ICKES FAVORS OIL CONTROL BY NEW LAWS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Oil administrator Harold Ickes introduced today a federal oil regulation bill with broader government powers than contained in the solution of Senator Tom Connally, Democrat, Texas.

Ickes' statement emphasized regulations that a dispute was brewing between congressmen and senators from oil states and the administration.

"I haven't seen Connally's amendment, so I wouldn't want to comment on that, but I do believe the federal government should have broader powers than those contained in Section 9-C to stop the damnable waste of natural gas in West Texas."

Ickes said he believed that East Texas oil operators would keep oil production within the state allowable quota until congress adjourns, in the hope of escaping drastic federal legislation.

"I feel that everybody concerned is becoming interested in the oil situation and that a strong feeling has risen against the loss of those natural resources," he said.

Link Girl Suicide With Weird Cult

Mysterious link between Violet Sharpe, Morrow maid who poisoned herself after being quizzed on the Lindbergh kidnaping, and the psychic cult that predicted almost exactly where the baby's body would be found, has been revealed in New York. Above is a photo of Miss Sharpe taken a short time before her death.

THIRD EXPERT TESTIFIES AS TO RANSOM NOTE

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 15.—Ernst Hauptmann wrote the Lindbergh ransom notes but tried vainly to disguise his handwriting, the state's third handwriting expert, John Tyrrell of Leopold-Loeb fame, declared today.

Tyrrell, who was the government's leading handwriting witness in the famous Chicago murder case, backed his conclusions about the authorship of the Lindbergh ransom notes by an exposition of the difficulties encountered by one who tried to disguise his writing.

He tried to show the jury that however carefully the penman works, little tricks of expression or little habits of forming letters will trip him.

He pointed to scores of examples in the ransom note and in the acknowledged Hauptmann handwriting, including automobile license applications and documents written for the police.

The jury appeared bored at times with the lecture and to be more interested in his conclusions than in the reasons for forming them.

"Might not an educated man attempt to disguise his writing by misspelling words?" Frederick Pope asked on cross-examination.

"Not necessarily," Tyrrell replied. "He would give himself away in other ways."

Writing Expert Aids Hauptmann

Defense hopes of disproving that the writing on the Lindbergh ransom notes was that of Bruno Hauptmann are based largely on the expected testimony of J. H. Tracy, East St. Louis, Ill., handwriting expert, shown here as he compared samples of the accused's handwriting with specimens from the ransom note.

GERMANY TO RULE IN SAAR IN TWO MONTHS

The Saar voted overwhelmingly by 90 per cent for reunion with Germany, casting 477,000 votes for Germany, 446,000 for continuance under League of Nations' rule and 2,000 for France.

The special committee on the Saar at Geneva decided promptly that the Saar should be returned to Germany intact and will so advise the council. The council is expected to ratify the decision this week and arrange for the transfer within two months.

An exodus of refugees started to the French border and Jewish shops in the Saar began to close.

In the midst of the wild rejoicing in the Saar a Socialist plot to start an uprising was discovered and promptly suppressed by international authorities.

Nazi Germany celebrated the victory with enthusiasm.

France, Britain and Italy received the news with undisguised satisfaction, feeling that a danger spot to peace had been removed and Germany now would be willing to work with the League again and attempt to settle the disturbing armaments situation.

Woman in Green Trial Mystery

The "woman in green" who dramatically confronted Dr. John F. Condon as he testified in the Hauptmann case is heralded as a surprise witness for the defense, Mrs. Hermina Kozan, shown above in court, once called on him, Condon admitted, but he declared he gave her no information, merely handing her two letters as "souvenirs."

WOODULL IS FIRST TO TAKE OFFICE OATH

Crowd of 10,000 Swarms On Capitol Grounds To See Inaugural.

AUSTIN, Jan. 15.—A former court reporter and a former short-hand expert took up the reins of Texas' state government shortly after noon today.

James Allred, 36, was sworn in as governor. Walter Woodull of Houston preceded the chief executive by taking the oath as lieutenant governor.

Both men who rode to high positions in public life from humble beginnings, stood on an improvised platform over the first steps of the state's granite capitol building.

Before them was a multitude of about 10,000 persons, come from all parts of Texas to witness the ceremony. Heavy clouds hung overhead.

Woodull, a tall, big-boned Texan took the oath first. Allred watched nervously. For four years he has been attorney general, but this was no courtroom. He was appearing not before one judge—but 6,000,000 judges who work and live in Texas.

Directors Chosen For the Chamber of Commerce For Year

At a called meeting of the city commission, held Monday night, eight members of the Chamber of Commerce were selected to replace those whose terms of office have expired or who have moved from town.

The eight selected by the commission were J. E. Matthews, E. R. Berry, Clyde Davis, Dr. J. A. Backeiford, C. D. Hartnett, T. J. Anderson, C. D. Woods and F. D. Hicks.

A meeting of the board of directors, which will include the new members elected Monday night, has been called for Monday night, Jan. 21, at which time the officers of the organization for the coming year are to be selected.

The meeting next Monday night will be the last at which Dr. F. M. Kaykandall, who has been president for the past two years, will serve and as soon as a new president is elected he will turn the meeting over to him.

Fergusons Leave Governor's Office For Fourth Time

AUSTIN, Jan. 15.—Governors "Ma" and "Pa" Ferguson today left the Texas governor's office in which they have been occasional tenants since January, 1915.

Each looks back upon two elections to the governor's office. Mrs. Ferguson served one complete term and part of another when he was impeached and forbidden ever to hold state office.

Mrs. Ferguson became governor in 1925; was defeated by Dan Moody and Ross Sterling and then defeated Sterling to again become governor in January, 1933.

Their departure was believed to be their final exit from the stage of Texas politics. C. C. McDonald and Tom F. Hunter, their closest choices in the last state campaign for governor, bowed in turn before the sweep of Allred votes.

The nominal honor of national committee chairman for the Democratic party, won by "Governor Jim" as a final tribute, was relinquished when Vice President John N. Garner agreed at Allred's suggestion to accept the post.

"Pa" Ferguson will be 64 in August. Mrs. Ferguson is just four years his junior. Together they will spend the autumn of their lives in the home they have built in Enfield, residence section of Austin.

American Legion Auxiliary to Have Membership Drive

Mrs. Charles Sarbrook, president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Carl Barnes Post of the American Legion, has announced a membership drive, which is to start on Monday, Jan. 21, and continue through Saturday, Jan. 26.

Mrs. A. J. Baum has been named as chairman of the membership committee, and will have active charge of the campaign. She will appoint members of the committee and outline the course of the drive between now and Monday, so that all active members of the auxiliary unit can have a part in the drive.

The goal set at a meeting of the members was 50 members before Feb. 23, which is the date of the opening of the 17th district convention of the American Legion, in which the ladies' auxiliary will play an important part.

The auxiliary of the Carl Barnes post has been one of the most active in this section of the state and has won recognition on several occasions and with the membership goal reached it is expected that the auxiliary can be one of the most outstanding in the entire 17th district.

TODAY WAS MOVING DAY AT GOVERNOR'S MANSION

AUSTIN, Jan. 15.—Today was "moving day" at Texas' white house.

Mrs. James V. Allred, slender and dark-haired, whose clear gray eyes bespeak her sincerity, became "first lady" in Texas and housekeeper for all the state.

"I'm terribly thrilled," she said. "Then she added with disarming frankness: "I'm just a little scared, too."

Being "first lady" in Texas carries with it the responsibility of holding frequent open house affairs, teas, parties, dinners, etc. means that strange persons from everywhere will peer into the corners of her home, run their fingers over table-tops in search of dust, remark the quality of upholstery and curtains.

Capricious plumbing, leaky roofs, worn carpets and stairways present other problems.

Mrs. Allred refused to be daunted. "First of all, I'm going to make it a real home for Jimmy and the children," she said.

She hopes to make the routine of home life in the executive mansion the same as it was when she lived in a little cottage on a dusty side street as the wife of Attorney General James V. Allred.

"After all," she reminded, "I was Jimmy's wife, and the mother of Jimmy Jr., and David, before I ever thought of being the wife of the governor of Texas."

For 80 years "first ladies" have come and gone from the executive mansion with changing state administrations. Each left the mansion some evidence of her personality.

Mrs. Allred will make two distinct changes. For the first time in many years the grand piano in the rear drawing room at the mansion will be tuned to the classics of music. Long before young James V. Allred "popped the question," Joe Betsy Miller of Wichita Falls planned a career in music.

She majored in public school music at Southern Methodist university in Dallas, studied in Chicago and New York. A capable pianist, she also is a composer. She has set to music a poem, "Farwell to My Country," which David Crockett wrote before leaving his Tennessee home for adventures in the west.

The music was written at the request of Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, wife of the state senator from Wichita Falls, who suggested it be made part of Texas' centennial celebration.

Her favorites among the classicists are Chopin, Liszt and Bach, but popular music has a place on her music rack, too.

Second change in the executive mansion will be manifested in its greenhouse and flower gardens. "I want growing things in the house, too," she has said.

For inaugural ceremonies Mrs. Allred chose a silvery gown with a dominant note of imperial blue—her favorite color. She saw her husband sworn in as governor of Texas, his hand resting on the su-

Woman Freezes to Death In Attempt To Commit Suicide

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Mrs. Lillian Kilker, 40, a divorcee, froze to death in a thin coating of ice on a Brooklyn beach last night, after losing her nerve, police said, in a suicide attempt.

Once wealthy and the wife of Henry Kilker, a well-known character actor, Mrs. Kilker reached the end of a "down and out" trail yesterday. Police believed she plunged into the water, lost her nerve and tried to run back to the beach. She never reached it.

Charges Are Filed In Infant's Death

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. Jan. 15.—Charges of murder and driving while intoxicated were filed here today against F. M. Simmons, Beville contractor, whose automobile struck and fatally injured Henry Collins, 11 months old.

The child was killed last night while the mother, Ruby Collins, was carrying it across a highway near here. Mrs. Collins received a skull fracture when the car plunged from the highway and struck her and the baby.

Relief Rolls to Be Reduced February 1

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Plans to reduce federal relief rolls by 4,000,000 persons through a nationwide subsistence homestead and rural rehabilitation program received consideration today from administration chiefs.

The cost, estimated between $750,000,000 and $1,000,000,000 would come from the $4,000,000,000 President Roosevelt is asking from congress to finance work for the 16,000,000 persons receiving government doles.

Lions and Ladies To Have Banquet At Country Club

The members of the Ranger Lions club and their ladies are to gather at the Country club tonight at 7:30 for a weiner roast which marks the culmination of a hard-fought membership attendance contest between the Lions of two groups captained by Lion J. J. Kelly and Lion Charles J. Moore.

The contest lasted for several weeks longer than had originally been planned due to the two sides being in a tie week after week. Lion Kelly's group was finally winner and will move to enjoy the roasting tonight, since all expenses are being borne by the losers.

MEMORY TESTS

RENO, Nev.—Ralph Wittenberg, youthful attorney, finds memorizing easy through associating objects and names with mental pictures. Wittenberg, blindfolded, listened to 30 objects being called by number. After the list was completed, Wittenberg correctly described the object after its number was called and vice versa. He didn't miss.

Recovery Act Test In Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The supreme court received a direct test of the validity of the national industrial recovery act and codes under it today, when the government filed a jurisdiction statement in the Helcher Lumber case.

The appeal is from a ruling of the federal district court of the Northern District of Alabama, holding the NIRA and the lumber codes were unconstitutional.

The case was decided before on the direct issue of the failure of the lumber company to observe wage and hour provisions of the lumber code.

Doolittle Smashes Air Speed Record

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Major Jimmie Doolittle came roaring in from the West today, shot his 10-passenger transport plane over lower New York and landed at Floyd Bennett field for a new transcontinental record of just one minute under 12 hours.

The big plane clipped approximately four minutes and 50 seconds from the record held by Captain Eddie Rickenbacker.

SHARPES FAVORS OIL CONTROL BY NEW LAWS

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Oil administrator Harold Tokes introduced today a federal oil regulation bill with broader government powers than contained in the bill of Senator Tom Congress, Democrat, Texas.
Tokes' statement emphasized intentions that a dispute was brewing between congressmen and senators from oil states and the administration.
"I haven't seen Connally's

the hope of escaping drastic

THIRD EXPERT TESTIFIES AS TO RANSOM NOTE

By United Press
FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 15.
Bruno Hauptmann wrote the Lindbergh ransom notes but tried vainly to disguise his handwriting, the state's third handwriting expert, John Tyrrell of Leopold-Loeb fame, declared today.
Tyrrell, who was the government's leading handwriting witness in the famous Chicago murder case, backed his conclusions about the authorship of the Lindbergh ransom notes by an exposition of the difficulties encountered by

He tried to show the jury that however carefully the penman works, little tricks of expression or little habits of forming letters will trip him.
He pointed to scores of examples in the ransom note and in the acknowledged Hauptmann handwriting, including automobile license applications and documents written for the police.
The jury appeared bored at times with the lecture and to be more interested in his conclusions than in the reasons for forming them.
"Might not an educated man attempt to disguise his writing by misspelling words?" Frederick Pope asked on cross-examination.
"Not necessarily," Tyrrell replied. "He would give himself away in other ways."

Writing Expert Aids Hauptmann

Defense hopes of disproving that the writing on the Lindbergh ransom notes was that of Bruno Hauptmann are based largely on the expected testimony of J. H. Treloar, East St. Louis, Ill., handwriting expert, shown here as he compared samples of the accused's handwriting with specimens from the ransom note.

Once wealthy and the wife of the end of a "down and out" trail yesterday. Police believed she plunged into the water, lost her nerve and tried to run back to the beach. She never reached it.

Lion Kelly's group was finally win-

UNPROFITABLE DIVIDENDS

DELTA, Colo.—Dividend checks, mailed recently to depositors of the First National bank, in several instances, proved to be liabilities.
The final dividend, paid by the re-only two cents. The checks were drawn on a Denver bank and, unif a depositor took advantage of the final dividend it would cost him three cents.

Behind Wild Proposals Is Public Discontent

You can work up a healthy little nightmare for yourself, if that sort of diversion interests you, by sitting down quietly and imagining what would happen if, by some freak of chance, all the wild and woolly bills pending in Congress should become law.

Suppose, for instance, that the Townsend old-age pension plan, the 30-hour week bill, the greenback-bonus bill, and a measure providing for widespread unemployment insurance financed by a stiff payroll tax should be passed and should be signed by the president or passed over his veto.

Simply to meditate on the resultant tangle in governmental and industrial finance is enough to make one start looking for the nearest cyclone cellar.

Of course, there is no use in getting steamed up about it, because, while one of these measures may get through the hopper, there simply isn't a Chinaman's chance that they all will.

But the important thing is to think of what their chances for becoming law may be.

Behind these measures there is a great body of public sentiment which may be confused, misguided, and somewhat thoughtless, but which nevertheless represents the making of a great decision by the American people.

This decision is, simply, that the difficult times of the last four years are altogether too difficult to be endured again.

That is to say that the people generally do not intend to put up with a repetition of that era of declining payrolls, declining living standards, declining bank accounts, and general, all-around hardship.

They may have only the foggiest of notions how to prevent it, but they are determined to prevent it somehow; and the result is a demand for legislation which may be completely illogical, but which cannot be defeated by mere argument.

Unless Congress and the administration can agree on some program which gives a fair promise of protecting the average man from the cruelties of hard times, the sentiment which supports these measures will continue to gather strength.

That is the important thing to remember. There is very little real chance that our government will adopt a law, for instance, paying $200 a month to every American over 60 years of age.

But unless the government understands why such a law is demanded, and does something about it, we may find ourselves passing a much worse law than that a few years hence.

ANN BOLLESTER broke her engagement to TONY MURKIN the same day that PETER KENDALL told VALERIA BENNETT she still loved him. Ann thinks she still loves Tony and Peter believes he still loves Valeria. But when chance brings the two together and Peter asks Ann to marry him she agrees.

at his task and after a quick glance around to see that Sam was not about had whispered, "Now, why didn't I think of that! Here, child, let me have that card. I'll put the address on myself."

THERE was something Peter had to do. A telephone call he must make. And then he would write the end to that particular chapter forever.

A telephone call to Valeria. Earlier in the day he had been looking through some old checks and had come upon the one he had given Valeria. He had noticed it had been cashed on a day that stood out in his memory—the day Ann had left him. Remembering that he wondered why Valeria had kept the check so long. Suddenly he was startled by the thought that it might have some significance.

Sarah had said, "Is there anything you could have done that Ann might have misunderstood?" He had groined about in his mind, but had found nothing.

But Ann might have misunderstood about this check if she had heard about it. It was a silly thought, but there it was.

And there the thing was—the whole terrible, selfish plot that had taken such a toll of happiness—after a talk with Ann's nurse. Let them light on his theory.

Miss Brock asked if there were anything specific in connection with her distrust of Mrs. Bennett that day had answered, "I should have told you at first, but I thought you might think I was serving Miss Bennett went back to the room and said she had 'something' I saw your wife hand her a letter—a slip of paper it might have been. Then I went back to the kitchen. When I saw Mrs. Kendall again she had some kind of nerve reaction."

Peter got in his big gray car and headed for Valeria's apartment. Somebody called out to him as he spun around the corner, "Say, young fellow, you're in a hurry to go to the police station, aren't you?"

But all his mad haste to tell Valeria what he thought of her, meant nothing, after all. Valeria was out. So now here was Peter, at home preparing to call her over the telephone.

Her voice answered, smoldering with resentment. "Well, Peter, are you tight or something—calling me after so long?"

Peter said coldly, "I wanted to ask you why you waited so long to cash my check."

"I—found I didn't need the money in such a hurry after all."

"But how check served another purpose, didn't it?"

Valeria was not where she could roll big, injured blue eyes to advantage. She said slowly, "I don't know what you're talking about."

Peter found his anger had given way to intense disgust and weariness. He said, "It doesn't matter. The harm has been done. Besides, I've found out what I wanted to know."

The receiver clicked in his ear. PETER sat down and gave himself up to his unhappy, brooding thoughts.

Until recently Ann had been here in the city. Now she was really lost to him. The detective had reported the trail had been lost.

there for himself and team at 75 cents a day.

All of the Allred boys worked. "Jimmie's" first job was bottling-washing in a factory at 25 cents a day. He bears the mark of it on his forehead to this day. A bursting bottle cut him deeply. He shined shoes, sold papers and did odd jobs to get through school. There he learned quickly, joined the debating team, played football and wondered about the future.

Williams Jennings Bryan came to Bowie about that time and Allred's future was settled whether he knew it then or not. He became interested in public affairs and public men. He was in the immigration service at El Paso when the World War began. Exempt, he volunteered and entered the navy. At Goat Island, San Francisco harbor, Allred and other Texas gobs discussed what they would do "after the war." "I'm going back home and run for governor," he announced.

Home from war, he got a job as stenographer in a Wichita Falls attorney's office, studied law there and then went to Cumberland law school. At 24, Gov. Pat. M. Neff appointed him district attorney to fill a vacancy. Elected at the end of that term, Allred resigned in 1926 to run for attorney general.

Texas suddenly discovered that he had a wonder campaigner. The newcomer was beaten by veteran Claude Pollard by only 4,000 votes of 700,000 cast. Pollard resigned and Allred defeated Pollard's successor, Robert Lee Bobbitt of Loredo, by 128,000 votes. He did it so cleanly that Bobbitt was one of Allred's staunchest supporters in the recent campaign for governor.

A steady look out of wide set brown eyes and a sudden flashing smile that reveals even strong teeth as he catches the gist of a sentence before it is finished, impresses one upon meeting the new governor. He can focus his attention on the subject discussed, decide, and turn quickly to another.

Boysish observance of lawless saloons made him a teetotaler and a prohibition advocate. His mother's hearty application of the rod

Improved Business Conditions Seen By Ford Motor Co.

DEARBORN, Mich., Jan. 15.—Improved business conditions throughout the United States are indicated by figures given out today by the Ford Motor company following the reception of the American public gave the new Ford V-8 for 1935.

When, late in 1927, Ford, after standardizing for years on the Model T, brought out a new Model A, more than 5,000,000 persons visited the show-rooms of Ford dealers, the country over, on the two days on which the new model was on exhibition.

Final reports, covering the whole country, show that visitors at dealers show-rooms to see the new Ford V-8 for 1935 totaled 8,683,000—an increase of approximately 73 per cent over the reception of the Model A.

Reports show sales volume greatly improved, especially in the agricultural states and in the small towns generally. A considerable number of dealers reported that, in two days on which the new car was on exhibit, they sold, on the average, from 40 to 50 per cent of their total sales for the year 1934, characteristic of the slowing up of the United States was that persons not previously considered as prospects are buying. The rural areas of the south and west showed a renewed buying power beyond all expectations.

Production figures show a total of 50,002 of the new units manufactured to date, with schedules of 110,000 a month for January and February and 70,767 men employed in the Detroit area.

How Texas Cities Got Their Names

By United Press

In 1519, only 27 years after Columbus first set eyes on the New World, Corpus Christi was named.

In that year Alvarez de Pineda, and his Spanish followers in search of legendary silver and gold, landed on the shore near the present site of the city.

De Pineda landed the second Thursday after Pentecost and in honor of the religious feast, named the spot "Corpus Christi," which means "Body of Christ."

Three years after Texas had won its independence the settlement was founded. It was first named Kinney's Trading Post, but when a post office was established, it took the name Corpus Christi.

Appoints Land Bank Directors

Appointment of Jake Schwartz of Uvalde, Texas, and re-appointment of Judge S. A. Lindsey of Tyler, Texas, as directors of the Federal Land Bank of Houston has been announced by Gov. W. L. Myers.

Both appointees will serve for three-year terms which commenced Jan. 1, 1935. They will also serve during the period as directors of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, the Production Credit Corporation of Houston, the Production Credit Corporation of Houston, and the Houston Bank for Co-operatives.

These three institutions and the Federal land bank make up the permanent units of the Farm Credit Administration of Houston, operating in Texas.

In each of the 12 Farm Credit Administration districts there are seven directors. Three of these, known as "local directors," are elected by borrowing associations—production credit associations, national farm loan associations, and cooperative associations borrowing from the bank for co-operatives. Production credit associations have recently elected one director in each of the districts, whose term also commenced Jan. 1, 1935, for three years.

Three other directors, whose terms expire in consecutive years, are known as "district directors" and are appointed by the governor of the Farm Credit Administration. The seventh director is known as a "director-at-large," and is also appointed by the governor. Judge Lindsey was named the

Trade With Mexico Showing a Gain

By United Press

LAREDO.—Trade between the United States and Mexico has improved greatly in the past year, if the records of the Laredo port of entry are indicative of the general trend.

The volume of exports through Laredo to Mexico in 1934 was 37 per cent larger than for 1933, and importations into the United States from Mexico jumped 216 per cent, it was revealed.

Total exports through Laredo amounted to 5,213 car loads in 1934, compared with 3,800 in 1933. Imports for 1934 totaled 5,920 cars compared with 1,913 cars in 1933.

Heavy imports of corn into this country were responsible for much of the increased importations, it was said. Severe feed shortage brought about by the drought was responsible for the heavy purchases of Mexican feed.

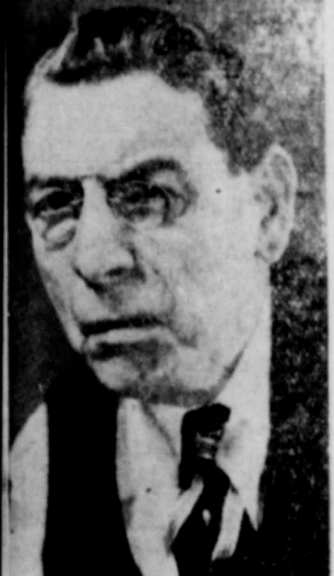

All records in the 70-year history of the local customs house were shattered the last three months of 1934 when a total of 2,505 carloads of imports were received.

Collections reached an all-time peak of $309,139.39 during December, largely due to the 25-cent per bushel tariff on corn. Oil imports included cottonseed oil, lead and bananas.

FOR LESS THAN THE COST OF YOUR DAILY PAPER

Three or four cents a day for newspapers is a mighty fine investment, yet for that same amount of money you can double or even triple the lighting intensity in your living room where you read those papers and give your eyes welcome relief from the strain of trying to read in improper, insufficient light. New lamps of all descriptions—floor models, table lamps, lamps designed especially for close reading of fine print and many other styles and types—are available at our store at very low prices and very easy terms. You'll enjoy looking them over and hearing the story of Better Light—Better Sight.

- These Lighting Rules are Easy to Follow
1. Use lamp bulbs of the correct wattage. (At least 100 watts for single socket lamps, 60 watts for two-socket lamps, 40 watts for three-socket lamps.)
  2. Have all lamps properly shaded. For porables, a shade light in color, wide in spread and open at the top.
  3. Never read in glaring light or in a shadow.
  4. Always use lamp bulbs of reputable make. Inferior ones burn out quickly.

Cardui for Better Appetite
"I was so nervous and depressed I felt like I wanted to tear my hair," writes Mrs. R. W. Kilpatrick of Houston, Texas. "I would get ashamed of being so easily upset. I took Cardui at this time and after the third bottle, my strength began to mend. The pain was less. I quit having the depressed feeling. A better appetite often is one of the first results of taking Cardui, and as nourishment is improved, many disagreeable symptoms of a run-down condition go away. But of course if Cardui does not benefit YOU, consult a physician."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

WISH bread pudding had never gotten a name for being a boarding house dessert. Because, really, when properly made, there isn't a better dish extant. By the same token, when poorly made, it's almost the worst dessert ever served in a home or anywhere else. But if you use the right proportion of bread to milk and eggs you ought to get a delicate, custard-like concoction as different as day is from night to the stiff gummy mass we all know—and deplore!

The variations will help, too. There are chocolate, raisins, dates and figs, for instance, or candied fruits such as cherries and pineapple to lend a festive air. And sometimes only the egg yolks may be put into the pudding and the whites may be saved to make meringue for the top.

Slow Baking Important
On account of the milk and egg combination slow baking of any bread pudding is important.

Because this kind of pudding furnishes so much food value it makes a splendid luncheon dessert. Or if your dinner is rather light, the bread pudding will bring the total number of calories up to the normal requirement.

In order to keep the menu well balanced when I serve bread pudding I include fruit somewhere else in the meal—fruit cup or fruit salad, perhaps. With the fruit cup I have a hot main dish such as spinach with mushroom sauce or cauliflower with creamed carrots and with a fruit salad I choose a hot soup for the first course.

Chocolate Bread Pudding
This pudding is very little trouble to make and exceedingly good. Two cups stale soft bread crumbs.

Fruit Salad
One large orange, 1-2 cup cottage cheese, 12 dates, French dressing.

Peel orange and separate in segments. Stone dates. Put a lettuce cup on each salad plate and in the center place a spoonful of cottage cheese. Arrange dates and orange segments alternately around the cheese. Serve with French dressing.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Baked apples filled with cooked cereal, cream, creamed dried beef, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Cream of tomato soup, toast sticks, fruit salad, rye bread with caraway seeds, chocolate bread pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER: Braided veal cutlets, browned parsnips, creamed carrots, salad of shredded cabbage with celery seeds and lemon juice, fruit tapioca pudding, milk, coffee.

2 cups milk, 2 squares bitter chocolate, 2-3 cup granulated sugar, 1 egg, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Heat milk to scalding point and pour over crumbs. Cover and let stand thirty minutes. Melt chocolate over hot water, add half the sugar and enough milk taken from the bread and milk mixture to make of consistency to pour. Add to bread and milk mixture with remaining sugar, salt, vanilla and egg slightly beaten. Turn into a fifty minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Serve warm with hard sauce or cold with whipped cream.

One large orange, 1-2 cup cottage cheese, 12 dates, French dressing.

Peel orange and separate in segments. Stone dates. Put a lettuce cup on each salad plate and in the center place a spoonful of cottage cheese. Arrange dates and orange segments alternately around the cheese. Serve with French dressing.

MORE OREGON RIDERS

By United Press
SALEM, Ore.—Revenue from gasoline taxes in Oregon in 1934 will be more than $1,000,000 above last year's figures, said P. J. Stadlman, secretary of state, between Jan. 1 and Nov. 30 the state collected the sum of $7,708,523.35.

In 1933 the revenue was $6,728,730.49. Oregon motorists used 154,170,628 gallons of gas in 11 months of the year just ended, a total of 6,235,222 gallons more than last year.

Student Group Not In Favor of War

By United Press

AUSTIN.—Social science students, members of the University of Texas Nordic club, unanimously oppose bearing arms for the United States in a war of invasion.

"We of the Nordic club would not bear arms for the United States in the invasion of the borders of another country," members answered a questionnaire recently. "We cannot conceive of a situation arising in which it would be in our interests to invade another country."

Wars of protection would be fought by Nordic club members, that is, if wealth and resources were conscripted on a socialistic basis. The United States, they believed, could stay out of war if the government effectively controlled the munitions business and adopted a policy of capital conscription during wartime.

SUNNY LIVING starts at the table

How you feel and how you look depend largely on the food you eat. The balanced menu provides the "bulk" to prevent common constipation—caused by lack of this essential fiber.

Common constipation frequently causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy. Yet, in most cases, it can be overcome pleasantly and safely by eating a delicious cereal.

Kellogg's All-Bran is a natural food for normal individuals. It furnishes "bulk" in convenient and concentrated form. All-Bran also provides vitamin B and iron.

Isn't this sunny way better than taking patent medicines? Two tablespoons of All-Bran daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases with each meal. If relief is not obtained, see your doctor.

Serve All-Bran as a cereal, or use in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
