Last Efforts Made to Secure Farm Colony

APPLICATION OF THE COUNTY WAS REJECTED

Saturday Last Day For Application To Be Approved At Austin.

Notified by wire from Oklahoma City, Okla., that Eastland county's application for a $375,000 farm colony project had been disapproved at Austin...

County Judge Garrett was informed of the action by William Boaz, who prepared the project for Eastland county.

Boaz stated he would go to Austin tonight by airplane to see Smitham Saturday—last day for applications to be telegraphed to Washington—for a reconsideration.

Judge Garrett stated this morning he was endeavoring to contact members of the Eastland County farm board to ascertain what action they should take in addition to Boaz's efforts.

It was definite, however, Garrett stated, that the group would urge Smitham to reconsider the county's application for the project on which five tracts of land have been worked up.

Members of the county board are Frank Kirk, Gorman; Albert Taylor, Eastland; F. E. Harrell, Cisco; R. V. Galloway, Ranger; L. A. Lightner, Eastland; C. E. Williams, Rising Star, and Judge Garrett, Eastland.

The wire received today by Judge Garrett read as follows: "Smitham phoned from Austin to Reese at Stillwater today disapproving Eastland colony. As all applications must be telegraphed Washington tomorrow, suggest you phone or see Smitham tomorrow requesting reconsideration of his decision. Am going to Austin tonight by airplane to see what I can tomorrow. Boaz."

H. E. Driscoll, Former County Relief Administrator, Moved to Plainview As District Administrator in Setup To Assume Job In New Field

H. E. Driscoll, former Eastland County Administrator, who will become district administrator with headquarters at Plainview.

Relief in Eastland County had the same beginning as any other county in Texas. Lots of confusion not due to mismanagement, but just in the struggle to find out what it was all about, naturally changes were in order until such time as efficiency and developments were made and men were found who could handle the real job of relief administration either direct or working according to the set-up of the State and National government.

On February 11, 1934, H. E. Driscoll was sent to Eastland to act as county administrator. He came from the San Antonio relief office of Bexar county, where he first served as paymaster of relief and later as assistant chief auditor.

Mr. Driscoll has had 173 projects confirmed during his administration. He has spent in the county under his jurisdiction for direct and work relief $1,044,315.91.

Things Must Be Quiet Under a Dictator

One of the chief arguments of those who begin to lean toward dictatorship is that at least it makes for peace and calm order and system. None of the waste motion and turbulence of the democratic form of government.

We see quite enough of the turbulent side of democracy. There are the violent strikes we suffer because we are unwilling to put workers under iron rule from above but prefer to let them work out their own salvation, even at the cost of violence and disorder.

There is crime, and the endless loopholes through which the guilty escape, because we are anxious that every man be held innocent until regularly and publicly proved guilty. There are the long argumentative sessions of Congress when a dictator, some feel, could sit at a desk and order these things better with less confusion.

Democracy is by definition a continual conflict of interests, and that implies some confusion.

But how do they order these things in the dictatorships which some begin to feel function more smoothly?

Well, Italy is in a ferment and fever of the mustering of troops for a foreign war. There are crowds in the streets, singing and cheering, and all the panoply of war.

If that be the serenity and calm of a dictatorship, Italy can have it.

Germany reethes in a welter of hatred, persecution and violence. Each day brings some new horror that gives lovers of the old Germany no less than outsiders. If that be the efficiency and smooth-running orderliness assigned to dictatorships, then Germany can have it.

There may be some virtue in dictatorship. But let us one tell you that it brings quietness and smooth-running efficiency, peace and calm.

The people of dictator-ridden countries have sold their birthright of liberty and the rights of man for a mess of pottage. And then they haven't even received the pottage.

Most cities talk much about enforcing safe traffic regulations. Some do—some don't.

The wheels of industry and commerce will hum only to the tune of prosperous times when all citizens realize an individual responsibility to better business.

It has been said that many merchants who do not advertise their business often find the sheriff advertising it for them.

Too many men are so intent upon admiring their own methods, their own progress, their own wisdom that they do not have time to observe their own faults.

Life is made up of a lot of things we don't like and some things we do like.

If your city means business, if it is determined to achieve mightiness, help it on its way.

H. E. Driscoll

Chief headquarters. He has been courteous and considerate of all cases presented to him whether direct or work relief and projects. He has an outstanding record of being always recognized by the state and national headquarters as one of the most efficient administrators in the service. He has built up an organization second to none in the state for efficiency and economy of relief operations. The question of dividing the state into districts was of national demand. Fortunately for the state relief set-up and the new counties that he will serve Mr. Driscoll has been retained in the service. His official capacity as County Relief Administrator of Eastland county terminated Thursday afternoon. He will assume active charge of District No. 17-A Saturday, August 10, as district administrator of counties consisting of Swisher, Erissee, Hall, Motley, Foyd, Castro, Farmer and Hale, with headquarters in Plainview, county seat of Hale county.

Mr. Driscoll states, "I have never in all my life enjoyed working in any community and with the citizenship as I have during my administration in the direct and work relief service in Eastland county. I am deeply and sincerely grateful for the fine spirit of friendship, and cooperation extended to me by the county board, Messrs Earl Conner of Eastland, chairman; Frank Kirk, oil operator of Gorman; Frank Robertson, insurance; Rising Star; E. L. Yarbrough, pharmacist of Carbon, County Judge Clyde Garrett and the county commissioners, the city commissioners of all cities and the county and home demonstration agent. These citizens have given me their undivided support and personal service at all and any time that they were called upon. Their advisory capacity was invaluable to me in the proper administration of relief activities. The citizens of all communities located in every direction of Eastland county were especially considerate and helpful to me. Those who were on relief were reasonable and in almost every instance cooperated with me in every respect. I am also grateful for every consideration and help extended to me by the civic organizations of all cities such as the Lions club, Rotary club, Chamber of Commerce, as well as the church organizations. The business interests of all communities in Eastland county will always have a special place in my heart for their superior support and advice. The employees of my entire organization have always been loyal and always were on the job whenever duty called them. I deeply regret leaving, and in making new contacts and friends in my new environments I shall always remember Eastland county and its citizens as a happy medium of contacts."

Mr. Driscoll states that the new district administrator with headquarters at Abilene Mr. R. C. Conroy, will assume active charge of the Eastland relief organization Friday, E. W. Mayer who has been in the accounting department of Eastland will go to the Abilene office in the certifying office. Miss Estelle Smith, who has been secretary to Mr. Driscoll, will go to Abilene to be secretary to J. D. Wells, district case worker supervisor. Twenty-one relief projects now in escrow will be transferred to the work progress administration at Abilene, to be handled by Winfield S. James, District Director, W. P. A.

FORMER OLDEN BOY NOW AT RANDOLPH FIELD IS HOME ON 30-DAY LEAVE

By OLIVE FORD STEPHENS
Living in a government army camp is like being in a different world, Carvie Fullen, Olden boy, stationed at Randolph field, San Antonio, comments. Carvie has served one year and five months of his three-year enlistment.

Since then Carvie has had many "hops" and enjoyed them all. That is, all but the one when he lost his goggles just as they left the ground and they fell through the hole by the stick and down into the fuselage and worked back toward the baggage compartment, with Carvie mudily watching and fishing for them. But it was not until he landed that he finally retrieved the goggles and once more could breathe at ease. Because the government goggles cost $36 a pair and enlisted men don't have $36 running around loose much of the time.

Camp life is very complete. There are commissary department, groceries and sundries, drug store, soft drinks, moving picture show, barber shop, filling station and all necessary accommodations, but now and then the boys go to San Antonio to see the sights. Once in a while one or more of the soldiers get into a little row with civilians but among themselves there is very little trouble. In fact in the 17 months he has been there, Carvie states he has seen only one fight between men in that camp. The next day their captain said, "Next time you boys decide to stage a battle, let us know so we can sell tickets. We could use a little money."

Yes, sir, talking with Carvie one gets the impression that here is a boy going after those high school credits and he will get them. And also here is a boy who is going places and seeing things in aviation.

New Threat to Auto Speeder

A new curb on auto speeders that promises startling results is shown in operation here—the Massachusetts State College highway speed meter. As a car passes the first of the two light source poles shown across the road, it starts the meter and as it passes the second, 18 inches distant, the recording instrument's operation is stopped, giving the speed within the fraction of a mile at 28 and within two miles an hour at 60.

BEULAH K. HICKS

By HARRY GRAYSON

TEMPERANCE AND HEALTH Daniel 1:8-20... prudence of the eunuchs who had charge of their table to serve them only vegetables and water.

HICKS, third baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, is another striking illustration of the fact that a ball player doesn't have to knock down minor leaguers to make a name for himself.

When Larry MacPhail paid the St. Louis Cardinal chain store system $20,000 for Riggs last winter, not a few got the idea.

It has long since been plain that MacPhail and his field director, little Charlie Drossen, knew what they were about, however Riggs, who hit only 277 for the Cardinals Columbus farm in 1934 is hitting 192 for the Reds.

His bat and brilliance at third base has contributed largely to the somewhat surprising showing of the Cincinnati outfit.

At the time of Riggs' purchase, Drossen remarked that he much preferred an intelligent, ambitious, aggressive, and mobile minor league hitter to one sweating and who is handicapped in their ways.

The 250 batter with a well-rounded game has a much better chance of striking in the big league than the "big gun" pitcher.

Minor League Terrors Flop in Majors ANY minor league slugger has failed to make the grade in the big league.

On the other hand, scores of major league stars... the minors with ordinary batting averages.

Ducky Harris was hitting just 252 when Washington purchased his contract from Buffalo in 1918.

The Senators had similar luck with Joe Cronin, whose career so closely parallels that of Harris.

Joey Sewell Stepped Right in With Improved Batting Mark JOEY SEWELL was hitting 289 for New Orleans in 1920 when a pitch by Carl Mays killed Ray Chapman.

There are numerous players active in the minors today who were no great shucks with the willow in the minors, among them at least two who now are terrors to pitchers—Hank Greenberg and Gabby Hartnett.

Leo Durocher and Rabbit Warfield have hit as lightly in the majors as they did in the minors, yet are integral parts of big league machines.

by the gorgeous colors of crimson and purple of courage lighting the path of the figure struggling up the mountain by prayer and study of the word, amid the blossoming shrubs of love, hope and charity, to the high peak of purity found in nearness to God.

The words of the Lord are pure words: as silver tried in a furnace of earth, purified seven times.—Psalm 12:6.

If the haven desired by all people is ever found it must be by the way of the lowly Nazarene who was the Great Artist of living. He is not a representative of God but an embodiment of God.

comrades. In reading the Book of Daniel we find that it is not merely giving an account of Daniel's life but deals more with the fact that God with all his power and foreknowledge controls and directs the history of nations.

Daniel was the outstanding personality in the group of boys leading them in their study and devotions always relying upon God as the source of all wisdom.

In all of the wickedness of the court he maintained a quiet strength and poise that revealed the true art of living.

Art—we hear the word on all sides but what is art? We find the two letters "art" to be an ancient word root that appears in many languages.

The great painter, Walter Sargent, said: "Art is not a mere skillful representation of nature, but a concrete embodiment of a significant range of human experience."

So we see Daniel as a great figure in history, a great artist in the manner of life because he embodied God's truths in his life both by study and practice until the picture lingers even today while those of the crowd who dined on the rich food and drink of the king are forgotten.

What a challenge today for all people who are not only seeking and striving to attain greatness in power and personality by keeping up with the mad whirl of worldly ways.

For thus saith the word God, the Holy one of Israel: In returning and rest shall ye be saved; in quietness and in confidence shall be your strength.—Isaiah 30:15.

Then are they glad because they are quiet: so he bringeth them unto their desired haven.—Psalm 107:30.

This quietness cannot be attained in intemperance in eating or drinking or thinking. So many Christian men do not think through the great issue of prohibition that will be voted upon in a few days.

It is pointed out, by the same authority, that Strawn has offered the people trades days on the days they want to shop instead of on the days that have been proven to be not so good for drawing people into town because the people themselves stay away on those days.

Maybe with the two motorcades already behind, and the big one on Aug. 20, Ranger will induce some of the people to come back.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Corrects Constipation*

An enthusiastic and voluntary letter: "We have a daughter who has been troubled all her life with constipation. About three months ago, we discovered All-Bran. From that day to now we have not given her any form of laxative. "We have become "All-Bran" users, and now it is a part of our daily diet."—Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Pope, 562 Maple Ave., Elmira, N. Y.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. All-Bran provides gentle "bulk" to aid regular habits. It also furnishes vitamin B and iron. The "bulk" in All-Bran is often more effective than the "bulk" in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. If not corrected this way, see your doctor.

Isn't this food much pleasanter and safer than risking patent medicines? Get the red and green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

but Drann's one of these sound, for realism. Wants to get the background in he says. Fragonet in a cigarette swiftly. "Old-fashioned directing is what I'd call it."
 "He could have picked a warmer day," said Bret. "His voice filled with dislike for the actor. 'That water will be pretty chilly this morning, won't it?'"

"They'll get that scene later. As he brings her along, Drann wants to follow in the boat."
 Now the speedboat was bearing off from the platform toward the swim-boat with its diving tower. Here it stopped long enough to allow Monter to disembark and with out a moment's hesitation she climbed to the first station.

WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXIX
 Drann's prediction of the "big scene" was a prediction of the day. Fenris and the riding paths, the bathing beach were the scene of the lake in movie activities.

He was interrupted by the powerful voice of Drann bawling out over the water from the motorboat. "Fragonet! Out on the platform here, please."
 Fragonet smiled at Jo. "Sorry. Have to get to work."

"I could dive long before I could swim," Jo told Tubby seriously. "But she certainly has nerve to go into that depth with these breeches and boots on."
 "THERE were some anxious moments while Monter stood like the little soldier she was, and Drann locked for position in the boat. It was difficult for not only did he have to select a camera angle which would not show the tower but he had to hold that position fairly well until the wake of the boat subsided. At last Jo saw him glance at the cameraman and then Drann signaled to Lolita Montez.

Drann and his outfit suddenly retreated to the shore. Drann had had that in mind. It was important that in the picture, the truth of the scene would be evident in the completed scene. The real "big scene" would be filmed in the safety of the Atlas Hollywood. Nevertheless, Drann was looking out from the interest of the n' Guan Mr. and Mrs. Bowen, Texas.

He trotted down to the lake and out to the edge of the platform. Drann came alongside in the motorboat, and Fragonet knelt on the boards while the director talked and exultated in another moment Lolita Montez, still in her riding breeches, joined Fragonet on the platform. Presently Drann helped her into the boat.

She did not dive. She felt just as though her descent had been sudden, unanticipated. Bret knelt low and alert at the bow of the boat, out of range of the camera waiting. It seemed to Jo that the actress stared beneath the surface for minutes, and when she did appear she flung one arm upward, thrashed the water with the other. Jo almost screamed. Why didn't Bret jump? And then it came to Jo that the relentless Drann wanted that precious footage of film which would show her instant of helplessness. In another second the boat slid forward. Bret reached down and pulled her aboard with one powerful movement.

There are relatively few private automobiles here, in comparison with American or western European cities. However, as their production increases and as the state carries out its program of road-building around Moscow, the number of persons driving into the country is constantly growing.

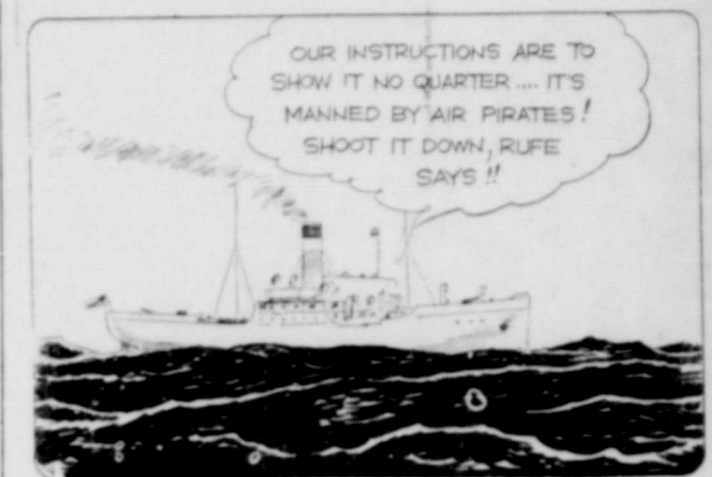

Just An Innocent Looking Fly, But Man's Worst Enemy

"Of all the natural enemies of man, the fly unquestionably takes precedence over all others," states Rex Research corporation, who has made a 15-year study of flies. Says, "Flies are the filthiest things tentorial carrier of disease and death and more to be feared than violence or accidents."

The list of diseases, often in epidemic proportions, proved by scientists to be traced directly to germs carried by flies includes almost a complete record of the ills to which man is prone. Tuberculosis, sleeping sickness, typhoid fever, cholera and dysentery are but a few of the serious maladies that definitely have been proved to be communicated by common house flies.

WILLS WILL BE BUILT AS PROJECTS

WILL Aug. 9.—The Administration announcement of Administrator offering a great impetus construction of school in Texas, states Julian Acting State Director is approaching the Texas will turn toward school work. The waiting for them new school buildings by PWA at a total cost of $2,000,000.

PWA building program in the Main Building of the State of Texas, which is estimated in about a year of some $2,000,000. PWA had, through non-appropriated grants, financial projects through the United States, costing $1,000,000 and including both school projects and Uni-officials should not take the risk of delaying the filing of applications for projects which they desire to finance through PWA.

Muscovites Hie To Open Fields

MOSCOW—Muscovites, more than most people, are lured by the open country.

This was shown by a recent official checkup on the way some 1,500,000 residents of Moscow spent their "free day," or day of rest, which comes every six days. Of this number more than one-third, or 600,000, bought tickets for suburban trains. Some spent the day at their own "datchas," or summer houses. The less fortunate went to rest-homes, tourist bases or walked in the country.

Meanwhile, 500,000 more spent the day in various parks or sports grounds or in the open-air theaters. Some 250,000 visited the Central Park of Culture and Rest alone. More than 70,000 were lured by the cool waters of the Moscow River. Over 36,000 visited the zoo.

Museums and libraries during these warm summer days are not so popular. On the day of the checkup, only 2,716 persons visited the Tretyakov art gallery, although the attendance in winter is much larger. Two thousand persons visited the Museum of the Revolution, and a special art exhibit by Moscow painters drew only 1,040 patrons.

The great urge to wander from or about the city on free-day heavily taxes the transportation system. On the Moscow street railroad sold 5,695,000 tickets, or nearly 2,000,000 more than the population of the city. The new city subway, which is five times as expensive as the tramway, carried 240,000 passengers, or about 70,000 more than on normal days. Also a great increase in automobile and taxi traffic was noted.

Director Montgomery stated that applications for projects should be submitted to the Public Works Administration (PWA) without delay. "It is likely that the next 6 to 8 weeks will tell the story," he said. If applications have not been submitted during that interim, then there is danger that they may be too late. While no definite date has been set to quit receiving applications, public
