SINGING MEET PLANS BEING MADE RAPIDLY

A meeting of the singing convention committee was held at the office of the chamber of commerce Wednesday night, with Dr. A. E. Wier, J. E. Meroney, R. V. Galloway, Calvin Brown, Mat Robinson, A. J. Ratliff, F. D. Hicks and E. R. Gentry present.

A committee to provide places in the homes of Ranger for music teachers and members of quartets was selected. This committee is to provide places for everyone attending the convention to stay, but will have the responsibility of seeing that the teachers and quartet members are furnished rooms Saturday night. Members of the committee are Dr. Wier, Mat Robinson, Roy Moore and Gus Reynolds. Anyone having room for one or more of the singers has been urged to notify the chamber of commerce.

It was brought out that literature and publicity was being prepared and sent out to a large list of people who attend singing conventions.

Ernest Rippitoe has promised that he would be present for the occasion and would have his quartet along. His group is always welcome at any singing convention and always takes an active part.

Other quartets to be invited include the Stamps quartet, the quartet from the Quartet Music company of Fort Worth and from the Harper Music company at Dal-

Petitions Morgan for Ethiop Loan

To enable Ethiopia to prepare for its defense against Italy, Dr. Azaj Wargneh C. Martin (above), Emperor Haile Selassie's new envoy to England, sought to obtain a $10,000,000 loan from J. P. Morgan in London.

RANGER GROUP ATTENDS FETE ON WEDNESDAY

A group from Ranger attended the first annual Peach festival at De Leon Wednesday morning, remaining for the program and meal and returning in the afternoon.

Those who attended were A. J. Ratliff, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Davis, C. B. Pruet, F. D. Hicks, F. P. Brasher, R. V. Galloway, L. L. Bruce, Floyd Killingsworth, S. P. Bunn, J. E. Meroney, Saule Perlestein, Emily Bendix, Charles Hodges, C. D. Woods, H. B. Johnson and P. A. Nelson.

Mayor Daniel of De Leon made an address of welcome, with a short response made by R. V. Galloway. Short talks were made by J. M. Tucker of Strawn, Rev. Anderson of the First Methodist church of Strawn, J. E. Spenser, secretary of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce and Preston Burks of the Comanche Chamber of Commerce.

The Cisco Lobo band, under the direction of R. L. Maddox, furnished the music for the occasion.

Harry Hines, chairman of the highway commission and who was scheduled to make the principal address, failed to show up for the program.

The De Leon Chamber of Commerce furnished watermelons for a feed and everyone had an enjoyable time.

Disturbing Japan's Peace of Mind

This is the cartoon that caused the Japanese Foreign Office to order Ambassador Hiroshi Saito at Washington to take "proper measures," in protest against the "insult" to his emperor, thus turning a good natured caricature into an international incident. Published in Vanity Fair as one of five unlikely events, it portends Emperor Hirohito drawing a wheel barrow on which is a "Nobel Peace Prize" scroll.

THREE KILLED IN A CRASH NEAR ITALY

ITALY, Tex., Aug. 8.—Three persons were injured fatally, a fourth was not expected to live and three others were hurt today in a head-on collision of two automobiles at the railroad crossing in the outskirts of Italy.

Miss Alma Allan, 27, and Miss Lodie Allan, 25, sisters of Sherman, were burned fatally before they could be extricated from their wrecked machine. Their mother, Mrs. H. L. Allan, 56, died several hours later in a hospital in Waxahachie. Her husband, H. L. Allan, is not expected to live.

Miss Virginia Wilford, 17, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan, was burned, cut and bruised, as were B. G. Harkins and W. R. Scarborough of Taylor, occupants of the other machine.

Find Hunted Co-ed with Freak Show

"I've learned more than I could in four years at college," enthuses Ann B. Sibley (above), who disappeared a month ago from Antioch College at Yellow Springs, O. When found by detectives, the pretty Chicago co-ed was working as a freak show Barker in Coney Island, New York's famous amusement resort. Twelve hours a day, seven days a week, she harangued pleasure seekers for $12 a week.

MEASURE NOW GOES TO HOUSE FOR ACTION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The senate overrode vigorous opposition by conservative democrats and republicans today and approved a resolution outlawing suits against the government by holders of federal gold bonds.

The vote was 53 to 24.

The measure now goes to the house, where an effort probably will be made to restore it to the form in which it passed originally on July 15.

As adopted by the senate, the resolution would permit suits for six months after its final enactment. Then the courts would be closed to anyone who feels he has lost money on his government obligations because of the dollar devaluation program.

Ranger National Guard Company Is Active In Camp

J. E. Fletcher, captain of Company 1, 142nd Infantry, Texas National Guards, who is now in camp at Palacios with his entire company, has written to the Times calling of the trip to camp and the activities of his company since it arrived.

The letter from Capt. Fletcher reads as follows:

"Following is a list of a few things Company 1 has been through since arriving in camp:

"Arrived in camp 9:30 Saturday morning after a nice trip down here. Due to not having Pullman coaches, some of the men were a little tired but were glad to get here. Did not drill any until Monday, as we were busy all day Saturday putting up tents and cleaning off the ground.

"Sunday we did very little all day but rest and whatever we wanted to do, until five p. m. when we had to go on guard duty. We had guard duty until five p. m. Monday. Have had no men on sick list as yet. Late in the afternoon, the men are enjoying themselves in the bay, as there doesn't seem to be any jellyfish this year.

"We have our soft ball team well organized, and have a game to play this afternoon. Don't know what team we will play yet.

"It is not official yet, but heard remarks that our regimental rifle team is near the top in their series. Twenty of the best marksmen are taken out of about two thousand to try for divisional team and we have four of them in our company. They are: Sgt. Earl J. Griffin, Sgt. Jack Roach, Sgt. Richard J. Aaron, and Corporal Lawson Acuff.

"Will write more later.

"Joseph E. Fletcher, Capt., Co. 1, 142nd Inf. Commanding."

THREE NAMED TO PLAN NEW PROCESS FIGHT

HOUSTON, Aug. 8.—Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly appointed five attorneys of opposing factions on a committee today to compromise a legal fight over enforcement of the Bankhead cotton control act.

The attorneys immediately went into conference.

The appointments were made in connection with an application of the Texas Cotton Ginners Association for an injunction ordering collectors of internal revenue to issue cotton bale tags to all Texas ginners.

Those appointed were former governor Dan Moody, chairman; Ralph Malone, attorney for the association; S. A. Lesourd, special assistant attorney general; U. S. District Attorney Douglas W. McGregor and U. S. District Attorney S. D. Bennett of the eastern district of Texas.

Desdemona Trip to Start On Friday at 10 o'Clock Sharp

A motorcade of fully 50 cars to make the trip to Desdemona Friday morning, is the goal set by the Chamber of Commerce officials, it was announced today by R. V. Galloway, secretary.

The start from Ranger will be made at 10 o'clock.

"The town really should send this much of a delegation to Desdemona," Galloway said today, "because it is of vital importance to the town."

"There is a very good chance of getting a direct, north and south highway through Ranger, connecting Wichita Falls and San Antonio. The highway commission is considering it seriously and the aid of Desdemona on the project is of vital importance because the highway would also run through that town. Their aid will be needed in securing right-of-way."

"Strawn, Eastland and Cisco are working daily on another and alternate route, and are seeking Desdemona's support, so if Ranger can make a good showing Friday it will help just that much."

Everyone who can possibly get off to go has been urged to do so and to notify the Chamber of Commerce so arrangements can be made for those who want to attend and have no way to do so.

C. T. WALTON OF KIRKLAND ELECTED SUPERINTENDENT OF RANGER PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM

At a called meeting of the school board, held in the office of the secretary Wednesday night, W. T. Walton of Kirkland, was elected as superintendent of the Ranger school system to replace R. F. Holloway, who has resigned from the position.

Walton was notified of his election today and was asked to be in Ranger to assume his duties not later than Tuesday, Aug. 13, if possible. Holloway's resignation does not take effect until Aug. 31, but the new superintendent was asked to be in Ranger early in order that he might have time to familiarize himself with the school system and so he could meet with the board at the regular meeting of August 13.

The new superintendent has secured his B. A. and Master's degrees from Yale University and has done considerable work toward his Ph. D. It was stated today by members of the board, before attending Yale he graduated from Simmons University at Abilene and was a teacher in Simmons for four years.

For the past four years he has been superintendent at Kirkland, Childress county, where he established quite a reputation, both as an educator and as a superintendent.

Announcement has been made that a Church of Christ revival meeting will be conducted at Alameda, with L. L. Hanks doing the preaching.

The revival will start on Saturday night, before the third Sunday in August, the announcement says, and will continue for 10 days.

Rev. Hanks comes from Abilene and is reported to be a splendid speaker and one everyone will want to hear. The public is cordially invited to attend the services.

Liquor Dealers Paid Taxes of $2,024,981 During Year 1934

AUSTIN.—Liquor dealers in Texas in 1934 paid the federal government $2,024,981.46, A. Emmett Morse, chairman of the Texas repeal forces announced today.

This total, he said, represents a larger amount than was collected by the federal government in each of 22 states in the union where the sale of liquor had been legalized.

"While the federal government was collecting this vast sum," Morse pointed out, "in dry Texas, the state government of Texas was collecting nothing. If Texas had collected its just share on the $75,000,000 worth of liquor which the senatorial investigation committee found to have been sold in dry Texas in 1934, the state would not now be facing a $12,000,000 deficit for 1936."

"This deficit might be even greater than that anticipated if special sessions are necessary before the end of the next fiscal year, and unless a source of important revenue is found," the repeal leader added.

He said that "it is no wild guess" to say that Texas would collect between $6,000,000 and $10,000,000 in revenues from the taxation of liquor which is being sold openly.

COTTON CROP FOR 1935 HAS BIG INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The 1935 American cotton crop of 11,798,000 bales, 2,067,000 bales in excess of last year's production, was forecast today by the department of agriculture.

Even though the estimate tops most private forecasts, and was more than 1,000,000 bales in excess of this year's Bankhead allotment of 10,500,000 bales, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace professed to see no cause for anxiety.

He promised that "adequate credit" facilities would be extended to farmers to assure orderly marketing of the crop.

Senator John H. Bankhead, Dem., Ala., said he expected a 12-cent cotton loan.

The exact amount of the loan which the government will advance to farmers, so they can hold their cotton instead of dumping it on the market, will be decided soon. Cotton farmers are hoping the loans will be at least as large as the 12-cent advance on last year's crop.

If prices sag as the crop comes on the market, Wallace promised the government loans would be ample to absorb excess supplies.

Immediate reaction of the market was a drop in future quotations.

If the crop is as large as now estimated, the Bankhead ginning tax of .6 cents a pound would have to be paid on more than 2,000,000 bales of the crop.

Air Clipper Will Make New Flight

ALAMEDA, Calif., Aug. 8.—Mechanics repaired Pan-America Airways four-motored Clipper plane today for a take-off Friday on a 10,800-mile flight across the Pacific ocean to Wake Island and back.

The new objective of the giant flying boat is a tiny dot on the broad expanse of the western ocean, a coral horseshoe, owned by the United States and without commercial importance until Pan American began its plans for California-to-China flying service.

Post and Rogers Visiting In Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska, Aug. 8.—Wiley Post and Will Rogers, companions on a flight into Alaska to hunt, were at Juneau today awaiting a change in the rainy weather which greeted them on their arrival from Seattle.

Mrs. Post will proceed to Alaska by boat to join them.

Post expects to do some hunting in interior Alaska, while Rogers "watches the plane to keep it 'wolves away.'" Post and his wife intend to fly on to Siberia. Rogers indicated Alaska is the end of the journey for him.

Game Law Violator 10,000 Expected at Legion Convention

KERRVILLE, Tex.—Game law violators are using airplanes to make their get-away, a Bandera game warden charged today.

Wild turkeys are being killed and whisked away in aircraft before wardens can teach the hunters, he said. However, it was pointed out that the supply of wild turkeys in the Kerrville and Bandera areas will be twice as large this year as last season because of better feeding conditions.

Last year the drought made hard on wild game of all kinds in the hills country, according to J. Dent, Kerrville, inspector of state game preserves.

The number of turkeys is being increased by young ones recently hatched. As many as 40 young turkeys have been seen in one flock. They feed within a few miles of towns occasionally.

Deer are in good condition and are reported to be fattening. The quantity has not been increased this year because of work which have taken a heavy toll of young fawns and old does. Inspector Dent said heavy summer rains produced a "wet-weather" vegetation which caused stomach worms.

A second crop of fawns, which is unusual, is arriving in Kerrville, the spectator said.

Relief Set-Up In County Is Termed Unusually Nice

Unusually nice was the observation of the Eastland County relief administration by Director R. C. Conly and three members of his staff of District 13-A on a visit to Eastland Wednesday. The men are headquartered at Abilene.

The district director and staff members also visited administrations at Albany, Breckenridge and Baird.

Making the trip with Conly were F. A. Wells, case supervisor, Frank Bradley, commodity supervisor, and J. B. Hearne, district auditor.

RELIEF WILL BE STOPPED BY NOVEMBER 1

(Copyright 1935 by United Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The administration, it was learned today, plans to start shutting off direct relief to whole states on September 1, and end the dole all over the country two months later, by putting 3,500,000 men to work.

Work relief officials predicted their $4,000,000,000 employment drive will become so effective within three weeks that these states will need no more Federal Emergency Relief Administration.

Needly in seven or eight other states are slated for transfer from relief rolls to payrolls in September 15. The number will be increased to 30 by October 1 and 48 on November 1.

The move, program officials said, will solve the problem of caring for unemployables.

These are two of more than 200 laws which become effective 90 days after the adjournment of the 44th legislature. Others run the gamut of usual minor laws.

Included are:

Prohibiting collection of taxes delinquent before Dec. 21, 1919.

Allowing extra part-time employees at the state laboratory in Austin to assist in making vaccines—given free to indigents.

Texas' New Laws Which Go Into Effect on Aug. 10 Are Outlined In Series of Austin Dispatches

Editor's note: Here is the fourth of a series of articles on new Texas laws which will become effective Aug. 10, 90 days after the adjournment of the 44th legislature.

By Richard M. Moorehead
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, Tex.—Anonymous political advertising is prohibited in Texas after Aug. 10 under a law passed to bring candidates out in the open concerning their campaign backers.

The act provides all political ads must be signed by the candidate, his campaign manager, or the person actually paying for the space.

Another law concerning elections provides that candidates for the legislature must pay a $50 ballot fee if their home county has a population of more than 195,000. In other counties the fee is $1 per county for placing one's name on the ticket.

These are two of more than 200 laws which become effective 90 days after the adjournment of the 44th legislature. Others run the gamut of usual minor laws.

Included are:

Prohibiting collection of taxes delinquent before Dec. 21, 1919.

Allowing extra part-time employees at the state laboratory in Austin to assist in making vaccines—given free to indigents.

Enlarging the list of things free from attachment by courts to include personal articles as well as home, car, and tools with which to make a living.

Applying the "Jim Crow" law to divide white and colored passengers on motor buses as well as trains and street cars.

Allowing trial of criminal cases in county where the injury occurred or where the body is found.

Permitting cities to sell municipal water and sewer service outside their corporate limits.

Limiting local option elections on 3.2 wines and beers to not more than one each twelve months.

Protecting the public from injury by deputy constables by making constables responsible for acts of the deputies and allowing them to require bond of their assistants.

Allowing county tax assessors-collectors to appoint and bond deputies.

Exempting property of the Texas federation of women's clubs from state taxes.

Making it a felony to burglarize a vessel, steamboat or railroad car. No such punishment is now provided.

Paying general claims aggregating $20,474 against the state.

Numerous laws relating to court procedure and service of citations.

61 Trees Listed In Professor's Report

STEPHENVILLE.—Miss Lula C. Gough, associate professor of biology at John Tarleton College, names 61 different shrubs and trees native to Erath county.

"Since the trees in this region generally follow the streams, leaving pastures, lands and fields free," Miss Gough said, "there has been little extensive clearing."

Cedars and mesquites, she pointed out, are comparative newcomers to the county. She says the mesquite came to Texas along with the Spaniards, via seeds mixed with feed brought for horses.

They grew up in a line from Mexico to San Antonio and have spread across the state, she explained.

"Cedars are migrating trees, and are moving slowly across the country now, their seeds borne by the winds," Miss Gough said.

Of the trees in this part of the state the pecan has the greatest value, according to Miss Gough who has made an extensive study of the tree situation.

One of the most prominent trees of the Erath region, she pointed out, is the greese wood, or creosote bush, which resembles a cactus and burns with a fierce heat. It is a favorite with campers.

Cross Roads Meeting Drawing Good Crowd

The revival meeting being conducted at the Church of Christ at Cross Roads is attracting large crowds and the public is cordially invited to attend any of the services.

Rev. M. L. Manchester of Desdemona is conducting the services each night, and increased attendance and interest is noted at each service.

One addition to the church has been received to date.

Legion Post Will Hold An Election

G. E. (Bob) Robinson, post commander of the Carl Barnes post of the American Legion, announced today that a meeting would be held tonight for the purpose of electing officers for the year.

In addition to the election of officers a big feed will be served to all Legionnaires. All members of the post have been urged to attend.

Work Relief Held Up By Too Many Bosses

Somewhere back in January, Congress put through a $4,800,000,000 bill for work-relief.

This was to be the final triumphant, mopping-up drive of the great campaign against unemployment. It was to take 3,500,000 men off the dole and restore them to honest jobs. It was to "prime the pump" once more with such expenditures for capital as would finally set our whole productive machine in motion again.

That was just about seven months ago. Today, according to the most recent checkup, slightly less than 25,000 people have gone to work under this bill. The great public works that were to result are hardly past the blue-print stage. The whole campaign has bogged down in a manner utterly dismaying to anyone who hopes to see the government work its way out of the expensive business of direct relief.

One trouble—perhaps the chief one—seems to be that there are too many bosses.

Hary Hopkins is Federal Relief Administrator. Secretary Ickes is Public Works Administrator. Frank C. Walker is a sort of middle man, head of the Division of Applications and Information.

It is up to Mr. Hopkins to see to it that as many men as possible are given work—any kind and every kind of work, so long as it is work.

It is Mr. Ickes' job to see to it that the jobs undertaken are as useful, as substantial and as permanent as possible.

It is Mr. Walker's job to harmonize the inevitable conflicts between these viewpoints, and that is something that takes a bit of doing; for the more successful Mr. Hopkins is the less successful Mr. Ickes will have to be, and vice versa.

As a result, the whole program seems to be in a state of considerable confusion. At one moment it looks as if Mr. Ickes' program for substantial and enduring public works will carry the day; a little later it appears that Mr. Hopkins will have his way and will put men at work raking leaves and rolling tennis courts; now and then it almost looks as if nothing would be done.

What seems to be needed is a firm and definite decision from the White House. In some ways this work relief program is the most important single undertaking of the whole administration. Indecision and the conflict of varying plans should not be allowed to cripple it any longer.

New Heights in Sight For Plane Industry

Uncle Sam's Bureau of Air Commerce is going to continue with its efforts to develop a foolproof airplane that the ordinary man can fly without risking his neck.

Eugene L. Vidal, director of the bureau, made this clear in a speech before the recent convention of the National Association of Aviation Editors in Detroit; and after he had made his speech, all hands went out to a flying field to have a look at a freakish new plane that had been built to meet these specifications.

This plane cannot go into a stall and "fall off on one wing"—the prelude to a tailspin, which accounts for fully 70 per cent of all accidents to private flyers. It cannot nose over when it is landed, no matter how unskillfully the job is done. The rawest pupil flyer can take it off the ground and get it down again without cracking up.

Just what may happen to this plane in the course of further tests is, of course, problematical. It may develop new "bugs" quite as dangerous as the old ones which it seems to have dodged. But it is clear that it represents a long step in the right direction, and Mr. Vidal's campaign is amply justified.

The ordinary citizen does not often have occasion to ride in one of the great transport planes. When he does, he gets a good safe ride, to be sure; but if aviation is ever to assume in his life a place comparable to that which the automobile now holds, the kind of plane desired by Mr. Vidal will have to be perfected.

Today's planes are practically foolproof—in the hands of expert flyers. But John Citizen has neither the time nor the money to make an expert out of himself, and as long as it takes highly specialized skill to fly a plane he is going to pass it by.

What he needs is a truly foolproof plane; one which approaches the automobile in safety and simplicity of operation. Let such a plane be put on the market at a moderate price—$700 is the figure Mr. Vidal aims at—and the airplane industry will make the same kind of sensational leap ahead that the auto industry made a couple of decades ago.

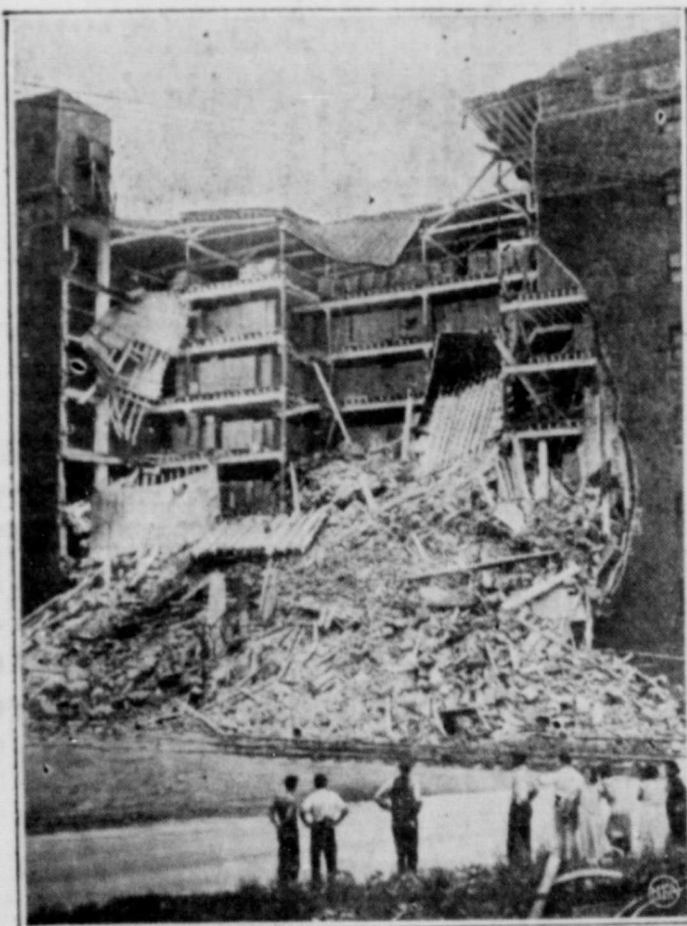

There are great possibilities in this. Flying is incomparably the greatest sport ever devised. Let it be made available to the ordinary man on the same sort of terms that motoring is now available, and the whole course of human living will be profoundly altered.

The oldest and vainest day-dream of the race would suddenly come true.

DOG DAYS

Relief Really Collapsed Here

Here is one relief problem that presents a colossal job of "digging out from under," in the collapse of a seven-story Chicago warehouse where the government had stored hundreds of tons of food for the needy. The structure was packed to capacity, as the shelves along the wall still standing show. When one wall crumbled, thousands of barrels and sacks of foodstuff and boxes of canned goods were buried in the walls and vibration of switch engines nearby to have caused the debris. A fire several years ago is believed to have weakened the cottaage.

'Topsy Turvies'
Over the Border

NO MISTAKE, this is how Mrs. Bernadine Lewis King, her pretty face, oil bespattered, looked during her 23-minute, 11-second "topsy-turvy" hop from Agua Caliente, Mex., to San Diego, Calif., which made her the first woman to fly "wrong side up" over an international border. With only a belt supporting her, the 27-year-old stunt flyer flew "blind" the entire route, nearly setting a new world's record.

Scene Of Work By Hale Rehabilitated

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich.—The old Mission House, in which Edward Everett Hale wrote "The Man Without a Country," is being rehabilitated. The Mission House, built in 1825 as an Indian mission and school, became famous when it was opened as a summer hotel in 1845 by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Franks. It had been conducted as such until this spring when Gertrude L. Smith of Cleveland purchased it at auction. She said the building would be reconstructed and refurbished. The old register lists among the guests "General Sherman and lady, also two slaves."

BEHIND THE SCENES IN

WASHINGTON—Another rumor that you can cross off the list is the one about Gen. Hugh Johnson running for the U. S. Senate seat of Oklahoma's blind Thomas P. Gore. The general has just about decided that there's nothing to it for him.

The general, except for his writing, is devoting almost all his time to the New York work-relief problem—he isn't doing a thing at present for Barney Baruch who is in Europe.

A NEAT sidelight on public utility tactics toward regulation was outlined the other day in the Senate "investigation of utility lobbying. On the stand was John W. Carpenter, president of the Texas Power and Light Co., who had come to Washington quite frankly to oppose the holding company death sentence bill.

T seems there always are fresh hints in the markets these days, but summer's the only time when baby beets are available. If I don't put up some of these delicious tender roots, I'm sure to regret it, for they have a sweetness all their own.

As soon as a jar is filled, they go in the oven and keep jars a scant two inches apart to allow for expansion of heat around each jar. Two racks, one above the other may be used if the oven is not deep enough. Work fast and dip in cold water only long enough to slip skins, not long enough to chill them. The hotter the water are when they are put in the better.

SUN-TAN

THE SUN-TAN is a new idea in the sun all afternoon waiting for Pete Fragonet. Marsh promised. He may be able to put that prima donna stuff on you people 'but he's better not try it on me. I used to go fishing with him before he ever saw a movie camera. If he's at the Inn I'll smoke 'em out."

"I wish you would," said Montez. "Every minute we sit around waiting to make Drann meaner and he's hard enough to please as it is."

When Marsh had hurried toward the Inn in search of Fragonet, the star's tone grew more bitter. "All Fragonet thinks about is Fragonet. It's a shame that one man can get away with so much—but what millions of women yell for his picture—anybody will let him run up the expenses and wear out the others in the company."

Lolita's words chilled Jo somewhat. "I—I can't imagine him doing it on purpose," she said slowly. "Oh, he doesn't mean to do it, perhaps. He just doesn't think it never occurs to him that there's anyone else in the world out Fragonet."

The actress dropped her half-smoked cigarette, nervously fished in her jacket pocket for another. "Two or three times came in this morning to play bit parts. One of them is probably a blond—which would explain where Fragonet is."

"Is he... that had?"

Montez nodded. "It's funny. You'd think a man with so many women after him would get sick of women. But not he. They say now he's divorcing his wife and wants to marry some girl up in this neck of the woods. Well, God help her!"

Jo laughed shakily. "You don't care much for Pete Fragonet, do you?"

"Care for him?" Lolita's eyes widened in astonishment. "I've no particular like or dislike for him. If that's what you mean."

"But you sound pretty... bitter," Jo ventured, keeping her eyes on the actress.

"I don't mean to sound bitter. I was just describing Fragonet—like I'd describe a car. If it had two flat tires I'd say it had two flat tires. Do you see what I mean?"

"I... guess so," said Jo uncertainly.

"Anyhow," went on the other, "I wouldn't have to put up with this sort of thing forever. Maybe Fragonet will leave Atlas—or maybe I will."

"Don't you like pictures?" Jo asked.

MONTEZ smiled. "It's nice work—if you can get it. But here's one who's going to save her money and get out before she's 25. When I'm 25 I'm going to take my little girl and go somewhere where I'll never even see a picture, much less make one."

"You have a little girl?"

The actress nodded, smiling quite nicely. "She's four—and cute. She's never been in the publicity so please don't say anything. I'm talking too damned much today."

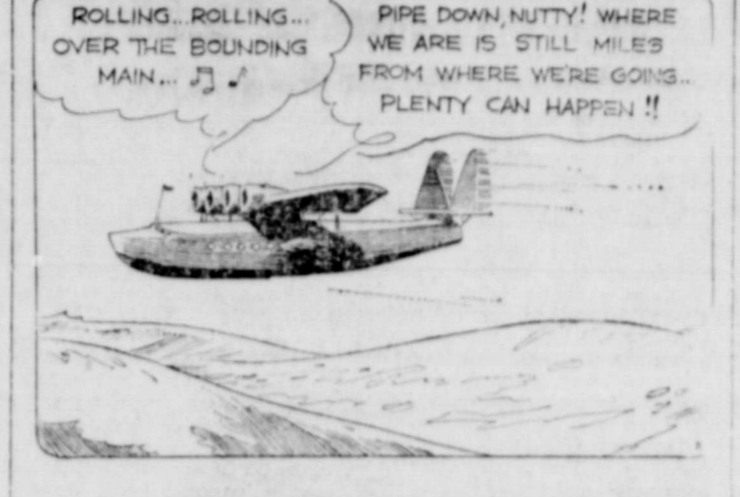

Jo's heart went out instantly to this slight, harassed young girl who was—behind all her glamour and her publicized beauty—fighting only for the security of her child.

"You can talk all you want to me," Jo told her earnestly.

Montez shook her head. "I've said enough for one day... And anyhow, here comes the star at last."

Jo turned to see Fragonet and Marsh walking down the slope from

"ALL RIGHT, MASTER MIND... WHAT'S YOUR NEXT MOVE?"

"THE OLD MAN SET HIS OWN TRAP!"

"HE HAS A FLEET OF SMALL BOATS ALL ALONG THE LINE OF FLIGHT, IN CASE OF EMERGENCY... THEY'RE ARMED!"

"SO WHAT?"

"GOOD!" Drann turned to Lolita who had left Jo and sauntered toward the cameras. "You know what this is all about. Lolita!"

"Yes, Mr. Drann."

"You've been lost for a couple of hours. You can't have your hair all arranged like that—and your jacket ought to be torn." Drann stood up and called for someone named Jasper. "Jasper, tear Lolita's jacket on the arm there just—wait! Don't tear it yet. Have we got another one like it? Did the wardrobe man bring another one like it?"

"I have another one," mentioned Lolita casually.

"Good girl! All right, then, Jasper, tear it!"

Jasper tore it, while Lolita stood stolidly. Then Lolita's maid, black as a night without a moon, disarranged her hair.

"That's better," Drann opined. "You're breathless. Lolita, when you knock at Fragonet's door here you've seen this cabin from a distance and you've run all the way. I want to get that first and then we can cut."

"Want me to go inside?" asked Fragonet.

Drann shook his head. "Not yet. This may take a while. Ready, Lolita?"

Lolita was ready, and Jo watched her run to the cabin door and pound upon it. She did it not once but no less than five times—and always Drann had something to suggest, something to omit or add. When the scene was finally shot when Drann had finally signaled for the silence which is the cardinal necessity of pictures in sound, Lolita Montez was genuinely breathless.

"I always thought it would be fun to be in pictures," said a voice at Jo's shoulder. "But it looks like a lot of routine work to me."

Jo turned to look into the grinning face of Tubby.

"Are they going to have a love scene today?" Tubby asked.

"I don't know, Tubby."

"I hope so, don't you?"

Jo's answer was strained. "I—I think it's all—interesting."

Tubby wondered out she held her curiosity in check. "I was just talking to one of the carpenters and he told me they were going to do the big rescue scene tomorrow morning. We'll see Fragonet pull Lolita out of the lake!"

abled children in all of the counties contained in the survey have already been turned over to J. J. Brown, director of vocational rehabilitation in the state department of education. Legislative appropriation has made available for this division considerable funds for the 1935-36 fiscal year, and immediate steps can be taken after Sept. 1 to provide vocational training for these disabled children.

Valuable data concerning juvenile delinquency, housing facilities, trust laws and other problems affecting and involving the welfare of the children of the state are made available for the first time by this survey. Dr. Gettys said. Miss Benjamin pointed out that this study is the most comprehensive and the most significant child census ever taken for any state, and the published report is expected to be immeasurably valuable as a handbook for use in remodeling the state's laws governing child delinquency.

"For example, it is almost unbelievable that the laws of Texas do not provide for a juvenile court," she said. "Instead, child offenders are brought up and tried before a judge just as is a mature criminal. Indeed, children are being tried and convicted in Texas before they reach the age of what is known as 'criminal responsibility.' Exercising all the license given him by law, the judge can only sentence the child offender to a definite term in the reformatory. At the end of that term he is released to return to his old environment, the home and the crowd that fostered his first misdemeanor, without any effort being made to train him while he was imprisoned and without any attempt to prepare a better environment for him. No regard is taken of the fact that he may have been 'reformed' before his term is over, and on the other hand he can not be detained after his term is completed even though he may be quite incorrigible."

Lack of adequate truant laws has resulted in truant children's being treated as delinquents, she added. Another shortcoming in the state's treatment of children is the utter lack of any fund for the care of delinquent negro girls.

Miss Benjamin will complete her analysis of the statistics collected in this survey during the remainder of the summer, and it is expected that the report will be available for distribution by Oct. 1.

School Child State Will Be Counted By Fall

Early fall will see the beginning of a gigantic task, the census of every child in Texas, disabled, or whose father is a veteran, or whose parents are on the relief rolls. This massive survey, started by the Relief Commission about two years ago, was abandoned in the past organization and was taken over by the Bureau of Research of the Social Sciences of the University of Texas.

Collection of material was completed during the winter and spring, and a special investigator, Miss Grace E. Benjamin from the American Public Health Association, was employed this summer to make a number of special surveys and to write the report of the project, with particular attention to an analysis of some of the facts shown by the statistics accumulated.

This study has involved the checking of 140,000 homes in 170 counties of Texas, and represents actual case histories of more than 500,000 children. In two counties of the state, an actual canvass of every home in the county was made, while in other counties visits were paid to homes of families on relief, to veterans' homes and to homes where it was known there were disabled children. All counties containing cities of more than 100,000 population, most of the counties with cities of more than 50,000 population, and representative counties of less dense population were studied. Statistics have been tabulated for the state as a whole as well as by counties.

Results of this study have already become of use, according to Dr. W. E. Gettys, university professor of sociology and chairman of the research bureau in charge of the study. For one thing, cards containing case histories of dis-

Tiny Parasite May Wipe Out Spiders

By United Press

SAN JOSE, Calif.—A tiny parasite may lead to the extermination of the deadly Black Widow spider. L. R. Cody, Santa Clara county horticultural commissioner, has conducted successful experiments with a parasite of the chloropsis family, which eats the egg sacs of the spider. There has been some difficulty in raising the parasite in captivity, but Cody believes this problem near solution.

Cody's experiments began when he learned that the Black Widows were growing in numbers in certain sections of the county.

Work Rushed On Navy Super Planes

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—Quietly and without the fanfare which accompanied flights of the Douglas "mystery plane," plans for construction of 60 super fighters for the naval patrol service rapidly are being completed here.

The Consolidated Aircraft Corporation, rushing construction on its new plant, has been awarded the contracts for building the ships after a series of unheralded flights on the East Coast.

The Douglas plane, still a "mystery," but no longer an exciting one, is stored in the Naval air station. The plane, found unsuited to Navy needs, must remain there for the customary year's secrecy surrounding every new plane tested by the Navy.

The new planes built along lines of present patrol ships but with more power, speed and a longer cruising range, are to be of the flying boat type.

Two wasp double-bank motors of approximately 500 horsepower or more will be used, and are expected to provide a top speed of more than 200 miles an hour. The cruising range is to be lengthened until the planes may perform maneuvers more than 1,200 miles from their home base.

Judge and Mrs. L. H. Flewellen left this morning for Belton, where they will visit until Saturday.

Mrs. C. I. Wolford, accompanied by Misses Margarite Adamson, Ruth Shirley and Mary Edlo Davenport, motored to Fort Worth yesterday, where they spent the day.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Gray and children, Grace and Billy, left this morning for Webb City, Mo., to visit Mrs. Gray's mother and aunt. After a week there, they will return to their home in Chicago.

Last night the young people were the guests of several friends in an evening swim, and watermelon cutting at the Willows. This event was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Smith, who are on the entertainment committee of the First Presbyterian church.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. White and son, Byron, of Burk Burnett, have been guests of Mrs. Thorpe at the Gulf camp for a couple of days, while Mr. White was engaged in business for his company.

Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Gray are planning to leave for a brief vacation on Saturday morning. They will go first to Burk Burnett, to visit the T. E. White family. After that, to Dallas and Greenville,

Good Will Trip Route Charted By Murphy and Woods

C. D. Wood and G. A. Murphy left Ranger early Thursday morning to chart the route of the Ranger Junior College good will tour, which is to be staged on Tuesday, Aug. 20.

The two will log the distance and driving time between each of the stops, so that a definite schedule can be worked out and maintained. While on the trip they will also make contacts in each of the towns to be visited and to secure someone to make a short address of welcome.

Tentative plans call for a mid-day stop at Breckenridge for the noon meal, and arrangements will be made for a feed, probably to be at the Y. M. C. A. building.

The tentative outline, as planned before checking the itinerary, included stops at Olden, Deadman, Breckenridge, Caddo, Metcalf Gap, Gordon, Mingus and Strawn before returning to Ranger.

It is anticipated that the trippers will leave Ranger at 7 a. m., and return about 5 or 5:30 p. m.

Textile Industry In Seasonal Decline

AUSTIN.—The textile industry of Texas continued its downward trend during June, according to Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the University of Texas Bureau of of cotton in eighteen Texas mills totaled only 2,035 bales, 16 per cent less than in the previous month and 46 per cent below a year ago. During the first six months of 1935 19,204 bales were consumed, 44 per cent less than in the corresponding period last year. Sales for June totaled 2,189,000 yards, a decline of 31 per cent from the previous month and 5.6 per cent from June a year ago. Aggregate sales for the first six months of the year were 24.4 per cent below those of the corresponding period last year.

Production, 2,508,000 yards, was down 13.3 per cent from the month before and 31.2 per cent under the like month last year. For the first half year production was 28 per cent less than during the similar period a year ago. Unfilled orders on June 30 were down 17.6 per cent and 28.3 per cent respectively from the corresponding dates of the previous month and last year.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES OFFERED BY RANGER JUNIOR COLLEGE DURING EACH SCHOOL YEAR

Ranger Junior College offers unusual social as well as literary activities, with a number of organizations for both boys and girls in addition to physical educational facilities and musical organizations.

The C. L. F. is a girls' social club which was organized in 1932. During the past year many social events have been enjoyed, including formal and informal initiations, a Christmas dinner at Acorn Acres, a possum hunt, several picnics, a bridge luncheon, a slumber party, a kid party, a theatre party and two dances.

The Student's Welfare Council has for its chief objective the promotion of the general welfare of Ranger Junior college. It fosters student initiative and responsibility and aids in the direction of student activities. It recognizes and shares more fully its common problems and interests. The membership of this council is composed of seven representatives in all from both sexes and both classes, including the president of the student body, who serves as its chairman. During the past session the council promoted a number of highly laudable undertakings and first year of its existence the club won the district one-act play contest with the play "Green Shadows." The contest play in 1934 was "Smokescreen" and in 1935 "The Bishop's Candlesticks," which was taken from Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables." Both Tarkington's "Trysting Place" was also produced during the past year.

The Language club, "Los Conquistadores" was organized Dec. 10, 1934, to interest the students in the cultural values of Spanish and French literature and art. Programs are given each week and occasional socials are held.

Sigma Epsilon was founded on Oct. 11, 1934. The purpose, as written into the charter, is to present opportunities for obtaining views of other scientific fields not presented in the classroom. Another object is the promotion of fraternalism and higher grade standards among science students. Major activities of the past year were building cactus beds on the campus, establishing the nucleus of a student loan fund, sponsoring a program for money to apply on football sweaters for the college team and numerous social activities and educational programs.

The "Masques" was organized in the fall of 1932 for the purpose of promoting interest and training in dramatic work. During the much good resulted from its activities.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—in 4 weeks not on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Notice also that you have gained in energy—your skin is clearer—your eyes sparkle with glorious health—you feel younger in body—keener in mind. Kruschen will give any fat person a joyous surprise.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts—the cost is trifling—it lasts 4 weeks.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at City Pharmacy or any drugstore in the world.
