Huey Long Ends Gambling Crusade

NEW ORLEANS, May 30.—His political purposes apparently accomplished, Huey Long today ended his crusade against gambling in three parishes.

In a three-hour radio address last night he said: "The people seem to want gambling, so let 'em gamble. I did my part. I did my damndest but now I'm ready to turn the job over to anybody who wants it."

Political observers said the real reason for the announcement was that political pressure had been exerted.

Absent Minded Flier Forgot His Bombs

HAMILTON FIELD, Calif.—Captain Charles G. Williamson of the Thirty-first Bombardment Squadron went up to drop some bombs.

He circled and maneuvered over the hundred-foot circle set up in San Francisco bay as a target, then let go.

Nothing happened. He started all over, pulled the release again. Still nothing happened.

Youth Confesses to Brother's Murder

NEW YORK, May 30.—Sylvester Lantieri, 16, confessed last night that he had beaten his three-year-old brother to death.

Confronted by two sisters, Josephine, 12, and Mary, 9, Sylvester admitted he was accustomed to kicking and beating John "for punishment."

Five years ago the Lantieris moved from Pennsylvania. In December, 1931, the father disappeared. A few weeks later his body was found hanging from a tree in a woods, apparently the victim of a mob.

Princess Gasps at Hollywood

This Greek princess had no word for it, only a gasp, after a whirlwind tour through Hollywood studios, lunch with this notable, dinner with that one, and a pie-throwing contest tossed in. "Just as I expected, only—my goodness—" said Princess Katherine, almost jarred out of her Katherine Constantine incognito.

ROOSEVELT IS WORKING UPON A NEW NRA

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Foregoing any Memorial Day holiday, President Roosevelt worked on a program to revive NRA.

His first conference of the day was with members of the NRA board, headed by Donald Richberg. Absent board members apparently had been summoned overnight to meet with the president on the crisis which followed the supreme court decision destroying all codes.

Mr. Roosevelt's meeting with the now powerless NRA board followed personal and telephone conferences with 75 business and labor leaders and with General Hugh Johnson, former NRA chief.

Mr. Roosevelt was not ready to announce his plan but word was passed to congressional leaders to clear the decks and stand by for possible emergency action.

Mine Strike Order Is Issued Today

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Labor union officials today prepared instructions to 6,000 coal mine unions to walk out June 16 unless congress enacts special coal industry legislation.

President John Lewis of the United Mine Workers summoned members of his international board, mine district officials, and wage scale committeemen to a conference to work out details of the strike.

Lewis said the strike could be halted if congress passes the Gusex coal bill, enabling operators and miners to get together on new wage contracts.

The proposed measure, it was said, would give operators assurance of price stabilization and provide a basis to deal with miners' demands.

Newspaper Owner Is City Manager

BOGER, Texas.—L. S. McCann, owner and publisher of the Hutchinson County Herald, county seat weekly, has been appointed Boger city manager. McCann replaces Stewart D. Shirk, who was appointed to the office on April 8 when the new city commissioners took office.

The determined stand for candidates favoring lower utility rates that McCann maintained before the election was credited by Mayor John R. Miller for the publisher's appointment as city manager.

PASTOR WILL FIGHT RETURN AFTER SLAYING

DE RIDDER, La., May 30.—Admitting freely that he shot police chief Ed J. O'Reilly at Orange yesterday, the Rev. C. E. Eskridge, Baptist preacher and former federal prohibition agent, was determined today not to return to Orange to face charges.

Eskridge, six feet four inches tall and weighing 240 pounds, asserted he shot the chief because he had been "persecuted."

O'Reilly, a former friend and member of the Eskridge congregation, arrested Eskridge Tuesday and took two pistols from him.

"I'll go back with Sheriff Dick Richardson of Beaumont," the preacher said in the parish jail here. "But I'll never go back there and be turned over to W. P. Brown Orange county sheriff."

He said he had attacked Brown for asserted failure to clean up gambling in Orange county. "I ran to get away from there. I got a dirty deal once and I'll get another," Eskridge said.

Affiliation In Agriculture Is Given Pioneer

STEPENVILLE, May 30.—Vocational students of the Pioneer Public School, under the leadership of their teacher, E. J. Hughes have won affiliation for Vocational Agriculture II, according to an announcement from A. J. Spangler of John Tarleton College, vocational agriculture supervisor for District No. 4.

Among the requirements that were satisfied in order to secure the affiliation are the following: pupil supervised practice program and practice records; class notebooks, including standards for projects and supplementary practice jobs; an active chapter of Future Farmers of America with an organization report, chapter objectives, an annual program of work, ways and means of carrying out the program, standards of achievement from degree to degree, standards for certificates of merit, records of participation in national, state, and district activities, and the annual report of the chapter; submission of examination and test papers; and library and other equipment measuring up to a specified standard.

In addition Mr. Hughes was required to submit a long-time program and annual teaching plan, outlining the vocational agriculture work for three years, and showing in considerable detail what was taught daily under his annual teaching plan.

Mr. Spangler stated that the work done by the Pioneer boys was beneficial in the type of country in which they worked, and that it was eminently satisfactory.

Repeal In Third Place On Ballot

AUSTIN, May 30.—Prohibition repeal had an inside track on the Aug. 24 ballot today. It was third in a drawing for places of seven proposed constitutional amendments.

The drawing conducted yesterday was the first of its kind. The last legislature ordered the new procedure.

Capitol newspaper correspondents drew lots from a hat. First place was given the proposal to allow pensions up to $15 per month for Texans at 65 years of age.

No Word Heard from Weyerhaeuser Boy

TACOMA, Wash., May 30.—There were no flags today on the square white house on the hill, where the Weyerhaeuser family awaits with anxiety some word from the kidnappers of nine-year-old George Weyerhaeuser.

The lad was kidnapped six days ago at noon and since then the family has been trying to pay the kidnapers $200,000 ransom.

Hauptmann's Case in Bulk

These four packing cases give an idea of the task confronting the New Jersey high court which is scheduled on June 26 to hear Bruno Hauptmann's appeal from conviction and death sentence for the Lindbergh kidnaping. C. Lloyd Fisher (left) and Frederick A. Pope are shown with the 210 volumes of defense evidence they brought to the State Houston at Trenton. And that doesn't include the state's counter-evidence.

Farmers Victorious in Washington March, Says Joe McNeeley, Delegate From County; FDR'S Talk 'Knockout'

Farmers won in their recent march to Washington in behalf of the AAA program, Joe McNeeley, delegate from the county, declares. His report of the trip:

"We farmers won in the march to Washington in behalf of the AAA, with cheers that reminded the old-timers of the famous 'rebel yell.'"

"We gathered at the south porch of the white house, where the President Roosevelt spoke to his former guests in the sort of words he knew they would understand and what the observer would call a 'knockout.'"

"As he talked to them about the cotton, wheat and corn he didn't fail to give experience of his own farms and how he had sold his own cotton at 4 1/2 cents a pound. He assured us that he was fighting anyone who was trying to stand in the way of the AAA and the new deal farm program."

"On Tuesday evening we met at the Mayflower hotel for the congressional dinner, where we expressed our thanks for the AAA program and asked for their influence and support in a longer and better agricultural adjustment administration."

"We were then entertained by several of the congressmen who gave very impressive talks. Chester A. Davis, AAA administrator, brought the idea 'the farmers have as much right to express themselves and to come to the capital to do it as other people.' Mr. Cobb impressed the fact the farmers had been in the backfield all these years but were now being brought to bat."

"After the business session was over we were taken on a sight-seeing tour. We visited Arlington National Cemetery, which is situated on the high hills of Virginia, overlooking the Potomac river and the city of Washington. Here we visited the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Confederate monument and games of some of the 4,000 unknown dead whose remains rest in the beautiful Arlington cemetery."

"We then visited Mount Vernon, the home of George Washington. We were permitted to enter this beautiful mansion and view the lovely antique furnishings once used by the never-to-be-forgotten president and his family."

"The spacious lawns and flower gardens are well kept. Next was the old barn built by Washington's father. Here we saw the famous traveling coach, the 'white chariot,' which General and Mrs. Washington frequently rode in. Last but not least was the tomb of the Washington family with this simple engraving on the doorway of the brick vault: 'Within this enclosure rests the remains of Gen. George Washington.'"

"Other buildings of interest were the library of congress, bureau of printing and engraving, National museum, U. S. treasury, the Christ Church where Washington worshiped, George Washington Masonic National Memorial and the Lincoln Memorial."

"I want to express my sincere thanks to each and every one who helped in any way to make it possible for me to make the trip to Washington as a delegate for the AAA farm program," McNeeley said.

Escaped Oklahoma Convicts Are Sought

CHICKASHA, Okla., May 30.—Grady county officers today hunted six men who escaped from jail here after overpowering a jailer and arming themselves from the jail armory.

They escaped at 1:30 this morning.

Clyde Thompson Is Quiet After Fourth Murder of Career

ANGLETON, Texas, May 30.—Clyde Thompson, 24-year-old life convict, who at 17 killed two brothers at Eastland "just to see them kick," today gloomily contemplated his fourth slaying.

He drove a crude knife five times into the chest of Everett Melvin, 35 a fellow prisoner at Retrieve prison farm barracks last night.

Thompson refused to make a statement.

"Looks like you are in trouble again, Clyde," Capt. Ike Kelly said to Thompson.

"Yeh, sure looks like it, Captain," Thompson answered.

Investigations indicated, police said, that Mrs. Roberts had killed her mother and then turned a pistol on herself. The weapon was found in her right hand.

The mother's body was in bed and the daughter's was beside the bed. Both were in night dress. They apparently had been dead since early yesterday.

Bodies of Women Found In Home

DENVER, Colo., May 30.—Attracted by the barking of a dog, neighbors broke into an apartment occupied by Mrs. F. R. Newton, 60, and her daughter, Mrs. Ethel Roberts, 28, and found both women dead.

Investigations indicated, police said, that Mrs. Roberts had killed her mother and then turned a pistol on herself. The weapon was found in her right hand.

The mother's body was in bed and the daughter's was beside the bed. Both were in night dress. They apparently had been dead since early yesterday.

Nation Observes Memorial Day

America observed Memorial Day with traditional ceremonies today, including parades, religious meetings and gatherings at graves.

New York veterans of three wars marched in a parade on Riverside Drive, where the G. A. R. parades to the Soldiers and Sailors monument.

In Paris Americans and Europeans gathered at the graves of America's war dead.

In France, where some 30,000 sailors and soldiers are buried, officials joined Americans in a simple ceremony. Flags that had stood at half-mast were hoisted to full mast at noon. Services were held in the American cathedral in Paris.

Wash House Burns In Ranger Blaze

The Ranger fire department was called out about 10:30 Thursday morning to a small blaze on South Oak street, where a wash house had caught fire.

Considerable damage was done to the small frame structure and to a fence nearby, before the arrival of the trucks.

KELLY PETILLO LEADS IN 500 MILE CLASSIC

SPEEDWAY, Indianapolis, May 30.—Kelly Petillo set a new record in winning the annual Memorial Day 500-mile speedway classic in an average time of 106.24 miles per hour, bettering the speed of 104.86 set last year by Bill Cummings.

Wilbur Shaw won second place, coming in only 35 seconds behind the winner.

The previous average for the distance was 107.33, set by Louis Meyer when he won the race in 1933.

Kelly Petillo, from whom Shaw grabbed the lead a short time earlier, was second at the 350-mile mark and Bill Cummings, last year winner, was third.

Petillo regained the lead at 275 miles, however, when Shaw stopped for gas and water.

At the 158 1/2 mile mark, Mays went into the pits for water and gas and Babe Stapp took the lead. A few miles later, when Stapp had to pause for fuel, Petillo went to the front. His lead was short lived for Mays once passed him. Stapp was forced out of the race on the 69th lap when his radiator broke.

At 250 miles 22 of the original 32 starters were in the running. Two went out on bad accidents.

On the 9th lap Clay Weatherly of Harmon, Ill., was killed when he lost control of his machine on the northwest turn and hurled the retaining wall. His mechanic, Edwin Bradburn of Los Angeles, suffered a broken back.

A few miles later Al Gordon, Los Angeles, bounced against the wall at the same turn but escaped with minor injuries.

Three Bills Killed Others Signed By Governor Thursday

AUSTIN, May 30.—Vetoes for three bills and approval for several others were announced today by Governor Allred.

One bill permitting 99-year leases of some University of Texas land for the city of Fabens was filed without signature and permitted to become law.

Vetoes bills included one to create a San Jacinto river water district, to create a special board for Palo Duro canyon state park and to fix salaries of district attorneys.

Approved bills included the $3,329,056 judiciary appropriation. The bill authorizing a district for constructing a water pipe line, a bill fixing rates of taxes on inheritances of step-children and bills validating road claims for highway building in Johnson and Real counties.

Wash House Burns In Ranger Blaze

GRAN CHACO IS QUIET AFTER TWO YEAR WAR

BUENOS AIRES, May 30.—The long and costly Gran Chaco war between Paraguay and Bolivia was called off today at least for 30 days.

The Bolivian delegations to the conference here accepted the 30-day truce proposal and determined efforts will be made to bring the conflict to an end.

Paraguay had already accepted the truce.

The warfare arising from a frontier dispute has lasted more than two years and has taken a terrific toll of dead and wounded. For many months the fighting was stubborn, then Bolivia made important advances, only to be lost by a great counter-attack which drove their forces back.

Arguments Heard In Lubbock Trial

LUBBOCK, Texas, May 30.—Arguments of counsel were in progress today in the trial of three Post men charged with murder for the shooting of Spencer Stafford.

The case is expected to go to the jury today.

Dr. V. A. Hartman already had been given an instructed verdict of acquittal.

The three remaining on trial were Dr. L. W. Kitchin, Tom Morgan and Sheriff W. F. Cato of Garza county, who allegedly shot Stafford.

Bodies of Women Found In Home

DENVER, Colo., May 30.—Attracted by the barking of a dog, neighbors broke into an apartment occupied by Mrs. F. R. Newton, 60, and her daughter, Mrs. Ethel Roberts, 28, and found both women dead.

Investigations indicated, police said, that Mrs. Roberts had killed her mother and then turned a pistol on herself. The weapon was found in her right hand.

The mother's body was in bed and the daughter's was beside the bed. Both were in night dress. They apparently had been dead since early yesterday.

Cat Wins Rattle Snake With Rattlesnake

BERKELEY, Cal.—Mrs. E. M. Juda's pet Persion Monday won a catch-a-catch-can battle with a genuine rattlesnake.

Hearing a commotion in the back yard of her hillside home, she told police, Mrs. Juda rushed outside to find the cat viciously clashing the rattler. When she returned with a broom, the intruder was making its way back to the underbrush, apparently injured.

"The cat?" repeated Mrs. Juda. "Why, he was complacently licking his paws."

SPEAKERS FOR OCCASION LAUD WORK ON ROAD

Several prominent Texans on Program Throughout the Day.

"Towns of this section are coming into their own," asserted Judge Sam M. Russell of Stephenville at opening of the Highway 89 Airline Celebration in Eastland Thursday.

Judge Russell, making the address of welcome in behalf of the committee, complimented citizens of the section on work done on completion of the road.

Hamilton McRae, president of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, reminded that there was work yet to be done on the road.

State Senator Grady Woodruff of Deatur lauded work of W. R. Ely of Abilene, former member of the commission, for his efforts which have resulted in completion of the road.

"There hasn't been a more patriotic or honest man in the state than W. R. Ely," Woodruff stated. "Opening of this highway is an evidence of the progressive spirit of Texas," he added. Woodruff warned against diversion of the gasoline tax and reduction of the license plates. "It would be penny wise and pound foolish. If that is done, federal and state funds would be reduced," he warned.

Hope that the road from Weatherford would be extended on to Gainesville by way of Springtown and Deatur was expressed. Survey of the road has been made and right of way secured from Deatur north.

The Eastland High School band under the direction of G. W. Colburn played the initial concert of the day.

At noon a luncheon was given in honor of speakers for the highway fête. W. R. Ely of Abilene, former highway commission chairman, Harry Hines of Wichita Falls, present chairman, and Ray Nichols of Vernon, West Texas Chamber of Commerce president, were to speak this afternoon at the Eastland City Park.

State highway patrolmen from Abilene, Brownwood, Mineral Wells and other points were in Eastland to assist county and local officers.

Milburn McCarty, chairman of the cooperative fleet, introduced the speakers.

On the speaker's platform were the following: Judge Clyde Garrett, Cyrus B. Frost, Albert Taylor, Senator Wilbourne Collier, H. C. Davis, I. J. Killough, Eastland; Judge Sam M. Easy Way To Relieve Philippine Tangle

Something that deserves that overworked title, "epoch-making," seems to be happening on the other side of the Pacific ocean these days, and we are not giving it quite as much thought as it deserves.

The 10-year independence plan seems to have won Philippine approval by an overwhelming vote. There remains, then, only the task of getting through the transition period as well as possible.

Business must think in the days of today and tomorrow—not in the days of yesterday.

Families Enjoy Many Luxuries

MINNEAPOLIS.—Despite recent increases in living costs, the average American family with a $2,000 annual income enjoyed greater purchasing power during the spring of 1935 than in the prosperity years of 1918 and 1929, according to a recent survey. The average family enjoyed luxuries such as electric refrigerators, foreign reception radios, and a new automobile every three years on the same income, the survey showed. Despite these additional luxuries, the family was on a sound footing with a margin for savings, insurance and recreation.

The Newfangles (Mom 'n' Pop)

By Cowen

Summer Sweethearts

By Mabel McElliot © 1935, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY Katharine Strykhorst, beautiful, becomes acquainted with Michael Heatheroe, riding teacher, and acknowledges an unwilling attraction toward him. She is worried over the progress of an affair between Zoe Parker, her best friend, and Gibbs Larkin, of whom Zoe's parents disapprove. Katharine and Dr. John Kaye, friend of the Strykhorst family, take Zoe to a night club where she meets Gibbs with a notorious woman. Zoe threatens to kill herself. That same night Michael in-ter-posed in taking Sally Moon, local coquette, to the same place. Sally, arriving home late, informs her father that she and Michael are engaged.

Zoe drinks poison. Dr. Kaye sets her to work to save her life. Now Go On With the Story CHAPTER XIX Kaye spoke slowly, as one who is deadly weary. "We pulled through," he said. "She's going to get well." Katharine crumpled against the window frame. Her creamy silk evening frock was wrinkled. Her eyes had great hollows under them. "Oh, John, thank God! You did it—we owe it all to you." He shrugged his shoulders. "It was the least I could do." "You mean because you took us to the club and she saw Gibbs there? Why, that was fate—" "Not exactly," said John Kaye, rather dryly. "You see I happened to know he was one of the habitués. I hear gossip around town." "It's taught me something," Katharine said, on a long, shuddering breath of exhaustion. "It's taught me never to interfere with man's destiny. That, after all, is God's business."

she hadn't dared to love anyone for years. But if Bertine knew how often she sought out the little white house in the hills behind In-nicoke, she would be sure to interfere. How grand it would be, Katharine thought, if Michael Heatheroe were to come walking in that door this very instant. She would say, "Tea, Michael?" She would say, "I'm sorry, but do you take sugar and cream? I don't seem to remember..." But she could never ask Michael Heatheroe to her home. Her stepmother would never allow it. Bertine, for all her smiles and apparent amiability, ruled the Strykhorst menage with a rod of iron. Her portly husband did exactly as she wished; in fact, he often thought, said Katharine rather contemptuously to herself, exactly what his wife told him to think. Michael Heatheroe did not "belong."

The day came when Zoe was allowed to walk in the garden. She seemed thinner, more thoughtful than before. Her close brush with death had sobered her, changed her from the laughing, rather frivolous girl she had been into a quieter woman. Katharine was conscious of being drawn to her as to a younger sister. For the moment thoughts of Michael Heatheroe were pushed into the background of Katharine's mind. She saw him almost daily. Sometimes he rode at her side; sometimes not. But their relationship was now on a firmer basis. Katharine no longer felt it necessary to be stiff and offhand with him. Every day she saw about him some quality that she liked and admired more. "Who says men and women cannot be friends?" she demanded of Dr. Kaye one rainy Sunday. Bertine and her father were at the country club for tea. Katharine was exquisite in soft country tweeds, her fair hair curled about her face in a nimbus of ringlets. "I don't know. Who does?" John Kaye returned lazily. Ellen had kindled a fire in the library grate, for the afternoon was cool as well as damp—a curious day for August—and Katharine sat on a low hassock, poking idly at the embers with one of the fire tools. "Oh, I don't know. Everybody!" Katharine offered vaguely, smiling to herself. The man watched her with interest, balancing a teacup in one hand, the other occupied with a cigarette. "Generalizations are always stupid," the doctor said idly. "I love this," Katharine went on with animation, including the fire and the tea tray in the wave of her hand. "It's pleasant to be shut in like this, with rain pounding against the windows and beating at the door." She smiled a secret smile, thinking of the day she and Bertine in the wayside cabin. Michael had been angry at her that day. Why? Some day, perhaps, she would know. He had never spoken to her in that way since. "Pleasant, indeed. You never can get this feeling in a city apartment," mused Dr. Kaye. "You have to have the noise of tree branches being in the wind and the sweep of water pounding on rocks and maybe the lighthouse bell tolling occasionally to give you a taste of real drama in the storm. Katharine, if he digressed suddenly, putting his cup down, "you've been happier of late, haven't you? Or do I imagine it? Somehow you and Bertine seem to be hitting it off better than you did."

"Oh, yes. Bertine is all right," Katharine said politely. It wouldn't do to tell John that the reason she was able to bear her stepmother's irritating ways, her trick of whining and "fussing" as everything was because she had found a new outlet for her energies and affections. The Merzer house was open to her now wherever Bertine made home unbearable. Violet Merzer was her confidante... and Katharine loved the children, too, as columnist from the city printed an item to the effect that "Gibbs Larkin took it on the chin from a certain prominent medico at the Blue Sky Club." Katharine, reading it, trembled. But there was no further repercussions from the incident. Gibbs evidently had not been seriously hurt and, wherever he was, he had the sense to keep out of Zoe's path now. Later Katharine read his name in the sailing lists. Bound for Plymouth and Mavre. She wondered if Cissy Malotte, the blues singer, were on board the boat also.

FOR RENT You may want to rent a tiny cottage—you may want a 12 room house. But in any case you want it quick and the fastest way to find anything is to turn to the WANT ADS the riding place," cried Bertine, in triumph. "That chap who calls himself Heatheroe." John Kaye, glancing at Katharine, was shocked by the drawn look on her face. "Why, there's something here," he said to himself, in surprise. "This means something to her." (To Be Continued)

The axiom, "A word to the wise is sufficient," accounts for the lengthy speeches before Congress. It's a wonder Congress doesn't catch on to Father Coughlin, the way he telegraphs his punches. To conserve our remaining pedestrians, how about fining any driver who bags an undersized specimen? Maybe the reason the Germans are so belligerent is that a war would leave them with hardly any marks.

LAST BATTLE OF CIVIL WAR, WEEK AFTER LEE FELL, CLAIMED BY DIXIE TWIN CITIES

By WILLIAM W. ELLISON
 (Written for NEA Service)
 Seventy years after the end of the last battle of the States when the last battle of the States has arisen again to send forth authorities thumping their heads against the wall of this situation has cropped up incessantly since 1865 to perplex historians. It flared anew with reports in Washington of a report claiming the claims of Columbus, Ga., and Phenix City, Ala., narrated by the Chattahoochee river, that on April 16, 1865, they resisted Federal invaders in the closing battle of the Civil war. Those taking the negative insist that the concluding clash only began as fighting east of the Mississippi was concerned; that the final clash of importance occurred on May 13, 1865, on the Rio Grande river, in Texas, with Confederates under command of General Richard Slaughter emerging victorious. In their contention, too, that the Trans-Mississippi army, of which General Slaughter's force was a part, was the last in the South to be surrendered by Gen. Robert Smith, May 26, 1865, one month and 17 days after General Grant's surrender to General Grant at Appomattox, and one month and 17 days after the Columbus-Phenix engagement.

Although the war that had arrayed brother against brother for four long and bitter years ended historically when Gen. Robert E. Lee surrendered his forces of the Confederacy to Gen. U. S. Grant, Union commander, on April 9, 1865, at Appomattox, Va., fighting raged elsewhere for a week or more. The accompany story tells of the claim of Columbus, Ga., and Phenix City, Ala., to the last battle of the Civil War. The picture above, showing Lee's capitulation, is from the famous painting by Thomas Nast.

"Peace Park" Planned
 Regardless of the merits of these contentions, a movement has been started to transform the pined knoll known as Ingersoll in Phenix City, into a national historical park and erect a monument dedicated to permanent peace between the states of the Union. The movement is being organized by civic, patriotic, and social organizations, together with state legislators and congressmen of Alabama and Georgia seek substantial appropriation from Congress for the project. A marker would be designed similar to the famous lines of the Andes memorial of America, with the grouped words and angels closely coplaning white columns would stand at the structure's entrance a tier of steps, each group inscribed with suitable inscription state in the Union, leading to the foot of the hill to sum-

Long Hell Last Battle
 A hundred yards away squats a two-story brick building, former home of Col. Randolph L. Mott, an ardent Unionist who had consistently opposed secession. It was here that Gen. J. H. Wilson, commander of the invading Federals, made his headquarters during the assault and capture of Columbus and Phenix City. For years these historical sights have been accepted along with the fact that the war ended with the last rattle of musketry and roar of cannon in the engagement. General Wilson himself subscribed to this belief and so expressed himself 20 years ago in an address read at an historical society meeting. But guardians over Washington's historical tomes and faded documents entertain a different notion. They went groping through a mountainous mass of dust-covered papers and, after delving extensively, they announced their findings revealed a score or more skirmishes, "each an action of dignity," traceable after the Easter Sunday clash on the banks of the Chattahoochee. The report showed these spread over an area extending from Georgia to Texas.

 The battle in question followed similar raids led by General Wilson on Alabama cities, the Federals having begun their march at Pensacola, Fla. Wilson had burned Selma, Ala., destroyed much property in Montgomery—cradle of the Confederacy—and continued his course to Columbus, which he described as the "key to Georgia," by way of Tuskegee, Ala. When news of Wilson's approach came, plans for defense had to be hastily changed. Columbus' reserves were composed of workmen in the shops and factories, their ages from 12 years to 60 and over. In all there were about 2000 men, some disciplined and some untrained. General Wilson, a few weeks before the battle, had some 27,000 men. The outer fortifications were abandoned because of insufficient men to hold them and a series of rifle pits, already begun, were quickly finished and extended from Ingersoll Hill to the Fourteenth street bridge. This line was to protect the railroad and upper bridges. Near each end of the trenches were fortifications in which artillery was placed. Bridges Are Burned The night previous, bridges north of the city were burned and later the Dillingham street bridge was partly torn up, filled with cotton waste and saturated with oil, so it could be quickly destroyed if the enemy attempted to make a crossing. Federal forces were first sighted about 2 p. m., when their advance drove in the Confederate pickets. This scouting party was closely followed by Federal keeping up a brisk rifle fire. The advance was met by fire from a small Confederate squad near Dillingham bridge and the battery on Ingersoll Hill. An order was given to fire the "lower" bridge and soon it was wrapped in flames. From 2 p. m. until dark no attack was made by the Federal troops, who showed themselves in small squads on hills commanding a view of the city. Confederate batteries shelled the eminences on which the demonstrations were made. About 8 p. m., the Federals made a vigorous charge upon the Confederate line. It was met steadily, with musket fire and shells from the batteries. The defenders' fire was so withering that the attack was repulsed. Again and again the Federal forces, deepening their columns, advanced under cover of darkness to the assault, and time and again they were met with a roll of musketry, at close quarters, and by the bellying of cannon in the fortifications. Thin Line Broken But the Confederate line of defense was a long one to be manned by so small a force, and a single line of raw troops, even in trenches, could not hold out long against the constantly reinforced foe. Before the line was broken, a small squad of Northern soldiers made their way down the river bank and worked themselves between the Confederates and the remaining "upper" bridge at the Alabama end. Then the break came and pandemonium reigned. Friend and foe, mounted and unmounted, artillery wagons and ambulances, were jammed together in the narrow avenue of the old covered wooden bridge. Inky darkness enveloped the struggling mass. The Confederates had no reserves except at few squads on guard duty in the city, and very little resistance was made after the Federals crossed the bridge.

He's the Same Young Lindy

Time, fame and tragedy all have apparently failed to leave their impress upon Col Charles A. Lindbergh, shown in the top photo as he is today and, below, as he appeared when his transatlantic flight thrilled the world. "Lindy's" epochal achievement occurred just eight years ago. May 20.

Women Watch Cities Fall

From housetops and hilltops, groups of frightened women and children watched the battle. Servants were seen with portable property and silver to nearby plantations and many hid foodstuffs and clothing in anticipation of the war's end. General Wilson's official report to his chief, Gen. E. R. S. Canby, Mobile, revealed that he had captured the towns with the loss of but 25 men killed and wounded. About 1500 Confederate defenders were taken prisoners. Victors seized 24 field guns and one gungot carrying six seven-inch rifle pieces. General Cobb, commanding Georgia Confederate troops, and 600 of his force escaped in the darkness during the confusion of occupation. On the following day capture of Columbus, the navy yard, foundries, arsenals, factories, armory, railroad stock, and cotton warehouses were burned.

GOOD WOODEN MONEY

TENINO, Wash.—Merchants of Tenino gained fame for the city in early depression days by issuing wooden scrip money. When the Washington sales tax, requiring aluminum tokens, went into effect, there was a sudden shortage of the discs. Merchants promptly issued wooden substitutes, to be redeemed as soon as regular tokens are available.

Ancient Crucifix Is Plowed Up On Farm

By United Press
 BEAUMONT, Tex.—An ancient bronze crucifix, apparently hand wrought centuries ago, was turned up by a plow by Lewis Revia, farmer, living near Kountz, Texas. The crucifix has a chain attached and is believed to have been the possession of an early Catholic missionary, possibly a member of LaSalle's party, who was slain by Indians.

Quads Have Birthday; Wish Quins Were With 'Em

Four smiling little girls just as much alike as their birthday cakes are these, at the fifth birthday celebration of Michigan's quadruplets, nine days before the first anniversary of the famed Dionne quintuplets. Gifts and greeting cards and guests made the day a joyous one in the Carl A. Morlok home in Lansing, Mich., though the quads thought it would have been even better if the quins could have been with them. Left to right are Edna, Wilma, Sarah, and Helen, all in perfect health and eagerly awaiting start of school in September.

Others appearing on the program will include: Dr. F. C. Ayer, University of Texas; Dr. W. A. Steigler, director of the state curriculum revision work; State Superintendent L. A. Woods of Austin; B. B. Cobb, executive of the Texas State Teachers association, and C. N. Shaver, president of the T. S. T. A. These men will be assisted by leading educators in this portion of the state.

BECKLES and HIS FRIENDS—By Blosser

Let's have Recovery...

THE one goal toward which we are all striving is RECOVERY! What will bring Recovery? Recovery depends upon the building of bigger payrolls; fewer people on the dole; the creation of more real jobs. And the only way to build bigger payroll is through renewed business confidence, confidence of investors in the soundness of the securities of American industries, confidence of business in the fairness of government. There can never be RECOVERY as long as industry is threatened and harassed, as long as it is throttled by crushing taxes, destroyed by unfair government competition or ruined by governmental red tape, interference and political control. Before any measure of true RECOVERY can be restored the fog of uncertainty and fear that now engulfs American business must be dispelled! Passage of the Wheeler-Rayburn utility bill now pending in Congress would instill new and increased fear into all business. Thousands of employees of the electric holding and operating companies, which the bill would arbitrarily hinder and destroy, would be forced to join the millions of jobless. With a single stroke it would bring tremendous loss to ten million utility investors in this state and the rest of the country. These folks really own the utility industries. The way to RECOVERY is through the re-establishment of business confidence which will permit private, tax-paying capital to go to work again. If we are to attain RECOVERY in the next few years our country must become a workshop, not a laboratory. The Wheeler-Rayburn bill would seriously retard RECOVERY!

Mmes. M. H. Hagaman and Louis Pitcock Elected into Office At County Federation Meet
With Mrs. J. E. Hickman of Eastland serving as guide of recreation at the recent meeting of the Eastland County Federation, at their annual spring picnic, held at Lake Cisco, the occasion proved a most delightful one.

The beautiful luncheon menu spread under the cool shady trees was under the arrangement of clubwomen of Cisco, directed by Mrs. G. B. Kelley, president of City Federation.

The formal business meeting was opened by Mrs. Louis Pitcock of Ranger, outgoing president, and annual reports of the officers presented.

The report of the president, which won for the Eastland County Federation at the recent Sixth District Convention at Alpine, reviewed the year's work.

Mrs. Andrew Mahaffey, incoming president, gave the delegates report of the convention at Alpine including an original poem inspired by the canons of the Davis Mountains. Tribute to the memory of the late Phoebe K. Warner, of Clabbe, Texas, the originator of the Country Federation movement in the world, was eloquently presented by Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, of Eastland and Mrs. M. H. Hagaman of Ranger.

Mmes. William Reagan, W. A. Martin and M. H. Hagaman were appointed as a constitutional revision committee.

Twenty dollars was allotted toward defraying expenses of delegates from the rural clubs to the short course at A. & M.

Mmes. N. A. Brown of Cisco, Fred Driehof of Ranger and Ellen Aldham of Gorman, were named as committee to cooperate with Eastland County Fair. Miss Ruth Ramey outlined the canyery projects in the country and girls club work.

The installation of new officers was conducted by Mrs. William Reagan and named Mrs. Mahaffey of Gorman, president; Mrs. H. G. Bailey of Cisco, first vice president; Mrs. Ed Sutton of Gorman, secretary; Mrs. Louis Pitcock of Ranger, recording secretary; Mrs. E. S. White of Eastland, treasurer and Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, parliamentarian.

Brilliant Recital Hour

Tuesday evening brought to the Ranger High school auditorium another lovely recital hour which proved brilliant from the first number to the last, when Miss Gillian Buchanan presented her class of Junior and Senior pupils in a piano and violin recital for the entertainment of a number of parents, friends and lovers of music.

In an attractive summertime setting, which featured roses and spikes of larkspur and other spring time blossoms a program composed of twenty-one beautifully rendered numbers were heard, each freely and enthusiastically applauded.

This delightful affair concluded a series of recitals to have been offered by different departments of the Buchanan school of piano and violin study.

Worst Disaster Recorded as Biggest Plane Crashes

Most magnificent product of Soviet airplane factories and largest of all land aircraft, the Maxim Gorky (above) caused the worst airplane disaster in the world when it plunged 2,000 feet to earth after collision with a smaller craft above Moscow. Included in its victims were its 37 passengers, 11 members of its crew and the pilot of the colliding plane, who was stunting against orders at the time of the accident. The size of the Maxim Gorky can be judged by comparison with the figure of the man at left.
