Rickenbacker Scored for Criticizing President

AUDITORIUM MASS MEETING TO BE MONDAY

L. H. Flewellen, president of the Ranger school board, and Dr. P. M. Kuykendall, president of the chamber of commerce, have called a mass meeting of the citizenship of Ranger to be held in the Elks club arena Monday night, March 19.

The purpose of the meeting is to get the town organized so that complete harmony and cooperation in building the city auditorium and gymnasium can be secured to assure the completion of the project which is just getting underway.

The merchants and the laboring classes, alike, must cooperate to make the completion of the building an assured fact and at the meeting to be held Monday night the complete project is to be outlined and the assistance of everyone urged.

The school board is already cooperating in every way possible toward making the building of the gymnasium possible and the united efforts of everyone in the town is also needed in order that the work, which is just starting, may be carried on and the completion of the building made possible.

Everyone in Ranger who is interested in the building, is cordially invited to be present and to take part in the discussion of the plans and to offer any suggestions that might help.

L. H. Flewellen, as head of the school board, was selected at a meeting at the office of the chamber of commerce Thursday to preside at the meeting, which will start at 7:30.

No boxing and wrestling card has been prepared for Monday night so the arena will be available for the meeting.

DILLINGER IS STILL SOUGHT IN MICHIGAN

PORT HURON, Mich., March 17.—Both sides of the international boundary were blockaded today in a new hunt for John Dillinger, notorious outlaw, following the grocery store gun battle in which his negro companion and undersheriff Charles Cavanaugh were killed.

Nearly 500 peace officers concentrated in the surrounding "thumb" section of Michigan, blockading all roads and stopping and searching each car within a 50-mile radius of the city.

The vigil was maintained after Youngblood, dying from seven bullet wounds, said Dillinger and three others, following the wooden pistol jailbreak at Crown Point, Ind., was in this vicinity.

Springlike Weather Topples Before a Fresh Cold Spell

DALLAS, March 17.—Springlike temperatures toppled before the onslaught of a cold wave that descended on Texas today.

In the northwest temperatures fell as low as 10 to 12 degrees below freezing in a 12-hour period. At Clarendon the temperatures fell to 22 degrees, a drop of 65 degrees, shortly before midnight.

It was accompanied by a 40-mile wind. An intense sandstorm swept Amarillo, propelled by the north-west wind. Temperatures in that vicinity were 10 to 20 degrees below freezing. A snowfall was reported there.

Colder weather was forecast for East Texas Sunday while not so cold was predicted for West Texas and the Panhandle.

INSULL TO BE ALLOWED TO LEAVE GREECE

ATHENS, Greece, March 17.—The Greek government, surrendering to the amazing resistance of Samuel Insull, fugitive Chicago financier, against efforts to deport him to America, agreed today to give him his traveling papers and let him sail away on the steamer Malotis.

The government's decision in a complicated international situation, was materially influenced by a strong public opinion which had viewed Insull's battle for liberty with admiration.

His last attempt to evade the deportation order when he escaped a police guard and dashed through the Mediterranean on the ship, only to be ordered back to Greece by highly indignant officials, brought the aged multi-millionaire further sympathy.

Insull remained aboard the ship after his return to the harbor of Piraeus, and will stay on board, secluded, until the steamer leaves the port Sunday morning.

Industry's Ability To Govern Self Is Put To a Test

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Industry's ability to govern itself was put to the test today as automobile manufacturers sought means of averting a labor crisis.

Upon the shoulders of the three-man code authority of the automobile industry was placed responsibility of settling its labor disputes, which today reached the point where the American Federation of Labor had ordered 75,000 men to strike.

It seems likely, however, that some manner of a solution would be reached. Though no direct word came from the president it was believed he was taking a hand in the situation behind the scenes.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Railway labor unions today rejected President Roosevelt's proposal for a six months wage truce and announced they would insist that basic wage rates be restored on July 1, 1934.

Flyweight Champ To Wrestle Friday, Dempsey to Referee

Doug Henderson, flyweight champion of the world, will wrestle Fred Hallis of Dallas in a finish match, with Jack Dempsey as referee, Friday, March 23 at the Elks Arena.

Henderson has not been defeated by any tin-eat in his weight for two years or more. Smith is an up-and-coming 130 pounder and is expected to give the champion plenty of trouble.

The other half of the double-main will find Verne "Kid" Lewis staging a come-back when he tackles Bobby Davidson, the strong boy from Bridgeport, Conn.

Pat Anderson, the Putnam flash has been re-matched with Little Tade, Dallas Athletic club champ for six rounds or less. These two youngsters had the fans on their feet throughout the six rounds they fought last Monday.

Another wrestling match and ten rounds of boxing will be announced later.

Federal Oil Tax Is Seen As Move To Regulate Fields

AUSTIN, Tex.—Col. Ernest O. Thompson, member of the state railroad commission, who has had administrators, charges that the proposed federal petroleum tax at the well is not a revenue measure but an attempt to put federal inspectors at Texas oil wells.

The federal courts recently held that federal inspectors could not be put at the wells directly to control production as that was a state function.

"Texas now has ample law to control oil production," said Col. Thompson. "History shows that once you turn a bit of authority over to the federal government, it never is released but steadily increased." He cited the history of railroad rate regulation and continued:

"The federal government already has taken all our rates powers, even within the state. As governments grow powerful, as they broaden and expand in territory and influence so that administration ceases to be personal and becomes bureaucratic, those who administer it tend to become more and more impatient of limitations. They come to regard themselves not only as regulators but as the sources of power, and then they boldly defy limitations."

PARDONS ARE GRANTED
AUSTIN, March 17.—Conditional pardons were granted Monroe Graham and Nolan Duncan, both under two-year burglary sentences from Palo Pinto county, English.

Three Sentenced At San Antonio On Conspiracy Charge

The men were Z. D. Bonner, former president of the Commercial National bank of San Antonio; John H. Cunningham, local attorney, and J. B. Morrow, of Chicago and New Orleans.

Harry N. Royster, Tulsa aviator and sportsman, who turned government witness against the others, was sentenced to serve three years and to pay a fine of $5,000.

TEXAS GUNMAN IS CAUGHT BY SHERIFF POSSE

HOUSTON, March 17.—Earl (Baby Face) Joyner, 26, fugitive Texas gunman, robber and jail escape artist, was captured as he slept in a farmhouse near here today by Sheriff T. A. Binford of Harris county and a posse of officers.

The house where he slept was a former dairy barn, now being used as a liquor distillery, the sheriff said. With Joyner was Estelle Davis, blond young Houston woman, who said they had been married for three years.

Joyner had been at liberty since January when he opened the door to his cell in the county jail at Crockett and dug through a brick wall a few days after he had been sentenced to 40 years in prison for robbing the Farmers & Merchants State bank of Grapeland.

He also was wanted as a fugitive from the Louisiana prison.

SPEECH BEFORE COMMITTEE IS INTERPRETED

Chairman McKellar Said Witness Was Delivering A Political Address

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, famous wartime ace, told the senate post office committee today President Roosevelt had been led by "traitorous elements in his official family" to act "contrary to American principles" in cancelling private airmail contracts and ordering the army to fly the mails.

Before completing a prepared statement, Rickenbacker was interrupted by Chairman McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, who told him sharply that he could not be permitted to "attack the president or make a political speech."

McKellar's action touched off a dispute among committee members and Rickenbacker retired from the room while spectators and Senator M. M. Logan, democrat, Kentucky, and Warren Barbour, republican, New Jersey, applauded.

"I think I've earned my heritage to American citizenship," Rickenbacker began, rising to his feet. "I believe that in fair play to our chief executive, he should, in purging American commercial aviation of undesirable elements, purge his official family of those traitorous elements, few in number I hope, who caused him to act contrary to American principles."

McKellar rapped on the table with a gavel. "I'll have to ask you not to attack the president or make a political speech," he said sharply.

After a dispute among committee members, McKellar dismissed him. As Rickenbacker, his face flushed, rose again, the spectators applauded until he had gone.

A second payment of eight cents a bushel will be made when growers have proved their compliance. Benefits will reach more than $102,000,000 it is estimated.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT NAMES A WOMAN FOR FEDERAL JUDGE

William Allan White is a distinguished Kansas editor and political prophet and a lifelong republican who cast his ballot for Hoover and Curtis. In a recent review of the first year of the Roosevelt administration he declared F. D. R. to be the cleverest as well as the wisest politician ever elected to the presidency.

Roosevelt certainly knows the game of politics. To date he has been a past grand master. Millions of women voters in former republican strongholds cast their ballot for Roosevelt and Garner. F. D. R. was elected President. He has been the skipper of the ship of state a little more than a year. He has appointed a greater number of women to public service posts than Harding and Coolidge and Hoover combined. Many fat jobs have fallen into the lap of the ladies. A number have been sent abroad as the diplomatic representatives of the republic. There is a woman in the cabinet. Indeed, they are holding down jobs in all the recovery acts setups.

Now the President has named Florence E. Allen of Cleveland, Ohio, to the federal circuit of appeals judgeship. Miss Allen, now on the Ohio supreme court, is the first woman in American history to be made a federal judge, while the circuit court of appeals is the highest court aside from the supreme court of the United States. She was the first woman to be placed on the state supreme court bench. She was the first to be elected a district court judge. She has a long and brilliant record. She was born in a Rocky Mountain state. First as a teacher she won laurels; she deserted teaching for the newspaper game; she deserted the newspaper game for the law. She was licensed to practice and in late years her advancement has been rapid as the most noted feminine jurist that the American world has known. Judge Allen is a lifelong democrat. She certainly ranks as one of the foremost leaders of the feminine movement in the wide, wide world. Now she has her reward.

TEXAS FARMERS REPAY GOVERNMENT LOANS

Colorado county farmers are in the picture. A news dispatch from Weimar reports the farmers of that county have repaid 98.34 per cent of the amount loaned them by the government during 1933. Speaking of state and county taxes, the farmers of Colorado county, according to Judge Charles Kreuger of the commission of the court of criminal appeals, have made a remarkable showing during the same period in planting tax money on the barrel head of the collector. There are Texas farmers and stockmen who are doing their level best to keep ahead of the procession along the broad lines of their personal or individual recovery acts.

Cities have reputations the same as people — some good, some bad.

CHAPTER XV
 THE "Silver Dart" has been found," Field announced as Marcia joined the group. "It was sighted by Jo Janvier who's headed for Rio in his yacht. He wire-logged."
 "Empty?" Marcia asked.
 "Yes. Signal up—perhaps for help. It was well below Cuba."
 "Can Pablo swim?"
 Field laughed. "Swim?" he echoed. "My God, can he swim! He's a fish. He was one of those dock rats, the sort you toss coins to when you sail for Havana."
 "Do you think he's in Havana?"
 "Will they look for him there?"
 Marcia asked feverishly. She could at least warn Pablo. Thank heaven she had enough money to hunt for him and care for him if the need arose.
 Field said, "He couldn't swim to Havana. The theory is that the boat got ball wry there and then ran out of gasoline. Someone else may have picked him up or he may have jumped overboard, seeing something bearing down on him. He wasn't a coward. He once licked big Zeke, who had all the other servants afraid of him."
 "Jim," Marcia said, "why are you so frightfully certain Pablo killed—Jeff?" She could not help the break in her voice nor the hesitation between the words.
 "One of the men studied his cigar thoughtfully, the other looked out to sea. Field thought, "Steady, old girl! You're giving yourself away!" He said more patiently and slowly than was usually his way. "I know he did. Marcia. His foster father is a man named Noyes, wanted for a murder years ago. Jeff saw Noyes on one of the small keys and recognized him. He thought Noyes recognized him, too. Noyes may have told Pablo about it and the boy obviously decided to seal Jeff's lips once and for all."
 "I think you're working on my little," Marcia said sharply.
 "My dear," Field answered irritably, "the whole thing's clear. We have the proof in Pablo's dagger which my own poor little girl recognized this morning. There's the fact, too, that the boy snuck down an old man who tried to stop him—close to killed the old chap—and this fellow's child described Pablo. It all ties up—not a doubt in the world!"

 "Perhaps it was Noyes who did it," Marcia persisted.
 Field laughed. "Noyes!" he said and laughed again. "Remember him, Fortney?" he asked, turning to the man at his right. "So easy-going he'd do anything to avoid a fight!"
 "Then how did he murder anyone?"
 "Oh, Lord!" Field broke out as Fortney drew a lazy, glum-slowed. "Rather good—come to think of it."
 Marcia was tapping a toe on the sand and looking down. "It's no sign the boy did it because he knocked down an old man," she said.
 "Pablo was in a big hurry," Field pointed out. "And there's another thing, too. Nobody but Pablo could run the 'Silver Dart' for more than 10 feet lately. The damned tub had developed a heart leak. So you see!"
 "Jim," said Marcia. "If you don't mind I'm going on to Havana. The carnival's starting and I think it might do me good."
 "Flying over?" Field questioned.
 "YES!" She answered quickly and her face grew keen. She could get there promptly, she realized. She felt herself responding to the promise of action. She could warn Pablo, protect him and care for him after she found him. In that way she could discharge at least a part of the debt she owed him. She had a curious certainty that he must be in Havana or near there. This certainty persisted despite all the testimony that made it seem impossible.
 "Will you make my excuses to Norma and say goodby to her for me?" she asked, turning to Field.
 "I judge she's too busy to see me."
 "She's rather absorbed," he admitted, frowning. "Estelle's quite ill. This affair has upset her. It seems that she was fond of Pablo. He had taken her boasting a good deal. I think Norma would not want to leave her."
 Fortney looked after Marcia as she turned to go back to her bungalow. Watching her he said, "All that Theresa Jeffries lost were her pearls and rings."
 The implication was understood.
 "I'm glad Marcia's getting out," Field stated bluntly. Then he forgot her and her interest in the late Mr. Jeffries who had been so unwise as to object to a stranger's opening the small safe that held his wife's pearls. Field forgot because Alvarez was hurrying toward him, an important message making his lean face keen and intense.
 "There is news," Alvarez stated. "A fisherman last night saw a light in the shack where Pablo lived. It is thought that he has not left Florida at all but is in order to set us off on a chase trail. He started the 'Silver Dart' to sea with his red mask—if it was his—tied to the mast. I've sent men over to the shack to search—"

Noyes realized that it was not safe for him to stay in or near the shack. He had crept there after he had been knocked out, robbed and taken to a novel in a pine woods from which he had escaped after two long, misery-packed days. Nevertheless he had come back to get the Pennell etching and the Winslow Homer water color. He hoped to sell one or the other or both in order to get his fare to Cuba where Pablo, whom he so needed now, would be waiting for him.
 Hiding himself, Noyes had heard nothing about the tragedy at the Field camp.
 He peered nervously from the doorway of the shack toward the mainland, suspecting that the one white human vulture that had already picked his bones might be following. But the vulture had quit him to go on to another carcass.
 Then Noyes looked farther and on the water saw a boat bearing toward the island. He poked his etching and the water color under an oilcloth table cover and wriggled through a small rear window of the shack.
 He knew as his heart pumped hard, that they were after him.
 That was during the early afternoon when Marcia Treadway with the arrogance of those who can buy whatever they want, commended an airplane and set forth for Havana. That was when Pablo and Beal, soaked with salt water and shaking from fatigue, sank to a cleared patch in the jungle. That was when Jim Field said to his wife with relief, "Marcia's gone on to Havana."
 And that, oddly enough—such odd things do happen—was at the approximate time when, in New York, an Englishman of great height with gray, lifeless hair that had once been blond was answering a baffled detective's question. The detective had asked, "But are you searching for a boy or girl, Sir Aubrey?" and the Englishman replied, "So difficult to say, you know I hardly—that is—er—know myself!"
 The Englishman in New York wandered out into the crowded streets. Here he signaled a taxicab and was whirled toward a hotel which faced on an avenue known as Park. In the hotel he settled in a deep chair to look at a newspaper but he saw it not at all. He could think only of the young thing for whom he was searching. He felt that from an ironic gesture of fate and because of the wickedness of his youth his search would result in finding another girl. He almost cringed at a picture which floated through his mind, gave him a vision of five blond, round-faced, dutiful daughters. His desire for a son mounted but the sturdy conscience that was his had made him decide no matter what the sex of the child, his offspring, he would do the proper thing, the only thing for a man of his world to do. He sighed deeply. He was tired of the noise and the confusion around him and he was isolated by his loneliness.

Former Notre Dame Star Lins Coach At Austin College

SHERMAN, Texas—Bill Pierce, brilliant Notre Dame guard and former St. Edwards line coach, has signed a contract to become assistant coach at Austin college for the 1934 gridiron season. It was announced Saturday by J. B. Head, Kangaroo mentor.

Pierce will assume his duties immediately and take charge of the Kangaroo line candidates now reporting for spring practice. He will probably devote special attention to candidates for the running guard berth.

The new assistant Kangaroo coach was one of the three regular guards on Knute Rockne's wonder team of 1930 which tackled one of the most difficult schedules ever undertaken by a grid team. The fighting Irish ran up a string of consecutive victories and clinched the national championship by defeating Southern California.

Running in the backfield of that famous Rambler team were Frank Carideo, Markmont Schwartz, Joe Savaldi, Marty Brill and that fifth regular, Larry Mullins. Carideo was named for both the All-American eleven and the outstanding football player of that season.

Pierce won three varsity football letters and received a numeral as regular guard on the freshman team while attending the Irish institution. He was the fifth sophomore in the history of Notre Dame to receive a varsity letter.

Pierce received his first football training at Sherman high school, playing three years at guard and tackle under Coaches Hugh Butler, Dutch Smith, and Wesley Bradshaw. He did not go out in his freshman year.

After his graduation from Notre Dame in June, 1932, Pierce joined Jack Chevigny at St. Edwards as line coach for the 1933 grid season. The two Rockne pupils tutored the Saints to a Texas conference championship last year.

Judge Garrett Is In The Race For County Judgeship

The people of Eastland county have been good to me. They have returned me to office on several occasions, for all of which I shall ever be deeply grateful. They have reposed a confidence in me which I appreciate beyond expression and in return for it, I have earnestly and faithfully endeavored to render the county honest and efficient service, determined not to betray the confidence and trust placed in me. Believing that my past experience and my knowledge of this county's needs during these perilous times well qualify me to efficiently discharge the duties of county judge and because of my desire to render the county a real service and the further fact that many of our outstanding and substantial citizens have solicited me, I am announcing for re-election.

Believing our citizens should know what their public officials have done, I shall briefly mention a few things which, I feel, they are deeply interested in and in which I have had a small part.

Two years ago, together with other West Texas county judges, I worked faithfully to secure the passage of the law which sets aside one cent per gallon of the gasoline tax to be applied on the payment of our county road bonds, the proceeds of which went to the building of designated state highways, the result being that the state is paying all the interest on said bonds and 30 per cent of the principal, the one cent per gallon being insufficient to pay more than above amount, however, we are now working to the end that the state assume the entire amount and it is confidently hoped that this will be accomplished within the next year or two. The state has not assumed payment of any of the county's bonds, but merely agrees to participate for a period of two years, one and one-half of which have expired, in those bonds the proceeds of which went into the construction of "designated" state highways. An agreement has been reached by the state and county that of our outstanding bonds, $2,000,000 were used in constructing state highways and the state agrees to participate in the payment of this amount as far as the gasoline tax will permit. The state's assumption of the above amount will mean the lifting of a terrible burden from our taxpayers and, if elected, I pledge my continued efforts along this line.

With other members of the commissioners' court, I have worked faithfully in an attempt to fairly and impartially equalize values for taxable purposes. Many corrections and adjustments have been made with the taxpayer when it appeared the circumstances justified same. This, also, shall continue to be my policy, if elected.

Since becoming county judge, due to reduction in values and tax rate, taxes have been reduced between 40 and 50 per cent. This can be verified by comparing tax receipts. Although the times have been distressing the last few years and many of our very best citizens have been unable to pay their taxes, Eastland county has been run on a cash basis; no juror, laborer or merchant having to carry script for their services or merchandise. While many of the cities and counties in Texas have been compelled to default in their obligations, Eastland county, because of the co-operation of its citizens, has promptly met every obligation, including principal and interest on bonds.

I have stood for lending every possible aid to the farmer, poultrymen, stockmen, sheep and goat raisers, and when they are helped everybody is benefitted—in that even in the face of the fact that funds have been very short, the commissioners' court over which I preside, has, just as far as funds would permit and the law authorize, paid bounties on jack rabbits, wolves, wildcats and bobcats which never, at any time, have I interested myself in these matters. I firmly believe that my intimate acquaintance and friendly connection with the highway department has been and will continue to be worth much to Eastland county.

The Newfangles (Mom 'n' Pop)

While jails over the state have been filled with insane people awaiting admission into our crowded state institutions, by earnest co-operation I have been successful in getting our county's insane promptly admitted, thereby relieving relatives of the terrible embarrassment of having their loved ones confined in jail. Likewise, I have been reasonably successful in getting admitted promptly to our various institutions those who were adjudged in my court to be tuberculars, epileptics and feeble-minded.

Concerning those of our county who have been extremely unfortunate from a financial and physical standpoint, I have tried to be very considerate and charitable and have had a part in seeing that many who were unable to provide it, had, not only food, clothing, shelter and medicine, but also hospitalization and surgical attention. In many instances emergency cases have been admitted to City-County hospital as well as private hospitals permitting reimbursement to county where charity would not be accepted. Some criticism has been made concerning some of above policies but in each instance I used my best judgment.

It will be my purpose to give during the campaign, a more detailed report of my stewardship and to see personally every voter possible. But in the meantime I most respectfully urge every voter to make a careful investigation concerning my official acts while serving you as county judge—an office which belongs to the people of Eastland county and not to those placed there by them.

Sincerely and earnestly soliciting your support and influence, solely upon my merits and qualifications, I am,

Very respectfully yours,
C. L. (Clyde) GARRETT.

States Planning Boards Are Formed

By United Press

CHICAGO.—During the past few months 27 state planning boards have been organized to mold uniform codes for civic development, according to the magazine State Government.

The first goal of these new boards, appointed in each state by a special act of the legislature, or by an unofficial act of the governor, is the preparation of a preliminary state plan which will cover various factors, according to the many problems of the several districts. These almost invariably include: (1) a program of public works for a considerable period; (2) a proposed transportation system correlating various methods; and (3) a general classification of the area of the state into the principal recommended land uses. Assistance is being provided to qualified state planning boards by the National Planning Board in Washington through the assignment of consultants to give technical advice to the state agencies.

A few of the pertinent recommendations of the Washington board, included in a circular letter which suggests various considerations to be kept in mind in drafting legislation for this work, are:

"It is desirable to include in the membership the heads of three or four state departments—such as public works, highways, conservation and health, together with three or four citizens who either have had some previous interest in city or regional planning work or are active leaders in business or civic enterprises."

"It is also desirable that there be full co-operation between the state planning boards and regional advisers and state advisory boards of the public works administration, or with such interstate committees or projects as the regional advisers may create."

Three states, Wisconsin, Maryland and Delaware, not only have planning boards, created by executive or legislative action, but also have state planning laws.

A Message to the Women:

The school is the 11th annual one to be held by the Times and they have always been enthusiastically attended by the ladies of this community each year. There is no charge and everything is free. The usual prizes for attendance will be given away daily.

Mrs. McDonald stated: "Please tell the women of this city in your paper today that I am not here to teach them how to cook, for to attempt such a thing would be a direct insult, but merely to show them fashion in foods—how to market for food just the same as for a dress or other merchandise, and to bring to them unique dishes that will prove interesting for party menus, as well as for everyday family use."

Tuesday afternoon, the first day, she will probably take for demonstration salads, frozen desserts, make an orange pie, bake a Devil's food cake, and present other interesting recipes along these lines. A short talk on marketing will be given.

also keanness of mind; you may be a genius with every culture that money can buy, but if one has no friends, they are real paupers. No amount of money could buy our friends who love and understand us. They are our capital stock.

After the oil-boom, we heard a man talking who had once been a millionaire, and the same fate had befallen him as many others, and just as fortune was many times lost over night, he had lost all. He said: "Whether a poor man has a dollar or a dime as he walks down the street, it makes no difference. If he is a respected citizen, everyone regards him as such but with me it is different. When I had money, men bowed to me, I was a 'man about town,' but they were not real friends; they loved or wanted my money, not me. Like birds, they flew away when the rations failed."

The ultimate depths of poverty are found in bankruptcy of moral character. One who has a worthless ideal of goodness is in truth, good for nothing.

George Bernard Shaw, speaking of success, said in part: "My life belongs to the whole community in which I live, and it is my duty, as well as a privilege and pleasure to do for it whatever I can. I want to be thoroughly used up when I pass on, for the harder I work, the more I live. I rejoice in life for its own sake. Life is no 'brief torch' for me. It is a sort of splendid torch which I hold for a moment, and I want to make it burn as brightly as possible before handing it down to future generations."

If we are spiritual millionaires, we are rich indeed. Let's take time in our busy life to think more of the things that money cannot buy.

Chocolate ice Cream Saved Cash Drawer

WASHINGTON.—Struck in the face with a quart of chocolate ice cream, a sneak thief hastily gave up his idea of robbing Mrs. M. I. Saunders' ice cream parlor.

The thief, who had previously robbed the cash drawers of two other similar establishments, entered Mrs. Saunders' store and ordered some ice cream.

While getting the ice cream, Mrs. Saunders turned to find him tampering with the cash drawer so she opened fire from behind the counter. Her aim was good.

Tabasco, What It Is And How It Started

In 1852 a man by the name of Gleason (who had been with General Scott during the capture of Mexico City in 1847 and who had remained in Mexico after the close of the Mexican war with the United States) came to New Orleans, and while there gave to Mr. McIlhenny the seeds of some peppers, which he said had an especially fine flavor, and grew in the state of Tabasco, Mexico. These pepper seeds were planted by Mr. McIlhenny at the family plantation, Avery Island, near New Iberia, and the quality of the peppers were so good that he continued to grow them year by year in the kitchen garden for table use, as both he and his father-in-law, Judge Avery, were fond of highly seasoned food.

During the war between the North and South, and after the occupation of Louisiana by the federal troops, the Avery and McIlhenny families were banished from their home state and sent by General Banks to Austin, Texas, but returned to their plantation home at Avery Island at the close of the war. Like all southerners these two families were financially ruined by the war, and being without funds with which to buy the things that help to make food tasty, Mr. McIlhenny began experimenting with making condiments from the herbs and peppers found growing about the old home. Among other plants that had survived the lack of cultivation during his absence were some pepper bushes like those that grew from the seed Gleason had given him. With the pulp of these peppers as a base, he made a hot aromatic sauce for table use, and gave some of it to his friends, who liked it so much that Mr. McIlhenny continued making it. Among those who tried the sauce and liked it was General Hazard, who was federal administrator for southwest Louisiana. General Hazard induced Mr. McIlhenny to make a sufficient amount of the sauce, so he could take some north on his next trip. This was done, and General Hazard gave some of the sauce to his brother, E. C. Hazard, who was head of the largest wholesale grocery house in New York. Mr. E. C. Hazard was so impressed with the value of the sauce as a food seasoning that he got in touch with McIlhenny and induced him to pack the sauce for market, and give his firm the agency for its distribution in the United States. Mr. McIlhenny consented to do this, and in 1868, Tabasco Sauce put up in New Iberia, La., was offered the public.

Since that time, Tabasco, through its high value as a piquant seasoning has become world-wide in its distribution.

Tabasco in Europe, and this sauce on each bottle of which are the words Tabasco New Iberia Louisiana, can now be found in every civilized country in the world. An instance showing the wide distribution of Tabasco is given in Lord Kitchener's report to the British government after his conquest of Khartoum. This report states Tabasco was found further in the desert than any other civilized food product.

Tabasco is a pure pepper sauce made without cooking, but by fermentation in oaken casks, and it requires the heat of two summers to properly ferment it, and give it its mellow delightful flavor. Tabasco is especially valuable for seasoning eggs. As the English say, "it makes a good egg better and a bad egg good."

Tabasco has the greatest value when used in the kitchen. A few drops in your gravies gives the meat an exceptionally fine flavor. It also adds a wonderful flavor to mashed potatoes, or, when used in connection with butter on baked potatoes. When cooking eggs in any form Tabasco should always be used in order to bring out the highest flavor of the egg. A little Tabasco in scups when cooking adds greatly to their palatableness. On the table a few drops in your breakfast eggs and milk changes the flavor to such an extent that the food is much more palatable.

This sauce has the widest distribution of any food product in the world.

The New Ideas Department

By MRS. ALICE D. TRUE

Whenever or wherever we see the word "Poverty," we immediately think of money. To be moneyless and wealthless is indeed a tragedy, but it is not the worst kind of poverty. One may have an empty purse and a rich personality, and vice versa. If a man has no wealth, but has a chance to earn his way; if he has a good job or position, his brain and his life may be filled with hope.

A successful business man said that a man's job is one of his best friends. It clothes and feeds his wife and children, pays the rent and supplies them with the necessities and many times, the luxuries of life. The least a man can do is to love his work and put his very best into it. If you ask any successful man or woman the reason of his making good, he will tell you that first and foremost it is because he likes his work; indeed he loves it. Someone has described a successful man as one who puts more into his job than he takes out, and who gives to his community the best that is in him without due regard for return.

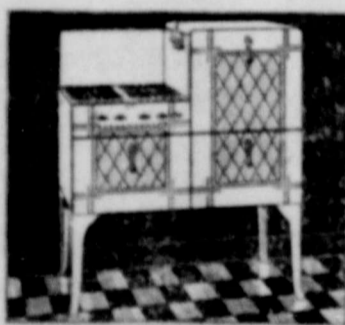

The so-called material wealth of the world has been built up more often through the genius of poor men who worked their way toward the top of the ladder of success. There is an intellectual poverty, or the wrong kind of thinking, but one of the saddest pictures of realities is to see a young man or young woman beginning life without honestly and sincerely trying to make their brains the master of their passions and desires.

There is a poverty however; worse than that of a lazy, sluggard mind. That is the poverty in friendship. You may have wealth,

No Battery Failure In Hudson-Built Cars

All Terraplane and Hudson cars in 1934 have the heavy-duty generator that was used only in Terraplane deluxe models in 1933. This improvement with fan-forced ventilation permits the generator's being set at a much higher charging rate than has ever before been possible. This keeps the battery fully charged, regardless of the amount of use of the car's radio, starter, lights or other electrical units. An automatic voltage regulator prevents overcharging, with consequent damage to the battery, and also incites the generator charging when the battery charge falls to a designated point.

NORTHFORK, Cal.—Forest rangers of the Sierra National Forest will get their news of fires and so forth by radio instead of telephone when equipment is installed in new forest headquarters here. On the trail, rangers will carry small portable receiving sets.

MRS. McDONALD SAYS Dr. Pepper Is Ideal; the Right Amount in the Proper Form

It is impractical, if not impossible, for a child to take sugar to excess if taken in Dr. Pepper. It is diluted one ounce sugar syrup to 5 1-2 ounces of pure, sparkling water. Just enough sugar for sweetness; just enough fruit acid for tartness; and a whole flock of good, natural flavors, just for the joy of living. In this liquid form, the sugar is partially digested. No heavy tax on little "tummies." No delay in reaching the blood stream and meeting the emergency in time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Heeter were among the number of Desdemona people who spent the week-end in Fort Worth at the Fat Stock Show.

Frank Gee and family left Friday for their new home at Van, in the East Texas oil fields. Mr. and Mrs. Gee have lived here since boom days and have been interested in everything that was for the good of our town and they will be greatly missed by their large number of friends, all of whom wish them happiness in their new home.

Mrs. P. L. McBride of San Angelo, Mrs. G. W. Troxell and her daughter, Mrs. E. V. Logan, of Cisco, visited Mrs. Betty Vestal for a short time Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Vestal went home with them, where she is spending a week with Mrs. Troxell and family, and her aunt, Mrs. D. K. Scott.

Otis Moss of Lingleville, visited friends here on Tuesday night of last week.

On Thursday afternoon about 4 o'clock, fire broke out in the roof of the clubhouse of the Wednesday Afternoon Bridge club. A large number of ladies were in the building at the time enjoying the popular game. When it was discovered the fire had already burned a good part of the shingle roof and the rafters were nearly ready to fall. The ladies grabbed card tables and chairs and got out quickly, but not any too soon, as the roof soon fell. Mrs. C. B. Wood, who recently moved to Rising Star, had come back to attend the meeting and to fill her place as hostess for that afternoon. Mrs. Plummer Ashburn and Mrs. Claud Lee had kindly let Mrs. Wood use their silver spoons and forks for the party and they lost all of them. All of the chinaware belonging to the club was burned besides their pictures, curtains, etc. and there was no insurance on the building or furniture. The members have the sympathy of the community in their loss of the building and furniture.

The president, Mrs. Roy Ashburn being absent on account of illness of her aunt who was visiting her, the first vice president, Mrs. A. B. Henslee, presided. After a short business session, Mrs. Henslee led the following program: "Mother Shipton's Prophecy," Mrs. J. E. Heeter; "Presidents As Inventors," Mrs. A. B. Henslee; "Life of Edison," Mrs. R. D. Wright; "New Uses of Natural Gas," Mrs. A. C. Moore; Piano solo, Kathleen Henslee; "U. S. Patent Office," Mrs. S. E. Snodgrass; "Robots," Mrs. Fred Welder; Reading, "Compensation," Mrs. Dave Parks. Maltby, Fred Welder, Dave Parks, S. E. Snodgrass, R. D. Wright, A. C. Moore, J. E. Heeter, C. M. Bratton, Mattie Henry, John Mendenhall, the hostesses and little Kathleen Henslee.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nabers had a letter several days ago from their son, Edwin ("Rabbit") who has been working at Gladewater the past few months, saying he had a very narrow escape when the bunk-house of the Glad-Tex Gasoline Co. burned one night. Edwin and his room-mate washed after the room was really blazing and escaped by breaking out a window. Edwin lost a new suit of clothes, some money and a number of personal articles. His many friends are delighted to know he was not hurt.

The sympathy of the community is being extended to Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Henslee on account of the death of their first-born, a son, who was born and died early Monday morning. Funeral services were conducted at the grave by Rev. Z. L. Howell, assisted by Rev. Z. C. Chambliss. There will be a play given at the school house Friday night, March 23. This play, "Bound to Marry," is full of good clean fun all the way through. Window Pick-Ups Through Interesting Shopping Tour

WHEN SPRING COMES—summer isn't far behind... and there is a better place on earth to shop than in Ranger, where you'll find everything from complete house furnishings to your spring and summer wardrobe by spending a few minutes in Ranger shops and stores.

There's almost nothing more satisfying than to step into a place and find an array of suggestions for your fantastic approval. Here are a few of the things we found in our shopping tour made especially for you yesterday.

Hansen and company have white shoes and sports attire galore, which incidentally is quite the latest word in smartness this season. Just take a peek at the lovely patterns in shoes and chic accessories and will you adore the gorgeous array of yard goods, in all the bright and harmonizing patterns featuring stripes and prints. Every shade of the rainbow and additional colors are arranged very attractively for your visit. The window displays come under the artistic ability of Harry Ware. Joseph Dry Goods department is featuring a pretty window over the week-end, suggesting smart sports dresses, hats, bags, and general accessories. If you are in doubt as to the correct color combinations and favored modes visit the ready-to-wear department where the pleasing assistants will be happy to serve you. Mrs. Anna M. Rippey, capable window trimmer, is responsible for the colorful display of choice garments.

Just a few steps farther and you'll gaze upon a lovely display of College Campus dresses at the Child's Ready-to-Wear Shoppe, where costume jewelry adds much to the smartness of the frocks. Especially pretty is the shell pink with soft white trim finished with bone buttons lending the necessary touch. Novelty bags are also included in the large selection of spring hints for milady. Mrs. C. L. Childs is in charge of the window displays from time to time.

There's always a thrill at Clyde H. Davis Jewelry shop, and particularly so this week-end. Words scarcely do justice to the new selection of jewelry in all the new and intriguing patterns. While viewing and visiting the shop take an extra minute to see the gorgeous wrist watches. Make complete your jewelry collection with a smartly designed wrist watch.

J. C. Smith store deserves a special comment through the combination window presenting what the well-dressed woman will wear in sports clothes, hats, and gloves. And... have you seen those darling n-c gloves with the full cuff in organza and lace? Just too smart for words with your afternoon attire. Then too, there are instant garments in dainty colors of pink, blue and white. Now, wouldn't that little tot be sweet wearing a little dress, coat and hat for her Easter, the day of days for kiddies.

J. C. Penney and company comes forth as usual with lovely dresses and coats. Just about the time one gets one's eyes on a certain frock it is snatched up, sold, and replaced with another just as chic. Doesn't the change of seasons make you want to get something new and go places? Emphasis may well be given the children's department, complete in every detail.

The Cohn shop is happy to present a group of beautiful dresses and smart hats galore. You'll be delighted with the selection Mrs. Cohn made in Saturday night dresses worn to the best advantage with the lovely big hats which are so good at this time. A complete change from sport to ankle length for evening occasions just does something to one's feelings, restful and pleasing. New arrivals are expected early this week; drop in for a visit with Mrs. Cohn and assistant, Mrs. Littlejohn, who will be pleased to show you their spring offering.

Now for your home—the best place of all. Yes, of course the general house cleaning will take place soon, with the replacing of curtains with brighter ones matching your color theme. A touch here and there adds much to one's feeling and really reflects upon your disposition and the atmosphere in general. Don't you think so? It was well said when supposed a woman's charm is thoroughly accentuated in her house arrangement and furnishings. Ranger is fortunate in having two fine and up-to-date furniture companies,

District Federation Meeting Presenting Mrs. Volney Taylor Splendid Success

The New Era and 1920 clubs of Ranger in presenting Mrs. Volney Taylor of Brownsville, state president of the County Federation of clubs at the district meeting Saturday afternoon, First Methodist church, Elm street, brought into full evidence and rare realization one of the most successful and wonderful sessions to have been held since the federation's organization. A hint of spring was beautifully accentuated in the floral decorations primarily of ferns and potted plants together with colorful clusters of pink blossoms. The setting made perfect the hour bringing guests at 2:30 o'clock who were graciously greeted by the receiving line composed of Mrs. Louis Pitcock of Ranger; Mrs. J. M. Perkins, district president, of Eastland; Miss Ruth Ramsey, county home demonstration agent; Mrs. O. E. Denny, Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, and honor guest, Mrs. Taylor.

The program proper opened with a pretty violin solo offered by Miss Dorothy Outlaw, accompanied at the piano by Miss Marguerite Adamson. Miss Mildred Mooran added to the musical selection with a piano number. The sole address of the hour was made by the principal speaker and guest of honor, Mrs. Taylor, who held her audience of members representing surrounding cities of Eastland, Cisco, Breckenridge, DeLeon, Gorman, Desdemona and Rising Star, spellbound through the smooth and pleasing manner of speech and even delivery. Her talk covered many outstanding points of unusual interest including the visit recently made to the white house during which time she was the guest of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. Mrs. Taylor with a committee from Texas went in the interest of the meeting called for the special discussion of cause and prevention of war. All factors of interest touching on the present plans and developments were also stressed by the speaker covering the state federation dues.

In bringing her well worth-while talk to a close she urged the presence of as many members as possible to the district convention to be held at Sweetwater, April 1. Response was given by the county president, Mrs. Louis Pitcock, who also presided over the brief but interesting and very important business session. Reports proving quite satisfactory were heard from all active committees rounding out a complete meeting in every possible detail.

Books for the circulating library were offered at this time a project of prominent mention and deserving of much credit on the part of each member. A short social period held for personal introduction to Mrs. Taylor came as a charming feature of the colorful affair. Fruited punch served from a lace covered table dotted at intervals with runners of rose colored sweet peas and violets amid lacy runners of fern sprays, was presided over by Mrs. Mills Davenport, Mrs. O. E. Samms, and Mrs. S. P. Boon, members of the hospitality committee.

As a compliment from Mrs. Taylor, Texas Federation News Bulletin Volume 12th, January 1923 were passed. According to the attractive register carrying the St. Patrick colors, presided over by Mrs. Carl Hill the following guests enjoyed the rare privilege of the occasion: Mmes. A. J.
