VOL. XV PRICE FIVE CENTS No. 1

Legislature Adjourns Today After 143 Days

CONVICTS ARE NOW IN THREE ROVING BANDS

MIAMI, Okla., June 1.—The 11 convicts who broke from the Kansas state penitentiary during a Memorial Day mutiny, have separated into at least three roving bands, officers searching for the desperadoes believed today.

Three clues as to the whereabouts of the desperadoes were received. Two hitch-hikers, identified as convicts, held up a youth and his girl companion on the highway near Seneca, Mo., last night, took their car and sped eastward into Missouri.

Three men escaped after a gun battle at Siloam Springs, Ark. They left their automobile, a car stolen from Leavenworth, Kan., and stole another machine for their getaway.

Officers at Ponca City hurriedly loaded machine guns after receiving a tip that a band of six escaped convicts were headed for the Maggie Grammar ranch, 12 miles east of there. The Grammar ranch is operated by the widow of Henry Grammar, notorious outlaw who was killed, apparently in an automobile accident, 10 years ago.

Gold Standard For World Is Aim Of Conference

GENEVA.—The world economic conference, opening in London June 12, will attempt to restore gold as a "free international monetary standard."

A general return to a workable international gold standard is considered indispensable to world recovery. On this experts are agreed. But they cannot agree under what conditions a return should be made.

Since the beginning of the world trade crises more than half the nations have knocked their currencies off gold pedestals. The United States, Britain and Japan have abandoned it as a base for their currencies. France and Switzerland have remained faithful.

The chaos resulting from depreciated and fluctuating currencies will be one of the chief problems of the meetings. Attempts to raise prices, promote free movement of capital and remove trade barriers will come to nothing unless currencies are stabilized, experts declare.

A joint return to gold by the United States and Britain would be a prelude to a general return. But economists fear the British might be tempted to jeopardize any general return by juggling over the rate at which the pound sterling and dollar should be stabilized.

London Conference To Keep Currencies On An Even Keel

By W. G. QUISENBERRY
UNITED PRESS STAFF CORRESPONDENT
LONDON.—Keeping the world's currencies on an even keel will be the most gigantic task facing the statesmen and economists who assembled here June 12.

Currencies suddenly have become the strongest weapons in international financial diplomacy. Powerful as they are, tariffs, boycotts and other restrictions do not avail a nation little these days if its rival wields an international influence over the fate of the dollar, the franc, the yen and the pound.

For almost a year Great Britain tried to dominate the world's foreign exchange with a fund of 150,000,000 pounds, operating it with strictest secrecy. Although the fund stands today at 350,000,000 pounds, it can no longer serve its purpose. The fear and uncertainty that overhang the world's great money centers are factors too strong.

When currencies once more have become stable, however, and their relative values agreed upon, the nations are likely to consider the establishment of an enormous stabilization fund, made up of gold of Great Britain. Eminent economists have suggested that a world equalization fund, subscribed by the leading powers and operated by an impartial agency like the Bank for International Settlements, might be a good form of "currency insurance."

Great Britain succeeded briefly in the idea until the United States went off the gold standard and left Europe's remaining gold nations fearful for their own currencies. Given a reasonable measure of stability in the money centers, an equalization fund can be successful in discouraging speculators from raising a country's currency.

An international fund would not successfully combat the influence of rumor and fear, powerful causes of foreign exchange dealings.

ROOSEVELT TO FAVOR AN OIL CONTROL BILL

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Secretary of Interior Ickes today informed the house ways and means committee that President Roosevelt felt himself would urge a federal oil control amendment to the industrial recovery bill.

Ickes said he was "authorized on behalf of the president" to make the statement.

The proposed administration amendment would be a substitute for the much-attacked Marland-Capper petroleum control measure.

The text of the administration's proposal follows:

"For the oil industry, in addition to the powers granted the president concerning codes of fair competition, agreements and licenses, he is authorized to prescribe regulations to supplement state conservation legislation, regulating the production of petroleum, to allocate the national market demand for petroleum in all oil producing states and to prohibit the transportation in interstate commerce petroleum or the products thereof, produced or withdrawn from storage in violation of any state or federal law."

Former Grid Stars Will Go On Trial

EDINBURG, Texas.—District Attorney Sid Hardin has announced he will seek an early trial for Lewis Lawrence and Don Schuepbach, former football stars of Harlingen high school, who are charged by indictment with robbery.

The youths were indicted in September, 1932, after the slugging of A. Boyd, Mission ranchman, in the corridor of a Weslaco hotel, and the theft of $200 and $300 from Boyd.

A negro porter testified at the preliminary hearing for the two youths that they had been in the hotel "looking for a dice game" and that they went away for awhile and returned armed with a rifle.

Wednesday High Peak In Central Baptist Revival

The revival in progress at Central Baptist church reached its high peak in Wednesday's services. The largest night crowd of the revival was present and the music was never better. A large choir sang with power many gospel hymns before the pastor spoke on "The Great Invitation." At the close of the service two came upon profession of faith for baptism.

The prayer bands all had an increased attendance, there being 88 present in all bands. Special programs will be given in all bands this evening.

This morning's service held at 9:30 deserve special mention because of the very large crowd attending and the message of Rev. Stephens upon "The Power of the Christian Life." All hearts were stirred to a higher life, and one came dedicating her life to Christ. After the congregation was dismissed one fine mother accepted Christ and was happily saved.

The spirit is working mightily in all these services and Central is enjoying a real revival of the old-time religion.

Morning services are held at 9:30, prayer bands meet at 7:30, and night services at 8:30.

Everyone is cordially invited to all services, members of Central are urged to do nothing hinder them, from attending.

County Agent Patterson Urges Budget For Rehabilitation Of Eastland County Farm Homes

By J. C. PATTERSON,
County Demonstration Agent.

A derelict boat is not only valueless in itself but is a menace to commerce, a constant source of danger to vessels with competent captains and well trained crews where every man knows his job and is trained for it and the captain knows where he is going and is familiar with every detail of his vessel and of the waters he is to traverse.

We have many derelict farms, in Eastland county. Farms whose skippers have no definite destination, whose farms are not ship-shape; skippers who are unfamiliar with the sod they have trod for many years. The skipper who puts out to sea knowing that his vessel is not seaworthy is subject to court martial. But the land owner whose land has been impoverished and the buildings and fences delapidated has only his own conscience to reckon with, he conducts his own court martial either here or hereafter. The tenant who has aided in thus seducing the soil has nothing to be proud of.

The upward trend of farm prices indicates that the New Deal for agriculture is bringing results. Every one is hopeful that a new day is dawning and that farm products will again bring fair returns and that the alert, aggressive farmer will again become the skipper of his boat, the captain of his industry. But is the vessel seaworthy, is the farm ship-shape? Can she make the journey without repairs? Is the skipper prepared or must he travel an uncharted course? Have you made plans to fill the farm storehouse this year?

Why not begin now to take stock of the farm and make a list of the things that need to be done? Does it need terracing, are ditches getting wider and deeper, are there old stumps and aprouts in the fields, is there a border strip of timber around the field which caps the ground 50 to 100 feet? Are the old buildings in good state of repairs, will the fences keep your stock in and the neighbors stock out? Is there adequate storage space for the food supply for this winter? Is the farm home in fit condition for your wife and children to live in, or does the roof leak? Does it require all of the pillows to fill in the broken window lights to keep the rain and wind out, has it been painted recently or ever? Is there adequate supply of pure water for the house and stock, are native pastures being improved so as to provide the grazing for the livestock?

Cyclones Path Is Very Narrow

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Cyclonic winds are continually passing over the United States from the west to the east, but generally these winds are gentle, and with a diameter of as much as 1,000 miles, according to Dr. Isaac Monroe Cline, veteran meteorologist of the U. S. weather bureau here.

Devastating tornadoes, such as claimed hundreds of lives in the south this spring, usually are not more than a mile wide, Dr. Cline said. These storms are caused by the sudden overturning of air currents when a cold wind passes over a warm earth area and is upset by the swift rising of warm air.

This country's most disastrous tornado occurred in March, 1926, starting in Missouri and traveling more than 200 miles through Illinois and Indiana and causing a death toll of 689 persons.

Tornadoes, Dr. Cline said, are at their worst during the months of April, May and June. They have their greatest rampages in the United States, although they are known to occur in other countries.

Forest Sites Are Approved Today

At the end of the session's 120 days, during which members drew $10 a day it had been figured the session cost $10.36 a minute. For the past 23 days members have been drawing only half salaries.

The governor replied she had nothing further to submit.

The session, which started Jan. 10, ran 143 days, setting a new record for length.

AUSTIN.—The 43rd Texas legislature will probably live in history as the one that brought back beer, horse race betting and prize fighting to Texas.

Legislation of that nature caught the popular fancy.

It will also be remembered as the one that ended a quarter century of increasing state government costs and put them back to three-fourths of what they have been for the past two years. It is first under the present constitution for the past two years.

In a wester of more than 1,500 bills, few major ones, went thru to become law.

Oil troubled rather than smoothed the waters throughout the more than four months of the session. Both majors and independents maintained big lobbies.

Victory went to the little fellows.

Starting out with demand for a new commission to prorate oil production the oil interests ended up with the old commission and an estimated $12,000,000 annual tax on the industry.

Once the majors seemed on the verge of victory, the House had passed a new oil commission bill. This bill authorized Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson to appoint a new body which could set aside the 750,000 barrels a day production, the oil commission had authorized against strong objections.

Midnight saw the oil forces still jubilant over an apparent victory. A group was in the lobby of the Stephen F. Austin hotel. Rep. Gordon Burns of Huntsville, vigorous opponent of the new oil commission and bitter denouncer of oil tactics came into the hotel. Soon there was a floundering mass of men, kicking, biting, gouging and striking. Burns was sent to a hospital. Roeser emerged with a fast blackening eye.

The house of representatives ordered an investigation and reprimanded Roeser. W. C. Stroube of Corsicana and Bryan W. Payne of Tyler. A few days later the senate killed the oil commission bill.

Later the house adopted a two-cent-a-barrel oil tax proposed by Burns' house seatmate and roommate, Rep. Alfred Daniel of Crockett. The senate passed it and added an intangible asset tax on oil pipe lines. The house then taxed gas lines.

Other lobbies were more successful. A sales tax, advocated by the governor and pushed by the administration with all its force, failed before the protest of merchants and organizations warning the legislature of its effects. A state income tax passed the house. A senate committee killed it.

Lobbies got more prominence than usual. Rep. George Winningham of Mexia, secured enforcement of the rule barring lobbyists and others from the floor during sessions. He secured a resolution for registration of lobbyists. A few of the minor ones put down their names. There was an unofficial registry, however. It was compiled by Roscoe Fleming, Fort Worth newspaper man.

There were distinct eras in the session.

First came the emergency era. Banks and then insurance companies got moratoriums. "First

Jams and Jellies Relished In Arctic

NEW YORK.—Up in the Arctic where men are explorers, they eat bread and jelly—and love it, says Major Anthony Fiala, who is engaged in the romantic business of advising and outfitting expeditions. Fiala, an explorer himself, accompanied the late President Theodore Roosevelt on his expedition in South America.

Because jams and jellies are heat and denery foods, the major includes them among the ration of explorers, particularly when the expedition is going north. He allows each man three ounces of jelly or jam daily.

Costume Recital
Pleasing Entertainment
A pretty climax to the school recitals, was brought in the Oneida Russell expression class recital at the school auditorium Wednesday night.

There was a large crowd of interested friends and parents, who enjoyed the variety of costumes and the readings which they illustrated.

The opening number was given by Joy Bell Joyner in a clever reading and dance.

Delightful readings followed by M. P. Herring, Betty Collins, Virginia Ferguson and Neil Patterson.

Patsy Ruth Eubanks was presented in a group of three numbers, one, Little Snowball, in costume of small colored girl; and the other, The Bath Hour, in garb of reluctant small girl on verge of taking her bath.

Billie Sue Bender gave a quaint reading in an old-fashioned costume.

Marjorie Murphy was charming in a story form reading, Lucy May Cottingham appeared as a small boy, telling his woes; a clever number, Mary Helen Armstrong in pretty costume, in Perfect Little Lady, Kathryn Garrett in a well given reading; Doris Lawrence, Ye Olde Tyme Reading, old time costume.

Readings followed by Mitaige Hearn, Bobbie Leslie and Kathleen Cottingham, of diverse interest, and beautifully given.

Mary Frances Hunter was very clever in an impersonation reading, and Opal Bargaley clever in a number given in lounging pajamas.

Betty King appeared in a pretty dance and song.

Mrs. F. O. Hunter presented Mary Frances Hunter and Jeanne Kitley in a beautifully given pi-ano duet.

Alice Jones was charming in a dance, Dinal, in costume of red pajamas.

Luella Johnson gave a cute impersonation in her number as a tongue-tied boy, and Jackie Bel-ew was charming in the reading of a young girl waiting for her sweetheart.

Miss Russell addressed the audience at close of program, stating she had enjoyed this year's work, and hoped to return next year.

DERRICK SHADOWS

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

It took the Japanese world-economic-conference need to say in so many words that all this ballyhoo about a war between the United States and his own country is "absurd."

In fact, he declares that intelligent people should easily see that such a war would be "ruinous to both." To him America salaams, as befits one of his nationality.

The man is wrong. Intelligent people wouldn't even consider such a foolish thing long enough to figure the ruinous results. And Americans are intelligent... we think. And they haven't given the matter a moment's serious consideration... we know... we think.

For when people think, it takes a lot of hard self-control to forget the thought.

With Indian and forts and forests and log cabins behind us, those states now united have learned to direct the world to her tea party. We have learned that the negative is even greater than the positive. It took no laboratory to teach us these things.

With Chicago calming down and forgetting gunplay long enough to welcome the world to her tea party, New York is crashing the front pages with gang shootings.

Chicago is tired... or afraid. Tired of the inconsistency of killers... or afraid of the mighty man who walked into the late Cermak's shoes, and walked the gunmen out of town.

And now we hear a cry for a return of the gold standard. From Vienna where the Congress of the International Chamber of Commerce is holding its seventh session, comes the proposal.

It seems that the paper currency has failed, according to promoters of the yellow metal. And again comes that old echo of distrust.

Every country is afraid to turn back to gold for fear some other nation will grab advantage for itself. We're a suspicious lot to be joined in a league... are we really joined?

Now and then, looking through the day's news we come across a fight here and there for the continuation of prohibition. It seems that the so-called drys go on confidently hoping to keep the Lone Star state free from beer... legal beer.

There was a time when we could "class" defenders of various issues. Nineteen thirty-three has slipped out from under such a responsibility. You don't know who's dry and who's wet... and if you do know, you're not right sure they know themselves.

Water no longer seeks its level and crowds mix themselves up and go on being friends with the 3.2 ratio brewing between.

But America is to be congratulated. Just when we thought we were all turning yellow with the use of arguments, we suddenly find ourselves standing by our own convictions.

A large per cent of those who really think on the subject cannot be shaken in their beliefs. If you are a prohibitionist you're "set" on your ways. And if you want the liquor back, there's no use trying to convince you otherwise.

The beer doctor has discovered that America has a backbone.

29-Foot Cylinder Wins Attention At World's Fair

One of the world's largest automobile cylinders is displayed at the Century of Progress in Chicago, Ill. Measuring 29 feet in height, this huge moving exhibit represents one of the many features of the Gulf Refining company's display. In the cylinder a large piston operates, showing, with the aid of lights, intake and exhaust and emphasizing the fact that "fresh gas packs power."

Made of aluminum alloy, the Gulf cylinder is an exact copy of the modern cylinder. At the base of this display three shelves rotate. The shelves hold interesting miniature models of an airplane, a racing car, and a motor boat. Other eye-catchers of this particular section of the Gulf exhibit include a cut-away Chrysler marine engine, an Evinruid outboard motor which established a world's record, a Westinghouse farm lighting engine, and a Cummings Diesel engine.

OUT OUR WAY

Chicago Special Is Filling Up Rapidly

ABILENE, June 1.—First come first served is the rule for the West Texas section of the special train to be run June 11 to the World's Fair, Chicago. As a result the number of lower berths available is dwindling rapidly. West Texans planning to make the trip and desiring lower berths face the prospect of not obtaining the accommodation, according to G. B. Sandefer, manager of the Simmons University Cowboy band, who is in charge of arrangements for the section. Most of the reservations, rapidly approaching 50 in number, have been for lower berths. Accommodations are assigned in the order of receipt and only upper berths will be allotted when the supply of lowers is exhausted. Reservations which began trickling in Thursday of last week have increased in number daily. More than a dozen came in yesterday, indicating that by Saturday, the date when the Pullman company must know the amount of equipment needed, the second will be filled. The West Texas section will leave Abilene as part of the Sunshine Special at 9:40 a. m., Sunday, June 11, uniting at Fort Worth with the other section of the train. Chicago will be reached Monday afternoon at 3:20. Four days and nights are to be spent in Chicago. All members of the party will be permitted to go as they choose while in Chicago, either attending the fair or joining one of the several motor tours of the city that will be available. The low fare on the special train includes sleeper to and from Chicago and while there. Virtually every town along the T. & P. west from Ranger to Pecos is represented in the reservation list to date. Reservations likewise have been received from nearly a dozen other points.

Magnolia Makes A New Gasoline

DALLAS, June 1.—Responding to public demand for an improved automotive fuel with higher anti-knock rating to sell at standard prices, "Silent Mobilgas" is announced by the Magnolia Petroleum company. The new Mobilgas, colored distinctive shade of purple, has been placed on sale at no premium by over 11,000 Magnolia stations and dealers serving the southwest. "Developed in the Magnolia laboratories to meet every requirement of high compression motors, the Mobilgas was introduced only after rigid testing under actual driving conditions by Magnolia test cars," E. P. Angus, vice president and manager of sales, said. "It has been found that under conditions that cause ordinary gasoline to knock, silent Mobilgas will give quicker starting, instant pick-up and split-second getaway. Tested for thousands of miles under varying highway conditions—in heat and cold—this new fuel not only gave knockless performance, but proved conclusively to be a longer mileage gas. Increase in the anti-knock rating is the most noteworthy improvement in the new Mobilgas, its distinctive qualities of 'climatic control' have been increased," Mr. Angus said. "Through the readjustment of manufacturing specifications Magnolia produces in Mobilgas a fuel best adapted to the climatic and operating conditions of the locality in which it is used. This quality of Mobilgas is called 'climatic control.' In the introduction of the improved Mobilgas, Magnolia has adopted as its slogan, 'Full Speed Ahead,' and is providing automobile owners with attractive windshield stickers carrying that phrase. The stickers, picturing Uncle Sam piloting an automobile to prosperity, are a part of Magnolia's contribution toward business recovery. PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS—Chantal, the Russian beauty, who has launched the Champs Elysees, has launched a group of new colors—or to be perfectly honest, a group of old colors with a new cast on them.

Epineur a la creme, for instance—which means "creamed spinach"—is that dark cooked green with an over-hue of cream. Mixed together as it is, the green and the white can neither be called the one nor the other, consequently a descriptive name must be given to it.

Cafe au lait is another new-old shade of brown that makes combinations in the world so nearly as coffee with cream in it. Ashes of roses and dusty china blue are used for innumerable ensembles of two, three and four pieces. Chalk white combined with Burgundy is one of Chantal's favorite combinations for the evening, the white forming the body of the gown in crinkly crepe and the burgundy used as slash trimming.

PARIS—Fairly dripping with fringe and smartness oozing from every smoked stitch that covers the hips of a white crepe evening gown, Augustabernard holds high the banner of her reputation. She continues in the first line trench of haute couture and is very definitely going over the top with her "Little Season" collection just shown.

The fringe of this model is fastened down in a smoked design from the normal waist to well over the hips, from whence it is freed and flows to the hem of the skirt which grazes the floor. The corsage is one of those draped affairs with a low lined back and front décolletage.

COMMODITY prices are advancing. Copper, zinc, lead, tin, rubber and other materials used in a Kelvinator, have increased from 22 to 63% since Kelvinator announced the present low prices.

Washington says that all wages must be raised. Buying power must be restored. This can only mean a general rise in commodity prices. The Industrial Emergency Bill gives the President power to carry out this program. And already, the President has the authority to raise prices by the inflation of our currency. It is doubtful if this generation will ever again see prices as low as they are to-day.

Electric refrigeration prices are too low. This is particularly true of Kelvinator—because Kelvinator prices apply to standard, full-quality 1933 Kelvinator merchandise. Kelvinator did not bring out "cheap" models—built down to a low price. The R-41 which now sells for $97 installed, plus freight, is full-sized, full-powered, full-value—a standard 1933 model. And it's the same throughout the entire line.

Although we announced our prices would be increased when material costs went up, so far we have not had to do so. But, even the rigid economies effected in manufacturing would not have prevented an increase if it had not been for the tremendous volume of business during the past two months.

In April more than 30,000 Kelvigators were shipped—the largest month's business in Kelvinator's 19 years in the industry. And May has established another new all-time record for Kelvinator shipments far surpassing that of the previous month.

Prices have not been raised—so far . . . KELVINATOR CORPORATION, Detroit, Michigan.

Make the Pennies Bigger

WHEN James Buchanan was President and tall beaver hats were in vogue; when gentlemen wore broad cravats and ladies wore hoop skirts, the pennies they tossed to children were as big as quarters. But the cart-wheel coppers your grandfather got for keeping his lace collar clean were not as big in buying power as the pennies of today.

A penny then might buy a pastry, or ten of them take one to the Fair, but your great-aunt and great-uncle couldn't have gone to a movie at any price.

Sixty years ago the ladies could go shopping for dry goods and buy silks that would make you green with envy, linens that were linens and broadcloths that beggar description. But what their favorite store did not have they usually got along without.

You can pick up your daily newspaper and in fifteen minutes you can know what the different shops are offering in fabrics, patterns, varieties and qualities that great-grandmother never dreamed could be gathered together under any conditions.

Times have changed, and so have merchandise and business methods. One of the influences that has helped to bring about so much of change, that has helped to multiply opportunities and increase the spending size of our pennies is advertising.

Every merchant, every manufacturer knows that advertising materially reduces selling costs by increasing the demand for and the distribution of the products. Of hundreds of thousands of mills. Indeed, many of the things we count today as necessities or simple luxuries could not be made and sold at their reasonable prices except as advertising has created a broad market for them, making millions of sales at little prices and little profits.
