COTTON REDUCTION PROGRAM IS OUTLINED

KEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE with BILL MAYES

Today the first game of the season in the Ranger Twilight league will be played at 6:45 with the Times club playing the American section team.

We have a decided advantage over the Legion inasmuch as we can offer excuses and alibis before the game starts, then if we get out we can point to our excuses.

However the Legion has a decided advantage because they have a lot more players from which to pick. The Times club was somewhat handicapped at first because of lack of players. Then Joe Thompson caught one on the end of a miscalculation instead of in his hand.

Lawrence Hollowell came back the next day and hurt one of his fingers. That made two out. Carl Kramer worked out once and looked like the star of the team, only to find that an old ailment had come back on him and he had to go to the doctor and get patched.

We haven't heard from him since, but it looks as though he will be out for weeks, maybe for good. That made three. Maybe he should have made that four because F. D. Hicks had already sprung a Charliehorse and has been unable to play since. Then, to make matters worse, Robert M. Cady, who was counted on as a sure outfielder, got his finger caught in a bicycle chain Sunday and smashed the end of it up off of something and is going around with it tied up in a bandage that looks like a bed sheet. So far we have heard of no other injuries, but we are uneasy for fear Ernest Mastner or Jim Hicks will stumble and fall and break an arm before game time, or something of the kind happens. We just have 10 players left, so if another goes out we will be too bad.

Other teams may be having the same kind of luck and though we do not wish anyone any bad luck, we hope that at least that many of the Legion's best players will be unable to play for some reason or other. The peculiar part of it is that every time someone drops out it seems temporary, but when we immediately claim he was the star player of the team.

Yesterday we visited with our neighbor in Dallas and found that the bicycle craze is raging here in Dallas, and in Ranger. While we sat on the front porch we saw dozens of bicycles being ridden up and down the street. Girls, boys, grey-haired men and women, bald-headed men, middle-aged women, all riding.

We saw on bicycle-built-for-two, which seemed to be getting along fine. We rented a bike and all took turns at riding it or trying. We came away no more enthused than we were before, but the wife caught the fever—she would—and insists on buying a bicycle to ride. If we knew it would be more than a temporary fad with her we (Continued on page 4)

REV. KRAMER OPENS REVIVAL SUNDAY NIGHT

"If I Had a Million" Thus Evangelist James W. Kramer announced the theme of his first message to a large congregation at the First Baptist church last night. The sermon constituted a ringing challenge to Christian men and women of Ranger to dedicate their lives to God. Dr. Kramer said that while not one among his audience possessed a million in money or property, every person possessed some "thing" which are worth far more than earth's millions. Each of these possessions constituted a trust, and those who neglected or refused to offer his possession to God had presumed to take unto himself authority which is not his own.

The evangelist told his hearers that every man has time which is worth more than millions. This he owes to God. He also possesses influence for which he must answer. A plea was also made for Christians to really represent Christ in their love for a sinful, sorrowing, lost world.

Dr. Kramer will speak tonight on the theme, "What I Saw on Market and Third Streets in San Francisco." This message promises to be a real dynamic gospel message. The service will begin tonight at 7:45. Come early for the soul-stirring song service under the direction of Grant Sinclair.

There is a nursery in the basement of the church. A competent woman is in charge. Parents may attend the services with perfect assurance that their children will be cared for.

HAMM RELEASE IS EFFECTED BY ASSOCIATES

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 19. — William Hamm, multi-millionaire brewer and business man, was released today by a gang of "five or six kidnapers, including a man resembling Verne Sankey," after payment Saturday of ransom "somewhat less than $100,000," Hamm said in an interview today.

Three men met him near his house during the Thursday noon hour at the Hamm Brewing company, of which he is president. They forced him to enter an automobile, where goggles stuffed with cotton, were stuffed over his eyes. Before the goggles were adjusted, Hamm said he studied the leader's face. Pictures of Sankey resembled this man, Hamm said.

Hamm revealed that he was kept in the second story of a house located about eight hours driving from the Twin Cities. After the three men who kidnaped him had been driving about two hours, they were met by another automobile and Hamm was forced to sign four notes.

A $26,000 reward for kidnapers of Hamm was offered today by a secret group of business men, aroused to spectacular action by the fourth abduction in the city in two years.

Hamm was released today by his abductors at Wyoming, Minn.

Grandview Farmer Is Put On Trial

CLEBURNE, June 19. — J. D. Martin, 60-year-old Grandview farmer, went on trial here today to defend himself in a murder charge in the death of his wife, August 8, 1931.

The body of the woman was exhumed several months after burial following an investigation incited by rumors of foul play.

TARIFF CUTS PROPOSED AT LONDON MEET

LONDON, June 19. — Secretary of State Cordell Hull, head of the American economic conference delegation, sent tariff cut proposals to the economic commission and in an accompanying letter suggested they might be included in the agenda of the economic conference, the United Press learned today.

Senator Key Pittman, member of the American delegation, denied in a formal statement yesterday that the proposal for a 10 per cent flat cut in tariffs, extension of the tariff truce and encouragement of bilateral tariff reduction agreements had been proposed by the U. S. delegation.

American sources revealed that Hull submitted the proposal at the request of the United States experts without intending it to be regarded as a formal American proposal.

Hobo, 83, Expects To Wander 20 Years

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah. — A homeless drifter since a boy of 7, Thomas (Dad) Whitlock, 83, whose restless feet have carried him to all parts of the United States, expects to continue his hobo life for at least 20 more years.

Food is harder to get nowadays. Whitlock said, but he added that he hadn't worked a day in 43 years and had never gone hungry. A lesson learned too late, according to Dad, is that men should stay in one place and work hard. He advises boys to "get off the road."

A bit of advice offered to all "stay-at-homes" was the aged wanderer was:

"Never lend money to relatives, it isn't wise."

DRYS TO HOLD MASS MEETING TOMORROW

The dry forces of Eastland county have been called to meet in mass meeting at the courthouse at Eastland at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The purpose of the meeting is to perfect a county-wide organization and it was called by Rev. Gid J. Bryan, temporary chairman for the committee appointed at a meeting for the 24th senatorial district at Breckenridge, Monday, June 12.

Rev. Mr. Bryan, pastor of the Methodist church of Ranger, will preside over the mass meeting.

Drys Carrying on More of Campaign Than Wet Forces

By W. WINSTON COPELAND United Press Staff Correspondent FORT WORTH, June 19. — Prohibition forces here are at the throats of the state "wet" organization in a desperate battle that is sure to spill over and envelop the state before the Aug. 25 election on beer legalization of beer in Texas.

The "drys" are making far more noise than the "wets," and from outward appearances seem to be carrying on a more intensive drive than the anti-prohibitionists.

Confronted with the placing of state headquarters of the Texas Liberal League, state anti-prohibition organization, in their midst, Fort Worth prohibitionists are keyed to the nth degree. They have not lost one minute in picking up the battle gage.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union and several churches have joined efforts to combat the activities of pugny, good-natured John Mathis, state legislative representative from Houston, head of the state-wide campaign for return of beer and repeal of the 18th amendment.

The profuse pasting of 3.2 beer labels of a popular brand on the windows of a local W. C. T. U. headquarters from Houston, head of the dry campaigners. This, they quickly admitted, was done by some "rabid wet," and not by Mathis' forces.

Weekly prayer meetings have been inaugurated by churches. The meetings are opened and closed with stanzas of "The Breve's" Big Horses Can't Run Over Me." This activity will be carried on until the eve of the election. Leaders hope that churches in other cities will pursue the same course.

Expulsion from the churches of members who drink or handle beer, even if legalized, is being preached by ministers. Boycott of restaurants, merchants and hotels that handle beer, if it returns, is threatened both by churches and by the W. C. T. U.

"If we would look on people who handled or drank the intoxicating stuff as indecent and expect them from the fellowship of Christian people, it would make them think before they cast their vote for repeal," said Rev. Jesse Garrett, Baptist pastor.

Dr. A. E. Briggs, Methodist, urges that the old methods used to arouse people in the days before the 18th Amendment be used in this campaign.

Meanwhile, Mathis, who is known for his "action rather than word" is carrying on a well-ordered drive although without as much apparent noise-making as his opponents.

Observers on both sides feel that the battle will be even hotter as the days grow hotter, down through July and August, and the date of election draws nearer.

$25,000 Damage Suit On Trial In 91st District Court

The case of Mrs. A. Lawrimore vs. Mrs. Lessie Jones Sanders was called for trial by Judge George L. Davenport in the 91st district court this morning. The suit is for damages for personal injuries alleged to have been sustained in an automobile accident which occurred on Aug. 30, 1930, just beyond the underpass under the Texas & Pacific railroad between Eastland and Ranger. Twenty-five thousand dollars is the amount of damages named in the suit.

Most of the time of the morning session was taken up in the selection of a jury.

NOTED RANGER SEEKS SLAYER OF HIS COUSIN

HOUSTON, June 19. — The slayers of a pretty second cousin, Ledelle Hammond, whom he last saw as a toddling baby 18 years ago, were believed to be spotted here today by Captain E. H. Hammond of the Texas rangers.

Hammond, returning from Austin, let it be known that he expected momentarily to arrest two men and a woman suspected of having slain the Baylor university co-ed and wounded her escort, Ervyn Conway, near Bryan last Friday night.

AUSTIN, June 19. — E. H. Hammond, noted Texas ranger, left here today determined to run down every clue to the identity of the slayers of Miss Ledelle Hammond, 20, of Kosmos.

Hammond has more than the officers' usual interest in ferreting out a crime. Miss Hammond was his cousin.

As he left the state capital, other Texas rangers wished him good luck. "If we can help, give us a call," they told him.

Hammond is captain of the Texas ranger company with headquarters at Houston. He declined to divulge information, but indicated that a fairly definite idea as to the slayers already has developed. Local authorities today denied they had located a truck similar to one believed used in the murderous escapade on highway 6 near Bryan last week.

PRIVATE BANK INVESTIGATION TO CONTINUE

WASHINGTON, June 19. — Thorough inquiry into the New York stock exchange, investment trusts and holding companies, has been decided on by Senate committee investigators, the United Press was informed today.

Investigation of private banks, which began with spectacular revelation of J. P. Morgan and company, business and income tax secrets, will be resumed next Monday with Otto Kuhn of Kuhn, Loeb & Company, as first witness.

Beyond that Ferdinand Pecora, senate banking committee counsel, projects hearing of the Chase Securities Corporation, securities affiliate with the Rockefeller controlled Chase National Bank. It had been understood the committee will conclude its inquiry there. But Pecora informed senators he intended to go further.

FARMERS MAY TAKE CHOICE OF TWO PLANS

Signing Up Of Farmers Will Be Started Week of June 26th.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, June 19. — A comprehensive program for cotton, designed to restore pre-war prices and curtail production in the current year, was announced by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

The program contemplates the leasing up to 10,000,000 acres of cotton land with payment of cash benefit to farmers between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000.

No definite action will be ordered by the government until after a campaign has been conducted among cotton farmers to secure agreements to reduce acreage.

Disclosure of the program followed Wallace's announcement that about $100,000,000 will be paid this fall to wheat growers who contract to curtail production in 1934 and 1935.

Funds for the wheat payment will be raised by the tax of about 30 cents a bushel to be paid by millers and others who convert wheat into food products. The tax will be imposed sometime next month.

In an event sufficient cotton pledges are secured farmers will be offered two variations of acreage reduction plans. Wallace expressed confidence the campaign for reduction pledges to begin during the week of June 26, would be successful.

Under the plan of the burden of the plan to restore cotton to prosperous levels was placed upon the producers.

In the event a sufficient number of farmers accept the government plan, a maximum processing tax to fund the government benefit fund will be enforced, Wallace said.

The consideration offered the cotton producer for retiring a portion of his present crop from production is contained in two alternative plans.

1.—A cash payment in consideration of cooperation, based on the productivity of the land, and ranging from $6 per acre for land averaging around 100 pounds lint cotton per acre to $12 for land yielding 275 pounds or more per acre, plus an option on government held cotton in an amount equal that which the producer agrees to retire from production.

2.—The options would be sold at a price of 6 cents per pound. The theory is that reduced production will send cotton prices upward and the producer who accepts the option will profit by the rise.

A cash benefit without the cotton option, the amount of such benefits on a percentage basis to range from $7 for land yielding from 100 to 124 pounds per acre, to $20 for land producing 275 pounds or more per acre.

HIGHWAY BODY PLUNGES INTO WORK TODAY

AUSTIN, June 19. — The Texas highway commission today plunged into plans for using all federal highway funds made available under President Roosevelt's industrial recovery program.

Texas' share of the federal highway funds is estimated at about $26,000,000.

As the commission convened here today it was indicated that county delegations will be heard all week, although the meeting was at first scheduled for only two days.

More than 40 counties had delegations here asking for work on highways. No decisions will be announced, pending definite information on when federal funds can be drawn upon. Chairman John Wood of the highway commission told delegations.

Until then the state program will not be mapped.

It was announced, however, that in order to scatter employment, preference will be given to filling gaps in existing highways rather than in the designation of new ones.

Wife Hits Husband Over Head With Piece of Pipe

Sheriff Virgo Foster answered a hurry-up call from Romney late Saturday and brought a man back with him whom he placed in jail on a charge of beating his wife. It is said that the man is a pumper for an oil well near Bird's store in Brown county. He and his wife started in their car to Cisco to attend a dance and reports are that on the way he got drunk.

As they were passing through Romney he threw or forced her out of the car and was chasing her around the car with about 18 inches of small pipe in his hand. He tripped, fell and lost the pipe and on the next trip around the wife picked the pipe up and struck him over the head, causing a considerable gash in his head and knocking him unconscious, according to information given Mr. Foster.

About that time two highway patrolmen from Brownwood came along, took charge of the situation and remained there until Sheriff Foster arrived.

Anson Girl Held In Jail Released Sunday Afternoon

Miss Lora Cawwert, 22, of Anson, was placed in jail in Ranger Saturday night for investigation in connection with alleged passing of hot checks in several Anson stores.

Miss Cawwert had offered several checks to Ranger merchants Saturday, and one, becoming suspicious, put in a telephone call to town, where it was said the checks would not be honored. She was placed in jail and her father notified.

Ranger officers were told to get her out until her father could arrive and Sunday afternoon a paid back the cash said to have been obtained on the checks and of the merchandise returned to the merchants, after which she was released. No charges were laid against her.

The amount of money involved amounted to a little less than $10,000, according to police.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

IN PLEASANT PLACES: The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup; thou maintainest my lot. The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places; yea, I have a goodly heritage.—Psalm 16: 5, 6.

HOOSIERS AND THEIR CHANGE OF FRONT

For many years Indiana was a democratic stronghold. Then the republicans and their pro allies ran the democrats out of office into the tall timber sections of the commonwealth. In 1925 the legislature passed a bone dry law proposed by Frank E. Wright, a prohibition leader. This statute carried severe penalties for bootleggers and made the smell of whisky on a person's breath prima facie evidence of intoxication. Last year the democrats came back. They captured all the offices. They repealed the Wright law and legalized the manufacture and sale of 3.2 per cent beer. Texas has constitutional prohibition. Texas has the Dean act. Now a showdown is promised in the coming month of August. Thus far the campaign has been "lacking in heat."

SECRETARY-LADY PERKINS DECORATED

Secretary of Labor Lady Frances Perkins has been given an honorary degree of doctor of laws by Goucher College, Maryland. Secretary Perkins delivered the commencement address, speaking on "The Challenge To Industry." Isn't it a challenge to all the people in and out of industry?

Read about a professor in Germany who has invented an apparatus with which he can hear the grass grow, and about another one who says he can cause fire at a distance by wireless. Hope that none of our professors in Washington insist on adding any new nightmares on top of the old ones. However, I did hear of one who thought he had invented a whistle to be attached to young plants, and the faster the plants grow the louder the whistle thrills.

Modern business has launched many argosies in search of the golden fleece of public patronage and profit; and advertising is the oar the steersman has to use. Without judicious and intelligent advertising, the broad stream of modern business would shrivel to panic thinness. Attractive, consistent, honest advertising is an indispensable adjunct of successful presentation of meritorious articles, services and industries today.

Every time the economists and professors try to explain the world's depression and the way out, the more the average man becomes confused. We can only hope they will not lose their bearings and wander in circles, but that they will really find some cure.

Year by year the tourist traffic is increasing. Surely it is the duty of every community that desires this business to advertise their attractions in the newspapers so the people may know what they have to offer for their pleasure and comfort.

It seems that most of the people in America have grown tired of waiting upon the operation of general causes of the depression to change and are now in a mood to try anything on the assumption that it is better than sitting down and doing nothing.

Citizens of the home city should get better acquainted. Knowing each other better will make them better citizens and with true cooperation they can advance the interests of their city to their mutual advantage.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

I quote my friend, James Barrett, managing director of the Oklahoma Biltmore hotel, quite often. Fact of the matter is, I spend as much time as I can in the air-cooled lobby of the hotel. It's about the coolest place on a hot day that I know of.

Jim is quite a booster for Oklahoma City. In fact, he is one of the town's best boosters. The other night as I was chatting with him, a long-faced chap, a resident of Oklahoma City, came up and proceeded to tell him that he did not like many of the town's beauty spots. He acted like the original home-town knocker. He didn't like anything or anybody and evidently hated himself also.

In his usual pleasant, smiling way, Jim said to him, "If you can't see the good things about Oklahoma City your vision must be impaired. You should have your eyes examined. You should not neglect them, for your eyes are your most treasured possession."

Well, I thought that was pretty good advice for the citizen who can't see the good things about his home town. We not only should see an eye doctor, but a brain specialist as well.

WASHINGTON.—Considerable interest centers in the Sorenson vs. Radio Station KFAB libel suit in which the supreme court of Nebraska held the station equally liable with a speaker for alleged slander uttered over its facilities. Although the case was remanded to the lower court because of certain errors, it was expected to go up to the supreme court of the United States, now that the Nebraska tribunal has automatically sustained its decision on the question involved.

National Association of Broadcasters is cooperating with KFAB, which shows that the special privilege boys who control the ether intend to stand together, come what will. If a newspaper may be held jointly responsible for printing a libelous letter sent to it by a reader for publication, why should a radio station think that it cannot similarly be held accountable? So long as radio stations are in the business of disseminating news, just as long will they be held accountable for disseminating false and libelous information, it is claimed by attorneys here who are authorities on the law of libel.

Washington is still chuckling over the "boner" Secretary Hull pulled when the ship bearing the American delegation to the Economic Conference reached Queens-town. "People of the Irish Republic," he said, "I greet you in behalf of the oldest people in the West." Lord Beaverbrook's London Daily Express gave the story a seven-column caption, and there was quite a buzz around the White House when the incident was reported.

Mr. Hull said a lot more in a complimentary vein before he realized that his use of the word "republic" instead of "Free State" might have diplomatic repercussions at Downing Street. All the Dublin papers are said to have corrected what was plainly a slip. It is customary for a president to find comfortable berths for his secretaries when his term is about to expire. President Hoover picked a judgeship for Walter H. Newton of Minnesota, who resigned from the House to serve as an executive officer. The Senate refused to confirm all nominations at that time, and Newton was left out in the cold. On inauguration day Hoover made a personal request that his successor take care of Newton. Roosevelt said he would be glad to do so, and has kept the promise by naming the Minnesota to membership on the board of the Federal Farm Loan Bank. Newton is well liked by members of both parties on the Hill, and that was assurance that the nomination would be acceptable to everybody.

Three New Orleans daily newspapers, the Times-Picayune, The States and the Item-Tribune, have filed suit for an injunction against Radio Station WDSU of that city, which they charge with having pilfered their news for broadcasting purposes. Unless the court goes against all precedents, which is to be very much doubted, the station will be enjoined.

This is seen here as the signal for a general battle via the courts against other stations in all parts of the country against which evidence has been gathered as to lifting of news ever since the Associated Press adopted its resolution limited the use of bulletins to associated stations only.

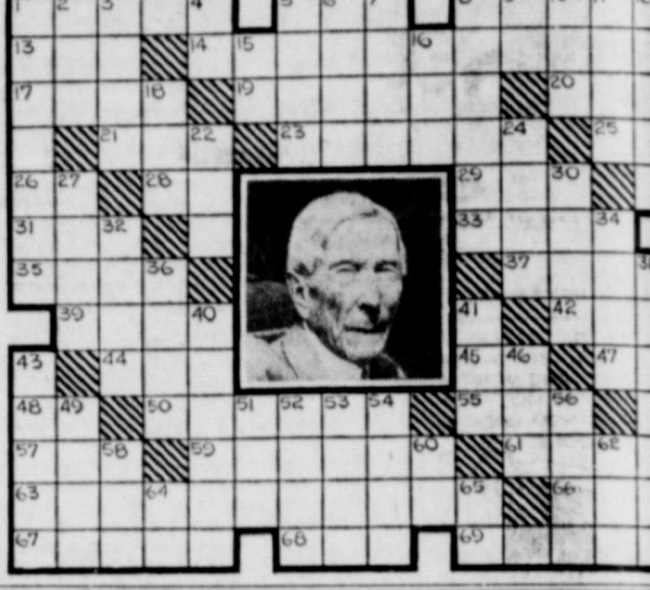

As was to be expected, too many immediately pressing economic problems demanding the attention of Congress have prevented any action at this section on radio reform legislation. This does not mean, however, that the radio structure will not be knocked down and reorganized as soon as the decks are cleared for the job.

The broadcasters seem to be taking great credit to themselves just now because the President has chosen to utilize the radio for his special talks to the country. Somehow they reason queerly that his using the ether is a special tribute to the broadcasters. The President had first-hand opportunity during the campaign last fall to see the abuses which have sprung up under the much-touted "American Plan for private monopoly of the air." When one of the national chains shut off his Portland speech in order to advertise somebody's spavin cure, Mr. Roosevelt was given a practical demonstration of how private profits are placed above public service by the radio dollar-chasers.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON.—Roosevelt has been given greater power than any other president ever had. And there's no escape for any of us. He can effect large changes in the prices we pay for food and clothing, in the value of our pay envelopes, savings and insurance, as well as in the amount of our incomes and the number of hours we work. Congress has given him those prerogatives and a lot more. Congress can take them back. That's the chief distinction between Roosevelt's position and that of the ordinary dictator, who seizes power and retains it by armed force. For six months Roosevelt will rule the roost, and we're in his hands without even the possibility of congressional restraint. Among other things Roosevelt can do are: Control industrial production and wages and fix wages and hours for everyone. Put out of business concerns which defy his mandates and suspend antitrust laws for those that do. Raise prices by various other methods. Tax processors of agricultural commodities and give bounty to the farmers at the consumer's expense, regulate farm production and take millions of acres out of production under a leasing plan. Close or open banks and control credit. Take the country off the gold standard—as he has, impose a gold embargo and jail citizens who refuse to give up their own gold.
