McGlamery Not to Resign As Head Of County Schools

The following statement was issued today by B. E. McGlamery, county superintendent: "A statement carried in the daily papers the first of this week, that I had been made a member of the Education Commission of the Methodist Churches of Texas has caused some of my friends to think that I would resign my place as county superintendent. I have no intention of doing this and at the proper time will make my announcement for a second term as county superintendent. The place to which I was appointed carries no salary and I am simply one of a group of men in Texas whose duty it is to study the educational needs of the church and make recommendations as to the reorganization of the system of schools under the control of the church in Texas. The appointment offers a splendid opportunity to make a further study of the educational needs in Texas and should make me more capable of serving you in the place I now fill."

THY KEEPER: The Lord is thy keeper; the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand.—Psalm 121: 5.

RELIEF WORKERS ON A SELF-SUSTAINING BASIS

Speaking of the new program of relief to the needy the federal administration plans radical changes. To put the program into effect work relief divisions of existing state and local emergency unemployment administrations will be "modified." In other words the New Deal administration is to take over work relief. A conference will be held in the city of Washington on Nov. 14 to which governors, mayors, city engineers and others will be invited to hear and discuss the new program. This is the Washington viewpoint: Approximately 3,000,000 families are being cared for on public relief rolls now. The federal relief administration reckons four to a family and estimates that 8,000,000 persons, or two-thirds of the number receiving relief should be placed on a self-sustaining basis for the life of the civil works program.

There were many drouth sections of America during the hot summer months. Feedstuffs as well as pasture lands were destroyed. Now the administration has allowed 5,500,000 bushels of wheat to be used for livestock food in Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin drouth areas. The grain is part of the 11,579,000 bushels purchased for the relief administration. It will be distributed through state emergency relief administrations to farm families receiving their forces. They are against all strike movements. They are against violence. They are against picketing. They demand the American right to think for themselves. Milo Reno is a leader. Many so-called leaders in country and town dearly love the limelight. Milo planned his holiday strike movement to push the plan of "his march on Washington in the coming month of January." In other words, to quote the doughty Milo, "We are going over the head of the President and address our remarks to the congress of the United States."

Of course, this is a free country. The people rule. The right of petition is not dead. Washington is the capital of the republic. New York was—that is an historic street of Manhattan. All the hotels and apartments and rooming houses on the banks of the Potomac will be crowded the coming winter. Standing room only signs will be hoisted long before Speaker Henry T. Rainey of Illinois and Vice President Jack Garner of Texas call their houses to order.

NEW YORK BARS THE OPEN SALOON

New York lawmakers bowing to the recommendation of Gov. Herbert H. Lehmann paved the way for the coming of repeal by the creation of an experimental liquor control plan—in other words a state commission. Now the commission has ruled out the old time saloon and its bar. After repeal New Yorkers may buy their stimulating beverages only in bona fide hotels, restaurants, clubs, dining cars and ships. The only restaurant permitted to sell drink are those who can prove that most of their receipts come from the sale of food.

"They cannot just sell salads and sandwiches and get away with it," is the ultimatum of the state commission. Nowhere except at tables may liquor be sold and poured for customers. Sale of bottled liquor for off premises consumption will be restricted to state licensed retail liquor stores—a modification of the Quebec plan. Neither groceries nor any other kind of store can sell liquor or wine as retailers.

Joseph L. Mulrooney is the chairman of the state commission. For 30 years he was a member of the police department of Greater New York. He walked a beat, and won promotion until he filled the office of superintendent of the police department. Mulrooney did not take orders. He was thrown out by former Mayor James J. Walker and his advisers. Gov. Lehmann knew his man. He picked the deposed commissioner as the head of the state control commission.

Now it is said that when Mayor-Elect LaGuardia comes in early in January he will name Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan as superintendent of his police department. Gen. O'Ryan commanded a division in France. He is a thorough-going democrat—but not a Tiger democrat. He backed the LaGuardia candidacy to the limit. There are thousands of speakeasies in the four boroughs of Greater New York. Will their doors be closed? Will the new state plan of control drive the speakeasies and their proprietors to the tall timber?

SENATOR SHEPPARD SAID IT WAS JUST A SHOWER

Senator Morris Sheppard will come up for re-election in 1936. He is the co-author of the dead amendment. He has an international reputation as a never-say-die pro and foe of a triumphant Barleycorn who was sent to his grave in 1918 and was given a hurried resurrection in 1933. Sen. Sheppard has sounded his warning: "The fight for prohibition will go on. This is only a temporary reversal." In other words, the senior senator interprets the ballot box verdict as a light shower instead of a tidal wave. A prediction: There is going to be a hot time in the Texas primary election campaign in the month of July, 1934.

Port Arthur Plans A Sub-Courthouse With Tower Jail

By United Press

PORT ARTHUR.—A sub-courthouse building with a "tower jail" will grace the Lake Shore drive here if plans under consideration work out.

An architect's drawing of the proposed edifice reveals an imposing structure of eclectic design combining Greek, Roman and modern architectural features. Besides spacious chambers for deputy sheriffs, deputy collectors and other sub-officers, the building would house a jail compartment sitting like a penthouse atop the structure and with capacity for 32 prisoners.

The county in 1931 voted to issue $150,000 in bonds to pay for the Port Arthur Sub-courthouse. It is proposed to borrow federal money on the bonds on a 30-year basis. An outright grant of 30 per cent may be asked also.

It is expected work on the building will start after the first of the year.

Acts 17:22-34

PAUL IN ATHENS

Paul was waiting in Athens for Timothy and Silas to come to him. Paul, a despised Christian missionary, but yet a Roman gentleman, looked at Athens, with all of its idol-lined streets and false teachers and yearned to influence the young men to know God because he believed that.

In him we live and move and have our being. Acts 17:28; Golden Text.

Athens was known to the world for its famous statesmen, philosophers, historians, dramatists, lyric poets and schools.

Paul soon encountered the teachers of the two reigning schools of philosophy, the Stoics and Epicureans. The Stoics were materialists and identified God with the universe. They were also fatalists, believing that man's lot was fixed by an unchangeable law; men should strive to be in harmony with the law but suicide was the proud way out of an unhappy fate.

The Epicureans were also materialists, teaching that the Gods cared nothing for men and that pleasure in a calm mind and pain-free body was the chief good in the universe.

Paul with the divine touch in his life could not keep silent. He saw the great city as it was, puffed up with conceit, despising heavenly wisdom; religious as to the worship of idols, but ignorant of God.

Paul with his wonderful personality was soon a conspicuous figure in the synagogue and debating in the market place with great success.

Paul was induced to set forth his views before an assembly on Mars Hill.

Mars Hill was a rocky platform with its eastern extremity a sheer precipice of rock. Here under the open sky, on the surface of this rock was the site of the tribunal of the most ancient and solemn court of justice in Athens: the court of Areopagus.

Paul had observed all the idols; knew that Olympus was over-stocked and that it was illegal to introduce a new God.

But Paul's keen mind and vision had lighted upon one statue dedicated "to an unknown God."

Paul opened his address with a compliment, "Ye men of Athens," Verse 23. "For as I pass by and behold your devotions, I found an altar with this inscription, To the Unknown God. Him therefore, ye ignorantly worship, him I declare to you."

Paul did not fear their worldly wisdom. He plunged into his subject with fervor and words of strength brought in simplicity. He explained the power of God and the ignorance of idol worship. He echoed the prophecy in Jer. 10:11:

But the Lord is the true God, he is the living God, and an everlasting King.

But when he explained the resurrection of the dead they laughed and jeered at him. However, a few were converted, a notable man, Dionysius, and a woman named Damaris.

We can look on Paul and his masterful oration with admiration. For even today people would rather face physical danger than ridicule.

There is a saying that the sublime can be made ridiculous by ridicule.

People today, as the teachers of Athens in A. D. 52 are still looking for a care-free mind and a pain-free body.

Paul's message is just as good today and for all the todays to come, to find the "peace that passeth understanding."

O taste and see that the Lord is good: blessed is the man that trusteth in him. Psalm 34:8.

But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength. They shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint. Isaiah 40:31.

Funeral for Mrs. Louise Jones Held Thursday

Funeral services were conducted at 4:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon from the Hamner Funeral parlors in Eastland for Mrs. Louise Jones, mother of Frank A. Jones, publisher of the Weekly Chronicle and editor of the Eastland Daily Telegram.

Mrs. Jones died late Wednesday evening from a burn sustained when her clothing was ignited from a stove in her room at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mal Jones, in Covington in Hill county.

Funeral services were conducted by W. E. Moore, pastor of the Eastland Church of Christ, of which Mrs. Jones was a life-long member, assisted by Rev. James Trammell, pastor of the Methodist church of Covington. Burial was in the Eastland cemetery beside her husband, the late William N. Jones, who preceded her in death by eleven years. The Hamner Undertaking Company had charge of the funeral. Pallbearers were five of her grandsons, and James Harkrider of Eastland.

Survivors, other than Frank A. Jones and Mrs. Mal Jones, are M. M. Jones, a member of the mechanical force of the Abilene Reporter and Morning News, Abilene; Mrs. Henry Orr, Stanton, and Parker P. Jones, Denver, Colorado. She has 11 grandchildren, all of whom attended the funeral except Mrs. Mal Jones, who was severely burned in trying to extinguish the flames from her mother's clothing, and Parker Jones, who did not reach Eastland until too late for the funeral, and six grandchildren.

Mrs. Jones was born Louise Morrow, Sept. 22, 1856, the only daughter of Zack Morrow and Louise Duckworth Morrow. She spent her childhood and grew to womanhood in Fannin and Hill counties. She was married in 1886 to William Newton Jones and with her husband moved to McLennan county, living for some time at Waco. From Waco they went to Erath county, and in the fall of 1899 came to Eastland county, making their home at or near Carbon and at Eastland since that time.

If you want to GET RID of Constipation

Science says Today use a LIQUID Laxative

1. Control intestinal action exactly—no "purging"
2. Measure to suit your individual needs to the degree
3. Banish Bowel Fatigue and the laxative habit

Here's Why:

Any hospital offers evidence of the harm done by harsh laxatives that drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and in some cases even affect the liver and kidneys.

A doctor will tell you that the unwise choice of laxatives is a common cause of chronic constipation.

Fortunately, the public is fast returning to the use of laxatives in liquid form.

A properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement. There is no discomfort at the time and no weakness after. You don't have to take "a double dose" a day or two later.

In having any laxative, always read the label. Not the claims, but the contents. If it contains one doubtful drug, don't take it.

KILLING CANNING IS DISCUSSED

Provide 6,000,000 Pounds of Meat For Texas Needy.

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 17.—A plan for buying, killing and canning six million or more pounds of beef in Texas for the needy in Texas, through the Federal Emergency Relief Administration and in cooperation with the Texas Relief Commission, the Extension Service of Texas A. M. College, were explained today to county farm and home demonstration agents assembled in a meeting. Principal features of the plan were agreed upon in a presence of extension officials C. Z. Crane of the Federal Relief Corporation, Austin.

Crane is the first and only state official to try out this plan of buying his own needy by purchasing made wholly within the state. Mr. Crane said. If it succeeds the same plan may be used for purchase of butter and eggs possibly other food stuffs, he said.

General relief authorities have estimated about $500,000 to Texas purchases of beef this winter. The regular requisitions, this money less a relatively administrative expense will aid Texas farmers for 20,000 cow cutter cows, Mr. Crane said. The plan, which is expected to be put in operation very soon, contemplates the assembly of beefs purchased in 15 to 20 points for slaughter and canning. The location of the processing plants has not been decided, but in general they will be located in the centers of areas where the need for relief is greatest.

Requisitions will be allocated to counties, and experienced buyers employed by the relief commission to do the buying. Regular market price will be paid but there is a saving to farmers in that and commission due to the fact that the animals will be slaughtered in the area where they are purchased.

An investment ceremony will be held by Troop 27 of Bangs Thursday night Nov. 16, when the Scouts will be presented with their Tenderfoot badges and registration cards.

Armistice Day Reports coming in are rather gratifying, how Scouts participated in helping in various ways in Armistice Day programs. Let's make it 100 per cent on the part of each troop in doing a special troop good turn during Thanksgiving and Christmas. Some troops are already planning a broken toy repair shop where Scouts will go out and collect broken and discarded toys as well as "out grown" toys to aid Santa in seeing that each little boy and girl is not forgotten Christmas. Other good turns will suggest themselves as you hold your pow wow meetings.

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT United Press Staff Correspondent. PARIS.—Lady Castlerose has been shopping down at Molyneux's and one of the things she found particularly to her liking was a hunting costume of dark olive green ribbed velvet with a dark green sweater.

The jacket of the ensemble is hip-length, has two pockets, one at each side, and a two-inch belt that fastens with a simple buckle in front. The collar turns over like that of a Norfolk jacket and the sleeves are straight and simple, ending with two cloth-covered buttons at the wrist.

The green sweater underneath is designed along the same lines as the jacket, with buttons down the front from the throat to the waist. It has short sleeves just above the elbows.

Blacksmiths Make Stand For Recovery Of Their Calling

TYLER.—Village blacksmiths, long ago placed in the same category with hard-riding cowboys and dancing Indians, are making a great effort here to prolong their profession.

Although the tractor and other kindred improvements have displaced many of the horses on farms, blacksmiths still are to be found in abundance in Smith county.

Wholly dependent upon the shoeing of horses for a means of earning a livelihood, two swarthy members of the dwindling trade were found here.
