Celebrated for his daring in power dives, he had promised himself one more. He was testing a new biplane for the navy. It withstood nine of the 10 power dives. T. & P. Offers New
Rates For Round
Trip to California

The Texas and Pacific Railway, through Frank Jensen, its General Passenger Agent, has announced three Popular Rate Excursions to California for the coming summer. The first excursion will fall on June 15th and 16th, the next on July 20th and 21st, and the last on August 17th and 18th.

According to Mr. Jensen, the tickets for each excursion will bear limit of twenty-one days and permit stopovers at any intermediate point. These tickets will be honored in chair cars or coaches, also in Sleeping Cars upon payment of pullman fare for space occupied.

The Round-trip fare from Ranger to Los Angeles and San Diego will be $39.25 and to San Francisco $50.00 with half-fare for children under twelve years of age.

Mr. Jensen said that similar excursions, operated during previous summers, have always proven very popular and in view of the fact that the California-Pacific International Exposition will be in full swing at San Diego, during the entire summer, the demand for these excursions will, no doubt, be greater than ever.

All of the regular equipment of the "Sunshine Special" will be air-conditioned, including chair cars, coaches, sleepers, diners and Observation-Lounge Club Car, and this will add much to the comfort of the trip, said Mr. Jensen.

Committee Clerk
Taking Requests For Seed Loans

Applications for seed loans are being taken for Eastland county by R. L. Davonport, committee clerk, at the courthouse in Eastland.

He explains the loans are for non-relief farmers only. The Farm Credit Administration Friday at Washington started its machinery to make $60,000,000 in seed loans available to farmers who need help to grow their 1935 crops.

The bill appropriating the money was signed by President Roosevelt Thursday night. The committee clerk explains the funds have been made available to meet the emergency created by lack of funds of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Section of the FCA and will be discontinued when, and if, that office makes crop loans.

No loans will be made to farmers who are able to obtain credit locally or elsewhere. The same county loan committee will give the loan that has been heretofore functioned for the crop loan office.

The farmer who is on relief receives the necessary funds to finance his crop through George I. Lane, rural supervisor, who has an office at the general office of the Eastland county relief board.

Crop mortgages, non-disturbance agreements on work stock and crop waivers are necessary in all cases.

The loan is to permit immediate planting of food, feed and commercial crops. Announcement upon this will be made by the committee clerk when loans are available.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Matter" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, today.

The Golden Text is: "Woe unto him that saith to the wood, Awake; to the dumb stone, Arise, it shall teach! Behold, it is laid over with gold and silver, and there is no breath at all in the midst of it." (Habakkuk 2:19).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God" (John 3:5).

The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The fading forms of matter, the mortal body and material earth, are the fleeting concepts of the human mind. . . Spirit and its formations are the only realities of being. Matter disappears under the microscope of spirit." (pages 263 and 264).

FORD V-8

First Car to Close the Gap Between Low Price and Fine Performance

THE FORD V-8 occupies a distinctive place among automobiles. There is no way to compare it with any other car because there is no other car like it.

The Ford enables you to step up into the fine-car class in performance, beauty, comfort and safety. But there is no stepping up in price. That is kept down by Ford low-profit policies and unique manufacturing methods. These are as different as the car itself.

What the Ford has done is to establish a new standard of value. Fine-car performance isn't limited to the well-to-do these days. The Ford V-8 has made it possible for the average motorist to have the kind of car that used to be beyond his reach.

It takes eight cylinders to give modern performance. And the Ford is powered by a V-8—the finest type of eight-cylinder engine. You have to pay more than $2000 for that in any other car.

Ford cars are priced at $495 up F. O. B. Detroit. Standard accessory group including bumpers and spare tire extra. Easy terms through Universal Credit Company. All body types have Safety Glass throughout at no additional cost.

Limit Should Be Set On Defaming Witness

Miss Betty Gow, the unlucky young woman whose position in the Lindbergh household caused her to make a trip all the way across the Atlantic to testify at the Bruno Hauptmann trial, has got back to England by this time, and it is going to be a long time before she forgives Edward J. Reilly, Hauptmann's lawyer.

"I was hurt more by the suspicion Reilly endeavored to cast on me than by any other thing during the trial," Miss Gow said when she reached England. "That is something I will never forget or forgive."

Now this little remark calls attention to one of the queerest angles of our judicial procedure—the seemingly limitless freedom which is given to an attorney to attack a person's reputation without introducing a single shred of evidence to support his charges.

Miss Gow, for instance, still enjoys the confidence of her former employer. At the time of the kidnaping, the New Jersey authorities went over her record with a fine-tooth comb and found nothing wrong.

She was not under the slightest shadow of suspicion on the part of those who were most interested in finding someone on whom the crime could be blamed.

Then she returned to America to testify at the trial—returned of her own free will, incidentally, since there was no way of making her come back.

And immediately the Hauptmann defense began to shower her with insinuations, veiled accusations, suggestive hints, until it almost looked as if she, and not Hauptmann, were the one on trial.

This sort of thing is common in our courts. Perhaps there is no way of completely ending it. A lawyer entrusted with a man's defense must be given a certain amount of latitude; he must be allowed to suggest that his own client was not the only possible suspect in the crime and he must be permitted to impugn the motives and the character of the witnesses against him.

But—need the thing go as far as it did in this case? Has an upright, law-abiding citizen who is called on to testify in a criminal case no protection whatever?

Can we properly permit a defense to be based on the old theory that if you throw enough mud some of it is bound to stick?

Our criminal court procedure is crying for revision in several ways. One of the most important of them seems to be indicated by this complaint of Miss Gow.

There ought to be some pretty definite limit to the amount of free and easy mud-slinging that can be indulged in during cross-examination and argument.

Crime Gets Bad Blow When Aid Is Cut Off

The shooting to death of such outlaws as John Dillinger and "Pretty Boy" Floyd is easily the most spectacular part of the Department of Justice's drive on crime. Equally important, but far less exciting, is the quiet and methodical way in which the "G men" are cracking down on persons who give aid and comfort to gangsters.

Twenty persons stood before a federal judge in Dallas, Texas, the other day to receive sentences for having harbored or assisted tough Clyde Barrow, recently deceased, and his cigar-puffing paramour, Bonnie Parker, also recently deceased.

Among them were the mothers of the two outlaws, assorted sisters, brothers, friends, and a scattering of what might euphemistically be called business associates.

At one time or another these persons had helped the outlaws hide from the police, or had given them help in getting from some hot spot to a spot not so hot, or had done this or that to make their careers of crime more lucrative.

Judge William H. Atwell lost no time in handing out sentences which in some cases ran as high as two years in prison. The two mothers drew 30-day terms in jail. And as a result, only one person of all those who at one time associated with the Barrow gang remains unpunished today—the gangster Raymond Hamilton, now being hunted by posers all over the southwest.

Now a roundup of this kind does not get a tenth of the public attention that the actual slaying or imprisonment of a notorious criminal gets; but in the long run it is every bit as important in the drive to stamp out lawlessness.

No outlaw plays a lone hand, in modern America. The man who tried it wouldn't last a month.

There must be friends who can furnish hiding places in time of trouble, who can advance funds in the low spells between robberies, who can carry communications and help in forming plans and do all the other little services which enable a criminal to carry on his career.

To knock off the leading criminal and leave this network of friends and helpers untouched is to invite repetition of the trouble.

The DARK BLOND

CARLETON KENDRAKE

BEGIN HERE TODAY Millicent Graves' employer, George Dringold, tells her he has a confession to dictate and warns her against a woman in a black ermine coat. Millicent leaves the office and sees such a woman. Later she finds her purse has been taken and a similar one substituted. In the elevator she meets a distinguished-looking man of middle age. Returning to the office, Millicent finds Dringold dead. In a panic she rushes away and registers at a hotel under an assumed name. Next day she meets the stranger again. He tells her his name is Jarvis Happ. Happ sends her to a beauty shop where, in spite of her protests, she is transformed into a beauty. Happ takes her home, introducing her as his secretary. He gives her a suitcase filled with accounts and asks her to open a set of books. Dick Geesty, Happ's partner, hints some of the dealings have been shady. Millicent, alone in her bedroom, realizes someone has entered the room without knocking. Now Go On With the Story

QUEENLIEST

Millicent whirled about indignantly, to find herself staring into the calm, steady, gray eyes of Norman Happ. "You!" she exclaimed in quick surprise. He said nothing, but took a couple of steps toward her. "I suppose," she said scornfully, "just because I'm working for your father you feel free to walk into my room without knocking. I suppose it's part of the duties of my employment. . . . "Forget it," he said. "I didn't dare to knock. I had to sneak in here. . . . "What do you mean?" "I didn't want anyone to know that I was here. It would have been bad for both of us. If I'd knocked at the door someone would have heard the knock and seen me talking with you. . . . "But why must you talk with me?" she asked, her curiosity getting the better of her, and supplementing the rather alarming discovery that in the presence of this young man her pulse became more rapid, her self-assurance seemed to melt away like ice under a hot sun. "I don't know why," he said. "Perhaps you could tell me. . . . "But how should I know what you're referring to?" "What," he asked, "has Bob Caise got on you?" "Why, what are you talking about? What makes you think he has anything on me? I don't know what you're referring to. . . . "He has something on you right enough," Norman Happ said. "I know him, and I know the way he works. I've seen that self-satisfied smile on his face before. He's playing with you as a cat plays with a mouse. You can't trust that chap. . . . "But can't a man smile without . . . ?" "It was the way he smiled. I know that expression. . . . "But," she said, trying to preserve a stately dignity, "it's just possible that he has something, as you like to term it, on someone else. . . . "No," he said soberly. "I saw him come out of your room. . . . "You saw him leave my room?" "Yes. . . . "She was silent for several seconds. Then she said slowly, "And so you decided to come in and try to brow-beat me. Is that it?"

Eastland Actress, Betty Kissinger, Wins First Place

Performance of Miss Betty Kissinger, 609 South Seaman, in "The Sponge," Eastland High school's winning entry in the one-act play contest Thursday, merited selection as the best actress by judges, school officials announced Saturday.

Miss Norma Vickers, 611 South Seaman, performance in the same play won her selection as second actress.

Facts and comments on the one-act plays given at the tournament were given Saturday by Miss Betty Perkins, Eastland High school student, 1921 South Seaman, as follows:

"Five one-act plays were presented at Eastland High school Thursday afternoon beginning at one-thirty and continuing the rest of the afternoon. These plays were presented by the high schools of Carbon, Ranger, Rising Star, Eastland, and Cisco.

"The Carbon play, 'The Peddler' was a very clever play based on practical joking and the surprise climax was the result of mistaken identity. The cast consisted of five characters.

"The Ranger High school presented 'The Diabolical Circle.' It represented the period of witchcraft and was authentically costumed. The cast consisted of Iola Simmons, Jack Morris, Charles Williams and Lester Bendix. This play won third place in the contest. Lester Bendix was selected as the best boy actor.

"Rising Star presented 'On Vengeance Heights.' This was a mountain story and the four characters wore mountainous costumes and make-up. This play was based on family feuds. 'Gram' was given honorable mention in acting.

"The fourth play was presented by Eastland High school. The play was 'The Sponge,' and was based on the life of an opera singer and her associates. The cast consisted of Betty Kissinger, Norma Vickers, Curtis Terrell, Orvel Harrell and Fiva Lee Jones. This play won first place in the contest and Betty Kissinger placed first in girls acting and Norma Vickers placed second in girls acting.

"Cisco High school presented 'The Florist Shop' in an attractive setting of flowers and the action took place in the shop. The play showed how much a little florist shop can do for people. The cast included J. G. Rupe, J. F. Armstrong, Garner Altom, Maxine Cearley and Kathrine Russell, who won honorable mention for girls acting. This play won second place in the contest."

Work Relief Bill Amendment Is Accepted In Senate

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The $4,880,000,000 work relief bill was passed by the senate today after an aggressive drive by the administration leaders swept away the last of a series of obstacles.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The senate driving the $4,880,000,000 work relief bill toward an early vote today accepted an amendment which, if carried into law, could expand the nation's currency by $1,000,000,000.

The amendment was introduced by Senator Elmer Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma, after his original amendment was killed by senate vote. The new amendment was a re-statement of the original one. The amendments provide a $375,000,000 expansion of the currency based on silver now held in the treasury or to be acquired later. The expansion can be increased.

FIRE NEWS!

PAINT HELPS TO PREVENT FIRES!

The National Board of Fire Underwriters in its official publication—"Safeguarding America Against Fire," has published an article entitled—"Protect Property with Paint," in which it emphasizes the value of the Clean-Up and Paint-Up Campaign in Fire Protection in the following statement:

"The Fire Insurance industry is particularly interested in the value of paint from a fire protection standpoint. Unprotected wood has a tendency to weather and dry out until it becomes like tinder."

Count Blomberg The Tough German On Wrestling Card

The Elks management has been requested to have Chief Black Hawk, the Oklahoma Indian, return for another match. The chief has agreed to return Monday night, March 25, to take the scalp of another victim. Marvin Barackman, who has just returned after a successful trip, meeting all comers, will tackle the chief. Barackman is a capable wrestler and able to take care of himself against the best of them. This match is the main event, a two-hour time limit, best two out of three falls.

A newcomer will appear in the semi-final, Count Von Bomberg of Germany, touted as one of the toughest in the game. He will swap holds, punches and what not with the tough Eddie O'Shea, the fighting Irishman, who always makes them go the limit to win. An added feature will be a curtain-raiser, announced at the ringside. No advance in prices.

government—a farmhouse, barn, henhouse and fences would be built. Besides this, a cow, team, chickens and pigs would be furnished each family. A work and community center would be operated for the benefit of the colonists.

The colony would be under the supervision of public spirited Eastland county men. The farm units would be sold to heads of farm families carefully selected from the relief rolls. No cash payment will be required, but all money actually spent by the government will have to be paid back in yearly payments in 35 years with interest at 5-1-2 percent.

This is the most liberal and constructive offer yet made by our government as it really rehabilitates the deserving Eastland farm family by financing his return to an improved farm. We know that we have suitable lands and many deserving experienced farm families and all the other conditions to make such a colony a success in this county. If you would like to have your parcel of land included in the tract of land being blocked up to offer the government, please make as low a price as you can and remember that the government will pay cash if this block of land is selected—at least two blocks in the county must be submitted to the government for selection.

We are giving you option blank which we would like to have you fill out and return to us. If you prefer to write a letter stating that you offer your land at so much an acre, the offer to hold good for 90 days from date of your letter, that will be acceptable. Be sure you state the number of acres, price per acre, survey and identification of the land offered. This letter should be addressed to Texas Rural Communities, Inc., Austin Texas, but return this letter to us. We will greatly appreciate your cooperation in helping us to get one of these colonies for our county by returning your option with in the next three days as we want to offer this land before the money earmarked for this purpose becomes exhausted.

Stock Swindling Curb Is Planned

AUSTIN, March 23.—Gerald Mann, secretary of state, today called a meeting of department forces for a drive on stock swindlers.

A blue sky law "not worth a dime," flimsy, swindling statutes and lack of an enforcement staff have made Texas a mecca for slick salesmen, Mann declared.

They are so slick that for a time they used Dallas Chamber of Commerce stationery in a drive to exchange stock in a hotel enterprise for building and loan stock, he said.

A Platform For Insurance Salesmen

America's greatest need is an organized majority of citizens who will fight for the best interests of all the people. The institution of life insurance is one such interest, and the men and women who sell life insurance can and should play an important part during the years ahead of us, in supporting every sound measure proposed for the better and more economic management of government, whether federal, state, county or municipal.

The years of depression have taught every business man who is still in business the absolute necessity of living within his income. As individuals, we have been compelled to learn the same lesson. As a people, we must realize that the same fundamental principle applies to government; that government has no funds except those which we pay in its taxes, either directly or indirectly; that no one, whether manufacturer, merchant, farmer or workman, can get anything from a government which we, as individuals do not pay for. As life insurance salesmen, we are in a position to know conditions and problems in our own communities. We can and should be must be carriers of enlightened propaganda among the people within the sphere of our influence. Life insurance has prospered because it is a cooperative enterprise which is absolutely fair to all classes and because it has budgeted its expenses to conform to its income and limited its operations to those activities which have been absolutely essential to the discharge of its obligations.

It is both a duty and a necessity for us to realize that the important problems of government are not settled by the simple expedient of periodically electing one party or another to conduct the affairs of government. We are in much the position occupied by the board of directors of any large corporation, ours is a responsibility of passing on all important questions of policy, and on plans for carrying out those policies. If we sidestep this responsibility, we have only ourselves to blame for the results which follow.
