Arms Profits Are Serious Menace To World Peace

COLUMBIA, Mo.—Profit from sale of munitions, and military propaganda inspired by munitions manufacturers are the greatest menace to world peace, Walter Williams, president of the University of Missouri, who just has completed a six-month world tour believes.

Munitions manufacturers frequently create war scares in various nations so that they can sell their wares to both sides, Williams found.

"The entire interest of some of these countries is profit in selling munitions," Williams said. "It is a thoroughly damnable traffic. One great evil, the white slave traffic, has been fought successfully by the world, and now we have this atrocious munitions trade."

A number of munitions interests make diplomatic alliances to further their sales, Williams charged. Predictions of immediate war, however, Williams characterized as "wild talk."

"There is no responsible statesman in the world who is not eager to avoid war as far as his nation is concerned. There is not a political, or economic, problem that cannot be solved without recourse to arms."

Dictatorships, Williams interpreted as an outgrowth of popular demand by the people.

"The masses of people are getting more of what they want than ever before," he said. "I noticed a great increase in nationalism on my trip which embraced 28 different nations and territories, but it is not a nationalism against someone else—it is a desire to lift one's own country to equality with others."

Censorship of the press constitutes one of the gravest problems of dictatorships, Williams believes.

"The press in Germany is regimented to the extreme; in Austria and Egypt it is censored; and in France it is subsidized. There are few countries left which honor our cardinal precepts of freedom of the press, speech and conscience. The governments deliberately prevent the people from knowing what is going on."

A business session was called to order and presided over by the guardian, Mrs. Ruby Greer. Officers were named at this time for the newly organized club which has been named the Workers club. Mrs. Greer was elected president, and Mrs. C. C. Cash, reporter.

The first meeting to be held was announced for the last Friday in May, at the home of Mrs. Ella Reynolds. Quitting will be the diversion of the hour.

The session was enjoyed by ten adults and two junior members.

Circus Freak Takes Vacation at Tavern

By United Press

BRILLION, Wis.—Five hundred forty-nine pound Arvin Giese, 17, bull dancer and female impersonator, has taken a vacation from a winning circus and is visiting his parents here.

Most of his time he spends in his father's tavern, quaffing huge tankards of beer and picking at light lunches. His "light lunches" consist of heaping bowls of potatoes and mammoth chunks of meat, preferably pork. He puts away about eight of these lunches a day just to "pass the time away."

An Arvin's ham-like hand stifles a prodigious sigh from his 93-inch chest, he confides that he yearns for a movie career.

"I want to be a real actor and not just a clown," Arvin says as he shifts his bulk in his specially re-enforced chair.

Arvin is 5 feet, eight inches tall; 82 inches around the waist; thigh 48 inches, and calf, 33 inches. He could use a normal man's belt for a garter.

New Promoter of Elks Fights to Be On First Program

A new deal in wrestling, that is the aim of match maker Lay to inaugurate the summer season of sports at the Elks Arena, Curley Stringer, roughest and toughest villian from Oklahoma City, who is claiming the Junior Middleweight title, will meet Charlie Lay popular Fort Worth mat star, who is universally known for his scientific wrestling.

Match maker Lay became angry at the tactics of Stringer last week here, while the former was refereeing a bout; Lay threatened to whip the Oklahoman the next time they met, but the Elks president upon Lay to settle this matter in the ring at Ranger.

When Stringer signed the contract for this match he stated, "They will need a new match maker after I am finished with Lay."

Lay heard of this and he stated modestly that he hopes to teach the villian a lesson that the latter sorely needs, and if he fails to beat Stringer, states Lay, "I am going to get the roughest and toughest man in the Junior Middleweight class to wrestle him, even if I have to send to Australia for him. This match will be for the best two out of three falls finished bout."

The second main event of the evening will bring together Wildcat Hood, Dallas roughster, and Lew Kodrick, the little Austrian giant and welterweight champion of the home land. Hood is well known here for his rough tactics but Kodrick will be making his debut here. He has been in this country for the past eight months chasing Jack Reynolds, welterweight champion of the world. So far the champion has refused to take him. Kodrick recently in New York City gained recognition as the strongest small man on the mat.

He is of proper physical build and is said to have one of the most splendid physiques of any mat man appearing here. He is strictly a scientific wrestler and is the talk of the town in all cities in which he has appeared.

Kodrick hopes to make a record for himself in this territory and force the champion into a bout with him.

President May of the American Wrestling Association promised Kodrick if he would prove himself in this territory he would force the champion into a bout with him or suspend the champion for not protecting the title.

In addition to the main event wrestling bouts to be offered, two boxing matches will open the card. Prices of 25 and 35 cents will prevail. Children 15 cents.

BEAVERS BACK IN SWEDEN

By United Press

STOCKHOLM.—The beaver is returning to northern Sweden, from which it disappeared 80 years ago. In former years the beaver was quite plentiful in Sweden, but intensive trapping drove it away. Lately it has been protected and now is beginning to spread from the two or three places where colonies existed.

At least one-third of the world is crazy, says a Boston minister, and the other two-thirds is on the way. And when we all get there, we'll start all over again.

Huge Home With Stables for Many Horses Being Built

By United Press

KERRVILLE, Texas.—Extensive racing stables and a huge native-stone residence under construction 30 miles west of Kerrville for N. W. Hunter, Houston oil operator and turfman, are expected to be completed by late summer at an estimated cost nearing $250,000.

Hunter already has shipped 16 thoroughbreds here, including "Stratosphere," a five-year-old stallion formerly owned by the Waggoner Three-D stables at Arlington Downs. With him, came Three recently foaled colts have increased the 16 animals first brought here. Among the fillies Hunter has sent here from Epson Downs, Houston, are "Brookstone," "Primrose" and "Milepost." Elmo Wilson, young Kerr county rancher and horseman, has been made manager of the Hunter stables.

J. A. Nix and Hunter, associated in breeding and racing thoroughbreds, also are partners in the ownership of 30,000 acres of range land near the new stables. "On my longest trip, which was a little over eight hundred miles, I averaged around a speed per gallon of gasoline of one mile per hour. I changed at one time but did not have to refuel. I think this is an excellent average considering the high speed at which I was driving. The 1934 Pontiac is even more than claimed by the manufacturer."
