KEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

with BILL MAYES

As threatened the other day, we now going to give the dope on a boy, who though ineligible last year, could have made the first team, and who came out for practice regularly, and who seems to be almost a cinch for a berth in the backfield.

Maurice Agnew (Bullet) Agnew was eligible this year, as we might have mentioned before, because he played basketball at Shallowater, which we have been unable to find on our map, but which is a fast basketball team, nevertheless.

"Bullet" had never played football before coming to Ranger high, but he has been a student for some time. It is reported, unofficially, that when playing basketball at Shallowater he formed the habit of taking a good workout when running the three or so miles from the school back to his home, which evidently made him a tough, pretty fast and more fairly long-winded.

Though not large, our guess is he would weigh around 140 pounds, he is fast, shifty and shows much promise, early in the season that even we noticed that he was better than the average. On the beginning he showed much promise, even though football was a new sport with him. He played well, though he was not used to play, and learned rapidly, which is a good sign.

He is a fast, shifty runner and after than average pass receiver, so he may be used in the backfield, or at end, depending on how develops during spring training in the early season practice games next year. Right now he is slated, more or less, to take a big assignment next season, and of taking the place of Joe Briley. Though somewhat lighter in weight, he is just about as fast, probably shifter, and more apt at snatching passes. His offensive work may not be quite to the Briley form of the late season of 1933, but with more experience in spring training and in early summer his defensive work and blocking may develop to the point that he will be one of the mainstays.

We got, over the telephone, some good information about another youth who would make a good player next year, but we find it would not be eligible, according to a ruling from Roy Henson, because he has not been in school long enough. So, we will give the information until such time as he becomes eligible, if he is.

In the meantime the regulars in reserves are getting more impatient over receipt of their jackets and sweaters, and they will have to wait another couple of days, because the bank has been put off until Wednesday.

We heard today that one member of the team had his speech memorized, but is now uneasy because he is afraid that he will forget it all before Wednesday.

Anyway, we imagine, that all the regulars will be given an opportunity to say something, because they usually are, even if they say nothing but "Thank you" on they are given their jackets, like that jacket idea. In fact we wish we could have lettered on the team somewhere this year so we could have gotten one.

An Iowan Points To a New Party

Bitterly denouncing the current recovery program, Milo Reno, the dynamic Iowan who ran the farmers' strike of last summer, is pictured here during an eloquent moment at New York's historic Cooper Union as he pleaded for the formation of a third major political party.

MANY STATE OFFICERS TO BE IN RACES

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, Jan. 8.—Although their formal announcements are not yet ready, State Treasurer Charley Lockhart, State Comptroller George Sheppard, State Land Commissioner J. H. Walker, State Agricultural Commissioner J. E. McDonald and State School Superintendent L. A. Woods all will be candidates for re-election.

Heads of other state departments expect the legal department are appointed. One state railroad commissioner is to be elected. Commission Chairman Lon A. Smith, whose term is expiring, will run again.

Attorney General James V. Allred having announced as a candidate for Governor, Elbert Hooper, his first assistant in the legal department, has decided to run for Attorney General. Hooper has been considering the race for some time. He made up his mind definitely this week. His announcement soon will be issued.

This race to date is a five cornered one with Hooper, San. Walter Woodward, Will McCraw, Virgil Arnold and Clyde E. Smith running. They are geographically distributed. Hooper is from Fort Worth, Woodward from Coleman, McCraw from Dallas, Smith from Woodville and Arnold from Houston.

Treasurer Lockhart has an announced opponent in Edward R. Walker, Trinity, a former assistant state tax commissioner in Gov. Pat Neff's administration.

J. J. Patterson, San Antonio, who polled 133,000 votes in a race for railroad commissioner in 1932, is a candidate against Comptroller George Sheppard of Sweetwater.

Agricultural Commissioner J. E. McDonald of Waxahachie is without an avowed opponent, so far, as is Land Commissioner Walker.

School Superintendent Woods, sensing another possible hard race, admits he already is running. Leon Rogers, Austin author and former assistant superintendent under the unbeatable S. M. N. Marrs is Woods' likely opponent. Rogers continued as an assistant to C. N. Shaver, Huntsville, appointed when Mr. Marrs died.

Moves of the week in the race for governor were the issuance of C. C. McDonald's platform and Jimmie Allred's acceptance of an invitation to open his campaign at Bowie which was his birthplace. Its date was not set. L. H. Middleton, Fort Worth carpenter-contractor, entered the race as an anti-sales tax candidate.

WARFARE IS SEEN IN MILK CONTROVERSY

By United Press
CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Terroristic warfare broke out today between Chicago independent and organized milk producers as the result of a strike that cut off the city's milk supply of fresh milk.

Property was wrecked and milk trucks were hijacked.

While thousands of gallons of market-bound milk was dumped on the highways, the terrorism spread to the streets of the metropolitan area, where a long threatened war between independents and organized producers broke into the open.

The outbreak came as officials of the pure milk association, a cooperative of 18,000 dairymen, sought to effect a compromise in the milk strike.

Chicago police squad cars were ordered to protect trucks delivering milk to restaurants and stores. Reports of half a dozen hijackings were received. Crews smashed windows of independent dairy companies with milk bottles and bricks.

Attempts to ship milk through the blockade resulted in a battle between deputy sheriffs and 200 pickets who halted a milk train in Wisconsin. The officers repulsed the pickets with tear gas.

The wrecking of a milk train near Kenosha, Wis., was narrowly averted by an alert train crew.

Department Answers One Fire Call And Finds Two Fires

The Ranger fire department answered two calls on one run Saturday night when they were called to the Bray house on the Country Club road and, on the way home, discovered another fire on Diaz street, which they extinguished.

Because there was no water at the scene of the first and because the fire had gained such headway before an alarm was turned in, it was impossible to save the house, but quick action on the part of the firemen after they arrived at the scene prevented burning of other houses.

As one truck was returning to the fire station the men on it saw another blaze break out in a house on Diaz street and quickly laid a hose line to the house and put out the fire, only after considerable damage was done, however, as the interior of the house was all ablaze and the roof before it was discovered.

This is the second time in succession that the department has answered one fire alarm and discovered another fire before returning to the station.

By United Press

Adams, shot once through the body died this morning. Penix had been charged with assault with intent to kill and released on $5,000 bond, but after the death of Adams the charge was changed to murder.

French Financier Kills Himself As Capture Nears

By United Press
CHAMONIX, France, Jan. 8.—Alexander S. Stavisky, head of the defunct Credit Municipal Bayonne, whose failure caused a national banking and pawnshop failure rocked the nation and imperiled the cabinet itself by the implication that members of it were involved in his affairs, was trailed to this Alpine region, 45 miles from Geneva, by secret services operatives.

The "Zephyr" complete weighs only 85 tons; the "iron horse," with tender, weighs 359 tons.

Roosevelt Is Supported By Both Parties

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Overwhelming support of President Roosevelt was indicated today in a survey of sentiment among senators and congressmen at the end of the first week of the current session.

Disagreement with certain aspects of his policies was expressed here and there, but democratic and republican alike testified to Mr. Roosevelt's popularity throughout the country. They agreed that to oppose him now would be to fly in the face of public opinion.

Comment of representative members of both houses:

Senate Majority Leader Robinson: "I think the president has justified by the wisdom and discretion of his action, the power given him by congress."

Senate Minority Leader McNary: "It seems to me that we have purchased the semblance of prosperity at an enormous cost."

House Majority Leader Byrnes: "The program is accomplishing the results hoped for."

Minority Leader Snell: "We will support the president so long as we feel his acts are for the country's good."

WORK FOR TEXAS WOMEN NOW ON RELIEF ROLLS

A civil works loan of $1,300,000 to provide work for Texas women now on relief rolls has been authorized by Administrator Harry L. Hopkins. Washington says "the money is available for immediate use." Also, the money will be placed at the disposal of Col. Lawrence Westbrook at Austin, who will allocate it to various civil works branches throughout the state.

Woman has the ballot. There are millions of women wage earners. They are on their own. Why shouldn't work be cut out for those on the relief rolls of the state? Less than two years ago Herbert Hoover, recognized by the leaders of the republican party and the Dr. Mark Sullivan coterie of brilliant economists and historians declared that the poorhouse had been abolished in America and that poverty had been eliminated.

THE LONE EAGLE AND THE ANTI-TRUST LAWS

Borah of Idaho, the Lone Eagle of the crags, always travels alone. He goes half the road and then sidetracks. He says he believes that the anti-trust laws must be resurrected and given drastic enforcement before national recovery is possible.

This is a new civilization. Laws that fit into conditions to they were 40 years ago may have been all right. But laws, like individuals, are born. Men die. Why shouldn't anti-trust laws need revamping or repeal if the moss covered statutes handicap the people or prevent the restoration of the purchasing power of all the people the nation over?

BLOWING OFF STEAM

As congress opens, veiled criticism and attack upon the New Deal administration will be heard clearer than in the NIRA months.

Criticism is salutary: the right to discuss, to criticize and attack is inalienable. What and when to attack is a matter of judgment.

The thing for Americans to remember—and this goes for Texans in more local affairs—is that a certain amount of criticism and opposition is not only healthy but inevitable.

They should be able to evaluate the criticism of national policies and efforts they will hear—not to take it too seriously. In the picayunishness of most of it, they can see reflection of great, real achievements.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

When citizens know how to work together for the advancement of worthy project, that city is sure to grow.

Citizens should never overlook anything that will add to the permanent prosperity, comfort and attractiveness of the home city.

A cheery, hearty welcome to all visitors brings a good feeling toward a city.

A little play is as necessary for the busy man as it is for the children in the schools.

Some men never play.

All work and no play will make a crab out of the best of us. Don't be a crab!

Boosting and working for the home city are a pleasure. You can make it like play. Why not try it? To try it would be to like it, and everybody can do more when they do things they like to do. Boost your home city!

Connally Would Extend Aid For Texas Farmers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Legislation which is intended to make permanent and extend the benefits to farmers of the nation have received from the Democratic "new deal" will be a chief concern of United States Senator Connally, of Texas, one of the administration leaders, in the session of Congress, which got underway here this week.

The administration's farm relief bill, which Connally helped to draft, and for which the Texan has been working vigorously at the last session, has already more than demonstrated its fundamental soundness. Senator Connally has told his friends here. With some amendments to correct inequalities which have developed in its application, and to put upon a permanent basis the relief which the farmers of this country have received, he believes that the new deal will serve as a basis for the recovery of the nation.

The Farm Relief legislation passed by Congress at the last session, and which has been administered by the Roosevelt administration, brought the farmers of my state alone $34,000 for their 1933 crop, and $148,371,000 for the 1932 crop," said Sen. Connally in his arrival in Washington.

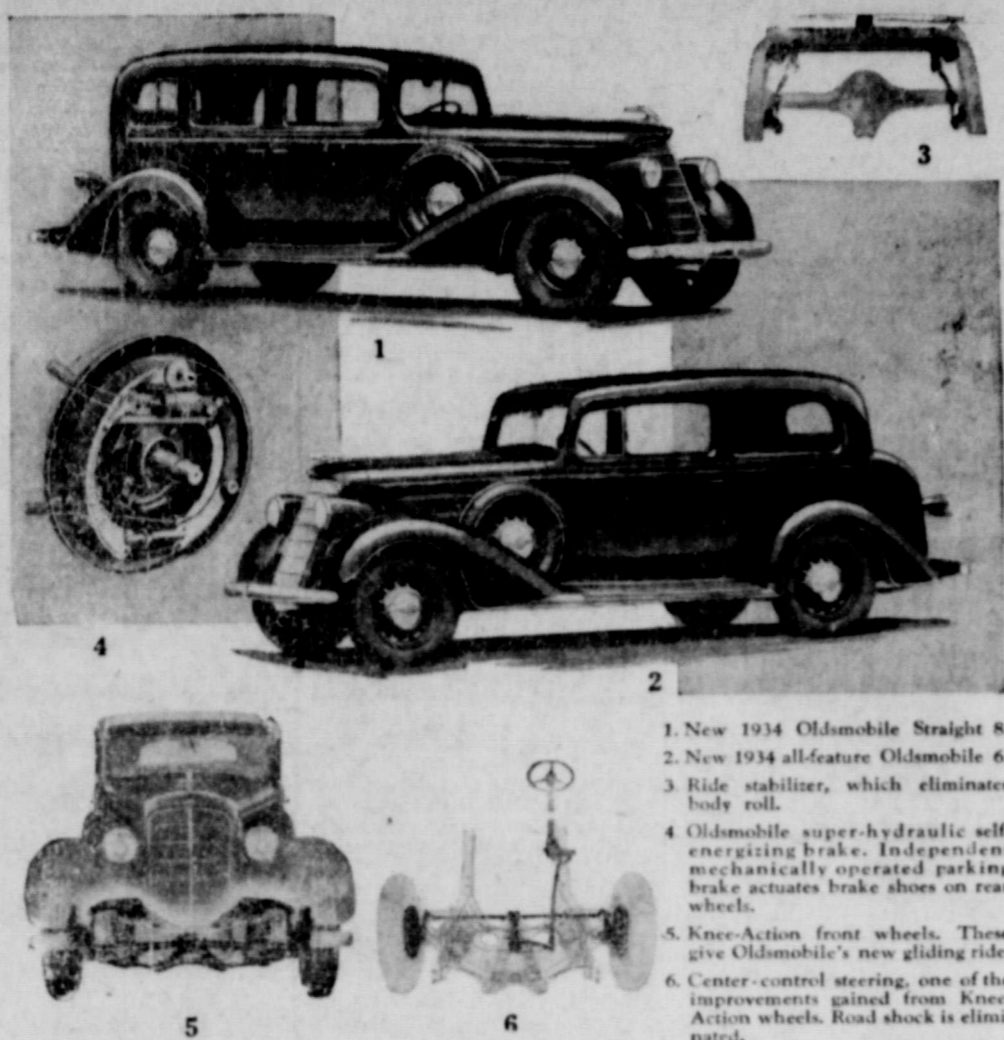

"It has brought and will bring during the next crop year, more millions in similar benefits, from the classification of agriculturists, including corn, wine, sheep and catfish, throughout the nation.

Coupled with the Roosevelt parity prices to the things the farmer's dollar must have, it marks the most successful governmental economic effort in the history of the United States.

It is my intention during the next session to continue to work closely with the administration officials toward securing passage of the necessary amendments which will keep the nation upon the clearly charted course pioneered in the Farm Relief Act, to lead the basic industry back to profitable times for many future years.

Senator Connally advocated a permanent managed currency already sponsored by President Roosevelt as an aid to agriculture during the last session of Congress in the Hoover administration, and he introduced Senate Bill providing for the reduction of gold content of the dollar, establishment of a valuation upon a composite of commodity values.

Cline May Be a Candidate Soon

By United Press
FORT WORTH, Tex.—Still another figure, that of Walter D. Cline, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, casts its shadow over the forthcoming gubernatorial race, now in a scramble between numerous contestants.

Cline, in a visit here, admitted he is thinking of the coming race, but shrugged it off with the declaration that he is too busy with the affairs of taxation, public works and the proposed Texas centennial to give much thought to whether he will run for governor.

"My friends won't let me forget it," the gray-haired Wichita Falls man said.

Cline has been a prominent West Texas figure for a number of years. As president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce he recently bitterly assailed state relief director Lawrence Westbrook for his policies in distributing relief funds, attracting statewide attention to himself.

Should Cline decide to announce for the governorship, he will add to Wichita Falls' long list of candidates which already embraces Attorney General James V. Allred, C. C. McDonald and Tom Hunter.

Texas Not Likely To Join States Having Lotteries

By United Press
AUSTIN.—Texas is not at all likely to join the financially-embarassed states that are considering establishment of lotteries to replenish their depleted treasuries.

This state has both constitutional and legislative declarations against lotteries. Section 47, Article III, of the state constitution directed the legislature to pass laws prohibiting lotteries, gift enterprises or other evasions involving the lottery principle.

Responding to this direction, the state penal code, Article 654, levies a fine of $100 to $1,000 on any person who establishes a lottery and a fine of $10 to $50 on anyone who sells a lottery ticket.

French Seeress Sees 1934 As A Year for Peace

By United Press
By RALPH HEINZEN
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS.—1934 will be a year of peace and returned prosperity, Madame Blanche de Paunas, the French seeress, declared today in a prophecy that a new era of prosperity in the United States would open in September. It will gradually spread through the world.

Madame de Paunas sees for 1934:

Hitler's power unbroken in 1934, but over by 1935.

No political revolutions during the year.

The deaths of one great German general, two famed French statesmen.

The restoration of a King who ran away from his throne.

A great French air catastrophe, a group of airplanes will not return to its point of departure.

A German sea catastrophe.

Madame de Paunas sees no fighting of any sort during the year. Russia is seen in the role of the world's peacemaker, her threat preventing several nations from going to war. She sees Russia making great diplomatic and economic strides, particularly a Franco-Russian trade agreement which will have world importance.

In France there will be a swing even more to the left in domestic politics and France, Britain and Italy will be able to reach a working agreement on European affairs. Italy's affairs will run smoothly with no changes in government. Mussolini will enjoy good health and a peaceful 12 months.

The greatest change she sees is the restoration of the Monarchy in Spain during the year. No king anywhere will lose his job or his throne; all in all, a good year for royalty. An heir to the throne of one of the smallest but most important kingdoms will be born in the spring.

Thurber Has Had A Unique Record

Changing from a mining and industrial center to a ghost of its boom days as one of the largest mining and manufacturing towns in Central West Texas, and then being converted into an enterprising country town with private owned business and good churches, schools and playgrounds is the record of Thurber, a town in the northern part of Erath county hung up for 1933.

It was more than half a century ago that discovery of rich coal mines brought Thurber into the spotlight. Its population bulged to nearly 10,000 persons and the town became the largest in Erath county and the leading industrial center in this section of the state. As workers were imported, the nearby hills became filled with all races and classes of people, and Thurber was branded as a "tough" spot.

That title remained for a long time, too. For in 1904 when every other precinct in the county cast a large vote for country wide prohibition, Thurber voted almost unanimously against the issue, and the town remains the only one in the county that does not have and enforce local option law.

But Thurber has changed. July 1 of this year the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company, promoters of the entire town, moved their offices to Fort Worth, leaving little at Thurber but memory of boom days.

Thurber was not a ghost alone, however. New enterprise started, business houses opened under private ownership. The community became a prosperous rural community with a substantial population. Thoughts of boom days passed and agriculture came to the front.

The boom left Thurber with many fine brick homes, two good churches and a school that is outstanding in the county. In addition, there is a country club that would be the pride of any town in Texas.

A boom town that had boomed over 50 years brushed off the coal dust of the mines and the red sand of the brick gin and became a ghost; then started the trip back to become a substantial community all in one year—1933.

Only the deep, black shafts and the peaks at the mouth of the mines tell the people of Thurber of the boom days when every known language was jabbered in the town among the hills.

Niagara Falls flowed red the other day, probably due to the NRA dumping all the red ink we've had left over from the depression.

Ten Years Younger

There is probably one statement we hear around the Crazy Water Hotel more than any other. We hear it just as our smiling guests are shaking hands with Mr. Love, and saying goodbye. It usually ends up with: "I feel ten years younger!"

What do they mean? Well, they might be thinking about the climate. Here in Texas, sunshine is no novelty—but have you ever tried our sunshine here? We don't have any copyright on fresh air—but have you ever stretched your lungs over our mountain air at sunrise on a nippy winter morning? And there are plenty of ways to enjoy this climate. We're still playing golf in our shirt-sleeves. And the bass have been taking flies. And the first few days of the duck season, at day-break every morning it sounded like a war.

All these things are right at the city's doorstep. It may be our guests after all, however, are thinking about the wonderful relaxation, stimulation, youth-ification in a course of Crazy Mineral Baths. In giving their bodies a good overhauling, you might say, inside and out, with Crazy Mineral Water—Nature's perfect eliminant.

Come to the Home of Crazy Water. Throw off about ten years of unnecessary age. Go home with an appetite like a timber wolf. And what will this cost you in dollars and cents? Listen:

Rates by the week (our "Treatment Plan") include a comfortable outside room, Crazy Mineral Baths, as much Crazy Water as you can drink, your meals (and GOOD cooking)—in fact, all the comforts of a first class modern hotel—for as low as $20 per week single, $35 double.

If that isn't enough to make you drop everything and come, write us for more. Better still just come and see!
