WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Rainclouds of food will start moving back into Cleveland today, after the national labor agreement with the Great Atlantic & Pacific company warehouse. Hartford, president of the company, will present to his board of directors in New York an agreement proposed by the national labor relations board today. Hartford will advise his board to accept the agreement. The agreement provides that all 300 closed stores be reopened immediately. It states the unions will call off all strikes now existing among bakers, meat cutters, retail clerks and other crafts.

(Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

Every day is laundry day at the Dionnes', and in a big way, too. Here's Miss Laurence Lusians with the formidable stack of diapers, towels, and other linen which must be ready for the comfort of the growing Dionne daughters.

RICHARDSON IS AGAIN SEEKING SENTENCE STAY

AUSTIN, Oct. 31.—Arguments were presented in the court of criminal appeals today seeking reversal of the second murder conviction of C. S. Richardson, former mayor of Oiney, in the killing of his son, Elga, Jan. 1, 1934. The present case was appealed from Wilbarger county, where Richardson received a 99-year sentence. His first trial was in Young county. A life sentence was reversed on finding a fair trial was improbable without transfer. Richardson claimed a pistol he had secured to defend himself after a quarrel with his son was accidentally discharged when his son charged to push him aside. The boy was home from school at Denton when he was killed.

Roosevelt Applies Himself To Two Major Problems

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—President Roosevelt applied himself today to two of his knottiest problems—the budget and federal relief. With the size of one governed by the size of the other, he insisted he had not yet made any budgetary decision. He received from Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins a report, telling how his organization is spending federal millions to feed the hungry. Revision of the relief program is being considered.

Many Charges Are Made In Probe of Dillinger Escape

CROWN POINT, Ind., Oct. 31. Charges of murder, kidnaping, graft and fakery in the "toy pistol" escape of the late John Dillinger from the county jail here, enveloped a bitter Indiana political campaign. A long-awaited episode of the escape plot, partly disclosed yesterday by investigators, who charged Dillinger paid an $1,800 bribe, became involved today in a maze of charges and counter-charges. Investigators claim evidence showing that Dillinger bought his way out of the jail and that his wooden gun trick wasn't so amazing after all.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

with BILL MAYES

Coach Moore has been seeking a game with the Abilene Christian College freshmen at Abilene, to be played at the Abilene high school football field, for this Friday or Saturday afternoon. We understand that it is for Friday. The game had been tentatively arranged when we last spoke to any of the school officials or members of the athletic committee. At first the athletic committee was a little doubtful about whether or not the boys should take on a game for this week-end, but knowing that the coach probably knew best, they agreed with him. Off-hand we would say that the reasons for a game are something like this, though Coach Moore probably has more and better reasons that he could explain much better than we can. In the first place every coach, even the college and university coaches, realize that their teams play at what the coaches call a "peak" only once in a while. Every team has its peak games. And after playing a peak game there is a natural letdown, not because the players feel too sure of themselves, but because it is a natural reaction that any coach has not been able to get around. We remember hearing a talk by Coach Clyde Littlefield, formerly of Texas university, and he said that he often could depend on only one peak game a year, never two in a row. So, admitting the coaches know more about it than we do, we would say that the Abilene game was a peak game and that the one following would be the one in which there was that natural letdown. And it would be better to have a letdown against A. C. C. than Cisco, Right? The second reason, as we see it, is that a long training period without active competition has a tendency to...

Government May Take Action On New Barrow Gang

DALLAS, Oct. 31.—The federal government moved against a member of the L. C. Barrow gang, arrested here in connection with a drug store robbery. Marvin Stark, identified as a bond jumper from Fort Worth, was arrested by federal officers on charges of having an unregistered sawed-off shotgun when he was picked up by police. Whether the state will press charges of bond jumping or whether the federal government will prosecute for failure to register the gun was not known.

SENATE AVOIDS A VOTE UPON TAX MEASURE

AUSTIN, Oct. 31.—Texas senators today avoided another vote on the bill to remit delinquent tax interest and penalties, and agreed to give the question a thorough hearing tomorrow. House sponsors of the bill continued to nag for speedy action. Senators believed they could clear two hurdles in one jump tomorrow. The first was the bill to remit interest and penalties on delinquent taxes paid by March 1. The second was the Hornsby-Hughes bill setting up a policy of discount for early tax payment and penalties for delinquencies. Senator W. B. Collier of Eastland hoped to incorporate in the Hornsby-Hughes compromise bill the merits of the delinquent tax bill, thereby economizing in time and action. The Hornsby-Hughes bill now is in a conference committee for adjustment of differences. A final report is to be completed this afternoon.

Atlas Company Raises Crude Price

HOUSTON, Oct. 31.—The Atlas Pipe Line company of Shreveport today restored its East Texas crude oil price of $1 a barrel. The new quotation was retroactive to Oct. 23. Two weeks ago the company cut East Texas crude prices to 62 cents, but no other major purchasers took similar action.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 31.—The investment bankers association, in closing its annual convention today, offered its full assistance to the recovery program. Its newly elected president said a special committee would be formed to take up recovery problems personally with Washington officials.

MEXICAN PRESIDENT EXPELLS ALL BISHOPS

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 31.—President Rodriguez today charged Roman Catholic clergymen with fomenting rebellion and ordered Attorney General Emilio Portes Gil to take action against those found guilty. His order was believed the first move in a campaign to exel archbishops and bishops from the country and all priests later. There were reports that every Catholic church in the country would be closed within a month and every priest expelled.

TESTIMONY OF DOCTOR HEARD THIS MORNING

Jury Is Expected To Retire This Afternoon.

The jury in the Motley murder case, in which defense witnesses delivered their testimony this morning, were expected to retire this afternoon after charges will be delivered. Dr. J. P. Lovett, testifying under question by J. Frank Sparks, defense attorney, said that Carl D. Herring was under the influence of liquor when he was treated at the hospital. Liquor could be smelled on his breath and general appearances indicated it, he stated. Ernest Simmons of Eastland, who under questioning, testified the defendant had worked in his shop at irregular intervals, stated that at one time when Herring was in the rear of his blacksmith shop, Motley started to enter but left when Herring shouted "Here's that Pretty Boy." Simmons said Herring said, "I want to tell that black-haired something. He's been messing in my business." Simmons stated Herring "had it in for him pretty strong."

Attorney Gives Views On The Proposed State Amendments

By L. R. PEARSON
"Taxation shall be equal and uniform. All property in this state shall be taxed in proportion to its value," thus saith our Constitution, Art. VIII, Sec. 1. These commands provide restrictions on the powers of the legislature. They, at the same time, create and assure to all property owners in this state certain valuable rights vital to their welfare. The provisions are so manifestly fair and just as to suggest the thought that the framers of the Constitution were unduly mistrustful of the legislature in considering them necessary. Time, however, as no doubt previous experience had done, has amply demonstrated its wisdom. A campaign is now on to repeal in part the restrictions thus imposed. Certain gentlemen, by the radio, through the press and otherwise, are urging the people of Texas at the forthcoming general election to amend these provisions, thereby empowering the legislature to provide that taxation shall not be equal and uniform. Believe it or not, the power is deliberately sought to tax one man's property of a given value at one rate, and another man's property of the same value at a greater rate, or a less rate. It has long been said that the power to tax is the power to destroy. In a government by the people, the power of taxation is not likely to be used to destroy the people, so long as there remains in the organic law the mandate of equality and uniformity. But, just remove that restriction and clothe the legislature with power to classify all property (other than land) with reference to its use in different industries, or its source of production, or any other basis of classification, and tax one man's property of equal value with another's at a greater or less rate, then indeed we will have a demonstration of the fact that "the power to tax is the power to destroy."

S. M. U. Mascot Is Buried With Honors

DALLAS, Oct. 31.—Southern Methodist university co-eds wept freely today at the grave of Peruna, pony mascot of S. M. U. The tiny horse, 28 inches high and little longer, was killed last night by an automobile when he slipped his halter at the football stadium and wandered onto the highway. More than 1,500 students and faculty members stood bareheaded while the university band played "Peruna" in slow tempo. The campus flag was at half mast as the mascot's body was lowered into the grave.

Two Kansas City Waitresses Kidnaped

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 31.—Police today investigated reports that Addie Rieff, 26, and Artie Rieff, 30, waitresses, had been kidnaped and taken to Iowa. First information of the abduction came when two women, riding in a car bearing a Kansas license, dropped a note at a filling station at Griswold, Iowa, last night. The note said they had been kidnaped and asked their landlady of Topeka be notified.

DROUTH DIDN'T STOP HER

MARSHFIELD, Wis.—Drouths are incidents of small moment according to Mrs. Henry Schmidt who recently displayed 12-inch green beans, 15-inch tomatoes and 55-inch squashes all of which were grown in the heart of the drouth area.

A COUSIN OF THE VICTIM SURRENDERS

Murder Charges To Be Filed In Case Officers Say Today.

WACO, Texas, Oct. 31.—Edwin Schandler, 25, was shot to death near Crawford today in a dispute over a fence dividing two farm properties. Eric Schandler, the victim's cousin, came here after the shooting and surrendered to the sheriff. Officers said a charge of murder was to be filed against him. Officers learned members of the family had been at odds for the past five years. Eric said Edwin and the victim's father started a fence which would shut him off from water. Eric and his brother-in-law mailed up a gate to prevent Eric's relatives from going to complete the fence. The fight followed arrival of Edwin and his father at the gate. The prisoner said Edwin struck Eric's brother-in-law with a hammer twice. Eric said he fired from a car in which he was seated.

Government Will Restore Pay Cuts

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The federal government will restore the 5 per cent pay reduction to its employees beginning July 1, 1935, President Roosevelt announced today. The president explained the budget estimates will include the elimination of the reduction because figures show the cost of living will be going up by next July enough to justify the restoration.

Virgil Stalcup Is Added To List of Federal Fugitives

AMARILLO, Oct. 31st.—The name of Virgil Stalcup was added today to those men wanted by the federal government. E. J. Dowd, special agent of the investigation division of the Department of Justice, revealed today that charges in violation of the Dyer Act were filed against him in Commissioner's Court here. He said the charges meant that the federal government would send federal agents after him.

Grand Jury Takes No Action Upon Adam Richetti Case

LISBON, O., Oct. 31.—The Columbiana county grand jury adjourned today without taking action in the case of Adam Richetti, confederate of Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, who was charged with shooting with intent to kill and with carrying concealed weapons. Adjournment was interpreted to mean the jury wanted to delay action until after Missouri authorities complete their attempt to extradite Richetti on murder charges.

ABOUT THE AMENDMENT

"All friends of education and good government," says a printed document which has just made its appearance, "should join in defeating these dangerous amendments."

The protest is against the amendment limiting to $11.25 per capita per year the total amount of taxes from all sources and for all purposes which can be collected by the state, and another to permit counties and school districts to collect taxes on university lands within their boundaries, the money payable from the university available fund.

It has been shown clearly that the tax-limit amendment would protect larger taxpayers and shift the burden back, by shifting taxes to local subdivisions to the small home-owner who thus would lose the homestead exemption.

The other, to tax university lands, is an extension of a policy already ratified by the voters, in permitting a county to tax the school lands within it. At present, the payment of these taxes is by legislative appropriation.

It seems the objection is to taking the money from the university available fund.

Due to the importance of killing the tax-limit amendment, it seems of doubtful wisdom to have linked with it the other, which could be of but minor and local importance, and which at least carries within itself a suggestion of being as well justified as the previous one of its kind that won overwhelming approval of the voters.

Voters will realize that to prohibit greater levies than $11.25 per capita per year, in connection with the fact that the rate of ad valorem taxes is set many months before collections start, the bar would only prevent the levying and collection of adequate natural resource taxes or any taxes out of the huge profits made possible by monopoly in the hands of utilities.

They also will easily see that, by limiting the state tax for educational purposes, the tendency would be to cripple the public school system; and to the extent that it failed to cripple the schools only would be the extent of shifting the taxes back to local district levies that would apply on the small homesteads that are exempt from the state taxes.

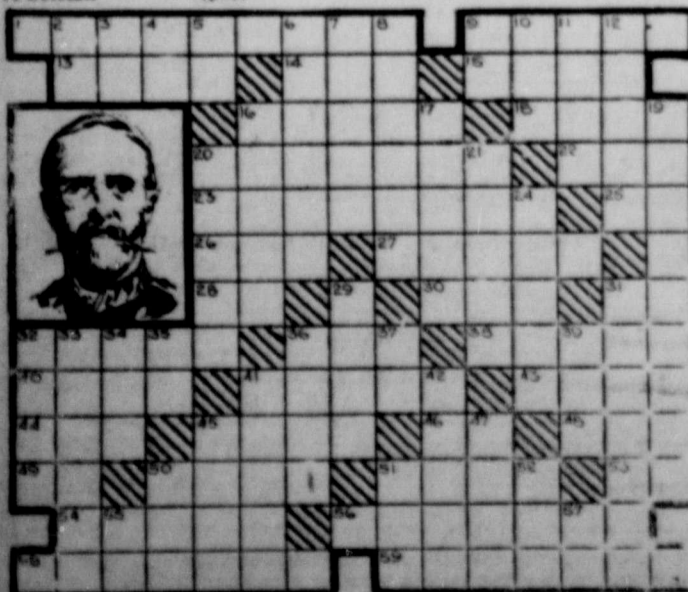

Laws are made for both public officials and private citizens to obey. When the private citizens alone obey the law, a city or state is in a sorry way, indeed.

Your Chamber of Commerce is busily engaged in improving trade conditions, social welfare and in encouraging the growth and prosperity of your city. Every business man should be an active member.

The Texas Centennial Celebrations of 1936

A devout Catholic, Cabeza de Vaca thought it an act of God that he was permitted to give the Indians such encouragement over their illnesses that they thought him possessed of supernatural powers. "They wished to make us (Lope de Ovidio and Cabeza) physicians," he wrote in his journal, "without examination or requiring diplomas." De Vaca simply made the sign of the cross over the sick one, repeated an Ave Maria and the Pater Noster, and the sick one declared himself well. The Christian Lope was wary of attempting cures, for he was afraid his former misdeeds might bring disastrous results.

In spite of the fact that Lope and Cabeza were with Indians so kindhearted that they wept a whole year over the loss of one child, they were treated none too kindly. "I had to dig for edible roots from among the cane until my fingers were so worn that did so much as straw touch them they did bleed," he said.

Cabeza knew that some of his Spanish companions were on the Island, but Lope de Ovidio could never get an enough courage to leave the tribe of Indians and go with Cabeza to look for the others. His stout muscles were not an indication of a stout heart. Each year Cabeza tried to persuade Lope to leave with him, but six long years had passed before they finally set out together to look for their lost friends. On Christmas day they discovered them—Andres Dorantes, Alonso del Castillo Maldonado and Estevanico, the Arab Moor. It was probably with unaccustomed tears streaming down their cheeks that they greeted each other.

"We gave many thanks at see-one day, disappearing into the land from whence he and Cabeza had come. He was never to return to his native land, nor was he to take part in the exploration of that beautiful country through which the "River of Palms"—the Rio Grande—coursed. Cabeza and his companions went onward—the first Europeans to set foot on Texas soil.

Nevada County Leads Nation In Number Weddings

CHICAGO. — Ormsby county, Nevada, on the California border, is the "marryingest" county in the nation, a report of the American Legislators association reveals. Each year, 638 persons per 1,000 of the population consummate 319 marriages. But it's not the local boys and girls who make business brisk for barons and other official wedders. By far the greater proportion of ceremonies united out-of-state "visitors." Conservative marriage laws in California are believed responsible for Ormsby county's marriage "gold mine." Runner up in proportionate weddings is Yuma county, Arizona, also on the California border. As Ormsby serves northern California trade, so Yuma handles rush orders for the southern section of the sunny state. Yuma officials each year marry 436 persons for every 1,000 of the county's population. Quick transportation facilities successfully combat the conservative marriage laws a single state might enforce within its own boundaries, the association believes. The figures indicate the necessity of uniform marriage laws, the report said.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

Don't let them get a strange hold. Fight them quickly. Creomulsion combines 5 helps in one. Powerful but harmless. Pleasant to take. No narcotics. Your own druggist is authorized to refund your money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Creomulsion. (adv.)

The Proper Treatment

Give that sluggish child a liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative). California Syrup of Figs has the right amount for children's use, and its rich, fruity syrup does not upset them.

Just give any headachy, bilious child a little of this gentle laxative when constipated, and a little less if dose is repeated until bowels seem to be moving regularly and thoroughly without need of help.

When you change to California Syrup of Figs instead of harsh medicines, you'll risk no more violence to your child's appetite, digestion, and general physical condition. You'll have a safer, more satisfactory result, too.

So, get a bottle of California Syrup of Figs from your druggist, and start tonight, if your child is constipated, giving a good, cleansing dose. Repeat as necessary, giving a little less each time. That's the secret of this treatment—gradually reduced dosage.

Here is a simple way of finding out if any youngster with irregular or insufficient bowel movements is in need of relief, or getting the wrong treatment:

First, select a liquid laxative of the proper strength for children. Second, give the dose suited to the child's age, and condition. Third, reduce the dose, if repeated, until the bowels are moving without any help at all.

An ideal laxative for this purpose is California Syrup of Figs which every druggist keeps in stock. Be certain that it is the genuine product, with "California" blown in the bottle.

Nudists 'Legislate' On Goose-Flesh

MEDINA, O.—Removal of goose pimples and the enactment of legislation favorable to humanity in the raw-raw, were chief concerns of nudists at the International Nudist Conference held near here.

R. B. Abbott, a proofreader on a Cleveland newspaper, was elected president of the conference. More than 40 delegates, from nearly a dozen states, attended.

During much of the two-day conference, bath robes had to be donned to shut out the Ohio October chill. The 1935 convention will be held in September "at a place to be announced later."

Vermont U. Co-Eds Try Housekeeping

BURLINGTON, Vt.—A co-ed experiment in co-operative enterprise of house management is in progress at University of Vermont.

A house has been set aside for the use of the girls, 23 in number, and a house director has been named to take charge of the experiment in wise buying and careful saving.

Dining rooms and two complete kitchens have been provided. Each girl will contribute the same amount of money and the entire sum will be pooled and budgeted. A schedule of work has been planned in which each girl will assume the various duties of management in rotation—cooking, waiting on table, washing dishes, and kindred tasks.

DEMIJOHN 200 YEARS OLD

UNION CITY, Tenn.—A small bottle, or demijohn, which is over 200 years old and which has been in her family five generations is the proud possession of Mrs. N. E. Jenkins of Union City.

Doctors urge a liquid laxative for children. The child who has been constipated in a hospital, will usually come out with bowels working like a well-regulated watch. Hospitals give children a liquid laxative of suitable ingredients, suitable strength, and in suitable amount.

Children should never be given the strong cathartics that are meant for adult use.

So, avoid all use of mineral drugs, whether they are salts, pills, tablets, or "candy" form. Even once a month is too often to give any child a cathartic containing powerful drugs.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

DETAILED HERE TODAY

WHEN CHARLES MORDEN, a writer for The Blade, in found that DAN BLEEKER, publisher of the SHREVEPORT, La., newspaper, had been investigating the murder of FRANK B. CATHAY, a well-known Shreveport resident, he was told by a man who called himself "NIGHT" that the murder had been committed by a man who called himself "NIGHT."

The day following Morden's death, a man who called himself "NIGHT" was reported to have been seen in the apartment of ALICE LORTON, who has reported to police the disappearance of her husband, FRANK B. CATHAY.

GRIFF, who has been investigating the murder of FRANK B. CATHAY, inventor of the night of the murder, and who is now in the Hillcrest hotel with a young woman.

CHAPTER XXIV

SIDNEY GRIFF passed his hand on the door. "It doesn't matter about the telephone," he said. "I'll send a messenger for you if I need you."

Fancher followed Griff outside the house and stood wearily watching as the criminologist strode down the cement walk toward his car.

"That wind," Fancher said apologetically, "has made the yard look like a mess. I hope you don't mind."

"Oh, no," Griff called as he climbed into the car. "I don't mind in the least."

Before Griff started his drive back to the city he telephoned the detective agency that had shadowed Alice Lorton the night before. From that detective agency he found out that Alice Lorton, together with a male companion, had journeyed to the Trent Apartments on 212 West 16th street; that the couple had entered the apartments and had not left them; that, as nearly as the detective could ascertain, the man was Kenneth Boone, who rented apartment 209 in the front of the apartment house.

Griff instructed them to keep the apartment house under surveillance and to shadow the pair whenever they should leave, putting sufficient men on the job so that they could shadow both the man and the woman. He also instructed them to cover the Hillcrest hotel thoroughly, searching for a young woman who had been registered there on Monday night, who was about 22 years of age, a brunette, and who had had dinner with the man who had registered as Frank B. CATHAY of Riverview.

Having set those wheels in motion, independently of the investigation which was being made by the newspaper, Sidney Griff yawned, climbed back in his car and started the long ride back to the city. When he had arrived he went directly to a Turkish bath and remained there until morning, when he had a leisurely breakfast and then strolled to his apartment.

IT WAS APPROXIMATELY 10:30 Monday morning that Bleeker telephoned and announced he was on his way to Griff's apartment with important news. He arrived less than 15 minutes after the telephone call had been completed.

Griff looking fresh and rested, reclined in the large lounge chair.

"You've got important information," he asked.

Bleeker nodded, took a notebook from his pocket.

"In the first place," he said, "we found the taxi driver."

"What does he remember?"

"A lot," he says that Morden engaged him by the hour on Thursday morning; that Morden went to a garage at the corner of Robinson street and Huntley street. He made some investigations there, went to the Elite Apartments on 219 Robinson street, returned to the cab within a matter of five minutes, went to Ninth and Central streets, had the cab park around the corner on Central while Morden went into an office building somewhere near the corner of Ninth and Central. The cab driver thinks it may have been the Monadnock building. Morden was gone for nearly half an hour, returned, and drove once more to the Elite Apartments. He stayed there for a few minutes, then returned to the cab and discharged it, remaining at the Elite Apartments."

Sidney Griff jumped to his feet, dropped the cigar into an ash tray. His lazy relaxation had vanished as completely as a cloud swept drifting from the edge of a snow-capped mountain out over a dry desert.

GRIFF swept his hand toward a battery of filing cabinets which lined one side of the room.

"I study crime," he said. "I study the modes and methods of operation. I study the habits of criminals. In those card indexes you'll find digests of every major crime for half a century. The big embezzlements! The big murders! The big hold-ups! Crimes of passion! Crimes of deliberation! Crimes of violence!"

"I've concentrated for years on the best methods of getting quick results in criminal cases, and here an ordinary newspaper reporter thinks of something that has entirely escaped my mind!"

"What do you mean?" Bleeker asked. "I don't see it. I don't get the sketch."

"The garage," said Griff, striding up and down the long room, flinging the words over his shoulder without turning his head. "It's a new city ordinance, of course, but I should have thought of its possibilities."

"I don't follow you," Bleeker remarked. "Do you think you know what Morden had in mind? What he was doing?"

"Of course I know what he had in mind and what he was doing!" Griff said, turning on his heel and striding back toward Bleeker, making nervous, impatient gestures with his hands as he walked, emphasizing his words with little jabs of his extended right forefinger. "It's

Arcadia Secures Cleopatra For a Midnight Showing

The story of the life—and loves—of Egypt's most famous queen, Cleopatra, is probably the most romantic theme ever to be printed on the pages of history or fiction.

Hundreds of thousands of words have been written on this subject, and now Cecil B. DeMille, pioneer motion picture director, has taken the noted queen's last and most important love and with this as a basis for his screen story, has produced "Cleopatra," which is coming to the Arcadia for a special "Halloween" showing tonight at 11:15 p. m.

Made at the Paramount studios in Hollywood with Claudette Colbert, Warren William and Henry Wilcoxon in the leading roles, the film was in work more than eight months. It is estimated that more than 5000 people were employed during the production. This includes, of course, important players, extra and hit people and technicians.

DeMille's "Cleopatra" is the heart-touching romance of the Siren of the Nile and Marc Antony, most gallant of all Romans. Set against a background of unparalleled splendor, with Rome and Egypt shown in all their beauty and power, the world's greatest love story is unfolded.

The film boasts a splendid supporting cast including Ian Keith, Joseph Schildkraut, C. Audrey Smith, Gertrude Michael, Irving Pichel, Claudia Dell, Edwin Maxwell and Harry Beresford.

Rice Cross Country Team Rated High

By United Press
 DALLAS, Oct. 26.—Rice Institute is expected to lead the Southwest Conference with her cross country team this season.

Texas A. and M. is favored as a possible second and the University of Texas third.

Coaches look to the three and a quarter mile event to prepare their distance runners for the spring track season.

Rice has scheduled only one meet. The runners will vie with the Texas team during the football game between the two schools at Houston Saturday (Oct. 27). Track Coach Emmett Brunson directs the Rice squad.

Coach Clyde Little field of Texas already has sent his team into one match this season, which resulted in a loss to the University of Oklahoma. Other meets are with Rice, North Texas Teachers College, Abilene Christian College and Texas A. and M.

The opening race for Texas A. and M. has been set for Nov. 9, or 10, at Austin, Track Coach Frank G. Anderson announced.

Top runners at Texas are George (Mule) Wilson, Fort Worth, and Capt. Joe Storm, Austin. Other members of the team are Remus Thomas, El Paso sophomore, and Track Capt. Buren Edwards, Big Spring.

Revis Frazier, sophomore of Pasadena, has pushed to the front in practice at Rice. Three other leading candidates are Vernon Wilson, junior of Goose Creek; Paul Griggs, West Columbia junior, and Malcolm McCants, Houston sophomore.

In preliminary trials at Texas A. and M., "Hub" Wilson, sophomore of Groesbeck, clipped off a three and a half mile race in 19 minutes, 52 one-half seconds, considerably slower than average, even better than they looked Saturday, and will have a tendency to take their Cisco, Brownwood and Breckenridge games lightly. So far they have not done so and it is hoped that they won't, because it is remembered by too many of the fans how the 1929 Bulldogs, after defeating Big Spring 40 to 0, defeating Eastland 26 to 6, whipping San Angelo 7 to 6, taking Sweetwater by 13 to 12, stopping Cisco 14 to 12, and downing Mineral Wells 29 to 19, went to Brownwood and let the lovely Lions trample them to the tune of 12 to 7.

Then, too, in 1932, when the Bulldogs breezed through the Oil Belt schedule without a loss, defeating Abilene and Eastland decisively, they let the Lions get away with a 14 to 14 tie to almost stop their march toward the district championship.

So, everything considered, it is only natural that a game with the A. C. C. Frosh would be just the medicine that any coach would want for his charges. And who has more at stake than the coach? He might want to try out some of his reserve material in a real test, so that he will know what he can depend upon when the time comes that he will really need them in a game that counts. In the earlier games he could use them some, but he had to find out what the regulars could do, because they were a new group to him, and he might have made some mistakes in his selections.

The A. C. C. game will, if it has been arranged, give the Bulldogs a 10-game schedule, which is what the interscholastic league rules lay down as the number of games in which a team can participate.

Breckenridge has a 10-game schedule, and without going to the trouble of looking it up we are reasonably sure that Abilene and Eastland also have 10-game schedules.

ONCE DESERTED TOWN NOW HUMS WITH NEW ACTIVITY
 By United Press
 JAL, N. M.—Ghosts are walking here again—ghosts of oil and riches.

A town which sprung from nowhere in 1925-1928, when tests proclaimed the presence of petroleum and dreams proclaimed the imminent establishment of another Berger or even Tulsa, settled back to quiet and desolation with the same magic alacrity, when the depression hit.

Houses could be had for a song. Footsteps in the street disturbed only their own echoes.

Then in 1933 came a revival of the oil industry. With it came the time when many companies which held lease in Jal had to drill on their properties or release them. Great drilling activity began.

People poured into town again. People who again smelled oil and the hope of wealth.

A theatre will open soon. New hotels and a $15,000 tourist camp are on the building program.
