COMMITTEE TO PLAN PROGRAM FOR JULY 4TH

A committee of Ranger citizens met at the office of the chamber of commerce Monday afternoon to plan for a big July 4th celebration, to be held in the city.

The opening of the meeting was by the Rev. H. B. Johnson, who attended the service at Breckenridge, and who presided over the pageant depicting the history of the United States from the Indian days up to and including the New Deal, gave a resume of the pageant and expressed the hope that it might draw to the city on the Fourth.

It was followed by A. N. Larson, who talked along the same lines, and who said he thought it would be a big thing for Ranger to have a pageant and other tentatives for the celebration were discussed.

On the suggestion of W. C. Pearson, from the Rotary, a committee composed of A. N. Larson from the Lions, W. C. Hickey from the Carlsbad Post, Wade Swift from the Elks club and R. V. Galloway from the Chamber of Commerce was appointed to meet with the chamber of commerce and go into details concerning a contract for the pageant. The committee is to elect its own chairman, secretary and treasurer.

It also was suggested that the committee secure people from all the nearby communities to take part in the pageant, which will require approximately 300 local people.

The tentative plans call for a parade in the morning, with the pageant to be furnished by the producers of the pageant, soft ball games in the morning or afternoon, or both, swimming in the Willows, speaking by candidates for state office at the pageant in the evening, a finale of fireworks that has been guaranteed to be the best in Ranger for many years.

Everyone at the meeting was enthusiastic over the prospects of a big celebration for July 4th, and will bring large crowds to the state and it was urged that the committees to have charge of the celebration be appointed and to work as early as possible.

Those present at the committee meeting Monday afternoon were Rev. H. B. Johnson, A. N. Larson, W. C. Hickey, R. V. Galloway, Calvin Morris, Leveille, John H. Dr. P. M. Kuykendall and W. Hickey.

Captive Wanted in Four States

Branded killer and kidnaper, Joe Palmer, shown above after his arrest in St. Joseph, Mo., is wanted in four states. He was captured after he had kidnaped three eastern Iowa men, police charge, freeing them when pursuit became hot.

Palmer carried two Clyde Barrow's automatic pistols when arrested, police said. He was returned to the Texas penitentiary.

ROBBERS FAIL TO ROB BANK; STEAL GUNS

CHICO, Tex., June 19.—Frustrated in their attempt to rob the First Bank of Chico today, the men looted two stores of merchandise valued at $1,000 and fled with the bank night watchman as captive.

The nightwatchman, Wesley Dunaway, was released near Bridgport. He said the men made him prisoner about 1 a. m. They forced him to accompany them to a filling station where they obtained tools and returned to the bank.

Their efforts to open the bank vault were futile. They then robbed the two hardware stores. Their loot included guns, ammunition and clothing.

EXPURGATED EDITION

WELLESLEY, Mass.—At a cost of something like $200, the administration of Wellesley College has expurgated from a booklet advertising the college, a picture of two girl students in revealing gowns. A more sedate group picture has been substituted.

NRA Labor Advisory Board Seeks To Aid Labor and Industry

WASHINGTON.—The Labor Advisory Board of NRA sees its greatest achievement during the past year the application to relations between labor and industry a new social control, more flexible than any law, and adapted to varying conditions.

The Board was established last July through appointment of nine members by Labor Secretary Frances Perkins. Dr. Leo C. Wolfman was named chairman. He has been absent since April 15, when he took charge of the automobile strike settlement board at the request of President Roosevelt.

Five of the original nine members were American Federation of Labor officials, including William Green, president. When the board membership was increased to 13, the four new members were officials of the labor union. Sidney Hillman's clothing workers' union was brought into the Federation during the year, increasing the A. F. of L. representation to 10 out of 13 members.

The chief responsibility of the Labor Advisory Board according to the President's order, was to assure that "every affected labor group, whether organized or unorganized, is fully and adequately represented in an advisory capacity."

Labor advisers were named for every code hearing, labor representatives were given a hearing

THE 'NEW DEAL' CONGRESS IS ON WAY HOME

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The 73rd congress which enacted the framework of President Roosevelt's new deal went home today. The end came undramatically at 11:45 last night to the congress which had vested the president with powers greater than any ever held by a peace-time executive.

Today congressmen and senators, most of them seeking re-election, were trekking homeward, anxious to learn what the country had to say about the new course which they have charted for the nation.

And the nation, with congress out of the way, was at liberty to start the business recovery which so many have said would begin as soon as it was known just when the law-making would cease.

It was believed President Roosevelt would veto the farm bill, which would grant a virtual moratorium on the indebtedness of insolvent farmers.

Three of congress' acts will furnish the keynote for an intensive summer drive toward business recovery. They are the tariff bill, permitting the president to negotiate reciprocal agreements, the housing act, designed to stimulate the construction industry, and the bill granting federal loans to the smaller industries.

Steel Strike Truce May Be Permanent

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Steel union leaders offered to make the steel strike truce permanent today but conditioned the gesture on acceptance of proposals of their own making.

They laid a four-point peace plank before Secretary of Labor Perkins. It was based on compromise proposals drafted by William Green, president of the A. F. of L. and accepted by the union convention last week.

It differs only slightly from the government's new labor law.

Six Are Killed In A Gasoline Blast

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., June 19.—The death toll of an explosion in a fire at the Richfield gasoline tank farm rose today to six, when Wayne Lewis, 14, a spectator, died of burns. Of the 21 injured, still in hospitals, two were said to be in critical condition.

Gasoline Is Used For Poultry Worms

The use of gasoline for control of worms in poultry has a strong advocate in Bob Smith of Okla who last spring treated 400 chickens with less than two quarts of gasoline. Plain gasoline is used. One teaspoonful of the dose for grown chickens and two teaspoonful for turkeys. Due to danger of strangulation the gasoline must be inserted down the throat with a small syringe carrying a 2 to 3-inch piece of rubber tubing on the nipple. For small chickens an eyedropper may be used. County Agent Patterson states that nature will take care of most cases of colds and roupe if the birds are relieved of intestinal worms.

Dionne Family May Not Attend the Fair

NORTH BAY, Ont., June 19.—The Dionne family is attempting to break a contract to take the famous quintuplets to the world fair and may ask the Canadian government to act in the dispute, it was disclosed today by the 67-year-old grandfather of the infant girls.

He said the family was returning all money sent them.

Revival Opens at Christian Church With Enthusiasm

The revival meeting began Sunday at the Christian church and much interest is already being shown. The Evangelist who is to do the preaching arrived Monday afternoon and delivered his first message Monday night. A splendid Monday evening audience greeted him for his first message, and there was a warm and enthusiastic spirit in the service.

Rev. G. Robert Forrester, the Evangelist, stated that Rev. H. B. Johnson and his people had made splendid preparation for the meetings and for his comfort and entertainment.

Mr. Forrester opened his series of sermons with a message on "Soul Winning." He said in part: "Real men and women are always interested in the real and vital tasks of life. Pygmies may be satisfied to do a pygmy's work. Insignificant and worthless men may be content to trifle their time away on worthless tasks. But big men and women are always looking for the jobs of big men."

Several of the big enterprises of the world were mentioned. Such, for example, as the automobile industry, transportation, education, and government, but the evangelist declared that he had come to introduce a work more important than any of these, or of all of them combined.

He named the business of helping men to discover God as He is revealed in Jesus Christ as life's most worthy and challenging task. Helping men to discover the vast spiritual resources that have been released for them by the Master of men is the job supreme. This is true, he said because God placed His approval upon it as the biggest job in the world. Jesus is the highest revelation of God, and He engaged in the supreme work of life. He did not give Himself to the accumulation of wealth, nor the building of a worldly home, but to the redemption of men and the salvation of human society. Calvary is God writing in letters of living light His message of love for lost men. The gift of His son was the supreme expression of that love.

Soul winning is life's supreme task because it produces the highest commodity. A factory is judged, not by its men or its machinery, but by its finished product. An educational institution is judged not by its buildings and grounds, not by its text books but by the type of mind and heart that it produces in the students that pass through it. Applying the same test to the institution engaged in soul winning, it proves its worthiness. Drunkards are turned into sober men. Prostitutes are transformed into pure and virtuous womanhood. Thieves are made honest men, and human wreckage is transformed into pure and noble manhood.

Soul winning is the finest work of life because it pays the highest dividends. Its pay is in the coin of spiritual development, satisfaction of conscience and of God, and in the fruitage of everlasting joy.

Conducting Revival

Rev. G. Robert Forrester arrived Monday to conduct a revival now in progress at the First Christian Church.

Colored Folks Celebrating Today

Colored folks of Eastland county today were occupied in feasting, speaking, dancing and other endeavors in their observance of Juneteenth or the anniversary of the American negro's emancipation.

Dental Work Is Clue To Crimes

FLOREISSANT, Col.—With every other clue exhausted, authorities of Teller County have turned to the dental profession to help them in solving one of the most fiendish murders in the history of the region.

More than a year ago two small boys, hunting berries in the heavily wooded mountains near here, found the body of a young woman. Her skull had been crushed in. An attempt had been made to burn her body, but after the features had been made unrecognizable the fire had been extinguished.

She appeared to have been an attractive woman, about 25 years old, with dark blue eyes and brown hair. Her clothing that survived the fire and the careful maneuvering of her fingernails convinced investigators she had been a family in comfortable circumstances.

The sheriff's of nearby counties, who have the reputation of "getting their men," found the crime to be a difficult one to solve. Only one clue now remains.

The dental work of the woman was of high order. They believe that by printing a reproduction of the dental work in trade magazines they can establish the identity of the murder victim.

Union Butchers at Houston On Strike

HOUSTON, June 19.—One hundred fifty union workers employed at the Armour and Swift packing companies here struck for higher wages today.

The strike was called when the two companies refused to participate in a conference today, John Malone, national vice president of the union, said.

Masons to Confer A Masters Degree

A large crowd of Masons are expected to attend the Masonic meeting in Ranger tonight to witness the Master Mason's degree to be conferred on one candidate. Several short talks will be made at the close of the meeting by prominent Masons from over the district. Refreshments will be served.

Elks Card Draws Good Crowd Monday

One of the most enthusiastic crowds of the year witnessed the Elks card at the arena last night. Tiger Billy McEun was a bit rough at the closing of the program and handled some of the referees and spectators rather questionably. Charles Lay, promoter, is making an effort to give the public their money's worth and a good card is promised for next Monday night.

CLUES SOUGHT TO AMERICAN WOMAN ABROAD

VIENNA, Austria, June 19.—Elaborate efforts had been made to remove clues pointing to Miss Agnes C. Tufverson from her baggage seized here, police revealed today.

The baggage containing the missing American woman's clothes, jewels and other articles, was seized in the apartment occupied by Ivan Ponderjaj and his beautiful French companion, Mile. Susane Ferrand, who are under arrest.

By the use of an invention police examined surfaces. It revealed Miss Tufverson's name on labels on the baggage which had been obliterated to the naked eye.

Meanwhile police sought to trap Mile. Ferrand into some admission that would disclose the fate of the Detroit and New York lawyer. After the seizure of jewels, clothing and books that had belonged to the woman, police were convinced Mile. Ferrand and Ponderjaj could tell what happened to Miss Tufverson who disappeared after marriage to Ponderjaj in New York.

Dry Weather Best For Killing Bermuda

MAUD, Okla., June 19.—A youth's asserted efforts to defend his mother with an ax from an angry suitor had the suitor in a hospital near death with a split head and the youth in jail without charges today.

Lawrence Ragdale, 21, son of Mrs. Bonnie Stallings, 49, was arrested after he hit George Collum, 45, with an ax in the Stallings home.

Officers said they were told Collum, who was keeping Mrs. Stallings' company, had quarreled with her and later came to her home, broke in and struck the woman. Young Ragdale, who told the story, said he heard his mother scream and rushed to her aid from his own home nearby.

Legal Reform Bill Is Signed Today

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The federal procedure bill, regarded by President Roosevelt as an achievement in legal reform and in speeding the administration of justice, was signed today.

National Labor Board Is One of NRA's Busiest Children

WASHINGTON.—On Aug. 5, 1933—six weeks after the recovery act was passed guaranteeing freedom of collective bargaining to labor—the National Labor Board was created to "pass promptly on any case of hardship that may arise from interpretation, or application, of the President's re-employment agreement."

President Roosevelt appointed Sen. Robert F. Wagner, Democrat, New York, chairman of the board. On Dec. 16, 1933, the President extended the powers of the board to "adjust all conflicts threatening the industrial peace of the country." The president again extended the powers of the board on Feb. 1, 1934; this time to enable the board to supervise elections held for the purpose of allowing employees to select representatives of their own choosing for collective bargaining with employers. At the same time the board was empowered to make "appropriate" recommendations to the Justice Department against violators of the collective bargaining clause of the recovery act.

Preliminary figures show that to date the National Labor Board and 19 regional boards have taken jurisdiction of approximately 3,755 cases involving over 2,000,000 workers. Eighty per cent of the cases have been settled.

President Plans Short Vacation

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Congress has only a 24-hour start on President Roosevelt in getting out of Washington. The president's plans unchanged due to success in adjourning congress, will leave tonight for New Haven where Yale University will award him an honorary degree.

He will return to Washington later in the week. He plans to leave June 30 on his trip to Hawaii.

Richardson On Trial at Vernon

VERNON, June 19.—Taking of testimony in the second trial of Charles S. Richardson, charged with murder in connection with the slaying of his son, Eligs, began today.

A jury, eight of its members farmers, was completed last night. The son was shot last January 1. The defense will contend the shooting was accidental.

Richardson was sentenced to prison at Graham, but the case was reversed on appeal.

Gov. Ferguson Issues A Pardon

AUSTIN, June 19.—Governor Ferguson today issued a conditional pardon to Lewis Croager, who had been convicted of arson in Johnson county. The governor said that District Judge McPherson, who tried Croager, said that Croager had been hired by the owner of the building to burn it, and the owner received a suspended sentence.

The time of conviction and length of sentence were not given in the pardon proclamation.

SEVEN NAMED IN CHARGES BY GRAND JURY

Nearly Million Cigaret Tax Stamps Counterfeited According to Report.

AUSTIN, June 19.—Twenty indictments naming seven defendants, have been returned as a result of an investigation of cigaret stamp tax counterfeiting, officials said today.

They announced that D. H. Willard, an officer of the wholesale tobacco jobbers association, was charged in seven indictments.

Willard's name was announced following approval of seven bonds of $1,500 each furnished on the charges against him. Identity of others indicted was withheld pending arraignment or bonds.

Willard was charged with advising, commanding and encouraging the issuance and circulation of 310,000 counterfeit stamps. The stamps are for a three cent tax on a package of 20 cigarets.

In one indictment 100,000 stamps are listed. Three other indictments list 50,000 each; one 40,000 and two 10,000.

Former Attorney General Claud Pollard, attorney for the wholesale jobbers, who himself announced he had been indicted "unjustly and outrageously," was under bond. State Comptroller George Sheppard, whom Pollard had called upon to "do the right thing" and ask dismissal of the charge against him, said the matter is entirely in the hands of prosecuting authorities.

District Attorney J. P. Hart said he will seek trials before the summer term of court opens. He expected a hearing about July 15.

NUMBER VS. EMINENCE

The old cry in Texas that the primary nominating system and direct election of United States senators has lost the state the service of notable statesmen, and has substituted drab mediocrity by public choice for eminence is just now drawing loud echoes from the rest of the country.

Admitted there are no Roger Q. Mills, Charles A. Culbertson or John H. Reagans in public life now.

But there are a few things overlooked in all these lamentations.

Outside public life, where are there men of this elder statesman type?

Isn't it a trend to other types of endeavor, and a dearth of ready-made statesmen, rather than a system of election procedure, that denies Texas the service of great statesmen?

Doesn't Jim Hogg stack up pretty well with the other illustrious officials? Would he have reached public office under the aristocratic or autocratic plan of clique control?

Was it better to have six successful practical politicians choose men of resounding reputation and personal honor and integrity, to serve in public place, accountable only to this sort of a clique, than to have a succession of lesser men, but just as honest and conscientious, accountable really to the majority interest and the majority welfare of Texas?

Deeper, more fundamental than that: Were they any bigger anywhere, those few men who talked mightily on a narrow stage, than the hundreds, far less well known, of a later day? Maybe they weren't. Consider this:

The reputation of, say, Daniel Webster, is fixed by the histories. It is enduring. He strides through the pages in majestic glory, even while fighting to preserve the bank of the United States to prey upon the people, and while privately soliciting the bank to renew his annual retainer fee. John C. Calhoun looms a mighty figure, while his sulking revenge was driving northern and southern brothers to a destructive war.

They were great, maybe, because they were so few. Great because people knew so little about them, as compared with present publicizing. Puffed into greatness by the very thing that profited by the tradition of grandeur, the closed coterie that assumed the right to control government and divide places of honor as a vested property right. An able individualist gravitated to politics then as now; his opportunities are broader now than in the convention days.

People claim democracy has come upon evil days throughout the world. They must see, while blaming democracy, that the woes the herald are due precisely to the undermining and obstruction of democracy, the burrowing and scheming that end by thwarting democracy.

These are competitive times. A man's business will be what vision, determination, effort, good horse sense and newspaper advertising make it.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

FREDERICK E. MURPHY, publisher of the Minneapolis Tribune, says:

"One of the great sustaining forces of business during the past five years has been persistent, intelligent advertising, backed up by energetic sales effort. These same 'prosperity twins' right now are proving to be the most reliable factors in business recovery under the New Deal. The reason is simply that advertising and salesmanship have been proved, time and again, to be both potent and effective in creating rapid and continuous turn-over, which is only a short and enlightening term for describing the exchange of merchandise or services for cash, and the creation of profits and payrolls.

"Even in the face of tremendous efforts in Washington to bring back prosperity, business itself can help the cause along by putting back to work its greatest salesman, Advertising, on full time. Its hours of work are not limited by any codes, and it speaks a language that inspires and lifts up the down-hearted.

"The power of Advertising to build prosperity is proved by a survey made by the Advertising Federation of America, covering the 17-year record of 120 corporations. Sixty of them annually increased their advertising appropriations, in spite of depressions, at an average rate of 16 per cent over each previous year.

"Many of these firms were small, but today every one of them is numbered among the foremost of America. They have multiplied their net assets to four times what they were 17 years before. Their combined net profits in one of our recent years of depression were three times greater than in the comparatively good year of 1915.

"G. T. Hodges, former president of the Federation, says, 'This dramatic but truthful testimony to the value of an unbroken advertising policy should bring confidence and inspiration to executives who want tangible proof that a courageous program, even in difficult times, will pay handsomely.'

ment form, through the county agent.

County agents are being instructed to hold all applications received by them and deliver them to taggers as they go into the field to tag the old cotton. Old cotton under a special regulation of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue is permitted to move untagged in the channels of the trade through the month of June.

These instructions are issued as a result of numerous inquiries by telegraph and telephone in order to assure persons interested in the cotton business that all old cotton will be tagged as soon as it is physically possible to accomplish the task and that taggers will act on applications even though the applications are filed after June 15 and are not on government forms.

In making application, holders of old cotton should state the number of bales ginned prior to June 15 and their location.

Tom Connally to Begin Campaign

DALLAS, Tex.—United States Senator Tom Connally will return to Texas immediately, and will take personal charge of his campaign for reelection for a second term in the Senate, J. P. Rice of Dallas, recently appointed state-wide manager for the Texas Junior Senator announced here today.

Connally will deliver half a dozen or more addresses, one or more in each section of the State, in which he will review his record in the Senate and give an accounting of his official actions to his constituency in Texas, Rice said.

Price Wars Rage In Handley Section

By United Press
HANDLEY, Texas.—Gasoline and ice price wars becoming too common, Handley merchants have engaged in another form of combat—a beer price war.

One tavern is selling any and all brands at 10 cents a bottle, two for 15. The owner announced he would continue to sell it for that price until his competitors removed "unfair competition."

Customers hoped the "unfair competition" would hold out thru the hot summer months.

DONNA of the BIG TOP by BEULAH POYNTER

BEGIN HERE TODAY. DONNA GABRIEL, circus performer, falls from the ropes and is injured. To please her partner, MADELINE SIDDAL, Donna goes to Madeline's home to recuperate, pretending to be the other girl. She is accused of the deception and keeps it up even when BILL, SIDDAL's Madeline's cousin, asks her to marry him. Donna is discharged by Donna, in her madeline who has married CON DAVID, animal trainer, to killed. Con knows of Donna's deception and decides to blackmail her. He comes to the nearby town and Donna meets him secretly. Con threatens to cause trouble for her. Mrs. Platter, because of the meeting and writes Bill an anonymous letter. "Bill goes to see Con and during his absence Grandfather Sidral dies. Bill, believing Donna has committed bigamy, tells her he "knows the truth" and will leave immediately after the funeral. Donna steals away and boards a train for Chicago. Con, on the other train, confuses her by deliberately mistaking Bill. From Chicago Donna sends Bill a telegram NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLVII. IT was Minnie who discovered that Donna was gone. Miss Perkins, the nurse, who considered it a blessing that Amos Sidral was at rest at last, spoke sharply to the servant girl and hustled her into the kitchen to get supper. Whether any one else in the family wanted food or not, the nurse felt the need of it. "Ask Mrs. Sidral to come down, Minnie," she added. "Tell her I said she must have some food. She mustn't let herself get ill." Rubbing her red eyes with a handkerchief, Minnie mounted the stairs. The sniffling were gone when she dashed back into the living room. "She's gone!" Minnie cried excitedly. "Miss Sidral's gone!" "Nonsense!" Bill muttered. "Maybe she's outside," the nurse suggested. "No, Ma'am. Her traveling bag's gone and there ain't any toilet things on the dresser! There's a big trunk in the hall with her name on it. Oh, my Lordie!" Minnie began to wring her hands as if Donna's disappearance affected her personally. Bill pushed back his chair and strode from the room. Only too evident were the indications of his wife's departure. Bureau drawers and clothes hangers were empty. The huge wardrobe trunk with the black letters, "Madeline Gabriel," stood at the foot of the second flight of stairs. She had gone without a word to him, if he needed further proof that Con David had told the truth this supplied it. Bill searched for some farewell message but there was none. Even before Grandfather's funeral Madeline had left the house. Was she utterly heartless? But why expect more of a woman who had been a cheat from the day he had first met her? WHY had she married him? Had she separated from the animal trainer and been afraid a divorce would have been frowned upon by Grandfather? Or were she and David divorced so that she was legally Bill's wife? No—if that were the case she would not have run away. He heard the telephone bell ringing but did not answer it. Presently he heard Miss Perkins saying, "Hello! Yes, he's here." Then she called, "A woman wants to speak to Mr. Sidral." A wild hope that it was Madeline stirred in Bill's breast. When he heard Mrs. Platter's voice over the wire his disappointment was so acute that he felt almost ill. "Bill, in spite of the way you talked to me I'm still your friend. I just wanted to tell you that the circus feller checked out of the hotel and has gone to Chicago." "I'm not interested," he answered. "You should be—considerin' Madeline took the same train." "What's that over?" "It's all over town. She didn't buy no ticket, but Ben Goddard said she told him she was going to Chicago on the 6 o'clock in spite of the fact that Amos just died. An' Curt Lezenby saw her get on the train an'—"

Cultivation Day

The meeting of the Missionary Society of the M. E. church Monday was a most enjoyable afternoon, due to the presenting of a splendid program, and the presence of three colored women from the Missionary society colored church, Mrs. Dishorn, Mrs. Lula Mae Dalhart, and Mrs. Lee Richards were the guests of the society.

Mrs. B. A. Tunnell, Christian social service chairman was leader. Mrs. Dishorn gave the opening prayer, a prayer heart felt, and vibrating with devotion and sincerity.

A splendid reading was given by Doris May, followed by a trio composed of the colored guests, Miss Margaret Nell Rutledge, a niece of Mrs. C. D. Woods, graciously consented to give a paper on Payne College.

A union of scripture was read in session followed by a song prayer, "Into My Heart," and the meeting closed with a prayer by Mrs. Roy Campbell.

We want to remind you that the society is meeting at 4 o'clock in the cool of the afternoon so we expect your regular attendance...

LONE STAR IS EASY WINNER FROM STARGAS

Lone Star won a one-sided victory over Stargas Monday afternoon to earn a tie for first place at the end of the first half of the Twilight League season.

The win gives Lone Star a tie for first place with Sinclair, also in the running. The two teams will play one game on Thursday, June 21, to decide the championship of the first half.

The second half season will begin Monday, June 25, while two more games will be played in the first half, the first being this afternoon and the other Wednesday.

Lone Star got off to a good start, running in six runs in the first inning, and scoring in every inning of the game except the second. Sidney Smith, who started on the mound for Stargas, did not last long as he was out when he was jerked and sent to left field, while Dan Long took up the pitching burden, pitching four innings and turning in the best game of the three pitchers used.

Hill first up for Lone Star, walked. Gene Yonker singled and Foy hit a long home run to clear the bases. This was the end of Smith's pitching and Long allowed three more runs before the side was retired.

Stargas scored twice in the second, once in the fourth, twice in the fifth and twice in the third for their seven runs. Atterberry hit for the circuit in the seventh with two down and two runs in, but he missed third base and was thrown out, getting credit for a double.

In the second inning with Hill on second and Foy on first and one down, Tom Yonker hit an infield fly, Hill holding his base and Foy advancing to second, making two men on the bag. Both were tagged and the umpire called Yonker out on an infield fly and Foy out at second, retiring the side.

Both teams played good ball, only a few scattered errors cropping up, while the two new balls used in the game accounted for the heavy hitting. Kirby, who played second base for Stargas, turned in the prettiest catch of the day when he reared out to left center field, and, with his back to the diamond, made a jumping one-hand catch of a ball that looked as though it was going for a good, clean hit.

Finding Well Water Is a Problem In The Drouth Areas

WASHINGTON.—From all over the drought stricken areas come reports of wells going dry. Well owners have these questions confronting them: Will it pay to deepen these wells? Will it pay to dig, bore or drill new wells? If so, where?

To aid in answering these never fully answered questions, agricultural engineers in the U. S. Department of Agriculture point out some facts about wells. To begin with, they say, there is little to recommend the rather common use of a forked willow, hazel or peach stick or other so-called "witching" devices for finding water, although persons who have practiced hunting water this way, from their experience and observation of surface conditions, usually are better able to judge of the probabilities of ground water than is the average person.

Some midwest farmers report good results in digging inexpensive, emergency wells in sloughs or along old creek beds, where the grass grows green even in dry weather. Holes 10 to 15 feet deep and 4 to 5 feet in diameter have been found to fill with water over night, or at least to collect enough water to maintain the livestock necessary to conduct farming operations. One objection to such wells is that surface water will drain into them. For this reason they are never wholly satisfactory, and unless the water is boiled or otherwise sterilized it is unsafe for household use. Tests for such shallow wells can be made with an ordinary posthole auger. By adding two or three feet of gas pipe at a time to the handle, considerable depths can be reached. If this test, hole does not collect water, the farmer is not out much. If it does, he can curb the hole with drain tile or dig a larger well at the spot.

The federal emergency relief administration is considering listing the digging of new wells and the deepening of old wells as work projects, to be executed under the direction of the different State emergency relief administrations.

Valuable information on sinking permanent wells can be obtained from the United States Geological Survey or from state geological authorities. Results obtained in neighboring wells and evidences of seeps and springs are of assistance in locating water supplies. Seeps and springs are more likely to occur near the foot of slopes. Shallow wells located here usually are stronger than those higher up the slope or further out on the flats. Wells on hills or close to rock outcrops are not likely to yield plentifully unless they are deep.

If possible, wells should be sunk in sands or gravels, because they are generally good water bearing materials. Quicksand, clay, marl, and hardpan sometimes contain considerable water, but yield too slowly for satisfactory supplies. Shale and slate are not good water bearers.

Dug wells are sometimes deepened in dry times by sinking in the bottom one or more lengths of drain tile or vitrified sewer pipe of as large size as will go into the well. The tile should be settled by digging or scooping the material from within, care being taken not to undermine the old curb or casing. The top of the tile or pipe should be left 6 or 8 inches above the bottom of the old curb. An auger or a well point may be used to search for water at greater depth, if it is found necessary.

One advantage in sinking a new well in dry times is that labor costs should be less and, furthermore, any well which has plenty of water in dry years should always be regarded as complete until a pumping test of some duration has been made to determine its sufficiency for the purposes of the farm and to make sure that it is not a mere pocket of water that has been tapped.

More information on wells and other sources of water may be found in the "Farmstead Water Supply," U. S. Department of Agriculture Farmers' Bulletin 1448. This may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., for 5 cents.

Inventors Hear a Talk on the NRA

OMAHA, Neb.—Former Gov. William E. Sweet, Colorado, addressed the National Inventor's Congress here today concerning the President's National Recovery program as it applies itself to their craft.

There is nothing in the act, Sweet said, which will take away any benefits from the genius who discovers something new of benefit to mankind.

Charles R. Miner, 74-year-old San Francisco engineer, was here to demonstrate a model of his proposed all-metal stratosphere dirigible, which he believes will be capable of negotiating 600 miles an hour in the upper regions. He has spent the past month in Washington trying to interest the government in his proposal. Miner holds the world's record for parachute jumping from balloons and recently was made a member of the United States military engineers.

Other inventors attending the Congress were greatly interested in Miner's activities. Among other "gadgets" on exhibition here are: A glider garter for women, perfect by Ann Heber, of Hollywood, Cal., which glides instead of merely stretching the elastic when the fair one does a flip-flop or high kick.

A safety bath mat invented by Mrs. Rose Franco, Warland, Mont., after an Eastern woman had done a nose-dive, sans all vestige of raiment, from her bathroom window after slipping on a cake of soap.

A device that slashes potatoes into hash brown cubes, or French fried, with one stroke, patented by Andy Hjert, Everett, Wash.

SOVIET PLAN NORTH TREK VLADIVOSTOK.—In line with its policy of stimulating commercial traffic with the Siberian far north, the Soviet Commissariat of Waterways plans to send an expedition from here to the mouth of the Kolyma River in mid-June. The expedition will be composed of three ships, carrying crews totaling 140 men as well as 600 passengers. The vessels will carry a cargo of food and technical equipment. They will return with furs.

Coming Wednesday SEE THEM ON THE SCREEN

Director of a closed Cleveland bank couldn't remember any tails about a $3,000,000 loan made from the bank. It was said to be a trifle, you know.

Lady Says CARDUI Eased Pain In Side
Cardui helped an Oklahoman as described below, and many others have been benefited in similar way. "I had a hurting in my side every few weeks," writes Mrs. Bill Stewart, of Dewar, Okla. "I had heard of Cardui and started taking it. It stopped my hurting and built up my strength. I got 11 bottles and I sure felt better."

Cardui for pains, cramps, soreness due to a run-down condition. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefits them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Golf, too, Has Its Business Moments

"HEAD DOWN, eye on the ball." When this admonition to yourself brings the reward of a zinging drive up the fairway, a beautiful mashie shot to the green or a twenty-foot putt right into the cup... it's then that the real thrill of the game begins to seep into your veins; the worries of state give way to the pleasant concern of lowering your score; while the fresh air and the exercise pay dividends in health and mental fitness for the battles of life.

"Head down, eye on the ball." But keep your eye also on that other phase so productive of added pleasure—the possession of up-to-date equipment.

August is golf's mid-season. Sales of golfers' requisites are on or imminent. That set of matched irons, that swanky new-fangled bag, those comfortable skyped moccasin-tops, or those look-the-part-of-a-golfer togs—all are beckoning to you from the stores in this city.

Keep your "head down"—and keep the cost of your golf down too. Keep your "eye on the ball"—and on the golfing-supplies advertisements in this newspaper. Shrewd buying—the business phase of your golf—is at hand. Cash in.

P. S.—There are good bargains, too, in equipment for tennis, swimming, camping, fishing touring.
