KEEPING THROUGH THE KNOTHOLE

By BILL MAYES

Interest in the Ranger Twilight continues throughout the week in spite of the fact that scores of the practice games have been decidedly lopsided on one side or the other. Or maybe the lopsidedness is of the interest, we know not.

It is to be known that the Times is to have a struggle to keep a single team in the league and so far we think of a single team we can't unless our team shows a change of form or we slip on some team when it is an off day.

Barbers, the Rotarians and some may have the same opinion, because we heard one Roysay today that their team probably trail the league.

It of the teams have been hit by rain consistently, but the work has been rugged. In errors are almost as plentiful as hits, but arguments have been stripped both hits and errors haven't found out, yet, just as, no doubt, as gripping to spectators, if any, as to the umpire. The umpire is supposed to call on all decisions, but he calls a ball or a strike and does not agree with the definition of some of the players it is, but anything, nor will it be runner thinks as to safe or out anyone. The game is played for fun and exercise, but for the sake of an argument because they do not stand all of the rules, and if the case the rules will be soon and everyone will be it to go by the umpire's decision.

When that time arrives we should get more enjoyment of the game.

The team has had a practice except the Guards and the Stars and both these teams are to play soon. The game had a game matched for with the Lone Star club, and understand they may play hard.

At any rate, there is a practice game Friday night, and possibly this after before the season opens. The first game will be between the first team and the Legion. The day the two teams worked together. With the aid of one of the stars of the Ranger Tri-County league the Legionnaires smothered the crew with base hits and no one seems to know just the outcome of the game as was the kid keeping score. The books out of balance and did get them back. Both were in the lead two or three times in the last two in the Legion ran in enough to make the game a cinch. If they didn't know just how they did beat us. Maybe it is for us that the scoring at any more accurate.

Father's Day To Be Observed on Sunday, June 18

By BILL MAYES

Father's Day will occur this year on June 18, the customary third Sunday of the month. It will be observed not only throughout the United States and Canada but in other countries as well. The spread in popularity of the observance of this event has been marked since its inception in 1910 when Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Wash., first conceived the idea.

Despite some skepticism regarding the event and the natural embarrassment on the part of some parents to have a special day set aside for them, it has become an accepted day of honor for fathers of at least two nations. Its importance this year is considerably greater for several reasons. The chief reason is that most fathers will deserve recognition for having carried on for almost four years of economic hardship. Another, that at last fathers and all the remainder of the family have some cause for encouragement and a much brighter outlook for the months to come.

Mrs. Dodd inspired the Father's Day idea to honor her own father, William B. Smart, who played both mother and father to a brood of motherless children. The memory of the struggle through which her father passed and the care and affection he bestowed on his children always remained with Mrs. Dodd.

In 1910 the author of the day sought about for some method whereby other fathers could be honored and could have special recognition of their labors and their love. The first such was held, also in June, (23 years ago) by Mrs. Dodd and several other men and women who supported her in her idea. Two religious organizations subsequently endorsed and actively aided to give the day national publicity. Eventually the anniversary of the event was decided upon and for many years the third Sunday of June has been accepted as the date for the annual observance.

Some of the original plans or customs first observed on the day are either maintained or are remembered. One was the wearing of a red rose for fathers still living and white rose for those who had died. Family reunions have become a part of the day's observance in some sections of the country. Many flowers were suggested as reflecting in some way the character of the day and the average father for whom it was being observed. Gradually the idea of a present or a gift became an accepted custom in every section of the nation. The things that a man wears, or that he likes, were thought appropriate as gifts. This year there is a move to make these gifts of a high character and value the better to reflect the affection of those who remember, to their fathers.

Since Mrs. Dodd's first Father's Day the idea grew in several directions. Its greatest early popularity was in the Midwest and Far West. In 1913 Delaware granted a charter to Charlotte K. Kirkbridge, C. Carrie Sternberg, and others for the creation of a Father's Day in June each year and the proper honoring of the day and the fathers.

On Oct. 2 of the same year Rep. J. Hampton Moore, of Pennsylvania introduced a bill before Congress to make this day one of national recognition. During the war the American Expeditionary Force in France actually ceased long enough to struggle for a day to life to set aside a day to honor and to remember the fathers back home. There had been many discussions concerning which date should be regularly chosen for Father's Day. It climaxed to the discussion occurred in 1921 when a conference was held, a day chosen—and that day has since been widely accepted. The same year—in 1921—the National Father's Day association, Inc., was organized by the former Miss Kathryn Swinford of Drewry's Bluff, Va. (now Mrs. W. H. Burgess, of 918 Rowland avenue, Rowland Park, Cheltenham, Pa.). A proclamation was issued by Gov. E. Lee Trinkle, a Virginia charter granted and the third Sunday in June was designated as National Father's Day. The same customs were advised as for the original plan. Father's Day has since been recorded in the patent office in Washington, and has become a real national holiday. It is the custom of the year when most of the family attention can and should be centered about the bread earner and the man who has struggled and will struggle further to maintain his household. Most fathers ask for little. Most are over-conscious of affection directed at them. Perhaps the better way to express that affection is through some small gift or remembrance.

TWO KIDNAP PLOTS THOUGHT TO BE FOUND

By BILL MAYES

BOSTON, Mass., June 15.—A secret service man has been assigned to guard James Roosevelt, son of the president, at 1 his family, but young Roosevelt denied to the agent's presence was due to threats to kidnap his daughter, Sara Delano Roosevelt, 14 months old. The secret service man was on duty yesterday when fire damaged the James Roosevelt summer home at North Hampton, N. H. The Boston Post said it learned that kidnaping threats had been received by young Roosevelt and he feared the fire was of incendiary origin, and was set to distract attention to facilitate kidnaping of the child. Roosevelt insisted the special agent's presence was in connection with President Roosevelt's vacation trip to New England waters.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—James Roosevelt has been touched with his father, the president, and has denied reports that threats to kidnap the president's granddaughter have been received, the white house said today.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Horace E. Dodge, wealthy Detroit manufacturer, returning with his family today on the liner Europa, revealed his two children have been threatened with kidnaping. He said his home in Detroit had been guarded by 18 private detectives.

FEW NATIONS ARE PAYING UNITED STATES

By United Press

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Settlement day for the war debtor nations today found the United States receiving probably less than $15,000,000 from 13 nations which were due to pay $143,605,294. Great Britain was paying the most, offering $10,000,000 on its $75,950,000 installment on the promise of President Roosevelt that he soon would give it a hearing on its plea for debt revision. Whether any revision actually will be granted will be up to congress to decide later.

Junior College Prospects Bright For Next Year

By BILL MAYES

Ranger Junior College had by far the largest increase in enrollment during the past session over the preceding session of all the junior colleges within the state, according to statistics presented at the last meeting of the Association of Texas Colleges by President C. W. Bingham, president of Lamar College, Beaumont. According to this report, many of the senior and junior colleges lost in enrollment while most others just barely held their own or had only a slight increase. Ranger Junior College had more than doubled any previous enrollment and almost tripled its freshman enrollment of the preceding session. Dean H. S. Van Roeder, Ranger's representative at this meeting, was called on for an explanation of this remarkable showing made during the 1932-33 session. Not only had Ranger Junior College added a larger percentage of new students than any other college in the state, but it had also had the largest percentage of students returned for their sophomore work of those who had completed their freshman year's work in this institution.

Ranger Junior College has indeed made rapid progress in recent years. In 1932-33 it had an increase of about 22 per cent in its enrollment over the previous year, enrolling during that year a total of 64 students. In 1932-33 a total of 131 students enrolled in Ranger Junior College, thus making an increase of almost 100 per cent over the enrollment of the preceding session. This splendid showing seems to be the result primarily of the increasing recognition on the part of the citizenry of this section of the fact that Ranger Junior College offers the highest type of college advantages not generally found in other colleges, such as personal interest in and attention to the students' needs on the part of the faculty, a spirit of democracy and good will among the student body and faculty over the enrollment of boys who wear overalls and the girls who wear simple gingham dresses and are satisfied as much as those who wear fine clothes, thus also reducing the financial costs to students and parents greatly, and many other advantages.

The coming session promises to bring an even larger enrollment than the past session. The law increasing tuition charges in state-supported colleges will tend to increase the enrollments in the municipal junior colleges, as it equalizes somewhat the tuition charges in the two types of institutions. Secondly, out of a freshman class almost three times the size of that of any preceding session who finished the first year's work and a majority of whom are expected to return, together with a number of transfers who usually come here (Continued on page 4)

Slayer of Gifford Clegg Is Pardoned

By BILL MAYES

J. Frank Allen, who was sentenced to 10 years in prison for the slaying of William Gifford Clegg, formerly of Ranger, has been pardoned by Acting Governor Guillermo Berchelman of Coahuila, Mexico, according to news dispatches. Clegg was shot last July when he was attempting to trace alleged thefts of electricity from the company for which he worked. He entered the cafe operated by Allen to question him and was shot to death. Clegg was for a number of years manager of the Ranger office of the Texas Electric Service company.

FARM RELIEF PLANS NEAR COMPLETION

By BILL MAYES

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Farm relief administration officials drove today toward completion of programs to aid the grain and cotton industries. Specific plans affecting these staples will be announced before the end of the week. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace was expected to announce how he would apply the farm act to cotton within the next 48 hours. The United Press learned wheat production administrators expected to be ready with their plan shortly thereafter. No decision had been reached upon the rates of processing taxes—such as these impost are to be levied. The information, however, was for excise levies beginning about July 1 on wheat and August 1 on cotton. Current guesses that the wheat tax would be about 30 cents a bushel and the cotton tax 4 cents a pound were based on the disparity between present existing price averages and the 1909 to 1914 base level. However, officials say they have not yet determined whether the initial tax will be the full amount necessary to make up the difference.

An early court test of the licensing features of the industrial control and farm measures is expected by administration officials. They expect it will come out of a milk war in Chicago. Government lawyers already are preparing for the expected contest which would be the key case in deciding the constitutionality of the wide-sweeping government control authorized in the Roosevelt economy program.

No Agreement Reached on Vet Payment Plans

WASHINGTON, June 15.—At hour and a half conference today between President Roosevelt and Senators Cutting and Steiwer, co-authors of the amendment to liberalize the veterans' payment, failed to reach an agreement looking to speedy adjournment of congress. In an effort to break a congressional deadlock, President Roosevelt summoned the two senators to the white house today. Meanwhile, house democratic leaders called a party caucus in a final effort to settle the controversy which has threatened all plans for early adjournment.

DOLLAR-POUND ADJUSTMENT IS WORKED OUT

By United Press

LONDON, June 15.—The United States, Great Britain and France are on the verge of an agreement for default stabilization of the dollar and the pound, James Cox of the United States delegation informed the United Press today. "We were extremely close to an accord this morning," Cox said. "The negotiations are so delicate in detail that they can be upset, but barring unforeseen developments, I believe an announcement will be made soon." Asked whether $4 to the pound would be a fair guess, he replied, "It would shoot very close to the mark." It was widely rumored in the financial districts that the dollar-steering rate on which agreement had virtually been reached was $4.05. Prime Minister Bennett of Canada urged on the world economic conference the quickest possible stabilization of the pound and dollar, while experts of the United States, Great Britain and the United States conferred on a plan to make currency stabilization the first objective of the conference. Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet minister of foreign affairs, shows the medium of a conference called to restore international economic balance, to make a dramatic move to end the British embargo on Soviet goods.

Plans Would Aid The Shad Industry
By United Press
BOSTON, Massachusetts soon will witness a revival of her shad fishing industry, which antedates the American Revolution, if plans now before congress are adopted. Director Raymond J. Kenney of the division of fisheries and game has announced an agreement between his department and owners of fishing rights along the Palmer river which he believes will revitalize the long-dormant industry. So important was this industry in pioneer days that as far back as 1786 a law governing the taking of shad in the river was passed by the Massachusetts general court. Fifty years ago shad were so plentiful in the river that four-horse wagons were used to cart away the catches. Under the new agreement more than an eighth of a mile of the stream will be reserved as a natural spawning area. OSHEGON, Wis.—Fishermen use approximately 100,000 minnows a day during the annual white bass "run" on the Wolf river, a survey of supply stand showed.

HOOSIERS DECLARED FOR REPEAL OF THE AMENDMENT

Indiana is "the Hoosier State." Indiana declared for statewide prohibition in 1917. Indiana lawmakers enacted an enforcement act even more drastic than the Dean law. It was a criminal offense for a physician to prescribe liquor for a patient. Indiana was one of the first states to ratify the 18th amendment.
Now, place it in the record that last week Indiana became the 10th state to vote in favor of the repeal of "the noble experiment." It was an overwhelming victory for the repealers, but it is admitted that more than one-third of the voters failed to go to the polls on the big day, and the reason given is that prohibition has ceased to be a burning issue in the land of the Hoosiers. Gov. Paul McCutt, democrat, led the fight for repeal and, according to the unofficial returns, two-thirds of the delegates sent to the state convention are very enthusiastic champions of a NEW DEAL and new methods, legally of course, for the regulation of the liquor traffic.

NATIONAL SOLONS AND THE SALES TAX

Sen. David A. Reed of Pennsylvania is an aggressive advocate of a federal sales tax. He is said to have many followers in a battle for insertion of the tax in the administration's industrial control public works to be waged by Reed and those who think as he thinks. Senator Walsh of Massachusetts and Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia are said to be committed to the proposal.
Senator Joseph Taylor Robinson of Arkansas predicted final adjournment would take place on June 10. Washington correspondents predict adjournment will take place in July or perhaps in the hot month of August. National lawmakers are having their own troubles. There will be a general election held in 1934 and political fence building is necessary at all times.

HIGH COURT MAKES IMPORTANT DECISION

Another important ruling has been made by the federal judiciary. The fourth amendment to the United States constitution cannot be invoked as protecting against public investigation of businesses affecting the public interest. This decision came from the circuit court of appeals sitting in Chicago. A big grain company asked an injunction against the secretary of agriculture. Its head complained that federal requirements that it open its books to inspection and furnish regular reports on its future trading and its long and short positions were in violation of the right under the fourth amendment "guaranteeing freedom from unlawful search." Now an appeal will be taken to the supreme court of the United States. Regardless of where it is heading, this is a quick moving old world.

Carl C. McGee has resigned as the editor of the Oklahoma City News. He is known throughout the west and southwest as "Fighting Editor" Magee. His temporary successor is George B. Parker, editor-in-chief of the Scripps-Howard newspapers.
Carl Magee has a national reputation. He dips his pen in vitriol. He established his record under the skies of New Mexico. He fought corruption in government when Albert B. Fall was the boss of New Mexico. Magee played no favorites. He is the stormy petrel of the southwest. He moved to Oklahoma. He played no favorites in Oklahoma. He never plays favorites. Now where will he go?

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma
EDGAR ARNOLD, publisher of the Madisonville (Ky.) Messenger, says:
"Advertising—especially newspaper advertising—is destined to play a huge part in the steps which industry is taking to overcome the depression of the past several years.
"On advertising will fall the burden of moving the products which are manufactured, creating the consumer demand which in turn will enable other industries to resume operation, swell payrolls and create additional consumer demand which puts additional men to work—all in the circle through which the nation will work back to better times.
"Already schedules are being prepared in advertising agencies and will soon appear in newspapers and magazines, and to fill the orders wheels will turn and smoke will burst forth from factory stacks. As usual, advertising will do the job—competently, efficiently and economically—justifying the faith which brains and money put into it.
"There are many indications—some of them unquestioned barometers—that the upturn has definitely begun. Advertising is prepared to do its job, and we who know its effectiveness are proud of the part which it will play in bringing the nation back to more prosperous and more happy times."

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEXA Service Writer
WASHINGTON. — The administration's securities bill may be regarded as an effort to lock the barn door in the wake of a stolen horse—but it certainly was a large horse.
The people have been "milked" of 50 billion dollars by the investment "profession" in the last 10 years, according to Chairman Fletcher of the Senate banking and currency committee.
Other estimates place the total for that period at a mere 25 billions, with the assertion that investment losses in this country were averaging some $1,700,000,000 a year even before the depression.
The determination of the administration and Congress to give the investor a "new deal" is comparable to the willingness to accept a system of insuring bank deposits. By making it possible for investors to know the facts about securities and preventing fraud and misrepresentation, it is hoped to assure those who have money that they can invest with relative safety. Immense potential investors, naturally enough, are now somewhat timid.
Forty-seven states have blue-sky laws, but the investors lost their money just the same. Billions of dollars went for virtually worthless securities which were "presented with incomplete, careless or false claims."
SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY Woodin is rapidly becoming famous. As he stood with other passengers to leave a parlor car from New York the other day, a strange woman just behind him made him an excited speech about her admiration for his good work in Washington. Woodin beamed.
"I've voted Democratic all my life," the woman concluded proudly.
"Well, I haven't," said Woodin. Not at all dismayed, the lady turned to the people in the rear and announced: "That's our secretary of state!"
SENATOR Harry Flood Byrd, former governor of Virginia, is the latest die-hard dry to be washed away from his old moorings by the tide.
When Virginia has its referendum on ratifying the eighteenth amendment I expect to vote for repeal," he says. "All of us must recognize that no law is stronger than the public sentiment to sustain it. I hope that such plans as may be adopted by the various states will promote the cause of true temperance."

Swimming Swimming will be better this year than last, as we will have diving boards and the depth of the water will be raised, according to plans now, about 18 inches the large swimming hole.

Sham Battle Another feature of this year's camp will be a sham battle. This will be where the camp will be divided into two camps.

Stunt Night Each troop will be expected to prepare to put on stunts at various times during camp fire programs throughout the whole camp and of course, it would be better if these stunts could be prepared by each troop before going camp.

BARGAIN BRIDIE by KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY BARRETT COLVIN 25, returns to New York after four years' absence. He is rich and has made a name for himself as an archaeologist.

TWO days later Barrett Colvin, in Connecticut, stepped into his low roadster. His ward, who at nine years was beginning to stretch to the famed Colvin height, stood near by, looking at Barrett wistfully.

Barrett leaped from the car to take the boy's hand. "I'm coming back!" he promised, "and we're going to have some good times!"

"That's true," Barrett agreed, contritely. "Are you going to stay here a while now?" the boy asked. He tried, without success, to make his question casual.

LETTERS FROM READERS A nice time. Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Campbell visited in the home of Grandma Hale Sunday afternoon.

MRS. COOK, in whose house Gerald made his home, appeared at the doorway. "You'll catch cold without your hat, Gerald!" she called sharply.

THE boy was appealing too. Engagingly unpolished, obviously a truth-teller and softened so easily by kindness, it was all too evident that kindness were not common for him.

When Barrett reached home he found Higgins waiting with several messages. Mrs. Radnor had telephoned and asked Mr. Barrett to telephone her between six and seven.

DERRICK SHADOWS

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

It's funny how we grow away from people. I've been reading a lot lately about June weddings. . . now and then the bride's name is familiar, and, looking back, I recall that I know her.

I read about one today. It seems that New York turned around two or three times in the effort to fill the society columns with the proper setting.

Remembering, I can see the bare one day when there was an argument over a doll cradle. I think I'll always be glad I won, even though one of the slats was broken.

And now she's married and wandering about in another nation on an extensive moonmoon tour. . . and she doesn't remember me at all, and the only thing I remember about her is a broken cradle slat. . . yet, I'm vaguely interested in her marriage.

I saw the first pleasure cyclist I've noticed yesterday. He roams the ranks of the business men during office hours, and seems to have taken up pedaling to east the monotony of the day.

His expression was one of deep satisfaction, though a little shaky around the mouth when he released the handlebar long enough to tip his hat in accordance with the spirit of the times.

No balky temperament there as long as your muscles and will-power co-operate.

It's a great exercise. And it costs neither gasoline nor hay. . . it's greater than you thought.

New high prices, sales go up, more jobs open. . .

Over thirty more marriage licenses have been recorded in one section of the state than were bought in '32. . .

Divorces continue. . . it looks like it runs in the president's family, too.

Meanwhile, such insignificant news fades into oblivion for the time being, while America stretches the rumor that baby Sarah Delano Roosevelt is the object of a kidnap plot.

The report has been denied and verified by turns, but the public goes on believing as it will. . . we haven't had any plots of this kind for some time.

And so the Roosevelts are somewhat upset, one would suppose, with divorce and kidnaping and depression and beer all mixed up together.

Things are running in families these days. Take the McDivans, for example. They're all trying to get in and out of marriage at the same time: two divorces and a wedding.

To the princess one would extend sympathy and congratulations. The same is true of America: sympathy and congratulations.

THERE HAVE BEEN MANY accounts of human deaths caused by the fall of a meteorite, but investigations of these incidents show them to be of a time so long ago, or of a location so far away, that verification is impossible. Had some of the great meteorites struck in congested cities, instead of unsettled areas, the death toll might have numbered in the thousands.

R. J. C. Prospects

For the second year's work, Ranger Junior College should have a graduating class next year of about 50 students. Furthermore, the college is sending out more literature than ever before and more catalogs are being printed than any previous year, and this should bring in additional students. In addition, the board has again voted to put Mr. Von Roeder, dean of the college, out in the field soliciting students personally and on a larger scale than ever before. All citizens of Ranger who have relatives graduating elsewhere are urged to invite them here to attend Ranger Junior College, and they should also get in touch with Mr. Von Roeder and give him the names of any relatives who may be interested in attending college next year. From all these sources, Ranger Junior College should draw an enrollment of 150 to 200 students for the coming session.
