Water Pipes to be Laid in Ranger

WILL REPLACE WORN PIPE IN WATER SYSTEM

Unemployment Relief Crews Will Be Used On All Projects.

Several crews, totaling approximately 80 men, will go to work in Ranger Monday morning, if the weather permits, replacing 4,000 feet of pipe in the city water system that is now in bad condition and through which much city water is being lost. The car of pipe arrived in Ranger Saturday and will be unloaded Monday morning. The cast iron pipe will be replaced by black and galvanized pipe now in place along the streets of Ranger, which has become so worn that additional pumping is probably caused through the leakage of water. These worn-out sections are to be removed and new pipe will replace the worn sections.

The men who have registered under the Reconstruction Finance Corporation working relief schedule, handled through the office of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce will be used for this work. It is through the use of these men that the city is able to put down the pipe at this time, thereby effecting a saving for the taxpayers and at the same time furnishing work for a number of men.

The projects, with the number of feet of pipe in each instance, was listed Saturday by Roy Jameson, city secretary, as follows:

No. 1—From Melvin street to North Marston street along north side of Cypress. Number of feet 920.

No. 2—From Cypress street north along the east side of Gaddis street (North Austin street). Number of feet 290.

No. 3—From Cypress street along the east side of North Austin street to the alley between Cherry and Cypress streets. Number of feet 210.

No. 4—From North Marston street, intersection of alley between Cherry and Cypress streets, east to the laundry. Number of feet 330.

No. 5—From Homer street at intersection of alley between Cypress street and Page street east to Lula street. Number of feet 260.

No. 6—From Lula street along alley between Cherry street and Cypress street to Mt. View avenue. Number of feet 1020.

No. 7—From Pine street north along east side of Lula street to intersection of Pine and Main streets, thence west 100 feet and east 50 feet. Number of feet 300.

No. 8—On South Rusk street at the jog next the old Magnolia station along South Rusk street to the J. F. Dill place. Number of feet 120.

No. 9—On Homer street lowering the present 6-inch line from Cypress street to alley between Cypress and Page thence west along the alley 200 feet.

No. 10—From Blackwell road south along the alley between Virginia street and the Prairie camp to the Cooper school. Number of feet 1200.

JUDGE SAYS EXHIBITS ARE EXCEPTIONAL

The Annual Oil Belt Poultry show, with more than 300 birds on exhibition, came to a close in Ranger Saturday night with a large number of visitors present during the afternoon and evening.

W. K. Heitz of the Texas A. & M. college was the judge of the show. He stated Saturday that the entries in the Rhode Island Red division were far above the average shown in most poultry shows and that the birds in this section were exceptionally good.

Many other varieties were displayed and the number of turkey shows was greater than at any previous show, more than 50 being entered.

B. C. Townsend of Ranger won first place for the best pen of 20 chickens of one variety belonging to one exhibitor and took the grand champion prize in this department. His chickens were utility White Leghorns.

The grand champion pen of chickens was displayed by T. L. Adams of Route 3, Ranger, who displayed Rhode Island Reds.

The grand champion female was exhibited by B. C. Townsend, a utility White Leghorn winning in this division.

The grand champion pen of turkeys was shown by Alvin Woods, Route 3, Gorman, White Hollands taking the prize for the best turkeys.

Other awards, which included merchandise prizes and ribbons were awarded Saturday to the winners, which were selected by the judge on Friday afternoon. These awards were recorded and the premiums distributed to the winning exhibitors late Saturday. A complete list of the winners was not available in time for publication today, but was expected to be ready sometime Monday.

"OFFENSIVE" TO BRITAIN

"Pay or get out" is in effect what Shah Reza Khan (above) of Persia told the Anglo-Persian Oil company in a note to the British government which was considered "so offensive" that it was not made public. The Shah cancelled the Anglo-Persian company's concession and the British government in a note, said the cancellation could not be accepted. The Shah pointed out the vast stores of British oil in Persia could be destroyed by a couple of well aimed bombs.

Semi-Finalists to Meet in Race For State Champions

By winning from the Sweetwater Mustangs by a score of 7 to 6, the Amarillo Sandies were scheduled to go into the semi-finals in the high school race for the state championship next weekend, when they will meet Masonic Home, winner over Sherman by a score of 20 to 6.

In the games played Friday, Comstock and Greenville played a scoreless tie, Greenville losing on penetrations of the 20-yard line, as they did last year against the Abilene Eagles, while John Reagan of Houston was winning from Corpus Christi by a score of 39 to 7. These two teams will meet this week end, the winner going into the finals with the winner of the Amarillo-Masonic Home contest.

CONGRESS IS TOLD ABOUT EXPENDITURES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—A congress facing desperate economic problems, today was told how Postmaster General Brown obtained a $3,500 sedan for official use and then had the government buy him another, because the first car's roof was so low he could not wear his top hat in it.

The story was disclosed with the publication of testimony before the house appropriations committee.

Brown turned over the smaller sedan to his assistants for errand-running after he had traded in all eight of their official cars and $1,700 of department funds to purchase it.

Chairman Byrns wanted to know if the postoffice department "thinks congress is going to stand for that, especially when we are trying to economize."

The Oil Belt basketball schedule has been worked out for the coming season, with the games scheduled to begin on Dec. 15, one game on Dec. 22 and the remainder after the first of the year, the season ending on Feb. 14.

According to the schedule several games have been matched for Ranger on the home courts, but due to the fact that Ranger has no home court on which the other teams are willing to play, these games will probably be played elsewhere, probably on the Eastland court or on the court of the town with whom the games are scheduled.

The complete schedule is as follows:

BOLL WORM INFESTATION IS CONSIDERED

Claims: Plan Would Cut the Crop and Aid Farmers.

AUSTIN, Dec. 10.—State Agricultural Commissioner J. E. McDonald today proposed a movement which, he declared, will balance one "cotton menace" against the other. He proposes that government-owned cotton be made available to compensate farmers in a proposed zone in which cotton-planting shall be prohibited for two years.

Cotton growers are menaced, he said, both by pink boll worm infestation along the Mexican border and by the government-owned cotton owned in storage.

He urged, also, that an agreement be made with the Mexican government for a similar, non-cotton zone on the south of the Rio Grande.

Site Selected For State Observatory

AUSTIN, Dec. 10.—Dr. Otto Struve, director of the University of Chicago observatory, has tentatively approved a location for the University of Texas observatory in the Davis mountains, 15 miles from Fort Davis, university officials said today.

Dr. Struve was quoted as saying the site is the best in the state. It is about a mile from the state highway, atop a mountain on the "Up-and-Down ranch."

THREATS MADE ON REPORTER IN THE SENATE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—A senate committee today investigated threats made against the life of a newspaper correspondent by a senate employee who rushed into the press gallery with a revolver in his hand.

Eye-witnesses said the employee was Charles F. Pace, veteran senate financial clerk. Brandishing a gun, he was said to have threatened Charles Stevenson, a member of the United Press Washington staff.

Vice President Curtis, presiding officer of the senate, was informed of the treat. He turned the matter off with a facetious remark and later said to newspaper men, who asked that measures be taken to protect them:

"Half of the men up there in the press gallery print nothing but lies. They know they are lies, but go ahead and print them anyway."

Smith at Corpus Christi.

Woodruff Assumes Edgar Witt's Post As Lt. Governor

AUSTIN, Dec. 10.—Governor Woodruff's successor in the executive office, puts Senator H. Grady Woodruff of Decatur directly in line for the acting governorship, if Governor Ross S. Sterling resigns before his term is up or makes a hunting trip to Mexico.

Woodruff, 37, was elected president pro tem of the senate when it adjourned sine die in the last called session. He remains president pro tem until, at least the meeting of the 43rd legislature on Jan. 10. In that capacity he succeeds directly to the rights and duties of Lieutenant Governor Witt, in case of the lieutenant governor's absence from the state.

Woodruff, one of the group of young senators, which have gone into the "upper body" from the house of representatives as a lawyer. Before election to the senate he served in three seasons of the house and was a recognized power both as an organizer and a debater.

The lieutenant governor's trip to Washington for the purpose of receiving treatment for his arm which has been practically severed, is a session with his right arm in a sling. At times it was so painful, he was obliged to yield the chair. He will be back in ample time for the inauguration, is family announced.

Georgetown Post Office is Occupied

GEORGETOWN, Texas.—Georgetown's new three-story postoffice—complete and modern in every feature and a model of beauty and convenience—is now in use.

Change to the new building was made Dec. 1 after an open-house.

Department Cut Is Recommended

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Recommendations that congress cut the next fiscal year's budget estimates for the treasury and post-office departments by $32,912,304 were contained in the first appropriation bill reported to the house today.

WEATHER WILL MODERATE IN STATE SUNDAY

Wintry weather thrust itself deep into Texas Saturday. Youthful Texans talked of a "white Christmas" and the ease with which Santa Claus and his sleigh could river over the plains.

From Texarkana to El Paso cold weather prevailed. Snow blanketed the Panhandle, giving relief to farmers who feared lack of rainfall would result in poor crops next spring. The snowfall will not likely reach mid-Texas.

Dr. J. L. Cline, weather forecaster of Dallas, said the week-end weather would be continued cold with rain or snow.

At Amarillo the thermometer dipped to 10 degrees during the night. Snow fell there Saturday morning. Rain or snow was forecast for Saturday afternoon.

Abilene experienced a minimum of 20 degrees and a maximum of 24.

Bank Depositors To Get Dividend

According to word received Saturday by Dr. H. B. Tanner, secretary of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, from J. H. Brown of the state banking department, a dividend of 6 per cent will be paid to depositors in the Texas State bank.

The payment is expected to be made sometime between now and Christmas, according to the telegram from the banking department.

Seaman Rescues Dog

PORTLAND, Ore.—John Paul dived over the side of the steamer Edward Luckenbach—chief engineer's uniform and all—and saved the life of "Buck," a terrier who goes to sea as the vessel's mascot. The dog fell overboard and was about to drown, after many vain efforts to climb onto some logs, when Paul made his dive into the chilly Willamette River.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

A NEW CREATION: Create in me a clean heart.
O God; and renew a right spirit within me.—
Psalm 51: 10.

NEW YORK BANKERS READ RIOT ACT TO TAMMANY LEADERS

Acting Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York has called an extraordinary session of the state legislature to cut away restrictions preventing New York City from reducing salaries and effecting other economies. Two of the noted bankers of New York, Charles E. Mitchell, of the National City Bank and Winthrop W. Aldrich of the Chase National Bank, read the riot act to office holders.

They insisted that the greatest city could not borrow money "unless reduction of expenses was made possible by a lowering of salaries. The financiers insisted New York's 1933 budget be reduced by $33,000,000 before further loans would be made. Hence the legislative call. Compt. Charles W. Berry of the greater city issued a statement. He said that unless the $150,000,000 of revenue bills due between Dec. 5 and Dec. 15 could be renewed or extended the greater city would be unable to meet all its financial obligations and there would be danger of default on the Dec. 15 payroll. This forced a showdown. The acting governor acted.

Now the president-elect will return to Albany and a very hot legislative session is in sight. Taxes must be cut to the bone. Salaries must be cut to the bone. Appropriations must be trimmed. Extravagances must be curbed. Criminal waste of the money of the people must be ended. This goes for the State of Texas as well as the State of New York and the general government of the republic. Prosperity will return someday. While it is doing its best to score a comeback, excessive tax burdens must be lifted from the shoulders of the people in nation and state and city and county and district. In days of old when the statesmen of the nation were battling for the return of the republic of Washington to the gold standard there was ceaseless babbling in the halls of congress. Old Horace Greely was in the land of the living. He was called to Washington to give his advice.

He was a maker of sharp and short sentences. Addressing the congressional committees on finance, he said, "THE WAY TO RESUME IS TO RESUME." That ended the oratory. Lawmakers cracked down and made the gold standard the standard of the American republic. The way to cut taxes and lift the pressure on the shoulders of the people is to cut to the bone and then await the return of prosperity to order tax increase, salary increase, or increase in appropriations. Business men are doing it. Manufacturers are doing it. Publishers are doing it. Farmers are doing it. Why shouldn't the lawmakers take the hint.

WHAT HAPPENED TO RAIL CHAIRMAN BROWN

Edward Norphelt Brown was chairman of the executive committee of the St. Louis-San Francisco railway. Well, the rails passed into the hands of receivers. They fired the chairman. He lost his salary of $30,000 a year. He was a two-job man. He was the chairman of the executive committee of the Chicago and Rock Island and Pacific. For this post, he was paid $40,000 a year. He was the envy of many a Wall Street bank president. Really, in this land of the free when a gentleman wins a god thing or two good things, something happens to rob him of his prerequisites. As the ducky said to his boss, "It is gittin' wuss and wusser all the time." How will it be possible for a keen executive chairman who has been taking down $75,000 a year to keep the wolf from the door in this land of hooey and blooey?

SPEAKER GARNER AND HIS JUDICIARY COMMITTEE

Speaker John Nance Garner is a democrat. He swings the gavel over a democratic house. That house has a judiciary committee dominated by democrats. Hatton W. Summers of Dallas, Texas, is chairman of the committee. Speaker Garner sent in this famous repeal resolution. Well, the judiciary committee blocked it. Chairman Summers did not vote "fer or agin" the proposal. Now the Garner resolution bobbed up on the floor of the house on the opening day of the lame duck short session. Very dry democratic members voted against the Garner proposal; republicans voted against it. Three members dodged the issue by not voting. "Beer by Christmas" is something more than an iridescent dream. It is not on the way.

The gloomy philosophers of a past generation, having achieved something like classic rank in the respect that well read people have been supposed to know something about them, go in and out of fashion as do other semi-permanent schools of thought. At present they seem to be out of fashion, but it seems that a modern school of gloomy philosophy may be established in their stead. Now they seem to be more interested in the narrower matters of politics and economics.

DERRICK SHADOWS

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

While the dreaded monster, "Flu," rages wildly across the land it is something to be thankful for that we have men like Al Jolson, singing their hearts out for little boys and girls who are very, very ill. The tiny-tot-crooner received the greatest oration New York has ever given a stage hero, and while they banqueted him and said speeches to him and praised him, he stopped long enough to sing "Sonny Boy" to a little fellow lying dangerously ill somewhere. . . .

Like all beautiful things, it came and now it must go. . . . leaving behind all the slush and dirt and dullness, taking away the shimmer and sparkle and brilliance. But the little touch of white brought with it the real Christmas spirit and cheer, the desire to invade the shops and salons, the thrill of the season. Someone has given to us the idea that living things are lovely things and lovely things must die. . . . but that one failed to remember that the influence of those lovely things may live on after the death. And so it came, and for awhile we donned mittens and caps and boots and dared skate around the house. . . . and now we slop around in the wet remains and wonder why the sudden fit of coughing and sneezing. Yes, it was nice while it lasted, and perhaps the dampness will drive away the flu. . . . perhaps, Pollyanna!

My pity goes out to the weary hitchhikers, trodding along a gay highway and waving aching thumbs up the road. I saw one this morning; a funny little fellow with a pointed red cap on an equally pointed head. Plucky soul, walking along without an apparent care in the world. . . . trudging on toward nothing; happy vagabond. His highest ambition, no doubt, that some kind passerby might give him a lift, his greatest hope that some back door might afford a real pity? I don't know. . . . perhaps they're lucky; asking nothing, getting the same. They don't care what you think or what I might say concerning them. I wonder if they think or say concerning themselves? There's the rub, self-acquiescence. . . . and God!

I have no wierd beliefs in the realm of singing before breakfast and dreaming about muddy water, but I do not like black cats. I am not fond of the feline race at the best, and when they merge into blackness I draw a line. One loped right in front of me yesterday, just an innocent little animal standing out grotesquely against the dazzling white of the earth. . . . I didn't like it. The fact that he might be merely prowling around for something to eat did not add to my happiness in the matter. I believe such cats think deep and dastardly things, planning mysterious moves behind their glassy eyes. They are stealthy creatures, too wise for animals. They are like prosperity. . . . I keep looking for them around each corner.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON.—Among the few consolations that can be conjured up from the recent election is the fact that the Democratic House of Representatives, like President Hoover, is not as bad as it has been painted. We are going to have a Democratic House for quite a while and the short session of Congress which begins in December will exhibit exactly the same one that you have been hearing about in the campaign speeches.

Even if one should grant that the present House passed some dangerous legislation, there is still no reason to believe that additional doubtful bills could get through the Senate or past a presidential veto.

The mere fact that Governor Roosevelt failed to "disavow" certain of the measures passed by the House under Speaker Garner, as Hoover demanded he should do, convinced no one that he favored them or would favor them unless they were first demonstrated to be sound.

CASH payment of the bonus is one instance. The bonus bill was passed in the House only with the aid of many Republican votes and killed in the Senate only with the help of many Democratic votes. Democrats, either in the White House or Congress, will not be found supporting such a bill as a party. A Democratic Senate can be counted on to kill it again. Demands for inflation, or "repression remedy and the "pork" is an old complaint. It was endorsed by the Federation of Labor and by groups which sought to employ. Good or bad, none of these measures has any early date of enactment. Events have been only in case of a large demand, backed by the expert opinion.

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

EUGENE T. GIERING, editor of the Wilkes-Barre (Pa.) Record, says:

"If newspaper advertising were relatively of small value it would not have kept pace with the growth of business in the United States; it would have been discarded long ago. It was never more extensively used than today.

"It would require pages of this newspaper to reproduce testimony voluntarily given by many of the most prominent business men of the country.

"If he had not engaged in a consistent advertising campaign the man who started a small dairy farm with meat products in one of the western states and eventually attracted thousands of customers from a wide area, extending to the Atlantic seaboard, would never have been heard from beyond a few miles from his place of business. Such instances might be cited in thousands of cases.

"Advertising must be constant and consistent. The newspaper reader who sees an advertisement day after day is impressed. It sticks in his or her mind. The thought is that if a merchant can afford to advertise extensively day after day he must be doing a prosperous business.

"There is also the fact that advertising must be truthful. Years ago much of it was exaggerated. Today the tendency is to live up to definite promises. That establishes good faith between the merchant and the customer.

"Look over your community. You will find that the most successful merchants are those who speak to the people in the columns of the newspapers. That is why advertising has grown so extensively in the past 25 years."

HERE--- AND THERE

By ELVIE H. JACKSON

Two weeks from today the Christian world will be celebrating the birth of the Savior, celebrating in many tongues, and many customs. And the thought comes, Do those who observe Christmas, observe as well the reason behind the observance?

Christmas giving should be a genuine outpouring of sentiment, actuated by love, and respect, and meant to convey to the person for whom the gift is chosen, the sweet and beautiful thought of the generosity of One, who gave His all, and asked no return, excepting in allegiance and spiritual love.

This is the season when personal expression can be employed in selection of gifts, and should be the time that such a token would fill some need, or longings of the one for whom it is intended.

The gay tree with its tinsel bangles little suggests that rude stall in the stable filled with boughs of yielding pine, covered with Joseph's cloak, and on which laid the tiny babe, who was to revolutionize the world.

And yet this gay little tree of today that sends out spicy odors from its pine needles is the very same kind of a tree upon which they laid the Holy Babe 2,000 years ago.

The Holy Child was surrounded by lowly king and the soft bleating of young animals, little lambs that suckled their mothers in the fragrant dimness of that stable; and the soft breathing of cattle as they slept and rustled in the hay, under the rude thatch of that rock cavern, hollowed out of the overhanging bluff, of the hill at Jerusalem.

One often wonders about the mothers of today who tiptoe into a darkened room, to pull with tender love, the covers up about baby's shoulders, and to leave on the bed the tiny stockings, filled with pretty toys, that "Santa" left -- if she gives a thought to that other young mother, only 15 years of age, in that dim rock stable, who covered with quiet love the face of the sleeping babe with the corner of Joseph's rough cloak, 2,000 years ago, and looked with awe at the glowing halo.

The dignity and beauty of child-bearing was acknowledged by our Almighty God when he sent his Only Begotten Son to this earth to be born of woman.

Love, the ruling force of the world, must find expression. And as we wish each other a "Merry Christmas," let us cherish with love the remembrance, of the reason for that wish.

Our Christmas Year a Gift of Love. Candle night: candle bright--Christmas tree--a star--a light. And twinkling strands of silver-gold.

With sparkling baubles that enfold Turkey boughs of cedar--gay--Weighted down in love's array. Bespeaking that great gift to man When Christmas for the world began.

Oh Gift of Love, of Peace of Life, "Good will to me"; what need for strife?

Christmas there: Christmas here Bells in steeples, ringing clear--The Christian call of world-wide fame.

Honor the Christ-child's sacred name! Heed the "clarion," Peace on Earth, Good will to man--His heralded birth.

Oh! Count of centuries that stood still And brought a new count by His will.

The Gift of Love--of Christian Year.

And Man's Good Will. Oh--keep this dear.

Candle bright--Christmas tree Dark, sad night--Gethsemane--! Christ's own birth-tree star-a-height Beckoning on to joyous light.

Donald Kinnaird. Canto V, bass recitative, "The Angel Gabriel," W. D. R. Owen. Recitative, soprano, "And the Angel Said," Mrs. Grady Owen, with chorus, "He Shall Be Great."

Canto VII, "And It Came to Pass," contralto, recitative, Mrs. Cecil Nelson. "Let Us Now Go" (shepherds), duet, Mrs. Horace Conley, Mrs. Cecil Nelson. Choral recitative, "And the Shepherds Return," chorus, "This Is He." Quartet, "Sleep Holy Babe," with tenor solo by Homer White. Bass recitative and solo, B. W. Patterson.  A delightful surprise was tendered Rev. C. W. Lipsey, pastor of the First Christian church, and his wife, in a pounding, but of a desirable nature, taken part in by the members of his congregation, following a recent prayer service in the church.
 Music was provided throughout the evening by several quartet numbers, presented by Dr. J. H. Caton, Mrs. D. J. Fiency, E. R. Johnson, and Rev. Lipsey.
 The Friendship class sponsored the pleasant party. A handsome quilt was presented Rev. and Mrs. Lipsey, and an enormous amount of household supplies, given on behalf of the church and class, in a cordial little address by Mr. C. A. Peterson, to which Rev. Lipsey graciously responded.
 Refreshments of coffee, cocoa, and cake were served at close of evening.

Week-end MURDER

GABRIELLE E. FORBUSH

BEGIN HERE TODAY... AMONG THE... LINDA AVERILL... "I shouldn't think Pratt would play bridge, somehow." "He likes it—discipline for the mind and all that. Takes it very seriously. Then, too, I think he was rather smitten with the little Alger girl last night." "Attraction of opposites," commented Tom. "Of all light-headed bits of fluff! How about the others?" "I plan to talk to Mr. Statlander—that's my main object now." "If he knows anything incriminating—on himself or anyone else—he can be counted on to resist pumping like grim death. That leaves Shaugnessy for me." AT A slight noise behind them, they both whirled guiltily around. Very near them, on the rug which muffled the sound of his steps—or had he merely approached them very cautiously—stood the mid-westerner. He made no attempt to hide the fact that he had been trying to catch what he said. "Telephone anything?" he snapped. "No—oh, no!" Linda caught his meaning. "I was telephoning. It wasn't an incoming call, Mr. Statlander. Mr. Pratt and Mr. DeVos are to play bridge, you know. Incidentally, Tom, you might see that the table is ready and get out fresh cards and other things." "Hmp! Bridge—bridge—bridge! If all the time that was wasted—However, that's their affair. I thought perhaps it was your—er—medical examiner." "No, there's no word from him yet." Looking decidedly perplexed, Tom had left her to go into the drawing room. Linda wondered why the glance of half-reproach, half-exasperation he had cast in her direction. Then a flash of enlightenment overwhelmed her. Of course—he was intent on getting over to the garage and in her anxiety to get Mr. Statlander to herself she had stupidly forced him to move away from his post of vantage by the door from which he could watch until the coast was clear. SHE sighed as she dropped into a chair. Her stupidity about Tom oppressed her. Perhaps she had spoiled everything. Suddenly, violently, she wished that Boyle would come—that he would dismiss them all and that they would go away and she need never see them again. It was too hot to solve mysteries. It was too hot to care! The moment of near-hysteria passed but she saw the manager of the western factory studying her darkly, with an intent regard that might mean anything. It did mean, she feared, that she

Sorority Dream Girls at Connelley Theatre Tonight

Eastland will be the only city in the Oil Belt to view the read-and-show of the season "Sorority Dream Girls," a musical revue. The musical extravaganza is playing the Connelley Theatre for a two-day engagement on Sunday and Monday, Dec. 11 and 12, with an all-girl cast of performers. Nationally known stage and radio stars, appear in the production which was staged by Day-King. An all-girl orchestra accompanies the performers and takes part in giving rousing musical selections. Some of its members have been heard many times from nearby radio stations over national radio programs. Dale Drake, tenor soloist, attained fame in eastern theatrical centers and has appeared in several musical comedies. Horace Caywell, the dancing star of the show, has educated toes and his precision and military dance numbers have been copied by many less expert performers. The Hollywood Steppers offer some very unique and delightful tap, toe and precision routines. Among the dancing stars are Irene Mayfield, Thelma Payne and Fred Heller, Normi Norman, solo dancer, has been seen in Earl Carroll's "Vanities" and eastern musical reviews on various occasions. New and novel lighting effects are seen in the myriad of scenes, one of the most being from a radium number in which the characters change by the use of lights. Costumes were designed by Leverage King, and were made especially for The Sorority Dream Girls. All new scenery is carried by the most expert crew of being. There are 16 performers in the company, all stars in their own right, each an artist in his or her particular line. The company is now making a coast to coast tour and is appearing in only a few Texas cities. Following the Eastland engagement they will depart for the West.

New Dressler-Moran Howler To Open At Arcadia Theatre

That inimitable laugh duo, Marie Dressler and Polly Moran, make their latest co-starring appearance today on the Arcadia screen in "Prosperity," a story written especially for the two comedienne by Zella Sears, and directed by Sam Wood, who has produced such successful comedies as "Huddle" and "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford." The homely small-town atmosphere of such earlier Dressler-Moran hits as "Caught Short" and "Politics" is again used in "Prosperity," but this time Marie and Polly are seen as mothers-in-law whose constant quarreling, bickering and interference with the domestic life of Norman Foster and Anita Page, their respective son and daughter, and the latter's children, provide the plot with a ceaseless round of merriment, punctuated here and there by such bits of heart-stirring character work as only the versatile Miss Dressler can give to her screen portrayals. As is usual in the amusing Dressler-Moran family entertainments, one of the party has more money than the other and consequently makes herself obnoxious by her assumed "airs" and ill-disposed charity. Leave it to Polly Moran to make the most of this sort of role. As the one whose well-lined stockings has been unimpaired by the depression, she nobly welcomes her less fortunate "in-laws" into her home, with the result that vehement insults as well as crockery soon fly between the two mothers-in-law and the disorder reaches such a point that the married couple find themselves on the verge of a divorce. Meanwhile, with the best intentions in the world, Miss Dressler gets herself and the rest of the family into all sorts of trouble, the climax of which occurs when she attempts suicide in order to collect on her insurance and thus save her son's reputation and the family honor. To be sure, all turns out happily in the end, with Marie even carving herself out a niche in the hall of fame as a result of her successful scheme to bring prosperity back to the town. Together with Miss Page and Foster, the stars are supported by Charles Giblyn, Frank Darien and Henry Armetta, with the roles of the two grandchildren filled by Jacquie Lyn and Jerry Tucker. PINWHEEL ICEBOX COOKIES

2-3 cup butter
1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
1 egg
1-3 cup milk
1 square (1 oz.) bitter chocolate
3 1/2 cups self-rising flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
Cream butter and sugar until soft and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Stir in the milk and flour beginning and ending with flour. Add the flavoring. Divide the dough into two parts. Add the melted chocolate to one part. Roll out the plain dough and spread with the chocolate mixture. Roll up as with a jelly roll and wrap in waxed paper. Place in the refrigerator for several hours or overnight. Cut in thin slices and place cookies on a slightly greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderately hot oven, about 400 degrees F. for about ten minutes. Avoid letting the cookies get too brown because they scorch easily and acquire a bitter flavor.

Kuykendall, Mrs. Roy Jameson, Mrs. Pete Jensen, Mrs. John Thomas, and other members of the Child Welfare club and other outstanding clubs.

Every social group among the young and older set should reserve Dec. 15 for this occasion of which all proceeds with the exception of the actual expenses will be used for the needy of the city in making Christmas bright and happy for those who are numbered among the less fortunate.

Everybody! Let's make this affair one of the most successful of any project to have been sponsored in years.

After the program and during the important business meeting it was decided to organize an additional study course, in connection with the P. T. A. of which Mrs. Smith, school superintendent, was appointed chairman and will also be in complete charge of the circulating library, another recent addition to the school, interestingly introduced through the capable high school librarian, Miss Francis Barrage.

Tuesday afternoon members met at the residence of Mrs. Bob Hodges and profitably discussed, "China and Japan."

An all day meeting occupied the hours Wednesday with the entire program given at the church auditorium. High point of discussion, "Day of Prayer Around the World."

Miscellaneous Reports
Furnish Interesting Lesson
An interesting program listed with a group of miscellaneous reports furnished an unusually instructive and timely lesson last week when Young school Parent-Teacher association, heard one of the very finest subject discussions held for many months and attended by a group of appreciative mothers. Mrs. Harry Bishop, representative and delegate to the Texas Congress of Parent-Teacher and Study Club associations, which recently convened at Galveston, was introduced and who in turn offered a thorough and quite complete report of the convention's session.

Estel Ivon Smith played a piano solo and Ella Marie Choate sang a pretty vocal selection.

Mrs. C. E. Maddocks, whose valuable aid and splendid co-operation is always an inspiration to her hearers again rendered a clearly outlined report of the work having been completed by the County Council of P. T. A. and Child Study associations of which she is president.

A business session was called to order by the P. T. A. president.

The club's budget was also presented and accepted. Numbered in this important transaction of general matters reports were given by the room representatives, who each reported pleasing improvements and future program plans to be worked out in the near future.

Mrs. Maddocks, who holds the office as the seventh vice president of the Texas Congress of P. T. A. and director of projects, included in her talk of the hour a delightful resume of the present status of work and future field of developing projects.

The plot of the play is based in England and the story records how a cruel England landlady through the influence of children's happiness and innocence shown at the Christmas season is brought to realize how un-Christian-like she has been acting and becomes a kind, sympathetic friend to the poor and needy.

Between the different scenes there will be dancing, choruses, and solos. Piano and violin pieces will be rendered by members of the music class.

PARIS STYLES

By United Press.
PARIS—Shut your eyes for a moment and visualize on a huge panoramic slate, all the fashions that has been conspicuous for the past six months. This is what Parisian couturiers have done and before they went about designing their new models for 1932, they took a sponge and, standing before each figure on the slate, very carefully wiped off the objectionable features of each dress or ensemble.

Then they backed off a little to take a look at the result and returned to replace the obliterated sections with their latest ideas as conceived upon past mistakes and successes.

Now open your eyes and see the result! We have clothes that are to-day's clothes. They are not dug out of the wardrobe of some deceased great lady—no matter how great she may have been, not how respected for her social prestige. She had her day—now we have ours. There are several landmarks that characterize today's clothes, the chief one of which is unostentatiousness. Yesterday's clothes often have obliterated the owner—drowned her personality in trying to show her off to the best advantage.

SHOPS AVERAGE 265 YEARS.

By United Press.
STOCKHOLM.—The chemists' shops in Stockholm are venerable institutions, judging from a recently published report. The seven oldest shops in Stockholm have a combined age of 1,860 years, or an average of 265 years each. The oldest one is "The Lion," originally the drug dispensary of the royal palace, which has celebrated its 310th anniversary. It is an old tradition among the Swedish druggists to give animal names to their shops, which wear a gilt sculpture of their particular animal as a signboard. Thus, besides "The Lion," there is "The Raven," "The White Bear," "The Swan," "The Owl," "The Deer," "The Unicorn," "The Griffin," etc.

close the hostess, assisted by her husband, served a plate of sandwiches, peach salad, and coffee to the happy group.

Adding to the hour in a gay fashion was that of the presentation of gifts adorned with bright wrappings, and tied with bits of red and green ribbon.

The store associates presented Manager Gilbreath and wife with a pretty radio bench, while Mr. and Mrs. Kerby received a set of sparkling sberbet glasses.

Those present: Mr. and Mrs. Kerby, Mrs. Devos, Mrs. Ora Grant, Misses Helen Coulson, Alice Hanson, Louis Landtroupe, and Garland Powell, Jummie Nixon and Arnold Purser.

Come to the house of God, and let us worship God together. The church has the solution of our present troubles in the gospel. If the multitudes of the people will come to the house of God as God has directed and will honestly seek God with all their heart, God will surely be found by them, and our troubles will be solved and the depression will end. People, you all know in your hearts that this is true. Come and let us worship God together. You will not find God until you are willing to worship Him with your fellow man, for God sheds love abroad in our hearts.

War Records Are Being Sorted

By United Press.
WASHINGTON.—The disordered mountain of documents compiled during the hectic days of the World War is being converted into an intelligible record of the men who served in America's army.

Maj. Gen. Charles H. Bridges, adjutant general, revealed in his annual report.

War Department clerks last year sorted through 3,870,000 dusty documents—personal records of soldiers—to put together the scattered records of each individual. Congress appropriated $250,000 for the work, which is not yet finished.

Bridges, who is a sort of secretary general for the army, also revealed in his report that:

During the last fiscal year the War department received 103,969 applications from soldiers for compensation. Only 145,422 were certified to the Veterans' Bureau.

The army awarded 16 distinguished service crosses, six distinguished service medals, 33 soldiers' medals, two distinguished flying crosses, 13 silver star citations and 6,949 purple heart decorations for merit.

The strength of the U. S. Army is now 12,314 commissioned officers, 973 warrant officers and 119,913 enlisted men.
