ANGERS LOSE TOUGHER GAME TO SCHREINER

The Ranger Junior college Texans got a number of tough games Friday at Kerrville to lose to Schreiner Institute of that city by a score of 9 to 0.

In the first quarter "Squint" Williams intercepted a Schreiner pass on the Ranger 40 yard line and broke into the open to score a touchdown. The referee blew his whistle before Williams crossed the goal line, however, stating that the Schreiner passer had been stopped when he tossed the forward. The ball was given to Schreiner and Ranger was given a penalty.

Later in the game Schreiner completed a field goal to make the score 3 to 0 in favor of the institute team.

In the last quarter a long pass, which the Ranger players claimed went into the end zone, was caught, according to the referee, according to some of the fans a car nearby, was dropped when the player had his back to the field. This pass was allowed to go as a touchdown, however, and Schreiner failed to kick goal.

The Rangers complained of such clipping on the part of their opponents, which went unheeded.

'White Collar' Relief His Aim

Relief for the nation's 2,000,000 "white collar" depression victims is the aim of Dr. Jacob Baker, shown above at his desk in the capital. Dr. Baker heads this work under the federal emergency relief administration and has several special rehabilitation projects under way.

CIVIL WORKS PROJECTS ARE NOW ORDERED

AUSTIN, Nov. 11.—Civil works Administrator Westbrook today called for "at least 1,000 new projects throughout Texas" by next Tuesday.

Instructions to all county administrators completed last night were sent out today as Westbrook opened the throttle on Texas' $29,000,000 public works machine.

"Call an immediate meeting of your board and get everyone help you," he advised county administrators.

"Get your machinery set so if we wire approval of your projects you can start the men to work on Thursday Nov. 16.

"Every hour you delay is keeping men off of payrolls.

"Go to work."

The first duty of county administrators is to secure work relief to absorb all able-bodied men on relief rolls.

Speeding through the mails today, with those instructions, were other messages outlining methods of getting Texas' new work army.

'Corpse' Bid Mourner 'Good Morning'

VITORIA, Spain.—Gabriela Cecilia was praying by the bed on which the body of her most intimate friend, Petronila Inarra, 63, rested.

The room was silent. Candles flickered beside the body. The tick of a clock accentuated the deadly quiet.

Suddenly the mourner heard, clearly and distinctly, "Good morning, Gabriela."

Gabriela recognized the voice of her "dead" friend. Screaming in terror, she fled from the room.

The physician, the undertaker, and the priest, who all had pronounced Dona Petronila dead, were called. The physician admitted that he had erred and that Petronila still was alive. The undertaker agreed. So he canceled the order for a coffin and advised the cemetery that the plot reserved for Petronila would not be occupied.

Petronila now is receiving visitors and telling them about her experience.

ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION BIG SUCCESS

The biggest Armistice Day celebration in the history of Ranger was put on Saturday, with a big parade, a reunion of Ambulance Company No. 359, a sham battle and fireworks display, a barbecue, banquet, smoker and dance featuring the day's activities.

The scheduled events went off in good order, with little time lost between events in spite of the fact that a full day of activities had been planned by the American Legion, National Guards, the members of the ambulance company in reunion here and the civic organizations of the town.

Although the parade Saturday morning was scheduled to start the activities, the big football rally Friday night might have been counted in as the preliminary to the day of celebration, with large crowds gathering in the lobby of the Gholson hotel to hear the speakers, the band and the yells by the pep squad.

The decision to make this the biggest Armistice Day celebration since the war was made after plans for the reunion of Dr. Harry A. Logsdon's buddies from Ambulance Company 359, which saw service in the World War, had been started. The reunion plans grew until soon the entire town was taking an active part in the celebration, with practically every citizen having some part in the events of the day.

The program for the day, which has been published in the Times on several occasions, was so well known by Armistice Day that there is no need of repeating it here, but it is sufficient to say that the entire program was so well outlined, so carefully planned that it worked out smoothly throughout the day.

In spite of the fact that Ambulance Company 359 has held reunions annually for a number of years, those in attendance left feeling that this was the best and most enjoyable occasion of the kind they had ever attended and all thanked the people of Ranger for the wonderful spirit of hospitality and the good times shown them during their brief visit to the city.

"Cabinet Deb"

Washington's social lights will shine on Miss Betsy Dern this year. For she, daughter of Secretary of War and Mrs. George Dern, is the only "cabinet debutante" of the season. She'll be presented to capital society on New Year's Day.

BRILEY RUNS 80 YARDS TO MAKE A SCORE

Anderson Kicks Goal; Britt Starr At End Through Whole Game.

The Ranger Bulldogs remained at the top of the Oil Belt district standing today by virtue of a hard-earned victory over the Cisco Loboes Saturday afternoon at Chesley field, Cisco. The final score of the game was 7 to 6, the same score by which the Bulldogs downed Abilene two weeks before at Abilene.

Ranger scored first in the second quarter when Cisco attempted a complicated play starting with a backward pass and ending up with a forward pass. The ball was passed back to St. John, who fumbled and recovered, then whirled and tried to complete the pass. Joe Briley slipped in front of the receiver, snatched the pass almost out of his hands and raced 80 yards to a touchdown. Perfect blocking aided Briley and about the 15-yard line he reversed his field to sidestep the last man and go over the goal line standing up. Aaron Anderson's toe, which is fast becoming more and more famous in the Oil Belt as a winner of ball games, booted the ball fairly between the two uprights for the extra point.

The Loboes were held scoreless, through three quarters of the game, due largely to the pass defense put up by Briley and Anderson and the remarkable defensive work of big Rankin Britt, who was a one-man defense in himself.

Loobes took the ball on their 27-yard line and, with one break and some good line plunging, went over for a touchdown, the ball being carried by Shackelford. McMahon's attempt to kick goal for the extra point was no good, the ball being blocked by Ranger.

The drive started as though it was going nowhere when Harrison attempted to pass and Britt broke through and knocked the pass down behind the line. Love then intercepted a pass, but both teams were offside and the play was called back. Britt again knocked down a pass behind the Cisco line and Cisco drew a five-yard penalty for the second incomplete pass in the series of downs.

Harrison kicked to the Ranger 34-yard line, the ball struck Gray on the leg and in the scramble for recovery of the ball Cisco gained possession of it on the Ranger 34-yard line. Barker made four and a pass from St. John to McMahon made six yards and a first down. Barker plunged the line three times for another first down, then picked up nine through the line and Shackelford went over for the score. This was the only threat Cisco made during the game.

The two teams played about the same brand of football throughout the game, with Ranger having the edge on the offense and Cisco showing up better on the defense. The first downs were fairly even, Ranger making 16 and Cisco seven. Britt and Wash showed up well in the line, with the backfield being on their toes on defense throughout the game. Britt's one-man show blocked passed, blocked punts and recovered them, threw the Cisco backfield for losses time after time. Few gains were made around his end, and it was tried consistently all afternoon.

First Quarter
The game started with Cisco the kickoff on their 12-yard line and returning it to their 30. The first play, which was probably meant for a surprise, was a pass, which Anderson intercepted on the Cisco 40-yard line. Gray lost four yards and Anderson's pass fell incomplete, between Gray and Cole. Anderson picked up a yard at right tackle and Cole kicked over the goal.

McMahon made a yard over the center of the Ranger line and Barker picked up two at right tackle before McMahon punted to Gray on the 34-yard line.

Again Ranger failed to gain, Briley making a yard and Gray losing three when he was run out of bounds. Cole kicked out of bounds deep in Cisco territory, but he was knocked down by a Cisco player and Cisco drew a 15-yard penalty giving Ranger a first down. Barker intercepted Anderson's pass on the Cisco 29-yard line.

Harrison made a yard at right end, McMahon made four and Barker fumbled but recovered and (Continued on page 6)

Sham Battle Was Fitting Climax of Celebration

The second sham battle and parade today, the first staged since 1931, went off Saturday as a big way, being a fitting climax to the celebration over the war.

A large crowd of spectators, including members of Ambulance Company 359, who were in reunion here, witnessed the spectacle, and pronounced it one of the most interesting events on the long day's program.

Following the sham battle a banquet for the members of the ambulance company was held at the Gholson hotel, a dance for the public was staged in the Colonial ballroom and a smoker for the members of the American Legion finished the activities of the day.

Another to Be Prosecuted In Urschel Case

DALLAS, Nov. 11.—The federal government took another step today in its prosecution of participants in the kidnaping of Charles Urschel.

Mail fraud charges were filed with U. S. Commissioner Leo Smith against J. A. Morgan, farmer neighbor of R. G. (Boss) Shannon, on whose farm Urschel was held for nine days.

Morgan, a gray headed farmer, pleaded guilty to the charge, which was filed after Urschel had gone to his farm to get money which the farmer wrote he had found. He admitted the account about finding the money was fabricated. Smith set Morgan's bond at $2,500 and he was taken to the Dallas county jail to await trial. The federal grand jury, which convenes at Fort Worth Nov. 27, will consider the charges, federal agents said.

Parent-Teachers Protest Legions' Method for Drive

DALLAS, Tex.—Members of the Dallas Council of the Parent-Teachers Association and two ex-service men's organizations are at odds over the question of "exploiting" sex appeal of high school girls in tag day campaigns.

The Parent-Teachers council vigorously denounced the practice of sending young girls on the streets to sell tags for patriotic organizations and recommended tag day campaigns be eliminated.

Considerable danger exists for adolescent girls in chance acquaintances they make on the streets during the campaigns, the council declared.

Members of the American Legion and Disabled American Veterans voiced surprised and vehement disagreement with the stand of the parent-teachers group.

"We provide a chaperone for every 10 girls who sell tags," asserted J. J. Murray of the Disabled American Veterans.

"I've never heard of any complaints of over-aggressiveness on the part of the girls or of their ever being ill-treated."

"I fear the parent-teachers have been misinformed," added T. H. Owens of the American Legion. "The girls aren't misused."

The rub, the council made clear, lies largely in the fact prizes are offered in the campaigns. With that inducement the girls who win are the ones who play up most to the men.

So far as Laurence Melton, chairman of the Dallas post's central council, is concerned, the Armistice Day Poppy sale will go on.

"We don't like this way of raising funds," he said, "but it appears to be the only adequate means at our disposal."

He discounted the danger to the girls and said they regarded their work in the campaigns as a "patriotic duty."

"It is a reminder on Armistice Day of the great sacrifice which men have made for their country," he said.

Henry Ford Is Victorious In Major Tilt

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Henry Ford emerged victorious in his first major test with the NRA today when Comptroller General McCarl ruled the Detroit manufacturer must be allowed government contracts for car purchases, although he has not signed the industry's code.

McCarl, in letters to the secretaries of commerce and agriculture, ruled Ford must be allowed to bid and have his bids accepted in the absence of any showing that he has violated the provisions of the code at his manufacturing plants.

Without such a showing, McCarl said, it must be assumed Ford has complied with the provisions of the code, which "have the force and effect of law."

Kidnapers of Youth Still Holding Him

SAN JOSE, Calif., Nov. 11.—Kidnapers of Brooke Hart, 22, San Jose business executive, evaded an intensive police hunt today after repeating demands for payment of $40,000 ransom.

Alex Hart, hotel and cafe owner, received a letter, then a telephone call from the men believed to hold his son a captive.

The letter was delivered by an unidentified girl who said a well-dressed stranger thrust the communication in her hand and walked away.

"This is to verify our telephone call last night," the letter reportedly read.

"We have Brooke and are treating him right. No harm will come to him if you pay over the money as we will direct you and if you stay away from the cops."

Johnson Speaks At Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Nov. 11.—General Hugh S. Johnson, National Recovery Administrator, arrived here at 11:45 a. m. today from Tulsa in an airplane for his address tonight.

Johnson arrived too late to review the long Armistice Day parade. His secretary said he would remain overnight, probably flying to Louisville tomorrow for a speech there Monday night.

John Murrel Is Granted Bond

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 11.—John Murrel, infantry officer, today was granted by Federal Judge J. J. McMillan, his liberty under bond of $5,000 pending trial on charges of allegedly attacking 28-year-old Blanche Ralls, divorcee of Birmingham, Ala.

The ruling was made after a 35-minute hearing at which three defense witnesses, including the former West Point football star's mother, Mrs. J. R. Murrel, testified.

Juarez May Take Divorce Business Away From Reno

JUAREZ, Mex.—This border city is threatening to take the divorce spotlight from Reno, Nev.

At the present rate, 2,800 decrees will be granted in Juarez this year under the Chihuahua "easy divorce" law. They will represent a $500,000 expenditure by American couples.

Officials said information from the Nevada divorce capital indicated 2,500 decrees will be issued in Reno.

Less than two years old, the Chihuahua divorce law has attracted to Juarez such celebrities as Richard Dix, Hoyt Hootson and Sally Eilers. Johnny Weissmuller, Miriam Hopkins and Max Baer.

Juarez divorce specialists hope there will be more names from the social register. Already the names of a few millionaires and an obscure baron and countess have appeared on the docket.

Hard Liquor Is Sold Openly In City of Galveston

GALVESTON, Nov. 11.—Hard liquor was sold openly in many beer parlors here today, although the 18th Amendment has not yet been officially repealed and Texas has one of the most severe prohibition laws of any American state.

Prices for whiskey ranged from 10 cents a glass to as high as 50 cents in the better cafes. The price of a quart bottle of Bourbon, rye or Scotch, was about $4.

Cuban Rebellion Recalls Part of Texan In Cuban Independence Fight

Stuart E. Jones, United Press Staff Correspondent

ALVIN, Tex.—While Cuba struggles through its latest crisis, a little white-tatched man who played an important part in the island republic's insurrection against Spain, leads the calm life of a country doctor in this little South Texas town.

He is Dr. Foster H. Winn, one-time soldier of fortune and the correspondent who "scoped the world" on the battle of Santiago.

Well-preserved and active at 63, he displays an amazing memory in recounting his adventures as a surgeon with the Cuban revolutionary army, and as war correspondent for the old Scripps-McRae League.

The year 1896 found Winn a footloose and adventure-hungry graduate of the medical college of St. Louis University.

Revolution was a flame in Cuba. That country appealed to Winn as the best place for a young man to find restful living.

Journeying to Galveston, Winn applied to the revolutionary junta in New York for a commission as army surgeon. It was refused. He continued to Key West, determined to find his way to Cuba from there.

He had been in the Florida port only a few days when a strange Cuban youth approached him and inquired if his name was Winn.

When Winn replied it was, the stranger produced two cards, each of which was notched in a peculiar manner. He gave Winn one.

"Whenever anybody approaches you with a card like this," instructed the Cuban, "go with him wherever he commands—at once."

The very next day another stranger approached Winn, handing him a notched card, and bade him accompany him to the waterfront.

Winn was denied the right to pack his belongings, and was hurried to a wharf where lay the steam tug Three Friends, famous filibustering vessel commanded by Dynamite O'Brien.

Within an hour the Three Friends sailed for Havana. Also aboard was Thomas R. Dawley, a writer for Harper's Weekly.

As the tug approached the island, the panish man-of-war Alfonso XIII was sighted. Dynamite O'Brien ordered a salvo fired upon it from a howitzer mounted on the forepeak of the Three Friends.

The Three Friends fled to a hiding place among the Florida Keys. Winn and Dawley, swimming and wading from key to key, reached Key West and sold to the New York Journal the story of the act of piracy committed by the commander of the Three Friends.

Winn returned to Havana aboard a tramp vessel and after overcoming many obstacles, made his way to the insurgents' camp, displayed his notched card, and was made an army surgeon with the rank of captain.

He was assigned to the staff of Gen. Antonio Maceo, a mulatto, who commanded the western end of the island. He remained with Maceo until the latter was killed, after which he was taken prisoner by the Spaniards and lodged in Cabanas fortress for three weeks.

He gained his freedom by posing as a French subject.

Rejoining the insurgents in Matanzas province, Winn became an attaché of Mario Menocal, then an insurgent general, since then a president of Cuba, and now one of the leading figures in the Cuban turmoil.

About that time William McKinley was inaugurated president of the United States. The insurgents surmised he would be more lenient toward the Cubans than Grover Cleveland had been. Winn was dispatched to Washington to plead for belligerent rights for Cuba.

After several months in Washington, during which he worked in the New York Journal bureau in addition to performing his duties as (Continued on page 2)

Home Burns Down In Gulf Company Camp

One house burned to the ground Saturday night in the Gulf camp, about three miles east of Ranger on the Country Club road, and a second house was saved by the Ranger fire department, which answered the alarm.

The alarm was turned in about 8 o'clock Saturday night and when the department arrived at the scene of the blaze one house was practically destroyed. By using a large chemical fire extinguisher the blaze, which had spread to the adjoining house, was extinguished.

Plant Operator Is Injured In a Fire

Fire completely destroyed a plant belonging to the Lone Star Gasoline company Friday night, according to word received in Ranger Saturday, injuring one man painfully.

The Gordon plant, located about seven miles east of Strawn, was the scene of the fire, which is reported to have been caused by an internal explosion.

Details of the fire were meagre, the only word received being that a man by the name of Mayo, who was superintendent of the plant, was painfully, possibly seriously, injured.

Brownwood Is Winner Over The Mavs 14-6

For the first time in the history of the two schools Harry Taylor's Brownwood High school Lions defeated the Eastland high Mavericks 14 to 6. It was on the same field that six years ago the Brownwood team intercepted Maverick's pass the way for a safety for the Mavericks and the necessary margin for victory. But there was a far cry from the game that was played then and Friday. The Lions completely mastered the Mavericks the first half and incidentally that was enough for victory. Unlike the past Maverick game, starting with a bang and ending with the necessary punch. The Mavericks were sadly reversed and the Mavericks did not awaken until it was too late.

SAMUEL INSULL 'GUILTLESS OF FRAUDULENT TRANSACTIONS'
Samuel Insull has been given his freedom by the high court of Greece. He will not be extradited. Uncle Sam cannot get him. Gov. Horner of Illinois and his sleuths were given a knockout blow. Samuel will make Greece his adopted country. He will recognize the flag of an ancient people as the flag of Samuel in the future.

He was a power in politics. He made and unmade governors, mayors, and United States senators.
He built a $20,000,000 grand opera house. He had, or thought he had, most of the world at his feet.
Down came the house of Insull and all its possessions. He fled this land of his adoption. He sought refuge under the flag of Greece. His brother, Martin, fled to Canada. Illinois authorities are battling for the forced return of Martin to Michigan avenue and the courts of the Windy City. A foreign court has vindicated Samuel. Now a Canadian court may vindicate Martin and permit the latter to return his allegiance to the Union Jack and the British Empire.

FRANCE PLANNING TO REPUDIATE WAR DEBT PAYMENT:
France, speaking of its government, is a hoarder of gold. France has huge gold reserves in its steel vaults. France owes the people of the United States a war debt of $3,863,650,000. This is approximately one-third of the total Europe owes Uncle Sam on account of the World War. France refuses to pay the installments due last Dec. 15 and June 15 of this year. France is about $60,000,000 in arrears. Now France is going to default on the $22,000,000 payment due the United States Dec. 15. In the division of war spoils. Alsace and Lorraine provinces were returned to the republic. A territory large and rich in iron ores was returned to the republic. Mandates of many German colonies were given to the people of France. Huge slices of German territory under the skies of the Orient and the islands of the seven seas were given to France. Uncle Sam did not receive a penny in the division of loot. Uncle Sam refused to participate in the division. Yes, "Lafayette, we are here."

The looks of a city has much to do with bringing favorable attention from visitors. Ugly signs, weed patches, piles of trash, old broken down buildings, all contribute to make a city look unkempt and unattractive.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma
When all citizens have pride in their home city, they will have a better city.
When they are filled with ambition to have a better, bigger and busier city, they will cooperate together in a way that will make their ambitions become realities.
Spasmodic work on behalf of citizens brings no results; constant effort is the price that must be paid for steady community growth.
The first thing necessary toward making a city better is cooperation.
All citizens should be interested in attracting new business concerns and new capital to their city. The benefits derived does much toward bringing continued prosperity.
The man who has made a study of his home city is a better booster than the man who has not.
The man who knows all about his city can be counted on as a community worker.
Boasting for the home city pays bigger, quicker and steadier dividends than anything you can do.
It doesn't take eloquence to interest people in a live city; they know one when they see it. The idea is to get them to come and see it.
Courtesy to visitors means much to a city.
A citizen who thinks it isn't worth while to be courteous to visitors isn't worth while to his home city.

Wonder How Much They Can Be Depended On?

Cuban Rebellion—

an insurgent, Winn met a government official and revealed he possessed blueprints of every gun mounted on the island of Cuba.
Winn had obtained the blueprints from a wounded officer. The United States was about to declare war on Spain. Winn was hurried to the navy department and there he turned the blueprints over to Theodore Roosevelt, then assistant secretary of the navy.
Soon thereafter, Winn departed for Havana with a contract to cover Cuban affairs for Scripps-McRae League and special permission to accompany a vessel of the U. S. battle fleet in event of war.
When he reached Cuba, the Maine had been sunk. War followed quickly. Winn was assigned to the U. S. S. Cincinnati, later transferring to the U. S. S. Detroit which served as a fleet marker during the battle of Santiago and aboard which many men were killed.
After viewing the historic battle from his "ringside" seat aboard the Detroit, Winn hurried to St. Thomas in a torpedo boat to file his story from the Virgin Islands city to Scripps-McRae in Cincinnati.
He had less than $400 in his pocket. The cable charge was $1.40 a word. He filed about 250 words, depleting his resources, then hurried back to the torpedo boat to borrow the paymaster's supply of cash. The loan enabled him to file an additional 1,500 words.
Winn's story was the first to reach the outside world. It was a beat over Richard Harding Davis and other famous correspondents. The rest of the war he covered for Scripps-McRae from the old J.

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS—By Bloss

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lou BRYMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
DAVID BANNISTER returns from Hollywood to his former home, Tremont, for rest. He is trying to forget ADELE ALLEN, film actress, who has lured him.
Bannister dines with JIM FRANK, an old friend, now editor of the Tremont Post. Later he takes a cab to drive home. Passing the Shelby Arms apartment hotel, a traffic light holds the cab. A girl comes out of the hotel, sees the cab and rushes toward it. When she sees Bannister she is embarrassed. He offers her the cab and she agrees to ride with him to her destination. The girl drops her handbag and Bannister picks it up. A few minutes later she leaves.
Next morning at breakfast Bannister reads that TRACY KING, orchestra leader in a movie theater, has been found dead in his apartment at the Shelby Arms. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.
CHAPTER III
Kate Hewlett read the word aloud, shock and amazement in her voice. "TRACY KING, BAND LEADER, SLAIN IN HOTEL. 'It's terrible,' she exclaimed. 'Simply terrible. Oh, David—'"
He was not looking at the huge black banner headline but at twines of smaller type. "Unknown Blond Is Sought By Police," the lines read.
Bannister stared at the six words. Mrs. Hewlett went on, reading aloud:
"Tracy King, orchestra leader and master of ceremonies at the State theater, was found dead from a bullet wound in his head in his apartment at the Shelby Arms hotel shortly after 11 o'clock last night."
Over her spectacles she eyed her nephew. "That's why he wasn't at the theater!" she said excitedly. "My stars! Think of that! The poor young man was lying dead all the time. Oh, but isn't this terrible!"
"Read the rest of it," Bannister said abruptly.
Mrs. Hewlett read on, "Police who believe King was the victim of a murderer are searching for an unknown blond woman, said to have visited the orchestra leader during the evening."
Again she looked up. "A woman?" she exclaimed. "What did I tell you about that fellow not being good enough for Denise Lang? Denise is a blond, too—"

Bannister inspected the photographs.

suite directly across the hall from King's, said that her radio had been turned on most of the evening and that part of the program was a drama of underworld warfare. Mrs. Fraser said she might have heard the report of the gun that killed the orchestra leader and thought it was a part of the radio drama.
"C. A. Nelson, living directly above King's apartment, reported that he reached home about 10:30 and had heard no sounds of any sort from the rooms below.
"Two employees of the hotel are said to have given police descriptions of King's mysterious female visitor but that description has been withheld from publication. The employees said they saw the woman enter the building but did not see her leave.
"A. B. Kaufman, manager of the State theater, could ascribe no possible motive for the crime. King's absence last night, he said, was the first time the orchestra leader had missed a performance. During the 10 months in which King was employed at the theater he had become widely known in musical circles of the city. His engagement to Miss Denise Lang, daughter of Arthur J. Lang, 4162 Sheridan Road, was announced last week. The marriage was to have been an important social event of the Christmas season.
"Miss Lang, when informed of her fiance's death, became prostrated—"
"I should think she would!" Kate Hewlett interrupted herself matter-of-factly. "That's a silly thing to print. I should think any girl would become prostrated to hear that the young man she was engaged to had been shot and killed. And to think it was by another woman! What did I tell you, David Bannister?"
It was an exclamation, not a question. Bannister did not answer. He had turned away and was looking out through the crisp, white ruffled curtains at the maple trees, almost shorn of their foliage at the smoothly cut lawn.
It was a morning serene and cloudless but, instead of the blue sky and golden sunshine, David Bannister saw dark drizzling fog. He saw a pair of wide set gray eyes in a white, girlish face—half hidden in the depths of a taxicab; lips that moved tremulously; a smug, gleaming revolver in the woman's handbag.
"Good God, no—it couldn't be! That girl was no murderer. She looked more as though someone had tried to murder her. Frightened within an inch of her life, he had decided, seeing her clearly for that moment just before she disappeared into the hotel.
There was a point, too! Would any woman who had just killed a man walk calmly into the largest hotel in town? She might as well have called at police headquarters and said "Arrest me!"
But there was the headline—"Unknown Blond Is Sought By Police." He could not shake the words from his mind. She was blond. She had come out of the Shelby Arms some time after nine o'clock. She had carried a revolver in her handbag.
"Oh—sorry, Aunt Kate!" Bannister's voice was apologetic. "I'm afraid I wasn't listening. What did you say?"
"No, I should think you weren't listening! I asked if that was Harvey Knowlton who just went past. Was it?"
Bannister grinned. "Aunt Kate, I haven't the faintest idea who Harvey Knowlton is or what he looks like."
"Oh, that's right." The woman was mollified. "I guess they did more in after you left." She turned back to the newspaper. "Look," she said, "here's a picture of Denise Lang. And here's another of her with Tracy King—"
Bannister crossed the room and inspected the photographs. The face of the pretty, fair-haired girl who smiled up at him was one he had never seen before. The picture taken with King was a news photograph, showing the couple as they sat watching a tennis match. There was another photograph of King, probably made for theatrical use. It showed him as a slender, dark-haired and rather handsome youth.
"He was real good looking wasn't he?" Kate Hewlett confessed. "I suppose that's why Denise Lang wanted to marry him—"
Bannister picked up the newspaper. There was more of the account of the Tracy King murder but the rest was made up of rather inconsequential details. An attempt was underway to trace fingerprints. Police Chief Henley had given out a statement. There were interviews with Link, the hotel clerk, and with a switchboard operator. There was a review of King's career as a musician.
Bannister read it all through hastily, then tossed the newspaper aside. His aunt had begun stacking up the breakfast dishes, getting ready to take them to the kitchen. "Think I'll take a walk downtown," Bannister said casually. "It's a fine morning—"
"It's all of two miles down to Broad street," his aunt warned. "Exercise will do me good," he told her.

BY 11 o'clock that morning David Bannister was still wrestling with his problem. The walk downtown had in no wise eased his mind. He could, of course, stroll over to Central headquarters and say to Captain McNeal, "I think I can identify your unknown blond murderer. I think I saw the weapon she used and helped her escape. I think I know the time of the murder—"
He could tell McNeal the story and he was certain that, as an aggressive thoroughgoing police official, the captain would pronounce upon it as first-hand testimony.
Bannister could say, "I left her at the Tremont some time before 10 o'clock—"
Only he couldn't. He remembered that look in the girl's eyes and knew he couldn't do that. It didn't even know her name but he couldn't believe that she had killed a man.
Years of newspaper experience reminded him, "The hardest ones always look the softest."
Even then he couldn't do it. The devil of it was that the problem was getting on his nerves! He wanted to forget the whole thing but he couldn't do that either.
"Damn!" Bannister swore vehemently and decided to buy a New York newspaper. He'd find something to read that wasn't plastered all over with details of Tremont's latest crime.
There was only one place in the city to buy a New York newspaper—the news counter in the Tremont. Bannister went there, threw down a coin and picked up the newspaper.
He hesitated, then started toward the writing room. He has to cross a short passageway that was rather dimly lighted. Bannister took a dozen steps forward and then stopped.
Just ahead, directly facing him was the girl of the taxi ride—the girl in the green suit!

Richard Harding Davis, in the opinion of Winn, was vastly overrated as a newspaper man. He said Davis spent most of his time on the Cuban assignment loafing about Key West, and frequently fished news gathered by other men, including Winn.
Only once after the Washington meeting did Winn see Theodore Roosevelt. That was when Roosevelt, then President, went to Frederick, Okla., where Winn was living, to hunt coyotes.
Strangely enough, Winn never again set eyes on any of the hardy adventurers with whom he served in Cuba, nor has he ever had a desire to return to the country which he admires inordinately.

Brownwood Beats (Continued from page 1) and from then on until the gun ended the first half it was completely the Lions'. The two Brownwood markers being made in the first and second quarters. The first Lion touchdown was the result of a determined drive down the field. A cut back over right tackle and then a beautiful broken field run by Evans, one of the main offensive threats of the Lions. It was the same off-tackle jaunts that netted the Lions their second touchdown during the second quarter. A pass, Scott to Parish, of the Lions gained 20 yards and a first down, and after two thrusts at the Mavericks line, Lee broke through over left tackle and after eluding the secondary defense of the Mavericks, dashed the remaining 10 yards for the marker. The Lions failed to convert either try for point the first attempt was blocked and the latter hit the goal post and bounded back on the playing field.

The Lions received their two extra points when Garrison forced to kick behind his own goal line, had his punt blocked and then recovered the ball for an automatic safety for the Lions and two points. That gave the Lions a lead that the Mavericks were never able to overcome. The half ended 14 to 0 in favor of the Lions.

Practically all of the second half was played during a drizzling rain, which not only slowed running plays but seriously hampered the passing attacks of both clubs.

The lone Mavericks marker was the result of clever and brainy football on the part of Garrison, the versatile Maverick quarter where the ball hit the ground. Garrison raised his right hand as though he were making a fair catch completely baffling the Lions to such an extent that he was able to run some 70 yards for a touchdown, uncolated. The umpire ruled that it was dead ball where Garrison caught, but that aroused the ire of Coach Petty who dashed out on the field and contested the decision and after much palaver and looking up of rules the Mavericks were given a touch-down. The Maverick's try for point failed.

Late in the fourth quarter the Mavericks passed and charged the ball to the Lions' two-yard line only to be held on downs, where the ball went over to the Lions. The final few minutes of the fourth quarter was a series of punts by both clubs as they were unable to run or pass due to the slippery condition of the field. The game ended with the ball in the Lions' possession on the Maverick's 10-yard line.

The outstanding stars of the Mavericks were: Tully, Garrison and Simmons in the backfield and Captain Taylor in the line. Butler substituted center for the Maverick also played a brilliant game.

The main cogs in the Lions victory was the entire Lion forward wall led by Parish, left end, who played most of the game in the Maverick backfield. In the backfield; Lee, Evans and Scott did noble work for the Lions.

The first downs were, Mavericks five and Lions eleven.

TYLER, Texas.—Hogs fattened exclusively on pecans are being raised on the Alex Woldert farm, near here.

Farmer Woldert believes the succulent nuts also will improve the flavor of pork. High cost of other feeds, while he has a luxuriant pecan orchard, led to the pecan feeding experiment.

Two of Ranking Matmen on Card For Monday Night

Two light heavyweight wrestlers who were ranked by the National Wrestling association as two of the leading matmen of their division will be seen in action at the Elks club Monday night.

These are none other than Bobbie Chick of Toledo, O., a younger brother of Dude Chick, who was seen in Ranger several weeks ago, and Johnny LaRue of Tulsa, Okla. Chick has won the last 47 matches that he has had so fans can see by that record that he must be plenty good.

LaRue is a great football player holding the light heavyweight championship from Oklahoma A. & M. college. Fans are given the opportunity of seeing the best two wrestlers to appear anywhere at a very reasonable cost.

Bobbie Chick having defeated Dick Lett, the popular boy from Oklahoma in the Fox and Fox Arena at Fort Worth the past week.

In a six round boxing will be seen Red Moody of Mineral Wells and Orville Curtis of Cisco, these boys have boxed only once before in Ranger but they are real sluggers and this is sure to be the best boxing bout to be seen in Ranger in a long time.

In the other wrestling bout will be seen Herbert Wakeland of Waxahachie and Ken Howell of Oklahoma. Wakeland has been seen in action at the Elks club several times before and has always given the fans a great match.

Wakeland is a very clean and scientific wrestler having defeated Benny Wilson on two occasions. Howell made his first appearance in Ranger last Monday night when he met and defeated Sailor Trout.

Howell is a very clean wrestler however he showed the fans that he was plenty able to take care of the toughest of them.

Cities Welcome Greatest Chance For Public Works

CHICAGO.—Of the nearly 8,000 American cities now in dire need of modern sewage disposal systems, a steadily increasing number, urged on by public spirited groups and individuals, are taking advantage of the unprecedented opportunity offered by the federal government for building those systems at great financial savings.

More than 80 such projects have already been approved according to recent Washington reports, with more applications coming in every day.

"Federal funds, under the public works administration," said Dr. Preston Bradley, president of the Isaak Walton League of America in a recent interview, "are available to city governments for specific, needed projects. Those funds, consisting of outright grants supplemented by long term loans, offer American cities the greatest chance they have ever had, or are likely to have, to eradicate stream pollution and thereby protect health and guarantee the enjoyment of natural waterways."

According to latest advice from Washington, the original deadline for the filing of applications for public works loans remains as originally set—Jan. 1, 1934. By that date all applications must have cleared state engineers. The undesignated balance of the public works fund—if any—will revert to the exclusive use of the federal government.
