ROBERT J. KLEBERG PASSES OUT OF PICTURE

Robert J. Kleberg has passed on to his reward in that Great Beyond which is said to be on the other side of the Great Divide. He was a native of DeWitt county. He was born in 1853. He was the son of German pioneers who invaded the wilderness of Texas before the days of the republic. He was graduated from the University of Virginia law school. He became the personal attorney of Capt. Richard King, the founder of the King ranch. Captain King died, Robert J. Kleberg continued the legal adviser of the widow. She persuaded him to abandon law for ranching. He moved to the ranch. He married Miss Alice King, the daughter of the man who had founded the ranch that bears his name, which includes one entire Texas county and parts of six others, has 80 miles of coast and the Gulf of Mexico is only 45 miles east of the Kleberg front door. Captain King died in 1885. Robert J. Kleberg became the great developer of the vast ranch. It is said there are a hundred miles of railway on this ranch, three towns, four schools, a cotton mill, an immense butter factory and many industrial plants for manufacturing the products of the ranch.

There is a small army of employes and these employes use 2000 saddle horses and 30 automobiles to travel from pasture to pasture. Robert J. Kleberg was not only an empire builder but a planner and developer of this vast ranch property. He developed an adequate water supply which brought prosperity not only to all concerned but soil productivity to a vast section. He drilled deep wells, going down 1500 feet; his drillers lapped an inexhaustible supply of underground water and this taught the farmers and ranchers of the entire section that the drill was the thing and that water could be pumped from the bowels of the earth to supply the needs of man and beast as well as for irrigation purposes.

Early in his career as ranch manager, he introduced blooded stock from the best herds of the country and banished the longhorns. He demonstrated to the farmers of the lower gulf coast territory that the soil would grow cotton as well as produce high grade livestock. He demonstrated that it could be a great dairy paradise. He is said to have brought plants and crop seeds from the ends of the earth. His investigators or agents covered the globe. He was among the first to bring in Brahma cattle from India and was the discoverer of the then amazing fact that the Texas tick carried the fever that killed Texas cattle. He was largely instrumental in having Texas lawmakers enact the quarantine laws necessary as well as the dipping process for the destruction of the tick. According to the record he originated the underground silo which is said to be rust proof, air proof and tornado proof.

He was not only an empire builder but he was a humanitarian. Thousands of Mexicans inhabited the lower country. They were the hewers of wood and drawers of water in the days of Captain King and they were continued on the largest ranch in the world through the years of the reign of Builder Kleberg. He was their friend at all times. He was their protector and adviser. He built schools and churches for these sons of the Latin-Indian race, and when he passed on to his reward among the sincere mourners were the humble toilers who knew and loved this distinguished scion of the early Germans who pioneered in the Texas wilderness. In his active days he had built cities and towns and railroads. He had organized banks and factories and oil mills. He was largely responsible for the creation of the College of Arts and Industries at Kingsville and it would be impossible for a chronicler of events to write the history of the lower Gulf coast country and its remarkable development and progress in wealth and population without giving credit on every page to the son-in-law and successor of that famous ranchman of early days, Capt. Richard King.

ENGLISH SPINNERS AND THEIR EMPLOYEES

Master spinners of Great Britain recommended that wages of 200,000 Lancashire cotton spinners be reduced at the rate of 20 1/2 pence per pound. Workers had offered to accept the reduction of 9 1/2 pence, expressing willingness to accept even a greater reduction of employers reduced a 48-hour working week. Employers indicated a readiness to do this if operatives would accept a reduction of 20 1/2 pence. Negotiations then broke down. Now the master spinners and their vast army of employes are ready to sign up and resume activities in all the Lancashire district. Southern cotton growers are interested. There is a heavy cotton surplus. A foreign market with a fair advance in price would do more to increase the purchasing power of the American growers than all campaign speeches from now until dooms-day.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

S. G. GOLDTHWAITE, Publisher of the Boone (Iowa) News-Republican, says:

"Advertising, like all other forms of business activity, has suffered a deflation. Newspaper advertising has been the last to succumb, because it is recognized as the most potent pulling power of all forms of advertising."

"When you walk into a well appointed store with well filled shelves of attractive goods—not nearly so well filled shelves of attractive goods—not nearly so well filled as you used to see them—and see no customers, you realize why advertising has taken a slump. Merchants hung on to the use of newspaper space as long as it produced any results whatever, and that is why the newspapers were the last to feel the depression."

"Of course, newspaper advertising has not been discarded altogether. Many sales are put over successfully by the generous use of space advertising. Manufacturers of many articles of national repute have not let up at all and in fact have increased their appropriations for newspaper publicity. Local advertising, it must be admitted, is now mostly confined to 'sales.'"

"But advertising will come back to normal in time. Newspaper advertising will come first. In fact it is already started. Brisk fall trade is reported in many cities. The advertising campaign is being resumed."

"Newspaper advertising has proved its necessity with the merchants. It is the most potent salesman and the surest path to success. In the general advertising renaissance it will be newspaper advertising that will be the most popular, because it is the medium of quickest results. Newspaper space does not have to be sold to merchants or manufacturers any longer. It sells itself. It is the first on the upturn."

HOKY AND SLIDES By Henry L. Farrell

A New "Boy Manager" WASHINGTON has another "boy manager." The man is Joe Cronin, 26 years old, shortstop. And Clark Griffith, trying to alleviate the sting that the dismissal of Walter Johnson gave the fans, could not have chosen a more popular man for the job than the young fellow from Frisco.

It is an odd situation. Bucky Harris, the "boy manager" who won pennants for the Senators, is at Detroit now, and it is no secret that he would like to manage the Washington club. His home is in the capital.

But Joe Cronin, awarded the baseball portfolio, is the player in whom Harris, and Harris alone, has faith, when Joe first appeared in a Senator training camp. It was through Harris' encouragement and Harris' influence upon Clark Griffith that Cronin ever got a chance to become the regular Washington shortstop.

N. W. Harris finds that the man he backed with all his might, after others had sworn on him, is manager of the club in Bucky's home town.

Wyatt kicked to the 37-yard line, where Anderson signaled for a fair catch. Anderson failed to gain, but Lyon picked up three yards, and a pass from Lyon to Cole made 11 yards and a first down. Lyon failed to gain and on the next play Jones fumbled but recovered for no gain. A pass, Lyon to Anderson, was incomplete and Lyon kicked out of bounds on the five-yard line.

Mrs. James C. Deck Honors Daughter's Birthday.

Charming little Merle Hodge Deck had her important sixth birthday beautifully observed by her mother, Mrs. James C. Deck, Thursday afternoon, who entertained a little group of budding society folk on the Connellee roof, from 3:30 to 5 o'clock with games, music and other delightful features that all go toward the making of a happy day.

Refreshments of pimento cheese sandwiches of orange bread, and hot chocolate with whipped cream, were served from a table centered with a huge yellow pumpkin face, massed with flowers. From the gaping mouth, orange ribbon streamers ran in star fashion, indicating the places about the table for the little people.

All the appointments were in Hallow'en motif, from the cloth and napkins to the artistic decorations about the big ballroom.

Several children were made very happy over winning charming Hallow'en prizes in games, and over the kodak pictures taken of the party guests at the close of a happy playtime.

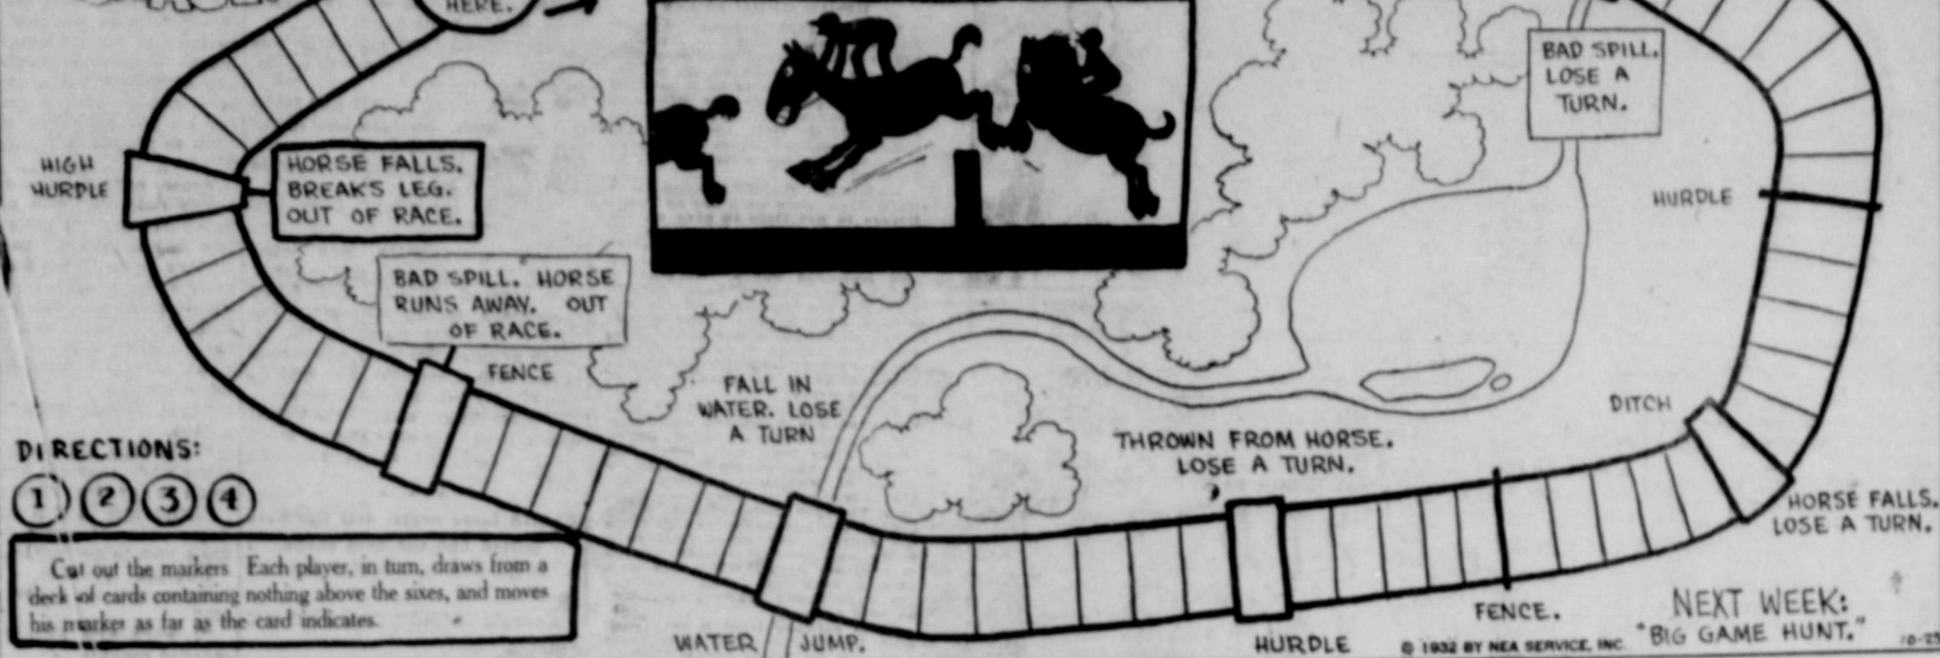

The place of honor was occupied by the birthday cake, deliciously iced and topped with six burning tapers, with an extra one to grow on.

The cake was cut by the little honor guest, Merle Hodge Deck,

Screen Version of "Red Headed Woman" Splendid

Transferring a novel so sensational and so widely read as Katharine Brush's "Red Headed Woman" to the screen was something of a challenge to the talkies. But the feat has been accomplished in a highly workmanlike manner in the film version which opened today at the Arcadia theatre, Ranger. As surprising as the story itself is the appearance in the title role of Jean Harlow. Miss Harlow has never before had a role which imposes so stern a requirement on her acting ability, and she meets the test with flying colors. Those who recall her previous efforts will find a new Jean Harlow in this "Lil Andrews" of the Katharine Brush tale. In voice and gesture and poise she has gained considerably, doubtlessly through the realization that she plays a role which every actress was said to covet. Dull business ought to be helped by these sharp mornings.

1920 Club Enjoys Program of Rare Interest

Mrs. R. M. Davenport led the 1920 club program rendered in the green room of the Gholson hotel Thursday afternoon which proved a program of rare interest and delight.

The lesson came as the second program of the new study season and made up of a carefully chosen group of German subjects.

First number, "Germany's Place in Chemical and Physical Research" was well given by Mrs. Fred Warren, who substituted for Mrs. L. N. Griffin, who has been out of town several days due to the illness of her mother.

"Comparison of American and German Accomplishments in Aviation" was covered in an interesting degree by Mrs. R. F. Holmway.

Presented a special added topic was the presentation of Miss Gladys Brown of Weatherford, guest of Mrs. Bob Hodges, who has recently returned from a tour of Europe and visited far into the interior of Germany. Being a teacher of expression in the manner in which the visitor offered the address held her audience spell-bound through her beautiful description of the witnessed "Passion Play," its background and characters. Coming as a second treat was brought about by Mrs. Perlstein, formerly of Bonn, Germany, who read a splendid resume of the school and music life in Germany, native customs and other added touches making the program subject ideally realistic.

Current events brought to a close perhaps the most worth while meeting to have been held in several study seasons.

The program leader already assigned for the entire study term apparently are putting every bit of enthusiasm and effort possible to make this a red letter year. The programs plainly emphasize time, thought, study and remarkable determination for many big future developments.

Mrs. Jacobs Is Elected President To Success Mrs. Reese

Mrs. F. E. Jacobs, who has been an active member of Child Study club No. 2 and who is also valued for her interest and service given in P. T. A. work, was elected president of Young School Parent-Teacher association, at a meeting last week. The newly named president will succeed Mrs. R. H. Reese, who has opened a year of unusual projects for the cooperative group of officers, teachers and parents to follow and develop.

Mrs. Jacobs was given a cordial welcome by the organization and from all past work done by her the remainder of the study year will be well carried out.

Supper at Butler Springs Is Enjoyed by Church

Members of the Church of Christ together with friends, enjoyed one of the most delightful outings of the week when a picnic supper entertained the group at Butler Springs Thursday afternoon from 4 till 6 o'clock. Supper was cooked over camp fire and served with other appropriate dishes in keeping with such an occasion. This is reported as one of the most thoroughly enjoyed entertainments to have been given by the church this season.

Class Luncheon Is Held With Mrs. Dudley

The home of Mrs. B. S. Dudley was beautifully decorated in lovely cut flowers for the luncheon Friday, given in compliment to members of the Adolphian Sunday school class of the First Christian Church. After the luncheon hour designated for the full group with attractive linen covers a business meeting was called. Subjects of interest were discussed with the study announced for Monday afternoon. Those present numbered, Mrs. O. E. Samms, Hickey Sloan, H. C. Anderson, C. G. King, H. S. Wagner, K. R. Russell, C. L. Childs, N. L. Perry, and E. J. Donn, guest of Mrs. J. Grover Killgore, and Mrs. O. E. Grigoliet. A special feature of the mid-afternoon hour was that of a pretty shower complimenting Mrs. Russell. The surprised recipient responded in a very pleasing manner for the selection of useful and well chosen gifts.

P. T. A. Program To Be Led By Mrs. Byars

Mrs. E. C. Byars will lead the program at Hodges Oak Park Parent-Teacher association meeting Tuesday afternoon which will be opened at 3:30 and is expected to be attended by the usual large number of parents, friends and the school's personnel of teachers. Giving a note of special interest to the program will be that of the address to be given by Mrs. Gid J. Bryan on "World Wide Citizenship." Mrs. Bryan, who is widely recognized as an unusually interesting as well as brilliant student of Bible, will lend a worth while lecture on this particular subject, a feature of the meeting, of outstanding mention. At a called meeting held in the school auditorium, Friday afternoon final plans for the Halloween carnival were completed by an enthusiastic group of mothers.

Members are especially urged to be present for this program Tuesday.

Annual Halloween Party Honoring Child Study Clubs At Jacobs Home Wednesday

A decided autumn note, with Halloween also accented, will be featured at a round of social events listed in the calendar for this week. Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, members of Child Study club No. 2 will be greeting members of Child Study club No. 1 at the home of Mrs. J. E. Jacobs, 1065 Young street.

This social note comes as the annual Halloween party and is always looked forward to with much anticipated delight by members and also other honorary guests who are receiving invitations over the week-end. The attractive home will be transformed into a scene realistic of the colorful frolic and fun day.

A large number of guests are to be well entertained at this afternoon function.

King and Queen To Be Crowned At Young School Halloween Carnival

One of the many interesting features to be presented at the Young school carnival in celebration of Halloween Thursday evening, Oct. 27, will be the crowning of the king and queen. Just who is to be outstanding figures in this event which is already promoting personal interest among the students will be decided at the end of a closely and evenly matched contest now in rapid progress.

Booths and rooms will be arranged in colors stressing the month's motif.

All children and patrons are invited to attend this entertainment at 7 o'clock.

Bride-Elect of Jimmie Rex Is Honored With Lovely Shower

Miss Eloise Hamilton, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hamilton, bride-elect of Jimmie Rex, popular Ranger man, was the honoree at one of the loveliest affairs of the entire fall season and its gay happenings, when Mrs. J. B. Houghton and Mrs. Mary Young entertained with a miscellaneous shower, given at

The Cherry street home of the former hostess Thursday evening.

As guests entered they immediately became absorbed in the artistic setting afforded by fall blossoms blending from pale tones to deep rich hues suggesting the change of the season, and closely approaching wedding of the highly admired young couple.

As the honoree was admitted, responding to an invitation to drop by and join a dance group who had planned on spending the evening at the Elks opening winter dance, she was welcomed by the joint hostesses and little Miss Patsy Yonker who presented a darling picture dressed in a white bridal costume immediately pushed forward a gift cart loaded with balls of whiteness and tied with bows and bits of ribbon, reflecting every color tone of the pastel rainbow.

Sammy Ruth Matthews gave a very clever reading followed with musical numbers given at the piano by Miss Junetta Smith, who selected for her group of songs, "The Wedding of the Wooden Soldier and China Doll," "I Promise You," "I Love You Truly," and "Misses," the latter dedicated to the honoree. A fitting toast was given the bride-elect by the co-hostess, Mrs. Young, prior to the serving of a delicious refreshment course.

The guest list included: Mrs. Wade Swift, Hortense Matthews, Leola Young, Gertrude Hamilton, Owen Hamilton, Mickey Sloan, Preston Burks, Cleo Herring, Jimmie Nottingham, C. E. Novel Twists Mark Plot of Thriller

Amazingly different in plot and as exciting as it is original, "The Roadhouse Murder," new RKO Radio picture which opened last night at the Columbia theatre, Ranger, provides romance mixed with virile entertainment of the spine-tingling variety.

Performances by Eric Linden and Dorothy Jordan and expert direction by J. Walter Ruben add to the appeal of an unique and absorbing story.

The picture opens with a newspaper background from which it quickly veers to launch the young reporter hero and his sweetheart on a series of amazing adventures.

While riding in a lonely, wooded stretch of country, the young lovers are caught in a terrific thunderstorm. They seek refuge in a desolate-appearing roadhouse and are admitted by a sinister-looking porter. Inside the house of shadows they witness strange happenings which culminate in a double murder.

With the instinct of the newspaper man, the boy thinks only of building it up to sensational heights, he conceives the fantastic plan of putting the police on his own trail. The scheme works beautifully until the evidence which the girl has taken for safekeeping disappears. Events move swiftly toward a surprise conclusion from this point.

It is said that "organized crime with political graft and corruption costs the people of the United States 11 billion dollars a year."

If every citizen who counts himself respectable would come to church and help the churches in hearing and sending the gospel, and if every member of the church would be loyal to Jesus Christ and His church this great loss would be speedily reduced.

Law enforcement is necessary, and we should have better law enforcement, but the gospel of Jesus Christ is the greatest check to crime.

Which side do you let your influence be felt upon?

This is the twenty-third Sunday after Pentecost and the Gospel read is taken from St. Matthew 9:15-26. Here we have an account of the wonderful faith of a woman who had been ill for 12 years. She thought if she only touched the garment of Christ that she would be cured. Then Christ turned and said to her: "Be of good faith, daughter; thy faith hath made thee whole. We are also told in this Gospel how Christ raised to life the daughter of a certain ruler, but the ruler had absolute faith in Christ. If we believe in Christ and try and do what is right and repent when we do wrong then Christ will save us.

Spain Cheerful

By Wire

MADRID.—The future of Spain's economy is optimistic, largely because of the bumper wheat crop in 1932 and the winter orange crop.

Wheat production estimated at 44,000,000 bushels, which is a yearly production of 100,000,000 bushels.

Since this year's crop there will be a surplus of 1932, so that there will be no necessity for imports of wheat for the next year. It is expected that the surplus will be 100,000,000 bushels.

The surplus of 100,000,000 bushels of wheat is a great boon to the Spanish people, as it will enable them to export wheat to other countries.
