GOV. MYERS AND THE FARM DEBT HOLIDAY LAW

Gov. W. I. Myers of the federal farm credit administration is in the picture. He has taken the viewpoint that refinancing of farm mortgage indebtedness by his organization has done away with any need for wide use of the Frazier-Lenke farm debt moratorium bill approved by President Roosevelt. This measure was signed over the protest of representatives of insurance companies or other large holders of farm mortgage paper. Never overlook the provisions of the bill: The act gives debt burdened farmers a chance to scale down their obligations through the federal courts, "or a breathing spell if they are unable to reach an agreement with their creditors." In a review of farm credit work Governor Myers predicted that loans and commitments would result in the government becoming the holder of mortgage indebtedness amounting to over $2,500,000,000 or more than 30 per cent of the present estimated total of $8,000,000,000 in farm mortgages. Of course, Governor Myers insists that the amendment to the bankruptcy act is in accord with the program of the farm credit administration "to prevent occasional selfish creditors from foreclosing on distressed farm debtors." He stressed that farmers as a class are very slow to take bankruptcy and that his experience in working with them personally and in the farm credit administration has given him every confidence that they still retain an ever present urge to pay their debts. Moreover, he said that 90 cents out of every dollar loaned by the land banks and commissioners under the farm credit administration "had gone to put farmers in a position where they are not in need of bankruptcy."

Fast moving age and the people in a democracy are the real history makers.

Some people not in business are hampered with such an unhappy nature they spend the time they should spend in making a living in trying to run down some other man's business. It is always a good idea to attend to one's own business of making a living and let the other fellow take care of his.

A man to 70 nowadays is past most fears of death. He cannot hope to live forever. He considers the future with dauntless eyes. He knows that old age must eventually overtake him, but when it does come he will be ready.

and killer, and Harvey Bailey, Southwestern desperado, likely will be among the first sent. When and if they capture John Dillinger, federal authorities would like to send him there, too. This is doubtful as Dillinger is wanted largely for state offenses. Site of a Spanish fortress centuries ago, Alcatraz has been used more recently as an army prison. It is a mile and a half from the mainland and surrounded by swift currents which only expert swimmers can breast. The existing buildings with thick stone walls, although many years old, have required little change. The old cells, however, have been torn out and new ones built of 1-inch "tool-proof" steel bars. The prison has room for 600 cells but only 175 have been built. A lone runway, which will be used as an exercise yard and also leads to the prison shop, is enclosed by a high barbed wire barricade. Another wire entanglement is being built on the high cliff at the edges of the 12-acre island. As a further safeguard, a string of buoys will encircle island 300 yards out. All are will be among the first sent.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON.—The success story of Dr. Willard Thorp becomes more astonishing day by day. This youthful Amherst professor asked for bread and the Senate gave him a stone. Now he turns up with an armful of blueberry muffins. Thorp, you recall, served nine months as director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, only to have his confirmation blocked by some politically-minded Democratic senators, led by Hubert Stephens of Mississippi. Roosevelt withdrew his nomination—and has been making handsome amends ever since. First, the president refused to accept Thorp's resignation from the Federal Alcohol Control Administration and one or two lesser boards to which he had been appointed during his directorship. Then, without any announcements, one learned successively that Thorp had become an expert for the NRA Consumers' Advisory Board, first secretary and then chairman of the important new NRA Advisory Council, and the selection of Roosevelt and Frank Walker for a bigger and better job with the National Emergency Council. NOW, on top of all that—and again without any announcements—Thorp receives as high a tribute as could be paid to any American economist. He will be the American member of the economic committee of the League of Nations, which meets at Geneva July 17. Thorp goes as a private citizen.

America's Killers To Be Put On a Criminals' Island

WASHINGTON.—Between 100 and 150 of America's most dangerous killers, gangsters, and kidnapers will be isolated in a few weeks in the new fortress-like federal prison of Alcatraz Island, a barren point of rock in San Francisco Bay. Officials here under prison director Sanford Bates are understood virtually to have completed selection of the criminals who will become the first inmates of Alcatraz. The prison will be taken over by the justice department July 20. Transfer of desperate characters from other federal prisons will begin shortly thereafter. Names of those selected and time of the transfer are being kept secret to guard against possible rescue attempts. The transfers, involving long journeys from the Atlanta, Leavenworth and McNeil Island penitentiaries will be effected under heavy guard. "Machine Gun" Kelly, gangster

Insects Raiding Michigan Crops

LANSING.—Insects infesting Michigan crops have lost all sense of "politeness." At least that is the conclusion of Michigan State College entomologists, who claim the bugs this year arrived considerably ahead of schedule and are "hanging around long after they should be satisfied with the damage done." Beetles, moths, flies, bugs and many other kinds of insects have combined in all stages of development to make 1934 a "pest" year of record in the state's farming history, a survey by the college entomologists shows.

These insects have launched a concerted attack on everything planted. At this time, scientists point out, the cut worm continues to cut down plants weeks after the cut worm's usual season of destruction.

City Manager Plan Increasing In Its Popularity

CHICAGO.—Six counties and 425 cities in the United States have discarded the Jeffersonian theory of "government by amateurs" and substituted "administration by technically trained managers." "The City Manager Profession," a study of this development in local government, has just been published by the University of Chicago Press. The authors are Clarence E. Ridley, director of the International City Managers' Association and associate professor of Political Science at the University of Chicago, and Orin F. Nolting, assistant director of the association.

At present the city manager is the administrative head of cities ranging in size from Polk City, Fla., with 222 inhabitants, to Cincinnati, with 451,000. Since Staunton, Va., installed the first city manager in 1908, the number of cities adopting that form of administration increased to 105 in 1918, then to 361 in 1928, and by last year there were 425 cities in the United States with city managers. The extension of the manager idea to county governments has been a new development which promises to grow rapidly. The typical city manager, according to the treatise, has attended college and has held one or more public positions before receiving his appointment as city manager at the age of 37. He has been in his present position four years and nine months. He is married and is now 47 years old.

A PAYROLL to support 34,000 Texas People

IN 1933 over 34,000 Texans depended upon the pay checks of Texas legal reserve life insurance companies for their means of a livelihood. To the 10,000 people directly employed in home offices and the field went $8,000,000.00 for wages, salaries and commissions. For purchases made in Texas and in tax payments, in 1933 these companies paid out an additional $2,115,000.00 . . . support of further employment in Texas. The Texas companies also had another payroll, much larger and equally important. In 1933 they sent $20,000,000.00 to Texas beneficiaries and policyholders in payment of death claims, surrender values, endowments and annuities. These companies had $83,000,000.00 invested in Texas in 1933 . . . and released into the channels of trade $30,000,000.00 of spendable income.
