A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

From different sources come indications that might to the uninitiated appear to be a change of heart on the part of Congress towards disabled veterans.

UNCLE SAM AND HIS NAVAL BUILDING PROGRAM

Uncle Sam is not going to disband his army or scuttle his navy. Secretary of the Navy Claude Swanson of Virginia has announced a naval building program designed to float 32 new ships in two years "but leaving the fleet still shy of London treaty limits by thousands of tons."

President Roosevelt was an assistant secretary of the navy eight years. President Roosevelt is for peace but he is not a pacifist. He is an advocate of preparedness. Secretary Swanson let it be known that the president had agreed to allocate $238,000,000 of public works fund in the industrial control act to naval building "and is anxious to have the work done as soon as possible."

Why not jobs for the jobless? Why not strengthen the great arms of national defense?

American labor is not to be overlooked. In announcing the program Secretary Swanson said "it is a plan to put labor to work and they will get more from ship building than anything else—85 per cent of the total going to labor." A nation without an army or a navy would be very much like a great city without a policeman.

On with all the building program.

A VERY BUSY TEXAS WOMAN

A boycott is to be placed on "places selling new beer away down here in Texas."

Mrs. Claude de Van Watts is president of the state W. C. T. C. She has discovered signs of substantial dry gains in West Texas. She has broadcast the news that the W. C. T. U. has adopted a slogan of "Buy Dry," and is urging its members to boycott all places "selling the new beer."

She was asked as to her opinion of President Roosevelt. Hers was a very cryptic reply: "Too busy to think about him."

She scored the democratic party for failing to live up to its "former high ideals," and then told it to the Texas world her organization would fight to the 11th hour against beer and repeal. In 1928 Herbert Hoover was thrust into power. He rode in on the back of the faithful camel of the desert. In 1932 he was a candidate for reelection. He deserted the camel and mounted an elephant dry in the forelegs and wet in its hindlegs. John D. Rockefeller did the rest. This is a merry old world and it has been saved a hundred million times in a billion years.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

WILLIAM SOUTHERN Jr., publisher of the Independence (Mo.) Examiner, says:

"The sins committed in the name of advertising are legion. Hundreds of men and women hang on the fringes of legitimate advertising plans, adopt the name of advertising and pull off schemes which are fraudulent and worthless and make a living. These are parasites and hurt legitimate advertising."

"There is only one redeeming feature in these schemes. That is the ones who bite and who take space are usually men who do not take legitimate advertising. Newspaper men occasionally get out special editions in order to reach this class of business men and every newspaper office has what it calls a sucker list."

"Other parasites in the advertising business are the publishers of 'throwaway' papers, so called, shopping guides and shopping news sheets, all simple hand bills."

"Had it ever occurred to you, Mr. Merchant, that every dollar you spend in the throwaways, in handbills and schemes, is a knock on your home paper? Had it ever occurred to you that you are weakening the power for service of your home newspaper when you spend money on these schemes?"

"I would like to ask the business men of this country what part handbills had in keeping the boat steady during the bank moratorium. The newspapers did the job. They themselves hit hardest, they printed the real facts; they prevented riots and mob action; they kept the minds of the people steady and made it possible for the federal government to carry out its plans by the bank moratorium."

Broadcasting has rivaled the telephone and telegraph, but not as yet the newspaper. To a certain extent it must be admitted a blessing and as whole it represents a real contribution to the world in pleasure and service, and it will progress as time goes on. But the language difficulty must be solved. When broadcasts are made from one country to another, where different languages are spoken, no one can get much out of listening when an address is made in a language not understood.

Cities that know what they are doing and where they are going generally get somewhere.

Two Champions On Elks Program Monday Evening

The Elks club of Ranger is going to have two world's champion wrestlers on their athletic show Monday night.

The featherweight champion, Doug Henderson of Chicago, will wrestle Stan Rodgers of San Antonio in a finish match. Doug is known the world over as the fastest and cleverest wrestler to ever step on a mat, and he is continually after his man from the start.

Reports that it is a real treat to see this wrestler in action as he is full of science that he never has to rely on anything that resembles dirty wrestling.

Stan Rodgers, the man who will oppose Henderson, is one of the best wrestlers in Texas today and stands a good chance to beat Henderson. Rodgers has been seen in action in Fort Worth arenas a number of times and has a reputation to be proud of, and has a big string of wins to his credit.

It is also what is known as a very rough wrestler and when he gets in a tough spot is apt to use his fist to a big advantage. Pooler had him on the run all during the match, losing the bout when O'Brien knocked him out and the referee gave the match to O'Brien.

The crowd was all for Pooler from the start and he is sure to be a big favorite, even over Wilson Monday night. Although Wilson will be outweighed several pounds he states that he feels sure of himself as he is in the best condition of his life and is out to beat all the light heavies as he has the middle-weights. Wilson's title and belt will not be at stake as Pooler can not make the weight for the junior middle class. This is apt to be a pretty rough affair as Wilson likes his wrestling rough when his title is not at stake and he can take a chance that maybe the referee will disqualify him.

The boxing main event of the evening will be a return fight of 10 rounds or less between Woody Windham of Anson and Joe Rivers of El Paso. These two boys fought in Ranger some time back and Woody knocked Rivers out and Rivers has been begging for another chance and has been training in the Fort Worth recreation hall for this return bout. He states that he is in good condition and is easily down to weight and that he is going to deliberately knock Windham's block off.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH "Christian Science" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, and the Guards except the Rotarians, Sunday, June 25.

The Golden Text is from Isaiah 9: "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light; they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined."

Among the passages to be read from the Bible will be the following: John 14: "Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip... the father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works... He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also..."

Our Master taught no mere theory, doctrine, or belief. It was the divine Principle of all real being which he taught and practiced. His proof of Christianity was no form or system of religion and worship, but Christian Science, working out the harmony of Life and Love.

Plans Formed (Continued from page one) and local control committees set the acre average where necessary and their decision is final.

Optional: If however the grower wishes to accept a cash settlement of $6 per acre instead of $7 as above (higher yields proportionally) he will be given an amount of government stored cotton equal of the amount plowed up. When the government sells this stored cotton all that it brings above six cents per pound is sent to the grower. No charges or expense of any nature is assessed against the grower under this option. This option should appeal to most growers.

The average Londoner must be having a tough time these days in trying to figure out whether the frog arises from the weather or from the economic conference.

Worry over the depression has increased baldness, says a Chicago scientist. And we always thought the crisis of the nation has just gone through was a hair-raising experience.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

THE SAND GROUSE A BIRD OF THE DESERTS, SOAKS UP WATER IN ITS PLUMAGE AND CARRIES IT TO THE NESTLINGS! THE YOUNG BIRDS SUCK THE WATER FROM THE FEATHERS.

MANY BIRDS of the desert have become independent of water, but the sand grouse still finds it necessary to have one or two drinks each day. Although the bird usually nests far from water, it is a powerful flier and has little trouble in making long flights to a watering place, and flies the return trip with water-soaked plumage.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer WASHINGTON.—Mr. J. P. Morgan, who is commonly regarded as the chief power behind the American scene and who doesn't pay any income tax, was just like a jolly, gruff old "Papa Bear" out of a fairy tale book.

Pulled from his cave by the Senate banking committee and exposed to public view for nearly the first time, this almost legendary figure of international finance appeared not as a sinister ogre but as a big, bulky, merry old gentleman who didn't know that his famous firm had shown a loss of $21,000,000 almost overnight.

His 19 partners call him "Jack"—except for the younger ones. The tradition that Morgan was a shy, retiring fellow who would shiver and cringe in the limelight was blown higher than a kite as he grinned, chuckled and sometimes joked with the committee members and the numerous Morgan partners who flanked him. You'd have thought he wished the Senate had one of these Morgan investigations every week.

He towers when he stands and must weigh nearly 250 pounds. His eyebrows are black and bushy, contrasting with a light gray slightly wavyish mustache and the hair which surrounds a huge bald pate on his massive head. His nose is a splendid specimen of physical development.

He has wide, squinting eyes with small pupils. If it weren't for those eyes he could don a white apron and play admirably the part of a German butcher or bartender. "Trader's eyes," whispered a celebrated Jewish lawyer, "He looks like one of our fellows." No frock coat for Morgan. He wore a blue business suit with widely spaced pencil stripes, nose clasps on a cord for reading, a rope watch chain across his vest, a stiff and pointed collar, a dark blue necktie and a small pearl stickpin.

At the beginning his face was quizzical and his manner one of vague, unexcited amusement. But he warmed up and eventually he became chummy with everyone nearby, including senators. The slightest pretext caused his great face to fold up into huge wrinkles of merriment. By the end of the day he was even shaking hands—as if in delight—with utter strangers who greeted him as he was ushered from the committee room.

He has a slight touch of British accent, which may have come from eight years of living in England. During frequent committee bickerings he would turn to some of his partners for a brief huddle over something that must have been funny because you could see four or five partners all grinning at once.

Later, however, one of the partners—Thomas W. Lamont—revealed that Mr. Morgan had been "shocked" by some of the insinuations that followed his disclosure that he had not paid income tax in 1931 and 1932.

HOUSTON.—James V. Carroll, formerly attached to the Texas railroad commission's headquarters in Austin, has been transferred to the Houston office as assistant to Goodson Rieger, deputy supervisor, Carroll formerly was a reporter for the Houston Press.

ESTACADO, Texas.—More than 100 trees were planted here this spring in a tree planting campaign. The school campus received 68 of the plantings and the majority of the remainder were around the teachers and at the Methodist and Baptist churches.

CODE OF FAIR COMPETITION" FOR THE PETROLEUM INDUSTRY

Purpose
To eliminate unfair competition in the petroleum industry to insure the conservation of petroleum resources of the United States, to eliminate unfair trade practices, to increase employment, to insure fair and adequate wages, to increase the purchasing power of the American people, to improve the standards of living, to protect the consuming public from excessive prices, to prevent the premature abandonment of settled production, to insure that the American petroleum industry may promote the welfare and common good of the American people, to accomplish and effectuate the policies set forth in the Industrial Recovery Act, and to insure fair competition in the petroleum industry.

Labor
The depression of the petroleum industry has maintained a high ratio of employment. To a large extent it has the "Share-the-Work" plan and has maintained a regular schedule of wages. Excessive withdrawals from storage will tend to reduce prices below cost of production, will create waste, and will injuriously affect interstate and foreign commerce. Therefore withdrawals from storage may be limited by the President under rules and regulations prescribed by him. Withdrawals from storage shall be equitably allocated amongst the various persons holding such storage. Withdrawals of crude petroleum in excess of current supply shall not exceed in the aggregate an average of 100,000 barrels per day. Suitable regulations shall also be made for limiting withdrawals from storage of petroleum other than crude for purposes of refining.

Imports
The importation of crude petroleum and the products thereof in large quantities is hereby declared to be unfair competition injuriously affecting interstate commerce. Therefore the President is requested to limit the imports of crude petroleum and the products thereof to an amount not exceeding the average daily imports into the United States during the last six months of 1932. Such imports to be allocated to the various persons desiring to import such petroleum and the products thereof in such equitable manner as the President may determine.

Other Provisions
(a) It shall be lawful for producers in any pool to restrict their production by agreement, the quantity to be stated in the agreement, and when any such restrictive agreement is made for any pool by those controlling wells having a maximum production of two-thirds of the entire maximum production, and such agreement is approved by the President after such reasonable notice, and hearing as may be determined by the President, it shall be deemed unfair competition if any person, whether a party to the agreement or not, shall then and there produce crude petroleum in excess of the rate of production allotted to such person therein; and if such crude petroleum so produced in excess of restriction or any product thereof in whole or in part, is sold or moved in interstate or foreign commerce, such transaction shall be deemed a violation of this code.

(b) It shall be deemed a waste of natural resources, unfair competition and a violation of this code if any person engaged in the petroleum industry in any state shall produce crude petroleum or any product thereof in excess of the allotted share of such person of the demand and dump the same in interstate or foreign commerce, or in interstate commerce in such manner and to such extent as to divert or otherwise injuriously affect interstate or foreign commerce, under circumstances reasonably calculated in economic effect to bring prices below the normal and average cost of production.

(c) Every producer or seller of crude petroleum shall be required to report monthly under oath to the President the number and locations of his wells, quantity of petroleum produced from each well or property, quantity sold, how and by whom transported, to whom sold, and the price received. Any person storing oil shall make a sworn report to the President each month as to the amount of storage stocks of crude oil on hand and the accruals or withdrawals and the disposition of such withdrawals.

(d) Agreements between competitors within the industry for the purpose of accomplishing the objectives of this code, or any of them, are hereby expressly permitted, but such agreements shall be submitted to the President and may at any time be disapproved by him. Upon such disapproval they shall cease to be valid.

(e) Where any oil pool is made up of leases separately owned by different operators, nothing in this code shall be interpreted to authorize the compulsory operation of such pool as a single unit under one management and thereby force each separate owner to contribute to the expense of and share in the returns from such unit operation unless all of such operators owning all of such leases consent to such unitization.

Emergency National Committee
There shall be an Emergency National Committee of the petroleum industry to consist of twenty-six (26) committeemen selected by the producing branch and twenty-six (26) by the marketing branch of the industry, selection to be made so that every section of the United States will be fairly represented. Of this committee there shall be a chairman, selected by a majority vote of the committee. He may or may not be one of the fifty-two (52) committeemen above provided for. If he is not one of them the result will be a Committee of fifty-three (53) including the Chairman.

Emergency Executive Committee
The Emergency National Committee shall select from its membership an Emergency Executive Committee composed of the Chairman of the Emergency National Committee, who shall be also the Chairman of the Emergency Executive Committee, and eight others. The Emergency Executive Committee thus constituted shall have all the authority and power of the Emergency National Committee when the Emergency National Committee is not in session.

Powers and Duties of Committees
The Emergency National Committee shall be the general planning and coordinating agency for the industry. It shall make rules and regulations and gather such statistics as it may deem necessary, and upon complaint of interested parties or upon its own initiative may make inquiry and investigation into the operation of this code, and shall aid the President and his delegates in the administration of this code and the National Recovery Act.

Each state will be allotted the number of bushels of wheat which represent its share of consumption over the base period. County allotments in turn will be made on the same basis. Within the county allotments will be made by the county wheat control production association, formed by farmers agreeing to cut production. Farmers will choose a director whose salary and expenses will be withheld from the pro rata payments.

Money for financing the curtailment effort will come from a processing tax of probably 30 cents a bushel, to be imposed when the miller sells the flour. The tax will not be operative before this point. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace expects this would increase the price of bread by half a cent for a pound loaf, which it is contended will be offset by higher purchasing power of city consumers as a result of the act.

regional or local in the petroleum industry in such manner as may seem most useful to the work of the committee. It may form or cause to be formed advisory committees and committees to cooperate in the administration of this code, the National Industrial Recovery Act, and the rules and regulations thereunder.

The Chairman
The chairman of the Committee shall have and exercise such authority as may be delegated to him by the Committee. All communications and conferences of the petroleum industry with the resident or with his agents concerning the approval or amendment of this code or any of its provisions or any matters relative thereto shall be through the Committee.

Vacancies
All vacancies in the Emergency National Committee and the Emergency Executive Committee shall be filled by the Emergency National Committee. Members of all Committees shall serve until June 15, 1935, when their terms shall expire.

Quorum and Procedure
The Emergency National Committee shall determine from time to time the number of its members requisite to a quorum, and the number of members of the Emergency Executive Committee requisite to a quorum. It shall also adopt rules of procedure for both Committees. Each Committee shall fix its own meeting dates and place or places of meeting. Members of the committees may designate alternates to act for them at meetings of the committee.

Fees and Assessments
No initiation or entrance fee shall be charged, but to cover the actual expenses of administration, assessments shall be made by the Emergency National Committee of the Petroleum Industry, hereinafter provided for, which assessments shall be on a fair and equitable basis.

How U. S. Will Help the Wheat Farmer

Wheat farmers agreeing to reduce their 1934 and 1935 production up to 20 per cent will benefit from the $150,000,000 the government will spend to raise the price of wheat to the 1909-1914 average. This would mean payment of probably 30 cents a bushel by which a farmer reduced his production below a three-year average. The amount of 1934 reduction will be announced after the present London International conference on wheat.

By Sept. 15 probably $100,000,000 will be distributed among farmers who comply with the government's terms, although there will be no reduction in the 1933 output. Farmers will continue to sell their wheat at the current market price, maintaining a free market, and unhampered export at world prices. The government hopes to sell the present 368,000,000 bushel carryover in foreign markets, and may if it is necessary buy wheat directly from farmers.

Each state will be allotted the number of bushels of wheat which represent its share of consumption over the base period. County allotments in turn will be made on the same basis. Within the county allotments will be made by the county wheat control production association, formed by farmers agreeing to cut production. Ranger Times,
Ranger, Texas.
Gentlemen:

Since the beginning of our present advertising program we have been asked by many newspaper publishers about the results it was producing. Inasmuch as this campaign is somewhat in the nature of a test, and since your publication is one of those selected for the try-out, we feel that you are entitled to know the progress being made.

We have received an unusually large number of inquiries. The nature of these inquiries are such as to lead us to feel that our advertising is having the interested attention of the thinking class of Texans. Of course, every advertiser feels that his advertising is read by the right people, but it is a distinct gratification to KNOW that this is true.

Should our results continue to be acceptable it is quite possible that this present temporary program will be followed by a permanent campaign of publication advertising on the various phases of the cement industry.

Our success is due, in large measure, to the splendid cooperation given our advertising by your paper and other papers on our present schedule. I want you to know that I am mindful and appreciative of this attitude of helpfulness on your part.

I am having a proof and a mat of a story sent you, which I feel will be interesting to your readers, and I know it would be most helpful to our program. Use your own discretion in the disposition of this story, use it as it is, rewrite it, or throw it away. Its use will be appreciated.

Sincerely yours,

BARGAIN BRIDE

By KATHARINE H. VILAND TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BARRETT COLVIN, back in New York after years abroad, falls in love with 20-year-old ELINOR STAFFORD. Barrett is 35 wealthy, and has made a name for himself as an archaeologist.

LIDA STAFFORD, Elinor's beautiful mother, has kept the girl in the background, wanting attention for herself. Lida is carrying on a flirtation with VANCE CARTER and constantly scheming to keep in the good graces of her husband's aunt, in order to inherit a share of the Sexton fortune.

Years before Barrett shielded his half-sister, MARCIA, when a youthful romance ended disastrously. Marcia had a son whom Barrett adopted. She tells Barrett that if her husband learns of the affair he will never forgive her.

Lida goes to Miami. Elinor is glad, knowing that with her mother away she will have some chance to hold Barrett's interest. She sees him frequently during the three weeks her mother is away. Then Lida returns unexpectedly. She enters the apartment, hears Elinor talking to a man and listens, deliberately eavesdropping.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XII

LIDA leaned forward, listening intently. She wanted to know what Elinor and the young man were saying. Her eyes took in a huge bouquet of red roses on a table in the hall. Beyond, in the drawing room, she saw butterfly orchids in a silver bowl.

Then she heard Elinor say, "But, Barry—"

It was Barrett Colvin, Lida realized. She did not want to have Barrett Colvin devoted to Elinor! She wanted him to admire her; to recite her good qualities to Miss Ella Sexton who was devoted to Barry and obviously easily influenced by him.

A tragedy it would be, Lida decided swiftly, for Aunt Ella to leave the bulk of her fortune to Elinor. And Aunt Ella was quite likely to leave a large part of it to anyone Barrett Colvin admired. Elinor's tastes were too simple; Elinor would have been perfectly happy living on the smallest allowances while Lida simply had to have money! Elinor, of course, would give her mother what she needed but Lida did not want her daughter in the position where she could give, nor have her capable of spending what she pleased and where she pleased. Elinor would be altogether too generous with such people as the Thropes and Phillip Sexton.

"Any young girl is better off for control," Lida thought often. She could always make herself comfortable concerning any life and assure herself that whatever she wanted was the "right" thing.

She tipped a little closer to the drawing room doorway and stood close to a billowing curtain, pressed against the wall. Elinor was saying, "But I've never known anyone so fine as you are, Barry. It's ridiculous for you to keep harping on age as you do!"

He blurted out, "I want you to have the best!"

THERE was a silence. Then Lida heard his deep-drawn breath and knew he had kissed Elinor. "I didn't mean to do that before—," he said and hesitated. He was going on, Lida was sure, to say "before—," he said and hesitated. He was going on, Lida was sure, to say "before—," he said and hesitated. He was going on, Lida was sure, to say "before—," he said and hesitated.

Oh, but she could not have that! Lida moved swiftly toward the drawing room door. On the threshold she paused, knowing the picture she made.

"My dear, dear, dear child!" she exclaimed tremulously. She saw the color drain from Elinor's face and her eyes grow big and dark. Elinor had on a new dress and was wearing her hair in the way Lida had declared to be absurdly theatrical. Barrett Colvin did not like the interruption, she saw. He was flushed and looking sullen. But she would manage it so that he would thank her and later, with a little more managing, she could bring him to heel.

The cautious malice asserted itself and brought a tinge of pink to Lida's lovely skin. It would be an absurd marriage for Elinor, she decided. Elinor would be far happier married to some poor man, pattering about at housework as Bessie Thrope did, trying to stretch pennies and nickels, than attempting to manage the household of a millionaire.

"Be a little glad to see me, please, dear!" Lida begged wistfully of Elinor and very tenderly kissed her. She saw a question in Barrett Colvin's eyes which she knew (with satisfaction) had been put by Elinor's turning a cool cheek for that kiss.

Lida laid her small hands on Elinor's shoulders. "I can't tell you how good it is to see you, my darling," she said, her voice full and throbbing. "I've missed you so much."

"It's going to be ridiculously easy," Lida thought. But she mustn't leave them alone until she had had a chance to speak to Barrett in private.

"Darling," Lida said, pulling off her gloves, "would you do something for mother?"

E LINOR stood like a stick. All her grace had been wiped away by resentment and growing fear. Yet surely, the girl thought, trying to down the ache that was beginning in her heart, he cared! He was too true, too loyal to be influenced now. If he could be changed by her mother he was not the man she had believed him to be. Nothing could be then as she had dreamed. Life would be—oh, it would be horrible!

Her heart cried out, "Please Barrett! Please understand!"

Lida went on, "I want you to telephone Aunt Ella to tell her I am back home safe, sweet. And dear Cousin Bessie and, of course, your father. They're all so absurdly anxious about my safety," she ended, turning to Barrett.

Without a word Elinor left the room, her knees weak. For the first time in her life she had been truly happy. For the first time she had realized what life might hold. And the moment before—she could hardly realize it now—Barrett had kissed her.

As she left the room Elinor could see, without turning her head to look back, that her mother was holding out an appealing hand to Barrett. Until that moment Lida had ignored him, apparently completely absorbed in her reunion with her daughter.

It took several minutes to telephone Bessie Thrope, Miss Ella

(who would talk, talk talk, and her father for whom she had to wait. When Elinor returned she found Barrett still standing, looking rather white beneath his heavy tan, and with, new lines around his mouth. He said, bowing stiffly, that he must leave.

"What have you done?" Elinor asked as she heard Benson close the outer door after him.

"But what can you mean dear?" Lida questioned in turn and with an assumption of innocence that made Elinor know something very bad had happened.

"I mean what I say, Mother. Her voice shook. "Can't you—just for once—be honest? I love Barrett Colvin and he loves me. He was going to tell me so when you came in."

The child, Lida saw wearily, was going to make a scene. Elinor was crying, shaking.

"If he loves you, dear, of course he will tell you so. What could my coming have to do with it?" Elinor laughed suddenly, hysterically. Then, sobbing deeply, she turned and left the room.

BARRETT walked blindly, without knowing where he was heading. Mrs. Stafford had said (it came back slowly but all too clearly): "It is so good to find you here with Elinor!" He had thanked her, a trifle surprised at the way she had spoken the words.

"I was afraid," she went on hesitantly as she sat down, "that Bobby Telfair might be here. His influence is not at all good for my little Elinor. She is, I must confess, quite modern enough without—help. Can you get used to what these youngsters call 'cocking' Mr. Colvin?"

He had cleared his throat. He had murmured a stifled, "Why no—"

"Elinor is so appealing," Lida continued in a troubled way. "Everyone likes her, especially older men. She flatters them mercilessly into the feeling that they're young again and then laughs about it afterwards. You're so cruel, don't you think?"

He had moistened his lips, nodded.

"Little scamp!" Lida murmured and sighed. "Promise me you'll use your influence with her!" she appealed. He made no response. "I'm sure," Lida admitted laughing and ruefully, "that I won't have to cough loudly whenever I enter a room in which you are alone with Elinor!"

She sat silent then for a short time, apparently given over to her unhappy problem.

"I am, Mr. Colvin," she confessed with a sigh, "a rather old-fashioned sort of person. I fear some of the—amorous taboos Elinor has provided for me have quite broken me up—," got her lips trembled. He saw her fumbling for a handkerchief and saw that she could not go on, that she had all she could do to regain control.

Elinor came in then Barrett could not look at her. He could only stand dully, acting in every fiber and feeling a cheated fool. Somehow, he realized in the chill of the outer air, he had made his escape.

DERRICK SHADOWS

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

'Twas the night before Tuesday . . . and all through the house a smattering of the best families in town yelled and screamed the stronger and clever man on to a wrestler's victory . . .

Time was when the sport was all. Those days can be traced back to recent history . . . more recent than most of our games.

Remember when the football stadium was not built for the fond sex . . . and our swimming pools were divided in half with a barbed wire fence to prevent mixed bathing?

Recall the "for men only" attitude our nation took toward the gambler's enticing den . . . the ban on horse race betting?

With returning money days, everybody's getting everything he and she can out of this and that. When the old days get here, we may settle back into a spotless existence . . . hence counting the spots while we can.

Not that we're getting anywhere with it. Swiftly the cash changes hands, as quickly the fun is gone.

Mexico fights the bull . . .

France erects the fashion ladder . . .

Germany laughs at our 3:2 . . .

Russia burns her Bibles . . .

And America worries herself into a diplomatic and economical fever trying to combine them all into one digestible sandwich.

So far we've spent most of our time begging for antidotes for our various aches and pains. With Doctor Roosevelt at the thimble, our health improves.

And if this is the period of anesthetic, we must congratulate the national hospital corps . . . we're delightful numb.

Glimpse-glances: Since Dr. August Krogh has exploded the theory of the monsters of the deep ocean, it seems there is nothing left to discover . . .

The air has been scoured, the planets described, the ocean bottom visited, and the poles reached. It shouldn't be long now until we begin figuring out some of the mysteries of our own surroundings . . .

If someone could find a needless means of doing away with kidnappers, snags, salesmen, and liars puzzles the world should become safe for habitation within a period of some centuries.

THE POET'S... CORNER

FIREFLIES

I sat in the swing the other night
And watched the fireflies play
As they darted merrily over the lawn
And through the rosebush gay.

I said to myself, "They must be happy,
Never lonely, and free from care.
I wish I were a firefly too,
Their happiness to share."

And just then one flew by me
And whispered in my ear,
"Cheer up; don't be sad and blue,
Your life should not be drear."

"I'm only a poor little firefly,
A few hours is my span of life,
I know not the joys of doing good,
I learn no lesson from strife."

How can you be lonesome,
In this beautiful world of ours,
With its graceful rivers and lofty peaks
And its fields of wonderful flowers.

Made in the image of your Creator
You are God's masterpiece of art,
You have an inanimate soul.

A MESSAGE TO ALL FORD WORKERS

You and I together are credited with having created "mass production." We use it to make more things in less time at lower cost. By it the people have more and better goods at cheaper prices. Workmen earn higher wages with less strain—not less work. The level of American family comfort has been visibly elevated.

Industry never harms a country; harm comes from elsewhere. But Industry bears the brunt of it. After the slump came, we increased our $6 minimum wage to $7 a day, which continued for 22 months. Today our wage rate is the highest in our line. But Industry still suffers for something she did not cause. Between making and using things, something outside Industry has stepped in to prevent the maker from making and the user from using.

We pioneered the 8-hour day, the 5-day week, a minimum wage that has always exceeded the market rate. Relations between employees and the Company have always stood on a just and human basis. We are as interested in social progress, and possess as sensitive a social conscience as any reformer, whose theories have never met the test of a pay-roll. We pay for doing what we think is right. And we achieved these industrial decencies not by regulation or compulsion, but by being free of financial control and "gentlemen's agreements"—free to do what we saw was right and necessary.

We have no fears of what is ahead. We can make good motor cars under any just system. I think industry will spread out. Big factories, crowded industrial centers, will dissolve. Instead we shall have workshops in village and country. Nearness to the land will prevent the worst shocks of economic change. The benefits of "mass production" can be retained without the evils of massed industrial crowding. That is the next step.

You and I are able to take this next step because of what we learned in taking the present one.

Week's Social Happenings

Climaxed With Lone Star Annual Celebration.

The busy week of social happenings was brought to a pleasant climax Saturday when the Lone Star Gas company and other associate departments entertained with an all-day program held at the Cisco Country club.

The affair filling a highly enjoyed day of miscellaneous events was brought to a close Saturday evening with a gala dance hour arranged under the personal supervision of Harry Wheelon, superintendent of the Lone Star Gasoline company, who presented for the entertainment of dancers Ray Costello and his rhythm makers of Graham, who have appeared in a delightful manner at the Ranger Country club on several occasions.

The annual celebration was attended by a large number of guests from surrounding cities, including Fort Worth, Wichita Falls and Dallas.

Wheatley Sisters Visit Climaxed With Pretty Parties

Pleasure filled each day and a very busy social calendar marks the visit of the Wheatley sisters, Misses Katherine, Maxine and Janice, who with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wheatley, left Friday night for Breckenridge, where they will visit with friends before returning to their home in Ranger. The first of the week opened with parties given by Mrs. M. R. Newnam and daughter, Miss Nannie Catherine, and were closely followed with other delightful modes of entertainment hosted by young June Ann Grigolet and Betty Jean McMillen.

Thursday Miss Katherine Jane Conley complimented the visitors with a bridge party given at her home, Vitalious street, which carried a colorful cloak of pink and green suspended through the profusion of garden flowers smartly used throughout the entertaining room.

Bridge was played at tables repeating the color motif in a pretty fashion where Miss Elizabeth Tlemer made high score, with the cut going to Miss Dorothy O'Donald. The honorees were each presented dainty gifts prettily encased in pastel shades.

A delicious and dainty ice course was passed at tea time to guests, Katherine, Maxine, and others composing the guest list, Misses Betty Jean McMillen, Mary Rose O'Neill, Cecelia McDowell, Camilla Hunt, Sammy Ruth Matthews, Lillian Simmons, Mary Alice Henry, Dorothy O'Donald, Talmadge Carter, Mary Helen Childs, Lewni Chance, Helen Keel of San Antonio, Nannie Catherine Newnam, Gloria Stewart, and Elizabeth Turner.

Friday, the last day of the week's visit, was accentuated with a pretty affair given with Cecelia McDowell, hostess at her home, Cypress street, when she entertained with a bridge luncheon and theatre party. Guests assembled at the McDowell home at 10 o'clock where they immediately entered into games of bridge. Tables were attractively surfaced with pastel covers and carried complete accessories in colors of the rainbow, further emphasizing the feature color scheme of pink, green, yellow and white. After games were closed a plate luncheon of Virginia baked ham with English peas, buttered rolls, sliced tomatoes, potato delight, fruit salad and iced cocoa, with frozen whipped cream and cookies was served from quartet tables arranged about the sun porch. Masses of the lovely summer blossoms entwined with runners of greenery made colorful the setting for the luncheon hour.

Following luncheon the guests attended the Arcadia theatre where they enjoyed the feature, "The Girl in 419," with James Dunn, Gloria Stuart, David Manners and other favorite characters composing the cast.

Upon returning to the home of the pleasing little hostess a course of sandwiches, confections and iced lemonade was served. This happy day's compliment was attended by the honorees, Katherine, Maxine and young Misses Jane Ann Grigolet, Billy Jean McMillen, Talmadge Carter, Elizabeth Turner, Marice Chastain, Katherine Jane Conley, Doris May, Gwendolyn Tunnell, Gloria Stewart, Katherine Newnam. Invited guests who were out of town were Camilla Hunt and Sammy Ruth Matthews.

Mother of the hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. R. A. Tunnell.

Visiting at King Home Over Week-End

Mrs. Mamma Lou Cummings of Breckenridge is visiting in Ranger over the week-end at the home of her son, C. G. King, and family, East Main street.

W. M. S. Announcement

Special attention is called to the meeting of all W. M. S. members of the First Baptist church, Monday, June 26, at the home of Mrs. J. W. Tibbels, at 3 p. m. At that time the Wide-Awake members will give a Royal Service program.

Club Session Postponed

According to Mrs. Lillian Eastland, the Co-Workers Home Demonstration club, formerly planned to have been held Tuesday morning has been postponed until a later date. Since Miss Ruth Ramsey, county home demonstration agent, would be unable to attend the president makes this suggestion and asks all members to note announcement.

Gregg Brothers to Spend Summer Abroad

Lewis and Saunders Gregg, popular sons of Mrs. Saunders Gregg, Pine street, left yesterday morning with their mother for Houston where they will visit prior to the departure of the Gregg brothers for France and European cities, where they will spend the remainder of the summer.

Lewis and Saunders will sail on Wednesday, June 28, for France, their first visit before going to

Ranger Churches

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
L. B. Gray, minister.
Sunday school, 9:45 a. m., S. B. Baker, superintendent.

At the close of the teaching period, 10:30 o'clock, the annual Children's Day service will be held and will close in time for attendance on preaching service by those who desire. The program by the children and young people will include songs, readings, exercises, etc., which will be decidedly interesting. Offering to cause of National Missions.

Regular preaching services on first and third Sundays in each month.

The pastor is preaching in Strawn today.
Christian Endeavor, 7:30 p. m. every Sunday, for all young people.

Our people are encouraged to attend the meeting at the First Baptist church, across the street, during the week, as well as today. The Little White Church on the Hill is striving to cultivate the spirit of joyous fellowship in the Master's service. Help it on with your prayers and your presence at each hour of worship.

ST. RITA'S CHURCH

Masses today will be at 7 and 9 a. m., by Rev. M. Collins. This is the third Sunday after Pentecost and the gospel read is taken from St. Luke XV, 1-10. It deals with the sinner and it shows that God is ready and willing to forgive every sinner if he or she will only repent and do some penance for sins committed.

Ranger Artist Finishes Portrait of Mr. and Mrs. Williams

Miss Josephine Williams, talented young artist who enjoys work at her studio, 703 South Rusk street, has recently finished a portrait of the deceased Marvin Williams, and wife. The picture has brought many marks of appreciation of her talent from those having viewed it among other paintings.

Another prized painting is that of Miss Catherine Wilson, who succumbed at a local hospital several weeks ago, following an operation. The deceased, a close friend of Miss Williams, who was well liked in Ranger and counted her friends by large numbers. The latter portrait is now in the possession of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, parents of Catherine.

Anyone wishing to view the work having been completed by Miss Williams is extended a cordial invitation to visit her at her home, 703 South Rusk street.

Mrs. Steele Entertains Class With Swim Party

One of the most pleasant outings of the week just drawn to a close came Friday evening when Mrs. Raymond Steele complimented her Sunday school class of the First Christian church with a swimming party at Trianon pool, Olden.

After the delightful swim the hostess assisted by Mrs. Lottie Davenport, another teacher of the Sunday school department, served a course of ice cream and cake to the following members: Misses Ruth Smith, Ruby Baker, Virginia Norris, Myrtle Reed, Alta Faye Moseley, Eva Hinman, La Nita Davis, Laura Mae Eaves, Fern and Hazel Litton, Wida Duke, Pauline McCollum, and Messrs. Norman Davenport, Homer Wright, Edgar Walton, Robert Kidwell, Alex Norris, Lyle Mayes and Dr. McConnell.

Picnic Luncheon Enjoyed At Olden Thursday

A delightful picnic luncheon was enjoyed by members of the Euzelean Sunday school class of the Central Baptist church when they motored in a group to Olden Thursday where a bountiful spread complimented Mrs. T. J. Anderson, Joe Dennis, F. E. Byrne, Bill Clardy, Paul Hodge, J. B. Vantress, Blacklock, J. L. Reed, Norris, E. E. Crow, Manning, and Mrs. Robinson.

Spending Week-End in Ranger

Mr. and Mrs. George Lemmas, of Lullington, are visiting friends and relatives in Ranger over the week-end.

Rev. Johnson Reads Ceremony

Rev. H. B. Johnson, pastor of the First Christian church, read the ceremony at his home, West Main street, recently, uniting in marriage Miss Pauline Morton, of Oakley, and S. E. Hodges, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hodges, Cad-do highway.

Only a few close friends were present for the service.

METHODIST CHURCH

Gid J. Bryan, pastor.
The pastor will preach at 11 in the morning, but there will be no service at night on account of the revival at the First Baptist church. We urge our people to attend this revival at night and throughout the week.

Sunday school, 9:45 a. m., Walter Harwell, supt.

Preaching by pastor, 11 a. m. Subject: "What It Takes to Understand the Bible." 7:15 p. m.

Our young people will be back from the Young Peoples' Assembly of the Central Texas Conference at Georgetown and will have much to tell about this great meeting of young people.

Be sure to come to church Sunday morning.

Be sure to attend the revival at the First Baptist church the rest of the time.

"Confess your faults one to another and pray for one another that ye may be healed. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." James 5:16.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH

H. H. Stephens, pastor.
9:45 a. m., Sunday school, T. J. Anderson, supt. Teachers and officers on time at 9:30. Be on time.

11 a. m., preaching by pastor. Subject: "Witnesses for Christ." There will be no evening service. Our people are urged to attend the revival at the First Church.

4 p. m., the W. H. S. meets at the church in Bible study.

7:30 p. m., Y. W. A. meets with sponsor, Miss V-Marie Stephens.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

H. B. Johnson, pastor.
Sunday school 10 a. m., with Mr. Von Roeder, superintendent.

Golden Rule Bible Class, taught by Mr. Holloway. This is a class for men and it is full of interest from start to finish. Come and enjoy its fellowship.

Preaching by the pastor, 11 a. m. This service will close promptly at 11:30.

Communion just before morning sermon.

Both Endeavors will meet at 7:30 p. m. Mr. Keel will have charge of the Seniors and Miss Naoma Matthews will be in charge of the Juniors. Glad to see improvement in attendance in both of these meetings. Come and be in your place in all the services of the day.

There will be no preaching service at the evening hour as all the churches will dismiss for the protracted meeting, at the First Baptist church. Let all the members, so far as possible, attend these services.

"Hell Below" Shows At Arcadia Monday

"Hell Below," thriller of submarine warfare, with Robert Montgomery, Walter Huston, Madge Evans, Jimmy Durante, Eugene Pallette and Robert Young in the cast, opens Monday at the Arcadia theatre as one of the most anticipated photoplays of the year.

Based on Commander Edward Ellsberg's famous book, "Ple-boats," the picture unfolds a terrifically moving romance set amid thrills under the sea, on the water and in the air, in a vivid narrative of fighting in the Mediterranean off the coast of Italy.

The stirring and oft-time breath-taking incidents of "Hell Below" revolves about a young naval lieutenant who in an effort to save his closest friend, almost brings about the death of an entire submarine crew when, due to his flaunting of the commander's orders, the submarine is forced to the bottom of the sea with its engines disabled.

He is dismissed from the navy. Meantime, he has won the love of his commander's daughter who is married to a hopelessly wounded aviator. After a series of compelling dramatic incidents, the young lieutenant is brought to the realization of what he owes to the husband of the girl he loves and makes an end of the futile romance by insulting the girl in a powerful scene in which he pretends to be drunk. Having nothing further to live for, in the end, he sacrifices his life in an heroic adventure in which he blows up a fort by ramming it with a submarine loaded with dynamite.

Probably no marine picture ever made before is so permeated with hair-raising episodes as "Hell Below." These scenes include an air raid over an Italian town which interrupts a festive carnival and sends the inhabitants running madly for shelter in cellars and hideaways; the dramatic moment in which the crew is doomed in the submarine that cannot rise, and their sensational escape; the battle between the submarine and four destroyers, and the final terrific climax in which the fort is blown up and its masonry bottles up the harbor of enemy destroyers.

NOTICE

L. H. FLEWELLEN, President, R. S. BALCH, Secretary.

Pressure Cooking School To Start At Ward's Store

A pressure cooking school will be opened at the Montgomery Ward Store Monday afternoon at 3:30, when Windsor pressure cookers will be demonstrated and the latest methods of cooking will be shown. No charge will be made for the school and everything will be free. The ladies of this section are invited by the management of the store to be present. The school will continue through the week.

Pressure cooking cooks food in its own juices and retains the precious body-building vitamins and mineral salts that usually escape in ordinary cooking. Steam pressure cooking is recommended by health authorities, dieticians and home economic experts everywhere.

The fact that the Windsor pressure cooker, being featured in this demonstration at Ward's has been tested and approved by the Good Housekeeping Institute is a recommendation that speaks for itself. Pressure cookers are also endorsed by the department of agriculture and are the only safe way of canning non-acid fruits and vegetables. They are approved by the National Canners' Laboratories, Home Canners' association, and home-makers. Housewives and students in cooking school classes are particularly invited to see the demonstration of cooking complete meals in 10 minutes and to taste the improved flavor of food when perfectly cooked with all the precious juices, vitamins and mineral salts retained.

PERSONALS

Mrs. T. L. Parkes, who has been ill at her home for the past week is much improved, but will be confined to her bed for at least a week longer.

Mrs. A. D. Taylor and her daughter, Miss Nona Lee, of Denver are visiting this week in the home of Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Gray.

Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Gray are announcing the arrival of a grandson, Leven Boardman Gray, born in St. Louis last Friday morning. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Gray, visited in Ranger on Strawn last summer.

Mrs. J. E. Meroney and a Billy are at home after a visit spent in Tahoka, Texas, where they visited relatives.

"They hired the money, did they?" said Mr. Coolidge in his first observation about the debts owed by European nations. Looks like now they have decided to give it a permanent job.
