ESCAPED OUTLAW SOUGHT AT BIG SPRING

BURGLARS ROB A & P GROCERY EARLY SUNDAY

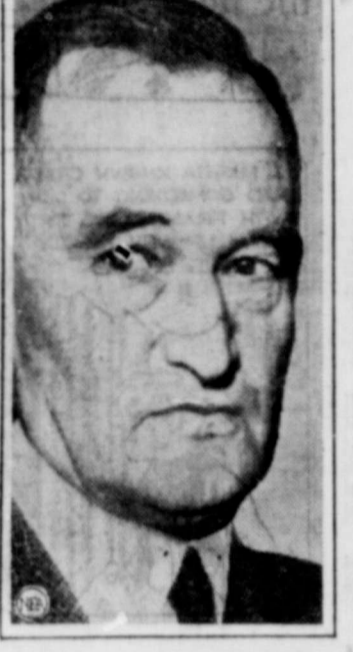

Burglars literally broke out of an A & P store in Ranger early Sunday morning, according to a report of Chief of Police Jim Ingram.

About 1 o'clock Sunday morning Patrolmen Pledger and Morsch discovered that the back door of the A & P store had been opened and notified employees of the store. A checkup hurriedly made at the store revealed that someone had taken the inside lamp on the rear door and had removed a bar from inside. This could not have been done from the outside of the store, Chief of Police Ingram stated, indicating that the burglars had broken the lock in order to get in.

A small amount of cash and some small checks were missing this morning and an inventory of the stock was being taken to determine how much had been taken. Merchandise, though it was thought that the loss would be light. A few packages of cigarettes were missing in the first few minutes of the morning, but the entire morning was spent in checking the stock in order to determine the exact amount of the loss.

As no skylight or doors, other than the back door which had been damaged or broken open, it was thought that the only way the robbery could have been committed would have been by the burglars sliding in the store Saturday night at closing time and waiting until everything was quiet about the store before leaving by breaking open the back door, which was unlocked on the inside.

FUNERAL FOR W. S. MICHAEL 2:30 TUESDAY

Funeral services for W. S. Michael, 66, Eastland county auditor for the past 12 years, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident two miles north of Romney Sunday night and died later in a hospital in Cisco will be conducted from the First Methodist church in Eastland at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with the pastor of the First Methodist church of Cisco officiating. The Ranger Masonic lodge assisted by the Masonic lodge of Eastland will have charge of the burial.

Michael was born in Mt. Springs, N. C., in 1868. In 1888 he moved to Texas, making residence at Pearl. He married Miss Ida C. Allen at Rising Star in 1891.

Surviving the decedent are his widow and five children, Fred Michael, Carol Michael, Mrs. Ethel Kemp, Mrs. Eunice Smith, all of Eastland and Alfus Michael of Cisco. Seven grandchildren survive.

W. S. Michael, about 66, auditor of Eastland county, died at a local hospital at 9 o'clock tonight from injuries received in an automobile collision near Romney.

Others injured were the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Michael, son of W. S. Michael, W. R. Rudy and a Mrs. Miller, who, with three children, were in the car driven by Rudy.

Miss Michael and Mrs. Miller were reported not seriously hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Michael and Rudy suffered only bruises and light cuts.

The accident occurred just after the Michael car had driven on to the highway from an intersecting road and was struck by the Rudy car, according to reports to the police department.

CONGRESS GROUP NAMED TO PLAN U. S. PART IN TEXAS CENTENNIAL

Texas, planning to celebrate the centennial of its independence in 1936, will be given federal cooperation and this committee has been named to decide to what extent the national government will participate. In the front row, left to right, are Senators Warren R. Smith (Rep., Va.), Tom Connally (Dem., Tex.), and George McGill (Dem., Kan.). Standing, left to right, are Representatives Sol Bloom (Dem., N. Y.), Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (Rep., Mass.), and Fritz G. Lanham (Dem., Tex.).

Packed House Sees Baptism at Christian Church

The house was literally packed Sunday night to witness the baptizing of six candidates who were immersed at the close of the evening service. Several others have been added to the congregation during the first week of the revival meeting in progress under the direction of G. Robert Forrester of Coleman.

Mr. Forrester preached two great sermons Sunday, one at 11 a. m. on "Immortality of the Human Soul," and at the evening service on "Life's Supreme Question." He chose for his text at the evening hour Acts 16:30, "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" No man ever asked a more vital question than that, he declared, and no man ever gave consideration to the answer to one more far reaching in its effect and purpose.

After pointing out the tragic meaning of being lost, and man's inability to save himself, the preacher assailed the modernistic idea of a social gospel that overlooks individual responsibility. Much of the modern preaching, he stated, is like an old-fashioned Mother-Hubbard dress, it covers everything and touches nothing; it is so spread out that it has become too thin for use. The only hope of saving society is the saving of the individual constituents of society. Society has no sin aside from the sins of individuals, no personality separate from the personality of men and women. Hence the question, "What must I do to be saved?"

And where can one turn for an answer to this question about which there can be no question? Who has undoubted authority to answer it? Jesus said, "All authority has been given me in heaven and on earth." Since He alone has supreme authority, one must to Him appeal in order to make sure that his answer is correct. The question that confronts one is therefore, has Jesus given an answer to this question? After the great plan of redemption had been finished on the cross and Jesus had been buried and arose from the tomb, He issued His commission unto men to preach the gospel of salvation. In that commission, as stated by the Gospel writers, He told men what to do to be saved and to save others. After Pentecost, the birthday of the Christian church, these Apostles went forth under that commission to preach salvation through Him unto men. And all of their work was under the authority of and according to the terms of the great commission.

In Acts of the Apostles, the question, "What must I do to be saved?" is asked in substance three times and answered three times. The answers would seem to the surface reader to be different if not contradictory. But a careful study of each case together with the condition of mind and heart of the inquirer will reveal that each was answered according to where he stood with reference to the terms of the great commission. The contexts reveal that each of them did the same things in order to enter into fellowship with the Apostles and the church, and that the requirements for each, were in perfect accord with the Supreme authority in heaven and on earth. When they heard and believed the Gospel; repented of their sins and were baptized into Christ, they entered into a saved relationship with Him. They were then babes in Christ, and permitted to grow in grace and a knowledge of Him into full grown men in His church.

DOOMED MAN IS AMONG THE DESPERADOES

"Perchmouth" Stanton Tells His Captives He Wants Be Taken Alive.

By United Press
BIG SPRING, June 25.—A search for four outlaws who escaped from the Lubbock jail spread through 25 West Texas counties today after all trace of the desperadoes apparently was lost.

Officers patrolled the New Mexico boundary, while others searched the break country near Spur, five counties to the east. An all-night hunt in Howard county disclosed no trace of the fugitives, who included in their number a condemned murderer of a Texas sheriff who boasted he would not be taken alive.

Facing certain death in the electric chair if caught, Ed Stanton, whose appearance gave him the name of "Perchmouth," lead three companions in slugging their way out of jail yesterday. They seized machine guns and rifles and captured a banker and justice of the peace as human shields and fled in a stolen automobile.

The hostages were released unharmed that night, eight miles northeast of Big Spring.

Walter Posey, vice president of the First National Bank, was one of the captives. The other was Campbell Ekins, assistant justice of peace.

Stanton, sentenced to death for the murder at Tulla last January of Sheriff John Moseley, told his captives he would never be taken alive.

OIL OPERATOR IS SENTENCED TO JAIL TERM

SHERMAN, Texas, June 25.—N. S. Locke, prominent East Texas oil man, today was sentenced to 90 days in jail on a federal contempt of court charge in connection with alleged production of "hot oil."

Locke's company was accused of violating terms of a federal court injunction whereby the company had been restrained from violation of the railroad commission's production orders.

The sentence, imposed by Judge Randolph Bryant, marked the most drastic step thus far taken by the government to curb the flow of oil from East Texas wells. Heretofore fines have been imposed and shutdown orders have been issued, but no jail sentence had been passed.

Federal and state authorities looked upon the sentences as one of the greatest and most effective weapons placed in the hands of those seeking control of the world's greatest existing petroleum pool.

Interest In Central Baptist Church Is Still Continuing

Despite the extremely hot weather, interest at Central Baptist church was high yesterday. At the Sunday school hour, every department showed a fine attendance. Although many families were out on their vacation, those in town "stayed by the stuff" bringing about a fine Sunday school. The training service had 82 present and each union rendered fine programs.

Both preaching hours were well attended. At the morning service the pastor spoke on the "Temptations of a New Born Soul," speaking especially to the new-converts of the recent meeting. At the evening hour he spoke on "By Grace Are Ye Saved." At the close of the service one came forward upon profession of faith. As a conclusion of the evening service seven were baptized. Mr. Moore led the choir at both services and not only the choir but the congregation entered into the music. The prayer bands will have charge of the Wednesday evening service.

TEXAS RELIEF FUND MAY BE DELAYED AGAIN

FORT WORTH, June 25.—Relief fund allotment for Texas may be delayed until July 10 due to an impending fight over return of Adam B. Johnson as state relief director, Chairman B. E. Giesecke of the state relief commission, said today.

Reassignment of the commission with the reinstatement of R. L. Holliday of El Paso gives the supporters of Johnson a 5 to 4 majority. Johnson was ousted in favor of Miss Marie Dresden, present director.

It had been hoped to allocate July funds in ample time to eliminate the job lines that have been caused in the past by delayed approval of allotments, he said.

Unless action is taken Wednesday on the allotments it probably will not be taken until July 10, he said.

Couple Accused In Beating Aged Pair Is Held In Jail

FORT WORTH, June 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Lester Sterne, accused of robbing and beating two aged women near Cross Cot last week, were held in the Tarrant county jail today for safe keeping.

The couple was brought here last night from Brownwood, where it was feared the 30-year-old man and his 21-year-old wife would be subject to mob violence.

They were denied bond yesterday, Sheriff E. Hallmark of Brown county said.

CONTRACTS OF ARMY TO BUY CARS PROBED

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Army regulations now in existence concerning the purchase of light trucks have the practical effect of excluding all firms except Chevrolet Motor company from bidding, Major General Bash, quartermaster general of the army, told a house military affairs committee today.

Bash was the first witness as the committee began looking into the question of specification changes which "favor" certain companies.

Members of the committee said they had received reports car manufacturers raised their bids as much as $50 a car when the Ford Motor company was barred from bidding because it did not fly the blue eagle.

Sen. Gus Russek Given Jail Term

HOUSTON, June 25.—State Senator Gus Russek, who pleaded guilty to charges of misapplying $51,000 in funds of the First National Bank of Schulenburg, was sentenced to serve four months in a New Orleans jail and fined $5,000 by Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly, here today.

Charles A. Vogt and Otto G. Vogt, who have both served as cashiers of the bank, were fined $500 each and given suspended sentences of 13 months.

The three men pleaded guilty to the charges April 27, but Judge Kennerly delayed sentence until today.

Clint Small Will Speak In Ranger At Celebration

Speaking engagements for state and county candidates are being arranged for the Fourth of July by the committee in charge of arrangements, it was announced today, and plans for the speaking are being forward nicely.

Arrangements were then made to have Senator Small speak at 10 o'clock, which will open the speaking engagements. County and district candidates, in addition to other state candidates, will be on the schedule for the remainder of the day, it was stated today, and the speaking will continue throughout the afternoon.

Body of Young Woman Identified By Dallas Police

DALLAS, June 25.—The body of a 21-year-old girl who was found fatally injured beside a roadway today was identified as that of Mrs. Elizabeth Arnold, but circumstances of her death were a mystery.

At first it was believed Mrs. Arnold's death resulted from her being struck by a car as she walked along the highway. Later, however, members of the police and sheriff's departments expressed a theory she may have been thrown from a car after receiving blows which caused her death.

Officers attempted to trace the movements of the girl during the 24 hours preceding the time she was found dying.

MYSTERY OF NUNN SLAYING NOW SOLVED

WAGONER, Okla., June 25.—Mystery behind the slaying of C. N. Nunn, prominent farmer and political candidate, was removed today.

Statements of two men—sought for more than 10 days in eastern Oklahoma and northwestern Arkansas—showed the affair in which they admitted a part, was an unpremeditated shooting.

Kenneth Chew, 20, admitted, according to officers, that he shot Nunn in the side during the confusion and excitement that followed an effort to "hitch" a ride in Nunn's car.

Bill Davis, 30, former convict, said he was down the road about a mile and did not see the shooting but that he entered the car and drove with Chew and Nunn over three counties before they tied Nunn to a tree and left him without medical attention. Davis was captured Sunday.

DIRT FARMER TERRELL AND HIS FAMILY TREE

Dirt Farmer George B. Terrell, M. C. is not "taking it lying down." He demands protection of his family tree. He has asked for F. D. R. and his administration "to develop some kind of procedure under the code so that we can stop these lawyers from practicing such legerdemain to perjoin a man's name for the purpose of politics."

It will be recalled that Jefferson T. Baker, a Dallas lawyer, through court action changed his name to George B. Terrell "for business reasons," and then announced as a candidate for state treasurer subject to the action of the July primary. In bygone days the Terrells were very active. Indeed, in the pioneer days of the republic they had grown a large sized family tree.

Dirt Farmer George who clings to the constitution as it was, is proud of that relic of ancient times. Let him tell it himself:

"My grandfather was at the Court of St. James when Queen Victoria had just ascended the throne, and he was compelled to conform to court customs and had to wear knee pants. He brought back a cream-colored flowered silk suit with knee pants, and I remember that very well. It was very attractive and the people all over the country would assemble to look at this suit of clothes."

This grandfather of the dirt farmer was some man. He was attorney general of Tennessee and later of Texas. He was minister to England, France and Spain during the days of the republic of Texas and "he tried to get those countries to recognize the independent republic." George B. Terrell, erstwhile Jefferson T. Baker of Dallas, has the floor. He is a candidate for the state treasurer. Is he carrying a blue or a black or a bald eagle? If not—why or why not?

RANCHMEN ATTACK FEED PRICES OF COTTONSEED OIL MILLERS

Joseph E. Evans of El Paso is a rancher and cattle buyer and loan inspector for the national livestock credit association. Well, Joseph is in the picture. He has hurled a bomb at the cottonseed mills. He charges the millers are taking advantage of the drought to profiteer on the sale of cottonseed cakes. This is his indictment: "Cattlemen are at the mercy of the mills because there is no grass. Houston and Fort Worth mills are charging $31 per ton compared with the normal $20 price." He asks for a federal investigation without delay.

Well, "isn't business business?"

When a politician tells you what to do, then is the time to stop, look and listen. You may get stung again.

ANOTHER INDUSTRIAL MENACE

Negro Woman Likes Her Diet of Dirt

MIDLAND, Texas.—A negro woman of Midland eats dirt and thinks it's a great dish. She eats about five pounds a day.

Her eccentricity was discovered when C. M. Goldsmith noticed two negroes filling a sack with clods from a road at the side of his house. He called Police Chief Lee Maynes and the two men followed the negroes to the home of Rosey Patterson, 30-year-old negroess.

The men said they procured 15 pounds of dirt every three days for Rosey.

When Chief Maynes appeared skeptical, Rosey fell to eating a fist-sized clod, apparently with great relish.

She said she ate dirt from all over Midland.

"Ah likes dat red dirt near Mr. Goldsmith's house best, though," she added.

"Daddy" Browning Is Seriously Ill

NEW YORK, June 25.—Edward B. (Daddy) Browning, whose platonic and not-so-plastic love affairs made front page news for years, was reported dying today in a hospital, victim of a cerebral hemorrhage.

None of the young women he daddied through his flush years as an elderly man about town, even Frances (Peaches) Browning, was present at the hospital door to inquire as to his chat of living.

Roger Babson says this country is on its way toward dictatorship. He probably hasn't read speeches of some of our congressmen.

NEED ENERGY?

Here's the latest word from Science on increasing Vim and Energy... quickly!

Today we call attention again to important facts which were presented to smokers in a recent item in this paper. Perhaps you overlooked it. We repeat: You can release new vigor, when tired, by smoking a Camel. This comes from the "energizing effect" in

Camels as recently confirmed and described by a famous New York scientific laboratory. Everyone gets fatigued...cross...down in the dumps...when his energy is used up. But the way to turn on more energy has now been pointed out, by actual Camel smokers who tell of their own experiences. And by up-to-date research made in the laboratories of science. And so—"get a lift with a Camel!" Any time you want to enjoy yourself or restore yourself. Steady smoking need not concern Camel smokers, since the finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS in Camels never get on your nerves.

CAMEL'S Costlier Tobaccos never get on your Nerves

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

sound and she looked down to see Howard Jackson climbing—with a great deal of difficulty—through one of the narrow windows.

AMY put down the receiver as one puts down something tainted. She couldn't say she was glad that Jane was happy. She wasn't able to answer. She wasn't able to think.

She shook herself out of it, straightened her shoulders. "He never said a word that wasn't exactly like any of the other boys not as much as Edgar says every day of the world. He liked hearing me play, that was all. And I'm nothing but a little fool. I just imagined—"

AMY nodded. It was no use; she could not speak. "Amy every word I'm telling you now is God's truth. I never asked her to marry me. I never made love to her, not even fooling. Never. She managed this somehow. You know how she works things."

Toll Bridge Contract May Be Renewed
 YSLETA, Texas.—Reports that the Mexican government had cancelled his concession for the Ysleta-Zaragoza international toll bridge across the Rio Grande for alleged failure to comply with provisions for construction of a concrete structure were denied by Alex Gonzalez, county commissioner and owner of the bridge.

Gonzalez said a Mexican official is expected to inspect the bridge in a few days and he feels confident that his period for making improvements will be extended.

He built the 507-foot bridge across the Rio Grande five years ago to connect Ysleta with the Juarez lower valley trade area.

Provisions for construction of a permanent type bridge to replace the present one were written into his original concession covering a 20-year period with concession payments monthly.

EDUCATION BOARD Moves to Stop Juggling of Bonds
 AUSTIN, Tex.—The State Board of Education has moved to stop Texas school districts from "juggling" their bonded debts.

Attorney General James V. Allred was asked to prepare blank forms on which the true status of interest, sinking fund accounts, tax income and levy, and a record of taxable values, may be recorded for each school district.

The data, sworn to by district officials, will be required of every school district asking the state board to buy its bonds.

It has been reported that many school districts have levied necessary taxes for bond retirement, but have collected only about 30 per cent of the revenue. Others have reduced taxable values by half to so reduce their income as to be unable to pay interest and sinking fund allotments due on district bonds.

Backed by legislative enactment, the State Board of Education has required a sinking fund on only that part of bond issues held by the state school fund. Many districts have defaulted on the portions of bond issues held by individuals.

One Dallas securities company, which has distributed over $100,000,000 in Texas municipal obligations during the past 20 years, observed that "a number of communities are now seeking to willfully repudiate their obligations, demanding without justification that principal, as well as interest, should be reduced."

"They have purposely withheld payment of interest coupons and maturing principal where funds were available for payment, in an effort to drive the market for their obligations down."

"A number of communities have purposely increased their general operating expenses to a point where the full available taxing power is used for this purpose, leaving nothing for debt service."

"The property owners located in the repudiating districts are, therefore, being subjected to the maximum legal tax levies and the public officials are lavishly spending the full proceeds of collections without making any payments to its creditors," the manager of the securities company said.

The Board of Education is making an effort to preserve the credit of Texas securities on the bond market.

It now has a cash balance of $1,474,000 to invest in short term U. S. Treasury certificates because refund bond offerings of $941,000 have failed. Treasury certificates will be preferred unless more desirable Texas securities can be found.

"Too much moratorium legislation has been blamed for the alleged efforts of many school districts to avoid honest debts."

The senate has appropriated $10,000 for a committee to study world life. From Broadway to Hollywood.

Indians Get New Deal in Homes

A federal relief project for Indians will "rescue" the John Bartlett family from the shack in front of which they are pictured in the top photo and move them to a clean, comfortable dwelling of the type shown below. They will be among the Choctaws and Chickasaws to benefit by the colonization plan at McCurtain, Okla., nearly completed, in which homes and farming tracts will be provided for indigent Indians. On the steps of the home in the bottom photo is Henry Nicholson, project building chief.

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 WASHINGTON, June 25.—Congress has left President Roosevelt dictatorial powers such as no chief executive before him ever demanded.

From the amount of gold in the dollar to the amount of water in a quart of oysters, President Roosevelt's word is supreme. From the Texas oil wells to the New York stock exchange his signature is all powerful. He can tell the Georgia farmer how much cotton to plant, the Illinois banker how much interest to charge, and the Pennsylvania coal miner how many hours to work.

There is hardly any phase of American life which the president's influence, empowered by law, does not touch. The republican senatorial-congressional committee today compared Mr. Roosevelt to Mussolini, saw in his mounting powers "an end to liberty" and called them an expression of the "socialist idea."

The democrats retorted that the president must have these extraordinary powers to combat the depression. They point with pride to progress so far made and insist that President Roosevelt has no idea of making himself an American dictator. The president himself says little, works hard, sets up new recovery aids and prepares for a lengthy vacation.

The specific powers of the president are divided among these 12 major programs:

1. Business control through the national recovery administration, with authority to regulate through codes the minutest details of competition.
2. Agricultural control, including processing taxes to help the farmer, and crop control regulations to help him help himself.
3. Labor control, through the NRA wages and hours provisions and through the new labor bill providing for arbitration of disputes.
4. Stock market control, with a board appointed by him to administer the securities act, which outlaws doubtful practices and sets up rules under which brokers and exchanges must operate.
5. Communications control, affecting the telephone, the telegraph and the radio and designed to co-ordinate them.
6. Oil control, through the petroleum administration. (Not as effective as the president would like because of the failure of congress to pass a more comprehensive bill.)
7. Railroad control, through his federal co-ordinator, with power to scale down capital indebtedness.

Fisherman Tells of 160-Pound Catfish

By United Press
 AMARILLO, June 25.—J. H. Harris, G. L. Curtis and Harris' three sons returned from a fishing vacation in Mexico with some small yacars and something else—the fish to back them up.

Besides a 35-pound cat, the party came back with 175 pounds of other fish.

They fished in a Mexican lake 120 miles south of Eagle Pass. "You can go out any evening there and see fish jumping by the hundreds," Harris said. "The biggest fish ever caught in the lake was a cat weighing 160 pounds."

Mebbe so, Mr. Harris, mebbe so.
