DEATH'S HOLIDAY COMES TO A CLOSE

"Death Takes A Holiday" will be presented by the Senior Class for the last time tonight in the High School auditorium. If you have not seen the play do not miss it. Admission will be 25-50 and 75 cents. Curtain will go up at 8:15.

You will meet death and the girl who falls in love with him. You will meet her family and friends who try to keep her with them. Does she choose death as a lover? That's for you to find out.

JOHNNY HAS TO LEARN TO READ

It no longer matters whether Johnny U.S.A. wants to or would like to or may learn when the spirit moves him. He has no choice. Johnny had better learn to read and read well or we may wind up in a world where no English is written or spoken.

Reading is the key to all knowledge. Knowledge is power, and power means survival. Napoleon realized that fact when he once said, "Show me a family of readers and I'll show you the people who move the world."

We Americans don't want to move the world. But we don't want anyone else to, either.

So Johnny had better learn to read. Because you can bet Ivan U.S.S.R. is spending a great deal of time on his books and Ivan would like to move the world.

Everyone can and should do better. Let's knuckle down—and raise those grades to keep Ivan from moving the world.

TIME CHANGES ALL

The Suitor:
 1. "Darling, your hair is like spun gold."
 2. "I'll give you the sun—the moon—the stars!"
 3. "I'd go to the ends of the earth with you."
 4. "I'll work my fingers to the bone for you."
 5. "I love you—I love you—I love you!"

The Husband:
 1. "Eight bucks and a half just to have your hair BLEACHED?"
 2. "Here's that sponge mop you've been yapping for."
 3. "I'm not going to any PTA meeting, and THAT'S FINAL."
 4. "WHAT junk in the garage? You can still get the car in, can't you?"
 5. "Yes, yes, YES—of COURSE I love you!"

PAT'S PATTERN

The FHA Birthday Calendars sales are progressing nicely. Anyone who wishes to purchase a calendar may do so during the following week. All FHA girls are selling these calendars.

The Senior play cast was all hustle and bustle during the past week getting ready for their play, "Death Takes A Holiday." This is Dimmitt's first attempt at a dramatic play. Everyone should turn out for the Senior play for a well spent evening of good entertainment.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the 4-day Thanksgiving holiday. Some traveled, some visited relatives, and some just ate ! ! !

The Dimmitt High School Choir presented a very pleasant program during the Thanksgiving assembly November 25.

Students who have lost scarves can find them either in the hall or in the office. The bulletin board has been well decorated with brightly colored ones during the past week. There appears to be a surplus of them in Dimmitt High School.

Wednesday was grade card day and some left school with smiling faces and big sighs of relief. Others left with long faces and downcast eyes. But chin up fellow classmates and stick your head just a little bit deeper into those books and the reward will leave you with a smiling face and a proud look in your eyes.

Romance (?)

They were huddled together about as close together as they could get; the lights were turned romantically low.

"What are you thinking, my sweet?" he whispered into her ear.

"The same thing you are, my darling," she coyly replied.

"Good! I'll race you to the ice box!"

CHRIST
The coming of Christ into this world is one of the most significant events which ever transpired. It may not be possible to comprehend but meagerly, the greatness of the event.
It meant the fulfillment of prophecy. Thus the prophets were inspired of God; they were speaking for God. Their word is reliable. One such prophet said, "therefore the Lord himself shall give you a sign; Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel." Isa. 7:14.
The angel, in reporting to Joseph, said, "fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost. And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus: for he shall save his people from their sins." Matt. 1:20,21.
Other Prophets spoke regarding his coming, his life and death. He fulfilled each and every one in detail. Surely, He was the Son of God.

The H. D. Council Christmas party will be held in the First State Bank's new Community Room, December 9th at 2:30 p.m. All H. D. club members over the county are invited. Each is to bring a gift (preferably homemade) to be exchanged.

The Bethel H. D. Club Christmas party will be held Wednesday, December 10th, at 2:30 p.m., at the Community building. Everyone is to bring a gift to exchange and their Christmas gift for their Secret Pal. Old pals names will be revealed and new pals names will be drawn for the coming year.

"Deck the halls with boughs of holly, Tra la la la la la la . . ." or something to that effect, any way.

My goodness, did you know that Christmas is nearly here? One of my down-the-street friends said they'd received their first Christmas card today. Wow, and I'm only down to the "Js"!!! I guess I'd better get on the beam and not spend so much time writing all about nothing on every card to my out-of-town, once a year (namely Christmas) correspondents.

However, did you ever get a card from one of your old friends and they just signed their names or maybe had their names printed on the cards? Especially when you're dying of curiosity to know how many kids they have, or grand-kids, dogs, cats, or just something a little personal? Sorta makes you think that they don't remember just "who" you are but guess that they "ought" to send you a card, being you sent them one last year.

Oh, well, be that as it may, I'll probably spend some midnight oil, but I'll bet I get my cards in the mail by December 24th at 4:50 p.m. and be just as mad as a hornet when the pokey U.S. Mail doesn't get it delivered to my special friend in the Belgium Congo, or some place or the other, by Christmas morning. The Post Office Department can be so inconsiderate, at times.

And, by the way, I haven't even bought a single Christmas gift yet. Oh, well, I have at least 15 more shopping days to wait and put it off. However, I surely get hot under the collar when the local stores don't have a complete stock in evidence when I dash in 15 minutes before closing time on Christmas Eve, to buy my Great-aunt Sally's gift, and one for all my aunts, uncles, cousins, brothers, sisters, husband, parents, kids, etc. But that is just what you get for living in a small town and trading at home where you can park within a block of the place you wish to trade and where you don't get the thrill of plugging one of those pretty parking meters or getting a parking ticket or hunting a parking lot that is available about ten blocks down the street, etc., and then not finding what you want.

Sometimes I get sorta tired hearing about all this "trade at home" stuff. What does it get you except what you want? And what does it save you except time, gas, tires, temper, sore feet, headaches, traffic fines, etc.

Sorta like the time I was going to do all my shopping in "the big town." I got an early start, getting ready that is. I got my family fed, (had to leave the dishes on the table) got dressed fit to kill (even wore a hat) (carried gloves and were high heeled shoes as I'd hate to be seen like I shop at home in "the big town"), dashed to the filling station . . . got the car filled up with gas, etc., and then struck out.

The traffic was rough, but I had a jolly time . . . getting the life scared out of me several times, sorta relaxes you for shopping you know. Then I reached "the big town." Couldn't find a parking place within a mile of the fancy shops so I started hunting a parking lot. It really thrilled me to no end to have the parking lot attendants tell me the lot was full but there was another down the street. Oh, I really had a grand time playing touch football with those playful drivers in that downtown traffic. But I finally found a place to park only about four blocks off of Main.

Then I had a real nice hike to the nearest store. I had more fun browsing around hunting what I wanted. I didn't find it in that store, but there were plenty more. (I was hunting something I had seen in Dimmitt, but I was sure I could save some money in "the big town").

I also thoroughly enjoyed the way I got battered and bruised elbowing my way down the street. I thought the new angles in which my hat was being knocked were most becoming. I wore my heels off only about an inch hiking up and down, in and out, and the blisters on my feet felt perfectly wonderful. I was also having a picnic carrying all those packages . . . it was too far back to the car to take each arm load.

When I got hungry, I had a most enjoyable wait for a place to sit. (Funny how everyone always gets hungry about the same time you do.) After eating a delightful meal, I again dashed back to my shopping. Oh, it was wonderful trying to decide where to go next.

After running out of money, I decided it was about time to come home. I really think the highways are so soothing to one's nervous system about Christmas time. But I was in a hurry as I wanted to get back to Dimmitt before the stores closed as I didn't find what I was looking for in "the big town" and I wanted to get it right then.

I did. However, I just did, as the tire that blew-out slowed me down a little. Then, after getting home and into my "at-home" clothes, I had more fun washing my dishes with the dried egg on them. Hm . . . draw your own conclusions . . . 'nuff said, Mary

GET READY FOR BIGGER CROPS
IN 1959
DOW
82 AMMONIA

This year farm operators see conclusive proof that use of anhydrous ammonia produces substantially bigger crops. In areas where weather prevented timely application of Nitrogen, yields are down. Where Nitrogen was used, farmers who had check plots report highest returns on their investment in Nitrogen fertilizer.

Get ready for next year's big crop. After milo harvest, apply Dow 82 ammonia. Milo stalks and roots provide the ideal organic material to help the fertilizer work best for you. Dow's 82% Nitrogen speeds decomposition of turned-under stalks; improves soil fertility. Dow 82 resists leaching. It stays in the ground, ready for use. Spring plantings get a healthier, quicker start, develop vigorous root systems that help prevent blowing soil.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Bridge of Lubbock.

Double-ring vows were exchanged on November 15 in the church sanctuary.

Mrs. Faun Welker Retires From Teaching

"My name is Faun Welker. In case you think that "Faun" is an unusual name, I'll just tell you my other one! It is "Cuba"—Cuba Faun Welker." This was the way Mrs. Welker, a new teacher in Dimmitt, introduced herself at PTA several years ago. She is a member of the Crane family, well-known pioneers of Swisher County. She was the wife of the late Charles Welker. Her only child, Gladys, lives in Denver, Colorado, and "Faun" always "just happens" to have pictures of two beautiful grandchildren.

Mrs. Welker has been a very successful school teacher, as well as a teacher of piano lessons. Her musical ability is widely recognized and appreciated. She is the immediate past president of Delta Xi Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society, an international honor society for women teachers, and is the present chairman of the committee on Pioneer Women of the state organization.

As a result of completing "several years" in the school room, in addition to the passing of the "required time," Mr. Welker recently resigned as second grade teacher in the Dimmitt School system, in order to accept earned retirement. Though she owns a farm in Swisher County, she has chosen retirement in Dimmitt. She will continue to reside at 104 N.W. 9th, her home, where she will teach private piano pupils.

Fellow teachers honored her with an "after-school" coffee last week in the home of Mrs. Melton Richardson. Good wishes were expressed by the presentation of a gift from her teacher-friends. Mrs. Welker is the first Dimmitt teacher to become eligible for retirement with full benefits.

A TRIBUTE TO GRANDFATHERS!
Someone has said that every child thinks of his grandfather as the real Santa Claus. How true this is no one really knows. But it is traditional with all grandpas that they lavish more love on their grandchildren than they did their own offspring. And this is understandable. For the white-haired grandpappy looks through eyes of deep affection at his chubby little grandsons or daughters—and he lives all over again—in his mind at least—those happy days when he was a proud and youthful father with all the problems of parenthood on his shoulders. Grandfathers are surely among God's favorite people. No wonder that we . . . like most everybody . . . have a special spot in our hearts for them . . . and their tender, patient abundance of understanding!
