House Passes Conference Report on Land Bill

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

with BILL MAYES

A card of thanks, which is unusual in one respect, has been received by this paper. It comes from the family of John W. Craig, who was killed several weeks ago when a train ran over him in Ranger. The family felt that the deceased was shown unusual consideration by the good people of Ranger. He was a stranger in our midst, yet everything that was possible was done for him, just as though he had been one of our most valuable citizens, and the family appreciated this consideration on the part of the citizens.

One person, whose identity was unknown to the family, was mentioned in particular. We believe we can identify that person, because we imagine the family had reference to Mrs. Lottie Davenport, who administered aid to the injured man before the arrival of the ambulance. She bathed his face for him while he lay awaiting their assistance.

No More, Says Suing Lenore

"Through with marriage—and no more." So said Lenore Ulrich, stage siren, as she stepped from a train in Cleveland. Thus she verified reports she would seek a divorce from Sidney Blackmer, a movie player.

MORGAN FIRM FAVORED MANY LIST REVEALS

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The date Calvin Coolidge was revealed today as a favored purchaser of J. P. Morgan & Co. securities.

The name of the man who was president of the United States during the boom years, was revealed on a list of nationally promoted persons who were given opportunities to make a quick turnover in securities offered through the famous banking house.

The senate inquiry into Morgan affairs swung suddenly into the political field today with an effort to determine whether money-making opportunities were granted by Morgan & Co. in the expectation they would be repaid by political favors.

George Whitney, partner in the powerful House of Morgan, testified to purchase 2,000 shares of Allegheny corporation stock at a figure well below the market quotation, while Raskob was chairman of the democratic national committee.

A letter was introduced in which Raskob thanked Whitney for "the many courtesies shown me by you and your partners" and expressed the hope "the future will offer me an opportunity to reciprocate."

Other developments into the inquiry came thick and fast in today's session. They included:

1. Revelation of four additional securities in which a selected list of prominent persons bought at bargain prices.
2. Revelation by Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, democrat, of California, that although he profited by $4,900 on Allegheny corporation, he suffered a net loss of $2,565 on his purchases of all issues.
3. Revelation that the House of Morgan in most cases in conjunction with other houses had offered to the public $5,000,000,000 in securities since Jan. 1, 1919.
4. The house ways and means committee acted to have the house consider means of tightening income tax laws to make sure wealthy persons could not evade income tax payments through technicalities.

At Inquiry

J. P. Morgan, seated, faced his inquisitors as shown here, unperturbed and with lips firmly set, ready to reveal the operations of the world's most powerful money combine.

SENATE SAID TO APPROVE OF MEASURE

Opponents Say It Would Let Oil Companies Escape Payments.

AUSTIN, May 25.—The house of the Texas legislature this afternoon adopted a conference report on the "West Texas land bill" giving 5,000 landowners 20 years' time in which to pay oil bonus due the state.

Senate adoption is practically assured.

A similar bill calling for payment in 40 years was defeated by the last legislature. Court decision previously had held that the legislature could not relinquish the oil bonus to the surface owners.

Many millions of dollars are involved. The amount collected by the state will go to the public school fund.

During the time the debt is running, interest will be charged at 4 per cent a year.

Oil companies as well as the surface owners are liable for the bonuses they have already paid.

Opponents of the conference report contended the bill is so worded that the landowners are held to payment, while the oil companies can escape. Committee members denied this.

East Texans File Intervention Pleas In Federal Court

FORT WORTH, May 25.—Nearly two score East Texas operators today filed pleas of intervention as three-judge federal court convened here to consider validity of the state's production order in that field.

The present order allows a production of approximately 800,000 barrels daily and railroad commissioners believe it to be the most "injunction-proof" order yet issued. It is being contested by operators here on the grounds it violates property rights and is unconstitutional.

Flying Cadets Leap From Two Colliding Planes

SAN ANTONIO, May 25.—Flying Cadet Edward Avary of Oakland, Calif., and W. M. Altenburg of Maine, both attached to the flying base at Kelly Field, escaped death today by parachute jumps after the planes locked wings and crashed.

Central Baptist Church Revival to Start on Sunday

The annual revival of Central Baptist church will begin next Sunday. The pastor, Rev. H. H. Stephens, will do the preaching and Mr. Maddox, local band director, will be in charge of the music. Since the revival is to be carried on by home forces, the pastor confidently expects every member of the church to accept his or her share of responsibility, and lend every assistance in this great undertaking. Central Baptist was never in better condition for a great gathering of souls than at this time. In fact, the spirit of revival already prevails. Last Sunday one came into the church upon profession of faith for baptism; the Sunday night before one was baptized; two more are approved for baptism. Last evening, in spite of the rain storm, a spiritual well attended prayer service was had with Roy Gilbreath and deacons in charge. All present pledged their co-operation and a splendid fellowship prevailed.

Prayer bands will be organized and good music is assured. The pastor urges well attenders of the church to let nothing hinder them from attending all services. For one time, let us depress the depression.

Day services will be held at 10 and night services at 8:30. The pastor urges well attenders of the church to let nothing hinder them from attending all services. For one time, let us depress the depression.

TEXAS WOMAN GIVEN DEATH VERDICT TODAY

LAGRANGE, Texas, May 25.—Mrs. Mary Dach, 32, widowed mother of three children, today was sentenced to death in the state electric chair for the slaying of a farm hand, Henry Stoever, 58.

Tattered and barefooted, the children tugged at the dress of the 200 pound German-speaking mother as she listened stolidly to announcement of the verdict. Her attorneys gave notice of appeal.

Mrs. Dach had pleaded guilty to the murder charge, saying she shot Stoever last February and burned his body in a pit under a chicken house on her farm. In her statement of confession Mrs. Dach said she killed Stoever because he attacked her and mistreated the children.

Willows Opening Postponed Until Friday Evening

The Lions swimming pool committee, composed of A. N. Larson, D. W. Nichol, Roy Gilbreath, A. E. Ringold, Lloyd Bruce and W. C. Hickey, announced today that the formal opening of the pool, scheduled for tonight, had been postponed until Friday night, when it will be held if the weather is favorable.

Announcements concerning the opening will be made tomorrow if it is deemed advisable to hold the formal opening tomorrow night, the committee stated today.

Prices have been set by the committee at 10 cents for children who have their own suits and 15 cents where the suit is furnished by the management of the pool and 20 cents for adults who have their own suits and 25 cents where the suit is furnished. Towels will be furnished free with each suit, but a charge of 5 cents will be made for towels where no suit is rented and a towel is wanted.

Chemicals have been received and are on hand to keep the water pure, and it is planned to use more chemicals in the water this year than at any previous time, so that the water may be kept as sanitary as possible. The pool is now filled and everything is now in readiness for the opening, which will be held as soon as the weather will permit.

The committee again today expressed their thanks for those who had cooperated in making the pool possible this year and urged the cooperation of the public in order that the club would stand no loss in the operation of this civic project this season.

Books of swimming tickets are now for sale by members of the club or may be obtained at any time at the pool or from Roy Gilbreath, president of the Lions club. These books sell for $2.50 and calls for $3.00 worth of admissions, thereby lowering the price of admission somewhat.

Davenport was granted the custody of her child, 2-year-old Bettie Yvonne Bryant. After obtaining custody of the child the plaintiff left with her mother, Mrs. Eula Kirkpatrick.

Late last night officers received an excited call from a girl or woman, "there's something wrong in John Jatic's room," the voice said, giving his address.

When police arrived Jatic's room was topsy-turvy and he was missing. Jatic's landlady said she heard what she believed to be a gunshot. She said she saw four men enter a car and drive hurriedly away.

DARLING FOOL

By MABEL McCELLUOT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MONNIE O'DARE is going ahead with MISS ANSTICE COLE, and she is trying to get DAN CARDIGAN with whom she is in love. Miss Anstice is a very wealthy woman and she has been trying to get Dan to marry her. Dan has been in Wyoming with a party including his mother, sister and Sandra. When Monnie received a mail letter from Dan she decided to accept Miss Anstice's invitation to go to Europe as her companion.

Monnie does not know that Dan rushed home to see her, arriving just after her train left. She and Miss Anstice go to the theater in New York the night before their departure and Dan is with them. The stranger in ALBERT H. HARRIS' and he sits next Dan on the same boat they take. A message for Monnie from Dan reaches the pier too late to reach her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIII

DAN said grumpily, "Tell her I'm out."

The new maid stood in the doorway, irresolute, as Mrs. Cardigan murmured protestingly, "Dan, you simply must go! It's disgraceful!"

"Frowning, he arose and went to the telephone. "Hello! Yes. Oh, I've been terribly busy. I'm afraid—" There was a pause during which Dan grimaced at the table against which he was resting. Then he said, none too graciously, "Oh, all right. Around 7? 'Bye. Be seeing you."

After the servant was out of earshot Mrs. Cardigan, majestic in her morning draperies of trailing lavender, presiding with elegance over the silver coffee pot, began lightly to take her son to task. Underneath her bantering tones Dan detected real earnestness.

"Dan, it's really too bad of you. Sandra asked you to that big dinner last Wednesday and you refused. She'll begin to think you're a boor." She smiled at him, holding out her hand for his cup.

"No more, thanks," Dan retorted they were putting "the works" on him—his father, his mother, all of them. He was thoroughly out of temper and fed up with the whole business, he told himself. He'd half a mind to get out—go to South America—anywhere—on a cattle boat or a fruit boat. Sandra was all right. She was a swell girl if you liked the type. Dan was just out of tune with the universe ever since he'd made that quick trip back from the west to find Monnie gone.

He'd sent a wire to her hotel in New York, having ascertained by telephoning to the News office where Miss Anstice Corey was to stay. But Monnie hadn't answered. Dan didn't understand it. That is, he didn't until Geraldine had dropped some of her nasty hints a few days later.

"I see your girl friend has gone abroad," Geraldine had crowed, waving the town paper at him. Dan had growled, "Don't know what you're talking about." He had been furious. Geraldine had lifted her eyebrows, looking superior in that maddening way she had. Great mistake, sending that girl east to school!

"Oh, you don't!" she had drawled. "Monnie O'Dare's gone to Europe. Don't ask me how or why. Guess maybe Charles Eustace could explain."

DAN had interrupted her, his eyes flashing, fists clenched. Even if she was his sister, by the Lord Harry, he'd make her eat her words. "What do you mean?" he had barked. Geraldine had seen a bit frightened. Dan's temper was not to be roused unthinkingly.

"Nothing at all except that people are saying he wants to marry her," she had said hastily, "and that he's grooming her—seeing she has certain advantages before that happens."

"But!" Dan had not understood clearly the blind rage that fowed over him. Why, Monnie was promised to him! She had understood that. Then in a flash he remembered the letter he had written her from the ranch. What had he said? He couldn't remember. Something about having to change their plans. He had thought of course he would see her soon and explain to her that the precarious condition of his father's business and their dependence on Mr. Lawrence's good will made it necessary to "sit tight" for a while. Then to come back and find her gone—it was like a slap in the face. Dan told himself aggressively, forgetting utterly that it was he who had struck the first blow.

And now his mother was working on him, reminding him with-out saying so, straight out, that it was up to him to keep Sandra happy so Dad could ride along with the bank crowd, so that they wouldn't press him too hard just now.

"I'm going to the darn dinner," he observed sourly, "but don't ask me to like it." His mother gave him her firm, toothy smile—her "clubwoman smile." Dan thought it.

"That's my grand big boy!" When Mrs. Cardigan had her own way she could be nice. She ran them all, Dan's father and all the rest, with an iron hand but she smiled demurely at the while. Dan felt balked, baffled. He had to stand by Dad—for the present at least. Anything nothing much mattered if what Geraldine hinted about Charles and Monnie were some thing or other. Dan had to rise in him like a tide and clenched his fists, remembering—

"What's the matter, son?" Dan muttered something under his breath, choking down his toast. Yes, a fruit boat would be the thing, he was thinking. As soon as Dad's affairs were straight again he would clear out. Go away some place. They'd remember him, years after. "That Cardigan boy—lit out, didn't he? I hear he has a plantation in Santa some thing or other."

Meanwhile there was Sandra's "little dinner" to attend. SHE was especially nice to Dan that night. Sandra in her best mood, her gracious, interested, sisterly mood, was quite delightful. Even Dan had to admit it. She didn't demand compliments. She was casual, amusing. She sang a little French song—rather naughty, she said. The other guests, a brother and sister from Cincinnati, Helen and Tad Williston, applauded loudly while Dan pretended to understand. He felt inferior and admired Sandra for her cleverness. She was a darn smart girl, no two names of Bible characters in alphabetical order. Mrs. Williams' side won. Rev. Howell then held a humorous examination on various subjects. The hostess then served delicious strawberry ice cream and angel food cake, the cake being decorated with pink and white icing.

Miss Emma Jane Hammond, formerly of Desdemona but now of Comanche visited Idell McGuire and Virginia Bruce several days last week.

Mrs. W. H. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bedford went to Flatwoods Saturday where Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Bedford attended an all-day meeting of the Eastland County Federation of Women's clubs. Speakers for the meeting were Judge Clyde Garrett, Miss Sally E. Hill, District Home Demonstration Agent, and Miss Ola Jacks, yard specialist from A. & M. College. As this was the last meeting before adjourning for the summer, quite a lot of business was transacted and the incoming officers were installed. During the past year the County Federation has sponsored three important projects: recreation, circulating library and art exhibits for the rural schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thompson and baby of Ranger were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Robert, Thursday night. Mrs. Thompson was formerly Miss Katie Kellum, a sister of Mrs. Robert and for several years a teacher in Desdemona schools.

Mrs. Claud Lee and Mrs. A. T. Campbell left Monday for a visit with relatives at Olney and Burk Burnett.

Mrs. Robert Keith and children of Stephenville spent Saturday here with Mrs. S. T. Stover.

Miss Dorothy Mae Bowen left Monday for her home near Comanche after having attended our public school the past year.

Mr. and Mrs. Plummer Ashburn drove over to Gorman on business Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Claborn and little girl left Tuesday for Giden to which place they were transferred by the Magnolia Company.

Graduation exercises were held at the Desdemona High school Thursday night with the following program: Professional, with Mrs. D. E. Hoover pianist.

Invocation, Rev. Z. L. Howell. Salutatory, Miss Penelope Robert.

Piano Solo, Miss Edra Parks. Address, "The Highway of Life," K. N. Cluck superintendent of Cien schools.

Valedictory, Andrew Owen. Presentation of diplomas by J. E. Heeter.

Henry Ford Dearborn, Mich.

I suppose that I may claim to be the first Ford Dealer. I not only made cars, but sold them and frequently delivered them myself. The "drive away" is not new; often I have driven cars from Detroit to towns in Ohio or Indiana or Michigan to make delivery. There were no good roads in those days, and the people where I drove had never seen a motor car before. My first really enthusiastic customers were Country Doctors. They were the first to realize the value of dependable transportation to a widely scattered practice. Even today I occasionally hear from some of those first Ford users. We had to teach local mechanics how to care for the cars. That is how Ford Service began, which is now found everywhere in the world. We believed from the beginning that a sale does not complete our transaction with our customer — it creates upon us an obligation to see that our customer's car gives him service. Ford Dealers know their duty to the public in this respect. I can say of Ford Dealers generally that they have been and are men of character and standing in their communities. Most of them have been with us many years, which indicates that we agree on basic business principles. The Company provides that the methods used to sell the Ford car are consistent with the self-respect of the Dealers who handle it. The present Ford V-8 is the peak of our 30 years experience. We have never made a better car. Its eight-cylinder engine is powerful and smooth running. The car is admittedly very good looking and has comfortable riding qualities. It is economical in operation because of advanced engine design and low car weight. It is the fastest, roomiest and most powerful car we have ever built.

State Wages a War Against Starfish

By United Press
 BOSTON. — Massachusetts is waging war successfully against starfish, which threatened extinction of its $2,000,000 scallop industry.

For an expenditure of less than $20,000, approximately 38,000 starfish have been destroyed in two years, mostly in the Cape Cod area.

Bounties on starfish average from 15 to 35 cents a bushel.

Henry Ford says the country has made a complete turn-around and is now going forward. Here's hoping that the speed in high will soon be equal to what it was in reverse.

CRACKS IN THE DOME

By GORDON K. SHEARER
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 AUSTIN. — Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson's apparent decision not to seek re-election has centered interest on whether Speaker Coke Stevenson of Junction, will run for governor or for congress.

When Rep. E. H. McGregor, close political friend of the Fergusons, in the house of representatives lauded Stevenson for governor, it could only mean the speaker is the Ferguson choice and that Mrs. Ferguson will not stand in his way by running again.

But whether Stevenson will run for governor is another question. It is a matter on which he remains uncommunicative.

There was no doubt that when Stevenson launched his campaign for speaker of the 43rd legislature, the governor's chair was kept in view. Since then there has been carved out a new Texas congressional district that fits Stevenson to a "T".

It includes all but one of the 10 counties that have been regularly returned to the state legislature as their representative.

The other counties in the congressional district are Sterling, Runnels, Coleman, Brown, Irion, Tom Green, Concho, San Saba, Mills, Lampasas, Gillespie, Llano, Val Verde, Uvalde and Kinney.

They are all counties with interests the same as those of the hill country in which Stevenson lives. They are counties to whom a ranchman can talk in his own language.

Ascendancy of former Congressman John Garner to the vice presidency leaves the new 21st congressional district without a resident congressman.

Inclusion of Coleman county may also be a factor in deciding Stevenson's choice. State Senator Walter Woodward, of Coleman, is a political strength in that section. He, too, has an eye on the governorship.

Stevenson running for congress and Woodward running for governor could each aid the other materially by leaving a field open to the other.

Stevenson is equipped to make his future political campaigns on horseback.

Fellow legislators presented him with one of the finest saddles ever exhibited here. It is silver mounted and a beautiful piece of leather work. With it went the broad-brimmed hat and chaps.

The gift was really the speaker's choice. Members went to Mrs. Stevenson to find out what he would like.

It is the custom of the legislators to give the speaker some memento every session. Usually it is a watch.

Mrs. Stevenson warned, "Don't give him a watch. He never carries one."

The speaker was finally appealed to personally by some of the legislators. He was loathe to pick his own gift but when told they were going to get him something he said:

"I want a saddle." He never dreamed of the elaborate saddle that it developed into.

"Speaker's Day," as the annual gift day near the close of a session is known, was also marked by other gifts. The speaker's fondness for cutting cedar posts was remembered and an axe was in the lot. After a day of riding the range and fence building, he was also equipped to sit in a large leather chair (an accompanying one for Mrs. Stevenson), put his feet on an ottoman and have his choice of two lamps on a library table. For outdoor use with the saddle and axe went a corn cob pipe. The pipe brought to light that Stevenson felt it indecorous to smoke his old corn cob pipe while presiding over the House. He broke in a new dule pipe for state use.

Mrs. Stevenson, who has been one of the most popular women in official life at Austin, was not forgotten. The gifts included silver and china sets. The china came from the house porters.

They approached representatives and asked if it would be all right for them to participate in the "Speaker's Day" gifts.

Explanation was offered that they wanted to give something to Speaker and Mrs. Stevenson because they're quality folks.

That declaration was probably more revealing than all the eloquent encomiums heaped on the speaker and Mrs. Stevenson at the exercises.

It certainly found an echo all

The 43rd legislature will not set a record for length unless it exceeds 140 days. It had completed the 120 days during which the members receive full pay on May 9.

The 140 day session was held by the 38th legislature ten years ago.

Former Speaker Lee Satterwhite who has spent considerable time going over old House Journals, say the average time a legislature is in session, including both regular and called sessions, is from four to six months during the two year period which constitutes a legislative term.

Texas Artists to Have Summer Camp

By United Press
 SAN ANGELO. —The Texas Artists' colony will open its summer camp here June 5 for three weeks, with indications of increased enrollment over last season as a result of additions to the courses offered art students.

Among the new courses will be one in sculpture with Viola Blake Sajenni, San Antonio, as instructor. Miss Sajenni has received favorable criticism of her work by Laredo Taft, one of America's foremost sculptors.

Sponsors of the colony, established several years ago by the late Mrs. Sam Crother for the purpose of bringing artists of the state together for relaxation and instruction, are Ida Jo Fuller and Helen King Kendall.

Courses will be offered in portrait and landscape painting, figure sketching, still life and composition. A special course will be provided for children under 13.

One of the features of the three weeks will be the field trips to three of the most picturesque ranches in Texas, during which food will be served chuck wagon fashion.

Headquarters of the colony will be in The Log Cabin Village in Santa Fe park on the banks of the North Concho river.

The Colonel Wins Again

SOMETIME ago, Col. Matt Winn announced that the prize of $50,000 for the Kentucky Derby would not be cut. Other races on the spring program could be trimmed but the president of the American Turf Association insisted that the Derby be saved from the economic axe.

Shortly after his announcement, a committee of stockholders in the association, which controls Churchill Downs, Lexington, Lincoln Fields and Washington Park tracks, charged extravagance on Winn's part and acted to oust him by securing proxies. The old colonel's friends rallied, bought 86,000 shares of the association stock held by the Bank of Kentucky and re-elected Winn.

June 30 will bring Colonel Winn his 72nd birthday. As a boy of 14 he watched from his father's grocery wagon as Aristides won the first Kentucky Derby back in '75. The boy went on to live a remarkable career. He enlisted millions against millions in more than one horse-racing war, and has fought politicians with their own weapons.

Ex-Texas Students May Be Found In All Foreign Climes

AUSTIN.—Wherever you go, whether from Argentina to Ireland, or from Sweden to Singapore, you will run across "Texas-men," as former students of the University of Texas are familiarly called. Files of the Ex-Students association reveal that ex-students of the university may be found in 46 foreign countries and in numerous insular territories.

Almost every remote corner of the earth lists at least one ex-student among its residents. Turkey, Java, Alaska, Persia, Poland, Sumatra, Jerusalem, India, and Iraq are all included. Even in Singapore, called the most picturesque seaport in the world and the mecca of every adventurer, an ex-student is found in the person of Miss Gazelle Traeger, teacher in a mission school for girls.

Several ex-students now reside in China, among whom is Mrs. Henry J. Rehn, the daughter of Dr. J. M. Kuehne, professor of physics at the university. Mrs. Rehn resides in Shanghai. Charles Lamar Sharp, another ex-student, is now enlisted in the Chinese air force and is training Chinese aviators to be pursuit pilots. Three ex-students live in India, several in Persia, and a score in Korea and Japan. Dr. George C. Butte, outstanding in state and national politics a few years ago, is residing at present in Honolulu, Hawaii. In one of the most inaccessible of the Fiji islands, Mrs. Albert McGowan, formerly Miss Jonnie Morgan, resides.

Several hundred exes live in Mexico and Canada. Many others live in Central and South America, England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales, and the nations of the European continent are hosts to other ex-students. Occupations of the various exes vary greatly. Many of them are employed in the consular service. The majority of those residing in the more remote regions of the world are doing missionary work.

Texas University Continues to Grow

AUSTIN.—The 1932-33 school year saw continued growth for the University of Texas in graduation and enrollment numbers. Enrollment statistics supplied by the university show, gained 237 over last year, advanced to 6,738 as against 6,421 for 1931-32. Candidates for graduation exceeded by nearly 200 the number awarded degrees last spring and by more than 200 the number of graduates in the spring of 1931. This year's crop totals 866, of which 564 are boys and 302 are girls.

Included among the graduates who will receive their diplomas June 5 are eight foreign students representing Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, Egypt and the Philippine Islands, and 58 students from 20 other states.

Also in the list of growing colleges in the state is West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon, with an enrollment of 917 as against 866 last year. The number last year was 80. These figures do not include summer graduates.

Of the group slated to receive diplomas June 1, 57 are girls, 26 boys, "a very serious-minded, hard working group," according to school authorities, "who seem to have the right perspective in regard to teaching, the thing they are prepared to do."

Friends of the Family

LOOK at the packages on your pantry and bathroom shelves, and see what a multitude of brand names you recognize. Some of them have been familiar for years.

You may have made the acquaintance of others only a few weeks ago. But even these are not suspected strangers. You have bought them confidently because they were advertised. And it is the same with your sheets and towels, your shoes and clothes, your electric appliances, the car in your garage—nearly everything you use.

Advertised products have a standing that commands respect. They are not nameless, but vouched for by responsible firms. The fact that they are advertised is in itself an indication that their standards of quality are strictly maintained, that they represent honest value.

As science and discovery go on, newly developed products are constantly being advertised—ready to help you save money and improve your standard of living. Every advertisement of such a product you read in your daily paper is a letter of introduction to a new and possibly useful friend.

It will pay you to read the advertisements in this paper every day. By so doing you will meet many choice products—worthy to become friends of the family.

New Era Club Closes Interesting Year's Study on "Texas Art and Literature"

The New Era club closed an interesting year's work on Texas Art and Literature with a covered dish luncheon in the home of Mrs. C. A. Smith, Wednesday afternoon.

The guests were met at the door by members of the hospital committee, Mrs. E. O. Samms, Mrs. Clyde H. Davis, Mrs. C. A. Smith, and Mrs. O. L. Phillips, who directed them to daintily appointed tables where places were marked by corsages with names attached.

The president, Mrs. O. B. Denny, graciously welcomed the guests in a speech telling of the closing year's work and outlined the work for the coming year.

Mrs. O. L. Phillips introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, who closed the year's study on Texas by giving "History of Ranger." This was enjoyed by all present as she so ably told of incidents in the early history of Ranger that led to the oil boom and present history.

DERRICK SHADOWS

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

"Nothing can bring you peace but yourself. Nothing can bring you peace but the triumph of your principles."

These closing lines of his essay on self-reliance express the creed of that man whose writings have never ceased to be an inspiration to noble ideals and right conduct.

Of Ralph Waldo Emerson it has been said, "He was loved and revered as few men have been; his reputation shed lustre upon his stimulus he imparted to pure living and high thinking was extraordinary."

Born of cultured, high minded parents, Emerson studied for and engaged in the work of the Unitarian ministry for some time, but retired due to some of the church forms.

Upon his marriage, he moved to Concord where he had as neighbors the Alcotts, Hawthorne and Thoreau. Such inspiration aided him no doubt in his travel and lecture life.

His body lies in beautiful Sleepy Hollow cemetery, near the resting place of Nathaniel Hawthorne. Today is his birth date.

Far back in a corner of page 11 of an outstanding state paper, I found a bit of news this morning concerning a person I know.

It wasn't much. More of an announcement than news, but interesting because of the slight acquaintance. I felt a real thrill... much more so than from the front page bunnies and horror stories.

Our front pages are overrun with tales of the big fellows, touching us only through the channel of reputation. We know we'll never see the characters, never really know the facts. But the names must be familiar to us. We must keep up with the times.

And what a prolonged minute of excitement when we see the quick flash of a friend's name hiding back in the middle of the day's news. The back pages make the paper worth the price.

Glimpse-glances: Stocks go one rung higher. May the ladder hold!

The Constitutional Convention began its work 146 years ago today.

And while we're on dates, Edward Bulwer Lytton and Emerson claimed the same birth date. The former was, incidentally, an outstanding English novelist.

Remember "The Last Days of Pompeii"? and "The Last of the Barons"?

"The pen is mightier than the sword." "In the lexicon of youth... there is no such word as 'fail'..." from his "Richelieu"...

He is buried in Westminster Abbey.

The Mooney case continues. In the midst of all the other bits of news from the cities, we can't forget this one man who claims he can prove he is not guilty of the crime for which San Quentin prison has become his home.

While the world thrills to the drama, I'm wondering how many other men might tell us similar tales? When the question of punishment comes to light the universe turns itself around twice and admits it doesn't know where it stands on the subject. We feel the same way.

Montreal Gives Jobless Work In City Lot Gardens

MONTREAL.—Montreal's unemployed families are turning to the world's oldest trade—gardening—for a living, and are making a success at it.

With the aid of private subscriptions, the Community Garden League, a committee affiliated with the Central Council of Social Agencies and working in co-operation with other social organizations, has established nearly 2,000 gardens in backyards and has placed them under the care of unemployed families.

Zoo Ostrich's Queer Appetite Revealed

LONDON—A dreadful thing has happened. Jessie, queen ostrich at the London zoo, is dead.

But that's not the dreadful thing. It's what they found inside Jessie at the post-mortem.

Three handkerchiefs, a pair of gloves, four pennies, a half-crown, 13 nails, a lead pencil, five screws, two staples, six washers, four yards of string, and three buttons!

Jessie's banking and lost property department excited admiration at first, but enemies got to work and the foul rumor crept abroad that she had stolen the stuff.

Apparently a normal happy girl, given to burying her head in the sand when she wanted a good cry, Jessie died only to prove that the evil that ostriches do lives after them.

Perhaps, also, to help teach little ostriches that they should eat only what they're sure they can digest.

Says Her Husband Lost 16 Pounds In 4 Weeks

"I have never found a medicine that 'zero' you up like Kruschen salts and better still, leaves you 'pepped up.' I take it two or three times a week—not to reduce but merely to feel good and clean. My husband lost 16 pounds in 4 weeks." Mrs. E. A. Ferris, Washington, D. C. (December 29, 1932).

Latter Day Saints Receive No Salary

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—It is an honor to work for nothing in Utah, judging from Mission records of the Latter Day Saint (Mormon) Church.

The church has Missions in many countries, each headed by a Mission president, who directs the youthful missionaries.

The Mission President always is a mature man, who has served his period of Mission duty. Missionaries do not even get expenses. Mission presidents receive expense money only.

Being selected for the presidency of a Mission is a mark of distinction. The non-salaried status of the presidents is in keeping with the church policy of no salaried clergy whatsoever.
