CLYDE, BONNIE KILLED BY OFFICERS

NOTORIOUS DESPERADOES SHOT FROM AMBUSH AS THEY DROVE ALONG A ROAD IN LOUISIANA

Officers Received Tin Pair Were in Gibland and Lay in Wait, Opening Fire As They Approached. Both Were Instantly Killed By Withering Fire.

By United Press.
GIBLAND, La., May 23.—Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, who lived by violence, died by violence today.

The notorious southwest desperado and his attractive companion were shot down from ambush by six officers.

Barrow and Bonnie were riding in a gray coupe when the officers, hiding behind a slight rise at the edge of the highway, opened fire. Barrow fell sideways against the automobile door which he had opened at the first volley of bullets. He had no chance to raise a machine gun that lay between his knees.

Bonnie slumped forward over a machine gun in her lap. The big toe on his right foot was missing. His eyes were severely lacerated from bits of glass from dark glasses he wore.

Barrow and Bonnie were alone in the car. It was learned that Barrow, posing as a chauffeur, had been living in this vicinity for a week, living in a vacant house about one mile from the death scene.

He visited Gibland last night, authorities learned. This morning all highways leading from the town were blocked by officers.

Sheriff Henderson Jordan of Arcadia, accompanied by five other officers, hid in the weeds by the side of the highway on a slight rise early today.

They sighted the Barrow automobile approaching when it was about 300 yards away. They opened fire with machine guns and shotguns as the car came into range.

The desperadoes apparently were caught unaware. So badly riddled and damaged by gunfire was the automobile that it had to be moved by a wrecker.

Dr. J. L. Wade, viewed the bodies at the scene of the slaying. He said he would conduct an inquest at Arcadia.

Officers in the party included Sheriff Jordan, his deputy and four officers from Texas, two from Houston and two from Dallas.

From the scene of the slayings, several miles south of here, the bodies were taken to Arcadia. They were left slumped in the seat of the car, which was towed into Arcadia by a wrecker. Undertakers said there were 50 or 60 machine gun bullet wounds in each body. They said embalming would not be completed until early tomorrow, due to the torn and mangled condition of the bodies.

Barrow was shot seven times in the chest. His right shoulder and right ear were horribly mangled. It was found he bore a shotgun wound in his right leg, apparently suffered in a brush with officers.

Officers here said it was known that Barrow purchased the house near the scene of the slayings, several weeks ago, for the father of Henry Methvin, a comrade. The desperado was afraid to seek refuge at the house, however, because the only approach was a narrow trail. The house was so situated as to constitute a perfect trap, officers said.

'Bonnie' Not Kin To the Parkers of Eastland County
Notwithstanding reports to the contrary, Bonnie Parker, sweetheart and constant companion of the noted outlaw, Clyde Barrow, is not related in any degree to the E. C. Parker family of Eastland county.

P. L. Parker of Eastland, former tax assessor of Eastland county, says numerous reports have reached him to the effect that Bonnie Parker was related to the family of his deceased brother, E. C. Parker, but that she is not connected with his family.

E. C. Parker, who died at Rising Star May 15, last year, resided in Eastland county for more than 20 years. He has three surviving daughters who live in California and four sons, two of whom reside in New York, one in California and one in Dallas.

Clyde Barrow, the southwest's No. 1 bad man, who, with his "gun moll" Bonnie Parker, were slain in a gun battle with officers near Gibland, La. Wednesday morning. Barrow had boasted many times that he was "too smart to be caught." He is credited with a number of murders in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri.

MAN ADMITS HE KILLED U. S. NAVY OFFICER

By United Press.
MARIETTA, Okla., May 23.—Two Kansas officers left Marietta today with Leo Hudgins, young former Mississippi convict, who had told officers he killed Commander S. J. Trowbridge, U. S. N., with a hammer near Greenburg, Kan.

The party intended to go to Greenburg to look for the body. Hudgins had waived extradition and agreed to point out the body, which he said he left in a ditch 15 miles northwest of Greenburg at sundown last Saturday.

He said he was picked up by the commander Saturday and the two quarreled about speed of the car and hitting of bumps in the road. After drinking from a bottle, the 27-year-old man said he finally hit Trowbridge on the head.

U. S. Uses Chisel To Get Her Gold

Helen Black, Oklahoma city school teacher, found out what chiseling really means when federal officers used that method to open her safety deposit box and take out $295 in gold. She refused to let them have her key on a search warrant for "belief in hoarding," declaring she thought they had no right to it.

Portugal Plans A Colony Exhibition

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, May 23.—To call attention to the resources and development of its colonial empire, the third largest in the world, Portugal will present from June to September a National Colonial Exhibition. It has been announced here by the National Geographic society.

Portugal, the most ancient of the actual colonizing countries of Europe, has 936,264 square miles of colonies in Africa and Asia. Only Britain and France possess more outlying domain.

Exposition at Oporto. The exposition will be held in the picturesque city of Oporto whose rainbow-tinted, tile-roofed buildings terrace the slopes of a cliff on one side of the Douro River gorge. Oporto is an excellent choice as the site for the exhibition because of its scenic beauty and historic atmosphere.

The sight-seeing tram of Oporto rivals closely that of Rio de Janeiro, the National Geographic society declares, and it is possible to ride to the river's mouth, up the coast to Leixoes, where the ocean liners dock, and back to town through the residential section.

Attractive gold and silver filigree jewelry manufactured in and near Oporto fill the shop windows of the business district. A century's work of Portuguese artists, the finest examples of the silversmith's art, is contained in a chapel of the old cathedral where the altar, tabernacle, retables, and plate are entirely of silver.

Oporto is one of the best known cities of Portugal because it has given its name to port wine, one of the nation's chief exports.

Motorists War On Hitch-Hikers

By United Press.
WASHINGTON.—Nettled lawmakers and disgruntled motorists have joined forces in efforts to outlaw membership in the "Order of the Thumb," hitch-hikers' official fraternity, the American Automobile association said.

Hit by court orders and hard-boiled public opinion, it was explained, the ranks of thumb-jerking travelers have suffered severe losses despite the fact that large numbers of unemployed are roving from place to place in search of employment.

Before the law got busy and autoists lost their good nature, it was pointed out, the possibility of free and easy transportation had led to a virtual invasion of highways by hitch-hikers.

Now, the Association added, states have adopted stringent laws, making it an offense to solicit rides, and motorists, as the result of sensational hold-ups by desperadoes disguised as ordinary, innocent hitch-hikers, have become suspicious and wary of all highway troupers.

RANGER MERCHANTS TO START NEW CREDIT PROGRAM ON JUNE 10TH TO CUT DOWN BAD CREDIT

A fairly large and representative group of Ranger merchants met in the furniture department of Killingsworth, Cox & Co., Tuesday night to discuss and plan further the new alliance between the businesses of Ranger that are doing credit business.

A. J. Ratliff, vice president of the Ranger Retail Merchants, opened the meeting and called upon Mrs. Alice D. True, secretary, for a statement of the purpose of the meeting which reviewed briefly the history of credit in Ranger and told briefly of the plan recently agreed to by almost 100 per cent of the merchants promising to furnish on June 10, 1934, a complete list of every individual who has an unpaid and neglected account on their books of over 60 days. Then once each month thereafter to supply a new list, thus keeping the records up to date.

MOLEY URGES INCREASE OF JUSTICE FORCE

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, May 23.—Prof. Raymond Moley today urged that congress increase the investigation force of the department of justice to 1,000 men if the newly adopted anti-crime bills are not to "fail in their purpose."

In the first installment of his long-delayed crime report, Moley recalled the "miserable failure" of prohibition enforcement and said the 397 agents of the justice department are "totally inadequate."

Moley proposed in the interest of law and order that American citizens be disarmed of their six-gun or automatic pistol.

"In my judgment," he said, "the requirements of modern civilization are such as to make it desirable that the manufacture and sale of firearms be strictly controlled at the source, that private citizens should not be permitted to arm themselves except under strict regulation and for limited purposes."

Musicians Entertain Rotary Club Today

Edwin George Jr., and Morris Bendix had charge of the Rotary club program today and presented the Tom and Jerry Musical Trio, which is to appear tonight on the Arcadia stage.

C. D. Birdsong, local manager of Western Union, was taken into the club as a new member.

C. B. Newby of Breckenridge and S. O. Montgomery of Ranger were visitors at the meeting.

Dillinger's Girls Found Guilty On Harboring Charge

By United Press.
ST. PAUL, Minn., May 23.—Evelyn Frechette, part Indian sweetheart of John Dillinger, was found guilty today in federal court on charges of harboring the outlaw.

Dr. Clayton May of Minneapolis also was found guilty of conspiracy to harbor Dillinger. He treated the outlaw for gunshot wounds a few days after Dillinger shot his way out of an ambush here. Dr. May's nurse was found not guilty.

Boy Was Kidnaped By a Baboon Tribe

By United Press.
GREENWICH, Conn.—The story of a famous fiction character, who was raised from babyhood by a tribe of apes, is entirely plausible, says Major General Ivor Thord-Gray, soldier of fortune who recently received the most valued decoration of the Swedish Government.

Thord-Gray, who has campaigned and explored in a dozen countries and holds numerous decorations, related the story of a sickly eight-year-old white boy, who was seized by baboons while he was serving in the British Army at Pondoland, South Africa.

The boy was being wheeled about in a perambulator by a native girl when several score of baboons swooped down upon a nearby field, where corn was ripening. The girl became frightened and fled.

Soldiers drove off the animals and found the perambulator empty. The body of a young baboon lay alongside the carriage.

"Well, it was not until four years later," he said, "that we got any inkling of his whereabouts."

"About a day's march from camp," he said, "a sergeant came running up and told us he had discovered a hairless baboon. We followed him to the base of a cliff and there before us was the body of a big, husky boy. His skull was cracked and bleeding."

"The scouting party had found him among a family of baboons. The beasts, seeing the approach of the party, tried to scamper up the cliff. Most of them escaped, but the boy, not as agile as the beasts, slipped and fell to the bottom."

"The boy was more ferocious than the baboons. He jabbered in their language and was as wild as any ape."

NEW MEASURES TO BE ASKED BY PRESIDENT

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, May 23.—President Roosevelt will lay out a broad policy on water use covering rivers and harbors, flood control, soil erosion and reforestation, in a special message to congress, he said today.

The message will be one of three scheduled to be transmitted between now and adjournment.

The other two will be on war debts and a suggestion for reduction of the tax on coconut oil.

Mr. Roosevelt said emphatically that he was not contemplating a message on social legislation.

Joe Newton Held For Questioning In June Robles Case

By United Press.
TUCSON, Ariz., May 23.—Joe Newton, ex-convict, was to be questioned today in connection with the kidnaping of June Robles, 17-year-old girl who was kept chained to a cage in the desert 19 days.

Newton was arrested on a warrant from Medford, Okla., charging him with bank robbery, but local officers said they would check his movements closely before releasing him to Oklahoma authorities.

Relief Board Case To Supreme Court

By United Press.
AUSTIN, May 23.—Arguments which District Judge J. D. Here named Robert Holliday, El Paso, legally a member of the relief commission, were renewed before the supreme court today.

The decision between Holliday and Col. Julius Dorenfield, Amalio, will depend on the court's answer to two questions submitted by the Third Court of Civil Appeals. The supreme court was asked to rule if House Speaker Ike Stevenson, who appointed Holliday, had the power to replace the relief board.

If he has that power the relief board is asked to say whether he exercised it properly.

Printers of County Will Meet Sunday to Discuss New Prices

The printers of Eastland county will hold a meeting in one of the strict courtrooms at Eastland today afternoon, May 27, at 2 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the new price determining schedule of the graphic arts industry.

Copy For Special Should Be Turned In Without Delay

Copy for the special edition of the Ranger Times, which is to be published June 1, should be in the office of publication as soon as possible.

A time limit on copy was set for Monday, May 21, but as several could not get their copy by that date an extension of a few days was found necessary.

Those who have advertising or special articles to put in the paper should have them in the office as soon as possible.

Indications are that the edition will surpass expectations and a large number of special articles and advertisements have been received, with several still to be turned in.

GOVERNOR GIFFORD PINCHOT GOES DOWN IN DEFEAT

Gov. Gifford Pinchot carried his pitcher to the well once too often. He made the race for the republican nomination of United States senator as a champion and defender of all the Roosevelt New Deal policies. His rival contender for the nomination was Sen. David A. Reed, perhaps the ablest legal mind of the first branch of the American congress. Reed is conceded to be one of the shrewdest barristers of the country. He has been the adviser of the powerful steel and iron and coal and coke kings of his commonwealth and has ever had in politics the backing of the Mellon forces and the captains of industry and financiers who cooperate with "the second Alexander Hamilton in American history." Pinchot's running not on a republican platform but on the Roosevelt platform of New Deal experiments for national recovery in a state that cast its electoral votes for Herbert Hoover in 1932 was a daring road for any man to take.

Pinchot risked all, perhaps he lost all. In two memorable battles for the control of the state of Pennsylvania an aristocrat and millionaire ever the champion of the masses won two remarkable victories. First he was elected governor of Pennsylvania over the most superb machine and the ablest led political organization in any American state. He served four years. In another mighty battle for control of the Penn commonwealth, backed by the labor organizations of the commonwealth, he rode to victory a second time and is serving another term as governor. He wired his congratulations to Reed on the morning after his defeat for the senatorial nomination. The regular republican organization primary ticket was carried to victory by Reed and the mighty forces of industrial captains, his stalwart supporters in the primary battle which was finished on Tuesday with victory perched on the banner of the Old Guard republicans of the Keystone state.

Joseph F. Guffey, oil king and industrial leader, who was a "for-Roosevelt-first man" two years ago, won the democratic nomination for senator and will go to the mat with Reed in November. In other words the republican primary ticket went through without a scratch and the Guffey slate swept all before it in the democratic primary balloting. Now what will Gifford Pinchot do in the campaign to follow? Will he support David A. Reed and the Mellon-Vare regular combination, or will he become an independent candidate for a seat in the American senate?

Since the party of Abraham Lincoln was organized Pennsylvania has always landed in the republican camp in presidential years. Most of the time it has been represented in the senate by stalwart republicans ever backed by the steel kings and iron kings and coal and coke kings and the other huge industries and their captains of the second of American commonwealths. In his races for the office of governor Pinchot always won with the ballots of the labor organizations. Ever behind him was the powerful organization of coal miners and a large percentage of the members of the trade unions and rail unions ever looked upon him as their best friend at court and the most powerful champion in Pennsylvania of the wage workers—including the white collar contingent. As for David A. Reed he is the cock-of-the-walk in the republican political barnyard and perhaps will remain the big voice of stand-pat republicanism in the senate of the United States.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

VICTOR E. LAWSON, Publisher of the Willmar (Minn.) Tribune, says:

"Many merchants will employ skilled window dressers and otherwise spend money to dress their store windows to attract the eyes of the public to the store and its wares. It is one way of advertising and serves to attract attention and indexes he sort of wares sold inside. But I have known merchants who are alive to the desirability to catch the eyes of the passers-by who are very niggardly when it comes to using newspaper space, unconscious of the fact that where one person will see the window display, there would be hundreds who would see his advertisement in the favorite home newspaper and that it would be more necessary to make a favorable impression upon the minds of the much larger number who read the newspaper.

"When the local newspaper comes to the home there is usually a scramble of those at home to be the first to look it over. It contains matter which appeals to every member of the family. It gets real attention all around, and every issue of the paper that goes out without something to attract its readers to his store is a lost opportunity to such merchant."

Too many people are prone to try to arraign class against class. These kind of people are the worst kind of citizens imaginable. The trouble with a lot of them is that they are taking too much jaw exercise.

DONNA of the BIG TOP by BEULAH POYNTER

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 DONNA GABRIEL and MADELINE SIDDALE who call themselves "The Label Sisters" are circus performers. When Donna is injured by a fall from the trapeze Madeline arranges for her to be taken to GRANDATHER'S SIDDALE'S farm to recuperate. To please her grandpa Madeline arranges to be Madeline. She is shocked of this deception but keeps it up, even when BILL SIDDALE, Madeline's cousin, asks her to marry him.

Meanwhile Madeline marries CON DAVID, animal trainer with the circus, and takes part in the animal act.

MRS. PLANTER, housekeeper on the farm, shows Donna a beautiful announcing Madeline's marriage to Con in the circus arena and accuses Donna of being a spy. Donna discharges her. Grandfather SIDDALE has a stroke. Donna writes to Madeline about her grandfather's illness.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIV
 WHILE Madeline was trying to summon the courage to pass Trafford and, if possible, to ignore him, Con appeared in the corridor. The former boss canvasser stepped toward the animal trainer. Madeline saw her husband's slender body stiffen and his dark eyes flash fire.

"What are you doing here?" he demanded.

"I'm waiting to see Madeline. What did you suppose?"

"Then beat it! She's my wife now and she hasn't any time for you."

"Is that so?" Trafford lurched forward until he towered over the smaller man. "Is that so? Well, she had time for me down town today. Didn't she tell you she saw me? Didn't she tell you I was coming out here this afternoon? You bet she didn't! Well, I'm sticking around until I see her."

"Get out!" Con's voice had thickened with suppressed passion. "You're a good-for-nothing bum, Madeline."

"Hum, am it! Hum! So I'm a bum! Well, the little Miss Purty who's your wife didn't think I was a bum when she pulled around with me. She didn't think I was a bum when she used to kiss me and call me her 'big red-headed boy' or—"

Con's iron fist shot out and caught Trafford on the jaw before he could complete the sentence. Madeline screamed and ran for ward just as the former canvasser, staggered by the unexpected blow, stumbled against the frail walls of the passageway.

"He's lying, Con!" Madeline wailed. "He's lying, I didn't—"

"I wouldn't put it past you, Con raged, pushing her aside. Trafford rubbed the blood from his chin and snarled, "Lying, am I? I don't know to lie! Everyone in the circus knows about her and me. Everyone knows she was the circus' sweetheart. She played you for a sucker and only a—"

"You say that again and I'll wipe up the grounds with you!" Con cried. He stepped forward and, with the agility that many times had made it possible for him to avoid death that seemed inescapable, he bore the half-drunken giant to the floor.

"What's the matter? What's going on?" Instantly the runway was thronged with performers in various stages of dress and undress.

"Where's Renfro?" shrieked La Belle Matilde. "Someone separate them. Con will kill him!"

A HUSKY workman jumped forward and tore the animal trainer from Trafford's writhing body. Madeline, shivering and sobbing, huddled against a pole. Trafford stumbled to his feet, muttering maledictions under his breath, and staggered through the crowd and out of the tent.

"What happened?" shrieked one of the women.

"None of your business," Con roared. He brushed the sawdust from his costume of yellow satin and purple velvet, caught his wife by the arm and almost dragged her back to his dressing room.

There he fung her into a chair and faced her, his eyes blazing with disgust and loathing. "A pretty mean!" he cried, pacing the floor. "And the damnable part of it is, it's true!"

"It isn't!" Madeline protested. "I swear to God it isn't true, Con! I did meet Trafford down town, but was that my fault? I hate him! You know what reason I have to hate him! He was the cause of Donna's falling! He tried to—"

"Will me—"

"Yes—because you played fast and loose with him. A canvasser! My God, a star performer mixed up with a canvasser man! And I had to soil my hands with his dirty hide! What did he call you, 'the circus' sweetheart'? If I thought there was any truth in that, so help me, I'd take your white throat between my two hands and choke the life out of you!"

"There isn't any truth in it! I swear there isn't! And I never was his sweetheart! Never! He wanted to marry me, but I couldn't help that! Madeline threw herself on her knees, clinging with both arms to his body. "You've got to believe me, Con! You've got to—"

"Oh, stop the melodrama! I wouldn't believe you on oath. Get up and fix your make-up and your hair. You look a fright."

Hissing with sobs, she rose and repaired the damage done to her lips and cheeks. Five minutes later when she entered the arena no one in the audience would have dreamed that the smiling girl in yellow satin trousers and gold-embroidered velvet coat had just gone through an emotional crisis.

MADLINE, however, and the sullen Trafford remembered vividly the scene in the runway. The others who had witnessed it erased it from their minds.

Because the circus grounds were so far from the business district, Con and Madeline ate dinner in the mess tent. During the meal Con had nothing to say, but after he had finished his coffee he turned to her.

"How about taking Lucy through her paces tonight?" he asked.

"You mean—without you?"

"Yes. There always has to be a first time, and this is as good as any."

"But you know I'm not ready!"

Lucy stammered.

"I don't see why. She obeys you as well as she does me, and the only difference will be in having an audience behind the ropes instead of the gang looking on."

"But I'm nervous and—oh, not tonight, Con!"

"Yes, tonight. Renfro is sore about that fracas this afternoon and we've got to do something to make him forget it." Con's eyes, always hypnotic, held hers.

"I see," she said, white-lipped. "This is the way you are going to pay me back for what happened."

"If I wanted to pay you back, Con drawled, "I'd find some other way than to have you do an act that's going to put us on velvet on the big time. Come on—let's see what sort of mood Lucy's in and I'll tell Renfro he can announce the new turn."

"No!" Madeline protested. "No!"

But she followed him from the mess tent to the animal cages and, because her will melted like wax against his, she stepped into Lucy's cage, spoke to her and even stroked the coarse brilliant coat on her back.

"Like a kitten," Con chuckled. "When Lucy gave in she gave in with a vengeance. Take a long walk and make up your mind to knock 'em cold tonight."

"Judas!" Madeline muttered to herself as he kissed her in parting.

THERE were suicidal thoughts in her mind as she walked along the country road past a row of shanties where groups of colored children played. Beyond the great piles of sandbags that formed the levees was the river. If she should fling her body into its muddy, turbid water Con wouldn't care. No one would miss her. Least of all, the man to whom she had given her deepest devotion.

She reached the levee and mounted it. Suddenly, looking down at the water, darkening with night-fall, death became more repellant than life.

No, she would not die. No man should ruin her career! She would do as she had planned, forget the show, bid Con farewell, forget him and find peace on the farm. If her return hurt Donna—well, it was just too bad. Madeline couldn't help it now.

The night air was filled with the heady sweetness of semi-tropical blossoms, stronger because of the heavy dew. Madeline turned and walked away quickly. In the distance she could see the lights of the circus train on the siding and the blaze that rose from the grounds.

Drawing nearer, the raucous voices of the "barbers" and belly-hoo men and the blatant music of the steam calliope informed her that she must hurry or she would miss the opening of the performance.

And, because she was so accustomed to the routine that she could not resist it, Madeline hurried. Once more her decision to live her own life went for naught and she bowed to the stronger will of the man she had married.

Troop News

Meet Mr. Fay Earnest, new scoutmaster of Troop No. 6, Eastland. This is a new troop being sponsored by the Rotary club. The troop committee are: Grady Pipkin, J. B. Johnson, Dr. J. H. Caton. The troop meets on Friday night using the clubhouse at the City Park. We extend a hearty welcome to Mr. Earnest and his scouts.

Troop No. 1 of Brownwood hiked out to the swimming pool Friday afternoon-leaving about 4:30. The report did not state but we presume they cooked their supper out.

Scoutmaster Lemma, of Troop 10 of Ranger, reports that his troop had a successful over-night hike Friday night of last week.

This scribe was going down the street the other day and passed by Troop 5's meeting place and noted a number of scouts rushing to and fro apparently in high spirits. We guess it must have been a "hike."

Troop 32 will hatch out another Eagle at their next court of honor. The young Eagle is no other than Scout Howard Adams.

tions have been coming in to the scout office the last few days. If your troop has not re-registered, now in the time to get it all fixed up before camp. Check your troop roster and see if you do not have some five year veteran scouts who would like to join the Veteran Scout association. Application blanks will be furnished to them from the scout office.

Camp Billy Gibbons
 Some scouts who made a visit to the camp site recently report that everything is in fine shape. The ground covered with green grass and the swimming hole with that clear sparkling water running right through! Oh! Boy, can we wait until July? Now is the time to start getting your paraphernalia ready to avoid that last minute rush.

Uncle Sam is out to collect more than a quarter billion dollars in income taxes from pre-registered bootleggers, but he'll find it too going now that their liquid assets are depleted.

BARREL OF BEER IN STREET
 WORCESTER, Mass.—Traffic on Union Street was hampered somewhat for several hours by a large object in the middle of the road. When a police car arrived it was discovered the obstacle was a barrel of beer—full.

OFFICER HELPED PAY FINE
 PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Karl Sahany was fined $43.35 in cost for failing to return to the scene of an accident, but had of $43.10 and needed 25 cents more to save himself from a jail sentence. He looked among the spectators for aid. Nobody came, Deputy Sheriff Samuel E. Kingmore gave him the extra money.

Why Not A Spring Vacation?
 Are you one whose vitality is always lowest in the spring? Do you have what you term "a snappy case of spring fever?" You're probably just run-down and worn-out after a hard winter. What you'd better do is stop right now, rest awhile, and get in trim to carry on for another year.

TIMES BLANKED BY LONE STAR BY 11-0 SCORE

Lone Star whitewashed the Times in a wild game Tuesday afternoon, administering the only shutout registered so far in the Twilight League. The score was 11 to 0.

Archie Robinson, giant Lone Star twirler, was master of the situation throughout the game and, with splendid support behind him, allowed but two hits, both by Hollowell. Only four men reached first base for the Times, two on the only two errors chalked up by Lone Star, and no man reached second throughout the game.

In the first three innings, though the Times got into tough spots, it looked as though the game might go into extra innings without either side scoring, but in the fourth Lone Star's heavy artillery got busy and blasted out four runs. In the second Pace, first man up, tripled, but was cut down at the plate, and Peterson popped out to third for the second out as Griffin got a life on a fielder's choice. Robinson singled but Ford flew out to second base.

In the fourth, Lone Star's first big inning, Pace flew out to short, Peterson singled. Griffin popped out to third and with two out Robinson, Ford and Hill and G. Yonker singled in a row, but Yonker was thrown out at second. Hill crossed the plate on the play and the score was allowed to count.

In the fifth Lone Star again scored, batting around before being retired and accounting for seven more runs. Tom Yonker hit for the circuit with nobody on in this inning, while Littlefield and Pace doubled. The seven runs were made on seven hits and two errors. Lone Star was aided twice in the game when Times players, thinking they had a forced run, threw to the wrong bases to cutoff runners. In the sixth the side was retired in order on three pop flies to the infield.

Littlefield, playing third base, turned in a wonderful game, robbing Times players of three or four almost cinch hits by making one-handed stops and quick throws on hard hit balls to stop the playing honors. Jim Hicks, Times left fielder, robbed Foy of what looked like a sure home run when he made a beautiful running catch of a long-hit ball, taking the catch over his left shoulder as he ran with his back to the diamond. Several of the Lone Star hits were made when Times players allowed balls, that should have been caught, drop between them, both thinking the other was making the play.

Ranger Merchants

"dead-beat" accounts and then absolutely refused to make charges to the persons listed, the whole trade of Ranger would in a few months be listed as "good" or "excellent."

For many years it has been the policy of business men here, and for that matter all over the United States, to give credit too freely. In the past if a man had once paid a bill or was working regularly or was socially important (seemingly) or had a good appearance, it was no trouble to get credit any place in town. Now it is proposed that an applicant for credit be given credit if it is due him on his known record and refused credit if it is not due.

Mrs. True has prepared a supply of form letters for the merchants to use this month when they send out their bills, again calling the attention of the "slow payers" to the fact that concerted action is to begin June 10. The letter refers to the first enclosure and reads in part:

"Thinking that possibly you overlooked the provisions therein contained, we ask that you kindly refer to this agreement, and you will note that we, individually and collectively, agreed upon our honor to report all accounts in arrears, and further, that we agreed not to sell on open accounts to anyone thus reported."

"This agreement will go into effect on June 10, 1934, and we certainly dislike to report the name of our friend and customer, which would doubtless cause embarrassment, etc., and are therefore writing you this friendly letter, asking that you kindly arrange to take care of the accounts you owe us which amounts to $—."

"We feel sure that you will appreciate our position in this matter, and take this in the spirit in which it is written: the spirit of friendship and co-operation."

The letter is to be signed by the merchant sending it and is to be the last friendly notice before having to report the customer in accordance with the original agreement.

EDITOR APOLOGIZED FOR LACK OF FIRE NEWS

FLORENCE, Colo.—When fire damaged his home recently Milton H. Booth, editor of the Florence Daily Citizen, wrote a front page apology for his readers.

"This writer hangs his head in shame, knashes teeth, curses roundly," he wrote.

He dismissed the damage done to his home as relatively unimportant. What angered Editor Booth was the fact that his home caught fire ten minutes after the deadline for his afternoon newspaper.

Having good news stories break after the deadline (it's always just ten minutes after the deadline," he says) "drives good newsmen to drink, or worse, causes a sprouting of gray hair, and a fine showing of profanity."

50 YEARS A MARTYR TO CONSTIPATION

But Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought Welcome Relief

Read this splendid letter from Mrs. Haynes:

"For 50 years I have been a martyr to constipation. Have tried every remedy under the sun.

"One day I read an account of some one who had been relieved by ALL-BRAN, but I thought 'What was the use of me trying anything more when all else had failed?'

"A while after, I read it again that time I thought I would try it it would do no harm anyway.

"I began with a small dish of your ALL-BRAN for breakfast, and wonderful to say, I never need to take any physic at all now. How I wish other poor sufferers from constipation could be persuaded to try it."

—Mrs. Sarah Haynes, 138 Cedarwood Terrace, Rochester, N. Y.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regular habits. Also iron for the blood.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. It's so much safer than taking patent medicines! Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. Severe cases, with each meal if not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get this delicious ready-to-eat cereal from your grocer. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Chimpanzee's Bites Are Worth $154

By United Press
DETROIT, Mich. — Jo Mendi, Detroit's favorite performer at the Detroit Zoological Gardens, again became a thoroughly insured chimpanzee when the Common Council voted to pay $154 to renew for the coming year Jo's $40,000 personal liability policy, which is to expire soon.

The need for the insurance was explained by Councilman George Engel, who pointed out that while Jo was renowned for his sunny disposition, he might some time be suffering from one of those "mornings after" and bite one of his fond admirers. Inasmuch as he generally performs on city property, Engel said, the city might be liable.

"John T. Millen, Zee director, owns Jo," said Councilman Richard Lindsay, "so he ought to pay the insurance himself."

"Jo is a good chimpanzee and earns the city a good income," retorted Councilman John W. Smith. "Besides, he's great advertising for the city. A little bill like this isn't much to pay for his services. Millen could take him away from the Zoo and with a private show earn many times what the city pays him."

And so, after pros and cons in the Council Chambers, Jo was officially insured by the city.

BARN BLOWN 300 FEET

By United Press
ANDOVER, N. B.—They have some pretty stiff breezes around Andover sometimes. For instance, during a recent severe rain, wind and electrical storm, a large barn belonging to Neil Bryson was uprooted and blown 300 feet away. Several telephone poles in its way were knocked down.

FAMOUS OLD ROSE WINS NEW HONORS

LONDON.—Although it is 70 years old this summer, the famous yellow rose, Marechal Niel, swept all other roses off the boards at the Spring Show of the National Rose society of England.

A plant containing 12 blooms got first prize for that class, and a single rose on that bush got first prize for being "the most perfect rose" in the show.

"It is a gorgeous show," remarked one of the judges, "with many interesting features, but somehow none of them can touch this veteran rose in size, perfection of form, color and sweetness of perfume."

CROCKETT'S VIOLIN IN SAN ANTONIO MUSEUM

By United Press
SAN ANTONIO.—Davy Crockett's violin now has been added to the historical collection at Witte Memorial museum here. It was located through T. S. Quinn, a violin maker of Russellville, Ala., and purchased by Mayor C. K. Quinn. The instrument of the famous frontiersman was made in 1819. Its record is traced from Crockett to his son, then to the Tom Hollis family of Franklin, Tenn., and is fully authenticated.

Kelvinator Hostess School Opens Thursday

MISS WILLIAMS WILL CONDUCT THE SESSIONS

School To Be Sponsored By Killingsworth, Cox & Co. in Tharpe Building.

Can you spare a few hours Thursday and Friday afternoons of this week? Of course you can when after all it's a rare occasion and a real treat to every woman.

Ranger. Kelvinator hostess school to be conducted by Miss Thelma Williams, and sponsored by Killingsworth-Cox Company.

Are you a perfect hostess in your home, are you completely familiar with the many details which round out ease and warm hospitality? Is your happiness based on your authentic knowledge and self assurance of what is right at all times? and justly so.

unique manner. The building will be especially decorated affording a bright and cheerful appearance for the two day's entertainment.

Learn the 1934 way of how to decorate, how to set a table, how to plan menus, how to observe etiquette, how to serve correctly, how to buy food, how to use recipes, how to plan budgets, how to seat guests, and how to entertain.

With summer not just around the corner but here in full bloom there are any number of clever ideas to be gotten by attending this school which Miss Williams conducts in a most fascinating degree.

Young Bridegroom Studies Arithmetic

BELGRADE.—Europe's youngest married couple are Mustafa Bashitch, 11, and Brisha Kasapovich, 17, of Bosnia.

Although a full fledged husband, the young bridegroom has to go to school every day and his bride helps him with his lessons. He is in the third grade.

Early engagements are no rarity in Banovich, which is a Moslem community. The above couple, however, break all records. In the village of Rasnu recently a young couple 13 and 12, respectively, became engaged.

Only about 300,000 men have been killed since 1933 in the fighting between Paraguay and Bolivia. Not such a good record for munitions manufacturers to hold up to other nations.

In Short, Queen Mary Will Be Shocked

Alice Marble, right, of the U. S. Wightman Cup tennis team, has taken a half dozen pairs of shorts to Wimbledon and intends to play so attired against Britain's fair ones on June 15 and 16, despite Queen Mary's reported aversion to this attire. Miss Marble's teammates, Helen Jacobs, left, and Caroline Babcock, center, also are staunch supporters of shorts.

Multitude of Problems Is Bothering Citizens of Sunflower State

Editor's Note: Some rather unusual things are happening in Kansas where sunflowers grow and prohibition has flourished for half a century. Some of the travails of this commonwealth are sketched in the following article.

TOPEKA, Kan.—Kansas, whose neighbor states are inclined to raise their eyebrows, and wink knowingly at her traditional morality, is getting restless again.

A multitude of problems seem to be bothering Kansas. Citizens of the Sunflower state are asking themselves whether their stern commonwealth is about to cast aside the veil of sobriety and go in for a fling at gambling, drinking, nudism, free spending and experiment.

One of her young men perpetrated a $1,500,000 forged bond fraud with a resultant scandal that brought two high state officials before a senate impeachment court—the first since 1892. They were acquitted but the young Kansas Ponzi, Ronald Finney, faces 600 years in prison.

Club women are forsaking bridge for old-fashioned stub poker.

All of this, compounded with common problems of depression, recovery and the new deal, has given Kansas food for thought. No prophet, however, predicts what form the mass expression will take. No "Sockless" Jerry Simpson, son of the populist uprising four decades ago, and no Carrie Nation of hatchet and barroom fame, has appeared.

Some state leaders believe nothing of importance will come of this "crisis." Justice William A. Smith of the state supreme court and Frank J. Ryan, secretary of state, hold this view.

"It is all a momentary hysteria," Justice Smith said. "Of course, wet propaganda had some effect but it's rather like the middle-aged woman we all have known, having raised her children and been a model wife and mother, suddenly started meeting the piano tuner around the corner. But in most cases she stopped it almost as soon as she started and was even more virtuous in her conduct."

"That's what will happen in Kansas. She always has paddled her own canoe and I believe she will continue doing so." Leslie Wallace, editor of the Larned Tiller and Toiler and "Sage of Western Kansas," would like to use spurs and see what happens. He analyzed the state of mind of his fellow-Kansans and solution to liquor problems, but we haven't found it out. In this respect we are the most backward of states. Only Tennessee surpasses us. We lose needed revenues, we multiply lawbreakers, we teach our children that hypocrisy is respectable and desirable.

"This is so eternally true that those of us who have lived in Kansas more than 25 years shudder at the thought of expressing ourselves in opposition to prevailing sentiment, even though we have at our back and call the coldest logic, the iciest reason. I have been schooled in the theory that we in Kansas are different from people in most states and that in our state black is white, and, as I say, this cold perspiration appears on my forehead."

William Allen White, editor of the Emporia Gazette, who finds most perplexing the economic application of the new deal in Kansas, observes:

"When Kansas gets her full quota of corn-hog money and adds to that a bonus for cattle we will horn out Texas (No. 1 recipient of government benefits) and stand out as the bright and shining leader of the whole galaxy of American states. So Kansas will be the hand-out queen of the union. Certainly we are getting our Wall Street money.

"Maybe this good business we are experiencing here and now is water coming out of the top of the pump. Maybe not. Possibly it is water from the well—spring of cold prosperity is trickling out of the spout—whether from the pitcher or the well, Heaven knows! But here she is!"

DESIGN NEW THREE-LIGHT BULB

CLEVELAND, O. — A new "three-light" bulb, designed to give three levels of illumination through filaments of different wattages, has been perfected by the incandescent lamp department of the General Electric company here. In appearance, the bulb differs little from an ordinary 100-watt except that it is larger in diameter and uses what is known in the trade as a three-contact mogul screw base, which is larger than the ordinary base.

 PARIS.—The Chateau in which the Marquis de Lafayette lived from 1830 to 1834 now is open to the public. It is the Chateau of La Grange Bloueau.

Arrangements have just been made by the Historical Home Association with the Comte Louis de Lasterie, former Minister of Finance, and now the owner and resident of the chateau.

Dark ivy covers a group of massive 14th Century towers, while the most surrounding the castle gives it an impressive feudal aspect.

Lafayette's study still stands as when he used it. His writing table and his card table are both there.

The chateau also contains many paintings of the hero, including a portrait by Ary Scheffer, and a bust by David d'Angers.

Officers Reveal How Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker Were Finally "Put on Spot"

Father of Former Barrow Companion Furnished Tip-Off

(Copyright 1934 by United Press) ARCADIA, La., May 24.—Local officers revealed today for the first time how Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker were "put on the spot" yesterday for ex-Ranger Captain Frank Hamer and three other Texas officers who joined Sheriff Jordan in ambushing and killing the southwest's No. 1 public enemies.

Down in the piney woods at Ashland, some 30 to 40 miles southwest of here, lives Irwin Methvin, father of Henry Methvin, who escaped when Barrow staged his Eastham prison farm delivery Jan. 16.

Since Feb. 19, when Hamer and Bob Alcorn first tipped Sheriff Jordan to that fact, local officers have watched the Methvin home. They knew Barrow had dashed there several times. Methvin feared to lend officers help because he didn't want the lives of himself and his family jeopardized if Barrow was cornered in his home.

"Lay off my home and I'll help you trap him up the road," was Methvin's ultimatum.

Hamer and his men waited in Shreveport. Two weeks later they sat down and prepared to spring their trap. The long-expected call came. Swiftly they drove the 60 miles to Arcadia and joined Sheriff Jordan and Deputy Oakley.

Seven hours before Barrow and Bonnie sped into their death trap, Hamer and his men concealed themselves along the road. Equipped with powerful field glasses they could see all cars from the north long before they reached the ambush.

Long before Barrow and Bonnie were within range of the posse's rifles the officers knew they were approaching. Hamer had spread his men out so that in case Barrow tried to spray them with automatic rifles or shotguns, he could not possibly get more than one man at a time.

Slowed down by a cleverly planted truck, Barrow clearly heard the order to halt.

WARD SCHOOL GRADUATION PROGRAM HELD

The auditorium of the school was packed to capacity, not an available seat being seen throughout the auditorium, with citizens present from all over the town present.

Special Copy For Times' Big Edition Should Be In Soon

The special edition of the Times to be published on June 1, is nearing completion. The management urges that all who have copy to be prepared for either news stories or advertisements do so immediately as it will be impossible to accept any articles later than Saturday. The Times does not wish to miss anyone. Practically every industry, both large and small, will be represented and we hope that all will co-operate to the extent that none will be missed.

This edition will be the most complete ever issued in Ranger and it will be an edition that will be very valuable from both a news and historical standpoint in the years to come.

This edition covers every phase of activity in this community and reaches out into other localities. Both Straw and Olden business men are co-operating as well as others out of the area.

The Times will be glad to use any articles that someone might know of that would be news in an edition of this sort. The last tabloid special edition was published by the Times in 1929. The one now in the making will modernize on the old edition and bring it down to date.

If anyone knows of any historical data that has not been developed, we will appreciate the same being brought to the attention of the publishers.

Baylus Hicks With Fleet Off Cuba

F. D. Hicks received a letter from his son, Baylus, who is now serving his third year in the U. S. navy. The letter is from Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. Young Hicks is on the battleship Pennsylvania, flagship of the admiral of the fleet, which is on the way to New York where they expect to land on May 30.

Baylus was a Times newsboy for 10 years and finished his high school work in Ranger in 1931. While in the navy he is studying radio work and in writing to his father said that the work was very slow in that there were so many men in line that it was hard for one to accomplish much in a year. It was reported that Baylus was married some month or six weeks ago but his father received a letter recently that the fleet was ordered to leave San Pedro before arrangements could be made for the wedding. He has not been home since his enlistment.

Frank Hamer Gives Insight Into Crime Career of Slain Killers, Bonnie and Clyde

BARROW BEGAN CRIME CAREER 8 YEARS AGO

By United Press
HOUSTON, May 24.—Eight years ago Clyde Barrow began his career of crime when he became a member of a local gang of hoodlums.

The story of the southwest's most notorious killer was told today by a former member of the gang from behind cell bars in the Harris county jail. The gang was known as the "Root Square Club." It is now extinct.

"Clyde was just a wide-eyed kid when one of the fellows brought him to the hangout one night and said he was 'all right,'" the former companion said.

"The gang was mostly young kids. They stole automobile tires and sold them. The gang got women and had a hot time getting drunk.

"Clyde tired of petty stealing and convinced the gang it should go into the burglary and safe-robbing business. Clyde knew how to use 'soup.' We all learned later how to make the stuff.

"Clyde had a burning hate for policemen and apparently was not afraid of them. I never figured he was a killer or would turn out to be one. Guess we were to blame for his hating coppers. We taught him to.

"Clyde always read newspapers and seemed to get a kick out of reading of the jobs he pulled. He kept a scrapbook for the clippings.

Even when a small boy he was cruel and mean. He took pleasure in hurting animals and birds. He used to break the legs of dogs and cats and torture other animals and break the wings of birds just to watch them try to fly.

L. N. Hart Died Wednesday; Buried Thursday 3 P. M.

Funeral services for L. N. Hart, 74-year-old Eastland county pioneer who died suddenly at noon Wednesday, were conducted from the Corinth church near his long time home a few miles northwest of Eastland, at 3:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Burial was in the Corinth cemetery. Services were conducted by Rev. Dick O'Brien and Rev. Nugent Balderne.

Mr. Hart came to Eastland county from Bell county and had resided on the farm where he died, or in the city of Cisco, for about 40 years. He drove out to the farm from Cisco Wednesday as was his custom, and while seated at the table eating his noon meal complained of feeling badly. He left the table and went to bed. Members of his family called a physician and a neighbor living near by, but Mr. Hart died before either arrived.

A life-long member of the Baptist church, Mr. Hart was active in the affairs of that church and in the civic affairs of his community and the county. He was a good citizen, a good husband and father and a pal to his children.

Survivors are his widow, who was his second wife, and the following children: John S. Hart, Eastland; Sam Hart, Eastland; James A. Hart, Alameda; Neet, Gus and Josh Hart, who reside at the Hart home near Cisco; Mrs. Mary Norris, Mexia; Mrs. Elmer Matthews, Eastland; Miss Rosie Hart, who also resides at the Hart home near Cisco, and another daughter who resides at San Angelo. One son and a daughter are dead.

Breckenridge Girl Has Perfect School Attendance Record

By United Press
BRECKENRIDGE, May 23.—Bess Charleston Pruitt, 16, is graduating from Breckenridge high school with a perfect attendance record for all of her school life.

School officials believe that hers is the only record of being neither absent nor tardy ever made in the Breckenridge schools.

When she received a certificate for perfect attendance at the close of her first year in school, Bess said she resolved to keep that record as long as she could.

The "no tardies" part was easy, Bess said.

Her success in keeping her attendance perfect is probably due to the fact that she is a member of a family of nine children. "I had the measles and all of those things before I started to school. The older ones would catch them at school, then while they were sick at home I would take them," she said.

She admitted that she had "felt bad" a couple of times in the past few years but that didn't keep her from attending school. The nearest she ever came to breaking the record was when she was in the second grade.

She got sick one day in school and her teacher asked her if she would like to go home.

Bess explained the situation—that she didn't want to miss school—so the teacher and pupils piled the coats on the end table. Bess had a bed and kept the record "perfect."

An abscessed tooth threatened to keep her out of school this year but she took advantage of the Easter holidays to have it removed.

Bess has always made good grades and has taken an active part in school life. She was one of the pep squad leaders this year, as well as being president of the Math Club and vice president of the Spanish Club. She was one of the 11 students elected by the faculty this year for membership in the National Honor Society.

She entered typing and short-hand contests in the district meet and had a role in the senior play. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Pruitt.

Aid For Yachtman Rushed By Navy

By United Press
BALBOA, Canal Zone, May 24.—Two navy surgeons and a young wife stood beside William Robinson in the Galapagos Island and watched the horizon for destroyer Hale, believed to be his only hope for life. They believed the appendix was ruptured.

Lee Simmons Was Man Who Hired Former Ranger

(Copyright 1934 by United Press) SHREVEPORT, La., May 24.—Frank Hamer, former Texas ranger captain, revealed today how he had headed the successful hunt for Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker since Feb. 10, when he was put on their trail exclusively by Lee Simmons, manager of the Texas prison system.

"Thanks to Lee Simmons, who employed me to work for the prison board, I had unlimited authority and resources to devote to finding Barrow and Bonnie," Hamer said.

"Employed Feb. 10, a little less than a month after Barrow freed Hamilton and others at the Eastham prison farm, I began checking up on all possible contacts Clyde might have. Nine days later, aides and I visited Arcadia.

"We visited Sheriff Jordan and outlined to him why Barrow might reasonably be expected eventually to be found in that neighborhood.

"Barrow was hot in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa because of the long trail of murder he and Bonnie or he and his dead brother, Buck, had spread over those states. Louisiana was the one spot near his home state where he wasn't hot.

"I never knew another outlaw like Barrow. He was a wanton killer and steered clear of underworld associates except for Bonnie Parker. His hunches were uncanny.

"Some wild reports about Clyde and Bonnie have gained currency. Barrow drank very little and didn't use dope at all. Bonnie was clever and equally as merciless in the matter of taking human life without provocation of any sort. She loved whisky and kept herself stimulated with it.

"Her love for cigars was fact and not fiction, though when killed she had cigars and not cigars in her lap."

Pacifist Trend Is Shown By a Poll

There were 150 who said they would defend their country if invaded.

Refusal to "support the president in any declaration of war" was expressed by 238 students.

Approval of a group of Oxford students to refuse to "fight for king or country" was voiced by 157.

The poll revealed 263 students favored senate investigation of the munitions industry; 184 approved immediate adherence of the United States to the covenant of the League of Nations and the majority in favor of an embargo of arms to shipments of munitions from United States to other countries.

Bodies of Bonnie And Clyde In Dallas

By United Press
DALLAS, May 24.—Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker came home to Dallas today.

Two ambulances bore their bullet-riddled bodies to the city that was once their home. There was none waiting to receive their bodies. To one funeral home went the ambulance bearing Clyde. To another went the one bearing Bonnie.

The bodies were taken quickly from the ambulances, carried through a drizzling rain. Curious persons soon flocked to the funeral homes.

Against Bonnie's wish they will be buried separately.

TEXANS AND THE TAXES THEY PAY FOR THE YEAR

Now it is announced that the tax gatherers of Texas turned into the treasury $98,000,000 in a single year, speaking of the last fiscal year, and the governmental institutions spent something like $107,000,000. State highways and lateral roads received 50 per cent of the sum total collected and the schools a very large percentage of the balance. There are 8000 or 9000 taxing units in Texas, or rather government units which have the power or authority to levy taxes. Really, the system of government is as old and as antiquated as the dodo. When will the thinking people of Texas come out of their trance?

Chevrolet Passes All Other Cars in Sales

At a recent meeting of the dealers in the Dallas zone, Mr. H. C. Howard, zone manager, made the following statement: Starting at zero in January, with a car so new and so basically improved as to create a whole new series of major production problems, the Chevrolet Motor company this year accomplished the almost incredible feat of eclipsing all other producers by the end of March. Gaining momentum rapidly, stepping production up from a few units a day to more than 5,500, Chevrolet passed all competitors, with the year but a few weeks old, completing March with its old rank as world's greatest builder of cars, a position it has occupied six of the last seven years. Registration figures are not available so early as production totals, but those for March, now complete, show Chevrolet with a healthy lead over all other cars. In the truck field, Chevrolet's leadership was even more decisive, due to the fact that the new trucks were in production somewhat earlier. Registrations for Chevrolet trucks, for the year to date, have exceeded those of its three principal competitors combined. Rural users have played a major role in bringing about Chevrolet's dominance, both in the passenger car field and in trucks. Replacement of worn-out cars and trucks on farms is going forward more rapidly this spring than for a long time past, Chevrolet dealers report, and it is a significant fact that those who have owned Chevrolets are buying Chevrolets again.

Penny Woodsmen Awaiting Bad Luck

WELLSBORO, Pa.—Believing that white foxes bring bad luck, many woodsmen in this district today were waiting for something unfortunate to happen following the report that an albino fox had been sighted in the Tioga state forest. Albinism is very unusual among foxes, according to Forest Ranger E. N. Leakes, of Ansonia. The albino fox was reported seen in the vicinity of Goodall forest. A woodman seems to know the origin of the belief that such an animal brings bad luck. Absolutely white foxes are not native to Pennsylvania.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep... Vigor... Vitality Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes of filter which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. They should pour out their bladder a pint of fluid a day which contains 4 pounds of waste matter. If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amounts of urine, burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of serious trouble, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality getting up nights, insomnia, swollen feet and ankles, chronic constipation and distress. If kidneys don't empty 4 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't let a doctor's prescription... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give relief and will help you to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes. But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to do you up in 15 minutes. Your common sense will tell you that this is impossible. The motto of the makers of DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS and Urinary Tract Tablets is: "Doan's Pills and Urinary Tract Tablets are the only kidney pills that contain no water or other harmful ingredients. Doan's Pills and Urinary Tract Tablets are your kidneys' best friend."

WANT-AD!

DONNA of the BIG TOP by BEULAH POYNTER

BEGIN HERE TODAY DONNA GABRIEL and MADELINE SIDDAU who call themselves "The Circus Sisters" are circus performers. When Donna is injured by a fall from the trapeze Madeline arranges for her to be taken to GRANDFATHER SIDDAU's farm to recuperate. To please her father Donna agrees to be Madeleine. She is nicknamed "The Girl in the Hat" because she wears a hat that she keeps it up, even when BILL SIDDAU, Madeline's cousin, asks her to marry him. Meanwhile Madeline marries CON DAVID, animal trainer with the circus, and takes part in the animal act. Donna and Bill are married. MRS. PLANTER, housekeeper discharged by Donna, is her enemy. Grandfather Sidduau has a stroke and Donna writes Madeline about his illness. The circus is in New Orleans. Con tells Madeline she must go into the cage alone with Lucy, the tiger, during the evening performance. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXV CONTRARY to expectations, Renfro was not at all enthusiastic about Madeline going into the cage alone with Lucy. "I don't trust that beast," the circus owner said. "I never have, and I never will. Oh, I know Madeline has been working with the cat for several weeks but, just the same, she's afraid of her. If she should suddenly lose her nerve—" "But she won't," Con protested. "Why, you've seen for yourself how well Lucy behaves now. Madeline can handle her as well as I can." Renfro shook his head. "I'm not afraid that anything will happen when you're in the cage, Con. With Madeline it's different. An accident now would ruin our business here and, God knows, we need the business."

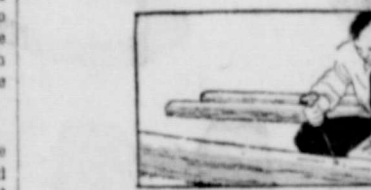

Con laughed. "Then what are you complaining about? This act will get business for you. It's going to be a sensation! Give the crowd some real thrills and watch them flock in!" There was an air of hushed suspense in the big tent an hour later when the striped beauties and their larger, less forcible cousins, the lions, filed in through the wooden enclosure and took their places in the huge steel cage. Madeline stood near at hand and watched Con go through the act that had first won her admiration. The great spotlight shone on Con, Madeline's slender, yellow-clad figure was in the shadows. But when, just before the finish of the usual routine, Con paused and announced that Miss Gabriel would put the tiger through her paces, the glowing light swung about and fell directly on Madeline. PERHAPS at that moment Con had a premonition of what was to happen? Perhaps he felt a tinge of conscience or a spark of tenderness toward the girl who stood beside him. He leaned toward her and whispered, "If you're afraid, Honey, we'll call the whole thing off."

Madeline raised her shadowed eyes to his, a bitter smile twisting her lovely, rouged lips. "I'll go out in a blaze of glory," she said. She was thinking that this was to be her farewell appearance with the circus. As soon as the act was over she would tell Con that she was "jumping" the show that she was through with him and with Renfro's circus forever. The door of the cage was opened then and, armed only with a whip, Madeline slid through the aperture. Spectators held their breath. The big tent that had been hushed before seemed utterly still and silent. There were men on guard outside armed with revolvers but few of the watchers knew that Lucy stood in the center of the cage, her yellow eyes meeting Madeline's, as the graceful feline body crouched low. Step by step, the girl advanced, speaking softly. "On the chair, Lucy. On the chair."

Suddenly a man in a seat just behind the first row arose to his feet. He gave a low, mirthless laugh and called out in a voice that penetrated the entire tent. "Go to it, Baby! I said I'd be here and here I am!" Unmindful of her danger, Madeline turned. She saw Trafford, standing in the second row, and caught the leering grin on his face. It was at that instant—while her attention wavered—that the tigress leaped. The rest happened so swiftly—a vivid splash of orange and white and black shooting through the air, the blood-curdling scream and the great beast bearing the slender body to the ground—that the horrified spectators were gripped in complete inactivity by the shock. EVEN the men on guard to prevent accidents were too stunned to move. Con cried out, "Good God!" and tore at the fastenings of the door. Perhaps because he jerked so violently, the lock caught and jammed. Then a shot rang out. The tigress sprang into the air, gave a dying groan and fell back across the mutilated, bleeding body of the girl. Con tore open the door of the cage and reached his wife. As he lifted her small figure in his gay finery of yellow and purple his voice could be heard above the tumult crying, "Who the devil shot the tiger?" Madeline was still breathing, as Con carried her across the arena to the nearest dressing room, which was La Belle Matilde's, but it was obvious that life was ebbing fast. A doctor who had been in the audience and witnessed the tragedy offered his services. It took only the briefest examination before he told them the girl had only a few moments to live. Meanwhile Trafford, the man who had caused the accident, slipped out of the tent unnoticed, sobered by what he had done and discovering that revenge was not sweet. He lingered near the entrance to the grounds, waiting to hear whether Madeline lived or died. For the first time in his career Renfro forgot that "the show must go on." The accident in which Donna had been injured had been bad enough, but Donna had not been torn and mangled and certain to die. A merciful God could not let Madeline linger long. When the spectators, in a body, rose and left the big top Renfro

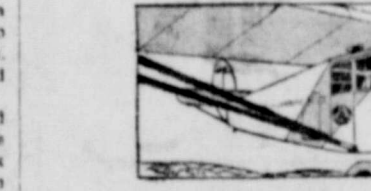

They're paid to be dissatisfied with telephone service

The scientists of Bell Telephone Laboratories, research unit of the Bell System, are paid to be dissatisfied with telephone service... to find better ways of furnishing it... to keep the cost of service low. Without their help, the men and women who give you telephone service here could not do their job so well.

Testing for decay with a pole prod...

Telephone poles last years longer because Bell Laboratories scientists have learned to make them "taste bad" to fungus growths which cause decay. Millions of dollars are saved annually because these research workers found a substitute for the tiny platinum contact points in telephone equipment, that is cheaper, but does the job just as well.

Flying laboratory studying aircraft communication

Researches of Bell Laboratories have made it possible to send your voice across continents and seas... have found the way to make a single long distance line transmit four different conversations at once... have through scores of inventions and improvements contributed to the clearness and quality of your local telephone service.

Speech restored by artificial larynx...

By-products of this search for better telephone methods have been the development of talking motion pictures, of public address systems for auditoriums and stadiums, of aids for the hard of hearing, and of an artificial larynx which restores speech to many persons who have lost their vocal cords by surgical operations.

FOR YOU... Good Service at Fair Cost The economies and improvements resulting from the work of Bell Laboratories are devoted, not to swelling profits, but to holding the cost of good telephone service low. This company, as one of the 24 operating companies of the Bell System, shares in the advantages from these developments. But the person who, ultimately, benefits most... is the telephone user. This is a fundamental policy in the telephone service. Back of it is our feeling that in an organization planned like the telephone service for the long pull, what is best for the telephone user becomes in the end the course that will bring us the sounder, more certain success. ### Dry Texas Has Many Open Bars

By United Press
AUSTIN. — Technically still "dry," Texas has open saloons in its principal cities.

Operators of famous border bars south of the Rio Grande, missing the throngs that once came to them, sent a visiting delegation to San Antonio.

"No wonder, you have everything here we have," the delegates admitted. Now a number of them have transferred to the Texas city.

Galveston dealers have adopted the open door policy. There is not even a swinging door to conceal the men and women standing at the bar rail.

The capital city, itself, has its boasted open bar. A night club has closed its gaming tables until "after election." That is in July.

Gun-fighting among the saloon men led to orders to close up San Antonio saloons. Police dutifully made their raids and laid their testimony before the grand jury. No indictment resulted. The city has a record of never convicting anyone for violation of the state dry law.

Sale of 3.2 beer and wine was legalized last summer. A constitutional provision still makes sale of harder liquor punishable by a prison term.

Cabinet Closeups

FRANCES PERKINS
Secretary of Labor

FRANCES PERKINS

By WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON. — First woman cabinet member, Frances Perkins is another to bring very definite experience and qualifications to her post.

Fewer extra duties have come to her in the course of the New Deal than to some cabinet members, yet she has several important duties in addition to the regular department work.

She is a member of the Federal Board for Vocational Education, Federal Employment Stabilization Board, Public Works Emergency Housing Corporation, and Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works, all rather closely related, you will note, to the welfare of labor.

But she is also member of the Council of National Defense, Smithsonian Institution, National Emergency Council and Executive Council. The department still operates the U. S. Conciliation Service, though this has been largely overshadowed by the National Labor Board.

She has revitalized the Bureau of Labor Statistics, and the Immigration and Naturalization Service was given its present form in this department just prior to her taking office.

The Children's Bureau and the Women's Bureau, both charged with furthering the welfare of those respective classes of people as such, are under her eye.

And the United States Employment Service, also formed just prior to Miss Perkins' term of office, is being enlarged and improved under her direction.

Capability shines through the gracious manner of this cabinet officer at every turn. Cordial and kindly, she is determined and usually gets what she wants.

In private life she is Mrs. Paul Wilson and mother of a daughter, but she handles her present job strictly on her own.

She dresses quietly, in "all business," and one of the hardest workers in the capital.

She doesn't look her 51 years.

Guinea Pigs Are Good Rabbit Hunters

By United Press
NORWALK, O. — Your bird dog may have nothing over the rest of the animal world as a hunter. Consider the humble guinea pig. Local sportsman, discovering that cavies will rout bunnies when sent into their burrows, are in a quandry over what old John Law thinks about such hunting. So Joe Walker, of Greenwich, near here, a deputy game warden has been asked for a ruling.

The meek, gentle guinea pig, it was found, will chase out a cottontail with the same alacrity as a ferret. But state laws, so far as is known here, say nothing to clarify the guinea pig-and-rabbit game.

R. E. Fader, cvek hatchery man, was the first to discover the hunting value of the cavy. Observers here believe "the rabbits leave their homes when they detect the guinea pig odor."

Norwalk leads the world in the raising of cavies for breeding purposes and to laboratories for medical research.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and weak and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of pills, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. You bloat up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. You often break out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful balsamic, specific vegetable extracts, which when it comes to making the bile flow freely, just don't back for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the same Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of a substitute. Buy at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

FOUGHT FOR TEACHERS

By United Press
GALION, O. — More than 100 students walked out of junior high school classrooms here and 750 residents staged an evening mass meeting, as a protest to the dismissal of nine school teachers. The students were persuaded to return to classes pending action of the board of education in the dismissal. The nine were dismissed because they assertedly had expressed their views about J. F. Bemiller, superintendent, and protested his employment.

A motorist at Kalamazoo, Mich., beat a train to the crossing and then hit it coming around the other way. That fellow wasn't going to let the train get away with it.

TEE PEE WINS A SHORT GAME FROM SINCLAIR

TeePee and Sinclair managed to get in an official game of four innings Wednesday afternoon before the game was called on account of rain, the score at the end of the fourth-inning being 4 to 2 in favor of TeePee, topping Sinclair out of a tie for first place with Stargass. Sinclair now has won three and lost one, to go into a tie with Lane Star for second place, while Stargass is still at the head of the percentage column with three wins and no defeats.

In the first half of the first inning TeePee went out in order, while in the Sinclair half of the first one run was registered, Horton getting a life on first on a foul ball. Dodd, first up, was out third to first. Horton hit a pop fly that hit between the pitcher's box and the first base foul line and bounced foul, but umpire Landers called it a fair ball because it had hit fair. Sikes struck out and Horton scored on singles by Hudson and Johnson.

TeePee tied the score in the second when Delmasso was safe on first on an error by Dodd, Sinclair's shortstop. He scored on Joe McKinnon's long single and the next three batters made outs.

TeePee scored three more in the third after two were out when Edwards singled and Hale got a triple on a pop fly just back of right short, for which no one made a try, the ball bounding back of first base. H. Gibson then hit a Texas Leaguer to left center field that got away from Richmond and went for a home run.

In the last of the fourth, with the rain getting harder all the time, Hudson and Johnson popped out to short and pitcher Reimund singled and scored on singles by Richmond and Curry. South popped out to the catcher to end the game.
