Compromise Bonus Bill is Offered in Senate

Dr. W. A. Jackson To Be Speaker at Lions, Rotary Meet

No meeting of the Rotary club was held today, as a joint meeting of the Lions and Rotary clubs will be held at noon Thursday for the purpose of hearing a talk by Dr. W. A. Jackson, head of the department of government of Texas technological college of Lubbock. Dr. W. A. Jackson is a brother of Dr. Walter L. Jackson of Ranger. The principal speaker of the joint meeting has been quite prominent in educational circles of the state for some time. At the onset of the World war he was principal of the Hillsboro high school, and during the war was in extension university work overseas. After the war Dr. Jackson was a time principal of the Beaumont high school, later going to Baylor university as an instructor. From Baylor he went to the University of Iowa, where he obtained his Ph.D. degree. He had obtained his master's degree at the University of Chicago. He has been head of the government department of Texas Tech since it was founded in 1925. Dr. Jackson is to speak before the 1920 club on Thursday afternoon.

Plans Longest Solo Ocean Hop

A 4500-mile hop from New York's Bennett Field to Katana, Lithuania—which would be the longest solo flight ever made—is planned by Felix Waukus, above, 25-year-old Kohler, Wis., aviator. With five years' flying experience, Waukus intends to take off on the trans-Atlantic "good will" venture in May or June.

NEW DEAL IS FIGHTING SEN. LONG'S PLANS

(Copyright 1935 by United Press)
The New Deal today answered Senator Huey Long's attack with drastic action intended to squelch him and upset his dictatorship over Louisiana. 1. Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins seized control of Louisiana unemployment aid. 2. Public Works Administrator Harold Ickes ridiculed his share-the-wealth campaign and threatened to rescind Louisiana construction allotment. The fiery Long, in the state capitol at Baton Rouge, answered with characteristic attack on the "brain trust cabinet" and advised Ickes to go "slam bang to hell." He said he would return Monday to "blast back his ears" and resume his tirade against President Roosevelt himself, Postmaster General James A. Farley and the entire administration.

Dust Storms Are High Up In Air

GARDEN CITY, Kan., April 17. Reports of a dust storm raging at 23,000 feet, almost in the stratosphere, spread misgiving today through the west. Miss Laura Ingalls, aviator, said that dust was so thick at high altitudes her motor would not function. Her experience to a dust-weary and dust-victimized people have laid waste thousands of fatrims in the west and southwest. Miss Ingalls, attempting to break the transcontinental speed record, was forced down in Colorado by dust.

RALPH FULTS IS CAPTURED NEAR DENTON

DENTON, Texas, April 17.—Ralph Fults, admirer and imitator of Raymond Hamilton, was captured today on "Millionaire's Island," in Lake Dallas, seven miles east of Denton, as three policemen pursued him into a dead-end lane. The youthful McKinney ex-convict, accused of assisting Hamilton in robbing the Prentiss, Miss., bank, came tumbling out of his car with his hands in the air, shouting "Don't kill me; I won't cause any trouble."

Texas Toreador

When Portia Porter, above, 15-year-old San Antonio, Tex., beauty, entered that ring near Mexico City, the bull might well have given her one look and bowed his head for the stroke. Anyway, Miss Porter, America's first woman bullfighter, carried off the honors in her recent debut as woman toreador.

Scout Committee To Meet Thursday

Guy N. Quire, scout executive of the Comanche Trail council of Boy Scouts, will be in Ranger Thursday evening to meet with the district committee at the Chamber of Commerce offices. It was announced today. The meeting will be held at 7:30 in the evening. The meeting has been called with the view of reorganizing that committee and outlining plans for more and better scout work in the Ranger district. All members of the committee have been urged to be present.

Twins Reunited After 25 Years

Twins separated since a short time after birth, when both their parents died, are reunited here, after 25 years. Henry E. Walter and his sister, now Mrs. Milton Rose, of Cleveland, O., smile their joy over meeting again, after Walter had searched for four years through humane society files for the name of his sister. They had been adopted by different families.

WHITE HOUSE IS EXPECTED TO APPROVE BILL

WASHINGTON, April 17.—A compromise bonus bill was introduced in the senate under circumstances indicating it would receive White House approval if passed by Congress. The bill was introduced by Senator Pat Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, most active of the administration leaders in seeking a settlement of the troublesome bonus question. The measure does not provide immediate cash payment of the bonus, but offers a method for optional conversion of certificates. Veterans would be able to surrender certificates and receive the 3 per cent bonds which they could convert into cash. The bill dates to adjusted certificates from Nov. 11, 1918, instead of from 1925, thus bringing them to maturity in 1938 instead of 1945. While the white house has not committed itself, Harrison has said it would not be vetoed if approved by congress.

AIR CLIPPER SETS RECORD TO HONOLULU

HONOLULU, T. H., April 17.—The Pan-American Clipper ship, blazing a commercial air trail across the Pacific ocean, landed in Pearl Harbor at 10:21 a. m., P. S. T., today after a triumphal flight over the city of Honolulu. The Clipper ship, a four-motored monoplane, completed the 2,400-mile overwater hop from Alameda, Calif., in 18 hours, 31 minutes, shattering all speed records for the trip. Faster time could have been registered by the ship, but the crew of six veteran Americans voluntarily wasted half an hour flying over Honolulu to allow crowds to view the ship. Despite this the ship beat the previous time more than six hours. Six navy planes formerly held the record of 24 hours, 26 minutes.

May Cindermen to Vie In Regional Meet at Abilene

Eastland trackmen and fieldmen under Coach H. L. Hart will vie with other athletes of the district at the Regional 2 interscholastic meet in Abilene Saturday. Harry Taylor is expected to run the mile. Horace Horton will in all likelihood run the high hurdles, broad jump and 100 yard dash. Roy Taylor, Johnny Garrison, Vinnett Craft, Bob Sikes and Clifford Handlin. Sikes or Craft will enter the half mile race. Roy Taylor will throw the javelin and Troy Taylor will enter the pole vault. To place in the regional meet will merit opportunity of participating in the state meet at Austin.

May Cindermen to Vie In Regional Meet at Abilene

The car, which he stole several days ago from a doctor near McKinney after holding a farm youth and almost turned over as Fults, driving swiftly, attempted to pull it out of route. Fingerprinters checked here with those of Fults verified identity. The desperado, only 24, told newspapermen he was on his way from Dallas to Prosper, near Denton, to rob a bank there, when officers overtook him. He admitted he was with Hamilton in Mississippi and refused to say if he participated in the Prentiss robbery.

OIL BELT GOLF ASSOCIATION GETS SCHEDULE

The Eastern Golf and Country club was host Tuesday night to the Oil Belt Golf association, where a splendid Dutch lunch preceded the business meeting presided over by Horace M. Conley, chairman of the association. It was decided, inasmuch as a number of the surrounding clubs had already become associated with other clubs for the coming season, that only four clubs would be in the Oil Belt association, namely, Ranger, Eastland, Cisco and DeLeon-Dublin, with the Gorman club probably placing some players on the last named team. Club representatives were T. C. Williams, Cagle, and Chairman Horace M. Conley of Cisco; J. D. Tate and Lowe of DeLeon-Dublin; W. E. Storey, Walter Clark, Carl Angstadt, Curtis Hertig, A. Neill, and Guy Patterson, of Eastland; Sam Gamble and Sam Brimberry of Ranger. Team captains for the ensuing year are: T. C. Williams, Cisco; J. D. Tate, DeLeon-Dublin; W. E. Storey, Eastland, and Sam Brimberry, Ranger. Match play will start promptly at 1:30 p. m., and all matches will be played in foursomes. The schedule is as follows: Dublin; Eastland at Cisco. May 19, Cisco at Ranger; DeLeon-Dublin at Eastland. June 2, Cisco at DeLeon-Dublin; Ranger at Eastland. June 16, DeLeon-Dublin at Cisco; Eastland at Ranger. June 30, Ranger at Cisco; Eastland at DeLeon-Dublin. July 13, Cisco at Eastland; DeLeon-Dublin at Ranger.

The pastor will deliver a sermon on "The Crucifixion of Christ," and assisted by Rev. J. H. Taylor, will administer the sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

Grid Coach Shows Prowess On Links

John Greig, coach at the high school here, set a record for golfers of this section to shoot at the past week when he scored an eagle duce on the 317 yard four par No. 9 at Philpeco country club. His drive shot greened his ball, then the ball was sunk on the putt. He will be one of the leading contenders in the annual invitation tourney to be held at Philpeco country club, June 7, 8 and 9.

Substantial Gain In New Charters Noted In Texas

AUSTIN.—Substantial gains in both number and capitalization of new charters granted to Texas corporations characterized the month of March, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. A total of 182 new charters was granted, an increase of 10 per cent over March, 1933. Total capitalization showed gains of 13 per cent and 50 per cent respectively over the two comparable periods. Groups making the greatest gains were banking, finance, real estate-building, and merchandising. It is frequently very difficult to locate the real cause of this type of gain. There are many conditions that arise in the arena of influence of this nerve. And when one of them develops the result is suffering and usually there is plenty of it. In this respect, as one authority aptly puts it, "The tiny part which is inflamed is like a radio station which sends waves of sound into the carrying ether to be picked up by any one who tunes in. The nerve is like a many-wired antenna which catches the message and takes it to the tuned-in brain." While, as indicated, neuralgia can have a large number of causes, one of the more general of them is a decayed tooth. As a matter of fact it is not at all uncommon to find a decayed lower tooth reflecting pain into the upper jaw and even the temple. It follows that much of the neuralgia could be prevented by the simple practice of proper daily dental hygiene and the semi-annual visit to the dental chair. That this fact is becoming more and more appreciated is obvious in the greatly increasing numbers of persons who are making a daily rite of oral hygiene, and who also routinely every six months visit their dentist for professional prophylaxis and check-up. This practice is earnestly endorsed by the State Department of Health.

Man Learns Much About His Pigeons

BAYTOWN, Texas.—Cyril Ptacek abhors idleness and to keep himself occupied he tends his pigeons, scores of beehives, goldfish, fruit trees and flower and vegetable gardens. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and the volunteer fire department. In the past 25 years he has become an authority on pigeons. He has observed that once mated, pigeons never desert, although some "female pigeons strut around." The male bird is religiously true to his mate. "Another thing I've found out is that the birds take regular shifts on the eggs," Ptacek said. The male's hours are 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. The female does the 18-hour trick.

POINT A MINUTE TEAM

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—The Purdue University basketball team scored almost a point a minute in winning 17 of its 20 contests during the 1934-35 campaign and gaining a tie for the Big Ten Conference championship with Wisconsin and Illinois. The Boiler-makers scored a total of 770 points during the season, an average of 38 1-2 points per game. Purdue scored 451 points in Big Ten competition.

Kansas Governor Favors Thomas Bill

WASHINGTON, Apr. 17.—Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas in a letter to a senate mining sub-committee, today urged adoption of the Thomas bill, establishing federal regulation of production and allocation of state quotas. The bill would create a federal petroleum board under the interior department and give approval of interstate compacts for production control.

Relief Is Promised From Dust Storms

AMARILLO, April 17.—The crop swallowing, destroying dust storms of the Texas Panhandle plains soon will be over, T. H. Collman, government meteorologist, predicted today, as Amarillo residents groped their way along city streets through the latest duster. "There may be one more bad duster on tap," Collman said, "but the storms will become less and less frequent." He even went further and predicted rains at the end of the month or early in May. Collman explained the prediction with the assertion that "spring vegetation is coming up and it really takes little to hold the soil."

Blue Sky Law Is Sent to Governor

GENEVA, April 17.—The council of the League of Nations adopted a resolution today condemning Germany for violation of the Versailles treaty by re-arming and then appointed a committee to devise economic and financial penalties by international action against future treaty violators. The resolution was not alone condemnatory and punitive. It gives the league formal blessing to continued effort by Britain, France and Italy to seek re-approachment with Germany and thus consolidate peace. One by one in turn, the delegates of the council rose to give their reasons for their vote. At the close of yesterday's meeting the council of 14 was split three ways—for and against condemnation and against the imposition of penalties for future violations. Today it was a parade to the band wagon except for Denmark. Poland, which has been aligned with Germany, decided to vote for the resolution. Russia, Portugal, Australia, Spain, Argentina, Chile and Mexico announced their adhesion.

Elmer Brown Goes Through Air With Ease To Win Jump

AUSTIN, April 17.—Fake stock sellers must hunt another field, the Texas Legislature decided today. A rigid blue sky law calculated to protect the most optimistic, was passed and sent to the governor for signature. Under the new law every salesman must be licensed, every stock issuer will be liable for the representations made by the salesman. A two man staff to look into the value of securities will be expanded into a division of the secretary of State's office, with field forces to ferret out and prosecute swindlers. CHICKEN HAS FOUR LEGS OREGON CITY, Ore.—There'll be plenty of drum sticks when and if a chicken owned by William Harvey grows up and becomes eligible for the roaster. The biddie was born with four legs: two situated in the usual manner and the extra pair protruding from near the tail. Elmer and Delmer Brown, twins from Eastland, participating in a triangular meet of the University of Texas, Rice Institute and Abilene Christian college in Austin Tuesday each placed in two events. In the 100-yard dash Delmer placed second and Elmer third. Time in the event was set by Chink Wallender, Texas sprint star, with 9.5 seconds. It better the Southwest conference record. Elmer copped first in the broad jump with distance of 22 feet, 2 inches. Texas won the triangular meet with 77 1/2 points over Rice Institute, 59 1/2. Abilene Christian college amassed 33. Delmer took second in the 220-yard dash. Here, again, Wallender was first with time of 29.6. It equaled the official world record, set by R. A. Locke in 1926 and was 2 seconds slower than Ralph Metcalf's intercollegiate record.

2,000 Predatory Animals Trapped

AUSTIN.—More than 2,000 predatory animals, of which 1,674 were coyotes, were trapped by relief clients in Frio county during the past year on projects set up in cooperation with the Bureau of Biological Survey. Thousands of dollars worth of poultry and farm products have been saved in the county as a result of this project, declared County Agent N. H. Nunt, and many farmers and ranchmen have asked R. T. Barnhart, county relief administrator, to station trappers on their places to continue the program. The dog pack and coyote-proof fences have pushed coyotes and other predatory animals from the sheep and goat hill country of Central Texas down into Southwest Texas, where poultry coop raids by preying packs in broad daylight are still not uncommon. Farmers in Frio county now report they are able to raise their entire crop of turkeys, whereas before relief trappers started their extermination campaign, annual losses amounted to from 25 to 75 per cent. One farmer reported the loss of 500 chickens annually to coyotes. From the standpoint of value as work relief project, trapping permitted this type of aid to be extended to relief client sliving in remote rural districts who generally, because of their isolation, have to take direct relief. Two former relief clients in this county are now full time employees of the federal government as a result of experience gained in these projects.

LEGISLATORS TO SPEED UP PENDING BILLS

AUSTIN, April 17.—Acting Governor Walter Woodul, Speaker Coke Stevenson and legislators joined today in a move to cut red tape and prevent a special session. On Woodul's recommendation the house voted 118 to 10 to suspend obstructing rules and act today and tomorrow on eight bills that Chairman Walter Jones of the revenue committee said would raise $17,500,000 and balance the budget. The bills, with one exception, levy no new tax. They increase no tax rates, but stop gaps through which non-payers escape gasoline, beer, cigaret, gross production and occupation taxes. The single new tax proposed is on hard liquor. Separate resolutions were offered to speed consideration of an increased sulphur tax, a chain store and income tax and revision of intangible taxes. All failed to get the necessary vote. "That the movement was a revolt in Governor Allred's absence was asserted and denied. Many administration supporters joined in the action.

$4,947,717 Federal Funds For Texas

AUSTIN, April 17.—Receipt of $4,947,717 in federal relief funds for distribution in Texas was announced today by Acting Governor Walter Woodul. He immediately turned the total sum over to the relief commission. The amount is to be disbursed as follows: General relief $2,300,000; cattle relief, $268,000; transient relief, $268,000; rehabilitation, $127,300; rural rehabilitation, death relief, $2,320,000.

One-Paragraph Note Frees a Criminal

In his illuminating book, "Ten Thousand Public Enemies," Courtney Ryley Cooper reveals that a group of business men from a certain city visited a Department of Justice official not long ago and told him that they had raised a large fund to finance a vigilance committee in their town to drive out the crooks. They wanted the official to advise them how to go about it.

His advice was short and to the point. "Go back and chase out your crooked lawyers and politicians," he said, "and your crime problem won't bother you any more."

So the business men went away sadly and dropped their scheme for a vigilance committee.

It has been said so often that modern crime is tied up with political and legal corruption that it hardly seems necessary to repeat it. But once in a while the day's news provides an admirable scale model to illustrate it.

The Ohio parole board recently authorized a parole for a young man who was serving a one-to-ten-year term for criminal assault on a widow, whom he beat almost to death. He has served only 10 months of his sentence.

The judge who sentenced him—who called his crime "about as vicious a thing as ever came to this court's attention"—opposed the parole; so did the prosecutor who tried his case.

The woman he beat up is still suffering from her injuries, a year after the crime was committed.

How come the parole, then? Well, a state senator who is also a lawyer wrote a brief, one-paragraph letter to the parole board, urging that the parole be granted. The senator says he knows little about the case, except that he has a vague notion that an injustice was done. He does not know the convict personally.

Where did he get his information on the case? Oh, he got it from a police prosecutor in the city where the crime was committed—an underling in the administration of justice who gained some notoriety when the assault took place by refusing to issue a felony warrant for the assailant's arrest.

You needn't read the outline of this case more than once to see that there is something exceedingly peculiar about it; and it is worth thinking about, because it is typical of the way in which subterranean political influences can be brought to bear in favor of criminals.

Here we have a man sent up for a peculiarly vicious kind of crime; a man who very obviously deserves to be kept behind the bars for a long, long time.

He gets out after serving a scant 10 months, because somehow, somewhere, somebody behind the scenes pulled a few wires for him.

A police court prosecutor talks to a state senator, the senator writes to the parole board—and in a mysterious way the gates swing open.

This sort of thing is as common as grass, in almost every state in the Union. It represents the one big reason why our crime problem is so acute.

Flood Control Dams for the Upper Colorado River

Harnessing important rivers of Texas may be on the way. In the very near future the dream of men who lived 50 years ago may become a reality. It was more than a dream in the brain cells of the pioneers. This is a fast moving world, and necessity is ever the mother of invention, which is another name for progress. According to Washington advices, prospect of a ten million dollar federal expenditure for control dams in the upper reaches of the Colorado and Blanco has taken on a favorable turn. United States army engineers unanimously recommended $8,200,000 for flood storage reservoirs in the Colorado above Austin, and $1,930,000 for a huge reservoir and catch basins on the Blanco at Wimberley in the county of Hays.

All this was recommended as part of the $19,800,000 earlier approved for the complete flood control programs on the upper Colorado in future years. This vast project is planned to take place in the federal fiscal year starting June 1, and was recommended to the congressional committee on flood control of the federal congress. Away down here in Texas the sun continues to shine and the rainbows continue in the skies. Harnessing the rivers of Texas, damming the creeks and branches, constitutes the most important of the projects recommended by the federal as well as the state government for the future. Annually the rainfall of Texas is very great, annually millions of tons of subsoil are swept into the Gulf of Mexico; when the freshest come in the springtime and the rivers and creeks go out of their banks. Nature completed the job at the beginning, and passed the brain and hand work on to man to begin where the Creator left off. Now man is beginning to hustle and to do something for the protection, as well as the prosperity and happiness of the people now on earth.

Honesty merely because it is the best policy, is a species of dishonesty.

HAVOC GROWS IN WAKE OF NEW DUST STORMS

As dust storms again scourge the southwest, Margaret Bourke-White's camera shows you better than words the aggravated plight of thousands of plains farmers. This man, emerging from his house to clean up after the "duster" has passed, pushes desperately against the door of one of his outbuildings, sealed shut by the drifted dust which has heaped itself over implements, tools and equipment, a literal mantle of death. After two crop failures, he has no money to repair the badly-damaged buildings.

SOUNDING THE KEYNOTE FOR 1936

URGES SEAL SALES

Charles F. Ashcroft

"At Easter tide every person should buy some Crippled Children Seals and help bring health and happiness to some unfortunate Texas crippled child," pleads Charles F. Ashcroft, Sulphur Springs, president of the Texas Society for Crippled Children. Hundreds of little boys and girls can be saved from life long and hopeless deformity if operated on in time. We are selling these Easter Seals in order to raise money to cure them. They are on sale at our offices 304 Walton Building, Austin, and at many local headquarters. Seals cost a penny each. The federal government will match every dollar raised in this campaign."

eral relief funds will be expended over the state at school lunch rooms to provide these children with adequate food. Results of the program are indicated by the benefits enumerated in a report from a school official in Bowie county: "On health charts—the average increase in weight of students who have given this service is three pounds or more above the average increase of the school. "The percentage of attendance in this group is far above the average for the entire school and above that of these same students before the lunches were provided. "From all indications, the average grade for these children has improved hour or five per cent since the service was instituted. "In the problem of discipline, "at least three-fourths of our problem cases have been eliminated since this service started. Well fed children are easily pleased. "Mrs. Helen Swenson, consultant dietitian of the Commission, estimates the cost of these hot lunches at approximately 12 1/2 cents per plate.

4,986 to Enroll in Texas CCC Camp
AUSTIN.—Authority to enroll 4,986 Texas boys in citizenship camps in the Corps area was received last week by Neal E. Guy, state supervisor for Texas. County administrators notified immediately to begin boys selected to report to training stations between April 23 and 25. Enrollment will be for a 12-month period with opportunity to re-enroll for additional six months. Effect of this new enrollment of boys will be to take approximately 5,000 Texas families off the relief rolls by June 1, at time first checks will be made by beneficiaries of enrollment. Guy said approximately 10,000 young men will be sent out of state to camps in Arizona, Mexico, Colorado, and Wyoming. The remainder will go to camps in Texas. Enrollment of these boys again bring the quota of young men in CCC camps to a maximum figure of slightly over 14,000.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE
SEA Service Staff Writer
IT'S true as true that good-natured people are nearly always imposed on. And certain amiable foods get the same treatment. Lamb chops and sausage, for instance. You can't ruin them, although when they are handled thoughtfully, they certainly are better than when they are treated with a lick and a promise. The other night I had a broiled platter dinner and concentrated on these two meats. And instead of broiling them at an intense heat which might burn them on a second's notice, I cooked them at a moderate temperature and they emerged plump and lusciously browned instead of shriveled and charred. It was such an easy dinner! Everything went straight from the oven to the table and there were few dishes to wash afterwards. I'm strong for jellied salad because I can make them at odd minutes in the kitchen, pop them in the ice box and there they are ready to dress up with my favorite cress and serve. Since I didn't have potatoes I decided on a tapioca pudding. This added milk to the menu, too. Broiled Platter Dinner
Four loin lamb chops, 4 sausages, 2 medium sized tomatoes, 2 slices pineapple, salt and pepper. Preheat broiler for fifteen minutes to 350 degrees F. Arrange sausages in the center of a heat resistant platter. Sprinkle chops with salt and pepper and put two on each side of sausages. Frick sausages in several places with a fork. Put platter on broiling rack about three inches from the flame. Broil fifteen minutes on one side and turn to broil on the other side. At this time add tomatoes which have been cut in halves and sprinkled with salt and pepper. Place tomatoes cut side up and broil fifteen minutes. Baste with drippings in the platter and add pineapple slices, putting a half-slice on each tomato. Baste pineapple with meat drippings and broil five minutes longer. Garnish with parsley and serve on platter.
Banana Tapioca Cream
One and one-half cups milk, 2 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca, 1-3 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1-3 cup sugar, 1-2 teaspoon grated orange peel, juice 1-2 orange, 2 bananas. Scald milk in double-boiler, add sugar, salt and tapioca and cook fifteen minutes, stirring frequently. Beat yolk of egg slightly and pour hot tapioca mixture slowly into it, stirring steadily. Return to double-boiler and cook and stir until mixture thickens. Remove from heat and add orange peel and juice. Fold in white of egg beaten until stiff. Chill thoroughly. When ready to serve fold in bananas cut in small dice.

School Lunches Has Provided Many With Nourishment

AUSTIN.—The school lunch program being carried on in 640 Texas schools by the Texas Relief Commission for children of relief roll families has done so much to correct dietary deficiency of some 42,000 boys and girls that plans already are under way to continue the program next fall. During April, $119,333 of general relief funds will be expended over the state at school lunch rooms to provide these children with adequate food. Results of the program are indicated by the benefits enumerated in a report from a school official in Bowie county: "On health charts—the average increase in weight of students who have given this service is three pounds or more above the average increase of the school. "The percentage of attendance in this group is far above the average for the entire school and above that of these same students before the lunches were provided. "From all indications, the average grade for these children has im-

Happ saw something of going on in her mind. "Is to be hard to tell?" he with his question, she real- ously that she was going im everything, that she was in such a hurry to know his reactions that she could hardly wait for the words to formulate themselves.

"I am the girl the police are looking for for the Drimgold murder."

For a moment the full significance of her statement didn't dawn on him. Then, as he grasped what she was telling him, his eyes showed incredulity.

"You can't be," he told her. "The newspapers described her. She's blond. She's..."

"No, no," she said. "I AM the girl. Your father knows. He took me to a friend of his who changed my appearance and made me a brunet instead of a blond. I tell you I'm the girl. I worked for George Drimgold and..."

Her voice trailed away into silence. It was going to be harder than she thought.

It took a moment for Norman Happ's mind to adjust itself to the situation, just as it had taken a moment to appreciate the significance of what she was telling him.

Millicent saw his jaw set, saw his eyes take on a look of grim determination. For a moment it seemed as though her life force was congealing inside of her like mercury dropping in a tube on a very cold night. Then, with the sound of his voice, she felt a surge of happiness. He said doggedly, "I don't care what the facts are. Whatever you did, you had some reason for doing it. I'm going to stand back of you."

That made it wonderfully easy. She poured forth her story in quick, disjointed sentences, not sparing herself for what she called her stupidity in running away from the scene of the crime. Then she went on, telling him exactly what had happened that night when she had gone to the garage, taken Bob Caise's car and gone for the wild ride which terminated when she ran out of gas.

When she had finished Norman Happ moved nearer. He said, "You poor kid!" Before she realized what had happened his arms were around her and she was sobbing on his shoulder, sobs which seemed to drain worry and mental anguish from her system.

His hand patted her shoulder, his cheek was against her hair. She could feel the roughness of his coat sleeves where it circled the back of her neck.

Yet he made no attempt to hold her in a closer embrace. It was as though he realized the necessity for her to relax completely, to feel that someone understood all her troubles.

Slowly her sobs ceased. She drew back so that she could look up into his face. She smiled at him with eyes that were dimmed by tears, but which nevertheless sparkled with a new-found happiness.

"Poor kid," he said again, and patted her shoulder. "You've had a tough time."

"I guess," she said, "it was more of a strain than I realized. I don't usually make a cry-baby of myself."

She could see his resentment of this criticism of herself. He said impatiently, "You're not a cry-baby and you're not to call yourself one. You've been through things few girls could have endured. You've been able to do it because you're such a clean, sweet, square-shooting kid."

For a moment she saw the gleam of affection in his eyes. She found herself hoping he was going to take her in his arms again. But instead there came over his face a look of grim determination.

"Look here," he said, "we have to beat everyone to it."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean we have to solve both of these murders before the police find out about you."

"Oh, but they've already found out about me—or they will."

"What makes you say that?"

"Bob Caise knows."

"OUT OUR WAY" - - - - - By Williams

She saw swift jealousy on his face and made haste to interrupt his thoughts.

"No, no. I didn't tell him. I haven't admitted it even yet, but he knows. He was suspicious of me from the first. He wondered why your father brought me here and I think in some way he knew that your father was interested in the Drimgold murder. I don't know whether he knew about your father being in the building when the murder was committed or not. At any rate he was suspicious and he took a photograph that had been published in a newspaper and darkened the hair. The result looked enough like me to convince him that I'm the girl they're looking for."

"If he tells the police I'll kill him," Norman Happ said. "I think he's already told them. He and Vera Duchene are working together. They wanted me to swear to something that was false."

"What?"

"That I'd give you a ride."

"Then she's the one who murdered Fielding," he exclaimed. "No, I don't think she is. She fits into the picture some way, but I don't know just where. I have an idea Bob may THINK that she was the one who murdered Fielding. You see, my fingerprints were on that whisky flask. Detective Buchanan locked up the whisky flask in your father's study and reported to Sergeant Mahoney. Bob Caise thought the fingerprints must be those of Vera Duchene, so he slipped into the study and smashed the flask."

Norman Happ's eyes narrowed. "We've got to get to the bottom of this thing," he said, "and the only way we can do it is by finding out just where Bob and Vera fit into the picture. Someone murdered Drimgold. Someone murdered Harry Fielding. We have to find out who that someone was."

"You speak," she said, "as tho it might be the same person."

He blinked his eyes thoughtfully and nodded slowly.

"It isn't at all impossible," he observed. "On the other hand we mustn't make the mistake of jumping at conclusions before we have enough facts to warrant them."

They were silent for a moment. Then Norman Happ went on with slow deliberation. "The man was dead when you entered the room?"

"Yes."

"Yes. I felt his wrist."

"And you went to the bathroom and got a drink out of his whisky flask?"

"Yes."

"How much whisky was there in the flask?"

"I don't know. It was a little over half full, I guess."

She could see that he was driving toward some point, but could not anticipate what it was.

"Do you remember the brand of whisky?" he asked.

"Why, yes," she said. "That was one of the things Detective Buchanan and Sergeant Mahoney were talking about. They said it was rather expensive and that it was rather a peculiar type of whisky for a chauffeur to be drinking."

"What was the brand?" he asked her.

"Buchanan wrote it on a piece of paper and handed it to Sergeant Mahoney. I have the paper here in the drawer."

She opened the drawer and handed him the folded piece of paper. He unfolded it and stared thoughtfully at it for a few moments.

"Do you know what time it was when you got back?" he asked.

"No. I'm not certain. It wasn't very long before daylight."

"And the books Dad gave you in the suitcase were stolen while you were gone?"

Welch, Gorman, Jan. 31; Mary Elizabeth Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Arland Watson, DeLeon, Jan. 26; Daniel Albert Cotton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Nathaniel Cotton, Rising Star, Jan. 10; Elmer Eugene Corlivoose, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Corlivoose, Pioneer, Feb. 9.

"Yes. You see," she said, "when that typewritten message was slipped under my door I thought you were the one who had written it. You see, we'd been talking about this woman in the black ermine coat, and..."

He thrust the folded paper in his pocket.

"Come on," he said. "You and I are going out and hunt clegs."

"What do you mean?"

"Just what I said. We're going to hunt clegs."

"But what clegs are we going to hunt?"

"We're going to find out about that woman in the black ermine coat. We're going to find out about the car of which you have the license number. But first we're going to find out about that whisky."

"What about it?" she asked.

"Simply this: Harry Fielding was at one time a heavy drinker. When he started working as a chauffeur he made up his mind he was going to cut out booze entirely. He never took a drink all the time he was working for Dad. What's more he never allowed any whisky in his place."

"If that's the case how did it happen that..."

Millicent's voice ceased as she suddenly became aware of the full import of what she was trying to say.

"Exactly," Norman Happ said. "That whisky was brought into his place after he left, doubtless by the person who committed the murder. It's an unusual brand. The probabilities are it was purchased somewhere in the neighborhood. We're going to find out who purchased it."

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

receipts for its loan cotton to growers in return for reduction promises.

ANY strikes in basic industries this spring or summer will result in lavish defeats for organized labor.

This private belief of labor leaders here is one good reason for predicting that there won't be any, notwithstanding the threat of a serious conflict in the rubber industry.

Automobile, steel, and textile workers have not been effectively organized by the A. F. of L. and in each of those industries production is now being curtailed—which means the worst possible time for a strike, from the union standpoint.

YOUNG New Dealers who helped put through the stock market act or are helping administer it through the Securities Exchange Commission are taking a lot of credit for the unhorning of President Richard Whitney of the New York Stock Exchange and his "gang."

SEC. by demanding a revision of the governing methods and regulations of the exchange, strengthened the commission brokerage houses and encouraged them to revolt against the banking houses, floor brokers, underwriters, and other insiders who had always fed on them through a self-perpetuating oligarchy headed by Whitney, who has now been defeated for the presidency.

For the first time, Wall Street was invited to a fight in its own ranks and the theory has been that the public, as against the insiders, would begin to get more of a breath.

WASHINGTON—The AAA is out-Hoovering the old Federal Farm Board in its cotton loan operations.

It has loaded up with 4,270,000 sales on loans at 12 cents a pound, which means $56,500,000.

Like the Farm Board, AAA has failed to peg prices, and the market price has fallen below the loan value. And everybody is bothered by the heavy decline of cotton exports and a prospective carryover of 8,000,000 bales.

Farmers who can get 12 cents a pound for cotton from the government naturally haven't cared to export it for less.

Friendly observers of AAA fear that the cotton loan program, which was no part of the crop adjustment scheme and was forced upon the administration by loud outcry from cotton states, may develop into AAA's first real big disaster.

Growers can and will take the cotton back if the price rises above 12 cents, but right now AAA isn't very hopeful about that.

AAA officials have the weapon of compulsory control, which the old Farm Board didn't have, though already this year's program calls for a 25 per cent reduction and waits for and from dispossessed tenant farmers and share-croppers grow louder every week.

The 5,000,000 bales which it will have on hand by the end of the marketing year in August can't be unloaded commercially without ruining the market, of course. So AAA officials are discussing the possibility of cutting down cotton production in 1936 to almost nothing and giving warehouse

JOAN BLONDELL AT ARCADIA TODAY IN HILARIOUS COMEDY

"Traveling Saleslady," First National's rollicking new comedy romance, opens at the Arcadia theatre today, with Joan Blondell heading an all-star cast.

It is an up-to-date story of a young girl, who refused an opportunity to enter the business office of her father, a toothpaste manufacturer, who has become fossilized, signs with his rival to sell a paste with cocktail flavors, an idea submitted to her by an inebriated inventor.

She herself goes out on the road to sell it, beats her father's star salesman at every turn, and after nearly ruining her fond parent, falls in love with her salesman rival.

Joan Blondell has the title role with William Gargan in the part of the star salesman. Glenda Farrell is the other side of the triangular love affair.

Others in the cast include Hugh Herbert, the inebriated inventor, Grant Mitchell, as the conservative manufacturer, and Al Shean, his more modern rival.

WANT CANVASS BEFORE VOTE BOXES OPENED

Action Cancels Vote Recount Scheduled This Afternoon

C. W. Hoffmann et al were granted shortly before noon today in 88th district court an order restraining the City Commission of Eastland from opening of ballot boxes and molesting ballots pending a hearing on their petition Friday afternoon at 1:30.

At the hearing Friday, Hoffmann et al will ask for a mandamus compelling the City Commission to canvass the returns before the ballot boxes are opened. The court order automatically cancelled the recount of city election returns of April 2, scheduled this afternoon.

Recount and canvass of the votes had been ordered by the commission Monday night in called session.

Perry Sayles and Frank Sparks represented Hoffmann.

Judge E. W. Patterson of the court granted the order.

Grant of the order was conditional upon posting of $500 bond by petitioners, which was being done after noon today.

Cardui for Better Appetite

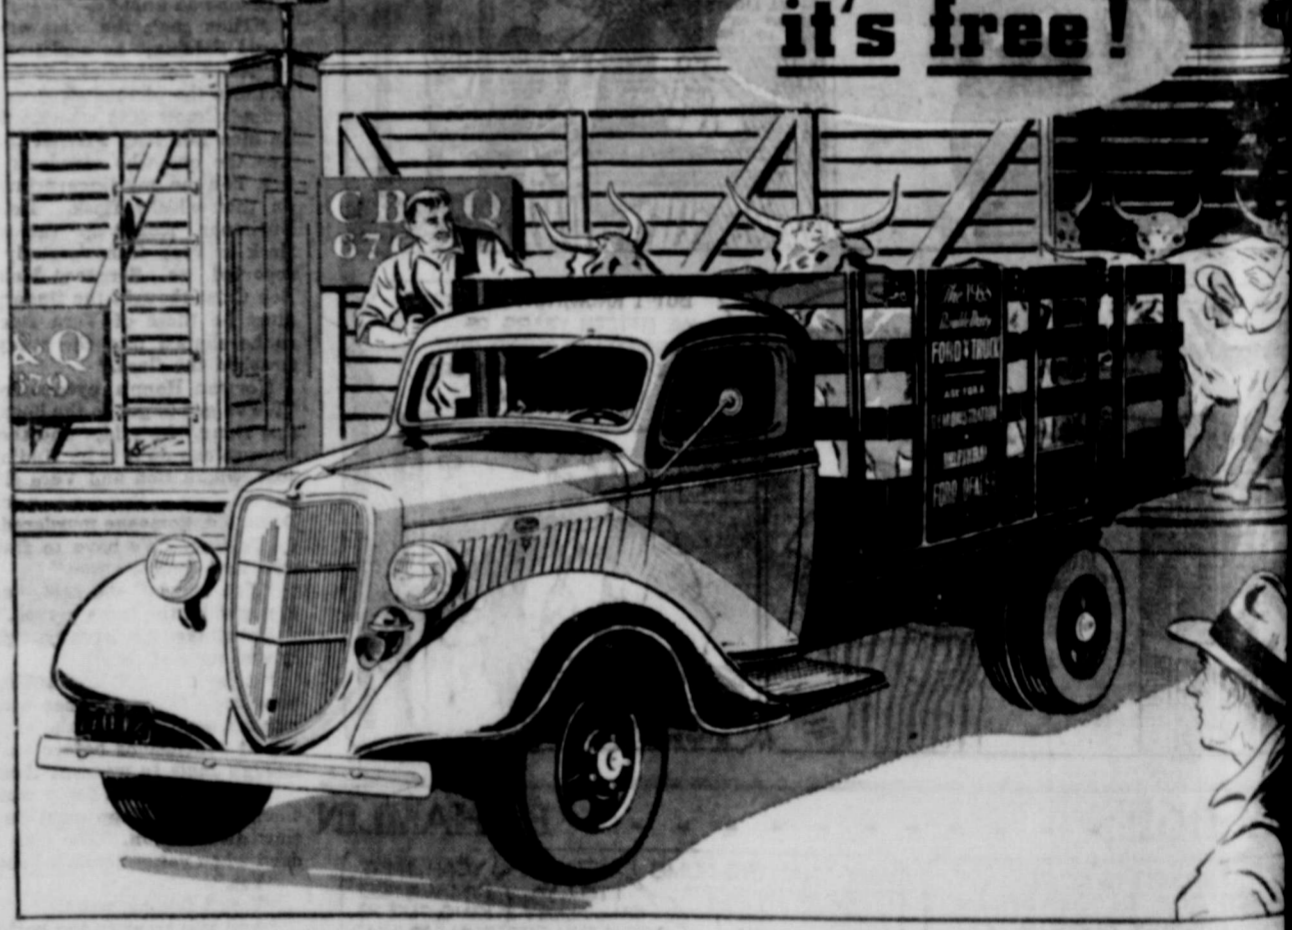

"I was so nervous and depressed, I felt like I wanted to tear my hair," writes Mrs. R. W. Kilpatrick, of Houston, Texas. "I would get ashamed of being so easily upset. I took Cardui at this time and after the third bottle, my strength began to mend. The pain was less. I quit having the depressed feeling."

A better appetite often is one of the first results of taking Cardui, and as nourishment is improved, many disagreeable symptoms of a run-down condition go away. But of course if Cardui does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.
