brief time. Ways of cooking, serving, traveling; of keeping clean, healthy, beautiful, young—these are the modern tasks, "as of old." But science in alliance with factories and kitchens keeps new ways coming along so fast that poor old Aristophanes and those soft-sandaled women would be breathless with keeping up. Yet you are used to swift change . . . used to comforts that a short while ago were luxuries . . . that a little day from now will seem Grecian-quaint themselves. For advertisements in your daily newspapers you reap news of these ways to live healthfully, richly, advantageously—young!

Sit and cook as of old? Carry upon your head as of old? No, you carry in your head knowledge of the best that is buyable. Advertisements give you easy, happy surveys of new ways. Glance over the advertisements you can, every chance you have.

MAVERICKS ARE READY FOR FRIDAY GAME WITH CLEBURNE RANGER BULLDOGS PLAY FIRST HOME GAME OF SEASON FRIDAY

TEAM EXPECTS TO WIN BY A CLOSE SCORE

Will Be First Meeting of Two Teams on Maverick Field, Eastland.

A much larger crowd is expected Friday for the Eastland and Cleburne tilt than were out for the Maverick and Daniel Baker game. Not only is a better game in prospect but the Eastland fans will have an opportunity to compare the Mavericks with outstanding clubs of other districts.

Coach Howard Parker will bring two full teams from his squad of some 100 men to Eastland for the game with the Mavericks.

The Jackets, with only two teams on the field, will look quite different from the sight presented to the Mavericks last season when the Mavs trotted on the field. The Jackets had seven full teams running signals. The sight of so many Jackets buzzing around the grid didn't help the morale of the Mavs any.

There is no way to compare the strength of the two teams. The Jackets have won two games this season from strong opponents while the Mavs have won one and played one to a draw. The Mavs have practically the same team which lost to the Jackets 6 to 0 last season in a bitterly contested battle. The Mavericks were inside the Jackets' 10-yard line no less than four times and had the ball on the Jackets one-yard line when the game ended.

The Jackets have only four lettermen back from their 1931 squad but have plenty of heavy reserves who will easily outweigh the locals. The Eastland team has quite a few lettermen back and are expected to put up a great battle with the Yellow Jackets.

BULLDOGS IN 55 TO 0 WIN OVER WARNER

Ranger's Bulldogs held a track meet Tuesday afternoon at Lillard field that was advertised as a scrimmage with Warner Memorial but had everything a good track meet should have except the shot-put and the discus events.

Ranger received the opening kick-off and Gray rushed it back to a touchdown without being touched by a defending Stag from the junior college at Eastland. Ranger then kicked to Warner, Warner punted out and the parade of touchdowns started. Within three minutes a total of 14 points had been rung up by the Bulldogs and when the game was over the score was 55 to 0, with the reserve material that suited out getting a chance in the game.

No record was kept of who made touchdowns and how, because they came too fast for any of the fans to tabulate them. Jones, Lyon, Anderson and Gray gained almost at will and the Bulldogs punted but once during the game, and that on a second down, just for practice, or something.

The Warner Stags made one first down in the game. It came on a pass somewhere near the middle of the game, but there it advanced stopped. They were thrown for a number of losses. The reserves went in in bunches of eight and nine at a time, and held the Stags as well as did the regulars and did some good ground-gaining in the meantime. Compared to the gigantic squad-main yellow, the reserves looked and doing away with the advertising expense of $150, charging it to the property involved.

The appropriation for the Board of City Development over which there was considerable discussion, and which may be changed considerably, would mean eliminating a future appropriation of $2,800 a year. The two mills on the $100 valuation on delinquent taxes would still go to this fund. Savings in the street department were proposed by cutting the salaries of a tractor man and a grader man from $1,200 each to $1,020 each, making a total saving of $360; reducing extra labor expenses from $600 to $250, eliminating a truck driver at $900 and a teamster at $1,200 and reducing the expense of street lights from $2,150 to $1,250.

Savings in the public welfare department were proposed by cutting the salary of the inspector from $1,800 to $1,500, the inspector to act as a patrolman; eliminating the driver of the street sweeper at $600; cutting expense on gas, oil and repairs from $600 to $300; eliminating the Child Welfare appropriation of $450 and cutting the salary of the cemetery sexton from $900 to $480 with a house and water furnished.

A saving of $1,703 was proposed in the sewer department by doing away with the operator of the disposal plant and letting the water department handle this work, charging half the salary of the water department pumper to this department. This would make a saving of $1,140 a year. Repairs and extensions were reduced $563.

In the water department many savings were proposed, including $516 for power; $1,140 for the pumper; $110.20 for repairs and maintenance; $100 for gas for heating; $98.30 on insurance; $551.26 on maintenance and repairs; $145 on the salary and car upkeep of the line foreman; $600 in office salary and $613.39 on rebates and allowances with an item of replacing 8,000 feet of two-inch pipe at a cost of $4,000 that was not in the budget last year.

In the police department savings were proposed by cutting the salary of the chief from $1,800 to $1,500; one patrolman at $1,020 instead of $1,380 and eliminating one patrolman entirely, his work to be done by the chief and the sanitary inspector, having $1,280 and eliminating the desk sergeant at a salary of $600 and extra help at $200. Telephone and telegraph expense is to be cut by $50 and a saving of $44 to be made on meals for prisoners and lowering the bond of the chief will save $15.

The fire department reductions are proposed as follows: Salary of chief, $1,520 instead of $1,800; two pumpers at $1,020 each instead of $1,380; one driver at $960 instead of $1,380, and eliminating the driver of the street sweeper at $600. An allowance was proposed to furnish sleeping quarters for two students; to be subject to fire calls at $120 and a saving of $300 to be made by eliminating extra help and $100 in gas, oil, repairs and other incidentals, with another item of $120 saved on ice, operating supplies, tires, batteries and repairs.

The entire budget is tentative and has not been acted upon by the city commission. It was found at the meeting that there would probably have to be a number of revisions in the budget before it is finally passed and filed with the county clerk. These revisions are to be thrashed out and made in the final draft of the budget before it is passed by the commission.

INJURIES NOT TO CRIPPLE RANGER TEAM

Fans Optimistic Over the Showing Made in the Warner Game.

Coach Eck Curtis' Ranger High school Bulldogs are all primed and ready for the first home game of the season with Weatherford on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, having taken on two of the toughest teams in the state in their first two encounters and having had one good scrimmage session with Warner Memorial college of Eastland Tuesday. Injured players are fast showing improvement, though some of them may not be ready for service by the Weatherford game. Ray Adkins, who received a cut on his leg, is getting around as though he had never been hurt, but was not suited out Tuesday for the scrimmage with Warner Memorial. Uddell Duval, one of the outstanding guards of last season, has not recovered from his appendicitis operation sufficiently to get into the game, though he is suiting out and getting workouts under the direction of Dr. Harry A. Logsdon. He was anxious to get into the Warner game for a short time but Dr. Logsdon made him remain on the sidelines.

Aaron Anderson, who received a cut over his eye in the bus accident, is back in the lineup and apparently none the worse for his shakedown and injuries. He played a good game against the Warner Stags Tuesday and showed his old-time speed and driving power. Other minor injuries sustained by several of the players are not expected to keep them from playing. It is possible that Adkins might see some service in the Weatherford game, but it is doubtful if he will be allowed to remain in the playing lineup more than enough for a workout.

Much interest was shown in the Bulldogs Tuesday as the first time many of the seen them in any kind of action. Many expressed the belief that the team would show steady improvement throughout the season. Injuries do not seem to be a serious matter, and will be up to the contenders in the October this year.

The Eyes of the Nation Are Turned Toward Texas

Three hundred Texans, battling against a thousand Mexican regulars, fought their way, inch by inch, for four days (Dec. 5 to Dec. 9, 1835), into San Antonio. The gallant Ben Milam was killed, but the victory was complete.

Let's Hold "Open House" and Invite the World in 1936

Texans have a right to be proud of the heritage of heroic tradition which is theirs. And they justly take pride also in the record of progress which Texas has made since its independence was established on the battlefield.

The events of the Texas Revolution stirred the hearts of all Americans a hundred years ago. Today the whole nation is turning its eyes toward Texas because of the remarkable growth it has been achieving.

The one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Texas independence provides a fitting occasion to invite the world to visit us and see what we have done with our freedom and to behold the immense resources which still remain to be developed.

The Centennial Exposition will leave many permanent and worth-while monuments. The roads which will be laid to conduct our visitors over the State will endure for years to come. The buildings and grounds themselves will doubtless remain as public parks and community centers. And the visions of Texas' splendid future will bring us a rich heritage of men and women moving here to become adopted Texans in a State of so heroic a past and so glorious a future.
