WALKATHONS OUTLAWED IN TEXAS BY THE GOVERNMENT

Texas lawmakers enacted a bill to outlaw walkathons, kissathons, "and similar contests of physical endurance." Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson signed the measure. It will become effective 90 days after adjournment of the special session. Promoters of these contests that last longer than 24 hours are made guilty of maintaining a public nuisance under terms of the act.

As for the measure it requires intermissions in such contests of 168 hours. Why a walkathon? Why a public endurance kissathon? This is said to be a civilized age upheld by civilized people. Is a walkathon recreation an art or a sport? Is a kissathon a public endurance contest or a patch-penny device to swell the box office receipts?

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

THAT if a state is to march ahead, it should have modern roads.

States are judged by the type of roads they have. Good roads are a distinct asset. Business cannot advance satisfactorily without them.

Good roads are a standing advertisement for a state. The better they are, the greater their drawing power.

Good roads are a great factor in the development of a state. They stimulate business and bring many new residents to a state.

Good roads develop convention and tourist business, which brings much business to the state as a whole.

States with good roads have little trouble in developing a peppy spirit, which makes a better state.

Business cannot increase or advance to any extent in states where the roads are not modern and sufficient to render the necessary service required.

People who are interested in the growth of the home city always have an opportunity of assisting in its development.

When they take a look at the very low prices of the various items offered there, they will readily see that it pays to buy from the business concerns of the home city.

Cooperation is the life of a city. Every citizen should cooperate by spending their money with the live business concerns of the home city.

Good business means prosperous times for all.

Cooperation creates—stagnation kills.

Progressive citizens are loyal citizens; they cooperate with local business concerns and by so doing they keep their city progressive.

The ROMANTIC RUNAWAY

BEAU'S HOME TODAY

Pablito was a handsome youth... He had been reading the newspaper and sat down to read it. It was there just as Beau had said. Beneath a portrait of Estelle, a little smeared in the printing but all too clear he read "Society has been expecting the news for some time. Mr. Alec Davids who has been cruising with Mr. and Miss Field on Mr. Field's yacht—"

Pablito found he could not read it quickly. He had to go back to the beginning and start over again. The words arranged themselves crazily. But at length he had finished the entire, rather wordy paragraph underneath the portrait.

He stood then, trembling and clutching the newspaper. He stared down at Estelle's picture, then abruptly left the room.

Beau called after him to say something about the man named Billings who had called that day. Billings had said he must see Pablito about a matter that was important.

Later, though not much later, Beau, who was still in bed, looked up to see Pablito once more before him. Pablito was wearing a suit that had been made for traveling and not for a Cuban evening.

"Gimme a cigaret —" Beau ordered. Pablito gave him the pack. As he stopped with a lighted match burning blue beneath his palms he said slowly, "I'm leaving, Beau."

"Where you going?"

"I don't know."

"What about your letters?"

"There won't be any letters you need to forward. There'll be none that matter." Pablito smiled as he spoke. It was a smile that Beau didn't exactly like.

"My God," he thought, "the kid is hit!"

"Look here, kid," he protested, "that Billings was here again today. He said he's got to see you. Seemed to be all set up about something. Came all the way from New York to see you, he said. You can't go without—"

Billings was probably selling something, Pablito decided slowly and heavily. He remembered that Billings looked like a salesman—the sort who always come all the way from some very distant point to sell some one thing to one particular man.

"Tell him I never buy oil stock," he answered. Then he thought of Sir Aubrey and the fact that Sir Aubrey had been Billings' friend. But the Englishman could have written anything he cared to tell him, Pablito decided surely.

"Honest, I think you're making a mistake," Beau persisted. "I had a kind of feeling when he came that something real important was up. He sort of looked that way. When 'll you be back, kid?"

"I don't know."

"Well—so long. We'll miss you!" Pablito went down the stairs and out under the blackness and the twinkling stars that make the Cuban sky. He had not said

No Candidate For Governor From Southern Texas

By GORDON K. SHEARER
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 AUSTIN.—For the first time in many state campaigns there is no candidate for governor from south, southeast or southwest Texas.

Wright Morrow, Houston, who has been considered a likely candidate, told the United Press that he would not be a candidate this year.

His statement and the switching of Franklin P. Adams, Houston, to the race for state senator leaves this wide territory clear. The effect of such a situation upon the result of the democratic primary result is bound to be considerable.

Except for the hundred-mile circle about Dallas, there is no other part of Texas with so great a voting strength.

Lacking a local candidate, Bexar county's more than 55,000 voters probably will be cast with a substantial lead for C. C. McDonald. Jacob Rubiolo, successively county and city commissioner, is the "chefe politico" of the Alamo city. Eugene T. Smith, close political friend of the Governors Ferguson, was Rubiolo's secretary and political aide when Smith was in San Antonio. It will take unexpected causes, therefore, to take away from McDonald what strength still is wielded by the once all-powerful city-county political organization of San Antonio and Bexar county.

Maury Hughes' wet attitude will make him popular there. James V. Alfred has powerful San Antonio connections, though out of tune with the San Antonio liquor attitude. Bexar county court records show no convictions there under the Dean law. But there are many dries, there, too. A sister of the attorney general lives in San Antonio. Everett Johnson, an assistant attorney general, is brother of Carl Wright Johnson, former close political and official aide of the late Mayor Chambers. Former Attorney General R. L. Bobbitt, an avowed supporter of Alfred for governor, is a member of the San Antonio law firm once headed by another former mayor—the late Marshall Hicks.

Candidateless Houston and Harris county have an even greater voting strength than San Antonio and Bexar county. Possible vote there runs over 80,000. It has already been besieged by the rival candidates. Clint Small, who supported Houstonian Ross, stepped in his race for governor, has been on the ground early. Tom Hunter has large ground floor headquarters at a prominent downtown Houston street corner. Hughes is a protégé of John Henry Kirby. Edy Hussion and others who carried on the successful battle for Mrs. Ferguson's election there in the last campaign are enthusiastic for McDonald. Alfred has an assistant there, too—Sidney Benbow.

Galveston, a few miles away, also is open territory for the North Texas candidates for governor. They must tread softly there, however. Local factions make it inadvisable for a candidate to be backed too strongly by either. If one side is very strong for a candidate the other is likely to be against him. Galveston, too, furnished an assistant for Alfred's department.

Jefferson county, with Beaumont and Port Arthur, offers a nice possible vote of around 40,000. Senator Small was early in the field there and has a campaign organization set up with State Representative J. R. McDougald at its head.

For the run-off primary in August, being without a home candidate, South Texas will go for the "wet" candidate against a "dry" if it follows past political performance.

High spots in the political happenings of the week included: J. F. Hair, San Antonio, went back to his former county of Bell to open his campaign for attorney general at Temple on April 6. Judge Harry Dolan, Georgetown, remained undecided upon entering the attorney general's race.

J. G. Pundt, Dallas, independent oil man, was unofficially reported about to contest with Len A. Smith for railroad commissioner.

Attorney General James V. Alfred hurried disposition of oil litigation in preparation for a day

Four Parties to Seek Elections In The Sooner State

By FRANK McNAUGHTON
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 OKLAHOMA CITY.—Oklahoma voters will have four party tickets and a number of independent candidates to choose from in the election this year.

Added zest to a predicted hot campaign will be provided by the Socialist party, which already has placed its ticket in the field, and the Prohibition party, which is making a strenuous effort to revive itself in the face of national repeal.

Once a powerful factor in state politics, the socialists reached a peak vote of 52,000 in 1914, and thereafter rapidly declined. At that time, the party had more than 20,000 dues paying members, and the late was a hotbed of socialism with Eugene V. Debs, Caroline Lavee, Oscar Ameringer, militant editor, and others fanning the political fire.

Though the socialists staged a partial comeback with 23,000 Oklahoma votes in 1920, the party has been weak since its anti-war stand. The Marxists of Oklahoma are not as rabid followers of Norman Thomas, party head, as they were of Eugene Debs. What momentum they can gather in the face of President Roosevelt's program, which has robbed them of many of their strongest fighting issues, is a matter of great interest.

What the prohibitionists can do in the face of popular national repeal is anxiously awaited by an opposing faction hoping to achieve repeal of a state dry amendment. Veteran political observers, scanning the Oklahoma prohibition party's history, are inclined to dismiss its future opportunities as less than negligible.

At the peak of the dry crusade in 1916, when a dry vote was a blow for "a great cause," the state prohibitionists reached their peak with 3,214 votes, then dropped rapidly into obscurity, as far as election returns were concerned, though vociferous in politics.

The major parties have not had other tickets to compete with since 1928.

WON OVER $2,500
 SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—Matrimony proved a stronger attraction for Maurice Hesson, 22, than a $2,000 prize for a transcontinental race. Hesson and Richard Burkfield, 26, started from Oakland, Cal., for New York, on roller skates. If they make the cross-country trek in 50 days, an eastern manufacturing concern will pay them the money. The trip was 18 days old when they stopped in Salt Lake City long enough for Hesson to marry Virginia Lambert, 20, who has joined in the race.

AAA Has Plans for Milk Production

By United Press
 WASHINGTON.—Production control proposals submitted to the dairy industry by the Farm Administration are intended to prevent "extreme demoralization" in the industry and not to create an artificial shortage, administrators asserted in an appeal for national support of the plan.

The case for limiting milk supplies was presented in a series of six articles prepared by the AAA. Officials said it would be easier for them to let the dairy problem work itself out by "natural" processes, but it would mean starvation for the farmer, and this they would not countenance.

4,500,000 Farms
 They pointed out that the proposed plan would affect some 4,500,000 farm families, whose income had been cut in half during the depression and whose products had been selling at 40 per cent below pre-war parity.

It is proposed that dairymen limit their output to conform with sales quotas to be allotted under the program. For their co-operation they would be paid benefits derived from collection of an estimated $165,000,000 in processing taxes, $15,000,000 of which would be earmarked for even distribution among three supplemental relief plans involving tuberculosis eradication, purchase of surplus milk to feed undernourished city children and transfer of good cows to poor farms.

Milk Consumption
 Consumption of fluid milk probably will not be decreased at all and of other dairy products only a little, the farm administrators said. Instead, they predicted, consumption of fluid milk may increase.

The articles reviewed various proposals submitted to the government for solution of the dairy dilemma and listed weaknesses which precluded their adoption: maintenance of the old milk marketing agreements because of the difficulty of enforcing fixed retail prices and because these agreements guaranteed distributors' profits, "in some instances more than ample already"; reliance on the new agreements alone because without production control their usefulness would be confined to narrow limits; government purchase of low producer cows because disposal of the large number of carcasses virtually would ruin the beef market.

Wards Add Eight New Salespeople For Ward Week

Eight salespeople have been added to the sales force for Ward Week which starts today. They will assist in serving the thousands of thrifty-minded shoppers who will take advantage of the new low Ward Week prices.

"No matter how large the crowd," states Mr. Fesmire, manager of the local Montgomery Ward store, "we are enabled by the additions to our staff to assure every Ward Week visitor prompt and efficient service."

Wards have chosen salespeople from Ranger and vicinity. It's the policy at Wards to employ as many local people as possible in Ward stores.

Mr. Fesmire has announced that savings are far greater than ever, even considering Wards' reputation for value-giving. Judging from the response to former Ward Weeks, Mr. Fesmire feels that the shoppers of this vicinity will take keener interest in this present spring event.

 MADISON, Wis.—Two landmarks long identified with Wisconsin's progress have been torn down by C. W. A. crews. The Union Hotel at British Hollow, near Lancaster, a two-story brick building erected in 1913, has been removed, and the opera house of Waterloo also was torn down. The opera house was built in 1851 ostensibly for a skating rink. It was later used as a shoe factory and for a while served as town hall before it was converted into a theater.

Hugh Roe and her daughter Dorace Roe, drove up to Saturday to meet Miss Blanche Roe, who came home Able to spend the week-end.

Roy Ashburn, Plummer, Clarence Ragland, I. N. C. W. Maitly, Fred Mattie Henry and W. C. went to Sweetwater Tuesday to attend the meeting of the 6th district federation of men's clubs. Mrs. Joseph M. of Eastland, is president of the 6th District Federation and to her efficient management planning for the meeting the attendance broke all records for the Federation. At the International Relations luncheon at the Bluebonnet hotel there were over 400 guests. The luncheon was served by the artists—musicians, and readers, who entertained during the luncheon with their costumes. The honor of the morning session of the Federation, was Mrs. Volney of Brownsville, who is president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Taylor charming personality and is a speaker, and brought a message to her hearers that was worth traveling many miles. Reports from the clubs of the various departments were read during the day. Mrs. Mattie read the report from the "21" Study club and Mrs. C. Bedford read her report as chairman of the Penny fund.

Mrs. C. M. Bratton and daughter Cleve Jean, left today for Craig City, in the Texas oil fields, where they make their home. Mr. Bratton transferred there by the Lind Company. Mr. and Mrs. have lived here since they were married here in and have been active workers in the Methodist church and in social and club circles and their friends are very much to have them leave.

Mattie went to Sweetwater Wednesday to drive one of the ladies who went to club Federation meeting. Roy Rushing accompanied Mrs. J. H. Rushing, Sr., drove up to Ranger Wednesday afternoon to do some shopping. Soon after getting there the big rain came and they could hardly cross the street. They came home around by Eastland where they had to wait for the water to run down before they crossed the river.

The city election held last Thursday resulted in the re-election of A. C. Robert as mayor and W. B. May and R. L. Black as aldermen. These men have with the other members of the city council, served the city efficiently and their re-election shows the confidence the people have in them. The council is composed of A. C. Robert, mayor, and W. B. May, R. L. Black, W. H. Davis, L. E. Clark and G. S. Bruce, the latter being secretary.

The election of school trustees was held Saturday and resulted in the election of T. L. Acrea, R. A. Brown and D. B. Parks. The school board has had a difficult task this year in managing the finances and collecting taxes in order to keep our school open. So far they have been able to pay the teachers part of their salaries but unless the people respond to their appeal for payment of taxes it is uncertain how long the school can continue. Mr. Acrea and Mr. Parks were already members of the board and Mr. Brown had served as a trustee several years ago. Other members of the board are J. E. Heeter, F. E. Keith, O. A. Kountze and W. E. Barron. All members of the board are working faithfully to keep our school running the full term, but they need the help of every taxpayer in the district and it is hoped the people will co-operate with the board.

We are glad to report that Mrs. Ed Parks, who was seriously burned by the explosion of her steam pressure cooker about ten days ago, is improving and will likely be brought home from the West Texas Clinic Hospital at Ranger in a short time.

Whit Richards, who was taken to the Blackwell Sanitarium at Gorman Wednesday is improving, thought still seriously ill. He had a severe attack of appendicitis. His many friends are glad to know that he is considered out of danger.

W. C. Bedford drove up to Ranger to take his daughter, Mrs. Betty Vestal, who was leaving for California after a visit with her father and step-mother, and a week at Cisco with her aunt, Mrs. D. K. Scott and family. She had expected to leave from Cisco one day last week, but the lady with whom she drove from Los Angeles was delayed in Dallas.

Texas Flier Earns A Living Hunting Coyotes from Air

FORT STOCKTON, Texas.—Hunting coyotes by airplane is the lucrative sport of Roy Baumgardner, who works for Texas ranchmen bothered by the pests.

The plane usually is used in connection with a ground drive against coyotes, the aviator pursuing the animals and shooting them with a shotgun after they have been jumped by hunters on the ground.

A base price is charged by Baumgardner whether coyotes are killed or not, with an additional amount for each animal killed. The price averages about $10 to $15 per coyote.

Baumgardner has contracts with ranchmen that do not begin until several months in the future because of the demand for his services.

Local Club Women Sponsor 'Woman's Day' at Arcadia

The local women's clubs representatives working in conjunction with the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs in celebrating "Woman's Day" in the Arcadia Theatre here on April 26, are looking forward to great success of their enterprise by which a liberal portion of the receipts of Arcadia Theatre will be turned over to the Federation representatives.

In a statement today Mrs. Clyde H. Davis, local executive in charge of the ticket sale, lauded the plans of Manager B. E. Garner of the Arcadia Theatre and his organization.

The plan whereby we are to receive a share of the day's receipts of the theatre is a splendid one," said Mrs. Davis. "It strikes a new note in community work and I believe is the first time a theatre has entered into such co-operation."

"As nearly everyone knows, the clubhouse of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs—an imposing structure in which are centered the activities of 30,000 Texas club women—bears a mortgaged indebtedness and the funds realized from today's theatrical activities in our behalf throughout the state will materially reduce this debt, thanks to the efforts of Mr. Karl Hobitzelle of Dallas, who besides contributing a share of the receipts from his theatres, interested theatre owners throughout the entire state.

"Here locally we are being given every consideration by Manager Garner of the Arcadia Theatre, who is working as hard as we are to make the day a success. He is interesting business men and workers of the city in the project and I look for a banner day at the Arcadia Theatre."

Besides the Arcadia Theatre here, shows houses co-operating throughout the state are: All the Paschall-Texas Theatres, including the houses in Breckenridge, Eastland, Brownwood, Abilene, and 117 other Texas cities.

Crashes Walls As Means of Living

WASHINGTON. — Crashing through walls at a speed of 75 miles an hour has brought fame and fortune to Clark Townsend, former amateur motorcycle racer.

Townsend, a native of Lisbon Falls, Me., received from $50 to $100 for riding a motorcycle through a 36 square foot wooden wall, one inch thick. He is one of five men in America who can accomplish this feat.

A motorcycle wall crasher for three years, he has suffered few minor injuries in more than 70 exhibitions.

Townsend fell heir to the profession by accident. In 1931, he explained, while riding 70 miles an hour down a highway, his motorcycle left the road and crashed through a rail fence. He was uninjured. It then occurred to him that he might make a living by crashing through walls and audiences.

The New Englander performed stunts at fairs and cycle races. He circles the gathers, and then, through the wall. Force of impact, Townsend declared, the front wheel in the failure to crash through prove fatal.

He is equipped with a proof helmet, shatter-proof goggles, hockey gloves, rubber spacers, felt enforcers, leather caps for his knees, puttees, high shoes, leather heavy sweater, and tightly tape about his neck. The cycle has break-proof tire bumpers, special handbrakes, a high speed motor.
