Two Methods of Paying Bonus Causing Dispute

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14.—The house rules committee disputed for two hours today on whether the soldier bonus should be paid by currency inflation of a bond issue.

Tackling the question for the second day the committee still was unable to decide how to place the bonus issue before the house and recessed until later in the day.

Chairman John J. O'Connor said the committee appeared to favor submitting both the Patman inflation bill and the American Legion bonus issue measures to the house.

Liberty Bonds Are To Be Exchanged

WASHINGTON, March 14.—All outstanding first liberty loan bonds amounting to nearly $2,000,000,000 were called for redemption today by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr.

The bonds were called for redemption on June 15, before which time the treasury will probably offer lower interest securities in exchange for the first liberty's saving the government $14,000,000 annually in interest charges.

Electrical Strike At El Paso Seems Assured Today

EL PASO, March 14.—Negotiations were at an impasse today between the El Paso Electric company and skilled members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, leaving only the alternative of a second strike when a truce ends tomorrow.

The workers were asking wage adjustment and recognition of their union.

The company refused recognition of the union. Both rejected arbitration proposals advanced by a board three weeks ago when the truce was called.

Oklahoma Officer Shot By Suspect

LAWTON, Okla., March 14.—Ray Powell, constable, was critically wounded early today in a gun battle near Cache, with an unidentified man who kidnaped Powell's companion, D. P. Hess. Hess was later freed. Powell was shot in one hand and in the cheek. Powell said he was shot when he stopped the man to question him and then started to walk toward Cache.

French-British Statesmen Fear German Air Policy

PARIS, March 14.—Frenchmen saw in Germany's plan for a military air force today an official definite declaration that the Versailles treaty military clauses no longer were operative.

Despite reluctance of the British and French governments to appear as acting in concert against Germany, it was suggested they would exchange views on the air force issue before Sir John Simon goes to Berlin to see Hitler March 25.

Murder and Suicide Verdict Is Given

FORT WORTH, March 14.—A verdict of murder and suicide was given by Justice of the Peace Marvin Beatty, following an inquest into the deaths of Luth Hall, 32, and Dean Hall, 2, his son.

The tragedy occurred at the home of Hall's sister in Fort Worth. Hall apparently slashed his son's throat and then his own.

AT CARBON THURSDAY

Miss Opal Gilstrap, state school supervisor, visited Carbon school Thursday.

OIL TANKER STRIKE TIES UP COAST TRADE

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Mar. 14.—Shipping was in a critical state today as the coastwise oil tanker strike threatened to spread to general cargo vessels.

Arrival of two cargo ships was awaited to determine if the tanker strike, affecting 200 seamen and 800 along the Pacific coast, will be extended.

First violence occurred yesterday when a group attacked a seaman as he came off a freighter.

Rumors said a general strike order had been issued, and while union officials denied this, threats have been made, according to oil operators, the walkout would spread to all sea-going labor units of the Pacific coast and possibly to Gulf ports and the Atlantic coast.

Junior College to Enter Contestants In a Play Contest

The Masquers club of the Ranger Junior College, composed of six junior college students, accompanied by Mrs. Hal Hunter and Mrs. H. S. Von Roeder, will compete in the one-act play contest of Junior College Public Speaking association, to be held in Weatherford tonight at 8 o'clock.

The group from the Ranger Junior College will present a one-act play, entitled "The Bishop's Candlesticks," which was written by Norman McKinnel and was founded on an incident from Les Miserables, by Victor Hugo.

The cast of characters for the play is as follows:

The Bishop, Raymond Stockmier, Dallas.
The Convict, Ben Cook, Deming, N. M.
Bernese, the Bishop's sister, a widow, Claire Dyar, Ranger.
Sergeant of Gendarmes, Darrell Williams, Greensburg, Kan.
Gendarme, Paul Hodge, Ranger.
Junior colleges that will compete in the contest will include John Tarleton and Weatherford Junior College. The winner of the Weatherford contest will go to Hillsboro to enter the state meet.

Savings and Loan Membership Holds A meeting Tonight

S. Freeland, from the federal housing administration in Washington, was in Ranger today for the purpose of creating more interest in the First Federal Savings & Loan association of Ranger, which was organized last October for the purpose of creating a lending agency for those who wanted to build or repair homes.

A short meeting with the directors of the organization was held in the office of the secretary this morning and a meeting of all the stockholders was called for tonight.

The purpose of the meeting tonight, which will be held at 7:30 in the colonial ballroom of the Gholson hotel, is to give the people a better conception of the possibilities of the savings association.

Mr. Freeland said today that of the 14 organizations visited by him since Jan. 1, each was able to pay a 4 per cent dividend to its stockholders, and that all indications were that under the present setup of the Ranger association that it would be able to pay a 4 per cent dividend by the end of its first year of operation, as there were already several loans that were drawing interest.

Everyone in Ranger who is interested in the savings and loan features of the organization has been urged to attend the meeting tonight.

Federal Encroachment

(An Editorial)
Coryell County News (Gatesville): A District Federal Judge in Alabama recently ruled that the Government could not sell electric power in competition with private concerns. But it seems perfectly regular for Uncle Sam to sell printed envelopes in competition to printers over the country.

State Press in Dallas News: It also seems perfectly clear that Congress is not going to help the printers to dispose of Uncle Sam as their illegitimate competitor. He is an illegitimate competitor, not only in printing but in all the activities he has taken up in opposition to private operation. Uncle Sam pays no taxes, pays no postage, pays nothing that he doesn't first take away from taxpayers. He destroys potential taxpayers and then turns the screws tighter on those who remain, those who hang on. Taxes are going up all the time and Uncle Sam spreading into more businesses all the time. But Congress turns a deaf ear to the complaints of those who bear the brunt of those policies which agrandize the Government and restrict the citizen. The printers realize this, for they have sought for years through their associations to induce Congress to interfere with envelope printing by the Government printing office. They have uniformly failed, although the government printing office registers a heavy annual expense to the Treasury and a heavy annual deprivation to private printers. Should the Supreme Court reverse the Alabama Federal Judge and license Government electricity to compete with privately owned electrical plants the camel will have his nose in the tent up to his shoulders, and the ugly beast will be all inside within a short time.

WORST FLOOD IN 50 YEARS IS PREDICTED

Thousands of townspeople and farmers, residents along tributaries of the Mississippi, today fled from rising waters that threaten the worst flood conditions in 50 years.

Government engineers and national guardsmen along the Black and St. Francis river in southern Missouri and Arkansas sounded a warning. The situation was described as worse than the disasters of 1927 and 1931.

Water from the hills near the Arkansas state line have turned brooklets into raging streams. Government engineers predicted the St. Francis would break over its 65 miles levee with a two-foot wall of floodwaters.

Hundreds of families were moving out of the lowlands. Refugees from Duhkin county, lowest elevation in Missouri, were accommodated in Red Cross tents, box cars and public buildings at Kennett.

R. I. Jones, chairman of relief work at Kennett, said the St. Francis was two feet higher than the 1927 flood crest.

Workers were repairing the 25-year-old levees in hopes of bulwarking them against the rise the river is expected to make before Saturday.

Four companies of national guardsmen patrolled the area.

Magnolia Club to Meet In Mineral Wells For Banquet

The Magnolia club of the Oil Belt district, of which J. E. Meroney of Ranger is president, will meet tonight at the Crazy hotel in Mineral Wells for a banquet and entertainment program. Representatives from the 37 counties in the district are expected to be present.

Mrs. Homer Smith of the Cooper school will present a quartet composed of Mildred Denton, Margaret Adkins, Fern Taylor and Fern Allen Meroney as Ranger's part of the entertainment program following the banquet.

Reminds Producers Corn-Hog Contract Sign-Up Ends 16th

Reminder to corn-hog producers that the county contract sign-up program would end Saturday was made Thursday by C. Metz Heald, county agent.

"If the 1932-33 average corn acreage on the place being farmed this year was less than 10, and hogs were raised for market in 1932-33, a hog contract may be made without including corn," the county agent explained.

"If no hogs were raised for market in 1932-33, and there is a corn base on the place being farmed this year, a corn contract may be made without including hogs," Heald added.

Engineer Explains Maintenance Farm Plan to Rangerites

A group of Ranger citizens met in the office of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday afternoon and heard an explanation by William Boaz, engineer from Fort Worth, of the government farm maintenance plan.

The outline of the work that will be done wherever one of the colonies is being located was outlined by the speaker. The plan, in brief, is to take relief roll clients off the rolls, put them on small farms, which the government will make from one large tract of land, provide them with homes and materials with which to work and make them self-supporting. The money expended on the farms will be repaid by the homesteaders over a period of 30 years.

Several tracts of land in Eastland county that might be available for this work were suggested, and a committee composed of A. J. Ratliff, agricultural director of the Chamber of Commerce, C. E. May and Hall Walker was appointed by J. E. Meroney, chairman of the meeting, for the purpose of working on the proposition to see if it was possible to get one for the county.

Taxes Are Ruled Out of Centennial Bill In the House

AUSTIN, March 14.—Speaker Coke Stevenson ruled today that taxes to pay for a Texas centennial cannot be placed in the pending centennial appropriation bill.

An appeal from the ruling was made. The ruling is expected to speed passage of the centennial bill. Representative C. E. Farmer had proposed an occupation tax on natural gas of two cents for 1,000 cubic feet to provide the $3,000,000 appropriated in the bill. Other amendments were waiting to offer other taxes if Farmer's amendment were defeated.

Book Treats of Former Eastland County Residents

Former Eastland residents are treated in a genealogical publication, "Kinfolks," inquiry to the author, Colonel William Curry Harlie, United States Marine Corps, New Orleans, reveals.

The publication is of three volumes and contains over 25,000 names with their genealogical data and show their lineages from the immigrant ancestors.

Colonel Harlie, with a staff of nine assistants, worked for four years on the publication, with no thought of making money on the book, he stated in a letter to this paper.

The publication is said to have made an important contribution to historic records of the south.

The author traveled 60,000 miles, spent more than $1,000 in postage alone, and visited hundreds of homes, cemeteries, courthouses, and state and federal record repositories in assembling the data.

Search for data took the author to Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

Colonel Harlie's answer to any inquiry by this paper of families in Eastland county treated in the publication was as follows:

"Kinfolks treats of the family of Peter Robertsen Brown, who, according to information furnished me by his son, Leander Walter Brown, Francis Hotel, Albuquerque, N. M., had a son, Atlas Fulmore Brown, who resided at Eastland and left a widow and six children there."

"A letter to his widow, Mrs. Martha (Taylor) Brown, making further inquiries of this family, addressed to Eastland, was returned. Perhaps, however, something is known of this family in your county."

"Peter Brown's parents were John and Elizabeth (Fulmore) Brown, who migrated from Marlboro county, South Carolina, about a hundred years ago and settled in Mississippi. Their descendants have migrated into Louisiana and Texas."

"My publication treats extensively of the Fulmore, Cade, Adair, and other descendants of Elizabeth (Fulmore) Brown. They number into thousands, many of whom are now in Texas."

Room Is Assigned To Social English Classes of F.A.S.

Miss Sue Dean, teacher of social English at the federal adult school, announced today that a classroom at the high school building had been assigned for the classes, and that in the future the classes would meet in Room 33.

The social English group will meet each Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons between 2 and 3:30 o'clock, with the first class being held Friday afternoon of this week.

Registrations are still open and those who are interested in taking this work can register when the first lesson is heard Friday afternoon in Room 33.

Kokomo Project Progress Shown

Work on the Kokomo-Eastland road is progressing rapidly, H. C. Davis, secretary of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce reported Thursday.

The road being improved covers a stretch of about two miles in length out a similar distance towards Eastland from Kokomo. A portion of the road was improved during the old CWA.

Fences have been set back and work preparatory to placing of gravel is near completion. An average of 20 men are employed on the project on which after completion, $2,990 will have been spent.

VAN CLEAVE IS WITNESS FOR STATE IN CASE

Says He and Dorgett Were To Split Robbery Proceeds With the Defendant.

BAIRD, Texas, March 14.—A district court jury received at noon today the case of Mrs. Mary Lou Howell, charged with robbery with firearms in connection with the holdup and killing of L. F. Threest, Cisco ranchman.

Threest was found shot and robbed on his ranch five miles east of Putnam last Aug. 15.

The prosecution introduced testimony tending to show that the woman arranged with Clifford Doggett and Elmer Van Cleave to lure the ranchman to a lonely spot on his ranch where they planned to rob him.

Doggett was given a 99-year sentence here last November in his trial on robbery charges and a death sentence for murder. Van Cleave testified as a state witness in both cases against Doggett and against Mrs. Howell.

He said he and Doggett agreed before the robbery they would "split 50-50" and Doggett would "split his half of the robbery proceeds with Mrs. Howell."

He admitted he helped in the holdup, but insisted Doggett shot the ranchman because he refused to hold up his hands.

Propaganda Bill Killed In House Committee Today

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14.—Republican members today killed an effort for immediate passage of the Norris propaganda investigation resolution in the house.

Rep. Sam Rayburn, Dem., Texas, chairman of the house interstate commerce committee, which is considering the Wheeler-Rayburn bill, attempted to get consent for consideration of the resolution.

The resolution empowers the federal trade commission to investigate the flood of mail being received by members of congress in opposition to the utility bill to determine whether or not it is in spirit propaganda. It has been passed by the senate.

"Blind Flight" to Honolulu May Be Made Soon

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14.—Further tests of the new Douglas "blind flight" plane before it hops off for Hawaii, were announced today.

Decision to undertake further test flights to reduce dangers of a Pacific flight was reached today after a conference between Director Eugene Vidal of the air commerce department and secretary of commerce Daniel Roper.

The plane is poised at Oakland airport, ready for a flight to Honolulu when officials believe the time is right.

Placing Deputies Now Is Violation, Haley Indicates

To place a deputy in Ranger and Cleo now to collect auto license fees would be a violation of a state law, Tom J. Haley, county tax collector-assessor, indicated Thursday.

"I have a letter from the state highway department that will offer explanation," he promised.

"I'll have something to publish about Sunday," Haley stated.

Symbol of Boom Days Feels Depression

Jimmy Walker, one-time playboy mayor of New York, tells a British chancery court that he is broke and can't pay his bills; and that simple admission puts a period on a career which could have developed nowhere but in the United States during the giddy boom of the 1920's.

The dapper little man who was once the very quintessence of Broadway painted a sorry picture of himself. His income, he says, totals just $105 a week, of which 40 per cent goes to a collaborator. He is living with his wife and mother-in-law in the latter's house, and his wife paid the bills on their recent trip to Spain.

Evidently something pretty drastic has happened to Jimmy during the last few years; and if he ever sits down to figure it out, it might be some comfort to him to reflect that it didn't really happen to him so much as to his fellow countrymen.

For Jimmy Walker was never anything but a symbol, capping the summit of boom-time New York like the useless dirigible mooring mast atop the Empire State building; an ornament, expensive and charming, in which a whole city took pride during those days when the watchword was easy come, easy go.

And in his deflation there is one of those old-fashioned moral lessons—not so much for the dapper Jimmy as for the rest of us.

Jimmy Walker never was much of a mayor. Nobody ever pretended that he was. His best friends would have admitted that he was ornamental rather than useful.

But during the hectic days of the boom, the pressure on city governments was so light that it was possible to put up with that kind of mayor—and with the kind of government which such a mayor brings along with him.

Hard times changed the picture. Shrinking revenues and increasing demands on the public purse suddenly showed us that boss rule of the traditional type is the most expensive luxury in which a city can indulge.

The Jimmy Walkers, light as so many feathers, nevertheless were a load too heavy to be carried any longer.

That Jimmy Walker is on his uppers today is not important—to anyone except Jimmy himself. The important fact is that the Jimmy Walker kind of government is also on its uppers.

THE BIG HELP.

It's the 'Third House' That Is Dangerous

If you could get the seventh son of a seventh son off in a corner and ask him, man to man, what the next great political reform in the United States was going to be, he would probably tell you that it would involve adoption of the one-chamber plan by state legislatures.

This idea, which Senator George W. Norris put over single-handed in Nebraska, seems to be taking hold everywhere, for the excellent reason that it is a completely logical and sensible proposition.

The weaknesses of democratic government are nowhere more apparent than in the average state capitol. State government has grown expensive, inefficient, and unwieldy.

To a large extent this is because we cling to a device invented by the British back in the days when the power of the throne was a thing to be feared.

In theory, the British House of Commons and House of Lords represent very different groups. The former gets its authority from the people, the latter from the crown.

Working side by side, they are supposed to act as checks on each other so that neither class can legislate to the detriment of the other.

"Eyelaxation"

with the NEW direct-indirect FLOOR LAMP

At ease—the evening paper—a lamp that gives an even, non-glaring light of just the right intensity—eyes relaxed. That's comfort.

New floor lamps are available in two styles—one with conventional candles under the shade in addition to the indirect unit which throws light upward and makes for "Eyelaxation." They're priced from $8.95 upward.

SIX and SIXTY

There's a great deal of difference between eyes six years old and eyes sixty. The older one gets, the more light is needed. And one way to make it easier to see well at sixty is to work, study and play in good light from the beginning.
