BOARD OF STRATEGY TO HANDLE RECOVERY

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE with BILL MAYES

Yesterday we promised to print some of the rules of playground ball that are different from the regular baseball rules, but we couldn't find the rule book until today, so there they are:
Ball—12-inch instead of nine-inch ball, and not so hard.
Number of players—10 instead of nine, with no restraint as to their positions, except pitcher and catcher.
Length of game—Seven innings instead of nine.
Innings—A pitched ball that hits the batter. Batter does not take his base and it is called a ball.
Stealing not allowed until the ball has reached or passed the batter.
No scoring on a passed ball.
No balks are called in this game.
No bunts may be attempted. To bunt or attempt to bunt is an out for the batter.
The pitcher must come to a stand with both feet on the plate, then may step forward with one foot, keeping the other foot on the white until after the ball is delivered. After delivering the ball he may advance toward the batter.
For the past few days it has been hard to find news in Ranger because everyone is talking ball and have no time to think of news. However, we neglected to mention, a day or so ago, that an attempt was apparently made to pass a stolen traveler's check in Ranger. A merchant sold a pair of shoes and a $100 traveler's check was presented for payment. Instead of being signed in the presence of the merchant the man had it already filled out.
The merchant refused to cash it and asked the man to call back later for his change and merchandise. He said he would be back at 5 o'clock that afternoon. In the meantime a call was put in and it was found that the traveler's check was one listed by the issuing company as being stolen. The man did not come back for his change or shoes.
And, since we spent so much time this morning at other tasks we are already late with this column, so will stop it right here. Maybe we will have more tomorrow.

Countess Held on Blackmail Charge

With the arrest at Washington, D. C., of Countess Grace de Benque (above), government detectives believe they have put an end to a blackmail syndicate which has preyed on capital and New York society for ten years. The Countess, now 58, and George A. Gormley, 36, are charged with blackmailing Miss Louise Maret, head of an exclusive school for girls, out of $5,044.

HULL CALLS ON NATIONS TO COOPERATE

LONDON, June 14.—The United States called on the world today to banish economic nationalism, break down trade barriers, establish a sane monetary system and pull together to handle the tragic burden of all nations.
Secretary of State Cordell Hull faced an expectant international audience at the world economic conference and offered his country's co-operation to end economic wars. He asked the conference to create a will and determination to follow such a course. Definite plans would come later.
While he spoke, Washington and London were arranging what was believed to be a mutually satisfactory compromise on the troublesome British war debt problems. Hull ignored the injection of the debt issue into the conference by speakers before him.
He warned the conference against selfish obstruction by any nation which did so would merit "the execration of mankind."
His speech was received with enthusiasm and was applauded loudly.
After Hull's speech, the conference was further stirred when Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet foreign commissar, announced that given favorable credit and export conditions, the Soviet might place $100,000,000 orders abroad in excess of their presently planned purchases.

WORLD ECONOMIC CONFERENCE OPENED BY BRITAIN'S KING

CONSUMPTION OF COTTON IS NEAR DOUBLED

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The census bureau today estimated cotton consumption during May at 620,999, compared to 470,639 bales in April and 332,372 bales in May, last year.
Cotton spindles active during May were placed at 24,571,498, compared to 23,416,680 active in April, and 21,833,936 in May, 1932. May consumption was the largest since October, 1929, the bureau said.
Cotton importations during May were estimated at 8,648 bales compared to 22,664 in the corresponding month last year. The bureau estimated exports at 591,647 bales as against 500,871 bales exported in May, 1932.

CALLS ELLIOTT "FRIEND"

Miss Ruth Goggin (above), pretty 25-year-old brunette of Fort Worth, regards Elliott Roosevelt "highly as a friend" but regrets reports that he intends to marry her when his wife, has obtained a divorce. Miss Goggin's mother announced Miss Goggin previously had denied the reported romance saying: "I really couldn't say anything about that. You see, Elliott still is married." Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt characterized the reports as "ridiculous."

OFFICIAL FOR TEXAS TO BE NAMED SOON

Telegram From Walter Cline Shows Federal Set Up About Ready.
WASHINGTON, June 14.—President Roosevelt has set up a board of strategy of five cabinet members to direct an offensive for national recovery under the industrial regulation and public works bill just passed by congress.
The cabinet members, after a meeting with the president, said they hoped to have in operation in a month the industrial regulation plan to spread employment and stabilize wages and production.
DALLAS, June 14.—A federal government administrator will be the court of appeal for application for funds for public works in Texas under the national government in industry's control-public works act, it became known here today.
The Washington announcement was revealed in a wire from Walter Cline of Wichita Falls, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.
"I find that every political subdivision in Texas has an equal right to prepare and present applications for self-liquidating loans through the federal administrator for Texas and all applications will receive equal consideration," Cline wired headquarters of the chamber at Stamford.
Cline's wire was widely published today and created an air of uncertainty among officials who had dealt with Lawrence Westbrook in considering loan applications. Westbrook was appointed by Governor Ferguson as director of Texas rehabilitation and relief.
"No agency in Texas has been officially designated to act for the federal administrator," Cline said. "No agency in Texas will have the exclusive right to secure or present applications for the political subdivisions of Texas."
The wire indicated that the organization had clashed with the rehabilitation commission appointed by Governor Ferguson.

Dr. Haslam Speaks On the Human Eye At Rotary Meeting

Dr. G. E. Haslam had charge of the Rotary club program today and presented an interesting classification talk on the human eye. His talk was illustrated in detail by a diagram on a blackboard which gave the complete anatomy of the eye and its functions.
He explained the function of the cornea or clear part of the eye, the iris, which contributes color, the pupil and the fluid inside the eyeball. He pointed out that the eye had three layers of skin surrounding the eyeball, the outer layer of skin being a white, hard substance to protect the eye, the second containing the blood supply and the third containing the cells that take care of the vision.
He said we do our seeing in the back part of our brains after the vision has been focused by the eyeball. He said that far sightedness was caused by a deformity of the eyeball causing it to be shorter than usual and nearsightedness was caused by the eyeball being longer than normal.
He explained the kinds of glasses needed for these deformities.
He said that the third most common defect was astigmatism and stated that cataracts on the outside, as was generally believed, but is a clouding of the eyeball inside the lens and may be caused by injury, certain diseases or old age. An operation is necessary to correct the defect.
He gave an interesting history of glasses from the time the glass was first made in the twelfth century, through the process by which the fine grinding is done and displayed some of the materials used in grinding glasses.
He explained the difference in the single and double vision lenses, pointing out that there were four classifications of each. He also gave the price ranges of lenses and stressed the importance of obtaining the right kind of glasses to correct the defect found in the eye.
J. C. Smith, manager of the big club, gave a report on the team and said the first official game of the season would come next Wednesday, June 21.
John Hassen will have charge of the program next week.

Funeral Held For Mrs. Mary Boles

Mrs. Mary Boles died at her home in Stephens county, about 10 miles north of Ranger, at about 11 o'clock Tuesday, June 13.
Mrs. Boles, the wife of I. Boles, was born Feb. 16, 1869, in Georgia. She came to Texas to Bosque county, where she remained a few years, then moved into the present home, where she has lived for more than 40 years.
Funeral services were to be at 4 o'clock today at the residence, with interment in the family cemetery on the Boles estate. Services will be in charge of Rev. K. C. Edmonds.

EASTERN STAR CONVENTION OPENED TODAY

The Eastern Star convention or school of instruction for district 4, section 3, convened in Eastland this morning. The session opened at 8 o'clock with the registration of delegates and visitors. Mrs. Frankie Lambert is chairman of the registration committee. The opening ceremony was conducted by Mrs. Ida Sikes, worthy matron, Eastland lodge No. 280.
Mrs. Mary Thomas, Jr., matron of the Eastland chapter, delivered an address welcoming the delegates and visitors. This was responded to by Mrs. Naomi Wise, Morgan chapter No. 591.
The afternoon and evening program beginning at 2 o'clock is as follows:
Study of constitution, Mrs. Elsie Finney, deputy grand matron.
Adjournment.

Closing of school, Mrs. Gertrude Joiner, D. D. G. M.
Address of chapter, Mrs. Mary Thomas, Jr., matron, Eastland Chapter 280.

CRUDE PRICES ARE RAISED IN OKLAHOMA

TULSA, Ok., June 14.—Crude petroleum prices in the mid-continent area, moves upward today under the emphasis of drastic reduction in allowable production.
When action of the Texas railroad commission in reducing allowable from 826,000 to 530,000 barrels became known, the Bell Oil & Gas company announced a 25 cent barrel increase in crude prices.
This set a 50 cent level for high gravity oil. Major companies and other independents were expected to follow the price increase.

Lone Star Will Hold Its Annual Picnic June 24th

Over 1,000 people are expected to attend the annual picnic of Lone Star Gas and associated companies, to be held at Lake Cisco Saturday afternoon, June 24. J. W. Burrage is chairman of general arrangements for the picnic, which is sponsored by employes in Ranger, Cisco and Eastland to bring together at Cisco employes of Lone Star Gas, Lone Star Gasoline, Community Natural, Municipal and Stamford and Western gas companies stationed in West Texas towns. The Cisco Country club has donated the use of its clubhouse and grounds during the picnic.
Events scheduled range from golf, bridge, and tennis tournaments to wrestling matches and a dance. Swimming and boating on Lake Cisco will be two major attractions. Following is the program with chairmen in charge of each event:
Golf tournament, 1 p. m., Sam Gamble; ladies' bridge tournament, 2 p. m., Mrs. Felix McCurdy; tennis tournament, 3 p. m., Ira Wolford; boxing and wrestling matches, 5 p. m., Herman Kelly; basket lunches, 6:15 p. m.; hand concert, 7:15 p. m., under the direction of Alan W. Wetzer and J. A. Campbell; dance, 9 to 12, Harry Wheelodon.
The golf tournament is open to employes only. The Calcutta pool is open to all.
The ladies' bridge tournament is open to all Lone Star and kindred company ladies and their invited guests. Both contract and auction will be played. Prizes for high score only will be given.
Eliminations for the tennis tournament will be conducted before the picnic and only the finals will be played that day.
The boxing events will consist of a battle royal, and two main events. Outside talent will aid in putting this on.
In the indoor baseball event Breckenridge team will compete with one captained by Paul Coffin. A team from Dallas may come out, but in the event it can not, one from the West Texas district will be selected.
The basket lunches will be sponsored by the Ladies' Social club of West Texas. This club does active work and will be glad to advise in any way in this work. The lunch will be held earlier this year in order to get through before night.
The band concert will fill a big place in the program and will be sponsored by a good committee.
The dance will be held from 9 to 12 at the Cisco Country club. This will be open to all employes of the Lone Star and their invited guests. Cards will be issued by Harry Wheelodon and those who invite guests will have to get invitations through Mr. Wheelodon. One dollar admission will be charged and the proceeds over and above expenses will go to the band.
Anyone desiring further information as to the picnic may consult with J. W. Burrage, chairman; E. K. Smith, W. G. Webb, or Felix Byrne.

COMPROMISE ON VET FUND PASSES SENATE

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The senate today adopted an administration compromise on veteran compensation but democratic leaders were unable to prevent the veteran bloc from moving for a showdown on the liberal Stetson-Cutting amendment.
The administration compromise assured pensions of at least $15 a month to 50 per cent disabled and needy veterans of the Spanish-American war, the Boxer rebellion and the Philippine insurrection, who are over 55 years of age.
Senator Stetson, republican, Oregon, immediately offered the more liberal substitute sponsored by himself and Senator Cutting, republican, New Mexico.
Congress appeared to be on the verge of adjournment, although bitter debate might prolong it far into the night or even until the end of the week.
The taking of testimony in the Frank Bida case now on trial in the 88th district court was completed late Tuesday afternoon and court recessed until 9 o'clock this morning for the purpose of preparing the charge. The charge was delivered to the jury by Judge B. W. Patterson when court opened this morning.
Two hours for argument was allowed both the state and the defendant by the court. M. E. Lawrence opened the argument for the prosecution. He was followed by Allen D. Dabney of Eastland and Gil Galloway respectively for the defense. Criminal District Attorney Grady Owen closed for the state. The case was given to the jury at about 3 o'clock this afternoon for consideration.

T. & P. to Move the Accounting Department Soon

FORT WORTH, June 14.—The removal of the accounting department of the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company from Tharber, Erath county, to Fort Worth, was announced here today by John Hancock, company official.
The change will become effective the first week in July. Field offices and field employees will be left in Tharber, it was announced. Reason for the change, Hancock said, is a general reorganization and expansion of the company.

W. L. Mellon Is Sued for Income Taxes Said Due

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 14.—A claim seeking more than $4,000,000 from W. L. Mellon, Gulf corporation executive and nephew of Andrew H. Mellon, allegedly due for unpaid federal income taxes, was filed in district court here today.

W. L. Cornelius Is Buried Today

Funeral services for W. L. Cornelius, 67, who died at his home in Byers Monday morning, were to be conducted at Byers this afternoon, with interment in the Byers cemetery. The Masonic lodge was to conduct services at the grave.
The deceased came to Texas 60 years ago and had lived in Ranger 14 years. He was survived by nine children and 10 grandchildren. All his children were present at the funeral services.

War Schooner Is Recovered

PENETANG, Ont.—One hundred and nineteen years after she was carried triumphantly to Mackinac by her British captors, and a century after she was allowed to go to the bottom in the Penetanguishene harbor, the United States war schooner Tigress lies a trophy upon the town dock of Penetang.
She was placed there by the energetic efforts of the town council, who despatched an expedition which gathered an every loose plank and rib and nail of the Tigress.
The recovered remains consist of the white oak keel, seven and a half inches wide and 12 inches deep, with stem and stern posts attached; most of the floor timbers; many of the ribs; some planking and some ceiling.
The work is shattered, but is quite recognizable and can be restored to a likeness of its original self without much effort.
The wreck will be placed in the town skating rink before reassembly and restoration. Eventually it will be placed in the town park.
Ontario has given Penetang a title to it.

Tug Will Sail Towing 5,000,000 Feet of Lumber

ASTORIA, Ore.—Towing five million feet of Oregon lumber, more than the length of its journey, the historic tug Roosevelt will sail from here about June 10 for San Diego.
The logs made up in a huge raft, ride 30 feet below the surface and are held together by a network of cables used by Admiral Perry in his polar expedition when he sailed within 470 miles from the north pole in his drive, extending from 1906 to 1908.
The lumber in the raft, if made into planks a foot wide would reach more than 5,000 miles.
FREAK CHICK BORN
LULING, Tex.—Viron Mercer has one for the sideshows—a turkey chick which hatched out with six legs, three wings, and a beak which has a tendency to point northeast when the bird is facing east.

Real But Absent Minded Fisherman Is Discovered

KLAMATH FALLS, Oregon.—Found a real fishing fan, but absent-minded, Frank Evans went on a fishing jaunt down Klamath canyon. Driving to the brink of the canyon, he locked his car and climbed down the steep canyon wall, a mile and a half.
Arriving at the bottom he found he had left his fishing pole in the car. Winded and hot, he took off his coat and climbed his tortuous way back up the canyon wall to his car.
He could not open it because he had left his keys in his coat at the river's edge. Persevering, Evans climbed down again, got the keys, clambered back up the cliff, got his rod, made his fifth trip back to the river and started fishing.

Conference On Recovery Bill To Be At Eastland

J. E. Spencer, chairman of the Eastland county RFC relief committee, has announced that a county-wide conference will be held in Eastland tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock under the auspices of the Texas Relief commission for the purpose of explaining the federal industrial recovery act as it affects Texas. A representative of the Texas commission will attend the meeting will be at the courthouse.
Under the terms of the measure, cities, counties and other political subdivisions may borrow from a fund to be set up under the federal bill.
Provisions of the measure will be explained at this meeting and chamber of commerce, city and county officials are urged to attend.

America Replies To British War Debt Proposal

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The American reply to the British proposal for settlement of the war debt installment due tomorrow, was delivered today to the British embassy today.
The text of the British proposal and American reply are to be made public at 4 p. m., at London and Washington.
Secretary of Commerce Roger, after a white house conference today, told newspapermen the president would advance a "unique" plan of debt settlement—one that will be a real surprise.
All other members of the administration maintained a strict secrecy.

Mattern Ready To Hop Off Again

MOSCOW, June 11.—James Mattern, resuming his round-the-world airplane flight, planned to leave about 2 p. m., EDT, today from Khabarovsk, Siberia, for Nome, Alaska.
Mattern returned to Khabarovsk about eight hours after his take-off for Nome. His plane was caked with ice and he was exhausted from fighting storms and fogs.

Eleventh State Votes for Repeal

BOSTON, June 14.—Massachusetts became the 11th state to ratify repeal of the prohibition amendment as complete returns from yesterday's voting today showed the election of every repeal delegate by a majority of more than four to one.

Bida Arson Case Now With Jury

The taking of testimony in the Frank Bida case now on trial in the 88th district court was completed late Tuesday afternoon and court recessed until 9 o'clock this morning for the purpose of preparing the charge. The charge was delivered to the jury by Judge B. W. Patterson when court opened this morning.
Two hours for argument was allowed both the state and the defendant by the court. M. E. Lawrence opened the argument for the prosecution. He was followed by Allen D. Dabney of Eastland and Gil Galloway respectively for the defense. Criminal District Attorney Grady Owen closed for the state. The case was given to the jury at about 3 o'clock this afternoon for consideration.

All-Day Singing At Beattie Sunday

W. B. Nowlin of Gorman has announced that a big all-day singing with dinner on the ground would be held at Beattie in Comanche county Sunday and that all Eastland county singers and lovers of music were cordially invited to attend.
Beattie is 14 miles south of Gorman and Mr. Nowlin states that the best route to be taken by those going from this section is via Gorman, going south from Gorman out the Bass Lake road.
The program to be rendered features "old folks" singing, or the old time four note music, but there will also be plenty of time given to the singing of modern songs.

91st Court Is In Trial of Civil Case

Judge George L. Davenport of the 91st district court had regular panel of jurors to report for duty this morning, and called for the trial of the case of J. S. Brimberry vs. the Commercial State Bank of Retzer. A jury was selected and the court proceeded with the hearing of the case which is an injunction proceeding involving the sale of property.

DEMOCRATIC FEUDISTS AS MAKERS OF COPY

Sen. Huey P. Long of Louisiana and Sen. Joseph Taylor Robinson of Arkansas are personal enemies. They are branded democrats. If so there are two democratic "factions" in high place. Kingfish Long attacked the administration. The Arkansas senator retorted that the Kingfish was "mad simply because Roosevelt won't let him run the administration."

Then the curtain rang down.

There is war on in Louisiana politics. It has been on ever since "THE POLITICAL BULL OF THE HILLS" pushed his face into the Pelican State picture. Colliers' Weekly sent John B. Kennedy to Louisiana to lift the lid and tell the readers of Colliers just how it was that the Kingfish became the supreme boss of Louisiana and the absolute dictator of a southern commonwealth.

Now what will the Louisiana Kingfish do? How will he perform? Will he go gunning for Kennedy, the Colliers' Weekly chief hair-raiser and political scalp taker? Kennedy insists that there be a showdown coming. Well, it is up to Kingfish to take the center of the stage. His hand has been called by the wandering journalist of the Colliers' Weekly tribe.

MORE FEDERAL BORROWING

Sen. Walter Woodul of Houston supplied the foresight, in final days of the legislative sessions, to prevent hundreds of Texas applications for federal loans from being tied up indefinitely.

He hurried through a law that will grant all the authority previously given in a dozen laws for borrowing from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to borrow from the new federal relief agency, and all the other business-boosting agencies set up in recent federal emergency legislation.

These deal with rights of cities, all kinds of districts, relief agencies of the state, and various institutions of semi-public or public nature, and projects of the self-liquidating kind.

It seems there will be a great deal more of public borrowing from the federal government. Now Texas has, as it should, the broadest possible authority of law to borrow whenever any of its agencies can satisfy the government's requirements.

Members of the National Economy League should find that they calculations on what was good for disabled veterans turned out to be miscalculations and need occasion no surprise.

A Chamber of Commerce nowadays is an organization of those people within a community who desire to forward its welfare and who believe that they can best do this through cooperative effort.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

Common sense means something different to each one of us. Some men think it common sense to tuck their shirt tail in, while some Indian think the right way is to let it hang loose. To some people a soft pillow is regarded as an essential adjunct to a comfortable bed. In China the nicest pillow is something akin to a brick.

A few years ago it was deemed proper to rise in the summer many hours after the sun had risen. Now, of course, most people regard the daylight saving scheme as common sense and laugh at the opposition it had.

Now some people think a standardized month seems eminently sensible. For instance, they wonder why we should be muddled with the 28 days of February and the 31 of August.

For the reason, a perfectly ridiculous one, we must go back to the reign of a swollen headed Roman Emperor. Yet the Cotsworth Calendar, like the 24 hour clock, is bitterly opposed and, although many think it is bound to come in time, future generations may look back upon the day of its introduction with a smile. They may even draw a parallel with the adoption of the Gregorian Calendar in 1582. The history books relate that on the day that change was made an angry rabble thronged the streets of London and demanded to be given back the 12 days of which it had been robbed.

Chamberlain-Hull Clash Anticipated

LONDON.—A fight to a finish between deflationists and reflationists is in prospect at the World Economic Conference. Cold, reserved Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain, head of the British delegation, will lead the deflationary forces.

Despite the recent week-end conversations between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister MacDonald, the United States and British delegations are likely to find themselves holding widely differing viewpoints.

One of the conference's chief aims is to restore the equilibrium between costs of production and prices. Washington favors increasing prices. Chancellor Chamberlain's policies since he became Chancellor of the Exchequer, prove that he puts most of his faith in the policy of reducing costs.

He looks askance at President Roosevelt's inflationary moves. So does Montagu Norman, Governor of the Bank of England. Curiously, permanent experts of the Treasury and many officials of the Bank of England are just as convinced that President Roosevelt is right as Neville Chamberlain and Montagu Norman are convinced that he is wrong.

Newspapermen At Londer Conference Occupy Much Space

LONDON.—Newspapermen occupied almost one-third of the space in the conference hall of the Geological Museum when the international monetary and economic conference opened. League of Nations officials still are battling with British government authorities for the elimination of space for the general public, enabling the allotment of 105 additional seats to representatives of the world's press.

Allotments for the press then would total approximately 350 seats, compared with 242.

A large working press room, equipped with numerous desks, is on the ground floor of the museum. Adjoining the press room, all the cable and wireless companies installed telegraphic facilities, enabling instantaneous transmission of news messages to offices here, where they are re-transmitted.

It is possible for a newspaperman covering the conference to deliver urgent news developments to New York, or Buenos Aires, within one or two minutes, without moving from his conference hall seat. Messengers race from the conference hall, down one flight of steps to the telegraph and cable office.

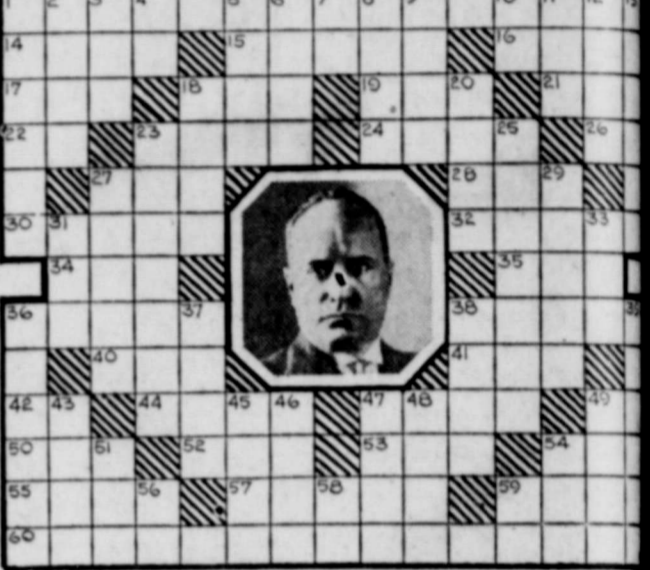

Telegraphic and wireless services have been supplemented by telephone facilities. Approximately a hundred telephone booths are installed from which newspapermen may dictate their stories to their offices here to continental newspapers, or even, if the financial situation warrants, to New York, San Francisco, Buenos Aires, or Sydney newspapers.

Arthur Sweetser, a United States citizen, acting head of the information section of the League of Nations, is in charge of all the information work, maintaining liaison between the conference and the press. He is assisted by several of his staff from Geneva.

Speeches, delivered in any language except English or French, are translated into both those tongues, as the two official diplomatic languages.

Air Speed Records May Topple At Chicago Races

CHICAGO.—A world airplane speed record over a one-mile course is expected to be set here during the American Air Races July 1-4 when the Laird Super Solutio, one of the fastest airplanes in the world, will be flown by E. M. "Matty" Laird, its designer and builder.

The plane, which is owned by Arthur Knapp, of Battle Creek, Mich., is capable of more than 300 miles an hour. The present world airplane record is 294 miles an hour and was set last year.

Three years ago in Chicago, the Super Solutio won the first Thompson Trophy race at a speed of 201.9 miles an hour with an engine of 450 horsepower. It was piloted by the late Charles "Speed" Holman.

The following year the ship placed third in the Thompson race at Cleveland, despite the fact that the pilot, the late Dale "Red" Jackson of endurance record fame, flew through a tree, tearing the fabric from the lower left wing panel.

Last September the ship was purchased by Mr. Knapp, the present owner, a prominent automotive parts manufacturer. Since then more than 1,500 hours of labor have been expended on the plane in an effort to add 100 miles an hour to its speed.

One hundred and fifty horsepower has been added to the Wright whirlwind navy type engine by supercharging, giving it a nimble horsepower of 600; the ship has been completely streamlined, even to the bolts that hold the cowling, while the wings and landing gear have been redesigned to give it the utmost in speed and lift.

A controllable pitch propeller manually operated from the pilot's seat while the plane is in flight, has been added and this alone has increased the speed by more than 17 miles an hour. The cockpit has been enclosed and frontal area considerably reduced to increase speed and lessen air resistance. The ship is painted white with its department of commerce and racing numbers in red.

"I am confident the plane will do better than 300 miles an hour," declared Mr. Laird, who has been building famous racing planes in Chicago since 1914. "I plan to make an attempt to set a new world speed record over a one-mile course each of the four days of the American Air Races. Four ships over the new straightaway course will be made each day—two down wind and two against the wind and the average time of the four dashes taken to figure the speed. In case I break the existing record the first day, I will attempt to better my own mark each succeeding day."

More than 300 airplanes, piloted by some of the world's most famous fliers, will be seen in the elaborate program of races, aerial maneuvers and stunting exhibitions at the American Air Races here next month.

Lewis "Lon" Yancey, who flew from New York to Rome with Roger Q. Williams in 1929, will attempt to set a new altitude record in his Champion autogiro. The existing 'giro altitude record of 21,500 feet was set by Yancey last fall.

Bennett Griffin, co-holder of the record for the fastest crossing of the Atlantic, in company with James Mattern last year, will take a prominent part in the American Air Races here.

Another trans-oceanic flier who will be in Chicago for the four-day program next month is Clyde Pangborn, who in company with Hugh Herndon Jr., made the first non-stop flight across the Pacific in 1931.

A famous Finnish flier, Captain V. Bremer, making a solo round-the-world flight from Helsingfors, Finland, will reach Chicago from San Francisco a few days before the races.

The American Air Races open and likewise will take part in the Chicago aviation spectacle.

Among the noted racing pilots who have definitely agreed to be here are John Livingston, who has won more air races than any other pilot; Lee Gehlbach, noted cross-country racer; Roy Liggett, designer and builder of famous racing planes; Arthur J. Davis, who has won more than 250 races at air meets; E. Hettit Lund, world's premier stunt flier; Dick Gramere, former member of the British Royal Flying corps; Frank Faulkner, one of the few pilots who stunts an autogiro, and George Burrell, who puts a Ford tri-motor plane through stunts ordinarily attempted only with small ships.

Numerous novelty events also have been given places on the program. Early-day "pusher" planes will be demonstrated. Delayed parachute drops from 10,000 feet will be featured. Dead stick landings, balloon bursting contests, precision flying and all manner of stunt flying will be a part of the elaborate program which is under direction of Major R. W. Schroeder, world-famous pilot and aeronautical engineer.

Michigan Boy Fights Return

William Tergwiler, 16, above, and Ralfe Macdonald, 17, both of Flint, Mich., arrested by police in Nashville, Tenn., on charges of extortion, will fight extradition by Michigan authorities. Macdonald is wanted in Flint in connection with the murder of his mother there May 27, after which both boys disappeared. Tergwiler denies knowledge of the crime.

The American Air Races is the only major aviation event this year that is open to other than a comparatively few of the nation's pilots. Ninety per cent of the racing pilots and airplanes in the United States have been barred from other meets owing to sizes of their engines or types of their ships. Twenty thousand dollars in prize money has been placed in escrow for the protection of pilots taking part in the races here in July.

Economic Peace Treaty Seen As Cure For Problems

By United Press

GENEVA.—A treaty of Economic Peace must be signed at the World Economic Conference or the represented governments must accept "clear and inescapable" responsibility for added world misery, League economists believe.

Living standards will fall, unemployment suffering increase, trade continue to decline and wages to decrease if the delegates do not call a halt to the recent era of economic warfare, League experts declare.

Conference Sponsor The League, as sponsor of the conference, can foresee the complete failure of the meetings unless international economic and financial co-operation is substituted for the prevailing policy of economic "nationalism."

Recent statements of the new Washington administration have encouraged Geneva experts to believe the United States delegation will lead the way to a general return of prosperity.

The League, therefore, is fighting for broad, constructive agreements. A policy of "nibbling will not solve the crisis," a board of League experts has declared.

The conference must give the world "economic disarmament," or run the risk of plunging modern society even further into economic chaos, it is held here.

When the Lausanne Reparations Conference asked the League to convene a World Economic Conference, League trade experts immediately set to work on a program for trade recovery.

Suggested Agenda A committee of experts drafted a suggested agenda for the conference in which they suggested rapid and effective action as follows:

One—The restoration of an effective international monetary standard;

Two—Increase of world private levels by policies of "easy money" and regulated production of primary commodities;

Three—Abolition of exchange restrictions to allow a free flow of capital;

Four—Removal of excessive tariff barriers and abolition of all artificial restraints to world trade, such as contingents and quotas.

Unless simultaneous action is taken in all four fields there can be no general return to prosperity, the experts found. Their recommendations will serve as the framework for discussions.

In preparing their four-point program the experts were faced with a spectacle of world trade conditions.

What They Found One—More than 30,000,000 persons in the world without work, affecting nearly 7,000,000 dependents;

Two—A drop of between 50 and 60 per cent in raw material prices;

Three—A decline of approximately 33 per cent in wholesale commodity prices;

Four—Huge accumulations of unmarketable agricultural products;

Five—Disastrous declines in industrial production, in some cases to 10 per cent of normal capacity;

Six—A fall in world trade of approximately 70 per cent compared to 1929;

Seven—Reduction of national incomes by about 40 per cent;

Eight—Abandonment of the gold standard by more than half the countries of the world;

Nine—Erection of tariff walls, exchange controls and similar artificial measures in all countries to an extent virtually strangling world commerce.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON.—The momentum of the prohibition repeal movement continues a jump ahead of even the men and women who have made it their business to flourish and promote it.

The wets have been in an almost constant state of pleasant surprise for the last three years and even at this late date they still regard themselves in the position of chasing a snowball rolling down hill.

A couple of months ago they had privately given up hope that the requisite 35 states would ratify the repeal amendment before the end of 1934. Now they think there's an excellent chance this year.

An unexpectedly overwhelming sentiment has developed for getting this issue out of the way, according to reports here. State legislators and officials all regard repeal as inevitable. They recognize that liquor is plentifully available everywhere and that its control will offer a rich field for taxation when use is badly needed.

THE 3.2 per cent beer has opened many eyes to the various possibilities and the fact that this beverage has failed to create any scandals has also helped the wets.

President Roosevelt has given the repeal movement impetus by pointing out that repeal will eliminate the necessity for the new income taxes and ratification has become a part of the administration program since Postmaster General James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, started sending letters to thousands of Democrats, urging prompt action. Huge repeal majorities in all states which have voted on the question have been another factor of acceleration.

WETS were discouraged when they lost three states—states which refused to hold elections and conventions to consider the issue. But early efforts of the dry to tie up the process soon lost headway. The governor of Alabama vetoed a convention measure and the legislature overrode him. Pinchet of Pennsylvania vetoed one such bill and was promptly presented with another, which he signed. There was an uproar in Kansas after the legislature there had failed to act.

Demands for special sessions are being heard in several states. Many cities in dry states have authorized the sale of 3.2 per cent beer despite the fact that it is illegal under state law.

More than 35 states will have had a popular vote on repeal by the end of the year, according to the confident prediction of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, which believes the wets will win in every case.

THE threat of a serious court fight over the legality of ratification has been virtually dissipated. There may be further litigation under state constitutions such as the unsuccessful case in Michigan; but the dry have little hope that courts will interfere with any state election.

Each state has the right to act as its legislature sees fit and the supreme court won't consider any ratification case except in the unlikely event that the federal constitution appears to have been contravened.

Cabinet Meeting Off

The officers' cabinet meeting of the Home Makers class of the Baptist church has been postponed until next Tuesday afternoon, on account of several of the officers having to assist with the preliminary preparations for the Eastern Star school of instruction in progress today.

Miss Oneita Russell
Presents Program

Miss Oneita Russell entertained the Nettowep and Chanyata groups of Camp Fire Girls at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, in the high school auditorium, when a splendid expression recital was given by Miss Russell's private studio class, and was greatly enjoyed by the mothers of students, and the special guests.

The program opened with the reading, "Just Dreams," by Pete Pegues, and following numbers were given:

"Aunt Tabatha," Kathryn Grisham.

"Day After Christmas," Tommie Jeanette Taylor.

"Hand-Me-Downs," Fred Patterson, dressed in baggy long trousers, which he complained had been handed down through preceding brothers.

"Buzzy Girl," Mary Lee Patterson.

"Little Mary's Essay on Widows," Bettie Ann Doss.

"Dog's Tail," Kathryn Grisham.

A clever tap dance was given by Madge Hearn and Chanyata group, in cunning, flowered print pajamas.

"The Escape," Tommie Jeanette Taylor.

"Members," Pete Pegues.

"Po' White Trash," was a character number by Fred Patterson, in blackface and wearing a striped bulky overall.

Miss Russell thanked the audience for their interest and stated she would present a program each week until further notice.

About 40 attended.

Junior Department
S. S. Class Picnic

Mrs. W. Fred Davenport, superintendent of the junior department of the Sunday school of the Methodist church, assisted by the teachers of the various classes in the department, entertained all the classes of the department with a picnic outing Tuesday, who, after assembling at the church at 5 p. m., went in a body to the city park, where recreational games furnished amusement, and diversion, under direction of Mrs. A. F. Taylor, Miss Rosalie Leslie, and Miss Loraine Taylor.

A delicious picnic supper of sandwiches, potato flakes, deviled eggs, pickles, cookies, bananas and iced tea, was done ample justice to.

Children entertained were between 9 to 12 years of age, and about 60 were present.

Guests were Mrs. Mack Oneal and Misses Taylor and Leslie.

Teachers assisting Mrs. Davenport were Misses W. P. Leslie, M. K. Gates, Walter Gray, Bill Keith, L. C. Brown, A. F. Taylor, and the secretary of department, Mrs. Ernest H. Jones.

Clover Leaf Club
Prettily Entertained

Mrs. Carl Johnson was hostess to the Clover Leaf club Tuesday afternoon, entertaining in a very charming fashion, with two tables arranged for bridge, and appointments in rose designs, in keeping with the bouquets of roses that adorned the rooms, and the rose motif of the refreshments.

Club members only were present and included Mrs. M. C. Hayes, Mrs. W. E. Brasher, Mrs. Carl Turner, Mrs. John Collins, Mrs. Hickman Hanks, Mrs. Joe Coffman, Mrs. E. R. Johnston and the hostess.

High score favor in game row.

silk lingerie, was awarded Mrs. Johnston, and table cut-for-all favors, linen kerchiefs, went to Mrs. Hanks and Mrs. Coffman.

At the tea hour a delicious fruit salad with cheese wafers was served with second course of ice cream, and rose iced angel food cake with iced tea mint and lemon.

The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. E. R. Johnston.

Nettopew Group Meets

The Nettowep group of Camp Fire Girls held their meeting on Tuesday afternoon in Room 2 of the high school, as their guardian, Mrs. Cecil White Webb, had been called to Fort Worth, and was unable to be present.

The session was opened by Madge Hearn, their president, and Maxine Coleman served as secretary pro tem.

The regular business routine was followed showing the girls are being well trained in club procedure.

Each girl will keep a personal account book of everything that she does, and how earned.

It was voted to have a swimming party every other Tuesday afternoon following the business meeting.

Upon adjournment the group attended the expression recital given by Miss Oneita Russell in high school auditorium.

Those present, Frances Lane, Marie Plummer, Helen Rosenquest, Ruth Agnes Harrell, Opal Hargisley, Madge Hearn and Maxine Coleman.

Mormon Church Opposes Repeal

By United Press

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—Reiteration of the historic dry position of the Latter Day Saints (Mormon) church has at least endangered the Utah campaign for repeal of the 18th amendment, in the opinion of unbiased observers here.

The church attitude, always a powerful influence in this Mormon state, was made known by Harry J. Grant, the president, in a dozen words.

Want State Dry
"Let Utah remain dry even though all other states vote to repeal national prohibition," Grant declared. That placed the church officially, into the open against repeal.

Coupled with the repeal fight is widespread agitation for resubmission of the state dry law, a part of the state constitution. This is the law which prevents legalization of 3.2 per cent beer in the state.

Under a law passed by the last legislature, Gov. Henry H. Blood may call a repeal election at his pleasure. Indications are that he will delay issuing such a call which is in line with the thought of church officials on the matter.

Election in 1934
The election probably will be a part of the 1934 general election, in November.

Although admitting the power of church officials, leaders in the repeal movement are far from being discouraged. They point out that Reed Smoot, with 30 years in the senate and the official support of president Hoover behind him, went down to defeat as the result of Mormon votes.

Another factor mentioned is that J. Reuben Clark Jr., former ambassador to Mexico and now a high church official, never realized his senatorial ambitions due largely to the modern attitude of Mormons of keeping religion and politics separate.

Oil Was Found in 'Oilless Oil Field'

By United Press

TOMBALL, Texas.—Symbols seldom come in pickle jars but there is one in a pickle jar full of crude perched atop the cash register of the Liberty Grill here.

Citizens could look at the jar and be reassured that oil has at last come to the Texas gulf coast's "oilless oil field."

The label was applied when operators appealed to state authorities for well-spacing orders although no production had been encountered. The discovery well, Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 1 Kobe, was brought in after dozens of "dry holes" had been drilled.

DERRICK SHADOWS

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

It's Old Home Week.

There aren't any brass bands and red lemonade and purple balloons, and there isn't any state or national charter to proclaim the anniversary—because every week is old home week.

Too bad our American mothers and fathers aren't aware of the fact.

Too bad, too, that our children aren't taught the meaning of the laughable term. That's why we find them where they are.

When mamas and papas ring a silent curfew, and bright-eyed youngsters realize there is an old home just back of the city's curbs... we won't see things to inspire insignificant articles of this type.

There won't be any 10-year-old poking around in ash cans many blocks from home, striking matches to aid observation in the gathering darkness.

No 12-year-old on the corner by the big brick at 11:15 p. m., watching a couple of dirty tramps across the street... gathering ideas... obviously seeing the world through rags and tatters; the wrong window.

No 14-year-old little ladies walking dimly-lit streets at night, arm in arm... cute little ladies.

No weird newspaper reports of murders and thefts and run-aways starring minors.

And so old home week comes and goes every seven days... but we're too busy celebrating anniversaries and events, fairs, accomplishments.

We'll let it go another week. Maybe there'll be mitsy times. Meanwhile, Buddy and Sue grow up... and more old home weeks come on, while Buddy and Sue wait, too.

I have found, through careless observation, a few things about some advocates. I was reading of one today who decries that women go back to short skirts and nature, or something about like that.

It's a funny thing about these kind souls who desire that we show off, destroying some of the more fascinating conventions. In their effort to reach all-around America, they lose their own cultural background.

I don't agree with the lady grading that practically nothing. She insists that America is too puritan to lose her morals.

Europe seems to have set us on a pedestal. It is truly a shame that we, as a nation, must produce clay feet.

I don't like the woman's attitude. Evidently she doesn't like ours. She detests our "seductive flourishes"... we don't care for her language.

completion of the well. New projects include two hotels, two lumber yards, an ice plant, three drug stores, a grocery store and a general merchandise store.

HOOKS and SLIDES

BY BILL BRAUCHER

"Oral" Hildebrand

MAYBE they named Cleveland's pitcher Hildebrand correctly when they called him Oral. The young flinger who won his first six games this season is oral all right as far as jockeying opposing ball players is concerned. The only other name for him I could think of would be Hector.

Hildy is a pleasant, quiet spoken chap off the ball field, but when they stand him up there on that rubber he turns on his sound attachments.

Oratory at First

IN a recent game at Washington in which he stopped the Nats in their tracks, Hildebrand gave umbrageous utterance that even that prince of jockeys, Leo Durocher, wouldn't have to be ashamed of.

In one inning Fred Schulte got a pop single over first, one of those lousy blows the athletes call a "banjo" or "handie" hit Hildy walked over to first with this: "Why don't you hit the ball hard enough for us to catch it, you lucky wretch up there! This is a family newspaper" so-and-so.

In another inning Rookie Cecil Travis, who has been filling in seasonally for injured Ossie Bluege, slashed the ball to Morgan, who failed to hold it. Again "Oral" walked over to first, and with this:

"You've been pretty hot breaking in around here (Hildy himself broke in only last year) but you got no more hits this afternoon."

And, let it be recorded that Oral made good his boast. Travis rolled twice to Hildebrand thereafter and struck out his last time up.

Luke Hits Pitchout

IN another inning, with Myer on first, Hildy got the signal for a pitchout to break up an anticipated hit-and-run play. Catcher Spencer stepped out of position to get the pitch, but Luke Sewell threw his bat at the ball and popped it into right field for another of those Texas league singles.

Again Hildebrand to first, and with this:

"You were lucky, Luke, but I'll have you throwing that bat away for good before the summer is over."

Thus endeth today's lesson in "oral" abuse.

ARE YOU PAYING GOOD MONEY FOR "FALSE BARGAINS"?

Whenever outstanding quality makes any packaged product popular with you and other shoppers, somebody soon offers you something "just as good" at a "bargain" price.

Before you even think of buying it, look at the label. When the brand is unfamiliar—when you know nothing of the maker's reputation—isn't it folly to take a chance on unknown quality just to "save" a few cents?

There are too many genuine bargains today to waste good money on false ones! Prices are down. Many reliable brands, long-known to you through your own experience or by their advertising, now cost far less than they have in years.

Ask for them by name. And insist on getting them. It is the best way to avoid buying merchandise in which quality has been sacrificed to make a low price still lower!

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS-By Blosser

BARGAIN BRIDIE by KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY
BARRETT COLVIN, 35, returns to New York after four years absence. He is rich and has made a name for himself as an archeologist.

her attractions could, she would be able to do much for him—and she was not the sort to forget early days nor kindnesses during her childhood.

THERE was the sound of someone moving behind the closed door and a voice called, "Just a moment!"

A young man stood inside. He smiled at Elinor a trifle bitterly. "Envoys from the land of plenty!" he muttered.

"Hello, Phillip," Elinor crossed the threshold, depressed. Her cousin, Phillip Sexton, was often so difficult.

"I brought the money—all I could raise," Elinor said. "All you could raise," he echoed, brows lifted upward, smiling unpleasantly.

"How is your work going?" she asked. "My work!" he laughed unpleasantly. "I wish you could come down some night and see me banging on the tin-pan piano in that joint!"

"Joy and Sorrow—Baby Is Found"
The boy was rescued from the stream by the motorman of the traction car and passengers.

COLONY NEWS
Mr. Harris of Jack county is visiting his son, Lee Harris, of this community.

"I brought the money—all I could raise," Elinor said.

ELINOR watched Phillip's nervous, slenderly effeminate hands roll a cigaret. He lit it, dropped to a chair facing her and studied her quizzically.

"I imagine you don't advertise your visits here to our esteemed great aunt," he hazarded. "How can I—with mother and father feeling as they do? I'm not alone, Phillip!" she protested.

"Oh, I know!" he agreed, his bitterness stinging. "And I know I'm a brute. I shouldn't be—to you, the one of all my beloved relatives willing to acknowledge my existence!"

"How is your work going?" she asked. "My work!" he laughed unpleasantly. "I wish you could come down some night and see me banging on the tin-pan piano in that joint!"

get some hell for having brought me up as she did and then sent me to this!"

He sat brooding, his weak chin dropped and his pale blue eyes fixed unseeing on a window which gave vision of the crowding, soot-stained walls across the way.

"I imagine you don't advertise your visits here to our esteemed great aunt," he hazarded. "How can I—with mother and father feeling as they do? I'm not alone, Phillip!" she protested.

"How is your work going?" she asked. "My work!" he laughed unpleasantly. "I wish you could come down some night and see me banging on the tin-pan piano in that joint!"

Luncheon and Dinner Parties Honors Miss Judd on Birthday

Numbered among delightful early week social happenings was that of the luncheon and dinner parties given in compliment to Miss Jewelle Judd's 16th birthday, the former affair held at the home of Misses Delia and Eleanor Cleveland, Prairie camp, Tiffin. The table carrying a pretty color note of white and pink designated places for the honoree and friends: Misses Jessie Judd, Gretchen De Wyann, Nancy Ruth Edward of Breckenridge, and Cleveland sisters, Delia and Eleanor. The dinner party naming Miss Nancy Ruth Edward hostess at her home in Breckenridge featured a motif of blue and white effected in a smart manner throughout the three courses served with places laid for Miss Judd and the Misses Eleanor Cleveland, Gretchen De Wyann and Messrs. Phil Howard, H. T. Leclair, Estes George and Gene Reisman.

Miss Judd was delighted recipient of an array of lovely gifts in token of the happy occasion.

Two Luncheons For The Picnic Lanches

With perfectly planned informal outing of many kinds filling a prominent part of the society calendar, all manner of new things will lend a pleasing suggestion in such a way the preparations will eagerly be looked forward to. Keep in mind for your next picnic the two luncheons listed below for your convenience.

Make your filling in advance, put it in jars, take along crackers, a box full of saltines and one of graham crackers and let the picnickers spread their own.
SALT FILLING—Chop a 4-cup can tomatoes and enough sweet pickles to make 1/2 cup. Mix with 1/4 cup of peanut butter, 1/4 teaspoonful salt, 1/4 cup of mayonnaise. Spread between saltines or butter wafers.

SWEET FILLING—Mix 1/2 a package pasteurized dates with 2 package cream cheese, add 1/2 teaspoonful powdered ginger and enough cream to moisten. Serve with graham crackers.

Wound in Dog Blew Him Up Like A Toy Balloon

By United Press
GLENDALE, Calif.—Here's a story about inflation as applied to the dog world. Duke, Merie McMullin's young hound pup, is the chief actor.
One day Duke came around looking like a balloon, his sides distended, but apparently in no pain. A veterinary, summoned to give him relief, punctured him and was greeted with an outrush of air like a tire with a nail in it. Investigation followed. Duke was found to have snagged himself while running, puncturing a sizeable hole in one thigh close to the body. It was found that this hole opened and closed with the leg

Wife of President's Son To Seek Divorce

Marital happiness was short-lived for Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, and his wife, the former Elizabeth Browning Donner. Wedded on January 16, 1932, they were separated within a year, it was learned when Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt disclosed Elliott will go to Reno to allow his wife to sue for divorce on the ground of incompatibility. Here the Roosevelts are pictured in happier days.

Cheek, Tennessee, secretary.

movement, drawing in air and sealing the opening again like a valve. So the faster Duke ran the tighter he got. Duke's wound has healed now and he is no longer an "inflationist."

So far, we have seen no signs of Mr. Hoover's dire prediction that "grass will grow in the streets" this summer, but the man who has to cut it can testify that there is plenty growing on his front lawn.

Aged Beggar Took Tip From Capone

By United Press
PORTLAND, Ore.—Talking a tip from Scarface Al Capone's biography, John Brown, aged beggar, is not gambling with the law. When arrested John had a detailed account of each day's earnings.
"Why the accurate account?" police asked him.
"So I could figure my income tax," the beggar replied. "You know what happened to Al Capone!"

Prairie Dogs Soon Will Be Extinct Agents Declare

By United Press
BRADY, Texas.—Hundreds of the most picturesque towns in West Texas rapidly are nearing extinction. They are the prairie dog farms which flourished over thousands of square miles of plains long before pioneers dreamed of a great cattle and sheep empire.

Prairie dogs, the "sentinels of the plains," like the buffalo, the Indian, the antelope and other species of life native to West Texas, are yielding ground to the pure bred Hereford registered sheep and goats.

J. B. Lindsey, West Texas representative of the rodent control department, United States biological survey, predicts that soon the little range animal, with its voracious instincts, will be a thing of the past.

However much tourists will miss the comically alert prairie dog, cattlemen will not be sorry. It has been estimated the rodents destroy 50 to 75 per cent of the grass roots in the area covered by their towns.

Lindsley and his crew once applied a "poison and gas siege" to a prairie dog settlement which covered 20 sections in Crockett county.

Government surveys show four of five years ago approximately 500,000 acres in four West Texas counties of Crockett, Pecos, Reagan and Upton were infested with prairie dogs. As a result of the government's warfare against the animals, their realm has been reduced to 70,940 acres in these counties.

Abuse, Not Use of Liquor Condemned

By United Press
FORT WAYNE, Ind.—Abuse and not use of liquor for drinking purposes is condemned by the Lutheran church and the Bible, according to Dr. W. H. T. Dau, president emeritus of Valparaiso university and former member of the faculty of Concordia Lutheran seminary at St. Louis.

"The Lutheran church never has taken a stand on prohibition," said Dr. Dau in an interview here, "but it does not condemn the use of liquor for drinking, always has considered as a sin the abuse of liquor for drinking."
