

ROOSEVELT TO TAKE SIMPLE OFFICE OATH

WASHINGTON.—Franklin D. Roosevelt will become the 31st president of the United States at the precise moment on March 4 when he recites after Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes the solemn oath of office prescribed in the constitution.

This brief and simple act is the oldest of the inaugural ceremonies. The oath is of the same simplicity that marks the constitution.

Since the early days of the republic it has been administered on the broad east portico of the capitol.

As the official company gathers on the pillared portico, the president-elect, facing the chief justice, places his hand on the Bible and slowly repeats the words:

"I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Numerous traditions surround the brief ceremony. When the incoming president places his hand on the Bible it is at a spot previously designated by him.

When he kisses the Bible afterward it is at the same designated spot.

Sometimes, as did President Hoover, the inaugural address, delivered just afterward, is based on an excerpt from this same section.

It was formerly customary to use the Bible belonging to the supreme court. President Harding, though, chose the one used by George Washington which is in the possession of the Masonic lodge in Alexandria, Va., to which Washington belonged.

President Theodore Roosevelt started the practice of furnishing his own Bible. He had been promised one as the gift of Afro-American bishops, but when the tome was delivered to the capitol it was found to weigh almost 500 pounds, entirely too large for the supreme court clerk to hold. Roosevelt substituted his own.

President Coolidge used the Bible which his mother gave him as a youth.

Despite sometimes inclement weather the oath taking ceremony has been without any protection from the elements other than the high roof of the portico.

An exception was made in the case of President Taft. A long range weather forecaster had promised blue skies and spring-like weather but the day before the ceremony the weather changed. A blizzard blew down from the northwest. On the night before the inaugural the temperature tumbled.

Pennsylvania avenue was sand-bagged to prevent the horse-drawn carriages from slipping. Laborers attempted to wash the snow from the grandstands, but the water froze. The Taft ceremonies were moved to the senate chamber.

LIVESTOCK CAMPAIGN IS LAUNCHED

ST. LOUIS.—Livestock dealers here have launched a campaign, with the opening of the Mississippi Valley Stock Yards, to bring St. Louis back to its former prominence as a stock marketing center. The city had been without a stock yard since 1918.

10,000 Gallons of Gasoline—Plus Lightning

Ten thousand gallons of gasoline, just enough for that summer trip you're planning, went skyward in smoke when lightning sparked it off at Oklahoma City. The refinery was a total loss. Workmen battled hours preventing spread of the blaze to neighboring oil storage tanks and wells.

Ancient Rivers Helped Build Texas

HOUSTON.—A great part of the Texas coastal area might today be just so much Gulf of Mexico, were it not for great rivers which in the ice age 25,000 to 100,000 years ago meandered through the region.

The courses of these ancient streams, and their tributary streams which branched out through broad swamps, much like those south of New Orleans, still are evident to the scientific eye.

Dr. Donald C. Barton, local geologist and geophysicist, recently conducted a group of members of the Texas Academy of Sciences through Harris, Fort Bend, Galveston, Liberty, Brazoria and Chambers counties, pointing out some aspects of the region's ancient history.

Later, with the aid of maps and aerial photographs, he explained the importance of these forgotten rivers of the coastal region.

Fossils found from time to time in the region, Dr. Barton said, indicated the coast was inhabited by species of elephants, horses, bison, and forerunners of armadillos, cats and sloths.

Vicks Chemists Invite Tests of New Antiseptic

The makers of Vicks VapoRub have now produced an oral antiseptic. It is called Vicks Vorozone Antiseptic. They urge every user of a mouth-wash and gargle—for halitosis (impure breath), oral cleanliness, and other uses—to test Vicks Antiseptic and get personally acquainted with its quality and its economy.

Born in a depression year, Vicks Antiseptic is priced accordingly. The regular size is a large 16-ounce bottle—a usual 75c value—for only 35c. For your testing Ranger druggists are offering a special trial size. This is a 25-cent value, but is priced at only 15c while the supply lasts.

GRAND PRAIRIE — Former Robertson Garage, East Main street, being converted into funeral home by L. O. Turner, local funeral director.

WELLINGTON — Huddleston Construction Co. received $27,716 contract for construction of seven miles road lying between Childress county line and this city.

Forces Are Joined In Cholera Fight

SAN ANTONIO.—State and county forces have joined in battling one of the worst hog cholera epidemics in the history of Bexar county. Hundreds of animals have died or been slaughtered and hundreds of others are believed infected.

Dr. E. M. Gleason, state veterinarian, estimated 20 per cent of the county's hogs had contracted the disease. He has consulted county commissioners and advised they urge burning of dead diseased animals to check the epidemic.

Improper use of cholera vaccine and careless disposition of dead animals are blamed for the spread of the disease.

Football would be a better game if half of the rules were junked, says Gil Dobie, Cornell coach. And then if coaches could resist making changes every year in the 50 per cent they salvage, the fans would ask no more.

Mine Accident Rate Has Dropped

HELENA, Mont.—The accident rate for the Montana coal mining industry dropped four per cent in 1931 under the 1930 record, according to federal reports received here.

Seventy nine mines in operation throughout the state reported 133 underground accidents, including four fatalities, indicating an accident rate of 193 per million man hours of employment. In surface operations the accident frequency was but 30 per million man hours of work.

AERIAL AD OFFICES MOVED

PORT WORTH.—Offices of the National Aerial Advertising company, Inc., holders of patents on aerial banners, have been moved here from Burbank, Cal. Banners and captive balloons to be used in advertising during the World's Fair in Chicago are to be manufactured here.

Farmers Are Taught Use of Explosives

AUBURN, Ala.—Agricultural use of explosives, a new departure in the technique of tilling the soil, is being taught Alabama farmers by the agricultural extension service of Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Principal uses thus far shown the farmers include blasting of boulders and stumps that impede the progress of farm implements. Use of dynamiting to control erosion will be taught later.

RINGS DOORBELL AND IS ARRESTED

SEATTLE.—Of all the doorbells in Seattle, James H. Smith had to ring the bell of John E. Resch, city director of licenses. Smith asked for aid and had a letter assertedly written by a physician, certifying he was dying and needed aid. Resch had Smith arrested for breaking a city ordinance which forbids unauthorized solicitation of funds.

Money Still Due On Big Wool Crop

SAN ANGELO, Texas.—Nearly $340,000 remains due to Texas growers from the 8,500,000 pounds of wool this state provided last year, according to figures of the National Wool Marketing corporation.

Equity of the nation's growers in the 65,000,000-pound crop received approximately $2,350,000, according to E. O. Oglesby, corporation executive for the southwest.

COW WENT FOR AUTOMOBILE RIDE

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—Bessie went for a ride and was able to walk back. She most ungracefully mounted the bumper of an automobile driven by James Hunter, breaking the headlights, radiator and hood. Hunter stopped his car, and Bessie, a Jersey cow, walked home, unhurt.

William Thomas Marlow Celebrates Birthday.

The W. C. Marlow home was open to the young friends of the son of the house, William Thomas Marlow, on a recent afternoon this week in honor of the lad's ninth birthday, charmingly celebrated with various delightful games, led by his sister, to the strains of radio music.

Bouquets of pink and white roses adorned the rooms, merry with the laughter of young voices.

The white lead birthday cake decorated with pink icing roses was topped with pink rose holders for the white candles and centered the lace laid table, adorned with a wreath of roses.

Rose jello with whipped cream topping and individual packets of pink reception stick candy was served with pink icing roses at close of the meeting, to Johnnie Lou Hart, Norma Jean Tucker, Louise Jones, Bettie Mae Jones, Frances Crowell, Clara Mae Odom, Jack Powers, Joe Whitson Tucker, Winston Bowles, Barney Ruffner, Cesar Hennessee.

Many useful and attractive gifts were showered on the honor guest, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Marlow.

Baptist Church Announces Date of Revival Meeting.

The Baptist church of Eastland announces formally the date of their annual revival, set for March 19th, and closing on the night of April 2nd.

Rev. O. B. Darby, pastor of the Eastland Baptist church announces the meeting will be conducted by William H. Joiner of Dallas, a member of the State Evangelical Board and that he was State Evangelist for the Texas Baptist Convention several years, prior to 1926, when he resigned this work to enter a San Antonio pastorate in 1930. But that he has again taken the work of state evangelist.

Rev. Joiner is a young man,

Stillman Faces New Love Charge

James A. Stillman, retired banker, has been summoned to appear in court as result of a complaint brought in Brooklyn by Luc Rockefeller of Montreal that the elderly banker alienated the affections of Mrs. Rockefeller. A justice is determining now whether there is basis for the suit, which would seek $260,000 damages. Stillman, shown above with his former wife with whom he had several sensational legal battles prior to her divorce and marriage to Fowler McCormick, through his attorneys claims the suit is merely a plot to obtain money from him. Rockefeller, twice unsuccessful candidate for mayor of Montreal, is pictured at the right.

about 37 years of age, and became a convert to Christ under dramatic conditions, as, during his university student days, he was a pronounced skeptic.

He is an effective speaker it is stated but not sensational, and is highly recommended by Dr. Truett.

The committee on arrangements for the revival comprises the board of deacons, W. D. R. Owen, chairman, assisted by Rev. O. B. Darby, pastor.

Rebekah Lodge.

There was a small gathering of members for the regular meeting of the Rebekah Lodge, Thursday night and the session resolved itself into a round table business discussion conducted by their noble grand, Mrs. Blanche Nichols.

It was voted to have a social on February 16th at 7:30 p. m. and a program, for which the presiding officer appointed Miss Opal Hunt, chairman of committee.

AUTO LICENSE FEES WILL AID INCOME TAXERS

WASHINGTON.—The internal revenue bureau held that automobile license fees are ordinarily taxes and are, therefore, deductible from gross income reported on income tax returns.

The bureau also handed down a detailed ruling on the deduction for tax on motor gasoline.

Business Gas.
"Where the gasoline purchased is used for business purposes the tax may be added to the cost of the gasoline and deducted as a business expense; but where that is done, the gasoline tax cannot be deducted separately under the item of taxes," the bureau said.

If an automobile is used for both business and pleasure, all of the maintenance and operating expenses connected therewith, which constitute allowable deductions for federal income tax purposes, should be allocated to the two uses on the basis of the time that it is used for each.

For example, if the total expense of operation and maintenance, plus depreciation, for the taxable year amounted to $800, and the car was used three-fourths of the time for business and the balance for pleasure, the allowable reduction for federal income tax purposes would be $600.

Gas Tax Deduction.
The bureau held that individual deductions for taxes paid on gasoline applied as follows:

"If a law which imposes a tax on gasoline shows that the tax is imposed on the consumer and not on the dealer, the consumer may deduct as a tax, for federal income tax purposes, the amount of the gasoline tax paid by him; but the taxpayer must have kept records of the payment of such taxes in order that the deduction may be substantiated."

Governor Plans Ride On State Navy

JEFFERSON CITY.—Missouri's new governor, Guy B. Park, plans to take a boat ride before the state navy is junked.

The lone vessel of the navy, a submarine chaser, soon will be sent to Keokuk, Ia., to go in dry dock. It is expected a bill will be passed at the present legislature to junk the boat.

"If the legislature scraps our navy, I want to take a ride before it happens," the governor said.

SHE ATE ALL-BRAN TWELVE YEARS WITH FINE RESULTS

Delicious Cereal Relieves Constipation

Read this very enthusiastic letter:

"Something like eleven or twelve years ago, I began eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. When I started, it was called simply Kellogg's Bran, and I believe it was one of the first products of the kind on the market.

"My friends often laugh at my fondness for ALL-BRAN. It gives such a clean taste in the mouth, and I do not feel satisfied until I have had my ALL-BRAN.

"If the Kellogg Company should ever stop manufacturing ALL-BRAN, here is one who would be greatly disappointed."—Miss Amy Person, University Park, Iowa.

Science says that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. How much safer than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily for most types of constipation. For serious cases, try it three times daily. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Dr. Craig Tried at Legion Court in Ranger Thursday

Dr. Clyde C. Craig, D. D. S., R. S. W. P. O. D., C. O. D., and T. & P., was tried at the regular weekly meeting of the Carl Barnes post of the American Legion held in Ranger last night, on four counts and one recourt.

The charges stated that Dr. Craig had come to Ranger in 1919 possessing only a pair of overalls with one suspender, one old hat and a well worn pair of shoes that were not mated, and was leaving the city with all the money formerly in the city.

Charlie Moore acted as prosecuting attorney, D. W. Johnson as defense attorney, W. C. Hickey as sheriff and Dr. H. A. Logsdon as judge.

The jury found him guilty and sentenced him to two years confinement to the city of Ranger or a fine of two years due to the Carl Barnes post of the American Legion.

The testimony and addresses to the jury contained many laughs for the spectators.

TO MOTHERS whose children won't EAT

Nature knows best. Never coax a child to eat. Remove the cause of a youngster's poor appetite. When appetite fails, tongue is coated white, eyes are a bilious yellow, don't give small children a constipating cathartic that drains the system. California syrup of figs is all the "medicine" they require. Specialists will tell you that a sluggish appetite almost always means the child has a sluggish colon. Correct this condition called stasis, and see how quickly a listless, drooping boy or girl begins to eat—and gain! The only "medicine" such children seem to need is pure, unadorned fig syrup.

Children who get syrup of figs now and then, soon have the appetite and energy of young animals. They keep well and avoid colds and sluggish spells.

Nature never made a finer laxative for children, and they all love the wholesome, fruity flavor of the real California syrup of figs. It's purely vegetable, but every druggist has it all bottled, with directions. Begin with it at once. The very next day, your child will be eating better and feeling better. Keep on with the syrup of figs a few days and see amazing improvement in appetite, color, weight, and spirits.

The promises made by the bottlers of California Syrup of Figs are true, and it will do the same for you. IF it's genuine CALIFORNIA. Don't accept substitutes.

GOD WILL PROVIDE: Take no thought saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness: and all these things shall be added unto you.—Matthew 5: 31, 33.

VALLEY FARMERS AND GAS TAX REFUND

Farmers in the lower Rio Grande Valley are organizing to defeat, if possible, a bill being urged in this session of the legislature which would eliminate the tax refund on gasoline burned in tractors and used in other ways on farms. They say that elimination of the refund would cost Hidalgo county farmers more than $92,000 annually. They have the official figures that show that Hidalgo leads the state in such refunds. Total refunds of $92,476.96 were made to Hidalgo county farmers during 1932. Refunds of $63,529.57 were made to farmers in Cameron county, or a total refund to farmers in these leading agricultural countries of the valley of $160,276.53. A reminder that 78,836 claims for gasoline tax refunds were made in Texas during the fiscal year in which $3,275,141.75 was refunded. Rep. F. C. Weinert of the Guadalupe district is an advocate of the repeal of the gasoline refund provision of the law. It is said that many representatives and senators agree with the Guadalupe veteran that the repeal should come before the adjournment of the 43rd legislature. Rep. Weinert has given his reasons why. Now the other side will be given an inning.

WIDOW COLLIDGE AND PENSION PROPOSAL

Widows of presidents are carried on the payrolls of Uncle Sam to the extent of $5000 annually. A bill was introduced to provide the customary $5000 for Mrs. Calvin Collidge. Senator Robinson, republican of Indiana, is chairman of the senate pensions committee. He announced that there would be no action taken by his committee at this session. He said he favored delay for two reasons. First, he understood "there is no economic compulsion for action" for the very good reason that Mrs. Coolidge is well provided for. Second, he wants to see "what is going to be done about reducing" the inadequate compensation of veterans who do need the money." Calvin Coolidge left behind him the shortest will in the history of New England. Those who think they know say that the estate has a value of $500,000. Mrs. Coolidge inherited the entire estate. Regardless of this, it is customary to provide a $5000 pension for widows of presidents, so why make an example of the brilliant and popular widow of the thrifty New Englander who began at the lowest rung of the official ladder, climbed to the top and then retired to the shades of private life and the graveyard?

COL. JONES MAKES LAST MINUTE PLEA

Col. Jesse H. Jones made a last minute plea against making public Reconstruction corporation loans on the first five months of the existence of the corporation. Rep. Howard of Nebraska is a very aggressive democrat of the western brand. He is the author of a resolution calling for publicity. Colonel Jones appealed to Rep. Howard for modification of the resolution "so that only members of congress would be permitted to see the amount of the loans and their borrowers." Colonel Jones is one of the directors of the corporation. He explained to Howard and to the press representatives that he made his plea on behalf of those of the corporations who felt that making the amount of the loans and their borrowers known would do harm. "The gentleman from Nebraska" refused to modify. He is not of the modificationist type. Democrats are individualistic. They never work in harmony. They are all leaders. Like the standing arm in Mexico there are 10 officers to one rank-and-file. Perhaps F. D. will be able to hypnotize the brethren on and after inauguration day.

McGREGOR ASKS, "WHY SECRET SESSIONS?"

Rep. Temple Harris McGregor is a member of the house appropriations committee. He is in violent opposition to "sessions in secret" on the part of the committee. He submitted this argument to the court of public opinion: "There are only two bodies in this country that should be permitted to have executive sessions. They are the United States senate that deals with foreigners and the grand jury that deals with thieves." Copy making is one of the fine arts. As a copy maker Rep. McGregor is a versatile artist.

WHY NOT A RETURN OF THE CODE DUELLO?

In the good old days "gentlemen appealed to the code." In the good old days it was pistols and coffins for two, and a crack shot walked away with the prize. Rep. Lindheim of the Oklahoma legislature has introduced a bill to repeal a statute against dueling. It is most appropriate that Hilton is given as the place of residence of the daring regaler.

Too many people prefer dabbling in theory rather than the facing of hard facts.

Blizzard Stalls 500 Autos in Mountains

Five hundred autos and their occupants, caught in a sudden mountain blizzard, were marooned for 48 hours in the deep drifts that blocked roads between San Bernardino and Lake Arrowhead, Calif. This telephone shows scores of the cars near Arrowhead, where their occupants had gone for a week-end of sport. Many of the autos were completely covered. The motorists suffered from the cold, but no serious casualties were reported.

By BEULAH K. HICKS

The Sea of Galilee, or lake which is 12 1/2 miles long and eight miles wide and 150 feet deep, lay in its secluded beauty 600 feet below the level of the Mediterranean, on that mid-summer day of June, 28 A. D. Jesus, realizing that this was the second year of his ministry, also that he must have helpers, withdrew himself with his disciples to this secluded place of quiet and beauty.

Jesus, in all of his teachings, withdrew himself and followers from crowded cities to the mountains or sea. In places made beautiful by nature the hearts of his followers could be touched and taught the living word more easily. But the tranquility of this peaceful refuge was soon broken by the multitude, who had heard of his mighty works and had come from great distances to see the result of this marvelous power. Jesus, with his infinite understanding, knew that it was not time to declare himself. His enemies would kill him; he must first select and train a body of disciples who would carry on the work of spreading the word throughout the world. When the people pressed upon him; the sick, to touch him; the unclean spirits to fall before him and the curious to look at him, he boarded a small ship or boat and taught the people from there.

Great is our Lord, and of great power: his understanding is infinite.—Psalm 147:5. No doubt as Jesus stood on the boat, teaching and healing and discerning the wickedness in the hearts of his enemies, he grew weary and lifted his eyes to the mountain on the west side of the Sea of Galilee. Perhaps his soul chanted the words of the psalmist when he said: I will lift mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth.—Psalm 121:1-2.

He left the sea and went to the mountains where Luke 6: tells us that he spent the entire night in prayer before appointing his 12 disciples to become apostles. A disciple is a believer and an apostle, one sent out.

I have chosen you, and ordained you, that you should go and bring forth fruit.—John 15:16. Jesus, in selecting the 12, revealed an insight into human life that no earthly person could have in the selection of the inconspicuous and unimportant group of men to be his apostles. They were all Galileans with the possible exception of Judas. Their one point in common was teachableness. Although their political views, temperaments and lives were different, they united under that call of "Follow Me."

Through the centuries the call of "Follow Me" has been ringing with its resultant promises to all who will heed. Did you ever try to drive young turkeys from a pen? The gates may be wide open but they will flutter, gobble and ran, making so much noise that they never see the gate until one accidentally falls out. How like these foolish turkeys we are. Jesus, who has given us all things, opportunities to serve and to grow in his likeness, stands at the open gate. We grasp at straws and run hither and yonder, making much noise and never see the beautiful gates that open into the peaceful, green pastures of service where true happiness is found. We might say with the psalmist in seeking to become better citizens in the spiritual kingdom: Lift up your heads, O ye gates; even lift them up, ye ever lasting doors; and the King of Glory shall come in. The Lord of Hosts, he is the King of Glory.—Psalm 24: 9-10.

This same Jesus, who stood on the shore of the Sea of Galilee, now risen and glorified, still calls to the hearts of men to be his disciples, if they would know the fuller and richer life.

American Standards For Soap Met By White King Co.

Americans use more soap than any other nation—they are more critical of the soap they buy—they want good soap regardless of the price. The American standard for soap is one which cleans quickly and without injury to the most delicate fabric—must suds freely in cold or hot, hard or soft water—must be capable of dissolving grease and grime with practically no physical effort and in the shortest time—still it must rinse out freely and quickly.

That's some standard; a standard which the White King Soap company constantly keep before them in making their White King Granulated Soap.

Starting soon, the White King Soap company will have advertising in this paper telling you why White King is now the leader.

If you would like to know how White King soap is made, write the White King Soap company asking for their booklet "The Romance of Soap."

Murder Charge Is Easiest To Beat Attorneys Declare

DALLAS.—A murder charge is one of the easiest complaints for criminals to successfully defend in Texas' halls of justice in the opinion of prominent jurists and attorneys of Dallas county. Two recent verdicts here were given to support the contention.

In one, a 69-year-old man was given a five-year prison sentence for admitted murder. In the second, a 19-year-old boy was sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment on a bank robbery conviction despite his plea of innocence.

Many good excuses can be presented for killing a person but it is difficult to show a jury any good reason for robbing, one prominent criminal lawyer said.

Judge W. L. Crawford, former district judge, estimates less than 10 per cent of those who commit murder in Texas ever serve prison sentences. Comparison is made with England's Scotland Yard which boasts apprehension of more than 90 per cent of the murderers and conviction of more than 90 per cent of those charged.

Explanation for the ease in evading punishment for murder is offered by District Judge Charles A. Tipper of this city.

Texas has thrown more safeguards around the person who takes human life than any other

War Vet Awarded Purple Heart Order

LAREDO, Texas.—Pedro Rocha, who fought in the American army in the World war, has been awarded one of the new purple heart orders and cited for a silver star medal in recognition of his activities in the Meuse-Argonne campaign.

The new purple heart order was given him for wounds he received. The citation was for his brave part in capture of two German guns which then were turned on the enemy. The latter feat was performed in company with members of two platoons.

Rocha now is janitor at the Laredo postoffice.

Chesterfields are Milder

WHEN you ask a Chesterfield smoker why that's his brand — he generally comes right out flat-footed and says . . . "It's because They're Milder!"

So we're going to keep on doing everything we know how to keep them that way.

That's why we look for and buy the mildest and ripest tobaccos we can get. That's why we age them in our warehouses till they're mellow and sweet.

We believe that even the shredding of the tobacco . . . and the quality of the paper it's rolled in, have a lot to do with the even-drawing, mild smoke that people enjoy in Chesterfields.

You can bank on this . . . every method known to science is used to make Chesterfield a milder, better-tasting cigarette that satisfies.

DESDEMONA

Citizens of Desdemona and several nearby towns were grieved to learn that Mrs. J. B. Gallagher had passed away at her home, on Wednesday night, Jan. 23rd, 1933 at the age of 81 years, 4 months and 1 day, having been born in Clarion county, Pennsylvania, Sept. 24th 1851. Until about three months ago her health had been good and she was remarkably active for her age, but after the first serious illness in November, little hope was held for her recovery though she improved so that she was able to sit up a few hours a day. Her suffering was great but she was patient and cheerful through it all. She was the mother of seven children, six of whom and her husband, preceded her to that land from which no traveler returns. She is survived by only one son, our townsman, N. D. Gallagher who always arranged to have her home next door to his and looked after all her needs. There are also 12 grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren left to mourn the passing of this lovely "mother in Israel" whose life was a benediction to all with whom she came in contact. Funeral services were held at 12:30 Friday at the Methodist church of which she had long been a member, with her pastor, Rev. Z. L. Howell delivering a message of comfort to the large crowd of relatives and friends, and speaking of the ways in which she was "Ripe for the Harvest." Her former pastor, Rev. R. A. Walker, offered the prayer. After services here the body in its

SPOTLIGHT BY H.W. CORLEY. BEGIN HERE TODAY. Sheila Shayne, dancer, is discharged from a new play because Marion Randolph, the star, is jealous of her. Sheila searches for work and finally secures a part in a musical show soon to go on tour. Dick Stanley, rich and socially prominent, asks her to marry him but Sheila refuses. Her idea of marriage is a home in a little town far from Broadway. The company departs on the tour and in a little western city Sheila meets Jerry Wyman. He seems to be a hard working young man with little money. Sheila is not aware that Jerry's father owns the factory where he works. Jerry is attentive and Sheila falls in love with him. After she leaves, however, Jerry's affection seems to cool. He writes infrequently and this makes Sheila unhappy. Back in New York again, she gets a job in a night club. Weeks pass and then one night while dancing she sees Jerry sitting at a table. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIX. Jerry, wearing a dinner coat, looking assured and elegant, sat at a table close to the square cleared for the dancers. At his side was a young girl in a frothy yellow dress, a very pretty girl. Sheila could scarcely believe her eyes. Jerry here in New York! He knew her address yet he had not tried to reach her. Of course he had no way of knowing that she would be dancing at this club. She tried to think. Had Jerry recognized her? There was no time to speculate. The master of ceremonies was nodding to the orchestra, raising one hand to quiet the applause. Again the spotlight crossed the floor to find Ted and Sheila. Again they were dancing. The crowd was an Apache number, requiring only the swiftest changes of costume. Ted had caught up a hat and Sheila a handkerchief which she tied about her waist. They circled the floor in perfect union. Ted bent over Sheila menacingly but without touching her. Sheila evaded gracefully. Suddenly Ted seized her, swung her roughly this way and that. She slid across the floor, crumpled easily and waited. He caught her up again and they danced together. She swayed past the table where Jerry sat, paused, could have touched him but did not meet his eyes. Did he recognize her? Only when at last the dance was ended and she and Ted ran forward to receive the burst of applause was Sheila sure that Jerry knew her. She sat at one of the tables, Ted Rodney opposite. Now the men and women who had been watching them were dancing. She saw Jerry excuse himself from the others at his table. He was making his way across the room toward her. "But I did call you," he was insisting a few minutes later. "I called the minute I got in. They told me you were dancing here and that's why we came." "Who is 'we'?" "My sisters and my brother-in-law." He explained that Marcia, the older of his two sisters, was married and the other man in the party was her husband. The girl in yellow was his sister, Jean. Jerry added that he had rearranged their plans for the evening, insisting that they should come to the Vlub Volens in order to see Sheila dance. The situation was awkward. Then Ted Rodney saved the day. "Won't you sit down?" he said to Jerry. A few minutes later Ted drifted away. He and Sheila had danced their last number for that evening. The girl looked across at Jerry. He had come to New York without writing her. This was the trip that had been planned so that he might see her, yet here he was with a group of friends, talking to her only because chance had brought them together. She could not believe that he had telephoned. "I don't want to keep you from your friends," Sheila said, half-rising to end the conversation. Jerry rose too and stood beside her. He seemed relieved. Wasn't he going to introduce her to his sisters? Apparently he was not. "It's been great to see you again, Sheila," he said. "I'll call you tomorrow. What time?" She told him any time in the morning would do. As she watched him rejoin his party she was sure that he would not call. Well, she would save her face there. She would not be at home to miss the call! Hurrying to the dressing room Sheila slipped a nickel in the coin telephone and gave the Sampsers' number. Tillie answered the call. Sheila asked shakily, "May I come up and stay all night? Something has happened. Oh, no—it isn't serious! I just don't want to be alone." Tillie Sampsers said cheerfully that they would be glad to have her. Was she afraid to come to the Heights alone? If so one of them would be glad to call for her. "I'll take a taxi," Sheila said wearily. "I'm all in anyhow." Two hours later she was crying herself to sleep in Tillie's bed. "Why don't you stay here all the time, Sheila?" the sisters suggested. The suggestion seemed a good one. The following Saturday Sheila moved her trunk to the Sampsers apartment. Jerry telephoned to Ma Lowell's rooming house twice. The second time Sheila was there and talked to him. No, she said, she wasn't angry. She had engagements, that was all. He should have let her know when he was coming. "You are being silly," Jerry told her, laughing. It was not a serious matter to him. "Why not have dinner with me tonight?" "You mean with you and your sisters?" "Hardly! How on earth could we talk with them around?" "When am I going to meet them?" she asked in a voice she scarcely recognized as her own. "I don't know. Do you really want to?" "Of course." "Well, then I'll fix it up some time, but that's not the point. I want to know if you're dining with me tonight?" "Call me at 6," Sheila told him. At 5:30 she slipped into a movie theatre, feeling very forlorn indeed. This she missed Jerry's call and wept because she missed it. Sheila found that living with the Sampsers was pleasant. The girls' father and mother were old-fashioned parents. They had lived in the same spacious apartment for years. Mr. Sampsers at one time had had holdings of considerable value, on New York's lower East Side. Recently these had shrunk. He had retired and with the salary the girls earned the family lived as comfortably as before. None of the sisters were beautiful but all were attractive. They had found themselves on the stage by unusual circumstances. Tillie, Clara and Evelyn, riding to-

HERE-- AND THERE

By ELVIE H. JACKSON

The faithful old Almanac comes into its own and can be well depended upon to give you the weather conditions, when one is anxious to set dates for parties, public gatherings, entertainments or what have you.

The dear old Almanac can also be depended upon to give you the dates of the advent of now famous people, and historical events of great interest, as well.

The Almanac comes to your door, free, full of information and to be had at the opening of a page, either with purpose or at random what does it matter if you are told of certain relief for pain, or see a gruesome picture of your pretty insides, with peculiar blockage, an arrested health program on the part of nature?

What matters if peculiar looking twisted faces confront you and "the after taking" bland countenances reassure you on an opposite page, when you are able to take in the facing information, of whether or not tea is going to be rained out, and just on what day, Napoleon escaped from Elba in Feb.

The Almanac gives you some interesting data, of things that happened in February, among these are, of course, Groundhog Day on the second, who surely saw his shadow and gave us all fair warning of weather conditions for the next six weeks.

Then who remembers that ex-president Wilson died the 3rd day of February in 1917? It is important to know that the United States Weather Bureau was established in 1801; and of great importance is the coming of Cupid on the 14th, Valentine's day. When remembers that the photograph was patented on February 19, 1839? We have traveled so far via, victoria, talking pictures, wave length and radio, since that date, that we think of the beginning as having always been born.

Historians will be interested in remembering that Florida was ceded to the United States only in 1819; and that since the patenting of the first revolver on February 25, 1836, munitions have been so developed that the Chicago gangs made swift evacuation of citizens via, machine guns, which originated in the revolver.

Many famous people have their birthdays in February, among them Aaron Burr, Charles Dickens, William Allen White, Thomas A. Edison, Abraham Lincoln, Joseph Her- geshimer, Li Hung Chang, Adolph Menjou, Adelina Patti, Mary Gar- den, George Washington, Handel, Caruso, Longfellow and Buffalo Bill.

That's only a few of course, but some of the most outstanding.

Though the almanac doesn't bring this information, the con- nectional interest is apparent in the birth of Fritz Chrysler, violinist, on February 2, 1875.

Mr. Chrysler will appear in concert at Simmons University in Ahilene on February 10th and will draw, as usual, his enormous audience.

Despite his fifty-eight years he is virile, vibrant and alive with music.

But just look out for the old groundhog and what he predicted!

Soft Gleam

Paris is raving about the new costumes just launched, in lacquered silks that are called "porcel- lain." America has its own counter- part, expressed by this charm- ing scarlet cire chiffon jacket that tops a black chiffon speakeasy dress.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

Too many persons creamed dried beef is just creamed dried beef—a more or less tasteless and rather unsatisfactory dish resorted to when the cook is at her wit's end for something to cook. But when care is taken in its making it be- comes a very palatable and appetiz- ing concoction.

The secret of delectable creamed dried beef lies in "frizzling" the beef before adding the cream sauce. Dried beef is lacking in fat so this must be supplied. Melt butter in frying pan, add beef carefully picked in small pieces with all bits of stringy tissue removed and cook over a low fire until the edges of the beef curl. Use 1 tablespoon flour for each cup of milk used in sauce. Stir flour over beef and stir with a fork until flour is absorbed. Add milk and bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly to make smooth. The sauce made this way is about the color of old troy and has a delicious flavor. No salt is needed because the beef furnishes enough salt for the sauce. Pepper can be added if liked. One slice of onion and a few crispy leaves can be sealded in the milk if a more savory sauce is wanted. Strain to remove vegetables and be sure to cool milk before making sauce. Cold liquid insures a smooth sauce.

A very attractive way to serve creamed frizzled beef is to put the creamed beef in the center of a large serving dish. Then arrange long strips of buttered toast from the beef to the edge of the dish and slice hot potato chips between the toast strips. Garnish with sprigs of parsley or sprinkle minced parsley over the creamed beef. Potato chips which have been made several days in advance can be reheated in a moderate oven to make hot for serving.

Macaroni with tomatoes and dried beef is a splendid luncheon dish. It should be served with a crisp lettuce or cabbage salad and a custard dessert.

Scrambled eggs gain interest by the addition of dried beef. Frizzle the chipped beef in butter in fry- ing pan before adding milk and then proceed as usual.

Mushrooms make an effective gar- nish to creamed dried beef as well as to scrambled eggs and beef. Per- fectly creamed dried beef with broiled mushrooms is worthy a place on any party luncheon table.

Hoover Week-End Camp Faces End

By United Press.

WASHINGTON. — Occupation of the white house by Franklin D. Roosevelt may mean temporary ob- livion for his predecessor's famous Rapidan week-end fishing camp.

The new president is a seafar- ing man. He may not avail him- self of the opportunity to seek rest and recreation in the Virginia foothills at the log-cabin rendez- vous established by Mr. Hoover and donated to the government for the use of presidents.

With the arrival of Mr. Roose- velt, Washington recalls the ad- ministrations of five presidents be- fore Mr. Hoover, when a week-end away from work was spent aboard the yacht Mayflower, cruising down the Potomac.

The coming of Mr. Hoover meant the passing of the May- flower. In the interests of econ- omy, he ordered it decommissioned in 1929.

Theodore Roosevelt ordered the Mayflower attached to the white house. While president he delig- hted in going aboard her for short cruises. He successors used the yacht extensively.

Calvin Coolidge found the May- flower a source for week-end re- creation. Members of his numer- ous cruises recall how he enjoyed standing at the rail of the trim craft, pointing out historic land- marks.

Resumption of this form of presidential pleasure-seeking is ex- pected by Mr. Roosevelt. One of his first acts after receiving the democratic nomination last year was to go aboard his small cabin cruiser for a short vacation along the New England coast.

While assistant secretary of the navy in the Wilson cabinet, Mr. Roosevelt seized upon every oppor- tunity to board any vessel that might be handy for a sail. In his office and home today the walls abound with framed prints of old sailing vessels and steamships, and on his deck one may always find a ship model, beautifully carved.

The Rapidan camp, scene of many famous gatherings during the Hoover administration, will be available for the new chief execu- tive, however, should he wish to seek rest there before the glowing log fires in its cabins. Mr. Hoover has deeded it to the State of Vir- ginia, but it would be held for presidential use should Roosevelt be interested.
