Six Southwest Bandits Captured by Agents

WILLOWS WILL BE OPENED ON SATURDAY P. M.

At a meeting of the swimming pool committee of the Lions and Rotary clubs, held this morning in the offices of the Chamber of Commerce, it was decided that the pool would be opened on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The pool has been cleaned out thoroughly and has been repaired and will be ready for the opening of the season by Saturday.

Particular attention was called to the fact that the kiddies' pool at the shallow end of the pool had been cleaned out and the concrete work smoothed so that there is no danger of any of the children being scratched from falling or any danger of them hurting their feet.

The same adequate sanitary measures are to be observed this year as in the past, with the water being circulated through a filtration plant and pumped back into the pool. The pool will also be drained regularly and filled with fresh water, so that it is expected to be one of the most popular swimming pools in this section of the country.

The Ranger band will give a concert at 7 o'clock Saturday night and the public is cordially invited by the sponsoring clubs to visit the pool, hear the concert and go for a refreshing swim.

It was mentioned today that if the attendance justifies two slides will be added to the equipment later in the season, one at the deep end for adults and a smaller one in the kiddies' pool.

A number of bathing suits have been purchased, which can be used by those who do not own suits, at a cost of five cents additional to the regular 15-cent admission for adults and 10 cents for children.

Pastor Raises the First Tomatoes Here

Rev. H. B. Johnson, pastor of the First Christian church, claims the distinction of raising the earliest tomatoes in this part of the country.

Today he brought to the Times office a ripe tomato weighing seven ounces, which he got off one of his tomato plants in the garden at the church.

The pastor said he planted 20 tomato slips early in March, keeping them well covered during the colder weather, and that he was expecting a large crop of tomatoes from them.

"There are only two times to raise tomatoes in this country," he said today, "early and late. If you try to raise them during the hot summer months you won't have much success."

DECISION ON NRA TO BE OF MUCH INTEREST

By United Press
WASHINGTON, May 31.—The NRA decision of the supreme court deprived the government of control of national social and economic conditions, and relegated the interstate commerce clause of the constitution back to the horse and buggy days, President Roosevelt said today.

Speaking for an hour to 200 newspapermen the president said the decision was the most important of his course since the famous Dred Scott decision.

The implications of the decision, if carried to the logical conclusion, will strip the government of many of its powers, he said.

Mr. Roosevelt in measured words said the nation was facing a very great national and non-partisan issue, and the people must decide in the next five or ten years if they want to relegate to the 48 states all control of state and national economic and social conditions regardless of the effect of the ruling of one state against another, or restore to the government the powers which are vested in national governments of every other nation—the right to legislate or administer laws that have bearing on or control over national economic problems or national social problems.

By United Press
NEW YORK, May 31.—Labor unions claiming control of about 350,000 workers have agreed on a "united front" to resist any effort to reduce wage and hour standards below NRA levels, James Bamrick, president of the building service employees union, said today.

He said serious strikes were indicated if there is any "backsliding" from NRA.

The "combine," he said, agreed on a mode of procedure at a conference Wednesday and another conference will hear reports from investigators.

All of these teachers hold master's degrees in their respective fields.

Mrs. Mae Healer will be the principal high school teacher for the summer session. If the demand is sufficient, Mrs. Healer will be assisted by one or more of the college teachers.

The administrators of the summer school have tried to work out a complete program for each division. An elementary school pupil will be able to complete one semester's work during the six weeks which the elementary pupils meet classes. A pupil of the high school level will be able to make at least one and one half units of high school work during the nine weeks session. Eastland Slides Into Normality After 89 Road Celebration Held All-Day Thurs.

Eastland, scene of the Highway 89 Airline Celebration Thursday, today subsided into normality after entertaining thousands.

Building of the Highway 89, a 45-mile airline road from Ranger to Weatherford, was a "logical development," W. K. Ely of Abilene, former highway commissioner, told an audience assembled at the Eastland City Park Thursday afternoon.

"I had no particular interest in the designation of the road," he said. "It was a natural supplement."

The former commissioner expressed hope that the road would be surfaced in the next few years, "so that thousands of visitors of Texas shall have the opportunity of going through Eastland county."

"It is never the purpose of the commission to designate road building to destroy towns," the former commissioner continued, "but its policy is to build roads for the service of the people of Texas."

Ray H. Nichols of Vernon, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, speaking at the Eastland City Park said "Building highway is the keynote of development of the state."

Harry Hines of Wichita Falls, chairman of the highway commission, slated as a speaker, did not arrive.

At a noon luncheon held on the Connelley Hotel roof, representatives of 27 Texas towns and one in Oklahoma honored speakers for the day.

A fete directed by R. L. Marquis, son of the late president of North Texas State Teacher's College, R. L. Marquis, Sr., played throughout the banquet attended by 168.

Silent tribute was paid the late John Holson of Ranger, whom Milburn McCarty declared was an ardent worker for the road.

D. A. Bandeen of Stamford, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was introduced with other chamber, county and state officials.

Highway men present at the banquet included Leo Ehlinger, district engineer, and Wesley Hall, resident engineer, of Brownwood. All members of the Tarrant county commission were present with their judge.

Music was played at the afternoon program by the Ranger Tickville group, Hardin-Simmons Cowboy aggregation directed by Marion McClure, the Eastland High school band and the North Texas State Teachers College orchestra.

Speakers at the morning program were Hamilton McKee, president of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce; Senator Grady Woodland of Decatur; Milburn McCarty, Eastland; Judge Sam M. Russell, Stephenville; J. C. Marceno was presented in a blackface monologue act.

Towns represented at the luncheon were Ranger, Eastland, Cisco, Gorman, Abilene, Fort Worth, Brownwood, Thurber, Stephenville, Mineral Wells, Dallas, Decatur, Weatherford, Denton, Cross Plains, Springtown, Baird, Austin, Lubbock, Vernon, Stamford, Lipan, Granbury, De Leon, Arlington and Sulphur Springs, Okla.

The recent ruling of the United States supreme court, invalidating the code making and hours and wage provisions of the national industrial recovery act, will have little, if any, immediate effect upon employment in Ranger, a survey of most of the leading stores in the city reveals.

A partial check-up, made by the Times, indicates that practically all stores that have been operating under the NRA and which have aided help in the past two years according to provisions of the NRA, will continue to abide by the code until such time as President Roosevelt and his advisors work out some provisions for recovery that will meet with constitutional provisions.

No employees are being laid off, it was learned, and the same wages and hours will prevail in all the leading stores of the city, so that, though the NRA is not in effect and is not enforceable according to the law, it will be observed as strictly as in the past.

Merchants of Ranger, almost without exception, whose business is large enough to have outside help employed, have benefited since the code provisions were installed in Ranger, and they feel that a continuation of the policies of the administration will continue to provide employment in Ranger, and through employment, will create more buying power, and through the increased buying power, will continue to promote the good business that has been enjoyed in the past year as compared to the old conditions.

It was pointed out by some of the merchants that as long as all employers in Ranger continued under the present set-up until the new recovery plans are co-ordinated, conditions in Ranger should continue favorable, allowing for regular seasonal declines and increases in retail business.

No announcements have been made by any of the local branches of major oil companies as to the policies to be followed by the companies operating in this section, but a concerted effort on the part of the leading petroleum companies of the nation to abide by the provisions of the code has been started throughout the nation and it is hoped by many that their efforts will lead to continued employment for those who have been added to payrolls in the past two years.

Bouisson Will Form New French Cabinet In Crisis

By United Press
PARIS, May 31.—Fernand Bouisson, president of the chambre of deputies, sought today to form a cabinet and prevent a crisis.

He accepted from President Lebrun a mandate to form a wide national union for coalition cabinet of sufficient strength to prevent a grave flight of capital and save the franc.

The seriousness of the situation was attested by the night-long conferences that followed the defeat in the chambre of the government of Pierre Flaudin, who sought powers to govern by decree until October 1st.

As Bouisson accepted the task banks opened and business was resumed.

New NRA May Be Formed Soon

By United Press
WASHINGTON, May 31.—Some new legal experts saw today in the opinion of two U. S. Supreme Court Justices, a possible method of salvaging the fundamental of NRA.

If the lawyers are correct, and President Roosevelt should agree, a new NRA may rise strong enough to stand the test of constitutionality. It would be narrower in scope, but hours and wage standards would be secured by it against what new dealers call the degrading practices of chiselers.

Allred Vetoes the Firemen's Pension

By United Press
AUSTIN, May 31.—Governor Allred today lined up with President Roosevelt in risking political displeasure by vetoing a service reward bill.

He turned down House Bill 187 of the last session of the legislature to pension firemen. The bill levied a tax of 2 per cent on life insurance premiums, other than life insurance, to provide a pension fund.

"While I personally favor a fireman's pension I do not believe it is fair or just to levy a tax on a large class of people who will not receive any benefits and to others whom the benefits will be indirect."

The review found that although debts to individual accounts at banks in principal cities were slightly smaller than in March, they showed a gain of 16 per cent over a year ago.

"A good sub-soil season now obtains in all sections, except portions of the former drought area, where additional rain would be beneficial," the review reported.

Eastland, scene of the Highway 89 Airline Celebration Thursday, today subsided into normality after entertaining thousands.

Building of the Highway 89, a 40-mile airline road from Ranger to Weatherford, was a "logical development," W. R. Ely of Abilene, former highway commissioner, told an audience assembled at the Eastland City Park Thursday afternoon.

"I had no particular interest in the designation of the road," he said. "It was a natural supplement."

The former commissioner expressed hope that the road would be surfaced in the next few years, "so that thousands of visitors of Texas shall have the opportunity of going through Eastland county."

"It is never the purpose of the commission to designate road building to destroy towns," the former commissioner continued, "but its policy is to build roads for the service of the people of Texas."

Ray H. Nichols of Vernon, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, speaking at the Eastland City Park said "Building highway is the keystone of development of the state."

Harry Hines of Wichita Falls, chairman of the highway commission, slated as a speaker, did not arrive.

At a noon luncheon held on the Comelias Hotel roof, representatives of 27 Texas towns and one in Oklahoma honored speakers for the day.

A band directed by E. L. Marquis, son of the late president of North Texas State Teacher's College, was present.

Towns represented at the luncheon were Ranger, Eastland, Cisco, Gorman, Abilene, Fort Worth, Brownwood, Throckmley, Stephenville, Mineral Wells, Dallas, Decatur, Weatherford, Denton, Cross Plains, Springtown, Baird, Austin, Lubbock, Vernon, Stamford, Lipan, Granbury, De Leon, Arlington and Sulphur Springs, Okla.

COURT RULING ON NRA NOT COSTING JOBS

The recent ruling of the United States supreme court, invalidating the code making and hours and wage provisions of the national industrial recovery act, will have little, if any, immediate effect upon employment in Ranger, a survey of the most of the leading stores in the city reveals.

A partial check-up, made by the Times, indicates that practically all stores that have been operating under the NRA and which have added help in the past two years according to provisions of the NRA, will continue to abide by the code until such time as President Roosevelt and his advisors work out some provisions for recovery that will meet with constitutional provisions.

No employees are being laid off, it was learned, and the same wages and hours will prevail in all the leading stores of the city, so that, though the NRA is not in effect and is not enforceable according to the law, it will be observed as strictly as in the past.

Merchants of Ranger, almost without exception, whose business is large enough to have outside help employed, have benefitted since the code provisions were installed in Ranger, and they feel that a continuation of the policies of the administration will continue to provide employment in Ranger, and through employment, will create more buying power, and through the increased buying power, will continue to promote the good business that has been enjoyed in the past year as compared to the old conditions.

It was pointed out by some of the merchants that as long as all employers in Ranger continued under the present set-up until the new recovery plans are co-ordinated, conditions in Ranger should continue favorable, allowing for regular seasonal declines and increases in retail business.

No announcements have been made by any of the local branches of major oil companies as to the policies to be followed by the companies operating in this section, but a concerted effort on the part of the leading petroleum companies of the nation to abide by the provisions of the code has been started throughout the nation and it is hoped by many that their efforts will lead to continued employment for those who have been added to payrolls in the past two years.

NEARLY SCORE BELIEVED DEAD IN COLORADO

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., May 31.—Authorities here estimated that from 12 to 18 persons were missing or dead in the wake of the flood that swept the eastern slope of the Rockies yesterday.

Nearby towns of Kiowa and Elbert suffered terrific property damage in the flood, A. A. Gargan, Western Union superintendent, said today after an airplane flight over the area.

Communication lines to Eastonville, Kiowa, Elbert and Monument were cut.

Only two bodies had been recovered in Colorado Springs. One was a ranch hand washed from his horse in the waters of Fountain creek.

A woman was drowned when swept from a tree. A child was reported drowned when rescuers failed to pull it from a second-story window.

The flood raced into Denver but did not overflow the cement walls of Cherry creek, as did two years ago. No one was drowned in Denver. More than 100 were homeless here.

Bouisson Will Form New French Cabinet In Crisis

PARIS, May 31.—Fernand Bouisson, president of the chamber of deputies, sought today to form a cabinet and prevent a crisis.

He accepted from President Lebrun a mandate to form a wide national union for coalition cabinet of sufficient strength to prevent a grave flight of capital and save the franc.

The seriousness of the situation was attested by the night-long conferences that followed the defeat in the chamber of the government of Pierre Flandin, who sought powers to govern by decree until October 1st.

As Bouisson accepted the task banks opened and business was resumed.

EARTHQUAKE TAKES TOLL OF 200,000 DEAD

KARACHI, India, May 31.—A devastating earthquake demolished the Quetta region on the northwest frontier today, burying thousands of natives and Europeans in the ruins of a once prosperous city and countryside.

Unofficial estimates placed the casualties at probably 20,000. It will be a long and difficult task to determine the number, since most of the victims lie under the debris.

British and Indian troops toiled feverishly, extricating thousands of dead and injured from the ruins of the city of 17,000 people.

The fertile and beautiful district on the plain, 5,500 feet above sea level, was a scene of destruction.

Camps for the injured were established on the race course and at the British residences.

The greatest loss of life occurred in the native quarter, where the population was trapped in ruins of flimsy houses. Rescue work was impeded by collapsing walls.

The dead, it was officially announced, included 44 white members of the Royal Air Force.

Despite the number of air force casualties, the military station, which is some distance from Quetta, was not demolished.

Direct communication is non-existent. There is no way of getting news except fragmentary reports being picked up from the official radio.

Early fears of starvation were banished when it was found that food supplies are adequate for the present and railroads and highways passable.

The government said the town of Mansuag, 40 miles south of Quetta, was rased and four-fifths of the population killed.

She Wed Two Men in a Day

A lightning mind-changer is Jessie Clyde Cavender, 15, above, of Memphis, Tenn. In the morning she married Earl Longmire, 20, right, below. Two hours later she asked her mother to annul this marriage by telephone. Without waiting to learn this was impossible, she became the bride of Denison Manning, 39, lower left. In court, when attempt was made to straighten the muddle, Jessie insisted she loved Manning.

Robberies Are Now Solved Officers Say

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 31.—Capture of six persons, one hunted as the leader in the kidnaping of August Luer, aged Illinois banker, and the others in connection with southwestern bank robberies, was announced today.

Those arrested were Walter O'Malley, hunted for nearly two years as the man who, federal agent believe, planned the Luer abduction; Dan Heady, former convict; Floyd Henderson, Dewey Gilmore and Russell Cooper.

Heady's wife also was arrested. O'Malley and Heady and his wife were taken here Monday at an apartment which had been watched more than a week by officers.

Government agents said the Luer kidnaping and a number of bank robberies had been solved. They said those under arrest were suspected with connection with the notorious gang of Alvin Karpis, who came originally from northeastern Oklahoma.

Judge Hickman Fete to Be Tonight

Second of a number of affairs in honor of Judge J. E. Hickman, former court chief justice, who was appointed recently a member of the supreme court commission of appeals, will be given tonight by 9:45 Bible class members at 6:30 o'clock in the city park in Eastland.

The barbecue picnic will be staged in western style, class members indicated.

Sunday, members of the Morning Tower Bible class at Breckenridge, a Dublin class and the Eastland 9:45 class will gather in the Methodist church in tribute to the man who was instrumental in their organization and who has served as teacher.

Approximately 200 Methodist church members and friends of picnic supper was spread. Judge W. P. Leslie presided as toastmaster.

V. T. Seaberry, speaking in behalf of the 9:45 Bible class expressed regret over the soon departure of the Hickmans, as well as the following: Ralph Mahon, Jr., Young People's department; Geo. Brogdon, Methodist Steward; Mrs. Wayne Jones, Missionary Society; Mrs. C. C. Robey, Martha Dorcas class, choir; Rev. Rosemond Stamford, church as a whole.

The Eastland High school band under direction of G. W. Colman played.

The former Eastland jurist and Mrs. Hickman paid respects Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hoffmann. A

CHARGE BEING PREPARED IN MURDER TRIAL

LUBBOCK, Texas, May 31.—Federal Judge James Wilson prepared his charge for a jury at 2 p. m., today, in the most unusual trial in West Texas history—that of a sheriff and two prominent citizens charged with murder.

United States District Attorney Eastus, in closing arguments for the prosecution, pleaded for conviction of Sheriff Gusto, Dr. L. W. Kitchin and Tom Morgan.

The prosecution claimed that the killing, Feb. 7, at Post, of Spencer Stafford, was the result of a conspiracy to "put Stafford out of the way" and halt his investigation of a narcotic ring.

W. P. McLean Sr., Fort Worth, one of the counsel for the defense, argued the government did not prove the sheriff did not fire in self-defense.

Passion Play of the Middle Ages Filled Long-Felt Mission

The Great European Passion Play in English will be presented at the Recreation building, Ranger, June 17, 18 and 19. It has its high purpose in that the members of the company believe they have a mission to perform. They wish to reach the majority of the people rather than the exclusive minority. Living the history of the New Testament days, is the religious element in their action. To the New Testament has become a vigorous actuality. They know their native village and their play is theirs. Little changed in the play of centuries ago, they know that it was performed in front of the Cathedral in 1064, long before America was discovered.

The Crusaders were not older—the spirit of fierce exultation still lingers in Europe—the Normans were strengthening their grip upon England, Frederick the Redbeard had no more than gone asleep in his great hall—Italy was a welter of quarrelling principalities—cities had not yet gained that independence and richness which later on was to contribute to the splendor of the Great Passion Plays of the Renaissance. The common people in that great era of feudalism were cramped between the vast power of ecclesiastical autocracy and the nobility—they were sunk in ignorance hardly understandable in this day and age, the most fantastic superstitions were accepted as truths.

They had few pleasures, few forms of entertainment. The people had nothing. The noble, walled within his castle, alone enjoyed the meager luxuries of the day, and because they had so little and their master comparatively so much, it was the people who turned so eagerly to such a spectacle as the Passion Play. In Europe, in the Middle Ages, there was no entertainment to compare with it. With the purest form of Passion Play in its full glory, history and legend credited it with being the outstanding example of medieval magnificence.

In the present production, no expense has been spared to make it the most beautiful and elaborate spectacle ever presented to an American audience. Hundreds of costumes are carried by the company, for the large extra list of people used. Among the ensemble of this sublime spectacle we find young ladies as angels, while others appear as water carriers with their jugs and gourds, many as virgins, and followers of the Master. A great nondescript crowd of men, women, and children are dressed in the period of the time. The players convey the atmosphere of this sacred drama to the hearts of both the portrayer and the hearer.

Henderson and Rodgers Return To Elk Mat Show

The fans at the Elks wrestling show last Monday night were well pleased with the first match between Henderson and Rodgers except the outcome.

Henderson asked for a return match with Rodgers and arrangements have been made to have these two meet again next Monday. Henderson is out for revenge and no doubt will deal Rodgers plenty of misery.

The second match will be equally as rough as the first one. Tiger Billie McEuin is matched against Sailor Moran of the Pacific coast. In Moran's first appearance here he wrestled under difficulties, having a fractured rib. He has fully recovered and says he will stop McEuin's rough stuff.

These two bouts are audience pleasers and a good attendance is expected. Reservations for ring-side seats can be made at Elks club by calling 283, any afternoon.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Katharine Strykhurst, beautiful, 20, becomes acquainted with Michael Heatheroe, riding teacher, and acknowledges an unwilling attraction toward him. She is worried over the progress of an affair between Zoe Parker, her best friend, and Gibbs Larkin, of whom Zoe's parents disapprove.

Katharine and Dr. John Kaye, friend of the Strykhurst family, take Zoe to a night club where she sees Gibbs with a notorious woman. Zoe threatens to kill herself.

That same night Michael is inveigled into taking Sally Moon, local coquette, to the same place. Sally, arriving home late, informs her father that she and Michael are engaged.

Zoe takes poison. Dr. Kaye works all night to save her life and succeeds. Katharine hears that Michael is going to marry Sally Moon.

Now Go On With the Story

CHAPTER XX

Katharine said, persistently, "I want to get away, Daddy."

Victor Strykhurst frowned. "I don't know what gets into you girls nowadays," he complained. "Zoe Parker has to be dragged all over Europe and even when she gets home she's not satisfied; why, you've got everything in the world you want—"

Katharine listened patiently. Stubbornly she went back to her argument.

"There's nothing for me to do here. Frankly, I'm bored. I'd like a job."

The snowy eyebrows shot up. "What could you do? No, it's nonsense; I won't have it. People'd say Bertine hadn't been good to you. And she has been good, hasn't she?"

It was almost pathetic, his desire for approval of Bertine, Katharine thought. Dryly, she said, "Of course. But, Daddy, couldn't I have some of my own money now—the money Mother left in trust for me? It will be mine anyhow next year."

The merest shadow crossed his face. "Eh? No, I think that would be irregular. The bank probably wouldn't hear of it."

"I thought you had it in charge." His high color deepened. "Little girls shouldn't bother their heads about business. Your money will be paid over in due time."

He terminated the interview. "Buy yourself a new hat and forget about it, my dear."

That, Katharine told herself wandering out into the morning, was that. She had been a fool to think she could do anything with her father.

But how could she bear Innicoek now?

Bertine's words of the day before rang in her mind. Was it true? Could it be true that Michael Heatheroe was going to marry Sally Moon?

Incredible! Katharine's mind—her heart—rejected it.

Bertine had said, coolly, "Of course the Moons are up in arms. But what can they do? The girl's always been a wild one. And undoubtedly the man's a fortune hunter. Sally Moon will have a very tidy little fortune of her own some day."

She had dismissed the whole matter. Somehow Katharine had got out of the room. No one, she was sure, had noticed. Not even John Kaye, who saw everything, usually.

She made the day pass somehow. Strange how empty hours could be when you hadn't anything to look forward to. Swimming, tennis, French lessons—sitting at the wheel of some boat with an attentive, bronzed young man beside you. It was all a dream in which you moved and spoke automatically.

So Michael Heatheroe was a fortune hunter! Could she believe that? Michael, with his lean, tanned face and those eyes that were so shrewd and kindly—could a man like that be really mean and cold?

Or had he fallen desperately in love with the bundle of feminine flutter and curls that was Sally Moon?

The town buzzed with the sensation for several days. Have you heard? That crazy Sally Moon's gone and got herself engaged to the man who runs the riding club. Of course he's a nobody, my dear, but quite good manners, and so good-looking. Oh, well, the Moons are really outsiders, anyhow. Her mother was a girl in a shop, some place. . . . And so on and so on. Small town gossip. Picked up avidly by the lunching, bridge-playing women at the country club, tossed from mouth to mouth.

Katharine thought it would drive her frantic, at first. But she steel-ed herself to it. After a week—two weeks—she found she could bear the thought without flinching.

She had not been back to ride since the formal announcement in the papers. Therefore she had not met the slightly puzzled, unhappy look in the eyes of Michael Heatheroe. She had not been compelled to see Sally's triumphant smile or air of possessiveness.

"Well, I know one thing, my dear," she heard Bertine say impressively to Mrs. Romantle. "I know if she brings him to the club I shall complain. I shall certainly expect all the members who know the man to cut him. It's not decent."

Rage had choked Katharine. She had flung herself out of the house, unable to trust herself further.

Zoe was completely recovered now. Lisa Parker took her out to Colorado in late August. Dr. Kaye came out less often these days. His practice was growing. Bertine had told everyone proudly that he was Park Avenue's most popular specialist.

So Katharine was left more and more to herself. She began to refuse invitations to dinners and dances, including the younger set of Innicoek. Such parties bored her. She got into the habit, without Bertine's knowledge, of putting her sketching things into the car and driving up to Violet Mercer's.

Even if Violet were not at home, Katharine could set her easel up in the garden back of the little white house and work away busily and happily for hours.

The Mercer garden was a pleasant jungle of old-fashioned flowers Zinnias, nasturtiums, ageratum, snapdragons made a perfect riot of color here. Hollyhocks, gone to seed, leaned idly against the clapboard walls and within a picket fence enclosure of the drying yard. A rocky path wandered up the hills behind the house. Katharine tore her stockings and scratched her hands on tangled berry bushes. Mint grew in a fragrant carpet beneath the asters. It was all old-fashioned and comfortable and satisfying. Sometimes one of the small girls, unburned and hatless, with tawny hair flying in the breeze, would run out to glance over her shoulder.

"Oh, that's lovely! Come, Mummy, see—she's done the bird bath and the roses."

Katharine loved it here. It meant release and escape. Her soul, feeling its inevitable growing pains, expanded in this simple, uncritical atmosphere.

Stanley Mercer came back from his western trip and joined the family group without destroying the charm. He was a stooped, silent, gentle man in his late thirties. An artist, Stan Mercer, and a good one. The little girls adored him. His wife was devoted to him, anxious for his comfort and happiness.

It was a good marriage—a solid, permanent, companionable marriage. Katharine observing of it, felt that Violet Mercer was a fortunate woman. Still Violet had told her one day that Stan hadn't been her first love. No, their coming together had been the culmination of a more mature attachment. Yet Violet was happy. . . . Maybe all the fevers and fury of first love were wasted.

And yet—and yet—Katharine couldn't bear to see Michael Heatheroe just now. Later, perhaps, when she had got over the shock of knowing he was going to marry someone else. When she'd managed to forget those scraps of words she had treasured so foolishly.

"My darling," he had called her, holding her in his arms, that day Fury had flung her.

Or had she dreamed it?

Voices intruded into her day dream. "Katharine, we're going to have tea under the big maple. Want to take time out?"

She put down her pencil. "Oh, tea would be grand!"

Lavinia brought the big silver tray with the quipper cups on it and the thinly-sliced bread and the silver pot.

"Anybody want it iced? Stan, you? Or Evelyn?"

Evelyn Vincent was an Englishwoman, a friend of Violet's. She came now, balancing her cup, to glance at Katharine's sketch.

"Oh, that's very nice, my dear. Look, Stan, don't you think so?"

"Mind if we look, Katharine?"

The girl shook her head, smiling. Funny, she didn't mind in the least if these people looked at her work. With Bertine, she would have fairly squirmed.

Stanley Mercer, tall and loose-jointed in his white cotton slacks and blue shirt, came over to squint down at the easel.

"Why, this is awfully good. Evelyn, you ought to be able to do something with it."

Katharine, her heart beating very fast, looked from one to the other. They weren't making fun of her; they were in earnest! She had tried to hard to get it all in—the rocks and the drooping gray-green plants clustered about them and the flame and burnt orange of the nasturtiums. . . .

"You've got something there, really," said Evelyn Vincent, who ran an art shop on Fifth Avenue.

For the first time in weeks hope stirred in Katharine's heart. Her "dabbling," as Bertine had always called it, contemptuously, might prove to be a way out for her, after all.

Speaking of Federal Aid for Texas Centennial

The house foreign affairs committee of congress has given tentative oral approval of a joint resolution authorizing federal participation in the Texas Centennial exposition...

Rep. Hamilton Fish of the celebrated Fish family is to be congratulated. He has made the very interesting discovery that Texas is a big state "and the thing should be put over in a big way."

Things are moving under Southwest skies and the signs of the times are very promising to say the least. There was a drought last year. There is moisture in the soil this year.

Hansford county has gone in for concrete subirrigation tile in a big way this spring. Through an agreement with relief agencies labor has been furnished from the relief rolls for making and installing the tile while the farmers have furnished the cement and sand and have agreed to pay one-fourth of the produce from the subirrigated garden for the year 1935. tile have been put down.

Twenty other gardens using 12,000 feet of tile have been subirrigated by farmers in this county working independently—making a total of 32,000 feet of tile which will subirrigate Hansford county gardens, according to G. Lester Boykin, agricultural agent for the county.

Hempill county tried out lath subirrigation gardens a few years ago finding them satisfactory but not very durable. Last year County Agricultural Agent H. M. Cantwell supervised the installation of tiled relief gardens which proved very successful. This year 16,000 feet of concrete tile have already been made and laid in the county.

Nearly five miles of concrete tile have been made and laid by relief workers in Ochiltree county this spring, according to the report of J. T. Stovall, county agricultural agent. The exact figures are 25,957 feet. The tile has been furnished in such cases as actual material costs plus a one-fourth toll of the garden crops which are produced on the subirrigated land. The material cost has been approximately one and one-fourth cents per foot.

CLARKSVILLE—From four and one-half to six tons of alfalfa per acre have been harvested by Martin Stiles of Annona in Red River county who has 21 acres in alfalfa, according to C. M. Knight, county agricultural agent. The lowest price paid for alfalfa hay, according to the county agent, is $20 per ton.

"This new feed crop almost eliminates the need of corn and other grain crops that are selling at such high prices. It permits me to sell a few bushels of corn that I would otherwise have to feed my livestock in order to finish spring farming operations," Stiles says.

CALDWELL—A net profit of $31.15 for the month of April from her flock of 183 hens is reported by Mrs. Caldwell Duesell of Burleson county, according to G. C. King, county agricultural agent. Mrs. Duesell says that her hens laid 3,756 eggs, or 313 dozen, which sold for $58.70. In addition, she sold three chickens for $1.50, bringing her total receipts to $60.20.

She bought 1,100 pounds of mash, which cost $20.45, and 400 pounds of grain which cost $8.60, making a total expense of $29.05.

MARSHALL—One hundred acres seeded with Bermuda and lospedeza in March, 1934, on the farm of Web Rogers of Harrison county is furnishing excellent grazing for 75 dairy cows, according to G. M. Morris, county agricultural agent. Mr. Rogers thought that the dry weather in the summer of 1934 would cause the grass and clover to die out, but it is up to a good stand.

Fifteen acres of pasture land contoured in March, 1935, by U. C. Lowry of Harrison county is also coming along fine. Lowry thinks the contours will help his upland pastures a great deal, according to the county agent.

The 1,100 acre pasture of the Peterson brothers which was cleared and brushed during 1933, with five acres seeded to white Dutch clover, black medic, Dallas grass, carpet grass, Bermuda grass and lospedeza, is also furnishing excellent pasture.

KERRVILLE—Forty-eight dollars was made recently by the Kerrville Home Demonstration club at a sales day at which aprons, children's clothing, quilts and pillow protectors, home made bread, cakes, pies, jelly, native ferns and cacti were among the articles sold. All home demonstration clubs in the county contributed and cooperated in the sales and the proceeds were turned over to the county home demonstration council to help fill the budget of $162.25 for the year.

Another sales day will be held June 22, in connection with the wardrobe achievement day, according to Miss Frances Wilroy, Kerr county home demonstration agent. Each club will sponsor one event until the full amount called for in the budget has been raised.

PLAINVIEW—"It's easy to make rugs from the threads of burlap sacks," says Mrs. O. E. Faver of the Stoneback Home Demonstration club, according to Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, Hale county home demonstration agent. "You pull three threads, twist them, and thread your needle. That's much quicker than cutting one-fourth inch strips of material to use. Good burlap sacks are plentiful and easy to dye. They do not drink the dye as woolen materials do, so so this makes them cheaper."

Mrs. Faver has sent one of her burlap hooked rugs to the extension specialist in home industries for standardization.

NACOGDOCHES—A mattress cover of heavy material which will fasten at one end with snaps so that it may be removed and washed is being made by Zela Mae Johnson, Nacogdoches county bedroom improvement demonstrator, for her new 50-pound home-made mattress, according to Miss Norma Stokes, home demonstration agent. The mattress was made at a demonstration at Zela Mae's home supervised by Miss Stokes.

In taking care of the mattress, Zela Mae expects to sun and beat it every sunny day for three weeks. After she begins using the mattress she will turn it each day when she makes her bed and sun and beat it every week when possible.

Blue and Discouraged?
There are many men and women in this town whom life apparently has treated unkindly. Without true friends they struggle against odds. Yet the church around the corner is full of men and women anxious to help.
Christianity Means Helpfulness
Meet these church people half way. Give them an opportunity to be your friends. "Come unto me and I will give you rest." Thus directed the founder of Christianity. His promise stands today. Test it. Crosses which arise in business, in school, in the home are more easily borne if one has accepted the assurance that Jesus Christ is ever ready to help.

44th Legislature Was "Marrying" One for Solons

AUSTIN.—One senator and three representatives have been checked off the bachelor list since the last session of the legislature began. Representative Homer Leonard, McAllen, and Miss Nona Barbara Byerly, San Antonio, were married Sunday. Leonard was chairman of the house appropriations committee. She was committee secretary. Session nuptials included: Senator and Mrs. Welby K. Hopkins, Gonzales; Representative and Mrs. Howard Hartzog, Port Lavaca; Representative and Mrs. Traylor Russell, Mt. Pleasant.

Henry Howell, San Marcos News columnist, has a hunch that Representative Thomas J. Dunlap of San Marcos may be a benedict when the next session of the legislature convenes.

"We don't know Representative Dunlap's intentions," Howell wrote, "but we do have it on good authority that he has been casing around town looking for a vacant lot."

Dunlap has no cow, so Howell surmised that the lot was not for prizing purposes but to build upon and remarked: "He (Dunlap) has returned from a session of the legislature which gained publicity through the marriages of its solons."
