MASS MEETING MAKES PLANS FOR WORKERS

At a mass meeting at the Elks arena Thursday night, labor and the business interests of Ranger met and co-operated in trying to work out some plans for the improvement of conditions in Ranger. Charles Hutchinsan presided at the meeting at which a wonderful spirit was shown. E. A. Ringold advised with those present on the status of the city auditorium and gymnasium, pointing out the steps that had been taken to try to keep the work going. He is to meet with a committee tonight to discuss the details of the plan further to see if it is possible to work out some plan whereby both the laborers and the business interests of the town might profit. The entire city commission was present and Mayor Harry A. Logsdon spoke briefly on the work the commission has done to try to cooperate with labor. He complimented the laboring men on the fine spirit they had shown and on the way in which they were trying to carry their burdens. The chairman thanked Dr. Logsdon and the city commission for the work they had done in co-operating with them and for the economical administration that they had given the city. Walter Harwell talked briefly on his recent trip to Washington, where he said he was well received and where he found that the major problem before those in high seats was to provide for the laborer in order that he might find work and be self-sustaining. E. H. Mills spoke briefly on the water situation in Ranger and pointed out that Ranger still has an ample water supply for many months to come and that the water was good for any use to which it might be put. The meeting has been set for Tuesday night, at which time committees that have been appointed to look into several matters will have further reports to make.

ROOSEVELT APPOINTS NEW RECOVERY BOARD

RICHBERG NOW MAN OF POWER IN RECOVERY

Clay Williams is Chairman of National Industrial Recovery Board.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—President Roosevelt today swung administration shock troops toward a vital test under a new general staff ordered to coordinate emergency police and rescue NRA.

Clay Williams today was named chairman of the National Industrial Recovery board, the new organization created to take over Hugh S. Johnson's duties.

The president set up a commission government for the NRA and created a super-recovery board to direct NRA policies and unify the entire new deal.

Donald R. Richberg, a chairman of the industrial emergency committee, emerged as a figure of importance, second only to the president.

Two executive orders presented the start of the reorganization.

The president's objective was seen as coordination of new deal agencies and revamping of the NRA so that it would once again carry its full burden in the fight against the depression.

Mr. Roosevelt named two committees.

The industrial emergency committee was directed by the president to direct and coordinate "problems of relief, public works, labor disputes and industrial recovery, together with allied problems of agricultural recovery."

The second committee will have charge of the actual routine of administering the NRA. Its work will be similar to that of the committee of deputy administrators which has been in technical charge of the recovery unit for considerable periods since last June, in the absence of Johnson.

Vain Hunt Made For Missing Girl

With blood stains on a pavement and a torn handkerchief as only clues, police have found no trace of Dorothy Dietelhorst, 6, missing since she left her Nashville, Tenn., home for kindergarten Sept. 19. They fear she has been kidnapped and slain or was the victim of a hit-run motorist who hid the body.

PLANS ARE OUTLINED FOR BIG CELEBRATION ON ARMISTICE DAY IN THE CITY OF RANGER

An Armistice Day celebration committee met in the offices of the chamber of commerce Thursday afternoon at 5:30, with Wayne C. Hickey, general chairman of the Carl Barnes Post committee, to outline the celebration for Monday, Nov. 12, on which date Armistice will be celebrated in Ranger this year.

The Carl Barnes Post had already outlined a program for service men, veterans of all wars and Legionnaires, but a general program for the public was wanted to complete the plans and in which the entire town could cooperate.

After considerable discussion it was decided by the group to raise $25 to $50 and give a street dance and vaudeville act on Main street, the Ranger High school to be asked to furnish the music, and a donation of $25 being made to the band for its services on that day, the money to go into the fund for music, instruments, uniforms or wherever the band officers and director thought it would do the most good. The committee had not contacted R. L. Maddox, director of the band, so the plan was still tentative, pending acceptance of the plan.

The complete plans, with the street dance part still tentative, includes a parade in the morning, with the Lone Star and High School bands, the pep squad, Company E National Guards, war veterans, Boy Scouts and other taking part. The Civic High school has been sent an invitation to have their band and pep squad enter in the parade, also. The merchants who desire to do so are cordially invited to enter a car or float.

TWELVE YEARS IS ASSESSED BY THE JURY

Motion For New Trial Overruled and Appeal Notice Given.

By United Press
SEYMOUR, Texas, Sept. 28.—A district court jury here today found Miss Ruby Britain, 39, guilty of murder in the fatal shooting of Horace E. Nichols, 38, prominent Seymour banker.

The verdict fixed punishment at 12 years' imprisonment. The defense motion for a new trial was overruled and the defendant was released under $10,000 appeal bond.

The verdict was reached at 11 o'clock last night, but was not spoken until court convened today.

Miss Britain, prominent in Seymour society, exhibited no emotion as the verdict was read. Her attorneys went through the procedure preliminary to appeal.

The jury's decision came at the end of a four-day trial in which state witnesses brought out that Miss Britain shot Nichols as he sat parked on a country road with an 18-year-old girl the night of Aug. 15.

Blanton Cancels a Meeting He Called For Next Tuesday

Thomas L. Blanton, who called a meeting for next Tuesday afternoon to discuss possible sites for a post office for Ranger, has cancelled the meeting in a letter received by The Times today.

At the first meeting, held two weeks ago, no written descriptions of the sites offered were presented and the meeting was postponed until Tuesday, Oct. 2, but the letter received today states that this second meeting has been postponed.

Judge Blanton's notice of the cancellation of the meeting reads as follows:

"To Citizens of Ranger: I do not believe that there is any fair-minded, unbiased and unprejudiced person who attended the meeting at the Elks Arena on Tuesday, Sept. 18, who can conscientiously say that I did not do everything within my power to see that a fair, square deal was given to all three of the leading candidates for the postmasterhip, and to hold a fair election in my behalf. I lost both time and expense in making this trip to Ranger to thus accommodate my friends.

"Numerous complaints have come to me, showing that various parties are dissatisfied, are unappreciative, and are ungrateful. I do not intend to hold any more such mass meetings. I have reached the conclusion that it is absolutely impossible to please everybody.

"I deem it unwise to meet with the Chamber of Commerce there next Tuesday night as had been planned. I therefore cancel such engagement. There are numerous factions and numerous proposals regarding the new post office building site, and I realize now that any attempt to let these factions vote on same next Tuesday would culminate in identically the same kind of situation that followed the election of a postmaster, to-wit, one faction would be pleased, and all of the other factions would be dissatisfied and criticizing. Hence I prefer to determine the problem in another way.

"Very sincerely yours,
"THOMAS L. BLANTON."

COMMUNITIES RESPONSIBLE FOR RELIEF

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The primary responsibility for community relief needs rests on the community itself, President Roosevelt said today in an address before representatives at the mobilization for human needs.

In reiterating this well defined policy the president explained that "no thinking or experienced person insists today that the responsibility of the community shall be eliminated by passing on this great and humane task to any central body at the seat of federal government."

"You and I know that it has been with reluctance and only because we have realized the imperative need for additional help that the federal government had been compelled to undertake the task of supplementing the normal methods in use many generations."

The cattle buying see-saw Friday balanced heavy on the stop side and came to an abrupt halt in Eastland county with orders by letter from College Station to fill out the head quota this week and stop Saturday.

BULLET HOLES FOUND IN MEN KILLED SUNDAY

Four plays is believed responsible for the death of two men at Gordon Sunday night, since investigation has shown what appears to be a pistol wound was found in the head of one and several shots from a shotgun shell in the other.

W. A. (Jack) Roberson and Floyd Hughes, both middle age and residents of the Gordon community, were found after a train had badly mangled their bodies Sunday night by sons of the dead men.

Strangely, their heads had been severed from their bodies at exactly the same place, just above the eyelids, which aroused suspicion.

Later it developed that shotgun and pistol wounds were located.

County officers, including Sheriff Bond and deputies, County Judge John Birdwell and County Attorney Victor Baldwin spent Monday at Gordon working on the case, but as yet no definite information has been given out by them as to trouble leading up to the crime, if they were killed by someone and their heads severed and then thrown on the tracks, which is the general belief in the community.

Both men are well known in the Gordon community.

Officers say there is some evidence that the two men may have deliberately walked on the tracks or shot each other, in a suicide pact, but the shots, the heads being severed and the final mangle by the train has proved puzzling.

Sharpened Spoon Found In Cell of Bruno Hauptmann

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—A soup spoon which disappeared while being used in jail by Bruno Hauptmann was found sharpened and bent, it was announced today by jailers who declined to say whether they thought the prisoner was contemplating suicide.

Witnesses Are Rounded Up In Hauptmann Case

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Investigation of friends of Bruno Hauptmann and of indications several persons were involved in the Lindbergh kidnaping, proceeded today with federal agents and police rounding up witnesses for questioning.

One man was taken by federal agents and police to the office of the district attorney, Samuel Foley, shortly after noon.

Federal agents emphasized he was not under arrest and that he was questioned as to the possibility he acquired some of the ransom money from Hauptmann and had cashed it unwittingly.

The first tip that Hauptmann's defense might be insanity was seen today in announcement by defense counsel he would be examined tomorrow by a doctor.

THERE'S MURDER IN THE AIR!

"Stingaree" Bluffs the Constables

Richard Dix, star of "Cimarron" returns to the Arcadia screen Saturday in "Stingaree."

"Chained" Reunites Crawford and Gable in Tense Drama

In "Chained," Joan Crawford and Clark Gable are co-starred in a story written especially for them by Edgar Selwyn, noted writer, director and producer.

They are cast in the kind of roles which each has made famous—Joan as a vivid young lady of Manhattan, and Clark as a young American rancher in Buenos Aires.

With Otto Kruger as the "other man," a rich, gentlemanly, middle-aged New Yorker, also in love with Joan, the story takes on dramatic power.

Following the new trend of fast moving local, the background against which the action takes place is as swift changing as the drama itself. Beginning with a sun-flecked motorboat sequence on New York bay, the locale swiftly shifts to Manhattan, then to a luxurious liner at sea, then to Buenos Aires, South America, out onto a great ranch, back to New York, and thus to a smart mountain resort in the North.

The story itself concerns a beautiful girl who deliberately breaks one man's heart to save a man to whom she is in love from suffering. Then she bravely faces the dramatic consequences, with the dramatic ending a happy one for all three.

The day included steam baths, even work, massaging, and as many rounds of give-and-take boxing as the tutor demanded.

Stars of 'Cimarron' Now in 'Stingaree'

Miss Dunne, opposite, has her first opportunity to exploit thoroughly her beautiful voice. In "Stingaree" she sings both popular and operatic songs.

PHILO VANCE TAKES PLACE OF SHYLOCK HOLMES OF OLD

Philo Vance is rapidly replacing Sherlock Holmes in the national consciousness.

For many years, it was Arthur Conan Doyle's famous detective hero who automatically came to mind whenever one referred to mystery thrillers, Sherlock Holmes was the embodiment of all that was brilliant in the way of sleuthing.

But now S. S. Van Dine has come along with his more modern detective, Philo Vance, the erudite collector of fine jade and prints, who solves baffling mysteries purely as a side-line. And Sherlock Holmes is practically forgotten.

The newest Philo Vance thriller, "The Dragon Murder Case," First National picture, comes to the Arcadia Theatre Sunday with Warren William making his debut in the role of the suave sleuth.

While "to do a Sherlock" automatically means to do a bit of sleuthing S. S. Van Dine can boast if he wants to, over the fact that "Philo Vance" is really a part of the national idiom. The

"Name the Woman" Thrill Newspaper Film at Arcadia

"Name the Woman," the amusing newspaper thrill drama showing Friday at the Arcadia Theatre with Richard Cromwell, Arline Judge and Rita La Roy in the principal roles.

Based on a story by Fred Niblo, Jr., and Herbert Ashby and directed by Albert Rogell, "Name the Woman" presents the dramatic conflict between a young, inexperienced but adventurous newspaper reporter bent on ripping the lid off a corrupt government machine and his political adversaries.

The youth's exploits lead him into a series of circumstances involving a romance, an election, and a number of murders. Starting with his assignment to cover the slaying of the District Attorney, Cromwell continues on his own to unravel the mystery after having stumbled accidentally upon an important clue that momentarily involved the daughter of the reform candidate for Mayor. It is mainly his mission to clear the city's name that spurs him on until the dramatic climax brings the guilty one to justice.

Activities of the H. Demonstration Clubs of County

Mrs. Eugenie Ford, clothing operator of the Romney home demonstration club adds to her wardrobe by making hats for the different dresses. These hats are made of corn shucks, the natural color and color to match the dresses. The shucks take dye as well as material. To make the hats, she soaks the shucks in water until they are soft and pliable, cuts in strips and braids. The braids are then sewed together, fitted over a hat crown or mold to fit the head and the brim added. Large or small braids can be made, the strips cut for the small or large according to what the individual wants. When the hats are completed, bands are added or other trimming. Mrs. Ford recommends the corn shuck hats for long wear and says they are light and cool. She has made fifteen hats and sold all but three for an average of seventy-five cents each. It takes approximately twelve hours time for making a hat, this time is that she has nothing else to see to and does this work as much for recreation as for work. She has made one man's hat.

Rid Dried Fruit of Moths and Worms

Home dried fruits can be kept free of worms if the following method is followed, states Mrs. H. A. Bowers of the North Star home demonstration club. After the fruit has dried, place it in the sun, better to cover with glass, and keep for one hour or more. Experiments have shown that the heat will be as much as one hundred and ninety four degrees F. at times and it takes temperature of between 120 and 130 degrees F. to kill the insects or the eggs. Mr. R. E. Reppert, Extension Entomologist sends the following information on storing the fruit after heating the hour or more in the sun. "Immediately after the fruit may be placed in some tight container. I am sure that a tight wrapper of cellophane would do if all seams were carefully sealed or folded to prevent adult insects from gaining access.

Peanut Products

The Carbon Home Demonstration club exhibit at the county fair shows what can be done with peanuts. The peanuts were shown on the vine, peanut candy, peanut butter, peanut salad dressing, peanut pies (peanuts substituted for peaches) and peanut butter. The different steps in peanut butter making were shown. Mrs. Lon Medford, farm food supply demonstrator of the Carbon club gives the following information on making and canning peanut butter. This recipe was given through the club work and tried out by the members.

2 quarts Spanish peanuts, 4 quarts Virginia peanuts, 2 ounces salt. Roast the peanuts uniformly brown. Cool, remove the red skins and tiny hearts or germs (if the germs are not removed they may impart a bitter flavor). Grind, add the salt and grind twice more so as to have the salt well distributed throughout. A good type of meat grinder is satisfactory for grinding peanuts provided the burrs are not worn. The finest burrs should be used and the machine should be set to grind the meat as fine as possible. If the butter is not fine enough, after grinding it through the machine once, it should be passed through again. Pack into small jars. It is important to fill the jars as full as possible, pressing the butter in on the bottom first and filling so as to remove air bubbles as the packing is done. Care should be taken not to leave any air space between the top of the peanut butter in the jar and the lid. The stress or vacuum sealing process is considered the best method of sealing nuts or nut butters, in either glass or tin containers. In case a vacuum sealing device is not at hand, heat should be used in the process of sealing the jars to drive out any air which might be in the product, and to seal it so no air can enter.

Sterilize twelve ounce containers for one hour at one hundred and eighty degrees F. (simmering in a water bath. If there is too much oil in the butter, it will separate and the nuts will rise, leaving the oil in the bottom of the jars. The Spanish peanuts contain a larger amount of oil, therefore it is necessary to mix the variety with the Virginia peanuts in the proportions given above.

The butter should be brought to a fine, granular form rather than a smooth, pasty consistency. The aim in grinding peanuts for peanut butter should be to break the cells apart rather than to crush them. With a pasty product, the oil is likely to settle out, which will detract from the appearance of the product and make it necessary to stir it well each time before using in order to mix in the oil again.

Silent Campaign For Speakership Started in House

AUSTIN, Sept. 26.—James V. Allred, nominee for governor, has expressed hope for a "co-operative" legislature in January, and let the speakership race go at that, so far as the visible record is concerned.

Members of the present legislature said letters from back home were beginning to flow in, to them and to new nominees to house seats, in support of Representative J. B. Ford of McLennan county for speaker.

They carefully refrain from ascribing this incipient campaign to Mr. Allred personally; but one or two out of half a dozen who have commented upon the letters, expressed belief that they came from citizens friendly to Mr. Allred.

The speakership race promises to shape up between the present speaker, Coke Stevenson, and Representative Ford. Several other tentative candidates may stay out if Stevenson goes through with present plans to seek a second term.

Representative Albert G. Walked of Vernon is reserving the right to decide whether or not to make the race or stay in it, regardless of Speaker Stevenson's course.

Mr. Allred has been asked by newspapermen several times whether he will take any part in the speakership race, as did Mr. Ferguson in support of Stevenson. Allred's reply uniformly has been: "It is not my purpose to undertake to dictate to the legislature or tell it what to do. I have no concern in the matter except that of course I hope for a friendly, co-operative legislature with which the governor's office can work for the welfare of Texas."

The back-home letter-writing campaign on behalf of Mr. Ford is a definite fact: Whether it comes from friends of Allred, or those associated with him, or whether it would not exist if he were not the nominee, has no further evidence than his explicit disclaimer.

This speakership race promises to be as close and exciting as that of Stevenson and A. P. Johnson two years ago, whose outcome was not known until within the final 10 names of the vote counting.

Races for speaker uniformly are surrounded with more buncombe and exaggerated claims of definite pledges and commitments than any other phase of public life.

Two McLennan county men in 1933 were managers of the rival campaigns: W. M. Harman for Stevenson and Mr. Ford for A. P. Johnson. This did not disturb friendly relations in the house. Ford received fine committee appointments, and Mr. Harman became appropriations chairman.

Now will the Royal Canadian Mounted kindly hand over their medals to Uncle Sam's Department of Justice agents?

World Favors a Calendar Reform

VIENNA.—Miss Elizabeth Achelis, of New York and president of the World Calendar Reform Association, is confident the world soon will junk its cumbersome and antiquated calendar.

Visiting Vienna on a trip through Europe to whip up enthusiasm for a reformed calendar, Miss Achelis interrupted her business conference long enough to tell the press who thought "both America and Europe are beginning to come around to our side."

Miss Achelis doesn't expect her twelve-month perpetual calendar to be universally adopted tomorrow, but she sees signs of encouragement.

The League of Nations, she said, is doing yeoman work to get the nations together on this subject. The various national committees in each country, she said, are slowly persuading the clergy of the necessity of reforming the calendar and stabilizing the date of Easter.

Miss Achelis was accompanied on her European tour by Charles D. Morris, editor of Journal of Calendar Reform. They visited London, Copenhagen and Berlin before coming to Vienna. From here they went to Athens, Istanbul, Rome, Geneva and Paris.

The World Calendar Association, Miss Achelis explained, is opposed to a 13 month calendar and is fighting for perpetual 12-month calendar. This calendar is so divided that the first month in every quarter has 31 days and the others 30 days. The 28th day is called Year End Day and Leap Year is sandwiched between June and July.

Postmaster Retires After 27 Years

CANYON, Texas.—When Guy Harp assumed duties of the local postoffice as acting postmaster he succeeded Oscar Hunt who had served under every republican administration since 1907.

Hunt had served at Canyon longer than any postmaster in this section of the state and was the only postmaster in Texas confirmed by the U. S. senate near the end of President Taft's administration.

PRAYERS NOT INSISTENT
BOISE, Idaho.—Idahoans prayed for rain at the insistence of Gov. C. Ben Ross recently, but it didn't rain. However, he won the democratic nomination for governor. He explained the failure of the heavens to open and loose a flood on the parched farm and timber lands immediately after the spiritual offerings by saying: "It depends upon how insistent the people were in asking for it."

Plans Virility For Courses In Art

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—A drive to put more virility in art courses will be attempted this fall by Philip Elliott, assistant professor of fine arts in the University of Pittsburgh, he announced.

Elliott, who studied at the Yale School of Fine Arts, New Haven, Conn., claims that art is a he-man study, and wants to prove to athletes that "they can study the fine arts without being sissies."

"There is too little interest in art among students not bent in that direction. The commercial student, the athlete, and the so-called red-blooded individual, must be shown there is plenty of red blood in art."

The average athlete scoffs at an art class as a tea party for fly-white softies. But I recall men who have turned from successful careers in sports to creative art. George Luke was a prize fighter, and George Bellows was a professional baseball player."

A lecture course on "Basic Art Principles" will be given by Elliott, and he will teach a class in methods and materials, which will give the student an understanding of art through working with the tools of art.

Jr., 17-month-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Howard Wisterman, escaped death recently when he fell from the second story window of his parents' home. A window screen gave way before the child's weight. He suffered various injuries.

Curious Studies on University Schedule

AUSTIN, Tex.—Curious Texas studies will be carried on by University of Texas professors during this and next year through grants from the Rockefeller foundation.

J. Frank Dobie has been granted a year's leave to study folk lore of North Mexico and tales of the coyote, rattlesnake, road-runner and javelina.

Miss Fannie Hatchford, Wrenn librarian, will prepare a book on Texas homes of the days before the Civil War. J. Evette Haley will continue collection of documents dealing with early Texas history. Incidentally he will write the life of Col. Chas. Goodnight and the history of the Goodnight ranch, one of the last homes of the buffalo.

OHIO PARENTS STRIKE
ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio.—Parents in Goshen township, near here, defied an order of the Ohio department of education to close the Chestnut Level school, when fall classes opened. They refused to allow their children to ride a school bus to Belmont, where the Chestnut Level classes had been transferred. Parents claimed the state law requires operation of a school where more than 12 pupils reside. There are 19 in Goshen township.

AGRICULTURAL BREVITIES

Texas farmers received $11,562,394 in 1934 AAA cotton reduction payments to Aug. 16, or approximately 33 per cent of the $35,114,245 paid out in the entire cotton belt to that date, according to official announcement by agricultural adjustment administration officials. These payments comprise the bulk of $50,000,000 first rental installment to be paid cotton growers, of which Texas farmers will receive about $14,000,000. Another payment is due to be paid co-operating producers in September, when proof of compliance with the AAA program is established, and a final parity payment of $25,000,000 to all states affected is due after Dec. 1.

The Texas cotton crop for 1934 is estimated at 48 per cent of normal, or an average indicated yield for the state of 108 pounds per acre, according to the bureau of agricultural economics. The estimated yield of approximately 2,382,900 bales will be the smallest crop since 1921. Because of the drought, boll weevil infestation is reported to be lower than average this year.

Cotton prices continue strong in the United States despite marked restriction in domestic cotton consumption, somewhat unfavorable demand conditions in Europe, continued small domestic sales of cotton goods, and reports of increased acreage and production of cotton in foreign countries, according to the bureau of agricultural economics. The strong market is attributed to reduced cotton acreage in the United States and unfavorable weather conditions, especially in Texas and Oklahoma.

The world wool industry has dropped from the peaks of a year ago. Prices have weakened in foreign markets as a result of uncertain conditions in European consuming countries, and direct sales of Texas wool have been reported recently at 8 to 10 cents a pound (secured basis) below spot quotations on similar wool held at Boston, says the bureau of agricultural economics, reporting currently on the situation.

Sharp decrease in the Texas lamb crop was offset by larger lamb crops in the 11 far western states, according to bureau of agricultural economics reports. The drought is blamed for the short crop in Texas, about a million less lambs being dropped in 1934 than in 1933.

Estimates set the 1934 wool clip in Texas at about 60,080,000 pounds, somewhat under the last year's clip of 74,800,000 pounds. The United States wool clip for this year is predicted to run in the neighborhood of 354,533,000 pounds, or 2 per cent less than 1933 and 1 per cent more than the five-year average from 1929 to 1933.

Gross farm receipts in June, 1934, totaled $440,000,000, compared with $439,000,000 in May, 1934, and $423,000,000 in June, 1933, according to bureau of agricultural economics reports. This year's June total included $411,000,000 from sales of farm products, $28,000,000 in rental and benefit payments by the AAA, and approximately $1,000,000 from government purchases of cattle in drought areas. The bureau reports that cash income from the sale of farm products during the first six months of 1934 showed a 19 per cent increase over the same period in 1933.

A new high for the season was reported in the sale of 75,000 pounds of kid mohair at a price of 60 cents per pound by a Bandera grower. Bulk of the spring mohair clip is being held by growers and warehouses for prices better than those generally prevailing, it is reported.

Drought conditions are not confined to America, according to reports. Conditions are reported to be especially severe in the Danube Basin and bureau representatives estimate that the Danubian wheat crop has been reduced by dry weather to 100,000,000 bushels below the 1933 harvest of 370,868,000 bushels. Such a crop would be one of the smallest on record for the basin and would allow little or no exporting.

Crops in almost all countries of the Northern Hemisphere have been damaged and parts of the Southern Hemisphere, particularly Australia and Argentina, have been affected by drought. Rains came too late in Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Austria to offset damage to bread and feed grains. Large stocks of 1933 bread grains crops will prevent a shortage of bread but live stock feed will be short. Russia has had a severe drought and short grain crops are indicated.

The bureau of agricultural economics reiterates earlier statements that the national food supply has not been reduced significantly and that the principal effect of the drought is in a reduction of feed and forage for livestock. Local shortage of certain food crops will be met by shipments from surplus producing areas. However, the drought has been particularly severe on bread grains, principally wheat. The wheat crop is estimated to be the shortest in 41 years.

Other predictions promise the smallest hay crop in 40 years, a decrease in the number of milk cows, and a resultant reduced milk production. Good fall rains still can make winter feed in Southwest Texas but in other areas prospects are not so favorable.

Decreased slaughter of cattle in the first half of 1935 is predicted because of the present heavy slaughter and that which is expected in the next six months. Supplies of pork will be considerably smaller next year on account of the large reduction in this year's pig crop.

Outstanding loans of the regional agricultural credit corporation will be liquidated and no further applications for loans will be received by the corporations, it was announced by Gov. W. I. Myers of the farm credit administration. Production loans will be made by production credit associations, through a nation wide system of more than 600 such associations.

Panhandle to Stage A Big Celebration

CANYON, Texas.—Plans are being formulated to stage a Panhandle pre-centennial celebration in this section of the state.

Tentative plans have set the location for the celebration at the state park now under construction in the Palo Duro canyon 12 miles east of here.

Dr. J. A. Hill, Canyon, president of the West Texas State Teachers college, is chairman of the committee in charge of plans for a pre-centennial celebration for the Panhandle.

Strike Now To Control Boll Weevil Next Year

By F. L. Thomas, Chief, Division of Entomology Texas Agricultural Experiment Station

COLLEGE STATION. — The weakest point in the life history of the boll weevil is its dependence upon green cotton for food. If we can control this food supply we can thereby control the boll weevil. The only time in the active life of the weevil when it is possible to control or eliminate the green cotton without decreasing the crop is during the few weeks in the early fall. It is practical then, only when the cotton has been gathered and before the weather has become cold enough for the weevils to live long without food.

The destruction of green cotton several weeks before killing frost occurs is what is meant by "early fall destruction of stalks."

This practice is not applicable everywhere and in all seasons. It is most frequently possible in the southern half of the cotton belt where the season is the longest, cotton matures earliest and weevil damage is usually heaviest.

There are several methods that may be used in destroying green cotton stalks. They may be grazed; they may be cut for use as hay followed by plowing to prevent growth; or the entire stalks may be plowed under.

From a weevil control standpoint, the efficiency of grazing for destroying green cotton and in keeping fresh growth down depends on the number of livestock that are pastured in the cotton fields. In practice, this method has proved only partially effective because of the time that is necessary for the stock to consume the growing cotton and because of the tendency for fresh growth to appear as long as the stalks stand or until killed by frost.

Where the cotton is cut for hay and the stalks then plowed under to kill them, excellent results may be obtained in cutting off the food supply of the weevils. At the same time a good supply of forage may be obtained.

The value of cotton stalks with new leaf growth as a source of forage was brought to the attention of radio listeners by Mr. A. D. Jackson last week.

Of course either the grazing of cotton or cutting the plant for its forage would be inadvisable where poison has been applied for leaf worm control, and such cotton should by all means be plowed under. Destruction by plowing may be impossible or inadvisable on some farms due to the character of the soil, the moisture conditions therein, or the slope of the land; but when the soil conditions permit, and equipment or mules are available to turn a furrow deep enough to properly cover the stalks, there is little question that burial of the cotton stalks is the cheapest and most effective method of weevil control possible for the next season's crop. This method also saves completely the vegetable matter which ultimately will improve practically all our soils and which is so important in increasing the yield of cotton per acre.

The earlier in the fall the stalks can be buried the more effective will be the weevil control. If buried four or more inches deep very few weevils will survive of escape as many will do if not buried more than two or three inches deep. Do not allow any green cotton to remain on the ground.

Better work in covering stalks can usually be done without using a stalk or chopper first, but by attaching to the beam of the plow some form of "stalk bender," to lay the plants flat on the furrow. Disc plows, with tractors, can bury even the rankest of cotton stalks, and a good two or three-mule plow will do a good job with stalks up to five feet high. Better distribution of organic matter will be obtained by plowing across the rows.

The man who does this work will get practically all the benefit from it because his neighbor who does not bury stalks will have all of his own weevils and part of those from the field where the cotton has been buried. Proof of the effectiveness of this method of weevil control may be found both in the experience of very many practical farmers and in the records of the most careful experiments. Observations made in Texas and Louisiana extending over a number of years and including over 175,000 weevils in the field in the fall, only 2 weevils survived the winter when the stalks were removed by Sept. 30, while 121 weevils survived when the stalks were destroyed by the middle of November.

More recent work at College Station, Texas extending over a 10-year period has shown the average survival to be 25 weevils out of 1,000 when the stalks were destroyed from Oct. 1-15, and 97 weevils when the stalks were destroyed Dec. 1-10.

Large scale field tests of this method of weevil control have proven its value and its practicability as the cheapest and most effective method yet found for reducing the number of weevils that may survive, that a full crop of cotton may be obtained next year without the need for poisoning.

Early fall destruction of stalks should be practiced wherever conditions may possibly permit as the last step in making the cotton crop of one season and the first step in making the next crop more economically and more profitably.

That the Advertisers May Know---

The Ranger Daily Times and the Ranger Weekly Times reach every community in this trade territory in plenty of time for the people of each community to study the advertisements of the Ranger merchants and take advantage of specials advertised in these two papers—especially does this apply to Friday and Saturday bargains.

WEEKLY MAIL SCHEDULE

In order that the readers of Strawn, Mingus, Thurber, Gorman, Carbon and other community centers may receive their weekly paper in time to take advantage of the merchants advertisements the paper is published on Thursday night and goes into the post office in time to make the midnight and early morning trains out of Ranger so as to reach the designated post office early Friday morning in sufficient time to be handled by the rural carriers—we invite the business men to check these records—anything put in the mails later than Thursday night does not get to the readers until late Saturday and in many instances it is Monday.

The Times is giving the merchants of Ranger complete coverage in this territory. We appreciate the interest and the cooperation of the Ranger merchants and business men in the support given the Weekly which is one of the best in Texas and is less than a year old.

DAILY TIMES SCHEDULE

The Daily Times is distributed by carrier in Ranger and makes the mail each afternoon in which papers are sent to Thurber and Strawn and goes into the homes of the rural subscribers each morning as they are handled by the rural carriers. On each afternoon The Times has a special route from Ranger to Olden and some 20 people between Ranger and Olden read the Times each afternoon, besides the city of Olden itself which has a special route and the people in Olden read The Times about as early as do the Ranger readers.

The Ranger Weekly Times has filled a long felt want in the weekly field. The Ranger Daily Times is read and appreciated in 75 per cent of Ranger homes—there can be no substitute for PAID circulation.

Nerves Do they torture you by day? Keep you awake at night? What is it that keeps hospitals open and doctors busy? NERVES. What is it that makes your face wrinkled and makes you feel old? NERVES. Nine times out of ten it's NERVES that make you restless, worried, haggard.

Nerves Do they make you Cranky, Blue-give you Nervous Indigestion, Nervous Headache? When nerves are over-taxed, you worry over trifles, find it hard to concentrate, can't sit still. Nerve Strain brings on Headache. Nervous people often suffer from Indigestion. There may be absolutely nothing wrong with the organs of digestion, but the Nerves are not on the job to make the organs do their work properly.

Nerves Do they interfere with your work; ruin your pleasure; drive away your friends? You're cheating yourself and the man who pays you if you work when your NERVES are not normal. You can't have a good time when you are nervous. You can't make or keep friends when you are keyed up and irritable. You may excuse yourself, but to others you are just a plain crank.

Review: God in Hebrew History

From Ahijah to Isaiah

This study of ancient leaders or prophets under divine guidance has been a series of pictures of God's love and grace and also of His wrath on His disobedient children. All of these lessons are applicable to our present time. The promises given then can also be claimed today. Though many of the scenes are dark and stormy there is a beautiful rift of color, a scarlet thread, a promise of the coming Messiah, which runs through it all, brightening it with hope.

These lessons are taken from seven books: 1 Kings; 2 Kings; 2 Chronicles, Amos, Hosea, Micah and Isaiah. We are promised that the lessons next year will be taken from Isaiah through Malachi, finishing a wonderful course, in old Bible study. Ahijah was a very dramatic prophet, tearing his garment into twelve pieces to teach Jeroboam the lesson of the twelve tribes. Here God promises judgment on rebellious people, but warns Jeroboam to be patient with Solomon. He would punish Solomon, "but I will make him prince all the days of his life, for David my servant's sake, whom I chose."

Azariah the next prophet appears only one time in the scripture, "and the spirit of God came upon Azariah, the son of Oded; and he went out to meet Asa." He gave Asa his commission and warned him, "Jehovah is with you while ye are with Him; but if you forsake Him, He will forsake you." Asa was a good king and relied upon God, reigned for forty-one years. He led the people rightly. "And they entered into the covenant to seek Jehovah, the God of their fathers, with all their heart and all their soul." Elijah brings us beautiful lessons of God's care. God sheltered Elijah by the brook Cherith where the ravens fed him. But Elijah forgot in a measure and became discouraged. God brought the storm, the earthquake, and the fire, to teach him the great lesson of the still small voice. "And after the fire a still small voice."

Micah, a strong and courageous country boy, was caught in a great political turmoil that reads very modern. When he was hidden to speak to please the king of Israel, replied, "What the Lord saith unto me, that will I speak." Jehoshaphat was king of Judah at that time. Elisha was ordained a prophet by Elijah. He was of a gentle, kind nature. His youth was spent alone to a great degree, but he became a man of the city and worked in all directions from that place. He brought us the beautiful lesson of capacity illustrated by the story of the widow's oil. God will fill with the oil of His grace all the vessels of study, meditation, prayer and obedient work that we set before Him. Amos was a prophet who loved justice. He warned them of riches gained by oppressing the poor. Riches such as great houses of hewn stone, being able to lie upon beds of ivory, to sing idle songs, to drink wine and false worship were abominable to God. "But let justice roll down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream." Hosea preached God's love and the keynote of his pleadings were "Return to the Lord." Micah was a champion of the oppressed. "He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with thy God?" Hezekiah was a great king and led his people back to God. Ahaz his father, had closed the temple and erected altars to heathen gods. Isaiah was a brilliantly educated and of royal blood prophet. His prophecies are woven richly with the scarlet thread of the coming Christ. His writings are written in many styles and are beautiful and brilliant when he contrasts true and false worship and counsels the rulers of the one God. "Thou wilt keep Him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee; because He trusteth in thee." How much can the Lord trust His people as a nation to care for His work, in each individual to look to Him in love for peace of heart? We learn that it depends upon us if God be with us. He will not forsake us unless sin separates us from his loving care. Through the turmoil and rush of our modern life while "Time" is the cry, we can stop in some quiet place and listen for the still small voice which is not heard in strife. This still small voice can teach us the truth, give us courage to go on at all times, to love justice for all, to gain perfect peace in our hearts and at all times to realize that— Thy Kingdom is an everlasting Kingdom.—Psalm 145:14, Golden Text.

Leathernecks and Gobs Welcomed On Houston Visit

HOUSTON, Tex.—The fleet was in at Houston and gobs and leathernecks from the Cruiser Houston shared the city's hospitality during their six-day visit.

Most of the sailors and marines were given 48-hour leave when the ship docked in the turning Basin late Saturday; others were to get their leave sometime before the city's namesake departs for salt waters sometime Friday.

By the time the last sailor and marine reports back to the Uncle Sam's newest battleship, 500 sailors and half as many marines will have had their leave.

The whites and blues of sailors and the khaki of marines were to be seen at every turn. The city seemed infested with them.

The sailors on shore-leave stayed shy of their comrades who sported the insignia "SP" on their left arms, and carried night sticks that looked like baying pins and army pistols dangling at their thighs. Those were the unwelcome lads who are detailed to keep shore-leave sailors "toeing the mark."

The city's nightclubs were swamped with gobs and leathernecks the first night the ship President Franklin D. Roosevelt chose to carry him on his recent trip to the Hawaiian islands docked.

Dance halls did a capacity business and taxi dancers were sure the depression was over before the sailors' first 24 hours shore-leave was ended.

Other gobs and leathernecks that didn't get shore-leave leaned on well-painted parts of the battleship and talked freely with girls who came to the docks to view the ship.

BIG LETTUCE CROP PLANNED
YUMA, Ariz.—The nation is not going to suffer from a lack of vitamins this winter, if the Yuma farmers can help it. Discovering that the low stages of the Colorado river might keep thousands of acres in the Imperial Valley out of lettuce cultivation, they have enlarged their plans for planting, and are prepared to reap a bumper harvest.

The Italian scientist who found Vitamin M in an onion ought to locate the rest of the alphabet in garlic.

Legal Reserve Life Insurance Has Grown In Texas

DALLAS, Sept. 28.—How the legal reserve life insurance business of the Texas legal reserve life companies has developed and placed this home-owned industry in the forefront of the state's financial institutions, under the protection afforded during the past 25 years by the Robertson insurance law, is shown graphically by the recent survey of the Texas Life convention.

The Robertson law requires all life insurance companies operating in Texas to invest 75 per cent of the legal reserve on policies written upon Texas citizens in Texas securities.

Under the terms of this law, the development of the Texas life insurance companies has been rapid and impressive. Today, the home offices of these companies are an important part in the sky-lines of virtually all of the state's leading cities.

The survey shows further that the Texas legal reserve life companies have total investments in approved securities in Texas (including buildings, real estate, mortgage loans on city property and farms, and state, county, and municipal bonds, amounting to approximately $83,000,000.

Have paid out to Texas people in death claims, surrender values, endowments and annuities a total of $175,000,000.

Made purchases and paid in taxes in 1933 alone a total of $2,115,000.

Employ more than 10,000 persons, with a total annual payroll of $8,000,000.

Thirty-four thousand people, employes and dependents of employees of the Texas legal reserve life companies, gain their livings directly from the activities of these companies, the survey shows.

There are more than 1,200,000 policy-holders of the Texas legal reserve life companies—an average of more than one policy to each family residing in Texas. The total of insurance in force by these companies is $1,150,000,000, and this risk is backed by approved assets of $184,000,000, the survey shows.

The strength of the Texas insurance structure, according to officials of the Texas life convention, and the wisdom of the Texas laws which govern the operation of the legal reserve life companies of the state, have been demonstrated throughout the depression period, by the record of adequate protection for all policy-holders, and complete fulfillment of all their contracts, during the greatest period of economic stringency in history.

Not only have the Texas legal reserve life companies met their obligations to their policy-holders fully and promptly, but their sound position has enabled them to render many other public services, such as the purchase of more than $1,250,000 of the state's "bread bonds," to provide cash for feeding the hungry unemployed of Texas.

If I did not take it, the dizziness and headache would put me out of business. It is the quickest medicine to relieve me that I know." Value of Play to Pre-School Child

We are told that play at its best is both recreative and creative. It develops in the child the sense of imagination, neatness, obedience, kindness and manners. It teaches co-operation. We want to make it possible for our children to live with us and each other, and later with fellow adults harmoniously, happily and effectively.

Dutch Will Use New Streamline On Their Windmills

AMSTERDAM.—When the number of windmills began diminishing rapidly in Holland during the last 25 years, Doctor P. G. van Tienhoven of Amsterdam, formed a society called "The Holland Windmill," for the preservation of the Dutch windmill.

At first this society was not very successful. Then A. H. Dekker, of Leiden, thought of making the old fashioned windmill more efficient by streamlining. He invented a stream-lined wing, which is plated with aluminum or zinc. All sharp corners are rounded.

The result has been astonishing. Before, the mills needed a fairly strong wind to make the wings go round and when the wind dropped they had to fit on the "sails," to make the wings catch more wind. As soon as the wind dropped more the mill came to a standstill and had to wait for more wind.

Now the streamlined wings catch the wind so easily that the mills that have them can work practically under all conditions. As windmills in Holland are used not only to grind corn, but also to keep the water in the small canals at a certain level, the streamlining solved a problem.
