PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

with BILL MAYES

The Ranger Bulldogs have taken their toughest assignment of the current season in matching a game with the Temple Wildcats. Who were doped to be the next state champions until a couple of negligibles put them out of the running. The Bulldogs will play them at Temple Friday afternoon. The following description of some of the principal players on the team was written by "Breezy" Farrell, sports writer of the Temple Morning News. The second installment of the description of the players will appear in this column tomorrow.

The Temple high Wildcats of '33, called by old-timers who have seen all of Temple's teams in their greatest team ever to wear the Wildcat spangles, won the straight District 11 victories of top-heavy scores before losing all at one stroke in a District committee meeting when it was discovered that Ted Lewellen, living fullback, and Tom Fowler, a tackle, were ineligible under a right-semester rule.

Both boys put in their extra semester in other schools. Lewellen transferring from Waco and Fowler from Troy. The District committee voted unanimously that the committee members were not to be blamed since the mistake was simply an unavoidable oversight. The ineligibility, forfeiture of all time in which the players took part, was given to the Wildcats. A hint that Lewellen was ineligible reached Head Coach G. W. Forehand and Line Coach Lambert only about an hour before the Corsicans game. It was held out of this contest but took part and so the Wildcats' 26-0 victory over the Corsicans was forfeited with a 45-6 decision over Corsicans and a 47-0 victory over Burne.

The Wildcats' only loss on the district this season came in the game of the season which the Wildcats lost to the Beaumont Purple at Beaumont by a score of 14-0. The Wildcats drove into Beaumont territory several times, fumbling once on the 40 yard line, while Beaumont converted the attempt into a winning score.

The Wildcats next invaded San Antonio and defeated the Bracken Eagles, now tied with Mas Jefferson for the District lead, by a 51-0 score, running and scoring almost at will. (Continued on page 3)

T. M. C. WINS FROM RANGERS BY 19-0 SCORE

The Texas Military College of Terrell brought a team to Ranger that would outweigh the Rangers of Ranger Junior College by almost 10 pounds to a man and battered their way to a 19 to 0 victory.

The Rangers, clearly outplayed in the first half, staged a rally that threatened throughout the last half, outplaying the T. M. C. team but failing to produce a score.

At the half the Rangers came back strong. Faircloth taking the kickoff on his 10 yard line and returning to the 23 yard line. The Rangers made four first downs in succession to carry the ball to the T. M. C. 39 yard line, where it went over on a fumble, but on the first play T. M. C. kicked back and Daniel kicked out of bounds on the 42 yard line. A pass from R. Smith to Bridges was good for 43 yards and another pass by the same pair was good for a touchdown. The attempt at point after touchdown failed.

In the last quarter the Rangers made five first downs to one for the visitors, but the locals could not put over a touchdown. Murray, coming around from his tackle position, made several good gains, while "Squint" Williams was the outstanding backfield man for the Rangers, with Townsend, who had been moved from guard to the fullback position, made many nice gains. In the line Murray, Bray and Stead stood out on the defense. Landers, as usual, got off a number of nice punts.

BLANTON WARNS JAMES SHAW THAT 'HOMES MUST BE SAVED'

ABILENE, Dec. 2.—Thomas L. Blanton, 17th district congressman, fired another blast at James Shaw, Texas manager of the home owners' loan corporation. A copy of the letter follows:

Dear Mr. Shaw: Yours of the 27th, which you had a banker to publish this morning, is misleading. You can't justify your inexcusable "failure to function" by intimating that I would "lend public money without proper information." All honest persons will admit that my 16 years in congress shows an unbroken record in saving government money, and fighting against waste.

When congress gave you the machinery and money to refinance homes, to prevent foreclosures, it expected you to promptly submit all applications to the county appraisers, and when property values justified loans, that you would promptly have the titles examined, speedily closing all deserving loans.

Appraisers Because I justly upbraided you for pigeonholing applications for months, and not promptly submitting them to county appraisers, you reflect upon their integrity by insinuating that they can't be trusted. The 19 men I selected as appraisers for the 19 counties in my district were all hand-picked, and are capable, well-informed, experienced, well-qualified men of integrity, who will favorably measure up with you in business sagacity, patriotism and loyalty to the government.

Financial Report You did not deny or disprove the figures I sent you for my 19 counties. You gave preliminary appraisals, made by your special, private appraiser drawing $150 per month and expenses. I selected him. He is no better qualified than the regular county appraisers. Get your preliminary appraisals if you want them, but afterwards promptly send the applications deemed worthy to the county appraisers, who must act before loans are made.

Why did you not state in your publication that after having your private appraiser make his preliminary appraisal you then call on Dun & Bradstreet mercantile reporting agency for one of their technical financial reports on each borrower, before you are ready to submit the application to the regular appraiser for the county, who must appraise before a loan can be made.

I gave you specific, reliable reports furnished me by the appraisers and attorneys for the counties of Taylor, Nolan, Jones, Callahan, Stephens, Palo Pinto, Comanche, Runnels, Coleman, Mills, San Saba, Lampasas, McCulloch, and Llano, showing the number of applications, the appraisals submitted to the county appraisers, and the abstracts sent the attorneys for examination. Yet, you state I "did not show the situation in my other counties," indicating they were "satisfactory." I had only five other counties, Burnet, with two appraisals and one abstract; Concho with no appraisals and no abstracts; Brown, with 15 appraisals with one abstract; Shackelford, with one appraisal, and no abstract, and Eastland, with 25 appraisals, and only five abstracts, with five loans approved, but none closed there.

Discrepancies Evidently, your office has thrown many applications in the waste-basket, as Nolan county sent you 175, and you report only 83; Jones county has sent you nearly 300 while you report only 66; McCulloch county has sent you about 80, while you report only 32; Stephens county has sent you about 75 while you report only 40, and so in all of my 19 counties your records show only part of the applications sent you.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
 A SAFE RETREAT: Be thou my strong habitation, whereupon I may continually resort; thou hast given commandment to save me; for thou art my rock and my fortress.—Psalm 71:3.

REPEAL OF THE VOLSTEAD ACT MAY BE A TOUGH JOB

Speaker Henry T. Rainey is in camp on the banks of the Potomac river. The congress will assemble in January. The Illinois statesman has let it be known the removal of federal prohibition enforcement laws from the statute books and revision of liquor traffic and tariffs will be placed at the top of the legislative calendar for the session. He predicts that repeal of the Volstead act will not be difficult as the house judiciary committee will meet probably in December and prepare the bill in view of the fact that no hearing will be necessary. Thirty-three states have ratified appeal. Six states will do the balloting act the coming Tuesday. Verdict of the speaker: "Ratification is certain." He predicted that the congress will keep the ordinary budget balanced, that there will be a strong effort to compel inflation in the next session, that the people may be given some silver inflation; and lastly, he said that the "bankers' attack on the deposit guarantee law was unjustified."

Speaking of additional funds for relief purposes the farmer-lawmaker from Illinois let it be known that the congress will be asked for more funds for relief purposes and "the relief administration will get it." Speaking of relief the nation over for the unemployed, the Vermont state government has made a survey with very gratifying results. Less than 4000 families in the Green mountain state were found on the relief application list. Vermont is not a large state. Vermont is an industrial as well as an agricultural commonwealth. How did it happen?

ROBERT J. HOLLIDAY GIVEN PLACE ON RELIEF BOARD

Speaker Coke Stevenson has announced the appointment of Robert L. Holliday of El Paso to state relief board membership. Robert J. Holliday is a native of Milam county. He is a product of the Texas U. He served six years as a member of the board of regents of the university by appointment of Dan Moody. He is among the leaders of the young democracy of Texas, a prominent member of the El Paso bar. He is said to be a power in the politics of the El Paso country. He was displaced as a regent by the Ferguson administration. Judge R. L. Batts of Austin and Edward Crane of Dallas retired with the El Paso leader. They were known as "The Big Three of the Regency." Speaker Stevenson has another vacancy to fill. Two of his first choices refused to be drafted. Col. Gene Howe of Amarillo and Banker Joseph Frost of San Antonio dodged the responsibility. As for Holliday, he knows the needs "not only of the El Paso county but all Texas." There is a reason why: He is for all-Texas.

SAMUEL INSULL GIVEN A FREE TICKET

Samuel Insull is 74. He has been vindicated by the courts of Greece. Now he is going to work. He will not return to America. This is the viewpoint of the federal as well as the state authorities of Illinois. Incidentally the federal government and the state of Illinois spent $100,000 in futile attempts to bring Insull back to Illinois for trial. Well, the Greec courts twice refused his removal and there will be no further federal attempts to extradite the broken bulid and financier. Samuel is in love with Greece, where he has already moved to obtain citizenship. And the big wheel continues to go round and round and at every turn or revolution the bottom dog goes to the top and the top dog goes into the ditch.

From press reports I note that Germany has a Minister of Propaganda. Well, that's nothing new to us. We have plenty of them in this country.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

*High taxation, which lessens the people's resources and curtails spending, has drained in a very serious degree the sources of private charity.

*The poor we have always with us, but now the old poor are very largely augmented by the new poor. Thousands of citizens who in former years made their contributions to charity find themselves on the verge of want and are being forced to the reluctant view that "Charity Begins at Home."

There are others who should give directly or indirectly, but don't. They have yet to learn that it is more blessed to give than to receive.

Let us have no illusions. Burdens lightly borne in times of prosperity assume a different aspect during times of depression. The burden of taxes, serious at all times, bears more heavily in times like these.

This word beginning is employed to signify the only, that is, the eternal verity and unity of God and man, including the universe. The creative Principle—Life, Truth, and Love—is God. There is but one creator and one creation" (page 502).

"THE UNKNOWN BLOND" By Laura Lou Brookman

Who added TRACY KING to the list of unknown blonds? It was a newspaper reporter who went to the city to find out. Police are searching for an "unknown blond" who visited King shortly before his death. Bannister has seen the girl, but she has since disappeared.

HURMAN, N. Y.—A. H. who wrote King a threatening letter is in jail. He threatens his innocence. AL DILLON, friend of King, says the orchestra leader has been having trouble with JOE PARROTT, his former vaudeville partner, and accuses Parrott of the murder. Police learn that MELVINA HOLLISTER, middle-aged singer, shot a violent quarrel with King after his car killed her carney. CAP. FAY McNEAL of the state bureau visits Miss Hollister and decides she will hear watching.

Next day Bannister learns that the blond suspect has been arrested and goes to see her. She refuses to tell who she is or anything about herself.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXI

THE telephone on McNeal's desk rang sharply and the captain made a grab for it.

"McNeal speaking," he barked into the instrument. "What?"

David Bannister, in a chair tipped back against the wall, gave his attention to the marine scene decorating the calendar across the room. The waves against which the gallant ship was tossing, Bannister thought, looked much too solid. Something like mattresses. Of course the calendar was all right in spite of the picture. The calendar bore large black numbers, easily read. Yes, the calendar itself was a good one.

McNeal's voice went on in monosyllables. "Yes. Yes. Well—"

He set down the telephone a moment later, scowling. "That was Steve," he said. Bannister knew he meant Steve Fisher of the detective bureau. "Thought he had Parrott located, but he's lost him again."

"Do you think Parrott's here in Fremont?" Bannister asked.

McNeal shook his head. "If he was," he said, "we'd have had him in a cell long ago. Oh, no! He got out of here pronto. Parrott's a pretty tough customer you know. He's got a record—"

"No, I didn't know," Bannister interrupted. "What sort of a record?"

"State prison. Served eight months for passing bad checks." McNeal went on, describing the offense which had taken place in another state. "That's not all. He was indicted with some others on a narcotic charge in St. Louis last winter. Got out of it some how. Parrott's a tough customer, all right, but we haven't got anything on him. Nothing but Drugan's story—"

Bannister wasn't interested in hearing about that again. He said, "Listen, Cap, what about that girl back there?"

He was leaning forward, speaking earnestly. He would have gone on but suddenly the outside door opened. There was a girl on the threshold—Denise Lang. Behind her stood Parker Coleman. She looked from the captain to Bannister, doubtfully, hesitatingly. Then, with a rush, she entered the room.

"You're the one I want to see," she said, crossing to McNeal's desk and halting directly before it. She was an incongruous figure in such surroundings. Her wine red suit was lavishly fur trimmed.

Denise Lang recognized that fur suit. It was the same one she had seen when she had turned around and then he'd turned around and she'd seen her hair was light and that she was pretty. For a minute she thought Tracy would be sure to turn around and then he'd see her. But he didn't turn around and she was rather embarrassed and she thought maybe the girl was a theatrical friend or someone.

"But you did get a good look at her?" McNeal questioned.

"The girl nodded.

"Good enough so you can identify her?"

"I—I think so."

McNeal pressed a button on his desk. "I'm sorry you didn't see all this yesterday but it's not too late," he said. "No, not too late."

The door opened then and a man appeared. "Nelson," said McNeal, "have that girl brought in here. Yes. The one we're holding for the King murder."

The man in the doorway nodded. Bannister got his feet then. "Guess I'll drift off," he said.

McNeal nodded. As Bannister closed the door he heard the plain asking Denise Lang a question. There was unnecessary patience in the way Bannister closed that door.

He had something to do. He knew that he must do it with delay. He went into the presence and called the Evening Post. When he was connected with the desk and heard Austin's voice on the wire he said, "Denise Lang is here. She's come to identify the girl they're holding in jail. She saw the girl with King. You'll send a photographer I think you can get pictures—"

For the next 10 minutes Bannister was all newspaper man. In the present, at least, exclusively repeated it to a rewrite man, please to call back as soon as Denise Lang's verdict came. Yes, he'd let them know right away.

Bannister put down the telephone and walked out into the hall. What was that? He couldn't hold news of that sort. Denise would identify the other girl, right. Of all those involved, Denise was most certain on that point. Denise had spoken of green suit with black fur on the small green hat. Oh, yes, that was no doubt that Denise would identify the other girl.

The door of McNeal's office closed and there was no one left. Bannister walked the length of the corridor, turned and walked back. He looked at his watch. Most 2:45. That photograph should be here by this time. What was the matter with him? Why didn't someone come out McNeal's office? It shouldn't take ten minutes for Denise to say whether or not she'd identify the other girl before.

But the door did not open. Bannister mounted in Bannister's. Then, from behind the door heard a cry.

The Belton Tigers, the only class B team on the Temple schedule, were the next victims, losing by an 80-0 score.

The Thomas Jefferson Mustangs next invaded Temple and either caught Temple on an off-night or showed unexpected strength. For the Ponies put up a great game and went down fighting by a 14-6 score. The Jefferson touchdown was scored on a 60 yard run with a blocked punt.

The Wildcats then went to Cleburne to open their district campaign which has already been described. After having to forfeit three games, Temple forfeited to Waco, throwing the battle for the District 11 title wide open again.

Captain Honey Wren, the Wildcat left guard and sterling leader, is the outstanding lineman in District 11 and one of the outstanding men of the entire state. In the tricky Temple offense he handles the ball on many plays, blocking, passing and punting as well as kicking off occasionally in addition to being a tower of strength in the offensive line and one of the best line-backers ever seen in this district.

Playing the pivot position is Ki Aldrich, another cinch for an all-district berth and captain-elect for the 1934 team. There have been no had passes from center while Aldrich was in the game and he has consistently played a stellar game at defensive guard or tackle. He is expected to play Captain Wren's guard position next year on account of his excellent blocking, leaving the center position open to Dan Pope, a squadman this year.

Iowa May Save Its Delinquents

By United Press
DES MOINES, Iowa.—Iowa delinquent taxpayers will not face prospects of losing their property through sheriff's sales, if a measure on file in the state legislature is enacted.
The bill, bearing the approval of Gov. Clyde L. Herring, would delay printing of delinquent tax lists and the subsequent sales until March 1, 1935.

"I believe this measure, if enacted, will allow many persons to save their homes," the governor commented. "By March 1 Iowa farmers will have received nearly $30,000,000 in corn-hog plan administration benefits. Also the giant public works and civil works administration projects will have put money into many pockets.
"One of the first things these people will do is pay their delinquent taxes in order to save their property. By delaying the printing of the lists, so many persons will have brought their taxes up to date that cost of printing probably will be cut in half."

Moscow Post Office Ironical Comment

MOSCOW.—A report that Allan Monkhouse, British engineer, who was one of the defendants in the famous Metropolitan-Vickers trial here, is lecturing on Soviet affairs at the Bonar Law College in Britain has evoked ironical comment in the Russian press.

In the Evening Moscow the report is greeted with a long verse, satirizing the sort of lecture Monkhouse might give. He is represented as saying, in staccato rhymes, things like this:

"In the Soviet Union there is no scope for cleverness—only get started on spolling a turbine and right way they stick you in jail.

"An honest foreigner, like myself, can expect anything here. No sooner do you stop an electric station quietly than you are stopped yourself. There's an absolute oppression of intellect.

"You can't even spoil a Diesel."

At one of his lectures—as imagined by the poet, Uri Kazarnovsky—the lights suddenly go out. Monkhouse is represented as apologizing. He explains that he spoiled the wiring on the way up to the hall, just an old habit.

Father of Bride Officiates in Ceremony

Miss Adrian Hagaman, niece of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, became the bride of Hamilton McRae of Eastland Friday evening at 5:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hagaman.

Rev. C. S. Hagaman of Coryton, Tenn., father of the bride, read the ring service. The nuptial vows were taken before an improvised altar of evergreens and chrysanthemums. Autumn roses named the floral design throughout the house, while the stairway leading to the altar was elaborately decorated with chrysanthemums and greenery.

Miss Monnie Jane Whittington of Eastland, maid of honor, wore a frock of navy blue with white accessories. Mr. McRae was attended by Jack Binion of Fort Worth.

The bride wore a suit of blue with a fur of blending tan. Her accessories were of tan. She wore a corsage of birds and sweet peas. She was given in marriage by Leslie Hagaman.

The bride is a graduate of Ranger high school and the College of Industrial Arts, Denton. She has taught in the Ranger High school, home economics department, for three years. While in C. I. A., she majored in period designs of clothing.

Mr. McRae is a graduate of the University of Texas, law school. He is a member of the firm of Connor and McRae, attorneys at law, Eastland.

It Is Important To Help Now!

The Child Welfare club of the city continues making plans for the Santa Claus season, with scores of little fellows all over town wanting... and scores of mothers and dads wondering.

Without the help of the citizens of the city, these small children will not receive gifts. In order that there be as few disappointed Santa-lovers as possible, the welfare organization again extends the plea that the more fortunate of us help.

It is important to help now. The Ranger firemen are working with the organization in repairing broken toys and gifts... but they must be carried to them soon in order that the men have time to put them in "playable" condition before the yuletide season.

For this reason, the club asks that anyone who might have discarded toys, carry same to the fire station as quickly as possible. If it is impossible to take them to the station, please Mrs. E. L. McMullen at 216, who will call for them and turn them over to the men for repairing.

But above all, the plea is to give... and give NOW.
