STUDENT RIOT THREATENS AS NEGRO JAILED

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., April 16.—A heavily re-enforced guard was maintained at the county jail to protect a negro assault suspect after Colorado college students milled in the streets and burned an effigy of a negro.

The students were classmates of Miss Georgia Lindley, 22, daughter of a wealthy Longview, Texas, oil family, and James O'Brien, 19, Colorado Springs, who were beaten severely by two negroes.

George Williams was the only prisoner held on suspicion in the case after police questioned 15 negroes. The other 14 were released.

Fifty automobiles, loaded with college and high school students, and scores of students afoot, paraded the streets of this usually quiet town last night when they heard of the attack yesterday on O'Brien and Miss Lindley. Revolvers were fired and at the height of the demonstration an effigy was burned causing a report that the negro had been lynched.

The students disbanded after appeals by the chief of police and school officials.

Eastland Takes Double Header Bill From Ranger

By CHAS. E. LAPON

The Eastland club copped a double-header from the Ranger Oilers, before an opening day crowd of 500 eager-eyed and wide awake fans. The games were full of thrills from the beginning and were well enjoyed by the several hundred fans present.

The Eastland club barely nosed out the Oilers in the first game, pushing across the winning run in the last half of the ninth. The Oilers maintained a steady lead up until the fatal ninth. It was the result of a rally led by 10th-rungers, Pope and Wallace.

For the Eastland nine, Captain Brothers, Pope and Wallace were the mainstays at bat for the locals. Brothers getting a home run, triple and a double in the fifth with the bases loaded. He hit four for five for the two games. Pope five for seven and Wallace five for eight.

For the Oilers Pace, Lingle and Dinsmore were the batting stars besides being the main cogs in the Oilers defense. Dinsmore was forced to retire in the second game as a result of an injured leg. Buddy Brothers of the Eastland club slid into third cutting a bad gash in Dinsmore's leg. The Oilers had a hustling nine on the field and are due to give the rest of the members of the league plenty of worry.

The Eastland club sparked afield also, handling many difficult chances with the ease and ability of veterans. Morris, Watson and Amis playing great defensive ball for the locals.

O. Dick started in the box for the Eastland nine but was relieved by Wallace who finished in grand style striking out Densmore, the Oilers' third sacker. He fanned (Continued on page 2)

Texas Only Three Months Behind In Paying Off Warrants

AUSTIN, April 16.—Texas was only three months behind in paying her current expenses today, when the state treasurer called in state warrants totaling $643,170 for redemption.

The call embraced all warrants against the state general revenue fund issued up to Jan. 23, 1934.

It leaves a state general fund deficit of $4,969,220.

Funeral Tuesday For Jolly Garner

EL PASO, April 16.—Jolly Garner, 48, brother of Vice President John N. Garner, will be buried at Detroit, Texas, at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow.

His body will be placed in a family vault beside those of his mother and father. Garner took his own life Saturday night.

Mrs. P.N. Peterson Died Sunday night; Burial on Tuesday

Mrs. Willie Belle Peterson, 48, wife of P. N. Peterson of Eastland Hill, died at her home at midnight Sunday night. Funeral services are to be conducted at the Church of Christ Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. D. W. Nichol, pastor of the church. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery following the services at the church. Killingsworth, Cox & Co. will be in charge of interment.

The decedent was born in McLennan county, Texas, Jan. 24, 1886, and had been a resident of Ranger for the past 15 years.

She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Inez Vaughn of Ranger; four step-children, Verne and Wayne Peterson of Ranger, Mrs. Cecil Fuller of Dallas, and Mrs. D. J. Beckham of San Angelo; her mother, Mrs. Fannie Williams of Ranger; two sisters, Mrs. Tena Christian of Ranger, and Mrs. Myrtle Roberts of Mt. Calm, and three brothers, Jim Williams of Longview, Bill Williams of Kilgore and Lawrence Williams of Iowa, La.

Former Ranger Girl Undergoes Operation

Lee Walker, who returned from California the latter part of last week, reports that Mrs. Robert H. Rinn of Lodi, Calif., who underwent a major operation several weeks ago is getting along nicely and unless complications set in will be entirely well in the next month or so.

Mrs. Rinn is a former Ranger girl and is the daughter of Mr. Walker. He said he is glad to be home again after an absence of several months and that he has spent the greater part of the time away from Ranger at the bedside of his daughter. He also visited his son, Edward, who lives in Los Angeles.

Insult Is Happy As He Continues His Journey Home

ABOARD STEAMSHIP EXLONA, AT SEA, April 16.—Samuel Insull, returning to the United States to face trial on fraud charges, was back on cigarettes today after smoking the last of the ship's stock of cigars, four 10-centers.

The aged utilities man was more congenial than he had been, apparently resigned to his fate.

He sent a message to his wife yesterday at Athens. It was understood she would not join him.

Delegates Picked For Conference at DeLeon This Week

Rev. Ephraim D. Conway, circuit rider of the Ranger district, Methodist church, announced today that delegates and alternates had been selected for the district conference, to be held at DeLeon April 19 and 20.

Five delegates and five alternates have been named from the circuit, and they will attend the conference this week. Rev. Conway stated.

Trotzky Plans a Constant Revolt Police Declare

PARIS, France, April 16.—Police charged today that Leon Trotzky, former co-dictator of Soviet Russia, had practically completed plans for a fourth internationale, designed to keep the world in constant revolutionary turmoil.

Trotzky today sought a new hiding place from the hundreds of czarist Russians in France who have sworn to kill him.

The barking of two fierce dogs brought a raid on a villa at the edge of a forest at Barbizon. Trotzky met the police with a pistol in each hand. Learning that they were not enemies, he showed them an authorization from the minister of the interior to live anywhere in the department of Seine and Marne.

NEW YORK, April 16.—The fourth internationale is functioning in the United States, it was disclosed today in connection with a police raid on the refuge of Leon Trotzky in France.

OFFICERS TRAIL SLAYER OF A YOUNG GIRL

SHREVEPORT, La., April 16. Officers declared today they were on the trail of a man suspected in the slaying and assaulting of Mae Griffin, 16-year-old Shreveport girl, whose body was found near here yesterday.

They said they believed the man sought would be arrested in a few hours. Meantime four persons already were in custody for questioning regarding the crime.

Miss Griffin's throat had been slashed three times with a knife and there were four stab wounds in the body when it was found by two negroes who were walking in the woods west of Shreveport.

Dr. William Butler, coroner, said the girl as assaulted after she was murdered.

Search for a 50-year-old man began after the girl victim's mother, Mrs. L. R. Peters, gave a description of a man who had employed Miss Griffin as a maid and companion for his wife, Mrs. Peters said her daughter was to have been married soon. The girl left home with the man Thursday. Officers thought she was slain that day.

When she failed to return home, her mother appealed to police. She told them her daughter's employer's name was Jackson and gave police his address. The address proved to be false.

Carpenters And Painters Cooperate In Big Clean-Up

Ranger's Clean-Up Campaign is creating quite a bit of enthusiasm and several are planning on extra work and jobs over the week. The Times Saturday in its effort to reach all the painters, carpenters, paper hangers, plumbers and other building tradesmen failed to contact several of them and their names were left off of the publicity.

We are endeavoring to list each one of the tradesmen today and anyone desiring any of the services of any of these men can find same or get in touch with any of them by phoning 61, Burton-Lingo, or 140, Pickering Lumber Co. and R. S. Balch and Calvin Brown will be glad to find the man you wish for your particular job.

County Golf Assn, Schedule Given

CISCO, April 16.—P. G. Vagle, Cisco Country club golf team captain, has announced the following schedule approved for the Eastland County Golf association recently organized and composed of the golf clubs of Cisco, Eastland, Ranger and Gorman.

The schedule opens April 29, with Cisco going to Gorman for a match and Eastland going to Ranger.

May 13, Gorman plays at Eastland and Ranger at Cisco.

May 27, Eastland plays at Cisco and Ranger at Gorman.

June 10, Cisco goes to Eastland and Gorman to Ranger.

June 24, Gorman plays at Cisco and Ranger at Eastland.

July 8, Eastland plays at Gorman and Cisco at Ranger.

After the above schedule is played—consisting of two meetings between each two clubs—one more match between each two clubs will be played, the site to depend upon the outcome of the previous matches.

These will be:

July 22, Cisco and Gorman at Eastland and Ranger.

August 5, Gorman and Eastland and Cisco and Ranger.

August 19, Eastland and Cisco and Ranger and Gorman.

CYCLONE STRIKES IN COUNTRY EARLY SUNDAY NIGHT, DOING MUCH PROPERTY DAMAGE

A small cyclone, that did considerable damage, struck in the Cross Roads community Sunday evening just after dark, demolishing several houses. No injuries to occupants of any of the homes was reported.

J. A. Jones, farmer, who had recently moved to Cross Roads, was the heaviest loser. His home and all his personal belongings were swept entirely away in the storm, which struck suddenly.

This morning Wilson Connell visited the scene of the storm and reported Jones and his family to be in dire want because of the damage done. All their clothing, bed clothing, furniture, cooking utensils and everything they owned was reported to have been swept away.

The family took temporary refuge in a dugout, after reportedly killing a couple of snakes that occupied it, but the rain, following the brunt of the storm, soon drove them out. They went to the home of a brother-in-law nearby, and remained throughout the night, though this house, also, was badly damaged, the greater portion of the roof having been blown away.

Efforts were being made this morning in Ranger to secure some aid for the Jones family through the direct relief offices, the Red Cross and by voluntary contributions from the citizens.

W. C. Hickey contacted J. E. Spencer of Cisco, county chairman of the Red Cross for Eastland county, this morning to determine the amount of Red Cross relief that could be secured for those suffering the most loss.

The home of Lee Hise was also badly damaged, every window in the house being broken and other damage sustained. The storm is also reported to have struck near Frankel without doing much damage and at Desdemona.

Relief Workers to Meet April 24th

The second meeting of case workers in the Texas Relief Commission setup in six West Texas counties will be held in Eastland, Tuesday, April 24, it was announced in Abilene, Friday, at the conclusion of a conference attended by 75 relief workers and officials.

Duties they will perform under the new budget work relief program being developed in the state were discussed at the Abilene meeting. The sessions were directed by F. H. Bushick Jr., field representative of the state commission, and Miss Violet Farr, state case work supervisor, who has been assigned to make headquarters in Abilene. The two, with Hunter George, case work supervisor for Eastland county, led the conference discussions.

Talks were also made by the county relief administrators; W. P. Woods, Stephens; H. E. Driscoll, Eastland; C. C. Cook, Callahan; James A. Davis, Jones, and Jim Taylor, Shackelford; Lloyd B. Thomas, Baylor.

Miss Mercer, a state case supervisor who has been stationed in Eastland county, was in attendance at the conference. She has been assigned to Jones county for the purpose of training case workers, and went to Anson at the conclusion of the conference.

Miss Farr is to have charge of all case work in the area, which includes Taylor, Eastland, Callahan, Jones, Shackelford and Stephens counties.

Hunter George is chairman of the conference to be held the 24th.

Mexican Charged With Assault To Murder Mexican

The case of the State of Texas vs. Felix Contou (Mexican) charged with assault with intent to murder in connection with the shooting of Julio Garcia (Mexican) at Ranger on December 31, last, was called for trial in Judge Geo. L. Davenport's 91st district court this morning.

Garcia was shot twice with a pistol.

Mrs. O. T. Maxwell of Cisco Died Sunday

Mrs. O. T. Maxwell of Cisco, mother of Miss Hess Maxwell, well known dancing teacher, succumbed at her home in Cisco, Sunday afternoon following a long illness during which time she underwent two major operations performed at Dallas.

This well known Cisco woman, active in both church and social circles, passing will be greatly mourned by a host of friends throughout this section of the country.

She is survived by her daughters, Misses Bess and Ruth Maxwell of Cisco, Mrs. Paul Butler, formerly of this place, Mrs. C. Hopkins of New York City, Tom Maxwell, and Oliver Maxwell of Amarillo.

Services for Mrs. Maxwell were held this afternoon at 5 o'clock at Cisco. Among Ranger friends attending were: Mrs. Onis Littlefield, Mrs. Max Ohr, Mrs. Neman Smith, Mrs. Harry Henry and Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Duckert and Mrs. V. V. Cooper, Jr.

Noted Educator Is Dead at Denton

DENTON, Texas, April 16.—Funeral services for Dr. R. L. Marquis, 54, president of North Texas State Teachers college and a leading Texas educator, will be held here at 3 p. m. tomorrow.

He succumbed last night to effects of a heart attack he suffered Friday.

Mr. Marquis had headed the institution here since 1923, prior to which he was president of the Sul Ross school at Alpine.

Last of Oklahoma Land Sales Stopped

WATONGA, Okla., April 16.—Benjamin Schueber, Baline county treasurer, decided today not to hold the auction of land for taxes scheduled for this morning.

National guardsmen had served him with a copy of Gov. W. H. Murray's executive military order of prohibition, 11 in six other counties of the 11 Murray listed Saturday, had already been canceled.

Relief Work Took Spotlight of the Political Circus

Removal of Relief Commissioner R. L. Holliday, El Paso, a staunch Moody supporter, and appointment of Col. Julius Dorenfeld, Amarillo, equally staunch Ferguson supporter, focused attention.

Resulting discharge of Director Adam Johnson, also a friend of former Governor Moody, heightened the political discussion.

Johnson, elected on a pledge to how to the line regardless of personalities, had fired labor leaders at El Paso from relief places. Holliday was blamed by these leaders for starting the movement for their removal. The result was not therefore, displeasing to the organized labor vote.

It pleased also supporters of C. C. McDonald, whose campaign for governor has the Ferguson backing.

Attorney General James V. Allred neatly climbed out of the political hole into which he apparently had been put when he was asked to rule on legality of the change. It was figured that whichever way Allred ruled, he would make the other side mad. Instead, he announced he would file quo warranto proceedings against both Holliday and Dorenfeld putting it up to the courts to decide.

Governor Ferguson gave him a good excuse to do this when he announced at the relief commission meeting that whatever the attorney general said would be only opinion—that it would be up to the courts to rule. He referred to her remarks in announcing his course.

Spreading farther, the Holliday-Johnson removal may have an effect on Spenser Coks Stevenson's ambition to be a two-term speaker of the Texas house of representatives. His removal of Holliday and appointment of Dorenfeld changed the undoubted intention of the late house of representatives to make more than a majority of the relief commission membership un-Ferguson in politics. Stevenson said there was no politics in his action and that Dorenfeld is for Maury Hughes for governor.

Another relief angle on Texas politics this week was announced that A. W. vonStruve, former publicity director of the Texas relief commission will return to Texas to take up the cudgels for election of Tom Hunter as governor. He had already drafted his resignation from the relief commission several months ago for this purpose but changed plans when asked to go to Washington with Col. Lawrence Westbrook. His return to Texas and the campaign, seems to indicate a pretty strong confidence in Hunter's chances.

Hunter will go right into Ferguson territory to open his campaign San Jacinto day. He will outline a "Texas Recovery Program" at Clifton, Bosque county, near the famous Ferguson-Bill-Bosque ranch. Senator Roy Sanderford, campaign manager for McDonald, accuses Hunter of taking advantage of a big Central Texas picnic already planned for Clifton.

Developments in other races included announcement of Senator Will Martin, Hillsboro, that he has definitely decided not to run for railroad commissioner against Commissioner Lon A. Smith. Senator Welly K. Hopkins, Gonzales, mentioned as a possible candidate for the place, displayed no interest. He already has announced for re-election to the senate.

A combination of Friday and the thirteenth of the month threw no damper on a Jefferson Day dinner arranged by J. E. Josey at Houston. An advisory committee embraced democrats of various factions. Former Gov. James E. Ferguson and Amon Carter, Fort Worth, both appeared as committee members.

Oil Strike Threat Is Held Light By Oil Administration

WASHINGTON, April 16.—A threat by Harvey Freming, president of the International Oil Workers union to call a strike if wage demands were not met by the government was minimized today by William Leiserson, chairman of the petroleum labor policy board of the oil administration.

"Freming is just talking," Leiserson said. "That's just part of their bargaining. The employers talk the same way, saying they were going out of business if wages were raised."

Freming told the United Press that he and his associates were composing a strike ultimatum for delivery to President Roosevelt today. He declared that 100,000 oil workers were prepared to walk out to force adoption of a "scale of wages" and conditions of employment, which, in our opinion, are contemplated in the petroleum code.

President to Seek No New Measures Speaker Declares

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The president has completed his legislative requests to congress with the exception of asking for $2,200,000,000 for continuance of the re-employment program, Speaker of the House Rainey said today.

"He will ask for no new legislation outside of that," Rainey said.

The speaker indicated he was optimistic over early adjournment as the result of a conference between house leaders and the president at which it was agreed some of the pending legislation could be shelved.

Rainey said he expected that the president would seek $1,600,000,000 for public works, probably $300,000,000 for continuance of the emergency work relief system which supplanted the CWA.

The appropriation will be carried in a deficiency supply bill.

Breck Is Winner Of District Meet

Breckenridge won the all round district championship of the District 6 Inter-scholastic League meet which ended in Breckenridge, Saturday, with points which totaled 73 1/2 points. Eastland was the nearest contender for the championship, they at the termination of the meet having 62 points.

Breckenridge through its representative in the girls tennis singles won the event, Saturday, which gave them a lead which left unquestioned the winner of the school tourney.

California school boys and girls voted Mae West and Mickey Mouse equal movie favorites. Now the producers can't figure out whether that's a slam for Mae or a boost for Mickey—or vice versa.

BANKHEAD COTTON CONTROL PLAN
'UP IN THE AIR'

Sen. Bankhead of Alabama is up in the air. His amendments to the house cotton control bill are up in the air. This happened when the house rejected senate amendments and sent the measure to conference. Rep. Marvin Jons hails from the Panhandle district of Texas. He is the head of the house agriculture committee. He was named head of the house conferees "who will attempt to take out of the measure a number of senate amendments, among them one allowing a farmer to produce six bales of cotton without paying processing taxes." Rep. Bankhead is a brother of the senate Bankhead. He is said to be committed to the house bill first, last and all the time.

Dr. A. B. Cox is director of the Texas university bureau of business research. He predicts "extensive changes in the economic structure of most of the nation will follow continued drastic curtailment of cotton acreage." He predicts that "thousands of persons would be thrown out of seasonal employment by cotton acreage reduction." His argument is that the government must be prepared to set up thousands of subsistence farms throughout the cotton belt if the restriction is to be a permanent policy. Indeed, the worthy professor visualizes economic disaster all along the line. First, "thousands of agricultural workers, especially negro or Mexican cotton choppers and pickers, would be forced immediately on relief rolls and will stay there until a comprehensive plan of rehabilitation can be worked out." Second, "it will likewise throw out of employment thousands of skilled and unskilled workers of cotton gins, cottonseed oil mills, cotton compresses and many other industries and trades dealing directly or indirectly with cotton." Third, "acreage release from cotton will be in the main planted to seed and food crops which will tend to cut off one of the Middle West's best markets on the one hand and create a labor condition which will attract manufacturing enterprises from the North and East," and then "the ultimate influence of drastic cotton acreage reduction will transfer its influence throughout the country, especially to the corn belt and the manufacturing East." In other words, as the actress who had married three millionaire husbands and having spent their fortunes divorced the victims expressed it: "Life is just one damn thing after another."

Cheer up. Spring is here. There is a season in the ground. Summer is on the way. Man should be told "Life is real and life is earnest." On with the battle. We may be happy yet.

PUBLIC SCHOOL AID AND CHANGES THAT SHOULD BE MADE

Four years ago State Supt. Marrs in a report to the legislative committee on education showed that for the current school year the apportionment would have exceeded $20 had the distribution of per capita school funds been made "on the basis of attendance instead of the per capita system." In the 27th biennial report of the state department of education L. W. Rogers declared for "a real equalization program." His recommendation is a matter of record. Read it:

The present crisis in our educational program has served at least one wholesome purpose. It has accentuated the need for a complete revision of our obsolete and inequitable method of distributing state available school funds—a system that affords no absolute guarantee that the funds apportioned to the various counties and school units of the state will serve the purpose for which they were appropriated. It is a well known fact that under our present system of state schools support approximately 400,000 children out of a scholastic enumeration of over 1,500,000 receive none of the beneficent returns from the annual investment of about $30,000,000 of state school funds. The weakness of the present system of distribution is the fact that it largely disregards the basic element of service. The state apportions to the local school unit $15 (1932-1933) for each enumerated scholastic irrespective of the quality of the school service to the child—too often in the absence of any service to them. Manifestly such distribution of state school funds is unsound and inequitable. . . . The state should no longer subsidize absence from school. Its resources should not be used to the extent of millions of dollars annually, to reward non-performance of duty." Chmn. Beck of the senate investigating committee has taken a partial census of the parochial and private schools of the commonwealth. Well, the count shows 390 "with an incomplete taking of the census."

There will be work for the lawmakers of the new legislature to convene under the big dome of the capitol in the month of January, 1935. Really, the voters of Texas, the taxpayers of Texas, should come out of their trance.

The best service to the cause of peace that can be rendered by our statesmen is the utmost restraint on their part—and a large Army and Navy.

Unless farmers can prosper, no other line of industry can.

Experience teaches a lot of people things they should know.

Cisco Club Wins
Firsts In State
Meet At Belton

CISCO, April 16.—The Cisco High school choral club, directed by Miss Ella Andrus, took two first places in the state choral club contest held at Belton Saturday under auspices of Baylor college, reports from there said. The club took first place in class A chorus singing and first place in solo singing and first place in class A chorus singing and first place in solo singing. The chorus was composed of 18 voices, as follows: Louellin Clark, La Rue Ely, Al- lene McCleskey, Lucille Clark, Bernie Mae Blumberg, Doris Surles, Dorothy Jean Walker, Mary Sue Mobley, Opal Crawford, Bessie Rae Coats, Esther Walker, Lorraine Siddall, Mignon Clark, Jacqueline Porter, Catherine Slatton, Lurline Poe, Lucky Ann Courtney and Nellie Sanders. The club was entered in three of the contests. Mrs. S. E. Hittson was accompanist.

The ROMANTIC RUNAWAY

BEGIN HERE TODAY PABLO, a handsome youth, becomes a fugitive when he runs from Key West to Havana with BEAU and LOTTIE, two thieves. Pablo has been accused of a murder he did not commit. MAR- TIA TREADWAY who could prove the "murder" fears scandal and romantic life.

Pablo is in love with ESTELLE FIELD, daughter of rich JIM FIELD in Havana. Under the name "Estelle," he becomes acquainted as a lover and he and Beau were a syndicate.

What he was thinking was, "At least I have the Havana house. I can sell it and with Estelle's income—" His vague reverie pictured the two of them managing on a reduced income, trying to share expenses. The big place in Havana would be too large for them to keep anyhow. It had always taken a horde of servants to run it. Now they would have to get along with only a cook and second maid. There would be no others—no maid for Estelle or valet for himself.

He gave Estelle's hand—grown limp in his clasp—a hard squeeze and again moved toward the table. She watched him down another stiff drink with a splutter and a gulp. Something was wrong, she knew. One of the few vices Jim Field had never acquired was over-drinking. Of course, she concluded wearily, with a hunch, matter-of-factly frankness that contrasted unpleasantly with her earlier moment of sympathy, it must be some woman. He had usually had his way with women but in a long lifetime of pursuit there was sure to be one desired one who would evade, perhaps with a cruel and mocking laugh.

"I hope Havana will make you feel much better," she said gently. Field thought of Estelle as she had been a few years earlier. She had always spoken gently then. Again his eyes stung.

"Well," he answered, "we'll have a try at it—"

old pain that always followed whenever she gave way to real feeling, hoping or caring—all those pitiable, beautiful and fragile emotions that go with youth.

A soft-footed servant announced dinner from the broad doorway. Jim Field got to his feet and, passing the servant, saw in the man's eyes that he had seen the evening's newspapers and was wondering about his wages.

Pablo was glad to find Lottie and Beau were to be left behind. And with Lottie's arms clinging about his neck and her tear-wet face raised to his he felt a faint glow of warmth. Lottie had always cared and he was grateful. No one else had always cared.

"Oh, my God, it's good to see you, Pablo!" she whispered so steadily. "We thought sometimes you was never coming back! Where was you, any way?"

She didn't wait for him to answer. "Beau and me have kept the place going," she went on quickly. "It ain't so popular as it was but if you'll start fighting again—"

"I'm not going to."

"Never mind!" he broke in abruptly. Then he smiled a bit at her, as convincingly as he could. Hands on her shoulders, he strook her gently and then looked around the big, bare room that had given him the feeling of returning home.

He found little change in the surroundings and this added to his feeling of something missing in the stretch of ground at the rear of the building. The heap of empty tin cans had grown higher their peaches and apricots dimmed by the hard rains. The grocer and a new son who had crawled among the barrels and the tin boxes, wearing little more than he had worn at his arrival, and the grocer's oldest daughter was to marry the young man who had sung beneath the window before Pablo left.

ON the roof, looking down upon La Sencra Parra who stood on a lower roof hanging out a wash-line. Pablo enjoyed a brief interval of peace. Above him was the bluest sky on earth. Below someone was singing a love song of old Spain. The singer had a good voice—clear and sweet-toned. Pablo looked across a stretch of vivid green dotted with tall palms and saw a hibiscus bush, defiantly scarlet. Down the road an "art" came slowly toward him. It was heavily laden with sugar cane. On the morrow at some corner shop where corrugated iron blinds are rolled high by say some little daughters of Havana would, no doubt, buy a stick of the cane to nibble as they skipped homeward.

The morning would see him strolling Obispo and O'Reilly and walking through the park, stopping at the Cosmopolita for luncheon or going to La Union. He would be eating the dust of the street on his food and knowing the life of the street as he ate. Then, he decided, he would ride to a widely lurching taxicab down to the docks and along the wall-guarded water front where the glare from the narrow bay causes blue eyes, unshaded by dark pigment, to squint and lower lids for protection.

He would ride through the smart Vedado where trimly dressed nurse maids may be seen accompanying elaborately clothed little children; on out to Cerra where life is lived almost entirely in the open; and then on to the Vibora where lived his mother—his mother whom he had never seen.

He would order the driver to go slowly along la calle San Anastasio and at a certain door he would look long. For a moment Pablo's bitterness came back to him. Then again the wonder of the picturesque land swept over him. Cuba was home to him; it was gorgeous and wonderful.

No Substitute For Ross Being Sought

By United Press
FORT WORTH, April 16.—Promoter Dick Griffin today abandoned plans for a substitute for Barney Ross, junior welterweight champion, against Tony Herreros, El Paso challenger, Friday night. "If Ross fails to appear, as he has said, there will be no fight," Griffin told reporters today.

Griffin said he had been considering attempting to get Pete Nebo, high ranking New York fighter, to substitute for Ross, but had decided against that.

both times he faced the slants of Wallace much to the amusement of the fans.

The first game was protested by Manager Pace of the Oilers over an infraction of the playing rules. Watson had been playing second for the Eastland club and was replaced by Norton in the fifth.

Watson was coaching on third during the remainder of the first game and the contention is that he is not allowed to be on the field during the remainder of the game.

The protest will probably be settled at the first meeting of the league heads. President Dave Perry who was present did not make a statement regarding the outcome of the protest.

The second game was a slugfest with the Eastland club very much the winner; winning handily 14 to 4. Ranger used two pitchers in the second game in a vain effort to stem the tide of extra base blows. It seemed as though the locals here had been aroused as a result of the protest. Wallace and Turner did the hurling in the second game with Amis catching.

Manager Spaulding was well pleased over the two victories and the hustling and hitting ability of his cohorts and has high hopes of keeping a hard hitting and hustling nine in the race.

The Slump Turned Brawny Men to The Cook Books

By United Press
DETROIT—The depression has been blamed for many queer things but until recently no one charged it with creating cooks out of brawny men.

Miss Ruth Rutven, head of the circulation department of the Detroit Public Library, revealed that for the past two years the greatest demand for cook books has come from men.

"Cook books are almost the most used books in the building," Miss Rutven said. "From nine in the morning until ten at night the cook books, of which we have many, are in constant use."

Usurp Bride's Place
"Although brides and bride-to-be used to be the most constant readers, poring over them from cover to cover, their place has been usurped since the depression and they have had to compete with men in the race to obtain them. It's no uncommon thing to give out cook books to as many as ten or 15 men a day. It's surprising how famous Detroit is becoming for the number of cooks in its male population."

Miss Rutven said that "Lots of men like to boast of their culinary skill, sometimes, though the girl friend catches up to them and they have to make good their boasts. Then what can the average man do but come to the library for information."

Change for Wife
Miss Rutven told the United Press of a very disappointed young man who came to her desk one day and said, "This is the third time this week I've been here for a cook book. What do people do with them, eat them? Here I've promised Jane a change from canned pork and beans thinking I could get some good recipes and now when she gets home from work tonight she's going to be disappointed again."

A great many men have taken out cook books intending to study them as a means of making a living cooking, said Miss Rutven. "One young chap today is the chef of a large hotel as the result of studying a cook book I recommended to him."

THE COLONEL SAID HE COULDN'T BE ELECTED---PUPILS PROVE HE'S WRONG

Honest Candidate Can Win, Tulsa Vote Shows

By NEA SERVICE
TULSA, Ok.—It couldn't be done, so they did it.

Lieut. Col. Oscar Winthrop Hoop will soon take office here as police and fire commissioner because his students of politics at the University of Tulsa didn't subscribe to his theory.

Hoop's theory, expounded by many a teacher of politics before him, was that an ordinary citizen without organization backing has no chance in running for public office unless he promises jobs, kisses babies, and in general stoops to low and unprincipled conduct.

Hoop's students wouldn't believe him. Further, they went right out to prove him wrong. Results: Hoop 18,994; opponent, 6731, for police commissioner.

Here's how it all started: Hoop was telling his politics class of his favorite theory—that only organization-serving, baby-kissing, free-promising candidates can be elected to office.

A saucer-eyed youth of 19 in the front row perked up with this question: "What have YOU done about that?"

Query Jaxx Colonel
"My Adam's apple bobbed up and down about five times," Hoop relates, "before I could find an answer."

But he had to answer, and a few days later, he filed his candidacy in the Democratic primaries for fire and police commissioner.

It was just a demonstration. "In announcing," Hoop said, "I wish to state that I have no prospects or desire for election, nor is my announcement made in response to public demand."

"I shall pay my own expenses, shall make no promises to any person or group of persons, make no campaign, kiss no babies, and conduct myself as a gentleman."

Professional politicians chuckled. There were seven candidates for the job, including lanky Thomas I. Monroe, veteran office holder and smart politician.

Students Get Busy
But the students didn't chuckle. They didn't think the colonel was right. Being young, they felt it could be done. So they started out to do it.

Some 300 of them jiggled together a temporary organization, and while the colonel kept to his campus and classroom the students went to town.

They began bobbing up at pre-election meetings, boosting the colonel's program of a merit system in the police department instead of the spoils system, law enforcement, city manager government, and public ownership of public utilities. It started in a very modest way.

Then one night a woman political worker rose and remarked acidly: "You boys should be spanked, intimating that Democrats are dishonest!"

Boys Go On Stump
Instead of being spanked, the "boys" found themselves invited to speak at meetings. They did. The ball began to roll. The students got a professor of Spanish to stump the Spanish quarter.

Colonel Hoop himself began to be interested. He challenged Monroe to meet him in debate in Convention Hall.

It took the "boys" two days to find Monroe, and then he declined. But several other candidates accepted, and later wished they hadn't.

Col. O. W. Hoop, above, was overwhelmingly elected police and fire commissioner of Tulsa, Okla., as a result of electioneering by his students, top, who set out to prove to Hoop, their politics teacher, that machineless candidates can be elected. Right, one of the students' campaign stunts.

That one short speech, delivered in a machine-gun monotone three days before election, was Hoop's only campaign appearance.

But on election day the students paraded and burned crooked politicians in effigy. They went from house to house getting out the vote. And when the ballots were counted, Hoop was in, with a count of Hoop, 5402; Monroe, 4680; Bowles, 3637; and the other four "also ran."

Democratic nomination in Tulsa has always been considered equivalent to election and so it proved in this case.

Veteran Is Astounded
The defeated Monroe, pressed for a statement, said ruefully, "Hoop made one speech. I made 170. I think I've talked enough. But you do have an organization to win. I've been 20 years getting mine to working, and yours has already knocked it haywire."

The surprised Colonel Hoop carried on his campaign in the same tone, making speeches of no more than one minute each, kissing no babies, promising no jobs on the police force.

Hoop is a lawyer who entered the army as a private at 17, and retired a colonel four years ago at the age of 47. Since his retirement he has been teaching government at the University of Tulsa.

But the best lesson taught in his classes thus far is the one his students have just taught themselves: You can have a decent election and elect a decent candidate if you'll take the trouble.

A Cleveland grandmother is suing a young woman for alienation of the affections of her policeman-husband. And love holds on after 40!

POLITICAL PROGNOSTICATORS PREDICT WARM CONGRESSIONAL CAMPAIGN IN 17TH DISTRICT

Many old-time West Texans declare that spring is not really with us until the mesquite trees bud out and the scissor-tailed birds appear, and that political seasons are never ripe until political propaganda begins to permeate the political atmosphere.

Whether the birds and the trees are showing signs of spring or not we have not noted, but there can be no mistake that the political seasons are opening since political propaganda in unlimited quantities has put in its appearance throughout the state.

In a series of articles by Raymond Brooks, Austin newspaper correspondent, published recently in a number of papers in the 17th congressional district, the statement is made that Congressman Thomas L. Blanton is facing the supreme struggle of his political career and that the result of the coming democratic primaries may be to unhorse him for good.

Opponents of Mr. Blanton, who are better informed as to the true state of affairs in the 17th congressional district than Mr. Brooks appears to be, get little comfort from these articles. They only wish these were the facts.

The facts are, Thomas L. Blanton is stronger today in his district than he was two years ago when he defeated Joe H. Jones. It is also a fact that Jones was a stronger opponent than either of the candidates out after Blanton's political scalp this year. Brooks points out that both of Blanton's opponents have records, one as a district judge and the other as a state legislator. That is true, but records often times prove one's undoing, and that is just what many predict will happen to Blanton's opponents when the records they have made are compared with those of Blanton.

The Eastland county candidate, Brooks states, is very popular in the county and the district. Brooks doesn't know his West Texans if he thinks any man is popular with them who stands up in the legislature of their state and makes the statement that "they don't know what they want," and that "they do not know the difference between a barrel of oil and a barrel of molasses."

The Eastland county representative is charged with having made that statement in a speech in the state legislature. Whether he used such poor judgment or not this writer does not know, but he was credited by newspaper correspondents and others with having said it. We believe he denies it, however.

Col. Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald, veteran political observer on the Austin American, same newspaper on which Brooks is employed, doesn't share Brooks' opinion of Blanton's chances for re-election. In the July 22 issue of the Austin American Fitzgerald praised Blanton for the record he has made in congress and pointed out that many former critics of Blanton had seen the light and were now thanking him for the splendid, unselfish service he has rendered the laborer, the farmer, war veterans, and others, and ventured the assertion that Blanton would continue in congress as long as he desired.

Brooks also showed his lack of knowledge of the existing facts when he stated that "after a long service in the house Blanton got left out," Blanton did not get left out, he could have easily been re-elected, but dropped out of his own accord.

This is a time when voters are going to think twice before they act to turn out an "in" for an "out," especially when the "in" has been tried and found not wanting and the "out" is more or less an unknown quantity.

C. P. Fisken To Be Advertising Head Chevrolet

The appointment of C. P. Fisken as advertising manager of the Chevrolet Motor company is announced today by William E. Heller, general sales manager.

Mr. Fisken succeeds R. H. Crocker, who becomes associated with Campbell-Ewald company.

Starting as a Chevrolet representative in the Janesville zone more than 10 years ago, Mr. Fisken has steadily advanced to positions of greater responsibility each year. From representative to sales promotion manager of the zone was his first step and this was quickly followed by his elevation to regional sales promotion manager of the Great Lakes region, one of the largest and most important in the country.

Mr. Fisken's first sales executive position came with his return to Janesville as zone manager. His excellent record in this position was followed by his transfer to Indianapolis as zone manager.

More than two years ago Mr. Fisken was called to the central office in Detroit and promoted to manager of the truck department. Under his supervision, Chevrolet closed 1933 with retail deliveries of 165,500 commercial and truck units, leading all other manufacturers in truck as well as passenger car sales.

Last October Mr. Fisken was appointed manager of the sales promotion department of Chevrolet and it was under his direction that the successful launching of the new 1934 Chevrolet took place. Mr. Fisken's elevation to the most important advertising post in the automobile industry followed his unusually fine record over the ten year period.

10,000 Additional Ford Orders Are Sent to Factory

DEARBORN, Mich., April 16.—Orders for more than 10,000 new Ford V-8 cars and trucks in excess of original commitments were received by the Ford Motor company during the first 10 days of April, it was announced today at the home offices here.

If the demand during the balance of the month continues at the same pace, the total of orders for the full month will run to 20,000 to 25,000 units, it was stated.

Sales during the month, it was pointed out, will be limited only by the company's present production capacity. Production is now running in excess of 90,000 cars and trucks per month and the total for April may exceed 100,000 units. The total, however, is wholly dependent upon the receipt from suppliers of an adequate quantity of parts, including bodies, and other materials.

The recent upturn in Ford orders is the result, it was stated, of a widespread increase in retail sales in all parts of the country, every section contributing.

One of the most favorable signs in its relation to the economic condition of the country at large is the increases in the rural districts. Reports from all parts of the country indicate that rural dealers, who have been more or less inactive for the last three years are again doing business on a scale comparable to 1929. Some of these reports that their volume of business thus far this year is greater than all of 1933.

No comment was forthcoming as to whether the increase in sales is attributable to the action of the Ford company in maintaining the original list prices on the new 1934 V-8 cars and trucks in the face of the general increase in prices on the part of the industry or to the increase in public acceptance of the new Ford V-8 unit or both.

AUTO NAP REMEMBERED BY FIVE OCCUPANTS

By United Press
ROCKVILLE, Conn.—Because William Burke, 27, took a "catnap" at the wheel of his car while driving home at 2:30 p. m., five members will have occasion to remember it's best to keep awake while operating an automobile.

Burke's car smashed into a parked machine and he was arrested. He telephoned his brother who furnished bond and together they started home. En route their car struck a taxi carrying two women to a hospital, one as a patient. A police car completed the trip and the hospital admitted two patients. William's brother, John, was arrested for reckless driving so was the driver of the cab. William and John walked home.

Six Track Records May Fall at Meet

AUSTIN.—Six Southwest conference records on the track and field are due to fall this spring before the onslaught of runners, hurdlers and field men of Texas A. & M., Rice Institute, and the University of Texas.

The first assault on the record books is scheduled here April 7 when the Texas Aggies vie with Longhorn trackmen. A more concerted attack is due April 11 when Abilene Christian College, Baylor University, Southern Methodist University and Texas compete here in a four-way track meet.

The 440 relay record of 12 seconds now held by Rice Institute is the first in danger. Texas relayists already have clocked 42.2 seconds over the route. The team is built around Rockhold, Wallender, and Grimesen, with four men to pick from to complete the quartet.

Captain Alex Cox of the Texas team recently raced from the oval here to announce that his record of 18.8 seconds for the 440-yard sprint would fall by his own feet before summer. Spring "northerners" have not interrupted the workouts of Cox, who lives in Corpus Christi.

Hank Irvin of Texas A. & M. holds a shot put record of 49 feet, seven and three-quarter inches. In practice he already has hurled the shot beyond the 50 foot mark this season.

Baldry's (Rice Institute) pole vault record of 13 feet, two and a half inches is a target for men from three universities. Coach Clyde Littlefield at Texas believes sophomores George Vance and Robert Sewell can clear the horizontal bar at 13 feet, six inches before the end of their college career.

Alexander and Hester of the Texas Aggies, Smokey Zachery of Southern Methodist University, and Dunks of Texas also are prospective record breakers.

Other records Coach Littlefield believes to be in danger of 1934 competition are in the discus and javelin throw, and hurdles. More room for improvement lies in field events and long distance runs than elsewhere, according to Littlefield, who is a national rules committee man and an authority on track and training.

He recently predicted that one of these spring days a man will run 100 yards in 9 seconds. That time, in his estimation, is the physical limit of human endurance for that distance. The present record of 9.4 is held by Ralph Metcalf.

Once upon a time, a man who could run the century in 10 seconds flat was wanted on anybody's sprint squad. But in the year 1934, two Texas sophomores have been timed near 9.5 on several runs.

Littlefield considers that his limit of 100 yards in nine seconds is possible of attainment by one of four national track stars: Geo. Simpson or Jesse Owen of Ohio

Berend Is Named Advertising Head For the Pontiac

Appointment of Frank A. Berend to the position of advertising manager of Pontiac Motor company has been announced by A. W. L. Gilpin, general sales manager of the company. Mr. Berend succeeds R. H. White who has resigned.

The new Pontiac advertising chief until recently has been assistant advertising manager of Chevrolet, a position he has occupied for the past year.

Prior to entering the General Motors fold a year ago, Berend spent many years in advertising and sales promotion work in various lines of business including important managerial positions in the hotel field. His first advertising job was with Sweeney and James, Inc., a Cleveland advertising agency. Later, he served on the Chicago Tribune.

His experience includes the field of outdoor advertising also.

Most important among his hotel connections was the supervision of sales promotion for the Fort Shelby hotel of Detroit and the Ritz Tower in New York.

Centenarian Is Fooling Doctors

JEANNETTE, Pa.—When Rev. Jacob F. Snyder, retired Reformed minister, was a young man, two doctors told him he was not long for this world. Today, he has celebrated the 100th anniversary of his birth, and was expecting to live quite a few years longer.

On March 24, 1834, Rev. Snyder was born in a log cabin now replaced by a tippie of the Pittsburgh Lumber company. In 1856, following his graduation from Mercersburg university, he contracted pneumonia and tuberculosis was feared. It was then that the doctors told him he had not long to live, and advised him not to accept the pastorate of the Delmont, Fennelton and Emmanuel Reformed Churches offered him at that time.

But it was not long afterward when the Emmanuel congregation separated and became a distinct charge—that Rev. Snyder accepted a position as its pastor and served in that capacity until 1912, when he retired.

Friends and relatives of the centenarian held a centennial anniversary program in the Export Reformed Church, where, years ago, the guest of honor planted sapling evergreen trees now grown tall and stately.

A cold prevented the aged minister from attending, but he received a delegation of the celebrants in his home, and a son represented him at the church.

U.S. Attitude Is An Influence On Moscow and Tokio

By United Press

"What will Washington do?" Both Moscow and Tokio are certain to ask themselves this question before they consider, seriously, the possibility of a new war in the Orient.

Washington today is the most important Occidental capital in Far East affairs. It has supplanted London as the world center, which must be considered before guns are pointed in Northern Asia.

Reasons?

They go back to the Washington Conference of 1922.

The Occidental world remembers the Washington Conference as a naval conference. The Far East remembers it also as political.

It terminated the Anglo-Japanese alliance, which had been a system of Far East politics for years. It set up a new set of treaties to supplant that alliance.

Chief of these treaties was the so-called Nine Powers' Agreement designed to preserve the territorial integrity of China.

The United States always has been concerned about movements to partition China, or to create spheres of influence in the country.

It was the United States—Secretary of State John Hay—which set up the principle of "the open door and equal opportunity" for all nations in China. Hay put that policy into a declaration, which the leading nations of the world accepted, because he wanted to protect China markets for American trade. Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes merely carried the same policy farther in the Washington international gathering.

Hughes sought by means of political boundaries to freeze the national boundaries of the Orient for an indefinite period.

He failed.

Japan, which had subscribed to the Nine Powers' agreement unwillingly, kicked over the traces. Her troops, on Sept. 18, 1931, over-ran Manchuria, kicked out a Chinese government headed by Marshal Chang Hseuh-liang, and set up an independent empire with Pu yi, former boy emperor of China, on its throne.

Henry L. Stimson was Secretary of State in Washington. He sought, on orders from President Herbert Hoover, to uphold the treaty structure the United States had started. In a series of declarations, which were accepted by the League of Nations and the great powers, he attempted to oust Japan from Manchuria by moral force.

Stimson failed. It was apparent that the United States and the League must use force if they expected to preserve their doctrines of peace.

But the United States did not want to use force. Hence it maintained the theory of moral pressure.

That pressure has had an effect in Japan. It already has sobered Japanese opinion immeasurably, has helped to revive the dominant influence of the great and sensible majority of the Japanese people.

It probably did much to prevent establishment of a military dictatorship in Tokio which a section of the Japanese army and navy attempted.

It certainly paved the way for the next diplomatic move which was an exchange of letters between Japanese Foreign Minister K. Hirota and Secretary of State Cordell Hull in March.

In these letters the Japanese foreign minister clearly stated the desire of his nation for peace and indicated his willingness to listen attentively to suggestions from Washington. Hull accepted the Japanese overtures, but specified that he considered them "personal and informal."

Russia, for her part, looks to Washington for some of the same reasons Japan does. She sees in the United States a great market for her goods. She has just won American diplomatic recognition after more than a decade of effort. She would not endanger that recognition by risking any major struggle to which the United States was opposed if she could possibly avoid it.

And the United States—the American people—clearly are on record as against wars—anywhere.

The trans-Atlantic flyers are beginning to pop up—although they'd like to do much more than just that.

HENRY A. WALLACE
Secretary of Agriculture

HENRY A. WALLACE

By WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Closest rival of Secretary Ickes in multiplicity of jobs is Henry A. Wallace, who sits in the chair of the secretary of agriculture and looks directly across the room at a portrait of his father, who once held the same job.

Wallace, too has had added to the regular burdens of the post a number of crushing New Deal responsibilities. First, the responsibility for the entire Agricultural Adjustment Administration is upon him, with all its broad and shifting range of processing taxes, crop limitation, marketing agreements, and export arrangements.

He must carry a share in the work of the Commodity Credit Corporation, the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation, the Public Works Administration, the Federal Employment Stabilization Board, the Federal Board for Vocational Education, and the National Forest Reservation Commission.

Those are all highly important and require more or less active attention.

Less demanding are his memberships in the usual Executive, Emergency, and National Defense Councils. Being chairman of the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission probably doesn't take much time, nor his membership in the Smithsonian Institution, Puerto Rican Hurricane Relief Commission, or Chicago World's Fair Centennial Commission. But they're nominally responsibilities.

qualified and trained for a job, it is Wallace. Born on a farm, he spent his life not only at practical farming, but at the broader aspects of the farm problem, both as editor of farm papers, and student and author of books and charts on specific farm problems.

He has developed systems of forecasting corn yields, developed highly specialized strains of corn, hogs, and chickens, and taken part in many movements to aid farm life.

Wallace is rather shy in manner, with a most attractive, almost boyish smile. He is only 46 years old, dresses neatly and soberly, and though he retains and runs his farm in Iowa, he lives in the capital with his family in one of its largest hotels.

WATCH FOR FUR PLANES

By United Press

MONTREAL.—Game wardens throughout the province of Quebec have been ordered to be on the lookout for poachers who use airplanes to transport illegally-trapped furs from Canada into the United States. Issued by the fish and game branch of the department of colonization, game and fisheries here, the orders ask that wardens watch for any suspicious airplanes, which, according to reports, fur dealers in the United States, are preparing to charter to fly into the north and purchase pelts from woodsmen, who have continued to trap fur-bearing animals after the official trapping season was closed.

Speaking of brain trust satellites, the question is did Dr. Wirt also see any stars at that Virginia party?

Accident or Crime?

A SICKENING thud on the tan-bark. A split second of agonized silence—then pandemonium. Down a rope slides a white-faced performer, to throw herself hysterically at the side of the crumpled figure of her partner.

A deplorable accident, the manager explained hurriedly. Accident—or revenge? Had somebody tampered with the braces that held the trapeze in position, to send an innocent victim hurtling to tragedy? Who was the criminal?

Uncle Sam Only One Immune From Seizure of Gold

By United Press

GENEVA. — Standing alone among the great financial powers, grant immunity from seizure of currency and gold deposited in the United States by the Bank of International Settlements at Basle. Washington's decision sorely disappointed international financial quarters here. Several qualified it as "short-sighted and stupid."

It means, they said, that the International Bank henceforth will not be able to maintain deposits in the United States. They also fear it may mean decreased cooperation of the United States with the Basle Bank.

The question came up as an aftermath of the London Economic Conference. A monetary sub-commission of the conference recommended that the League get in touch with those countries which so far had not granted immunity privileges to the International Bank. The United States, Soviet Russia and Holland were the chief countries which had not recognized the special international status of the Basle institution.

These countries were asked, as Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy and Japan had already done, to guarantee all the bank's property in its territory "from any disabilities and from any restrictive measures such as censorship, requisition, seizure or confiscation, in time of peace or war, reprisals, prohibitions or restriction of export of gold or currency and other similar interferences, restrictions or prohibitions."

The United States replied negatively to the request. Holland granted the necessary immunity, and Russia did not answer. The answer of the United States was not of the door-slaming variety. In effect, it stated "at the present moment" it was impossible for the United States to grant the requested with Roosevelt's decrees dealing with the export and import of gold.

Concluding, the letter states: "This government is of the opinion, for the time being at least, the maintenance of this rule (gold decrees) is essential. When and as the circumstances may change, it will be ready to reconsider its position."

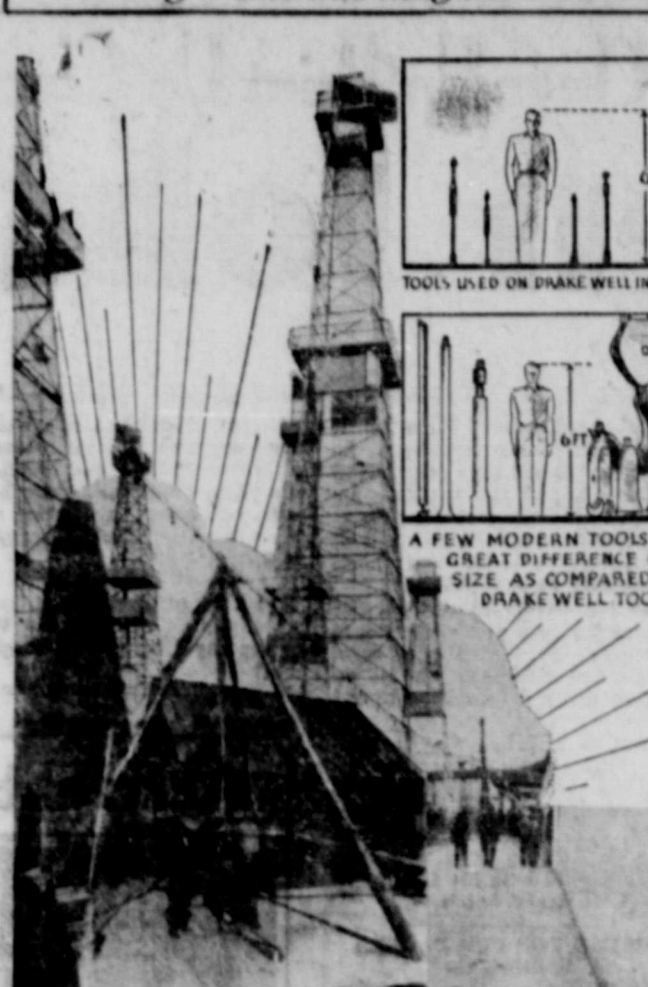

Observers feel the way has been left open for the United States to join the other countries when her monetary experiment has been completed.

Considerable importance it attached to universal adherence to the immunity clause because it would strengthen the position of the bank and make for the security of international capital in time of war or emergency.

The Basle Bank, it will be recalled, was established at the 1930 Reparations Conference, at which time the Young plan was drafted. The Bank was designed to handle international settlements and to act as a co-ordinating agency between different central banks.

Its president is an American, Leon Fraser. The institution is like a bankers' club, as it allows

Taking Ice to the Regions Below

Down, down they go, even to where the heat is so great that ice must be used in cementing the well. To what depth will the oil well be drilled in the future? No one knows. What we do know is that 75 years ago this year oil was found at the depth of 60 feet by Colonel Edwin L. Drake near Titusville, Pennsylvania, in the first well drilled for oil. Today, wells have been drilled to depths of more than two miles, or one thousand seven hundred times deeper than Drake drilled. Some of the deepest holes are: a well in Kettleman Hills field in California, 10,000 feet; one in Old Mexico at 10,387 feet; and, one at Cement, Oklahoma, at 10,076 feet. However, these wells are not producers. The deepest producer at present is around 9,000 feet. In Caddo county, Oklahoma, the Binger well, at a depth of 9,952 feet, looks as the deepest producing well.

A celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the drilling of the Drake well will be held by the oil industry at the International Petroleum Exposition and Congress in Tulsa, Oklahoma, May 12 to 19. A replica of the Drake well will be on the exposition grounds and will be used for the ceremony. The above picture indicates the progress made in drilling since 1859 when Colonel Drake struck oil at 60 feet. The crude tools have been gradually replaced with huge rotary drilling equipment capable of drilling to depths of 11,500 feet or more. In the foreground is seen the springpole, the earliest form of derrick used in drilling. Just back of it is the Drake well type of derrick. Farther back are shown modern 100-foot derricks photographed on the grounds of the exposition. Tools such as used on the Drake well will be on display at the exposition and the modern tools will be seen in actual operation of drilling.

The significance of the advance in drilling is seen in the belief of oil men, based on geophysical exploratory work extending over an area from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico and from eastern oil fields to the Pacific coast, that the entire world may have a sea of oil underneath the earth's crust, varying in depth. When the Drake well was first drilled no one thought of drilling a half mile for oil. When oil was struck at half mile depths, no one thought it would be drilled for a mile and a half and two mile depths, but it was. Oil men are now prospecting in many of the older oil fields which were drilled at shallow depths and predict that these fields will be re-drilled at greater depths.

The various world financial leaders to discuss their problems on an international scale.

Local-Eastland-Social
Eastland Will Observe Woman's Day

Woman's Day, April 26, will be celebrated in Eastland as in all other Texas cities where there is a federated woman's club, in working hard to put over a big attendance so far as Eastland is concerned at the Lyric theatre shows on that date, which, like all the other show houses in this movement, will give 25 per cent of the sale of all tickets for the show at their local theatre for benefit of the indebtedness on the federation's clubhouse in Austin.

Manager Burke of the Lyric theatre has now 1,000 tickets on hand for a very fine picture on April 26, Woman's Day, and these will be distributed by the general chairman for the movement in Eastland, Mrs. J. M. Perkins, selected by the federated clubs of this city as Eastland chairman for clubhouse benefit, who will be assisted by the Thursday Afternoon club, Mrs. F. M. Kenny, president, and all the club members; the Junior Thursday club committee, Miss Maurine Davenport, chairman, Miss Nell Caton, Miss Marjorie Spencer, Mrs. James Horton, director; and the Civic League of Eastland, Mrs. W. K. Jackson, president, Mrs. N. N. Rosenquest, chairman home service; Mrs. James Horton, and Mrs. W. A. Martin.

John Burke, manager of Lyric theatre, is publicity chairman. A wonderful picture, "Lazy River," will be the special feature picture for Woman's Day.

Mrs. Perkins has been informed by Mr. Burke that they can secure more tickets when the 1,000 on hand are exhausted.

Each ticket is priced at 15 cents, and this modest sum, should assure the rapid disposal of Eastland's quota.

To Attend Presbyterian

The annual Presbyterian to be held in Baird all day Thursday and Friday will be attended by a large number of Eastland women who are going in car parties, and by delegates from the local Presbyterian church, Mrs. C. W. Geur and Mrs. J. C. Whately.

Ranger Club Will Entertain Eastland Club

The 1920 club of Ranger has extended an invitation through their president, Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, to attend their "Friendship Day" program on Thursday, April 19, to be held in the Gholson hotel.

Miss Mary Marshall, director of the Fine Arts department of College of Industrial Arts at Denton, will be the guest speaker.

Better Homes Program Wednesday

The Civic League of Eastland will present a co-operative Better Homes program on Wednesday afternoon, opening at 3 o'clock in community clubhouse.
