The fatal shot, fired from a .45 revolver, entered the right side and came out the left side. Mrs. Hall died five minutes after an ambulance arrived.

Procedure of State At Repeal Convention Is Still In Doubt

By United Press
AUSTIN, Nov. 15.—Procedure for Texas to register its vote for repeal of national prohibition is in doubt, other than that the ratification convention delegates will meet in Austin Nov. 24.

The statute providing for the submission of the question and election of convention delegates sets out no procedure, though it was the general understanding a course similar to that followed in casting the state's electoral vote would be followed.

The place for gathering is not designated further than that it shall be in Austin. Following the electoral custom, the session probably will be held in the state senate chamber. The secretary of state calls the presidential electors to order, but the ratification act does not give him that power for the ratification convention.

In the absence of a provision, it is expected the delegates will elect their own chairman and secretary. The convention must certify its action to the secretary of state. He will then certify it to Washington.

Lacking any directing head, fears have been expressed that enough delegates will not attend to make the ratification legal. Sixteen must attend. Secretary of State Heath has suggested each delegate get in touch with his alternate and notify the alternate if unable to attend. Alternates are also requested to communicate with their principals, so one or the other may be present.

Certificates of election are being sent out by the governor to each of the 29 delegates and to the 30 alternates. Two delegates and one alternate have died since their election on Aug. 26.

Following is a list of the delegates and alternates. The number preceding the names indicates the district represented:

WORK PROJECTS ARE DISCUSSED AT WASHINGTON

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The administration today inaugurated its project to put 4,000,000 unemployed back to work in a month.

The first move was an explanation by President Roosevelt and his work administrators of a work program to make available $100,000,000 by Dec. 15 for the salaries of workers, many of whom have been long unemployed.

Twenty governors, 150 mayors, 250 state and city engineers and 80 state and city relief administrators came to Washington to obtain details of the program.

The mayors, among them Walter Nelson of Wichita Falls, Texas, were enthusiastic. They said the program was the greatest from the standpoint of the city dweller yet undertaken.

It was estimated that if 4,000,000 men go back to work by Dec. 15 that means that about 18,000,000 persons will go off the relief rolls in that time. This is based on the figure of 4.4 persons in every family.

Cisco West Side Petitions Court For Beer Election

A petition to the Eastland county commissioners' court asking that the law be amended to allow an election on 3.2 beer in the west side voting district of Cisco, was presented to the court this week. The petition carried the required number of names and was taken up for consideration by the court.

Action on the petition, however, was deferred until some legal points could be ruled upon. The court was of the opinion that the law did not permit an election in a voting district since a voting district is not a political subdivision of the county. Also there was some question as to whether an election could be called under six months from the date of the recent county-wide election on beer.

The court has asked Criminal District Attorney Grady Owen to give them a ruling on the legal points in question and action on the petition will be had as soon as possible.

Ghost Still Walks At Water Hole Is Belief of Many

By United Press
STEPHENVILLE.—The ghost of the McDow still walks—and the watering hole by that name in Germany's Creek near here is shunned by men as a thing accursed.

A pall of gloom seems to hang over the spot, kept alive by the three-fold tales of the ranch and farm folk who live near about.

The story goes back 70 years. Ranchers coming to the waterhole one day found a woman and her baby murdered on the banks of the McDow. They were buried on the creek bank, near the waterhole.

The tragedy, in time, was almost forgotten—until one evening a man named Petty and his wife stopped at the McDow to get a barrel of water. They saw a woman with a baby in arms walking to the water hole. She stopped at the water's edge, gazed across at the Petty's, then walked back to the grave and disappeared.

The Petty water barrel was not filled that night.

Then a man named Keith built a house on the bank of the creek, and according to J. E. Fitzgerald of Stephenville, who knew Keith well, he was a brave man. But even Keith said he was incessantly disturbed at night by a woman's screams. He sold his place.

A bachelor by the name of Hammonds came to live in the house near the grave, but not for long. He, too, said he heard the screams. One morning neighbors found him dead. He died of fright, they said.

The tragedy prompted two farmers to make an all-night vigil at the hole. They went to the McDow in a buggy, but they came home afoot, and traveling fast.

Since that time numerous watch parties have been held at the spot, and there are more than a few of the old-timers living today who will swear they have seen the woman and heard her scream.

Although the woman's body was moved from the McDow grave in 1890 and taken to a cemetery, those who know the story maintain the screams are occasionally heard, even in this late day.

Additional projects are to be submitted and more relief commission funds asked, according to County Judge C. L. Garrett.

The projects which the county commissioners have forwarded to the Texas relief commission are for rural districts and unincorporated towns only and include lateral road work, grading, bridge construction, improvement of school bus routes, etc.

Dist. Governor To Visit Eastland Rotary Club

O. D. Sellers, governor of the 41st Rotarian district, will be the guest of the Eastland Rotary club at its regular weekly meeting next Monday at noon, it was announced at the meeting of the club Monday.

Earl Bender made an appeal in interest of the American Red Cross, urging everyone to contribute in some amount to that organization.

THREE MAJOR PROJECTS TO PROVIDE WORK

Fifteen Men Are Now Busy Cutting Wood For The Needy Families.

More than 300 men will be put to work in Ranger Thursday morning under the plan of the Texas Relief and Rehabilitation commission, it was announced today by A. E. Ringold, relief administrator for Ranger and S. J. Dean, in active charge of the work projects.

The R. F. C. offices in the Marston building were scenes of activity today as scores of men were being registered for the work, being assigned to the three principal groups that will begin work tomorrow or being given instructions as to how they can go about getting some of this work.

In two of the offices applicants for the work were being registered and as fast as the necessary questionnaires were filled out they were placed on the list of those to receive work and were given instructions about reporting for work beginning tomorrow.

Three major projects are to be started Thursday morning and a crew of 15 men was put to work today. The 15 men now at work are cutting wood, which is to be distributed among families where there is no man in the family or no boy large enough to cut wood for the family. The wood is being secured near town and is being cut and stacked by the workers where it will be kept until distributed. It was said at relief headquarters this morning that the wood detail might be kept at work steadily throughout most of the winter in order to supply the demand for fuel.

The three major projects, which are to be started Thursday morning are:

Chatting Tiffin road from the city waterworks plant to the pavement in the city. This project will call for use of a number of trucks and large crews of men. The work is to be continued until the whole stretch of road from the pump station to town is chatted.

The second large project will be chattering and improving the road to the Gulf camp, over which there is much traffic and which is bad throughout the winter months. This project will possibly require the largest number of men and trucks.

The third major work project will be chattering and improving Spring road, which has been in bad condition for some time and on which a survey of the amount of work needed has already been made and approved.

Other work will be begun as soon as the detail work of getting the men to work can be cleared up enough to get other plans in operation, several of which have already been worked out, but on which men will not be put to work for a few days, at least.

Word was received in Austin yesterday from Lawrence Westbrook, Texas relief administrator, who is in Washington, to the effect that the first payments for work of this kind would be made November 4, after which pay checks will be received weekly by the workers.

FEDERAL LOANS TO AID INDUSTRY AND AGRICULTURE

Uncle Sam is a very generous public benefactor. In February, 1932, the Reconstruction Finance corporation was organized by the congress and approved by Herbert Hoover, then President of the republic. Since its organization the corporation has advanced $2,234,762,178 in cash for loans to industry and agriculture. Repayments totaled $935,481,296, leaving $1,299,280,862 outstanding. Huge sums of money were advanced for the relief of agriculture. Huge sums were advanced for the relief of industry. Franklin D. Roosevelt stepped in when Herbert Hoover stepped out. The greatest panic in history was on when Roosevelt stepped in. Agriculture was paralyzed. Industry was stagnant. Thousands of bank vaults were crowded with frozen assets. More than 12,000,000 represented the army of unemployed. It is different now and it is time for all the people to think.

STATE BANKS AND THE GUARANTEE INSURANCE FUND

A reminder to depositors that all banks which are members of the federal reserve system automatically become members of the insurance fund which insures in full individual bank deposits up to $2500 after Jan. 1. State non-member banks can become members if they qualify. Now it is announced that a total of 4537 or more than half of the 8390 non-member state banks have applied for membership in the temporary insurance fund of the federal deposit insurance corporation. In addition to this, 137 mutual savings banks in New York state, having aggregate deposits of $5,125,000,000, have signified their intention of applying. Thus it is that a Bryanian idea blossomed and has born fruit. Thomas B. Love of Texas, responsible in the old days for the Texas guarantee insurance of deposits law, spent a lot of time in the city of Washington during the summer months. Senator William Gibbs McAdoo of California helped to push the cause along. January is coming. Many interesting laws will become effective in the first month of the new year.

GALVESTON RELIEF OFFICIALS UNDER FIRE

Galveston has a relief commission. O. L. Tullis is county relief administrator. He transferred his activities from Fort Worth to the Pirate Isle. Miss Lynch is social service supervisor. She is said to hail from a northern state. Well, the commissioners' court received a petition from "316 unemployed Galvestonians." They demanded the immediate resignation of the officials under fire. They described official attitude toward those receiving relief as "contemptible and an open insult to law abiding, free, white American citizens." It's a hundred to one shot that a keen minded barrister of the law drafted the petition. However, the members of the county commissioners' court of Galveston are the masters. They have been clothed with authority to act. Courtesy does not cost a cent and, maybe, it is easier to give than to receive.

A FEDERAL JUDGE POINTS THE WAY

Federal Judge Randolph Bryant at Tyler held during an oil test case Nov. 5 that "assuming there exists a valid order of the railroad commission limiting production in the East Texas fields, the federal government under the commerce clause has the right to regulate the flow of oil in interstate commerce produced in violation of such valid law." Judge Bryant is a native Texan. His father before before him was a federal judge. Perhaps he knows the road. At all events he is a trail blazer. More work for the barristers on the journey to the high court of last resort.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK
 By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

Most people will agree that the future of any nation depends largely upon the education of the rising generation. The wisdom shown by statesmen and ruling bodies in prescribing the type of study that shall be given to the young has its reward in the stabilizing of the national outlook and contributes more than anything else to that cohesion against which radical ideas and bolshevism find themselves powerless. The national situation is yet grave. In order to advance the prosperity of the country, it is particularly important that those connected with educational and cultural work should themselves set a fine example for others to follow; to give their students wise guidance; to encourage the people; to help invigorate national courage. They should strive to arouse in all around them a fine spirit of cooperation in the work of tiding the country over the present crisis.

Another Man of Letters Comes to the Front

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lou BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 In a stormy November evening DAVID BANNISTER meets a pretty blond girl and offers her a lift in the cab in which he is riding. Her handbag opens and he sees a revolver inside. Next morning Bannister reads that TRACY KING, orchestra leader in a movie theater, has been found dead in his apartment. Police are searching for an "unknown blond" who visited King the night before. Bannister, remembering the girl in the taxi-cab, is puzzled.

With a quick half-turn Austin exclaimed, "They've just brought that girl in!"

He sees her again that morning. The girl tells him her name is JULIE FRANCE and that she knows nothing of the murder. She begs Bannister to help her and he agrees. He goes to see his old friend, JIM PAXTON, editor of the Tremont Post.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER VI
JIM PAXTON'S face lighted as he saw the figure in the doorway. "Hello there!" he exclaimed. "Glad you came around." Paxton put aside the cigar he had been chewing and leaned back in his chair. "Lord!" he sighed. "What a morning!"

reporters, do you? Well, I'll take the job."

"You'll take it?" Bannister nodded. "I'd like to take a fling at it," he said. "Remember what we were talking about last night—about the thrills and excitement we used to have? Well, I'm bored. I've been bored for months. Haven't a thing to do with myself or my time. Here a cracking good murder breaks and I'd like to get in on it. Maybe it's because I'm back in Tremont—"

"Why, Lord love you, Dave! You don't mean you want to be a reporter on the Post again, do you?" "Why not?" Bannister was talking eagerly now. "I'd like to find out who killed Tracy King—and why. Oh, I don't suppose I'll be much help to you! Probably I'm stale; been out of harness too long. But I can do leg work. I'd like to be on the inside of a murder story once more and see the wheels go around. I used to have a pretty good standing with McNeal and I'll bet I still know half the force—"

"Go to it!" Paxton told him curtly. "There was never a better police reporter in Tremont than you were, Dave. Maybe you'll get some ideas you can use in a novel."

"Yes, and maybe I'll get my neck broken." Suddenly Dave Bannister grinned. "This is going to be fun! Going to be—" He stopped. "There's one thing," he said. "I don't want to cut in on any of your boys. I mean whoever is handling the story. Your man can write all the by-line stories. All I want to do is work with him. Whatever I get I'll turn over for him to write—"

TEN minutes later Paxton and Bannister were in the city room—the same large, square city room, scarcely changed, where Bannister had worked years before. The city desk was set at a different angle. Bannister recognized none of the men gathered around it. Desks and cabinets covered most of the floor space. They had been rearranged, too, but the room had the same air of activity of disorder and preoccupation that he remembered. From beyond came the muffled roaring and whining and grinding of machines. Oh, it was all quite familiar.

But the faces of the men and women about the room were different. Paxton strode a few steps forward, then called, "Oh—Ganey! Got a moment?"

Down came the outspread pages of a newspaper. Down came the tipped-back chair. A young man with a brown felt hat tipped back at a rakish angle upon a head of very red hair emerged from behind the newspaper. He crushed out his cigarette and got to his feet.

"Yes, Mr. Paxton," said J. Randolph Ganey. "Sure! Is there anything—?"

He did not finish the sentence. A pair of eyes of unusual business searched Paxton's. J. Randolph Ganey was slender and slightly below average height. His cheeks and the ridge of his nose were amply sprinkled with the freckles that so often accompany red hair and a fair skin. J. Randolph Ganey was 22 years old but he had packed into those 22 years a list of activities that was amazing. Confidence and energy he never lacked. One subject, and only one, was there on which J. Randolph Ganey was susceptible to the world's darts and that, at least in the office of the newspaper, was unguessed. No one on the Post knew that the "J" in the wiry little reporter's name stood for Jeremiah. No one would ever know it if it were possible for J. Randolph Ganey to prevent it.

"Ganey," Jim Paxton was saying, "this is Mr. Bannister—David Bannister. Used to work here. Since then he's been to New York and written some novels and made a name for himself. Been to Mexico, too, and Hollywood and I don't know where all."

A CHEERFUL grin overtook the reporter's face. "Sure," he said, "I'll see the editor that way."

ONE SURE WAY TO END COUGHS AND COLDS

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, and attacks the seat of the trouble. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Your own druggist is authorized to refund your money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Creomulsion—(adv.)

C.U. Freshmen Developing Many Outstanding Men

By United Press
FT. WORTH.—The next three are football at Texas Christian University has the prospects great teams, if this year's squad maintains intact and develops as it dicates it will.

When the yearlings go under the tutelage of Coach Francis Schmidt next year, they will bring him an ray of football talent that outstrips his present varsity squad. The team finished its freshman year without defeat and repeatedly ran rough shod in practice over this year's varsity.

All-state high school players, expert runners, good blockers, plenty of weight and a phenomenal passer in Sammy Baugh of Sweetwater make up the glittering ensemble.

Baugh, an all-state high school player, contributed enormously to the freshman team's success. He is an excellent field manager and a dangerous triple threat star.

In Scott McCall, 190-pounder from Masonic Home, Schmidt undoubtedly will have one of the best ball carriers in the southwest conference. Freshman Coach Meyer terms him a "master at backing the line."

Other backfield talent is abundant. Wilbur (Cotton) Harrison, fullback from Temple, weighs 177 pounds, and packs a battering-ram punch. He rarely misses the so-hard-to-get one or two yards for a first or for a touchdown. In the line, Sandy Higler from Cleburne promises to be good varsity material for center.

DERRICK SHADOWS

By V. MARIE STEPHENS

We really aren't superstitious.

We walk under ladders . . .

And look at the moon over our shoulder . . .

And sing before breakfast . . .

And don't mind a bird in the house, but . . .

When it comes to black cats, we are nervous.

One ran across our path last night . . .

Its eyes showed green and narrow in the glare of the headlights

Its body shone in the dark of the night . . .

It grinned at us . . . we are sure it did.

Whereupon, we recalled all the murder stories we'd heard, and

Shivered, and Shook, and Swallowed Adam's apples, and

Turned around and retraced the trail of the cat . . . to keep away the bad luck he might have brought.

And today we thing it's silly and uncivilized, and heathenish . . .

To worry about black cats when they make such purring pets, and

Lie by the fire and sleep, and

Are very innocent.

But today the sun is shining and people are busy about offices and shops,

And we are quite brave and strong and sensible.

It really isn't a fitting subject for column writing . . . a black cat.

And we draw no great lesson or moral from our account of the creature . . .

But we are never sure of a cat, and

Although we are not superstitious,

The next time we meet one that shines and glitters and grins in the dark,

We will turn around again . . . and

So will you . . .

So it isn't such a far-fetched subject after all.
