Two Good Boxing Bouts On Card For Elks Fights

Wire received in Ranger late Wednesday afternoon from Charlie Lay, promoter for the Elks wrestling and boxing card Monday evening in Ronger was to the effect that Woodie Windham of Fort Worth and Jackie Woods of Waco had been matched for a 6-round fight. Woodie has fought on several occasions in Ranger and is plenty tough. The Waco boy says that he has been trying for some time to get Woodie in the ring as he expects to put him out in 3 rounds. This argument will be settled Monday night, it being the first number on the card.

A ten round fight between Bill Donowho of Ranger and Jimmie Scallions of Dallas is the second event on the card. These two husky fighters fought to a draw last Monday night and the fans are anxious to see this hot go for ten rounds. Bill was not satisfied with the short bout and challenged Jimmie for a return fight—it was readily granted and Jimmie said it usually took him about seven rounds to get his knockout wallop working.

The main event of the evening will be the 2-hour time limit wrestling match between Si Holt of Fort Worth and Red Rogers of Dallas. Si won the match last Monday on a foul and Red protested to the referee and the commissioner, and finally to the spectators, but he was told that because of his roughness and foul tactics he had lost. Si promises the fans that he is going to get rough from the first blow of the whistle and not give one inch to Red and beat him down from the start. This will be one of the best wrestling matches that has been held in the Ranger arena.

Ladies will be admitted to the show with each ringside paid admission. One of the best crowds of the season was present last Monday night and a large crowd is looked for on the coming fight.

For Constable

W. A. (Kid) Hammett of Ranger, who has announced his candidacy as Constable of the Ranger precinct.

W.A. Hammett Is A Candidate For Ranger Constable

W. A. Hammett of Ranger, known throughout Eastland and Stephens counties as "Kid Hammett," makes his official announcement today for Constable of Ranger precinct.

Mr. Hammett needs no introduction to the voters of this precinct as he is well known by all as he has lived in Ranger for the past several years and has been a peace officer at one time or another over a long period of time. He has served as deputy sheriff, constable, policeman and special officer on several occasions. Mr. Hammett said in making the announcement that he was seeking the office purely on his own merits and promises that if the people see fit to elect him that he will serve them with fairness and justice at all times. He is making no special promises to the people and only promises that he will enforce the law as near as he knows how. Mr. Hammett says that he is a Democrat and is asking that his friends and all others who can remember him with their votes in the primary in July.

LONESTAR GAS IS WINNER IN A CLOSE GAME

The Lone Star Gas company defeated the Lone Star Gasoline company in a closely contested soft ball game Thursday afternoon before a large crowd, winning at the end of seven innings by a score of 2 to 1.

Both teams played excellent ball throughout the game, though, strangely enough, it was errors that decided the game, though Lone Star Gas made only one and Lone Star but three. However, two of these errors came in succession on the same play, which let in the first run of the game and was the deciding factor in the contest.

After two innings of errorless and scoreless ball, and after two men had been retired on a double play when Kirby popped up to the pitcher and Herb King, who was on first after receiving a walk, took a big lead and was doubled before he could return to the bag. Bob King then singled and Dinsmore let him try for a steal at second. Griffin threw the ball to Kirkes, right short, who missed it, the ball striking his knee and bounding into left field. King started for third and home on the play and Hill's throw to the plate was almost perfect, but Griffin let it get away from him and King scored.

In the fourth inning Wazard, Lone Star catcher, tripled and scored as R. O. King was being put out at first on a ground ball hit to Tom Yonker, who then threw to the plate to try to cut off the score.

Lone Star's only run came in the sixth inning when Robinson, first man up, singled and Hill followed with another clean single, Robinson taking third and Hill pulling up at second on the throw to third. Robinson then scored as Kirkes was being thrown out at first. The only Lone Star Gas error came in the fifth inning after two were down when Kirby dropped Ford's fly in short center field, but which he got under in time to make the catch. Williams, playing roving second, probably confused him by going back on the ball and then stopping when he thought Kirby could get to it easier than Williams could.

But three hits were made by each team, Lone Star getting one hit in the second inning and two in the sixth, while Lone Star Gas got one in the third, one in the fourth and another in the fifth. Herbert King, Lone Star Gas pitcher, was using an illegal delivery throughout the game, his delivery being at fault on several counts. He failed to keep his foot on the plate until he delivered the ball, he would use a side-arm delivery, his arm going more than six inches from his body, and delivered the ball across the front of his body, letting his right arm end the delivery near his left shoulder.

Robinson, whose delivery was much better than King's, had one or two balls called on him for advancing too far toward the batter and failing to keep his foot on the plate. He did not, however, deliver the ball across the body, but used a parallel swing, as the rules specify.

Yesterday and Today

WHO would want to go back to the standards of even a generation ago? We have traveled far since then. Inventions and scientific discoveries have furnished the principal vehicles: New conveniences, improved merchandise, better foods, added health-conserving means.

But the thing which has hastened us on to the knowledge and acceptance of their benefits is ADVERTISING. It has brought new things quickly to all of us and sped us toward a different, better mode of living.

Modern advertising sells us, not only things, but IDEAS. The advertising of soaps has sold us the health advantages of more frequent bathing. The advertising of modern bathroom equipment has made bathing a ringing pleasure.

The advertising of improved razors and beard softeners has made whisking off whiskers a simple daily ditty instead of a weekly major operation.

Tooth-paste, tooth-brush and mouth-wash manufacturers and retailers are saving us untold aches and years of marred smiles, by advertising the importance of oral hygiene.

As a result of the advertising of food manufacturers and purveyors, we have escaped from the drowsy dullness caused by heavy breakfasts and are full of forenoon vim and clear-headedness.

The clothes we wear, furniture we use, fuel we burn, car we drive, telephone we've installed—all these would not so quickly have come home to us, were it not for the silent but irresistible force of advertising.

Keep pace with the world you live in by reading the advertisements in this newspaper.

Tax Levying to Start On July 15

By United Press
AUSTIN, Tex.—Machinery for levying the next state taxes will be thrown in gear early next month. By July 15, county tax assessors are to file with the state comptroller their estimates of the county tax valuations. The state automatic tax board is to meet July 20 to compute the tax rate. Usually the meeting recesses from July 20 until later, but this year there is little prospect of any tax rate less than the constitutional maximum of 77 cents being levied, so there may be no wait. The state intangible tax board expects to complete its hearings in July and report a valuation for common carrier pipe lines, which for the first time will be placed under an intangible assets tax. The state board of education will meet early in August to set a state school apportionment. A continuation of the present $16 per scholastic is likely. Chairman J. W. E. H. Beck of the senate investigating committee says a scholastic census errors and abuses were checked the apportionment could be $20 per pupil.

Tomato Shipment Plans Dropped

GALVESTON, Tex.—Galveston county truck growers have been forced by dry weather to abandon plans for shipping tomatoes in earload lots out of Hitchcock this season. Growers were delayed in planting by continued spring rains and cool weather, wind and hail later destroying many young plants. Only three earloads of cucumbers were shipped by the Galveston County Truck Growers Association this year. This crop also was practically wiped out by drought. Association officials said plans were now under way for the formation of a pool for the shipping of cabbage and other winter vegetables.

PITCHER OWNED IN KANSAS

PARSONS, Kan.—A small glazed pitcher, taken during the Boston Tea Party as a souvenir gift, is owned here by George Weightman. Weightman's mother's great aunt received it from her sweetheart, who participated in the raid. It has been handed down from generation to generation to the female member of the family named "Anna."

CAUGHT CARP IN HANDS

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb.—Iowa fishermen across the Missouri River from here had plenty of sport recently when schools of carp swam into shallow drainage ditch waters where they could be caught by hand. The water was deep enough to give the fish an even break and it required skillful maneuvering to grab the five- and six-pounders. An open sluiceway afforded escape for the fish.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

W. T. ANDERSON, editor of the Macon (Ga.) Telegraph and publisher of the Macon Telegraph and The Macon Evening News, says:

It is an accepted fact that advertising pays, and this is interpreted by the unthinking that all advertising pays. All of it does not pay. Good advertising is like good fish, and the reverse is as true of one as the other. After we leave the distinctly bad advertising, the other kind is good in varying degrees. Novelty is of very little value, because if the novelty is any good at all the merits of the novelty completely obscure the advertising that is on it.

"Billboards cost a lot more than is justified by the results achieved, and this is said regardless of the cost.

"Circulars have very little value, because nobody vouches for them except the one whose name is signed and, as he has a strictly selfish interest, his statements are discounted almost to the point of killing the advertising value altogether.

Radio is much like the old picture show advertising. This was popular at first, but either the picture people saw that to thrust advertising in the faces of their patrons who had paid for and demanded entertainment was bad business, or the advertisers themselves discovered there was no value in it. Radio is the only kind of advertising bought on blind faith and hope, not to speak of charity—from the standpoint of circulation. The novelty of it makes this possible. Imagine what the advertising rates on radio would be if there were an audit bureau of circulations, which check up newspapers and other publications, to ascertain the actual number of listeners in on the advertising.

Newspapers are different. They have dates with prospective buyers every day of the year. There is no better time on earth in which to sell goods than when an appointment can be arranged with the prospect. And the buyer or reader pays the newspaper in subscription money to make this date. The newspaper has to have character behind it or it cannot continue to publish. It is the newspaper's job to see that fake and swindling advertising is kept out of its columns just as scrupulously as it has to guard its news and editorial columns against misrepresentation and false statements. The buyer knows this. He relies upon the newspaper for truth and accuracy more than he relies upon the advertiser."

It seems that little, if any, money has been spent in an effort to get rid of the slums of many cities.

Slums have a habit of increasing constantly as houses fall into disrepair and squalor, and they are always filled with poor people who cannot afford to pay for anything better. Nevertheless, they are entitled to something better and for their own sakes and for the sake of the communities to which they belong, through better housing these people will find a self respect and a sense of well-being which they have never before experienced and it will result in a vast improvement in their health and happiness.

Since the World War billions of dollars of public money have been spent in this country on public works and developments that are intended to compete with private business. Many of those who have participated in the art of burning up public money in the expensive scheme of their own designing are still on the job. A huge project, for instance, has no significance for people who, through no fault of their own, are compelled to live in the slums of our cities. The cost of these big projects leaves these people indifferent because thinking in millions is a practice they have never acquired.

It is on the efficiency of the masses that prosperity depends, and efficiency cannot be obtained unless it is backed by good health, contentment and pleasant, if modest, surroundings.

No longer are hard surfaced roads a luxury.

They are now a necessity in all lines of business.

Today the automobile, the truck and the tractor are vital factors in every community.

The truck is employed extensively in nearly every line of business.

The tractor has helped in farming, in road work, in hauling and has helped and increased the business of the business farmer and the city business man.

The business man depends upon his automobile for work and for pleasure.

Both in business and pleasure, good roads are used the year around.

Both in business and pleasure, good roads are used the year around.

Good roads bring the markets closer to the cities, the towns and farming sections and facilitate deliveries.

Good roads have expanded the territories of the jobber and the manufacturer and save the farmer time and money in getting his products to the markets when the markets are right.

— what it means

Section of a Chesterfield blending department.

—to blend and cross-blend mild ripe tobaccos to "weld" them together

THERE are a great many different kinds of tobacco grown in this country and abroad. No two kinds are quit alike. Every variety has a different taste and other different qualities all its own. Some have more natural sweetness than others—some add a rare spice and a rich aroma—some burn more freely than others. To get Chesterfield's milder better taste we take the right amounts of the right kinds of home-grown tobaccos, then add aromatic Turkish. When these tobaccos are blended and cross-blended the Chesterfield way—balanced—each kind of tobacco helps to bring out the best smoking qualities of the others. That's what blending and cross-blending means to Chesterfield—milder better taste. And that's why They Satisfy.

Summer Drinks at Home

The hot dry weather calls for drinks and drinks call for sugar. The amount of sugar for drinks can be saved by first making a syrup and using this to sweeten the drinks. The following method has been used by Mrs. R. T. Vaughn, farm food supply cooperator of the Carbon home demonstration club.

The most satisfactory means of sweetening fruit punches is by a syrup made of three measures of granulated sugar and two measures of water. The sugar is dissolved by stirring as the mixture heats. It should boil three minutes. If the syrup is made in large quantity to be used over some length of time, crystallization may be prevented by adding three eighths teaspoon of cream of tartar, or two table-spoonfuls lemon juice to three cups of sugar, before the mixture is heated. Syrup insures uniform sweetening and gives a desirable blend of flavor that is not secured by dissolving sugar in the juice. This saves much sugar being left undissolved in the bottom of the containers especially when there are children in the home.

Moisture Conservation

Yard Improvement and Garden Mrs. John Hancock, yard improvement cooperator of the North Star home demonstration club, Rising Star, has found how to make little water go a long way and help the plants more than a larger amount put on in the wrong way. "I let the water run on the beds or put enough on once every two weeks to soak the soil well. This method gets the water down to the roots where it is needed. When water is sprayed over the top, the roots come to the surface and are baked during the hot dry summer and the plants are gone. Better not water at all than just the light sprinkle every day." Water is scarce on most of the farms and by this method one uses not more than half the amount by giving the plants one good drink every two weeks.

Are These Your Canning Problems?

Below are some of the canning problems which Texas farm women have brought to the attention of Miss Iola Blair, food specialist, extension service, A. and M. Collee, who in turn offers suggestions in overcoming these difficulties:

- 1. Why does the water come out of the jars when processed, especially under pressure?
A. Undercooking during pre-heating state. Force product to "soak up" all water it will before packing.
B. Failure to pack product tight enough.
C. Failure to leave about one-half inch space at top for air expansion.
D. Opening petcock.
E. Variance of pressure gauge.
F. Rapid boiling (if water bath).
G. Failure to pack or paddle out air bubbles.
2. Why do beans and okra turn dark?
A. Pigment in peas or beans. B.

- Okra discolors because cut with iron knife or cooked in iron vessel. C. Okra may darken because it touches iron in can where pin holes in tin expose iron to products. (Note—Use good cans and stainless steel knives.) d. "Breathers" or cans not sealed quite tight enough to keep out air.
3. Why do products taste as if vinegar had been added?
A. Products had flat sour due to (1) Undercooking after processing; (2) Standing too long after gathering and before cooling; (3) Standing too long after sealing and before going into cooker.
4. What causes products to float?

- A. Over sterilization. b. Dry, lightweight products or spongy products. c. Failure to pack products tightly. d. Over-ripe products. e. Syrup too heavy.
5. Why do beets turn white?
A. Wrong variety; Detroit dark red is good. b. Too old. Use beets one and one-fourth inches in diameter. c. Too great a change in temperature. Put hot water or vinegar on hot beets, and cold on cold.
6. Why do beets, beans and pickles have white sediment or deposit where they touch jar?
A. Use best too old. b. Use of hard water. c. Use of table salt which contains starch.
7. Why do peas turn cloudy?
A. Insufficient blanching. b. Improper grading. c. Mineral in water. d. Flat sour. e. Peas too old. f. Table salt.
8. Why can't I follow time table in magazines and newspapers?
a. Conditions in Texas are different because (1) Storage period extra long; (2) Storage period very hot; (3) Altitudes vary, even in different parts of state.
9. What products must be canned under pressure for safety?
a. All non-acid vegetables and meat. b. Water-bath for fruits, tomatoes, pimiento or sweet pepper and pickled beets only.

- Uncooked Tomato Relish
3/4 peck ripe tomatoes
1 quart of cider vinegar
6 green peppers
6 sweet red peppers
4 medium-sized onions
1 cupful of finely chopped cabbage
2 teaspoonfuls of celery seed
1/2 teaspoonfuls of red pepper
1 teaspoonful of ground cloves
4 teaspoonfuls mustard seed (yellow)
5 tablespoonfuls of salt.
Scald and peel tomatoes, chop all ingredients fine, add seasonings, mix well. Add the vinegar and allow to stand overnight. Next morning pack cold into small clean hot jars, seal, and process in hot water bath 15 minutes.

PHIE KERR'S SUPERB LOVE STORY

"STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

By Sophie Kerr

BEGIN HERE TODAY
When HOWARD JACKSON, young geology professor, comes to the small mid-western town of Marburg Jane Terry, the sweetest girl in town, determines to win his heart.

She did not quite know why she had saved the note.

A new way Howard was sure of his assistant professorship and with his small personal income they would have a tiny house near the campus, and not too close to his mother's home. Mrs. Jackson herself suggested this. "I don't want to be the albatross about your necks," she wrote to Amy, "and though I won't be at home very much for I'm planning to be myself off on a long, elegant trip to Spain as soon as the wedding's over, I'll be back in six months or so and we'll both be better pleased if we're not living in one another's pockets. I want to be, as a funny cousin of mine once said, more like a friend than a relative."

CHAPTER VIII
MISS JARDINE had been observing Jane with speculation and disapproval. The girl stood at in the quiet school like a red flag. No one else was studying nearly so much, nor so hard. "It's probably an unhappy love affair," Miss Jardine thought slyly, "that's thrown her away of balance—and she's naturally admitted and too inexperienced to know how to use it to her advantage. But she's so darned smart! Well—'Reproof wouldn't work. She knew that. So she asked Jane to dinner."

where I needn't wait years and years to be successful. "That rather narrows the field," remarked Miss Jardine dryly. "I don't believe, to be frank with you, that you'd take to work in a publishing house, at least not in the editorial end. I feel that if we could get you in as secretary to some important man, an executive in some specialized field, you might be invaluable."

At the end of the term Howard had to go back to his position. He had stayed longer than he should in Marburg. His going left Amy with much more free time and the thought of Jane came back more insistently than ever. Passing the Terry house one day, on impulse Amy went in.

SINCE they were talking about her Jane was interested. "I haven't decided on anything in particular but I want to do something
