Court Order Restrains Filing Allred's Name

SAY EXPENSE OF CAMPAIGN WAS EXCESSIVE

Walter Tynan and Joe Burkett Secure Order From Judge McCrory.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 14.—District Judge W. W. McCrory today issued a temporary order restraining state democratic leaders from certifying Attorney General James V. Allred to the secretary of state as the party's nominee for governor.

The order was granted in a suit brought by district attorney Walter Tynan and Joe Burkett, San Antonio attorney, in which excessive campaign expenditures were alleged.

The suit was filed, "in the name of the State of Texas on relation of the district attorney."

The order restrains Secretary of State W. W. Heath from placing Allred's name on the ballot for the election Nov. 6.

No special setting of the case was asked. Defendants included James Kilday of Houston, secretary of the state convention, who, with others, was retained from certifying Allred's nomination.

The petition set out placed, dates and alleged amounts of contributions to Allred's campaign together with the names of contributors allegedly involved.

Burkett, member of the high-way commission under Miriam A. Ferguson during her first term, went to Dallas last week to gather data for the suit. The petition alleges Allred's expenditures exceed the $10,000 limit.

Burkett is a former member of the state senate from Eastland and ran for governor several years ago.

DALLAS, Sept. 14.—Today's action at San Antonio was the first of its kind in the history of Texas elections since 1922 when a similar suit was brought to prevent the name of Earle B. Mayfield, Klan supported candidate for the U. S. Senate, from appearing on the democratic ballot in the general election.

The litigation lasted several weeks in the district court at Corsicana and it appeared the case would not be settled in time for the election and the case was carried to the court of civil appeals.

Legalized Beer To Have Birthday

DALLAS, Sept. 14.—Texas beer drinkers tomorrow will celebrate the first legal birthday of their beverage since national prohibition.

Predictions of pessimists and optimists have had a year now in which to be fulfilled or refuted. Police and financial records indicate no extremes have been reached on either side.

It seems certain, however, that beer has dropped the bottom out of the once booming sale and manufacture of home brew. Dallas county expects $37,919 from beer taxes and the city's share will be about $33,000.

Lindbergh's Plane Still In Corn Field

WOODWARD, Ok., Sept. 14.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh pattered with a balky motor on his plane in a corn field today after spending a night at a farmhouse. He and Mrs. Lindbergh were guests of Homer Atkins, farmer, northeast of Woodward, by choice. Delegations from Woodward invited them to come to the city after their forced landing yesterday, but they preferred home cooking and privacy.

Lindbergh expected to repair the motor himself.

GIRL SLEEPS ON TOMBSTONE
TIFFIN, O.—Search for a missing 14-year-old Fostoria, O., girl turned here following reports of a young girl sleeping in a cemetery near Tiffin. The girl was surprised asleep on a tombstone, having leaped on a bicycle and rode away before she could be questioned.

Resigns as Head Of Missouri U.

Resignation of Dr. Walter Williams, noted educator, shown here in a recent picture, as president of the University of Missouri, has been accepted by the board of curators. Dr. Williams, 63 since last spring, will resume his duties as dean of the university's journalism school, which he founded in 1908.

ARMS INQUIRY IS CURTAILED BY CABINET

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Sensational disclosures of the committee investigating arms and munitions sales were curtailed today after two cabinet officers protested against the wide scope of the inquiry.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper conferred with the committee. State department informed investigators it was harassed by protests from foreign governments. Roper told the committee American business would suffer from the disclosure of private negotiations.

The investigators learned today that a $10,000,000 FRC loan to China last year enabled that nation to supply arms and ammunition to troops engaged in hostilities with Japan.

The Chinese government informed the FRC it wanted the money to purchase wheat from surplus stores in the United States. Senator Nye, Rep. N. D., chairman of the committee, revealed China bought grain, but later traded it to other countries for war material.

Pollard Did Not Know Of Use Of Phoney Stamps

AUSTIN, Sept. 14.—Former Attorney General Claude Pollard had no information that Earl Bower was using counterfeit cigarette tax stamps until Bower had quit using them so far as he knew, Bower today told a jury trying Pollard on a charge of concealing such use.

The defense drew out this statement as the climax of an all-morning examination of Bower, the state's first witness. Bower said when he told Pollard he had been buying illicit stamps, Pollard said he would not have become counsel for the association had he known of it.

Texas Girls Down In Endurance Plane

VICTORIA, Ill., Sept. 14.—Gene LeRene and Mary Owens, Texas women fliers, ended their fifth attempt at a woman's flight endurance record today in a corn field five miles from here.

They reached a telephone several hours later. They said they made a forced landing after flying all night in fog. Neither was injured.

SPELLBINDERS LOSE CONTROL IN SOUTHWEST

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—A summary of primary elections might be interpreted as a breakdown in the Southwest of old-fashioned spellbinding contracted with the efficient functioning of the well-oiled metropolitan machine.

Experts say James E. Ferguson, former governor of Texas and husband of the present governor is through his political death warrant signed by Lone Star voters.

The same goes for Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Oklahoma, the signing likewise taking place in the state's primary this summer.

Pendergast Still Powerful
Big Tom Pendergast's Kansas City political machine is hitting on all cylinders, his primary election triumph being the election for the first time in history, of a state wide candidate in Missouri.

This may be summarized the highlights of the primaries. At least that is the status of the section's stars in political drama, those who could count on making the front page on the slightest pretext.

Ferguson thought that he—or his wife Miriam, after he was impeached in 1917 during his second term as governor and barred from ever holding state office again—always could count on the dirt farmer whose cause he espoused.

He couldn't. This year Mrs. Ferguson announced that "the family has had enough honors," that she wouldn't run for reelection; and that the Ferguson would back C. C. McDonald as her successor.

Ferguson Choice Third
McDonald ran third in the first primary, July 28. Ferguson then turned his support to Tom F. Hunter. He was bested by Attorney General James V. Allred in the runoff primary with the Democratic nomination tantamount to election. Allred is rabidly anti-Fusion.

Murray, who has known no equal as a swashbuckling, hell-raising, rough and tumble governor, came into power in 1930 with a radical new deal in Oklahoma politics and economics.

Those who are supposed to know say his lack of diplomacy, his dictatorial methods, his battles with the Roosevelt administration and his lack of sympathy with the national new deal undid him. That, and his stunning tour in behalf of his eight-candidate slate, including Tom Anglin for governor. His speeches lost votes, they say.

Murray Fading
Murray's waning power was said to have struck a tobacco giant last winter when he engaged federal officials in a tilt over methods of distributing federal relief funds. School relief was denied the state, direct relief funds were cut off and ultimately Murray was divorced from the work. When the people went to the polls this year many remembered resultant suffering among thousands.

Meantime Thomas J. Pendergast is more secure on his throne, ruling Kansas City politics, than he ever was before. The Democrats were to nominate a Senator in the August primary "Big Tom" named Judge Harry Truman of Kansas City as the man. Truman won, decisively.

CARBON BLACK HEARING TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Saturday in Cisco at the Laguna hotel representatives of the Texas Railroad commission will hear the application of the Consolidated Gasoline company for the operation of a carbon black plant in the Cisco or Eastland territory.

The Cabot interests will appear in behalf of an application for renewal of carbon black permits held by them, at the same meeting, it is said in Cisco.

Settling Down Mavericks Now Grind Ready For San Angelo

Coach Petty's Maverick squad is settling down to the grind of getting ready for the first non-conference game with San Angelo Saturday, Sept. 22. Anyone who has watched previous teams in the present state of development will agree that they look good, especially for an almost rookie team. They appear to have achieved the important idea that a team will win if it works as a unit but a collection of individual stars will make a flop. Every man is being taught his place in the machine and for the most part staying in it.

Captain Garrison and Derald Tully, as would be expected of the veterans, are showing up the best. Bagley, at guard, has not the same chance to make a show but it is noticeable in scrimmages that the man he is assigned to cover does not break up any plays. Cook, the last-year center, has been kept out of many of the practices by outside employment, but Butler is learning to plug the hole. Cook's absence is giving him a better chance to shape up than most of the other players are getting.

Mackall, Sikes, Guthrie and Bravner seem to be catching the heavy end of the backfield practice and it is probable that three of these will be picked to work with Garrison in the secondary line. There is another man in the second squad who could threaten the chances of this quartet. John Hart is exceptionally strong on defensive work, showing an uncanny knack for knocking down passes and having the kind of face that never gives his intentions away.

Lane, Frost, Schoopman and Dahlberg, together with the veteran Bagley, will probably be the list for the first line to be picked but Bobby Dwyer is yet to be heard from. It might be well to say that Dwyer is doing well for a rookie, which is true, but Bobby has more latent possibilities than most of the rookies and should get down to work and show somebody up.

Tully, Taylor, Horton and Martin are the best shows for the end jobs. H. L. Hart, assistant coach, with the rubber, who is being furnished by Jim Horton and Samuel Butler, are helping the squad "take it."

Work Will Start In El Paso On a Federal Building

EL PASO — November will probably see the start of work on El Paso's new $690,000 federal building, according to estimates made by U. S. Rep. R. E. Thomson.

The building will be a five-story structure, made of reinforced concrete, and rising 76 feet and 9 inches above the sidewalk. It will be 226 feet and six inches long, 114 feet, six inches wide.

The structure will be of modern classic design. Steps, base and entrance ways are to be pink granite.

The more than 300 offices will be arranged with the lower floors devoted largely to offices for the departments; the third and fourth floors containing offices of the department of justice; and the fifth floor holding an up-to-date cotton classroom room and the weather bureau.

In addition to the offices the building will include two drafting rooms, two court rooms, commissioners' hearing room, and grand jury and petit jury rooms. It will occupy a 230,000 site opposite the courthouse.

Merle Stewart Is Band Sweetheart For This Season

The Ranger band met last night at 7:30 with 45 members present, and also a large crowd of visitors.

Miss Merle Stewart was elected band sweetheart for the coming year. This is the first time in several years that there has been a sweetheart elected and a lot of enthusiasm was shown by the members in the election.

The band this year with its 45 members should be the best band in the history of Ranger.

There are several good trips planned this season. They will go to Fort Worth when the Bulldogs go there to play the Central High Panthers, they will also go to San Angelo and Brownwood to play for football games between the Bulldogs and those teams.

Community Service Was Well Attended

Rev. D. W. Nichol, pastor of the Church of Christ, of Ranger, preached at the community services held on the vacant lot across the street from the city hall Thursday night, with a good congregation in attendance.

Rev. Nichol was due to preach last Thursday evening, but due to a conflict preaching engagement, his turn at conducting the community services was postponed until this week.

Another of the city's pastors will be designated next week to conduct the services, at which each preacher in the city will appear in rotation, one preaching each Thursday.

TROOPS MAY NOT BE SENT TO STRIKE ZONE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 14.—The aid of federal troops in strike-torn Rhode Island will not be asked unless there is a change in the situation, Gov. Green announced today.

"The situation has improved and unless there is a change there will be no occasion for calling on the federal government for troops," the governor said.

In Woonsocket, where two were killed and scores wounded in wild rioting and looting, and in Saylesville, where other scores were wounded, the Rhode Island militia rules with bayonets and rifles. For the moment peace prevails but commanding officers prepared for renewal of fighting. They believe agitators were circulating among the strikers, goading them to new violence.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Textile strike leaders marshaled new forces in their battle today in the face of critical conditions in Rhode Island.

They called in heads of allied unions with a view to bringing new thousands out of the mills and adding them to the approximately 500,000 workers already in the strike.

No announcement came from the mediation board. Its efforts have broken down.

Tri-State Fair to Have Exhibits of Several Colleges

AMARILLO.—The Tri-State fair here Sept. 15-22 will contain exhibits from several colleges, it was announced.

Texas Technological college at Lubbock will give demonstrations and conduct short courses during the fair for home demonstration agents.

An exhibit from A. & M. college will be shown in the livestock group. The college will compete in the Hereford department, one of the features of this year's fair.

Exhibits from the University of Arizona will be placed in the animal husbandry exhibit.

Double space has been reserved in one of the exhibition buildings for West Texas State Teachers' college, of Canyon, for the first time for that institution.

A large western-Oklahoma delegation, accompanied by the band of Oklahoma A. & M. college, also will attend.

Dr. E. R. Cockrell, Educator, Dies

FAYETTEVILLE, Mo., Sept. 14.—Dr. E. R. Cockrell, president of William Woods College, Fulton, Mo., and former mayor of Fort Worth, died here last night.

Cockrell, 61, entered the hospital three days ago with an injured leg and suffering from heart disease. The leg was amputated in an effort to save his life.

MORRO CASTLE POLISH WAS INFLAMMABLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Testimony that unlawful, inflammable liquid polish was carried on the Morro Castle and that tanks of life boats were almost rusted through added today to the confused picture of the disaster at sea being presented to the federal inquiry board.

A storekeeper told the inquiry that it was common knowledge that many stewards used the inflammable liquid which was easier to apply than the kind approved by regulations and the Ward Line.

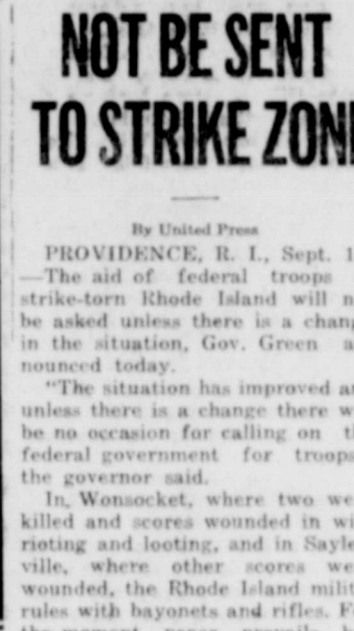

The inquiry adjourned until Monday.

Administration To Speed Relief Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Increasing number of families on relief rolls, offsetting industrial employment gains, today speed administration plans to meet the task of caring for the needy during the winter.

Estimates of those expected to receive relief during the cold weather months vary from the minimum of 16,000,000 to a peak of 23,000,000 in November, by Donald R. Richberg, secretary of the council.

Named to Probe Textile Strike

Marion Smith, Atlanta attorney, shown here in a new picture, has been named one of the committee of three for voluntary arbitration in the textile strike. The committee, selected by President Roosevelt, already has started its investigations, looking toward settlement.

OKLAHOMA MAN ESCAPES FROM HIS KIDNAPERS

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 14.—H. D. Snell, 42 year old Cordell, Okla., merchant, kidnaped there Thursday, was found on a street here today.

When picked up by police Snell told of being kidnaped by two men yesterday morning and taken in a car to Wichita Falls, where he refused to sign a check for $50,000.

The Oklahoman said he had received two demands for $10,000 which he ignored.

Snell said he freed himself by opening the back door of the car in which he was lying blindfolded and gagged and rolling out on the road. This apparently was near San Antonio, he said.

The fall from the car knocked him unconscious. When he regained consciousness he began walking. He was still semi-conscious when picked up by police.

Passing of Famous Texas Rangers Due

AUSTIN.—Passing of the Texas Rangers is foreseen by some of them in efforts to establish a central state criminal bureau.

Rangers likely would be continued but they would be a division only of the proposed bureau. It would have its identification section either at Huntsville prison or in one of the large cities. The State Highway patrol likely would be merged into the system and the Rangers form a detective and emergency section.

A law the Rangers would welcome would be one changing the designation of "Special Rangers." A "Special Ranger" is connected with the regular Ranger force only by having his commission filed at Ranger headquarters. He is appointed by the governor on recommendation of his home county sheriff. He differs only from a special deputy sheriff in being permitted to act outside of the county where he is appointed.

He has a roving commission to tote a gun.

Bread Bond Bill Is Before Senate

AUSTIN, Sept. 14.—A bill to provide $9,500,000 in bread bonds for relieving hunger and destitution this winter was set up as a target for Texas senators today.

Opening shots probably will not be fired until late today. The morning session was devoted to a section-by-section analysis of the bill. The bill was substituted for the one passed in the house yesterday.

with BILL MAYES
Tonight the school superintendents, coaches and football captains and sports writers from over a district are to gather at Breckridge for the annual Wes Hodgday banquet in memory of Wes Hodgday, who died while a sports editor on the Breckenridge American. These are big affairs and usually enjoyed by all present, though they are sometimes somewhat embarrassing to some of the small coaches, especially the ones in the district.

Last year Dexter Shelley of Cisco and Red Petty of Eastland got the brunt of the jokes, while this year Red Moore and the new coach at Brownwood High, if he is present, will be the newcomers.

They are going over with Prof. Holroyd, Coach Meigs, and Captain Johnson, making us the only one private without a title of some kind in the bunch.

Personal note to Benny Butler: I was for agreeing to abbreviate words of over one syllable as we complained that you were reaching frantically for our dictionary whenever you wanted to admit we are not overly smart.

Not so personal a note to Frankington, also of Cisco: For information we might call attention to the fact that Cleo Gray has dropped out of school and Joe Briley graduated last year, so unless there are some new changes in the rules they will not be carrying the ball for the Bullseye this year. Right now it looks like Rankin Britt (remember him?) the big bozo who knocked out all those Cisco passes last year (number 11th) Aaron Anderson (Dean Walsh will be in the field a good part of the time, and by Maurice, alias Bullet, and Monk Agnew, who is replacing Gray. Truck Belonging to Perry Purser Badly Damaged in Wreck

The two were returning from Antonio with a load of produce when they met a car on the highway. The truck was forced into a ditch by the approaching car. It turned over several times. The occupants of the car tried they were in the wrong place to pay for the damage to Purser's truck, it was stated today.

Referendum on Bankhead Act Is Not Yet Begun

WASHINGTON.—The cotton section of the agricultural adjustment administration today advised cotton farmers that petitions being circulated in the south concerning the application of the Bankhead act for next season were not to be confused with the requirements of the statute that the secretary of agriculture must determine that two-thirds of the producers favor its continuance before the act is effective for the next season.

Copies of petitions, addressed to the president, are being circulated in some parts of the cotton belt. Officials of the cotton section, while encouraging expressions of opinion of the act and the program at all times, pointed out that in the event the president declares that the emergency in cotton still exists for the next season, the secretary of agriculture will be required to determine that two-thirds of the producers favor the continuance of the Bankhead act for it to become effective. At the proper time, it was stated, plans will be developed for making this determination under the law.

It was further stated that while the cotton section appreciates the voluntary co-operation of various interests seeking to obtain opinion on the Bankhead act, when and if a referendum is held on the act, the form of the propositions undoubtedly will be different from those contained in the privately circulated petitions.

A copy of the petition received in Washington states the proposition in parallel columns. On the left side of the petition, the question is posed as follows:

"We, the undersigned cotton farmers are opposed to federal control of production. The Bankhead cotton control act has worked undue hardships on cotton farmers of the south. Such legislation will tend to destroy foreign markets and increase production in foreign countries. We urge that this law be repealed as soon as possible and that individual rights of farmers be restored at once."

The alternate proposition is stated in the right column as follows:

"We, the undersigned cotton farmers favor the regimentation of agriculture and we urge the continuation of crop control. We believe the Bankhead law should be continued in effect."

The copy of the petition received in Washington had no signatures under the proposal that the act be repealed while under the column to the right a group of farmers planting 3,000 acres of cotton land went on record as favoring "the regimentation of agriculture." One signatory wrote the comment, "Sure we favor this law... our salvation."

Two Fierds Clash In Death Struggle In Poe's 'Black Cat'

Could "Frankenstein" have defeated "Dracula" in mortal combat? The issue has finally been put to a test by Universal Pictures, which brought together for the first time on the screen, those two terror inspiring "monsters," Karloff and Lugosi, in a horror picture that promises to end all horror pictures, "The Black Cat," suggested from a story by that master of all mystery writers, Edgar Allan Poe.

A gripping story, full of unusual and unexpected thrills and chills, "The Black Cat," coming to the Arcadia theatre, on Saturday, promises to outdo both "Frankenstein" and "Dracula." It is said, Karloff, the creator of "Frankenstein" takes on a new guise of horrible and terrifying proportions, while Lugosi, the originator of "Dracula," braves the laws of life and death when he clashes with his sinister adversary.

No picture in recent times has evoked so much interest among the theatre going public, who are always seeking something new and daringly different in screen entertainment. This picture is more than that; it is truly an epic of fantastic horror and terror.

A splendid cast has been assembled for this production, including David Manners and Jacqueline Wells, who supply the romantic interest; Egon Brecher, Lucille Lund, Henry Armetta, Anna Dunes, Harry Cording and many others.

Poeslig and Dr. Verdegast, portrayed by Karloff and Lugosi respectively, are old-world characters of sinister, mysterious bearing, yet

Greatest Juliet Lost To Fame Says Actor

One of those unrecorded small tragedies of the stage came to light in a fascinating reminiscence recounted by Sir Guy Standing, stage and screen actor, during the filming of Paramount's "Now and Forever," which comes Monday to the Arcadia theatre. The picture stars Gary Cooper, Carole Lombard and Shirley Temple, with Standing and Charlotte Granville featured.

Sir Guy Standing and Charlotte Granville, both veterans of the theatre, were discussing past times on the stage, and someone asked Standing who was the greatest Juliet he ever saw.

"She was in what we call in England a 'fix-up' theatre," he said reminiscently. "She was a member of one of those roving bands of players that go from town to town, doing Shakespeare, and living like gypsies. Her father was the proprietor of the company."

"I was a young man then and I went with my father. We were both enthralled. She was a little, ethereal thing, light as a feather, tender, with a beautiful voice and the pain of the world on that sweet face. She didn't play Juliet. That night she was Juliet."

"Oh, you never heard of her," said Standing. "I suppose few did. After it was over we went back stage to see her, and found her dipping bread into a glass of gin and water—drunk as a dance hall girl. No one knows what ever happened to her, or what she was in life, but on the stage she was the greatest Juliet I ever saw."

In "Now and Forever" Sir Guy plays the role of a suave and debonair crook, who endeavors to lead Gary Cooper into a life of crime. How the love and faith of his little daughter, portrayed by Shirley Temple, reforms Cooper and eventually leads him to perform a deed of heroic self-sacrifice, furnishes the material for a sympathetic and human picture.

Ruins New Deal Painting; Jailed

Six months in jail was the sentence imposed on John Smitske, shown here in court, for throwing naphtha on a painting that scathingly satirized the New Deal and especially the Roosevelt family, as it was exhibited in Tarrytown, N. Y. Smitske ruined the picture, he said, because he did not like the idea of holding the Roosevelts up to ridicule.

China Is Partial to American Ware

PEIPING, China.—America's trade in the China market remains unchallenged. The leadership of the United States as a salesman to Old Cathay is emphasized by statistics. Just published by the Inspector General of the Chinese Maritime Customs. Last year imports into China were valued at $8,358,978,165. Of this total China bought from the United States goods worth $297,468,131. Thus, 3.5 per cent of China's imports came from America, the United States led all other countries in the value of merchandise imported into China.

The United States also is a customer of China. Last year China exported goods worth $612,292,722, silver. Of this America's purchases totaled $146,444, or 18.45 per cent. Customs figures show that 10 per cent of China's exports go to the British Colony of Hongkong.

Customs figures, as during the past few years, continue to show the effect of the impaired Japanese diplomatic relations, the trade between China and Japan. In 1932 Japan, except for the United States, sold more goods in China than any other country. Last year, however, the Japanese dropped to third place as imports to China, with the United States in first place and Great Britain second. In 1932 Japan bought more goods from China than any other country. Last year Great Britain placed as an importer from China. The United States last year was China's second best customer. Japan was third.

AS TO CHILD LABOR

A bill to regulate child labor may be introduced at the approach of the next regular session of the Texas legislature.

Newspapers to some extent employ minors in selling and delivering newspapers. The Texas Circulation Managers association is concerned about the application of any proposed bill as it may affect the operation of their departments of the newspaper business.

Any broad newspaper policy should be based on the greatest good to the community involved. It is inconceivable that any publisher or any circulation manager of merit through the abuse or misuse of the child's time.

On the other hand any fair legislative committee will not be composed of men desiring to reward or punish newspapers at the expense of a child.

The child himself is the issue and the question. Any newspaper that cannot be profitably published without the abuse of the child should be suspended, and any legislator who registers a vote either for or against the pocket book of the Texas press is misconstruing and abusing those who elected him.

If the circulation managers of Texas can and do show the legislators that children under 18 years of age do benefit as a whole through selling newspapers, the only question remaining for the legislature is to determine whether any abuses exist in any individual property and to provide by law against their continuance.

As a broad question the regulation of child labor has been found necessary through law and a fair Texas press nows this. Certainly a fair Texas press will not fight the general principle of regulation of child labor through law because of fear that its own pocket book might incidentally be affected.

lectual development of the individual has virtually come to an end."

This is bound to be challenged as a study is made of the so-called American Brain Trust, for it seems they have not gone the limit, according to some press reports, but keep on progressing in adaption to conditions and mental refinement and efficiency.

Of course, we may expect to see further progress of mental development which may be expected to be attended by an additional increase in brain size. The skull may become thinner than it is today and, by so doing, hold more brains.

This question of a Brain Trust and why seems to be a subject of much discussion. No doubt some one will solve the question as to why any set of men should be called a Brain Trust, because no man or set of men can get a corner on brains in this country of free men.

A lot of self-seekers of glory are not progressive builders; they are just plain "windjammers" and should take a long vacation.

Some people with convenient memories too frequently and deliberately misunderstand newspapers and their motives.

ALIVE AFTER 100-FOOT LEAP: CINCINNATI, O. — Hans F. Weusthoff, 62, was saved from death in the Ohio river after he had leaped 100 feet from a bridge. Two policemen, seeing him jump, seized a boat, took Weusthoff from the river within 10 minutes after his plunge. Impact with the water almost tore off Weusthoff's trousers. He suffered only two broken ribs. Police blamed despondency for his act.

Eloise Morton enrolled in Eastland High school this term. A farewell party for Eugene Watson was planned for Friday night at the home of Miss Jackie Lee Koch. Eugene leaves for Waxahachie the last of the week to enroll in college there.

The new laboratory building being constructed by this school district is under construction at this time. The primary room is now being used for the laboratory and the primary pupils under Mrs. Timmons meet in the Methodist church for classes.

School opened Monday with a large attendance and many new students. All the teachers are members of the faculty of former years, who were re-elected, with the exception of Mr. Scrubbs, who was elected to fill a vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Thompson Pickens, former coach and high school principal here.

Mr. Shelby Smith was promoted to principal of the high school and Mr. Scrubbs will coach and take Mr. Smith's place in the high school.

ROBIN FAMILY MOVED: By United Press. NEW BRITAIN, Conn.—When a young robin was tossed out of

BEACH CLUB GIRL

BEGIN HERE TODAY: BOOTS HARBURN, 18 and lovely, elegant swimmer, instructor, because her pride has been hurt by some pretty social snobs. Boots goes to Miami, promising to send for her later. Boots gets a job in a department store. She is living in a tiny room in Green-wich Village where she is introduced by her friend, DENIS FENWAY, young author, befriended her and later introduces her to some of his friends. Boots ends herself resenting the possessive air beautiful KAY CHILLINGFORD has toward Denis.

Just before her illness Boots received a telegram telling her Russ had been killed in a motorboat accident. She goes back to the store to work, too proud to appeal to her parents.

THE story EDWARD VAN STEINER, one of Denis' friends, frequently mentions the gas and Boots hears nothing from Denis. These one Sunday afternoon he calls and asks her to go for a drive.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY: CHAPTER XXXII: BOOTS and Denis lunched at an inn hanging over a willow-circled pond where ducks swam lazily in the dappled water. Denis was at his most charming—neither abstracted nor fitfully interested. He was solicitous for her comfort. But his long, lean brown hands lit the cigarette after cigarette and Boots noticed that he ate little. He seemed thinner; he had a fine-drawn look about his mouth.

She had sent him a money order for $10 the week before, her first payment against the debt caused by her illness and Russ' burial. He spoke of this gently. He hadn't written to acknowledge it, he said, because he'd wanted to see her first. She was not to bother about that until things were better with her. It was simply a loan between friends.

"How are you liking the work?" he wanted to know. She shrugged. No one was to know how dreadful the long days at Lacy's seemed to her. It was all right, she said. A little tiring sometimes. It was a job; that was all. He gave her a thoughtful look. "I—had something in mind," he said. "Remember Masterston, that publisher chap I talked to you about a year ago?"

She remembered. It had been when she was so desperate, so unhappy, not knowing which way to turn. "His firm has an outlet bookshop over on Eighth Street. Nice little place. Copper bottles and spinning wheels, that sort of thing. You know?"

She knew. She remembered passing by, stopping to read the titles on the bright jackets. "Well, the girl—one of the girls, I should say—is leaving in two weeks. She's a southerner. I think she's getting married. They want someone. When I was in Masterston's office the other day he was talking to someone on the telephone about it. I thought of you."

It isn't the first time some wiseheimer was poked his nose into places and got it knocked out of a joint.

The thing that got me was that so few people had any faith in the constable's sleuthing.

It just goes to prove that the majority is always wrong. What a sap the constable made out of Mrs. Van Swann's track 'detect-a-time'! "Wow!"

Well, people who look for trouble usually come out looking like they'd found it!

She dressed in a big, airy cabana at the water's very edge. The heady tang of salt air was in her nostrils. No cocktail would have affected her like this. It was like wine.

Shyly she came out into the dazzling light. The others were variously disposed. Kits was lying on a canvas cot under a striped red and white umbrella. Leo was sitting a mammoth silver shaker.

Denis, already in bathing kit, sat taller-fashion on a rug at the edge of Kit's cot, conversing with his cousin in low tones. As Boots appeared he jumped to his feet.

"I say!" Leo shouted. "Doesn't she look simply swell!" The white rubber suit with its scarf-like bodice indeed suited the delicious curves of Boots' slim body. She had left her hair free. It was like spun silk in the sunshine.

"First time for me this year," she said, taking the cushion Denis placed for her. She was suddenly almost suffocated with shyness. It was absurd. All her life she had gone unconcernedly about in the briefest of casual swimming garments. Now with Denis' eyes on her slim rounded shoulders, she felt self-conscious.

"Not really?" Kits drawled. "Don't you mind?" She nodded. Yes, she hadn't realized until this moment how much she had minded being away from all this, the sea, and the white burning sand and the warm sun burning over all.

"Miss being a beach club girl?" She looked up, flushing, into Denis' keen eyes. He was unsmiling. He had been reading her very thoughts.

"Oh, I do!" And yet—and yet she wasn't sure she meant it. She missed the same old warm fondness of the life but she was proud to think she had stood on her own feet this year, without anyone's help or connivance. She had proved, at least, that she wasn't only a beach club girl—a waster—a parasite!

She let the sand slip through her fingers. "Going in?" Denis had her arm. They were racing along the beach. Now they were cleaving the water with their bodies and the strong, remembered tang of salt was on her lips.

The beautiful clean strokes came back to her and she felt again the pure exhilaration of swimming. Oh, it was delicious to be back to her own element of sun and air and glittering sea after this long interlude, with Denis beside her.

Then she heard Jenny shout from the water's edge. "Denis! Come along in. Look who's here!" Boots flung the drops out of her eyes. There, elegant and poised, in floating summer silks, stood Kay Chillingford.

She might as well enjoy all this she told herself recklessly as the car sped along the shaded, dipping roads where every vista was a delight. Tomorrow she would be back among the chintzes, next in her thin black with the white collar, but tired, laded under her new sunburn. She might as well have this

Burns Machinery Co Equipped For Almost Any Job

Few people in Ranger, unless they have had occasion to visit the plant in order to have work done, realize the size or the ability to turn out complicated work at the Burns Machinery company, East
Main street.

A visit to the plant by a Times representative showed much activity in the machine shop, though the place was spotlessly clean for a plant of the kind and everything seemed to be in its proper place.

Hardly three years ago when Burns took over the shop, which was then the Bishop Machine shop, the plant was poorly equipped and had little machinery. Today it is equipped to handle the most intricate jobs and can do aluminum or brass moulding of all kinds.

It is the only shop nearer than Fort Worth, Waco or Wichita Falls that gear cutting machines or milling machines installed and operation and much work for this section of the state is turned out.

Thursday the plant was reboring a 24-inch cylinder, was casting an aluminum piston and was making piston rings. The cast iron piston weighed 560 pounds, while the aluminum piston, which gives much better service, will weigh, when completed, between 120 and 130 pounds.

Any kind of brass gear for machinery can be cast from an old, broken gear, and it will wear many times as long as indicated by a casting that weighed 160 pounds, when cast from brass, that was made by the company at the same cost a cast iron bracket could be secured from the factory, and which was reported to have lasted five times as long as the original.

The company casts a large number of brass hammer heads, which are used around gas properties of the Lone Star Gas company, because they do not cause sparks, which might prove dangerous.

Any job up to 200 pounds can be cast in either aluminum or brass and no job is too small nor too intricate for the company to handle.
Three skilled machinists are on the job all the time, in addition to Mr. Burns, while at times more are employed.

The company enjoys a good business from an area of almost 100 miles from Ranger, because it is the only plant within that radius that can turn out the vast variety of work that the Burns shop can handle easily.

The men, Dorel P. Jones, Deca-

New Jimmie Allred Returns To Austin After A Hard Campaign

AUSTIN. — A new "Jimmie" Allred has come back to Austin, to be governor. He seems stunned by the prospect of following in the shoes of Roberts, Hogg, Culbertson and the other "great" Texas governors. A view of the impending task has aged the "boy."

It is not alone the fatigue of a long, hot summer political campaign that is apparent in the democratic nominee for governor. He shows that he is thinking ahead. Allred will not take office as governor until mid-January. Already he has begun to feel many of its responsibilities. First to arrive were his political problems as titular head of the Democratic party in Texas. That responsibility confronted him even before he had time to open the thousands of congratulatory telegrams.

A party split over Democratic national committee threatened. Allred's coup in securing Vice President Garner's announcement that he would accept the post brought new laurels to the "boy." His real test as a party leader will come at the State Democratic convention at Galveston next week.

Governor's duties, also, are rushing in upon him ahead of his assumption of office. A legislative session will be under way when he takes the governor's oath. He must be ready to suggest plans to overcome a multi-million state deficit to pay off millions of relief bonds and to keep state machinery running.

More pressing, if less important, he must select a corps of non-elective state officials. The storm of job hunters swirls about him. Until after the general election, Nov. 6, he can, and must, refuse to promise appointments. He must be able to swear as he takes office that he has promised no place as a reward for political service. Though no political activity is needed to assure his election in November, technically Allred still is only a candidate.

"I will go in without any obligations or strings," he told the United Press.

It happens that the appointive jobs are more desirable plums than the election state jobs which aspirants must win for themselves. Many of them are for six years. Elective jobs are for two.

Chief plum is membership on the three-man state board of control, which in turn dishes out the jobs in the many state institutions.

Interest in Horse Raising in Texas Indicated at Fair

DALLAS. — Increased interest in Texas as a breeding state is evidenced in the fact that among reservations for stall space for more than 800 race horses for the fall meet at the State Fair of Texas, opening on Saturday, Oct. 6, there are more than one half of this number owned and trained in Texas, according to Julius G. Reeder, general manager of the track for the fall meet.

Among the horses are many that are famous throughout the country such as Croon, Clarify, Miss Corinne, Bien Fait, Boy Valet, Westys Fox, Fabulous, High Bottom, Brown Molasses, and many just as famous.

Stall space is available for only 1,000 horses at the State Fair, and Judge Reeder has said that it is assured now that every available stall will be occupied during the 19 days of the fall meet at the State Fair of Texas.

The fall meeting will extend one week past the dates of the State Fair, which are Oct. 6 to 21, the race meeting closing the following Saturday on Oct. 27.

More than 50 stock breeders in Texas now have national recognition as owners of first class strings of race horses. These breeders will all be represented in the fall race meeting at the State Fair of Texas.

Bright Spot On Business Horizon Continues in Texas

AUSTIN. — A bright spot on the business horizon continues to be the relatively small number of business failures, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

According to the weekly reports compiled by the Bureau, Texas during August totaled 17, the same as in July but only about half the number as for August last year.

Liabilities of $209,000 were 20 per cent lower than in July and 73 per cent below August, 1933. Average liability per failure of $12,294 was 20 per cent lower than in July and 47 per cent below that of August last year.

Total assets of the 17 firms that failed in August were $107,000 against $83,000 for an equal number in July, an increase of 29 per cent.

scale down to a bare 220 or thereabouts, according to our book-keeping department.

and ought to do 165 pounds," probably another conservative estimate as he weighed something like 162 according to the 1933 estimates, which we still have on hand. A. W. Balfanz, who played at end last year is playing at the other guard and last year was listed as a 155 pounder and should scale even more this year. H. J. Jones, the center of last year's team, is back and his brother Earl is No. 1 man for left end and Jack Blackmond is supposed to play at the other end position.

The backs, Prexy laments, are smaller with Kenneth Walter, Ray Moser, Gervis Galbraith and Grady Ehyties in the backfield.

Walter, if we are not mistaken, relieved Brookshire in the Eastland game last year and, though he was small at the time, probably not weighing more than 135 pounds, did a good job of carrying the ball, being much on the type of Brookshire. Moser has been with the team a year or two, it seems, while Galbraith is the smaller brother of a long string of Galbraiths, if memory serves us right. Shythes saw a good bit of service last year, though he probably did not play in the Ranger game as no substitutions were made on either side that day.

Dallas May Have Second Opera Season

DALLAS. — Efforts are being made to arrange a second opera season for Dallas this winter.

The tour manager of the Chicago Opera company, Clark A. Shaw, conferred in Dallas recently with members of the local grand opera committee in an effort to bring the Chicago company here. The company appeared here from 1913 until its dissolution in 1932.

Marin Jeritza, celebrated Viennese soprano, would appear in the proposed presentation of Puccini's "La Tosca." The season also would feature Rosa Raisa, the dramatic soprano, in Puccini's posthumous work, "Turandot." A strong supporting cast would aid in the programs.

The proposed program includes a ballet headed by Ruth Page. Harold Kreutzberg probably would be the featured dancer.

A forty-piece orchestra, conducted by Genaro Papi, would accompany the productions.

A full matinee program, besides the two operas, is included in the proposed season.

Plans are indefinite, as Shaw says he merely is scouting, but he believed prospects good for a Dallas visit. A conflict with the San Carlo Opera company, booked for late in January under auspices of the opera committee presents the main difficulty. Dates suggested for the Chicago company's appearance here are within three weeks of the San Carlo dates.

That the Advertisers May Know---

The Ranger Daily Times and the Ranger Weekly Times reach every community in this trade territory in plenty of time for the people of each community to study the advertisements of the Ranger merchants and take advantage of specials advertised in these two papers—especially does this apply to Friday and Saturday bargains.

WEEKLY MAIL SCHEDULE

In order that the readers of Strawn, Mingus, Thurber, Gorman, Carbon and other community centers may receive their weekly paper in time to take advantage of the merchants advertisements the paper is published on Thursday night and goes into the post office in time to make the midnight and early morning trains out of Ranger so as to reach the designated post office early Friday morning in sufficient time to be handled by the rural carriers—we invite the business men to check these records—anything put in the mails later than Thursday night does not get to the readers until late Saturday and in many instances it is Monday.

The Times is giving the merchants of Ranger complete coverage in this territory. We appreciate the interest and the cooperation of the Ranger merchants and business men in the support given the Weekly which is one of the best in Texas and is less than a year old.

DAILY TIMES SCHEDULE

The Daily Times is distributed by carrier in Ranger and makes the mail each afternoon in which papers are sent to Thurber and Strawn and goes into the homes of the rural subscribers each morning as they are handled by the rural carriers. On each afternoon The Times has a special route from Ranger to Olden and some 20 people between Ranger and Olden read the Times each afternoon, besides the city of Olden itself which has a special route and the people in Olden read the Times about as early as do the Ranger readers.

The Ranger Weekly Times has filled a long felt want in the weekly field. The Ranger Daily Times is read and appreciated in 75 per cent of Ranger homes—there can be no substitute for PAID circulation.

"ALL-BRAN WILL ALWAYS BE A PART OF MY DIET"

Delicious Cereal Corrected His Constipation

If you suffer from constipation, read this fine letter:

"I have been troubled for years with constipation. During this time, I have tried almost every known remedy. Then some one recommended eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and the proper results followed immediately.

"Since eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN each morning, there has been a general improvement in my health without the ill effects that I formerly experienced when taking laxatives. Hereafter, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will always be a part of my diet."—Mr. E. G. Himes, 1201 E. 7th St., Los Angeles, Calif.

Research shows Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this "cereal way" safer than risking patent medicines?

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient to relieve ordinary constipation. With each meal, in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Be sure to ask for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It contains much more needed "bulk" than part-bran products. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Slump Boosted U. S. Inventions

NEW YORK—America's inventive genius has been stimulated by the depression, according to the investigations of the Inventors Foundation of New York. An intensive study carried on by the Foundation in connection with its courses at Stevens Institute and New York University indicates that the American inventor is more active than ever, but lacks practical guidance and the ability to make the most of his ideas.

Hundreds of inventors are being enrolled in special courses now being given at these institutions and by mail in association with the International Correspondence Schools to study scientific methods in developing new ideas worthy of patenting. The courses offer expert instruction in all details of inventing and patenting methods. The Foundation is carried out on broad philanthropic principles.

The investigations show that most inventors are surprisingly ignorant of the patent laws and the best plan for protecting their ideas and assuring profits. The inventor is instructed concerning correct protective methods of original ideas and the practical application of these rules through each stage of the development of an invention. The course includes a study of the inventor's market for his product, and culminates with a study of the business steps involved.

Could it be the first-aid companies that encourage Communist candidates for public office? They never fail to do a good business during the elections.

One Out of Eight College Students To Get Relief Jobs

AUSTIN—One out of every eight students enrolled in Texas colleges and universities this winter may obtain a job, according to E. A. Raugh, chief engineer of the Texas Relief Commission.

The jobs will pay an average of $15 per month from September to June. Positions will be available to 12.5 per cent of the students at each college on full-time enrollment. Last year funds were provided for only 10 per cent of the enrollment.

The relief projects will include extension work, adult education, recreation and other activities. New students are to set an even break with returning students. Fifty per cent of the funds allotted a college must be paid to students who were not regularly enrolled in any college during January, 1934.
