SWEET POTATO KILN IS ASSURED FOR RANGER

Peeping Through the Knothole

with BILL MAYES

Wanted: One pair of field glasses for Cleo Gray to use to watch the Bulldog-Eagle football game through next Saturday afternoon.

Saturday morning we visited Cleo Gray at the City-County hospital, where he was lying flat on his back with a broken leg, received in the Ranger-Weatherford game Friday afternoon. Gray said he had slept well during the afternoon, but his leg was aching him.

He was more concerned over the game Saturday than over his leg. He said that he had to see the game in some way and Coach Eck Curtis suggested that if he could be moved to a room on the north side of the hospital Saturday afternoon, he would be in track of how things were going on the field if some one would lend him a pair of field glasses. Gray said that he was going to see the game in some way and that was the best suggestion that was offered at the time.

It is possible that Dr. Logsdon will be able to have him moved to a room in a wheel chair Saturday afternoon and let him see the game, but he cannot be moved by any one else. He will have to see the game by remote control.

Anyone who has a pair of field glasses and who is willing to let a little halfback use them in the afternoon can bring them to the office and turn them over to us and we will see that they are used during the game. We will go up and get them and see that they are returned to their owner.

Ranger will be seriously handicapped by the loss of Gray for the remainder of the season as he was one of the best ball carriers on the club in an open field and for a long time. Jones and Anderson take care of all assignments from them, but the loss of the halfback will be a heavy handicap to the team.

Jones and Anderson played good games against Weatherford and will receive the majority of the carrying burdens for the remainder of the year, but there will be some keen competition between Cole, Bixley and R. Jones for the place in the back.

PORT ARTHUR IS IN CENTER OF STORM ZONE

Heavy Rains Preceded Expected Storm Near Brownsville.

HOUSTON, Oct. 15.—A storm about 100 miles south of Port Arthur is expected to strike between New Orleans and Galveston this weekend, the local weather bureau station said today.

Storm warning flags were raised along the coast between the two points.

Heavy rains occurred along the Texas coast early today as a result of the disturbance. Brownsville reported 5.5 inches of rain in the last 48 hours, the heaviest precipitation along the coast.

A fluctuation of two points was noted in the barometer at Port Arthur. A heavy ground swell was running in the gulf there and tides were high. Approach of the storm caused no alarm, however, as it was not expected to be a severe one.

Shall We Retain the Chamber of Commerce?

(AN EDITORIAL)

Last Tuesday night a group of representative citizens of Ranger met with the city commission to go over the proposed budget of the city for the coming year. Several of the proposed reductions in expense were met with more or less protest, while some were considered necessary for the welfare of the city.

It was agreed by all that reductions in the expense of operating the city should have been made at least two years ago, before the city got almost hopelessly in debt. One of the proposals which met with the most discussion and some of the bitterest protest was the entire elimination of the funds for operating the Board of City Development, otherwise known as the Chamber of Commerce.

It has been pointed out that the foreign corporations and non-resident property owners pay 65 per cent of the city taxes. As two mills on the dollar has been going to the Chamber of Commerce it follows that the resident taxpayers are paying but 35 per cent of the taxes going to the support of this body, while if the tax support is removed the citizens of the town, through the merchants, will have to pay 100 per cent to the support of the Chamber of Commerce.

Many of the citizens of the town have expressed themselves as being in favor of retaining a Chamber of Commerce as an organization of its kind is, when properly conducted, one of the most outstanding organizations of any town. The question now is whether the Chamber of Commerce is to be supported by taxation, 65 per cent of which is paid by non-resident taxpayers or by the merchants and business men of the town, without any aid from these out-of-town taxpayers.

It is a question for the people of the town to decide and, in deciding, helping the commissioners in their problem. It is generally agreed that the step now being taken to reduce expenses of the city is one that has been DELAYED FAR TOO LONG and is now absolutely necessary, but just which items should be reduced and which should be eliminated entirely is a hard question for any group of men to decide.

False economy might be expensive at this time though no economy at all might be equally as undesirable. With the retaining of the two mill tax for the Chamber of Commerce, the next step will be for that body to re-organize, re-budget and get a fresh start or the limited revenue it will have in order that it may serve the people to the best advantage possible. Or, failing in securing the two mill tax, re-organizing in a way that will be in keeping with the revenue that will be possible from public subscriptions of the merchants.

The Times feels that a Chamber of Commerce in some form should be maintained though it might be best to have an office in the city hall in order to reduce rent along with other expenses.

The Times also feels that the business affairs of the city are in a bad way, but the citizens are awakened and are determined to help get the operating expenses of the city down where they belong.

We sincerely hope that the Chamber of Commerce be given serious consideration before a final decision is made.

TO BE READY FOR BUSINESS BY WEDNESDAY

Potatoes To Be Stored In Cannery Building For Spring Market.

At a meeting of sweet potato growers of this section of the country, held in the office of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce Saturday afternoon, plans were completed for the installation of a sweet potato curing plant in Ranger for the purpose of drying and storing potatoes for the winter market.

The plant is to be located in the cannery on Pine street, where it will be possible to store 5,000 bushels of potatoes. A charge of 10 cents a bushel for curing and storing potatoes from the time they are gathered until marketed next February or March will be made. At this price it will be necessary for the farmers to furnish their own crates and arrangements made to have several individuals in town have the standard size crates for sale within the next few days.

It is expected that the plant will be ready for operation by Wednesday of this week.

It was urged that the farmers harvest their potatoes as carefully as possible in order not to bruise any, many of the farmers stating they were going to gather their crop with canvas gloves in order to keep from bruising the skin.

Only Number 1 grade potatoes will be accepted for storage, it was decided. Number 1 potatoes were defined as being from one and three-quarters to three and one-quarter inches in diameter and from three to eight inches in length. Ideal potatoes were described as being two and one-half inches in diameter and six inches in length.

It was pointed out that the average yield of sweet potatoes in the state was 77 bushels per acre, while many of the farmers stated that they would have yields of from 100 to 150 bushels an acre. Some of the growers at the meeting stated that they could get better prices for their potatoes in this section than they could in Western Texas, as they had trucked potatoes to the west and were forced to sell them at 35 cents a bushel.

The crop in this section is estimated as being three times as large as the crop in 1931 and it was thought that this crop and the average yield could be built up materially in future years.

Though many farmers are having trouble marketing their potatoes at this time it was pointed out that there was a splendid market in February and March after the fresh potatoes had been consumed and that prices for gin dried potatoes at that time were materially greater than during the fresh potato season so that growers would profit by saving their crop until the winter and early spring months.

Only Number 1 potatoes will be accepted for storage and only the standard crates will be accepted at the skin, it was voted by the growers who helped to formulate the plan, with the assistance of many of the business men of Ranger.

Unidentified Man Closeted With Ranger Captain and Treasurer.

AUSTIN, Oct. 15.—A heavy set man, unidentified by newspapermen, was still in conference this afternoon with Ranger Captain Frank Hamer, state auditor Moore Lynn and members of the senate investigating committee, while reports flew about the capital that a plot to rob the treasury had been nipped in the bud.

State treasurer, Charles Lockhart, said this afternoon that he had received such a report from one of his employees this morning. He said he immediately notified Ranger Captain Hamer and was told to "rest easy" that everything was cared for.

The treasury in the state capitol is the depository for large amounts of state securities. At frequent intervals in the past Rangers have been stationed about the capitol corridors near the treasury.

ROOSEVELT'S ELECTION MAY BRING BEER

HYPE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Election of Franklin D. Roosevelt to the presidency would be a mandate upon congress to legalize beer, Senator J. T. Robinson, Arkansas minority leader of the senate, declared today.

The senator detained here to confer with the Democratic nominee, said, "The only difficulty on agreement would be the alcoholic content, permissible under the constitution."

He predicted beer would be brought back at either the coming short session or the next regular session. "I will cooperate with the party to that end," he said.

Re-consideration of the debt structure is looked on here as inevitable. President Hoover is opposed to cancellation but he and the Republican party now recognize that war debts cannot be paid on the original basis.

REST WITHOUT FRETTING: Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for him: fret not thyself because of him who prospereth in his way, because of the man who bringeth wicked devices to pass. -Psalm 37: 7.

SPEAKING OF GERMAN SETTLEMENTS UNDER THE FLAG

A very enterprising and interesting contemporary, the Port Arthur News, reminded its readers that Oct. 6 does not ordinarily impress Americans as an important anniversary and that a group of Texans of German descent, had a huge celebration on this date this year—a celebration to commemorate the founding of the first permanent German settlement in the United States.

Yes, we talk about the English settlers who landed at Plymouth Rock in Massachusetts Bay; we know all the details about the other English settlements in Virginia, the Carolinas, and Maryland; we are familiar with the Dutch settlements at New Amsterdam and in the Hudson river valley; but we never pay much attention to the incident that began the vastly and profoundly important stream of German immigration to North America.

These early German settlers, we are told, came over on the ship Concord, a ship which ranks in importance not far below the Mayflower itself. Reaching Philadelphia, they soon established the town of Germantown and paved the way for the tremendous influx of German people which was to continue for two full centuries and which was to provide the nation with one of its most industrious and useful groups of citizens.

A reminder that before the United States entered the World war on the side of the Allies it was fairly common for groups of Americans of German descent to commemorate the Oct. 6 anniversary. "The war naturally interrupted the custom," reads the News editorial "but its revival by these Texans is good news and it is to be hoped that the date hereafter will have to all of us the significance that it should have.

In the lower country, speaking of Texas, there are 22 counties with prosperous minor cities and towns, largely populated by Americans of German ancestry. There are important communities in Cooke and other North Texas counties where their influence is felt. There are West Texas counties where colonies have been founded and have prospered since the close of the war between the states. San Antonio contains a very large contingent of Americans of German origin and the two very populous and prosperous counties of Guadalupe and Comal speak for themselves, while Fredericksburg, the seat of Gillespie county, is a town of romance, history, thrift, and progressiveness which is entitled to a large spot on the map of Texas.

Congressman Richard Kleberg, a lineal descendant of German pioneers who came to Texas in the long ago and who fought under the flag of San Jacinto, is a scion of this old pioneer stock and his people on both sides of the line have ever been builders of Texas. Many Texans of German origin have made the laws of the state. Many Texans of German origin are among the lawmakers of today. In the long ago these newcomers from beyond the Rhine fought Indians and wild men who were not Indians under the skies of the Southwest. They aided with plow and hoe and rifle in transforming a wilderness into an empire.

The Mills of the Gods grind slowly. They take no notice of our puny haste. Indeed, there are advanced scientific thinkers who believe that the Universe is definitely antagonistic to man and that his presence here is a complete accident. Far too much energy is being spent by man expanding the realm of his material power and far too little in the acquisition of those more exquisite graces which derive their well being from his ethical urge. Until he can be urged to discard the muck-rake, little or nothing has been done to earn our gratitude.

A lot of cities, counties and states should wake up to the fact that success and wealth do not rain from political heavens, but are won only by efficient administration.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

This might well be entitled "From Covered Wagon Trails To Lighted Skyways."

Few people, indeed, appreciate the part electricity plays in modern aviation. Now and then one sees a lone beacon flashing its friendly message and a lighted emergency landing field, while traveling over our highways. Few people appreciate the significance of these new lighted sentinels of safety for the air lanes in the clouds.

I asked an enginer friend to draw an accurate picture of Oklahoma as it would be seen from the air at night. The finished product would take your breath away. Theoretically, if you were high enough in the air and about to cross the Red River, entering Oklahoma from the south, you would see a path of light cutting directly up and down the state from Marietta, through Ardmore, Sulphur, Pauls Valley, Norman, Oklahoma City, Guthrie, and on up into Kansas.

Beacons, emergency landing fields and radio signal stations have made night flying safe and comfortable, particularly in hot weather.

Another pathway of light cuts across the state in the northwest corner from Shattuck to Alva. Another glowing white streak enters the state from the west and crosses on its way to St. Louis and the East.

It is deeply interesting when one stops to think about this north and south lighted skyway across the state of Oklahoma. It closely borders the old Chisholm Trail, over which thundering herds of Texas cattle were brought north for shipping from the old Kansas cattle towns of frontier days.

The path of light in the northwest section of the state closely follows the old Santa Fe Trail, where covered wagons laboriously pushed on to San Diego and the West Coast. All of this within the memory of many living men!

Lighted skyways are only typical of the nation at large. If one could rise high enough in the sky he would see the nation criss-crossed with lighted pathways guiding planes and passengers to a safe landing.

Modern electric service from your electric company has done for the aeronautical industry what it has done for all modern industries. Thousands of things which electricity has made commonplace today were undreamed of yesterday.

Why The Texas Centennial?

Only three reasons have been advanced for not favoring the constitutional amendment to permit state support of a Texas Centennial celebration.

One of these is that it should be financed privately. This would make it a commercial enterprise without official character or responsibility and one more likely to reflect discredit than credit to the state. As a privately owned, commercial undertaking it could not hope to secure co-operation of other states, of the national government and of foreign countries. Besides there is no reason to believe that private capital would undertake to finance it, and certainly not unless allowed to put on an unrestricted celebration of a kind to return the greatest profit, without regard to the interests of the people or the state. Few Texans would want that kind of a mercenary birthday anniversary.

A second reason is that "economic conditions existing now do not justify the expenditure." The answer is that the Centennial amendment does not carry any appropriation or even demand a Centennial observance. It is merely permissive, leaves the time, place and character of the celebration to be decided by the legislature, and authorizes that body to be governed by whatever may be deemed best when the Centennial is presented for its consideration. All close observers agree, however, that financial conditions are now improving, and it is but good business sense for Texas to be in position to avail itself of this one opportunity of a century to attract the favorable attention of the entire world. Nothing else would contribute so quickly or so much to restore confidence, rehabilitate business, and encourage state pride.

A creditable centennial, truly representative of all Texas, can be made the greatest epochal event since Texas Independence was won. Unless the amendment is adopted this cannot be brought about, for the time even now is all too short.

The third reason is usually put in the form of a question, "Can Texas afford it?" All agree that the reverence of Texans for the pioneers and heroes whose sacrifices made possible the rich heritage we enjoy should not allow the centennial to pass without creditable observance; that the resplendent achievements of the first century of Texas independence should be shown to the world; and that the Centennial would provide an unusual opportunity for attracting world-wide attention to the vast possibilities of the state.

The Chicago Century of Progress Exposition will afford a wonderful opportunity for international publicity. Scores of national and international exhibitors there are now considering exhibits for the Texas Centennial.

The California Olympiads have demonstrated that people will travel far and spend much for entertainment. The $100,000 advanced by the State of California has been repaid with another $1,000,000 added to the state treasury. Business in 10 Southern California counties alone was increased $44,405,888 in cash left there by tourists from other states.

Tourists by millions will be coming to Texas, to attend the Centennial, to visit relatives who have moved here from other states, to travel with them over widely scattered sections of the state, to see as much of Texas as possible. From available statistics the increased trade in all lines of business should exceed a billion dollars that otherwise Texas cannot hope to get. The gas and oil tax that the state treasury would get from out-of-state tourists alone is reasonably estimated at exceeding $25,000,000.

The Centennial celebration, considered solely as a business enterprise, will pay back to Texas many times its costs, quicken state pride, hasten industrial development, and make Texans glad they are Texans. We can't afford not to have it.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

fuzzled he didn't know where to put the ball. Ranger had the ball on their own 42-yard line when the quarter ended and he put the ball in play on the 38-yard line—four yards from where it should have been. A concerted howl from the grandstand finally awakened him to the fact that he was all wrong and he changed the ball after considerable delay.

We have seen that happen to many an official and do not see how it could be held against Sweeney. Some thought, too, that since a penalty for roughness should have been meted out against Waterthorpe when Spruill fell on Gray after he had been tackled. We didn't see how that could have changed things any as the damage had already been done and half the distance to the goal line, which would have been the maximum penalty, would not have changed matters.

BULLDOGS WIN FROM WEATHERFORD, LOSE GRAY FOR SEASON

MAVERICKS LOSE TO CLEBURNE BY SCORE OF 13-0 FRIDAY

WIKEN LEG KEEP HIM OUT OF GAME

Although Ranger High School's Weatherford defeated Weatherford High School on the gridiron Friday afternoon by a score of 14 to 0, the injury suffered by a severe loss to the backfield, suffered a broken leg in the fourth quarter when he was tackled by one of the Weatherford players.

The incident happened early in the fourth quarter. Weatherford and the ball on their own 3-yard line when the quarter opened. Two plays gained two yards and Rutledge kicked out to the 35 yard line to Gray, who returned the ball 11 yards to the 24 yard line. On the next play Gray circled left and for a 17 yard gain, carrying the ball to the 7 yard line, where he was tackled by Vanhoosier, quarterback for the Weatherford team. Spruill, who was playing defensive halfback, rushed in behind Gray and as the tackle was made fell on the two players on the ground, and Gray's right leg was broken below the knee. Emergency medical aid was rendered by Dr. Harry A. Logston, team physician, and the player was rushed to the City-County hospital, where the break was set. Ranger scored her second touchdown immediately after the accident happened when Jones plunged the line on two plays for 4 yards and Anderson carried over for the touchdown. Anderson then kicked goal.

The first score came in the second quarter when Rutledge fumbled on the 50 yard line on a lateral pass from Vanhoosier to Rutledge. Ranger covering the ball on the Weatherford 40 yard line, Vanhoosier made almost 10 yards around right end, linking a few inches of making a first down. Jones plunged over for four yards and a first down, after which Gray fumbled but recovered for a loss of four yards. A pass, Anderson to Gray was good for 16 yards and a first down on the 14 yard line. Jones picked up two yards and Anderson added two more on a spin play. Jones again carried the ball, linking inches of making a first down for 5 yards and a first down just short of the four yard line. Jones carried the ball over on one play and Anderson kicked the goal.

Both teams were off form throughout the game and each fumbled several times. As the half ended Ranger had the ball on the one yard line with four downs to make the touchdown, when the signals by the Bulldogs killed so much time the half was over before the play was made.

Before the series of plays started in which Gray got his leg broken in the fourth quarter, Ranger matched down to the 13 yard line. Jones hit left tackle for 2 yards, Anderson made one at right, and Gray made four around right end. Lieutenant Lyon made a first down on the 10 yard line. Jones was stopped on the next play and Anderson fumbled. Weatherford recovering on her own 3 yard line. It was after the punt from the 5 yard line that the series of plays started which resulted in the second touchdown and the mishap in which Gray's leg was injured.

Early in the first quarter Weatherford carried the ball into Ranger territory for a brief period, reaching the 45 yard line and immediately was thrown for a 7 yard loss. At no other time in the game did the visitors cross the mid-field marker except in the last quarter, when a long pass carried to the 38 yard line, playing the entire game in the shadows of their own goal.

Ranger made 14 first downs during the game to two for Weatherford; one in the first and one in the last quarters. Ranger attempted five passes, completing two for a gain of 52 yards, two were incomplete and one intercepted. Weatherford attempted seven passes, completing two for a gain of 41 yards, three were incomplete and two were intercepted. Ranger punted twice for an average of 37 yards while Weatherford punted five times for an average of 27 yards.

The starting lineups: Ranger—Mittell and Bray, ends; Standard and Jacoby, tackles; Love and Williams, guards; J. Bray, center; Lyon, quarter; Gray and Anderson, halves; and Jones, full. Substitutes, Britt, Cole, R. Jones and Warden.

Weatherford—Darnell and Potter, ends; J. Wallace and Campbell, tackles; Maxwell and Malone, guards; Vanhoosier and Spruill, halves; Rutledge, full and Rhodes, quarter. Substitutes, Jenkins, R. Wallace, Taylor, Emmons and V. Garvin.

TEXAS CENTENNIAL WILL BE BIG FACTOR IN DEVELOPMENT OF TEXAS IF IT IS APPROVED

By GORDON K. SHEARER, United Press Staff Correspondent. AUSTIN.—Why it is desired to have an amendment to the state constitution in connection with the proposed Texas Centennial celebration in 1936 is made clear when existing provisions of Article 16 of the existing constitution are read. Sections 6 and 39 of the article declare there shall be no appropriation for private or individual purposes. Section 39 excludes a centennial observance of the kind planned by not including it in a provision for memorials of Texas history. The section authorizes appropriations "for preserving memorials of the history of Texas, by means of monuments, statues, paintings and documents of historical value." It does not mention a centennial.

The proposed amendment seeks to make the authorization by adding "Section 60." If adopted it will read:

"That the constitution of the state be so amended as to authorize a Texas Centennial, commemorating the heroic period of early Texas history, and celebrating a century of our independence and progress, to be held at such times, places and in such manner as may be designated by the legislature of Texas. That the legislature of Texas be authorized to make appropriation for the support and maintenance thereof; provided this authorization shall not be construed to make appropriations for any other future exposition or celebration of any kind or character."

The amendment omits any reference to the amount of appropriation. Five million dollars was frequently mentioned as a desirable amount when the question of submitting the amendment was under discussion.

Change of conditions and reduced construction costs since the 42nd legislature voted to submit the proposition, probably would result in actual appropriation being far under that amount if made by the incoming 43rd legislature.

The amendment is one of those to be voted upon Nov. 8, which is met with opposition. The central public expenditure committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, with 99 local expenditure committees, has taken a stand against the amendment.

"Although the Texas Centennial is a worthy and patriotic project your committee nevertheless feels in view of the present plight of taxpayers this proposed state expenditure should be opposed," said their report.

The movement for a Texas Centennial began in 1924. The Associated Advertising Clubs gave it the organized push. Former Governor Pat M. Neff appointed a centennial committee of 100 members. Jesse H. Jones of Houston became its head.

Various plans were discussed. San Antonio with the Alamo and Houston and San Jacinto battle-field felt they should be the center of any centennial activities. Austin, as state capital, voiced a claim. Chairman Jones suggested a plan of erection of historical shrines at various places noted in Texas and a series of exercises at them.

Another proposal was for a triple celebration—one at San Antonio, one at Houston and one in North Texas.

With affairs thus unsettled the legislature authorized a committee with members appointed by the governor, the speaker of the house of representatives and the senate. When this committee met in Austin, Cullen F. Thomas of Dallas was proposed for chairman. He declined to accept, proposing Jesse Jones. Jones said he did not wish to serve; that the old committee was willing to turn the matter over to the new one and help. Thomas then accepted. His idea is for an exposition that not only will be statewide but that will draw exhibits from the other states and foreign countries. He proposes that it should truly mark the effect on American and world history of the establishment of the Republic of Texas.

It was decided the first necessary step was passage of the proposed constitutional amendment. Until that is acted upon the committee has agreed all consideration of place and details shall be shelved. It was pointed out under terms of the proposed amendment the committee can only report to the legislature, which will then have the final say in determining the nature of a celebration that it will support by appropriation.

If the amendment carries, no legislative action is possible until 1933. That will leave only three years in which to prepare for the event.

EASTLAND WAS ON DEFENSIVE MOST OF GAME

Allison Plays Brilliant Defensive Game For Mavericks.

By JO CARROLL. In a game that was stubbornly contested the Cleburne Yellow Jackets won a 13 to 0 victory over the Eastland Mavericks here Friday afternoon. Eastland was on the defensive most of the afternoon, making only one threat to score late in the second quarter when the Mavericks fought their way to Cleburne's six yard line. Up until this time the Mavericks had slightly outclassed the Yellow Jackets in the playing, as these foes had not been able to penetrate Eastland's 10 yard zone, although they had approached it twice.

The number of first downs during the first half will bear out this fact, Cleburne making six and Eastland five. Eastland made most of the first downs came in her own drive for goal. Towards the middle of the third quarter the Eastland defense began to weaken and Cleburne was able to put over a touchdown. Again in the middle of the fourth quarter the Jackets went over for another and were seriously threatening a third when the game closed.

The Mavericks made their bid for a score in the middle of the second quarter. Starting on their own 30 yard line after Cleburne had punted out of bounds at this point, Daniels made 9 yards through right tackle. Daniels went through center for one yard. Daniels plowed through left guard for 10 yards. Cleburne drew a five yard penalty for off side. Delmar Brown on a double reverse play made 20 yards around end. Burgamy gained three yards through left tackle. A 5 yard penalty for Cleburne put the ball on their 19 yard line. Daniels picked up 6 yards and 1 yard on successive tries at the line. Garrison made 2 yards through the line. Burgamy went off right guard for 3 more.

With the ball on the five yard line Daniels fails to gain. The Mavericks drew two five yard penalties in quick succession here. Two passes were incomplete. On the fourth down Burgamy was thrown for a 10 yard loss and the ball went over. So vanished the Mavericks one last chance for a score. After an exchange of punts Cleburne started a drive, in which two passes, one for 10 and one for 25 yards featured, that placed the ball on Eastland's 15 yard line as the half ended.

Early in the third quarter a very peculiar incident occurred. Puffer kicked off to the 12 yard line and Cleburne returned 15 yards. After a try at the line that lost two yards, Stephens got away for a 10 yard gain. He rolled across the goal line and rolled across the side line of the end zone. It required about ten minutes for all the officials and coaches to decide what rule applied. Finally the ball was given to Eastland on the 20 yard line.

Cleburne's drive for her first touchdown started on Eastland's 45 yard line. A 40 yard pass was knocked down by Elmer Brown. Stephens went around right end for 20 yards and a pass netted nine more. A line plunge gained another yard and first down. Puffer kicked to the 10 yard line and Hagler made it nine more around left end. It was first down on Eastland's four yard line. On the first play Davis went through left tackle for the distance. The try for extra point failed.

The second touchdown was the result of a continuous drive from Cleburne's 18 yard line. Two tries at left tackle netted 11 yards. A 40 yard run down the west side of the field behind a feet interference almost resulted in the second try. The try was not until Garrison had made one of the most brilliant plays of the afternoon in blocking Hagler that Allison could make the tackle which stopped the play on Eastland's 33 yard line. Hagler was so badly injured that he had to be removed from the game.

The Jackets were penalized five yards and on the next play went through for four yards and first down. Successive tries at left tackle and right tackle produced no gain. Then Johnson bucked the remaining three yards for touchdown. A don kick for the extra point went wide but Eastland was off side and the attempt was null. Score, Cleburne 13, Eastland 0.

For Eastland Allison was the outstanding player, setting a large score of the tackle. Mouth of guard played an excellent game

GRIFITH AND SLIDES

Griffith as Manager? If Clark Griffith really wants to save money, and the Washington baseball magnate never has indicated he was averse to such a practice, he might try managing the Senators next year himself.

The Old Fox, who gave Walter Johnson the gate, ostensibly to avoid paying his faithful pitcher a manager's salary, was a manager for 18 years himself—and won one pennant.

That pennant was in 1901, when the American League was just starting into business for itself. Griff was one of those National League pitchers who jumped to the virgin circuit of six teams organized by Ban Johnson.

Griff's performance, by the way, led the league in percentage, the runner-up being one Denton Tatum. "Cy" Young, of whom you may have heard, who pitched 31 victories for Boston against 10 defeats.

One More Year THAT was the last pennant that the Old Fox won, though he managed some pretty good ball teams. He continued with the White Sox another year, 1902, and then wound up in fourth place, when Casey hired Jimmy Callahan.

Some of the demonstrations to be visited are the 4-H pantries, yard, bedroom and gardens. These club members have told what has been done and now they want to show all who can make the tour just how they have worked during the year. This tour will start in Eastland in the morning and end back here in the afternoon. A basket lunch will be carried by all and a picnic lunch served at some ideal place. The date will be announced soon. Following the business meeting, Mrs. V. Shuman, field representative, gave a brief report of the

Three thousand spectators crowded the tents for the first night show and 1000 were turned away to await the second night attraction. In addition to circus line of acting lions, elephants and monkeys, acrobatic stunts, horseback riding, a new innovation in shows in this section was seen in the circus. Nevadans Pay No Attention To Wet Or Dry Candidates

RENO, Nev.—Although a heated political campaign is underway in Nevada prohibition is receiving no attention whatsoever. The reason is that all candidates are anti-prohibition.

Senator Tasker L. Oddie, Republican, and Rep. Samuel Aron, Republican, aren't so extreme in their views, but are wet to the extent that a change is favored.

Here's a new simile for you, by the way. "Longer than a comic strip prize fight."
