Demobilization of CWA Planned by Hopkins

KEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

with BILL MAYES

Although he mentioned many things of importance, Frank H. Bushick put his finger directly on one of the things that has more effect on the welfare of the northern portion of the county when he said that petty jealousy between the towns of Ranger, Eastland and Cisco was doing much harm by "sitting the dirty linen" of their sister towns in complaints sent to Austin.

Mr. Bushick was referring, specifically, to the work being carried on by the CWA in this county, but his remark could be carried much farther and applied to practically everything that goes on in the county.

Each town—and by referring to the town we are referring to a good many of the citizens of the town because it is the citizens that make the town, not the town that makes the citizens—each town has formed a habit of trying to work for that town alone and is jealous of the things accomplished by the other towns in the county.

No doubt it has often been said in Eastland, "Don't let Ranger or Cisco know anything about these plans or they might start something of the kind and get part of the benefits," and no doubt the same thing has been said in Cisco on a number of occasions and in Ranger too many times.

Thorough cooperation between the three towns on any project, whether it be for Eastland, Cisco or Ranger, would do much to build up all of the towns and continued jealousy for fear Eastland might get something that Ranger and Cisco cannot get harms not only Eastland but, indirectly, the other two towns. For instance, if Eastland could get an industry started it would employ a number of people or furnish an outlet for some of their products, the prosperity promoted would be felt, indirectly, in both Cisco and Ranger and in many instances if the three towns would co-operate they could do 100 times as much good for the entire county as the three towns fighting independently and each trying to keep the other from participating.

Mr. Bushick could have, if he had been of a mind, made a long talk on that one subject alone and if he could convey the idea to all three towns and make them all see it in that light, he would be able to accomplish much more than he will be able to do with the CWA. (Continued on page 7)

WALTER MEIER WILL SPEAK AT RANGER LODGE

Dr. Harry A. Logsdon, exalted ruler of the Ranger Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, is anticipating a large attendance of Elks from over this section of the state tonight when Walter F. Meier, grand exalted ruler, pays his official visit to the lodge. Not only will Elks be present from the surrounding towns, but high officials of Elksdom will be present from as far away as Temple, Brenham and El Paso, Dr. Logsdon announced today.

Three past state presidents of the State Elks association will be present as well as the present president and a large number of district deputies and past district deputies.

H. S. Rubenstein, president of the state association, has sent word that he will be present at the meeting as have Col. P. L. Downs and Henry E. Holmes, both of Temple, and Charles Mangold of Dallas, all past presidents, as well as George McCann of El Paso, district deputy of Texas, west, and Exalted Ruler Christie of the El Paso lodge.

Eastland, Cisco and Breckenridge will be represented by large delegations of Elks headed by Earle Francis of Eastland, R. C. Mason of Breckenridge and Jake Benman of Cisco, exalted rulers of their lodges. They will be accompanied by B. S. Huey of Cisco, a past district deputy and secretary of the Cisco lodge and N. J. Nanny of Breckenridge, a past district deputy. One of the largest gatherings of Elks ever assembled in this section of the state is anticipated when the grand exalted ruler speaks tonight at 8 o'clock.

Walter F. Meier is one of the most devoted members of a fraternal organization ever to visit Ranger. There are about 1,350 Elks lodges in the United States and since his election he has been constantly on the go, visiting these lodges. Since last July he has been at his home in Seattle only five days and probably will not be back until near the end of his term of office. He has travelled thousands of miles, making his rounds of the clubs, averaging about four meetings a day in order to visit nearly every lodge in the United States.

Hoover, Jr., Hits Back at Probe

Vigorous denial is made by Herbert Hoover, Jr., above, that he had any part in attempting to influence air mail contracts, now under Senate probe, and he disclosed that he sought to resign his aviation post in 1930, to prevent baseless accusations against him and his father.

SEVEN INMATES ESCAPE FROM KANSAS PRISON

LANSING, Kan.—Two of seven convicts who escaped from the state prison, kidnaped Louis Dresser, teacher at the Mission school, south of Maywood, it was reported today. Miss Ruth Baker, teacher at the Island Creek school said she saw two rough looking men speed south with Dresser in his maroon coupe.

LANSING, Kan., Jan. 19.—Jim Clark and Bob Brady, desperate life termers, overpowered a substitute guard and led five other prisoners over the wall of the Kansas state prison today under fire of guards.

National guard units at Coffeyville and Fort Scott, Kan., were ordered out by the adjutant general to join the search for the fugitives, believed heading south for outlaw retreats near the Oklahoma border.

Brady and Clark took keys and night sticks away from Clyde Deer, substitute guard, as he superintended the morning sanitary routine at cellhouse No. 2, where the most desperate criminals are confined.

They then freed Frank Delmar, 30; Tommy McMahon, 22; Fred Cady, 33; Charles McArthur, 29, and Benjamin Young, 19.

Deer was locked in a cell with the other prisoners.

The convicts then fled out of the cellhouse with a crude ladder, made earlier in their cells from scraps of lumber and fire hose from the cellhouse.

They mounted the 25-foot wall and lowered themselves down with the hose. It was the third prison break for Brady and Clark. Both took part in the Memorial day break with Harvey Bailey here last year and both earlier escaped from the Oklahoma penitentiary at McAlester.

Manufacturers' Show Planned In Texas

FORT WORTH, July 19.—A meeting of heads of the three regional Texas Chambers of Commerce will be called in the next 10 days to organize a state public works planning board, Clifford Jones, regional PWA advisor, announced here today.

Jones, who returned from Washington, said that public officials in Washington requested the board which would supervise plans for state highways, scenic drives and other projects.

Officials are confident, Jones said, congress will make additional public works appropriations.

Henman-Bronson In Four Round Go At Fights Monday

Bill Henman will trade punches with James Bronson in a four-round boxing bout next Monday night at the Elks club.

Both of these boys are Ranger High boys and the fur is expected to fly when they meet in the center of the ring.

In the main event Verns "Kid" Lewis, young German from Eau Claire, Wis., will match holds with Leonard Gustafson, clever wrestler from St. Paul, Minn.

The semi-final bouts together Herb Wakeland, Waxahachie, and Otis Hedrick, two fast middleweights.

Tires of Flight; Back to Prison

"The most-hunted woman in the country," Mrs. Irene McCann, weary of dodging the law, is pictured after she walked into a Chicago police station and gave up, asking to be sent back to Missouri state prison, from where she escaped the second time in Dec., 1932. Mrs. McCann was given 10 years in 1931 for aiding her husband in murder of a Joplin, Mo., jailer.

Poison and Traps Shipped to Texas Get Rid of Rats

AUSTIN.—One-fifth of the world's present supply of red squill for poisoning and 172,500 traps have been shipped to Texas for the extermination of rats.

"The Red Piper of Hamelin," declared the state department of health, "will have nothing on the joint federal project for extermination of rats and control of typhus fever."

The state health department is interested in the rat flea and other parasites that cause typhus fever. The U. S. biological survey is interested in the economic loss caused by rodents. Both have combined forces for the destruction of rats in typhus infected areas of the state.

BLOOD STAINS FOUND IN CAR BREMER DROVE

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 19.—Discovery of blood stains in the car from which Edward Bremer was dragged by kidnapers has chilled the banker's family with dread that he is seriously injured or dead, the United Press learned today as the ransom for payment of $200,000 ransom was awaited.

The gruesome index to the abductor's desperate character was found shortly after the abandoned car was discovered late Wednesday.

The chief of police learned of the car's recovery and on examination found it covered with blood.

Two large splashes and a smeary streak crimsoned the front cushion and floor of the machine. The indication investigators gained was that Bremer had been beaten about the head and dragged into another machine.

National Guards Are Mobilized In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 19.—A detachment of the Louisiana national guard was mobilized today on order of Gov. O. K. Allen, a member of the Sen. Huey P. Long political machine, presumably for use to forestall efforts of local officials seeking to investigate charges of payroll padding in state offices.

The 400 soldiers, mustered into active service, were issued side arms and tear gas bombs and were standing by awaiting the orders of the adjutant general.

The mobilization was the newest move in the bitter local election campaign in which two factions seek to break the Long machine.

Simmons Defends Present Plan of Handling Convicts

AUSTIN, Jan. 19.—Lee Simmons, general manager of Texas Simons, today defended the plan of putting life termers on prison farms and announced the policy will be continued.

"Every man in the prison is alike to us. If they are too bad for us to handle there might as well be no prison," he said.

A policy of putting bad men in the walls at Huntsville while minor law violators and other minor offenders were put at hard work would be demoralizing, Simmons said.

More chance aided the escape of Raymond Hamilton, though a well laid plot for the escape had been made, Simmons revealed.

Richardson Trial Nearing a Close

GRAHAM, Texas, Jan. 19.—The state of Texas moved today in its attempt to convince the Young county jury that Charles Richardson, former mayor of Olney, should pay with his life for the fatal shooting of his son, Elga.

Richardson's trial for murder in the New Year's day shooting which climaxed a family quarrel, neared the end. The defense rested late yesterday and the state began introduction of rebuttal testimony.

Monetary Bill Changes Planned

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Important changes to the administration monetary bill will be offered, it was indicated today by Chairman Sommers of New York, of the house coinage committee, after a conference with President Roosevelt.

Administrator Rindgold Named As Administrator For the County

E. A. Rindgold, who was named as county administrator at a meeting of the county CWA board at Eastland Thursday.

Two large splashes and a smeary streak crimsoned the front cushion and floor of the machine. The indication investigators gained was that Bremer had been beaten about the head and dragged into another machine.

E. A. Rindgold of Ranger was named Eastland county relief administrator at a meeting of the County Relief Control Thursday, to succeed Walter Gilbert of Carbon, who resigned. Mr. Rindgold has also been recommended as administrator for Eastland county CWA. This recommendation is to go to the authorities at Austin for confirmation.

Mr. Gilbert, who was both Relief and CWA administrator, tendered his resignation to the County Relief Board, of which Earl Conner of Eastland is chairman. After due consideration the resignation was accepted, the board expressing the greatest confidence in Mr. Gilbert's honesty and integrity.

Mr. Rindgold's appointment was said by county board members to have the approval of the Eastland county commissioner's court.

Mr. Rindgold, who was a member of the county board, resigned that position. W. D. Conway of Ranger has been recommended for Rindgold's place on the county board.

The board as it will be when Conway and Luther McCrea of Cisco are finally installed, will be: Earl Conner, Eastland, chairman; E. R. Yarbrough, Carbon; Frank Kirk, Gorman; Luther McCrea, Cisco, and W. D. Conway, Ranger. No member of the county board draws any compensation whatsoever.

Handley Murder Trial Will Start On Next Monday

FORT WORTH, Jan. 19.—The Handley triple murder case—Tarrant county's most sensational and gruesome slaying in recent years—today appeared to be headed for trial Monday.

Unless something unforeseen intervened, O. D. Stevens, alleged master mind of the $72,000 postal robbery here last February and the triple slaying in July will be the first to go to trial.

One of the three indictments against Stevens and one against W. D. May, alleged Stevens lieutenant, are both set for trial but defense attorneys were said to be agreeable to trying Stevens first.

Special venues of 200 for each defendant have been summoned.

Directors of Closed Oklahoma Bank Released On Bond

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 19.—Twenty-five directors of the closed Exchange Trust company, including Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil man, were named in warrants issued here today charging embezzlement.

The complaints were filed against the board members of the institution late yesterday. Three of the board members surrendered last night, posted bonds of $4,000 each and were released for hearing Feb. 5.

MILLION MEN TO LOSE WORK FEBRUARY 15

Rolls To Be Reduced By Two Million Monthly To May First.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The civil works administration contemplated a drastic demobilization among its workers starting Feb. 15, which substantially means dropping 1,000,000 men every two weeks, Civil Works Administrator Hopkins said today.

Hopkins said funds were on hand to meet the CWA payroll at least up to Feb. 10. Any activities of the CWA after Feb. 15, he said, will depend on whether congress appropriates $350,000,000 as requested by the president.

Hopkins repeated a previous statement that it is planned to continue CWA until May 1, 1934. He pointed out, however, that by that time CWA should be entirely "out of business."

Hopkins said in order to conserve rapidly diminishing funds, an order has been issued making a reduction of from 30 to 24 hours in the CWA work week mandatory in all communities of more than 2,500 population. He said also that in all rural areas under 2,500 population the work week must be reduced to 15 hours.

AUSTIN, Jan. 19.—Thousands of men in Texas were jobless today as the state civil works program shrunk with emergency orders from Harry Hopkins. Road projects, constituting nearly half of the 7,000 CWA projects, suffered most of the shrinkage. Hopkins instructed CWA headquarters here "to buy no more materials and make no more commitments for purchase of materials without approval from his office."

Other emergency regulations banned CWA hiring of teams and trucks. Only in those counties of Texas where political subdivisions are furnishing trucks and purchasing gravel for road improvements may the projects continue.

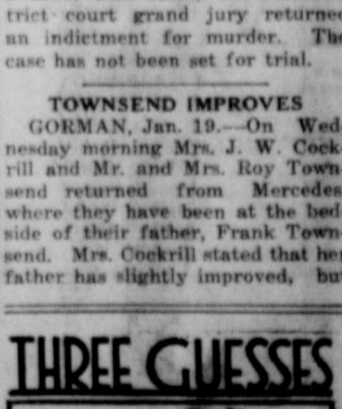

Civil works in Texas provided 6,172,000 man-hours last week. The new schedule will reduce that figure more than one-third, and affects about 245,000 CWA workers, according to headquarters here. The exact number of men who lost CWA jobs through the new regulation was not known.

Sam Gardner Makes Bond In Negro Slaying

Sam Gardner, formerly of near Cisco but who now resides in West Texas, made bond in the sum of $3,000 on a murder charge connecting him with the shooting of Ira Lashley, a negro, at Cisco on Dec. 20, last. Gardner was first charged with assault with intent to murder but when Lashley died a short time later, the 91st district court grand jury returned an indictment for murder. The case has not been set for trial.

Business and City Directories Being Planned By Times

Members of the staff of the Ranger Times began work this morning on a complete business directory for the city of Ranger, which is to run in the Weekly Times each Friday morning and in the Sunday Times each week for six months. This directory will cover every phase of business in Ranger and is expected to list practically every business in the city.

This directory will carry important information of the city since its founding.

At the instance of the Retail Merchants association, the Chamber of Commerce and several of the leading business houses and oil companies of this section, plans have already been started for a complete city directory, to be worked up by The Times Publishing company, listing every resident of the city and all who live in the environs of the city, listed with their address and business.

The demand for the directory grew out of the fact that Ranger has not had an adequate listing since the directory of 1929, which is now out of date and is not suitable for the use for which it was intended at the time. The last directory contained listings of residents of Eastland, Cisco and Ranger, while the one being worked planned at this time will be for Ranger only and will contain the name and street address of every citizen of the city and will also reach as far as Oden.

The co-operation of the public is needed of those two directories are to be 100 per cent correct.

"The Prizefighter And The Lady" Has Film and Sport Stars

Myrna Loy, Max Baer, Primo Carnera, Jack Dempsey, Walter Huston and Otto Kruger comprise the distinguished group of actors and sporting personalities gathered together by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for "The Prizefighter and the Lady," a gripping story of the prize ring which comes to the Arcadia Saturday for one day only. Miss Loy, last seen in "Night Flight," and "Penthouse," has recently established herself as one of the most popular and outstanding of the screen's feminine stars. Baer, challenger-up for the heavyweight championship of the world, and generally acknowledged as the most colorful fighter in the prize ring today, makes his first screen appearance in this picture and has been called a virile exponent of the new vogue in leading men.

Carnera, heavyweight champion of the world, also faces the cameras for the first time in his 10-round fight with Baer in "The Prizefighter and the Lady." The giant heavyweights' battle with his challenger before the time set for their real fight is without precedent and has aroused the interest of the entire world of sports. Their film bout is refereed by none other than the famous Dempsey.

Walter Huston plays the role of the booze-ridden, down-at-the-heel fight manager who recognizes in Baer championship material and trains him for his fights. The part, "natural" for Huston, marks another step forward in this actor's brilliant career. Prominent roles are also filled by Otto Kruger as the racketeer, Vince Barnett, Robert McWade, Muriel Evans and Jean Howard.

Scores of internationally famous ex-champions and their contemporaries appear in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature to add realism to the great prize fight sequences. Among these great fighters of yesterday are Jess Willard, James Jeffries, Frank Moran, Joe Rivers and Billy Papke.

Simple Hymns Hard For Fine Organists

BOSTON.—Few organists can play a hymn simply and with feeling, according to John W. Farrar, who has been choirmaster at St. Ann's Church, Dorchester, for nearly 54 years.

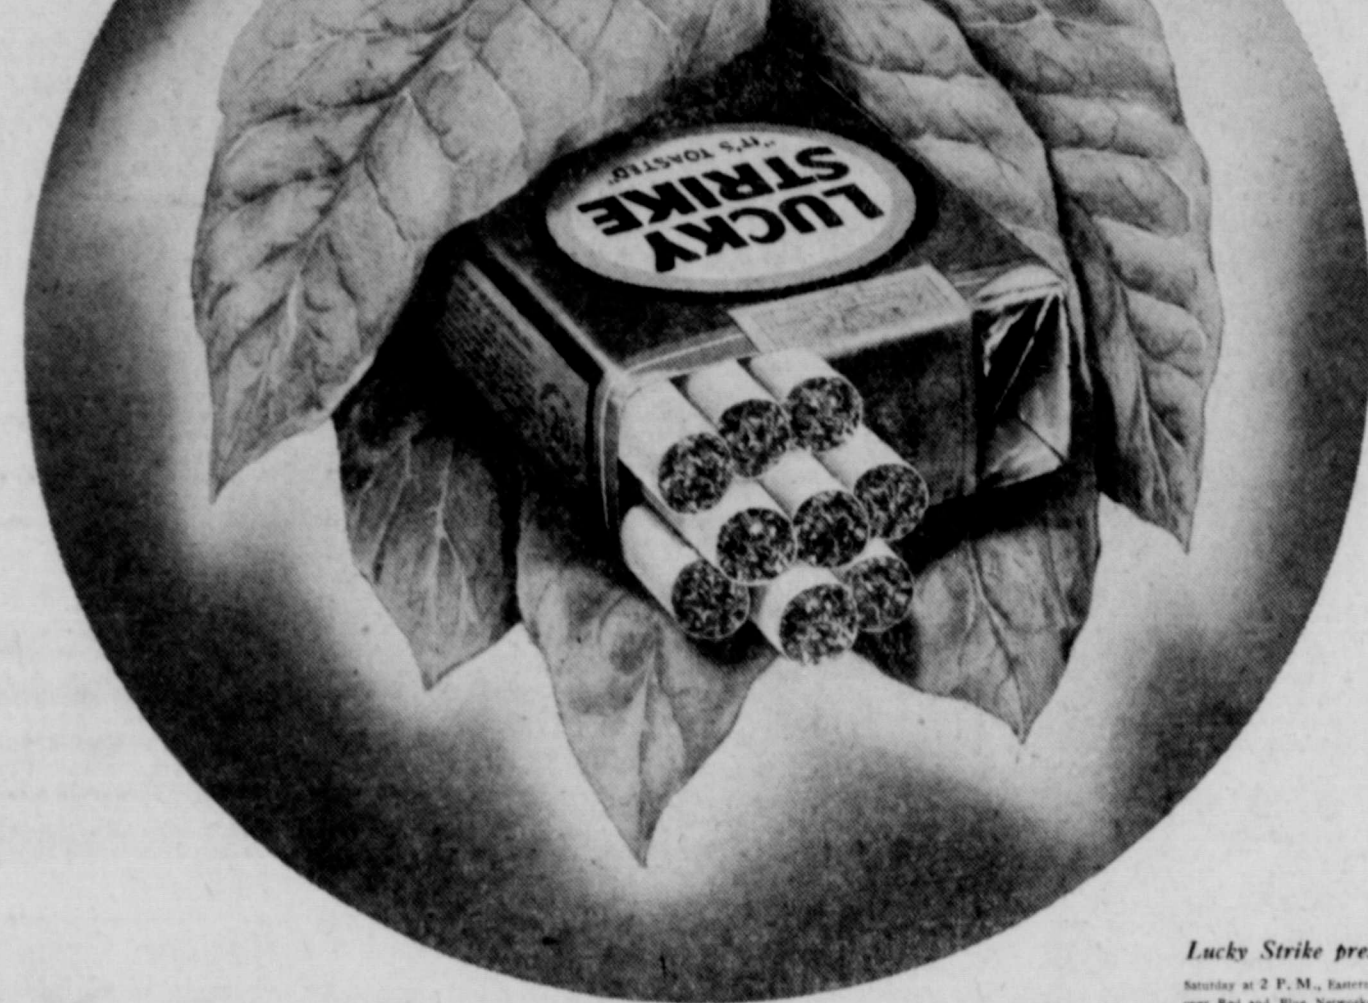

"They know Bach and Schubert," says he, "but when it comes to a fine old hymn like 'Jesus, Lover of My Soul,' they jerk it out as if it were jazz music."

WANTED—A WOODEN LEG

BLUFFFIELD, W. Va.—Workers at the Bluefield CWA headquarters were surprised when a one-legged man came into the office and asked for a new wooden leg. He said that he had heard a carload of artificial limbs had been shipped in by the federal government for free distribution.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

JESUS BEGINS HIS MINISTRY Text: Matt. 4:12-25

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Jan. 21.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of the Congregationalist

The ministry of Jesus began, as the great ministries have begun, with preaching and the winning of disciples.

Possibly it was not preaching in the modern and conventional use of the term, but it would be well to call our modern preaching could like the simple, sincere, and earnest proclamation of truth in which great prophets and teachers have been impelled to speak forth their message.

Every man is a preacher who lives the experiences of truth in his own heart and life, and the most effective preaching always has been the simple witness to the message of the spirit.

The preaching of Jesus was eloquent both in word and example. The men who were drawn to him were drawn by his life and personality. Even when they did not understand all his meaning, they realized that a new glory of truth was in all that he had to say.

Whether man has wandered far away from the path of moral rectitude, or has allowed his soul to become dull and undisciplined and a prey to less worthy motives and ends, the call to repentance is one that good men always have heeded.

The vision of a better world, as was the vision of this Kingdom of Heaven to the disciples of Jesus, is the first of all in the individual heart.

Whether through organization, or through spiritual influence, no prophet or teacher ever has accomplished anything who stood alone. The power of Jesus was manifested in no higher way than in the winning to him of the men upon whom he established his church and his Kingdom in the world of reality.

When a man has proclaimed the truth and has found someone who will listen, he has laid the foundations of something great and significant in the world.

It was the pre-eminence of Jesus to begin in that way the work of establishing the Kingdom of God through the fellowship of the gospel in which the church had its foundations.

INCREASING BANK DEPOSITS SIGN OF PROSPERITY

"Increasing bank deposits the nation over" is said to be a significant sign of the return of prosperity. On Dec. 27, according to the statements of all federal reserve member banks in 90 leading cities, they had total deposits of $10,030,000 "virtually duplicating the total on Dec. 28, 1932." Speaking of the significance of the comparative showing, the financial analysts say that the reduction in deposits during the early months of 1933 had been restored. All reports showed increases. The Bank of America of California made a very large increase of demonstration. Kansas City federal reserve banks were there with very gratifying increases. Detroit banks, or rather the leading banks of the automobile city, speaking through officials said that the institutions had about three times normal business. Three of the Detroit banks reorganized since the coming of the Roosevelt administration "noted a surge of new accounts." Oklahoma City national banks in a consolidated statement reported an increase of $15,000,000 in customers' deposits. Texas national banks made the same gratifying reports of increased deposits and heavy business during the month of December.

Looking backward to the December of 1932 with its dismal future proclaimed by the leaders of financial and industrial thought the lesson is learned that there has been a remarkable change in the minds of men in the 18 American commonwealths. There is a new year on. There are tremendous problems to be solved or partially solved and individual work is cut out for all who are engaged in the activities of life whether as employers of labor or wage earners on the payroll—or the payrolls of the government.

SEN. CLINT SMALL AND HIS COMING CAMPAIGN FOR GOVERNOR

Sen. Clint Small from away out in Northwest Texas is a capital visitor. This is what he said to the press correspondents: "In March I will make formal announcement of my candidacy. My platform will be given to the Texas public. In constructing it or shaping it I shall not attempt to please everybody. My campaign plans have been hammered into shape. In the early springtime I shall begin a speaking campaign and carry my message to the democratic voters of the commonwealth from the foothills of the Rockies to the Gulf of Mexico. That's—for the present at least." Next.

Mith so many politicians working overtime trying to reduce rates, raise taxes and getting city and national government into business in open competition with its citizens, the millions of people who have their savings invested in utility securities have plenty to worry about. Looks as though they were the forgotten people.

A home is one of life's greatest treasures. In it are centered the thoughts and cherished ambitions of a lifetime of effort.

If a whole lot of people in this country talked less and worked more prosperity for all would come quicker.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK
 BY EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

GAULT MacGOWAN, managing editor of the Trinidad Guardian, Port of Spain, Trinidad, B. W. I., says: "Well, this is what one man told me about advertising: 'In the first place, newspaper advertising is too expensive. 'Secondly, it is no good doing anything until commodity prices recover. 'Meanwhile, I am much too busy to think up any new copy. 'Anyway, everybody knows that I always stock the best goods, and that my store is the best place to buy everything. 'Besides, I've spent my appropriation for the year—most of it in charity bazaars, programmes and hand-bills. 'Then my partner has gone off on one of these crank cruises the papers are shouting about now-a-days. I can't do anything 'till he comes back. 'And oh! there isn't anybody in the store anyway, so what is the use of advertising? 'I'll think about it if you call back after stock-taking. 'Anyway, I'm just going to put up the shutters and go home. 'D—the depression! 'P. S.—When I called back for more dope on advertising I found the shutters up and the bankruptcy trustee doing the stock-taking. He gave me a 'full page ad.'"

Buckwheat Cakes Are No Longer Really American

CHICAGO.—The buckwheat cake, traditionally American, has been dispassionately removed from the list of American institutions by science. Dr. Berthold Laufer, curator of Anthropology at the Field Museum, has traced buckwheat back to Asia and has shown that it was cultivated there for at least 2,000 years. "The Tibetans and other mountain tribes related to them," Dr. Laufer says, "were the original buckwheat raisers and the first buckwheat cake eaters. They produced a complete buckwheat flour complex, grinding the flour into cakes, gruel and beer." Even the straw of the plant was utilized as fodder for their primitive huts in the winter.

St. Louis Seeks Fund For Memorial

ST. LOUIS.—A national memorial to the empire builders of the Mississippi Valley, to cost between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 is proposed by a group of St. Louisians who hope to obtain federal aid for the project. The memorial, proposed for the river front area—part of the oldest section settled here—is being planned for a district near historic old Eads Bridge. Thomas Jefferson, the outstanding figure in the Louisiana Purchase, would be one of the most prominent in the group of statues. Two colonades, each about a block long, standing parallel is to house other important memorials.

Married Flirts

EMIN HERE TODAY
 GYPSY MABEL and TOM WEAVER are married the same day as LILA HOULING and LINDA BISS. Lila expects to live in Italy, where Gypsy intends to go on with her job teaching in a settlement school. After a long time from her honeymoon in Europe Lila invites the Weavers to dinner. Through the agency of the MABEL MARRIOTT, who once asked Gypsy to marry him. He shows her with attentions which she accepts because she is jealous of Tom. After the party Tom and Gypsy quarrel, but peace is later restored.

Shopping for Christmas, Gypsy meets Broughton who offers her a job cataloging his library and gives her an advance payment of $20. She uses the money to buy Tom's Christmas present, a watch. Tom and Gypsy spend Christmas at the Marshall home. Through the agency Gypsy is troubled by the fact that Tom does not know about her work for Broughton and that if he knew he would be sure to disapprove.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY!
 CHAPTER XIV

MRS. WEAVER was expected. Mr. Broughton's man-servant said, quietly. There was something about his matter-of-factness that calmed Gypsy's nerves. Of course it was all right! Why shouldn't she work for Marko? He knew she had dabbled in library work before she had gone into the Settlement.

What she had expected, exactly, in the way of a reception, she could not say. Only this quiet, high-ceiled room, with its dark Bokhara rugs, its wood paneling, its shelf on shelf of volumes, was distinctly reassuring. She gave the man her hat and coat and gloves. She ran her hand over her unruly curls. Gypsy looked rather like a little girl today in her dark green jersey frock with its demure white collar. Then she forgot herself, her surroundings, her nervousness, in the serious business of her task.

It was fascinating. Marko's books themselves were that! She lost herself in the absorbing work. She climbed the ladder a dozen times. She sat at the typewriter the man had disclosed, cleverly hidden in one corner of the mammoth walnut desk. She listed and rubbed out and listed again.

She was aroused by a footfall on the deep rug. Looking up, startled at the interruption, she saw Marko. "My dear child!" His gentle tone betokened surprise, and Gypsy flushed.

"I quite forgot the time," Gypsy stammered, her eyes on the crystal clock face nearby. It was half past five! And she had meant to leave at five at the very latest. She had said something casual to Tom about shopping! But she had meant to be home early enough to get dinner. Dinner was "off" tonight. Now she would be too late.

"Ah, you mustn't run away like this," Marko protested, mildly. "Rates will shake us up a cocktail... or you may have tea, if you'd prefer."

Gypsy's one thought was to rush away, to get back to the apartment. Yet she didn't want to offend Marko. She said something vague about a dinner engagement.

"Oh, quite, quite," drawled Marko. "Another time, perhaps."

He wasn't in the least the stary type. Gypsy reflected, pulling on her little hat. He was just kind, friendly, generous. She would have to have an understanding with him about the $50 though. They would have to come to some entirely businesslike arrangement.

But when she spoke of this, Marko waved it aside. "Nonsense," he boomed. "That was merely a retainer. If you do the work as well as

Young Americans Are Pleased With Forestation Army

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Texas.—Young Americans who enrolled in the tree army, most of them with no previous acquaintance with non-commissioned officers of the United States army, have been greatly pleased with the soldiers who were assigned to duty in the work camps of the civilian conservation corps. For, instead of a hard-boiled task-master, the tree soldiers found the average army sergeant to be a hard-working, competent, likeable American who not only knows and does his job thoroughly, but knows how to get along agreeably with their men doing it.

How well the tree soldiers liked the sergeants assigned to their camps has been indicated by the tributes and parting gifts with which they showered the non-coms upon their return to their army posts in December. Typical of the feeling in many other camps are these comments by "Hank" Atkinson, a leader at the Lufkin CCC camp, on Sergeants H. H. Epley and Barton E. Robeson, of the Ninth Infantry, at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, upon the completion of their duty at the Lufkin camp.

"Sergeant Epley's duty was that of first sergeant, or, as he is known in army circles, 'top kick.' Hundreds of minor details must be done by a 'top kick,' but his success depends primarily on his ability in working men and making them like to work. Sergeant Epley not only could do this, but he was a gentleman and a loyal, trustworthy man. Epley did not work in the forests, but many camp jobs called for his personal supervision and his men respected and obeyed his orders with a smile. He was that kind of a guy. He will leave a gap in the organization, his unselfish, untiring efforts to teach the boys discipline and to make them happy and contented will be missed by all the camp.

"Mess Sergeant Barton Robeson, who has seen 16 years of army life in almost every post in the country and in several foreign countries, had the duty of feeding 200 husky boys three hot meals a day. He performed his work in a most satisfactory way, and his vacancy in the kitchen will be felt in the stomach."

As parting gifts and tokens of friendship, the members of the Lufkin camp presented Sergeant Epley with a gold ring and watch chain and to Sergeant Robeson, who had only recently married a Lufkin girl, they gave sets of chinaware and silverware. The camp commander presented the gifts for the company at the morning assembly.

When the tree army was organized last May, each CCC company was assigned four experienced enlisted men to serve as first sergeant, first cook, mess sergeant and supply sergeant and clerk under the company's two regular army officers. These men have been trained for similar positions in the army, and in addition performing their duties in camp they set about training enrollees to take their places. Although many sergeants had already been relieved earlier, when the deadline for replacement was reached on Dec. 15, there were still non-commissioned officers belonging to the Second Division at Fort Sam Houston who were out CCC duty.

Highland Park's Biggest Cop Has Outgrown All Jobs
By United Press
DETROIT—The big problem confronting Highland Park police officials is Sgt. Glenn H. Pike, the man who has outgrown every job in the department. Sgt. Pike weighs 348 pounds, although he was only a 160-pound stripling when he joined the department 19 years ago. The officer expanded on his job throughout the years and as a desk sergeant at headquarters he broke three swivel chairs in six weeks. He was placed on a beat, but "walked on" 10 pounds. Chief Dan Patch transferred him to a radio squad car. There was no room for the squad when Pike answered a call. In desperation, Patch moved his problem into the identification bureau after engineers had supervised the construction of the bureau chairs.

Hotfoot Campaigning In Race For Governor Already Started

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN.—Hotfoot campaigning in the 1934 governor's race already is under way. Candidates C. C. McDonald and James V. Altred both have visited the lower Rio Grande valley. Both are apparently well pleased with their prospects there. Candidate Tom Hunter will begin active campaigning Feb. 1.

Candidate Clint C. Small is delaying the opening of his campaign for financial reasons. A $10,000 limit is put upon a candidate's expenditure. From past experience Small knows that it is difficult to meet urgent demands of the closing days of a governor's race without overstepping the law's limit.

It will be particularly difficult for the Amarillo senator in the 1934 campaign for he proposes to have regional headquarters rather than a single state headquarters to maintain. As now planned, he will have four such offices.

This method avoids jealousies. Candidates who choose any one section of the state for headquarters come to be looked upon as the candidate of that area. Rivalry between Fort Worth and Dallas has led some candidates to avoid choosing either.

C. C. McDonald has stepped around geographical difficulties by placing his headquarters at Austin. Austin has another advantage, he says. During the course of a political campaign persons from all parts of the state have occasion to visit Austin on business with state departments. They thus have an opportunity to visit his headquarters without the expense of a special trip. McDonald with the active backing of James E. Ferguson also puts himself in easy touch with the former governor's callers. He is also in the same location he had as director of the beer and repeal ratification campaign.

Two additional announcements are expected in connection with the governor's race shortly. State Democratic Chairman Maury Hughes, Dallas, and Wright C. Morrow, Houston, were both still considering at last report. Morrow on a recent trip to the state capital admitted he had not decided. Hughes is being feted over the state by the Young Democrats. If he runs, the candidateless platform issued by John Henry Kirby, elderly sponsor of the Young Democrats, probably will find Hughes planted on it.

Small, Hunter and Lieut. Gov. Edgar E. Witt are each conducting a quiet contact campaign while marking time on open cam-

At Columbia Theatre Theatre Sunday

Joan Blondell and Glenda Farrell, two of the screen's most attractive blondes, team up in "Havana Widows," First National's riotous story of two gold digging queens on the make for millionaires. The picture will be shown at the Columbia Theatre Sunday, and is the picture chosen to reopen the Columbia on Sundays. Others in the cast include Guy Kibbee, Allen Jenkins, Frank McHugh, Ruth Donnelly and Lyle Talbot.

This beauty develops 715 horsepower, which is ample authority. However, before the year is out, both leading engine builders, Wright and Prtley and Whitney, will place on the market double-row radial engines of 14 cylinders each, that will step up the power to 740. More power, with less frontal resistance, means that by late in the year the airplane designers will be ready to try the new motors on their faster ships.

All of which makes it appear that whereas 1934 will bring no startling changes, the year following will see airplane cruising speeds well above the 200 m.p.h. mark.

Total deposits increased 8.3 per cent, but demand deposits increased 1 per cent, the decline in loans on securities being considerably greater than that on other types of collateral. Government securities owned increased 47 per cent over the previous December.

Forecasts Cruising Speeds of 200 Miles Per Hour or Over in 1935

By SWANEE TAYLOR
United Press Aviation Writer
NEW YORK.—Now that all post-mortems on dear departed Anno Domini 1933 have been concluded, it is quite in order to look into the future and see what can be expected during the coming happier year. No line of human endeavor lends itself more safely to forecast than aviation. Professional aeronautical men, currently in step with developments, can all ways predict right down to the last mile-per-hour increase in speed that may be expected. Likewise, each and every improvement in design is foreseeable at least one calendar year in advance.

The public, of course, is mostly interested in the increase in flying speeds. Therefore, a glance at the various models in use today will show what steps in that direction most likely will be taken during 1934.

Of the three major trans-continental air lines, two will stand with what they now have, although American Airways, with new and improved Curtiss Condors, will step up their cruising speed from 135 m.p.h. to 145 m.p.h. This ten mile per hour increase is due to the new Curtiss controllable-pitch propeller. United Airlines will continue trying to improve their twin-engine Boeings, but it is unlikely that the factory will attempt to go beyond the 160 m.p.h. cruising speed.

On the Transcontinental-Western Air line the biggest advance in recent years will be made early in the Spring, when the new twin-engine Douglas airliners will be put into service. These planes are capable of leaving the ground, with full load, with one engine completely dead and climb over the Continental Divide. Repeated tests have been successfully made under such unfavorable conditions. This increases their safety factor exactly 100 per cent as far as engine failure is concerned. As for speed, the Douglas will cruise at better than three miles a minute, with a top speed in excess of 200 m.p.h.

In the private flying class both major manufacturers, Stinson and Waco, promise no great advancement either in speed or safety. Both types, four-place cabin planes, have just about reached the maximum of speed and efficiency with their present wing-curves. A lot of engineering must be gone into before any vast improvement comes to light. Both companies are extremely vague about future models, which leads to the belief that they feel that it would be gliding the lily to try for further development of these particular types.

Engines give the greatest promise for 1934—motors and the variable pitch propeller. The latest type of Wright Cyclone, the most powerful single-row radial engine in the world today, will rule the air for most of the coming year.

Car Business Looks Promising Dealers Declare

Business prospects, both local and National, are decidedly on the mend, in the opinion of T. J. Anderson and C. B. Pruet of Anderson Pruet, Inc., local Chevrolet dealers, who have just returned from Fort Worth where they and their organization and a number of their customers and friends "pre-viewed" the new 1934 Chevrolet, soon to be announced locally.

Mr. Anderson and Mr. Pruet spent the entire day at the previewing with their guests and members of their organization. There Mr. H. C. Howard, zone manager, and Earl F. Hayes, sales promotion manager, presented the new line of cars and gave every person present an opportunity to inspect each model.

"With cars like those new Chevrolets to sell, we're enthusiastic about business prospects for next year," said Mr. Anderson and Mr. Pruet. "We went up there expecting a lot, but of course General Motors' "knee action" front wheels had already been announced, with the promise that they would revolutionize the experience of riding and driving."

"We found this literally true. They convinced us that this new car would absolutely eliminate jolts, jars or shocks at speeds up to fifty or sixty miles per hour. This new car will take ruts and bumps in the roads at high speeds that we would ordinarily take them in second gear. "Knee action" is only one of the dozen features embodied in this new Chevrolet.

"Every person we talked to is anxiously awaiting the delivery date of the new cars. Everyone feels as certain as we do that they will put a real, active stimulus behind local business—and when that sort of thing takes place all over the country, good times will really be on the way!"

Football Player Wants to Become President of Peru

LONDON.—Reginald Gubbins, exiled candidate for the Peruvian presidency, has been conferring in London with sympathizers and supporters. Among them was his cousin, Juan Leguia, son of the late ex-president. Leguia was released from a Peruvian prison only last summer.

Gubbins has been in prison twice for his activities against the Peruvian government. Following his last abortive attempt to engineer a revolution he was incarcerated for a year in a storehouse for explosives, and then released.

Recently he has been touring Europe with the combined team of Peruvian and Chilean football players, playing picked teams in all the principal cities, and at
