Lieutenant Garza entered with the spring class in March. He is a graduate of the Mexican Army Military Academy, Mexico City, and already is rated as a pilot, but speaks only a few words of English. Ground school instructors are brushing up on their Spanish.

FORREST CITY, Ark.—G. Morris, a second year 4-H club member of St. Francis county, Arkansas, has an unusual record in cotton for 1932. His record book shows a yield of 3,997 pounds of cotton from one acre. He used a rate of soda on his land and a crop was set before the weevil did much damage. Cecil also produced 123 bushels of corn from an acre last year.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE LORD IS GOOD: Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing. For the Lord is good: his mercy is everlasting: and his truth endureth to all generations.—Psalm 100: 2, 5.

BLANTON OF TEXAS EVER IN THE PICTURE

The congress of the United States enacted the Copeland medicinal liquor bill removing restrictions on prescriptions by physicians and sent it to the White House. Rep. Tom Blanton was the only Texan to speak against the measure passed in the house. Blanton spoke three times. He said that when the measure was passed by the senate "the senators did not know what it was all about but no bill like this is going to get by without discussion in the house."

Let us forget, the measure received the sweeping endorsement of Dr. William C. Woodward, legislative counsel of the American Medical association. This is what he said: "The bill will enable patients to obtain what is medically necessary. It does away with none of the safeguards against the diversion of medicinal liquors for beverage purposes."

How about the price? Counting the fee of the prescribing physician will a pint of hard liquor cost $7? If so, how is a penniless individual or a near-penniless to go about obtaining a medicinal thriller when he is "on the sick list?"

FARM MORTGAGE RELIEF PLANS UPPERMOST

President Roosevelt has submitted his recommendation for legislation to reduce the debt burden on American farmers by a billion dollars. He has proposed a swapping of present mortgages for new certificates of indebtedness to be based on a greatly reduced interest rate. That is, instead of the present rates of six and seven and one-half per cent on agricultural mortgages he hopes a maximum rate of four and one-half per cent will be provided by the congress.

He is not unmindful that there are small home owners in cities and towns who are carrying a load and who are hearing the same handicap of indebtedness as the farmers. A second proposal of the chief magistrate will call for the same relief for the small home owners. Washington advises that the tremendous task of refinancing government and private mortgages held by the farmers will be done under existing agencies in keeping with the Roosevelt program of economy.

All the legislation has been drafted and Henry Morganthau, Jr., governor of the new farm credit administration, will administer it through the Federal Land bank. All this provides for a government bond issue for the huge transaction and it is predicted that the amount of this issue may touch the high mark of three billion dollars. In the campaign of 1932, as a candidate for the democratic nomination, Frank Delano Roosevelt pledged farm relief of a constitutional as well as a substantial nature. He won the nomination and accepted the Chicago platform 100 per cent. He was swept into office by the American electorate and now the job of the national lawmaker is on. Restoration of the purchasing power of the American farmer must come before real prosperity shall be ushered in in all the regions where the tractor and the plow and the hoe are visible to the naked eye.

Employment must be found for the army of unemployed. Unless labor in the urban districts and great industrial centers are wage earners ever active as paid workers, real home market for the consumption of the products of the ranch and the range and the farm and orchard and garden cannot be established along the lines of prosperity and progress.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

THAT you should heartily support any plan that is for the good and the glory of your home city.

Development does not come unassisted.

If you don't keep your eyes open for every opportunity that passes your way, they will go on to some other city. Some other city is always trying to entice them their way.

Cities must always be made attractive to the people with capital before they can be developed very far.

New industries won't tarry long in looking over a city as a prospective location unless the living and business conditions are good.

A city may have all the advantages in the world, but it can't get anything or anywhere until it shows a progressive spirit.

As long as a city lacks that spirit and where the citizens show a lack of loyalty to their city, just so long will a city stand still or progress backward.

The Last Flight

'Cauliflower Ear' Tax Is Proposed By Fight Promoter

By United Press
FORT WORTH.—A tax on cauliflower ears and busted noses of the boxing and wrestling rings will be levied if the Texas legislature yields to the insistence of Dick Griffin, diminutive promoter of Fort Worth.

The current legislative session is more than half gone, but Griffin still is hopeful the legislature will legalize and regulate two of the oldest sports in the world. His proposal, formally couched in a bill for presentation in the House, would tax total gross receipts of any wrestling or boxing show 10 per cent.

He would bond every promoter, license every boxer and wrestler, restore boxing to the legitimate ring, and prohibit fake matches between both boxers and wrestlers.

The governor would appoint three athletic commissioners to act as "Godfathers" to the two sports under Griffin's proposal. Their offices would be located at Austin.

Licenses fees required of every official connected with the game, every contestant and every promoter would make up the $2,500 salary each athletic commissioner would draw annually.

His bill would permit regulated boxing, sparring and wrestling exhibitions for purposes or prizes in Texas except on Sundays. Violation would subject the participants to a fine of from $1,000 to $5,000, six months in jail, or both.

Each contestant would be examined within two hours before entering the ring by a competent physician appointed by the commission. The maximum medical fee for such service would be $7.50.

Gambling and wagering on the matches is prohibited in the measure. Each boxing bout would be limited to six rounds of three minutes each, with one minute intervals.

The last provision will prevent the bloodshed that sometimes occurs when a boxer tires and is subject to a merciless beating until the final gong or a knock-out blow ends his misery.

Also, it will double the ring life of the fighter, Griffin believes.

"Dandy Dick," as the promoter is known here, should know. Ten years ago he held the bantamweight boxing championship of the South, and fought Pete Herman to a 15-round draw for the world title. He fought in the semi-finals of the Carpenter-Dempsey card.

Now 35, absorbed in the business side of the game, Griffin still walks with the bouncing step of a boxer. The persistency that marked his fight with Herman has been transferred to his campaign for regulated boxing and wrestling in Texas.

If the gong ends his contest in the legislature with defeat or a draw, he will seek a come-back match and a clean victory in the next session.

House Argues Over Raising Accounts Of Its Members

By United Press
AUSTIN, April 7.—Members of the Texas house of representatives argued for an hour today over a proposal to take the limit off stamp, telephone and telegraph accounts of members and then referred the proposal to a committee on expense.

At the opening of the legislature in January, $100 per house member was allotted for this purpose. Some have exhausted their allotment.

Representative John Mathis of Houston estimated that the average member gets 200 letters a day that should be answered. Figured on this basis for a session of 120 days and 181 members, the house bill alone would be $108,000.

Connellee Theatre to Change Program

The management of the Connellee Theatre announces that with the show Saturday night the Eastland County Amateur Program, which has been a Saturday night feature for the past several weeks, will be discontinued for a time to be replaced with feature programs for Wednesday and Thursday nights of each week.

A feature of the Wednesday and Thursday night programs will be that on Wednesday nights women will be admitted free when accompanied by a woman with a 15 cent admission ticket and on Thursday nights women will be admitted free when accompanied by a man with a 15 cent admission ticket.

Admission price for children from five to fourteen years of age will be 10 cents any time. Balcony seats will be 10 cents to all at all times. Friday and Saturday night tickets will be 10 cents unless there are added attractions.

The Connellee management assures the public that it will at all times present the best to be had in pictures and vaudeville and at the very lowest possible rate. Following are some of the big pictures they are scheduled to be shown at this theatre soon: "Baptism," featuring the three Carryons; "White Stars," "Today We Live," "Gabriel Over the White House."

HOBO PUSHED FROM BOXCAR

By United Press
PLAINS, Mont.—Boxcar tourists are now careful not to sit too close to an open boxcar door while the train is in motion. Officials are still looking for an insane hobo who pushed a fellow traveler off the train as it was crossing off the Missoula River bridge, near Paradise. Recovered by trackmen, he was found in serious condition.

What's the Value of a TRADE-MARK?

TODAY the Chesterfield trade-mark is very valuable. Back of it is the good will of thousands—perhaps hundreds of thousands—of smokers.

Chesterfield cigarettes were first manufactured more than twenty-five years ago. At the start, they were sold at a loss, but the quantity sold increased steadily from year to year, until now Chesterfields are sold in great volume at a very small percentage of profit.

The Chesterfield trade-mark, as indicated above, is registered in the United States Patent Office. This means that the United States Government says that only Chesterfield may use this trade-mark for cigarettes.

This is not only for our protection, but for yours as well, because what the Chesterfield trade-mark really means is that you and all Chesterfield smokers will get Chesterfields manufactured under the same formula, by the same people, and in all respects absolutely the same, in every package you buy, year in and year out.

Wherever you buy them, in this or in any other country, you can depend upon the Chesterfield trade-mark.

Wheat and Corn In Gas Tanks Is Aid to Farmers

WASHINGTON.—The best way to solve the farmers' problems is to put wheat and corn, formerly fed to livestock, into the gas tanks of modern farm equipment, according to a plan embodied in a bill introduced in congress by Representative Gillespie, democrat, Illinois.

Gillespie's program for such use of machine age equipment originated in the mind of Paul Berschers of El Paso, Ill. Berschers has predicted that 680,000,000 bushels of corn and 750,000,000 bushels of wheat could be used this way.

"This country uses approximately 17,000,000,000 gallons of fuel yearly," declares Berschers, "10 per cent of which would be 1,700,000,000 gallons, the amount of alcohol we would need to make from the farmers' products. Translated into corn this would mean a market for 880,000,000 bushels; into wheat, about 750,000,000 bushels." This amounts to one-fourth of the corn crop, and seven-eighths of the wheat crop.

"This is no new untried plan. Other agricultural nations have adopted this plan to aid the farmer," he said. "Because of it, Germany's farmers receive $1.75 a bushel for their wheat; France's farmers $1.38.

Under this plan the farmer would not produce a surplus that would depress the price of his whole market down, according to Gillespie, who said, "This plan would afford a domestic market for three times as much corn as we ever exported, assuring a price of $1 a bushel."

"This gasoline content of 10 per cent by volume of alcohol has been used by men skilled in handling gasoline driven engines at state universities in Illinois," continued Gillespie, "and it is acclaimed by all to be not only as good as the ordinary motor fuel, but a better fuel."

"When the farmer is prosperous and has buying power, he embodies more than half the domestic purchasing power," concluded Gillespie. "Give the farmer prosperity and factories instantly will start up. The army of unemployed will be restored to jobs, and prosperity will be here to stay."

DERRICK SHADOWS

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

Among the later tragedies, and there seem to be plenty, we count the death of Earl Derr Riggers a great loss to the reading world. For with him, we lost that most lovable character, "Charlie Chan," and a host of exciting novels and plays. Who does not know of "Seven Keys to Baldpate"?

The writer died in Pasadena, Calif., Wednesday, a victim of a heart ailment. A graduate of Harvard, he worked with the Boston Traveler as columnist and dramatic critic. Warren, O., proudly calls her city limits "home" to the author. He was born there Aug. 24, 1884.

We view with astonishment the shifting of the backless fad from more formal wear to garden frocks and pajamas. More backs, less sleeves, if possible. And although we think Madame Fashion is very clever in her better moods, we should say some of these '33 creations make one take an angular octopus effect.

Glimpse-glances! You have to hand it to the smaller shoes for new ones. Somebody termed the temperamental star's lap dog a "fur-bearing flea," and the audience hasn't gotten back to normal yet. . . for a group of business men, the Lions carry off the upsetting presence of a woman very nicely. . . We expect some wives would be surprised just how pleasant the head of the house can be when father comes to us for advice on a new car, we wisely resign ourselves to the old one. We know it's a stall. . . even with the presence of three-money bear in the nation, some of us know Easter isn't going to mean a thing but a bunch of colorful eggs, and the kids get them.

It all depends on your profession. I talked to a theatre manager yesterday who told me more about those citizens of the celluloid world in five minutes than I could read and surmise in a week. All I had to do was stand by. . .

You don't have to ask those fellows technical questions and draw them out on things you want to know. Just a pleasant, "Good morning," and you're off to the races. Reason No. 1, why the show goes on.

Outside the sympathy the world offers along with sincere regrets, I fail to see the reason for all the hullabaloo over the Akron disaster. You'd think we had never heard of accidents and were hunter from the loss of tragedies.

When a car crashes up and all the occupants are killed or injured, does the government pounce down upon all the facts and wave them around before the nation? Of course not. Someone gets busy and patents another experiment to insure safety. . . and the machine age goes on.

The ill-fated Akron can do one thing down there on the ocean bed. Disappointment, duty and death forming the foundation to most of our progressive movements, the ship bids fair to shove aviation up another rung toward perfection. That is, if we ever discover something about it to improve.

America is to be honored. As one ecclesiastically to another, President Roosevelt has extended an invitation to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain to come over and see us. The British ambassador plans to leave England April 15. Meanwhile we wait for something. . . we aren't sure just what, but we're anxious, anyhow.

Mark 8:27-38
By BEULAH K. HICKS

Jesus and his disciples had left Capernaum, which is in the basin of the Sea of Galilee 600 feet below the level of the sea to Caesarea Philippi, which is 1,200 feet above sea level among the foothills of Mount Hermon, journeyed along a beautiful road with terraced highlands while Jesus spoke great truths to them.

Luke tells us that after he had spent some time in prayer alone in this beautiful spot, he "asked his disciples a question."

Can we not picture this beautiful place, green grass, trees with a viewpoint of the Galilean hills sloping back to the yellow shores of the sparkling blue waters of the Sea of Galilee?

Supreme over this beauty was the attractive Christ upon which at this time falls the shadow of the "old rugged cross."

With infinite understanding and great pity, sensing that his disciples had not grasped fully the truth of the cross, the Roman death, he asked direct questions with the most important one, "But whom say ye that I am?"

Peter here received the most praise and then a great rebuke. His courageous and complete answer, "Thou art the Christ," as Matthew tells us brings out direct praise from Christ.

Peter, the quick spoken, drew Jesus aside and began to argue with him and brought out the rebuke which applies to so many of our lives today.

"Get thee behind me, Satan, for thou savorest not the things that be of God, but things that be of men."

Then he called the multitude together and taught them mighty truths concerning life; eternal life.

The value of the soul of man, was emphasized by direct questions which aroused the intellect to look far beyond this small life. "For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"

For so many years the majority of people have forgotten to look up to this Christ, who stands supreme above all things, wind and waves, sickness and death, calling people to life and beauty.

comfort, seeking friends of worldly ways, people have missed the way wherein lies true happiness.

Great friendship founded on solid character is always a beautiful thing. But when Jesus is the great friend, how beautiful that life is and how it serves and blesses tired humanity.

In this world of doubt and puzzled wonder today, we need to ask our hearts the question, "Who is this Christ?" Looking to him we would find the way, not to physical comfort but "peace that passeth all understanding," which would lighten our burdens, put a song in our hearts and give us faith to believe, "For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus, our Lord."

—Romans 8: 38, 39.

"42nd Street" Tap Numbers and Novel Dance Hits Emphasized By Ranger and Cisco Dancing Class

You've seen many pictures since the opening of the lovely Arcadia theatre, some good, some bad, but many moons have come and gone since as great a number of theatre-goers witnessed as colorful a picture as "42nd Street," which closed its three-day run last evening.

The heart song of the Great White Way with others added entertainment throughout the entire feature. The 200 beautiful girls, in gorgeous costumes, furnished dance numbers, in tap, that will long linger in the admiration of those who are inclined to have dancing feet. These novel dance hits together with dancing technique of rare degree were colorfully emphasized when Miss Bess Maxwell, noted dancing instructor, presented a group of Cisco and Ranger dancing students, in beautiful tap, ballad and acrobatic arrangements, at the 9 o'clock hour. The lovely costumes would have brought delight to the eyes of the most critical of designers and connoisseur. The dance personnel displaying talent, grace and apparent development for future Broadway stars, included: Ranger pupils, Patricia Yunker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Yunker; Dorothy Henry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Henry; Lloyd Barham, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Barham; Cecelia McDowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McDowell; Catherine Jane Conley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Conley; Mary Frances Ohr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Ohr; Marie Conway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Conway; Peggy Yunker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Yunker; and Margaret Nell Long, Katherine Collyer and Edith Armstrong of Cisco.

Correction in Society Note
In the announcement of the County Woodmen Circle meeting held at the hall Wednesday afternoon, the name of Mrs. Kate Jackson of Brownwood, should have been listed as an honorary guest, other than national representative. The out-of-town visitors especially requested to be present by Ranger members and district manager,

Mrs. Della E. Sappington formed an impressive group of workers from their local chapter. The society editor is glad to make this correction.

Important Meeting of Co-Workers to Be Held

One of the most important meetings scheduled for the near future is that of the Co-Workers Home Demonstration club session and interesting program to be held at the home of Mrs. R. E. Harrell Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Members are asked to be present as the hour promises to be one of rare value to all.

Travel Club to Have Hay Ride

Members of the Travel club will be entertained tonight with a hay ride and picnic. Members and guests will meet at the high school building.

Mrs. Wallace Wagner, sponsor of the Travel club, and Mrs. Mae Healer and H. S. Von Roeder, will act as chaperones.
High School Chapel

The high school assembly was entertained by the Little Symphony orchestra, directed by R. L. Maddox, Thursday.

"No Sabe," a short one-act play, was also presented.

We hear a number of our fair damsels attended a dance at Eastland last night. A lot of others must have attended something by the yawning and all other marks of the loss of sleep displayed.

The seniors have more talent in their class than they thought, any way David Nichol makes an ideal "Chink," and Boyce Lee a hard-boiled "copper."

"Al" Carriger has sung his way right into the hearts of a number of our eligible young high school ladies.

"Handsome" Hanson and company are really seeing places of late. Don't ask me why I know.

SKULL OF HAIRY MASTODON FOUND

By United Press
COALINGA, Cal.—The skull of a hairy mastodon which roamed California uncounted years ago, was found near here recently by an oil well crew.

The skull was said to be in good state of preservation, though only three feet of tusks were found.

The recent find was the within the past few years, six other such specimens said to have been found in United States.

Arrested Man After Two Year Chase

FORT WORTH.—It took nearly two years of traveling through West Texas cattle towns and East Texas oil fields, but Deputy Sheriff Ed Galloway finally got his man.

Seven officers surrounded a farmhouse near here, closed in and arrested Glenn Williamson, 48. He was charged with theft of five cows in April, 1931.
