

Maybe it's just as well Haile Selassie's oil coup petered out. How could one keep his car shined up if those gas station cadets went to war?

PEEPING THRU The KNOTHOLE

With BILL MAYES

From all indications the Bulldogs are sorely afflicted with as bad an epidemic of grandstand-coachitis as one could find anywhere in the state. In other words practically everyone who ever saw a football game has made up his mind what is wrong with the Bulldogs and wants to relay his vast store of knowledge on to the coach, with us as the messenger, which we have politely and firmly refused to be. Our contention, and we have told several so, is that the coach can do more coaching without everyone trying to but in and tell him how to do things.

He has always condescended to let us conduct the editorial department of this paper without interference, and we suppose he has done likewise with the lawyers, the barbers, druggists, dry goods merchants, the preachers, and others of the citizenry, too numerous to mention. So we maintain that he should be accorded the same privilege with the coaching job he has.

Honesty Pays Better Than Job

Honesty proved the long sought Open Sesame to opportunity for Albert Corrieri, $3.15-a-week New York delivery boy who found $150,000 in negotiable securities and returned them to the owner. A reward and more lucrative job loomed for him.

PROBERS TOLD OF ABUSES TO THE TRUCKERS

AUSTIN, Oct. 1.—Legislative investigators of alleged abuses on Texas truck operators by motor carrier law enforcers today were weighing evidence from both sides, given at a hearing last night.

Representatives of truckers all reported alleged indiscretions of officers stopping trucks. Truck operators preferred to pay charges, just or unjust, witnesses said, rather than face a greater expense of carrying the case to court.

Mark Marshall, director of the motor transportation division, said delays to truckers were necessary since the only way officers have to ascertain what goods were being carried was to stop trucks.

Strawn Secures a Loan and Grant for Big Dam Project

Word was received in Strawn today of approval of an application for a PWA loan and grant for the purpose of building a dam to impound water for the City of Strawn.

The amount of the grant is $56,250 while the loan is for $74,750, a total of $131,000.

The project is for the purpose of building a 1,574 foot dam five miles west of Strawn. The work is to start on Nov. 12 and will require 18 months to complete. The project was turned in by Mayor J. M. Tucker of Strawn. It is estimated that the lake made by the dam will be about five miles in length.

Cisco Masons to Be Hosts to a Grand Lodge Meet

WACO.—The Committee on Masonic Education and Service for the Grand Lodge of Texas, with the approval of Grand Master John H. Crooker of Houston, has announced a series of twenty four zone meetings in as many cities, beginning on Monday, Oct. 21 and continuing until Nov. 14. Each speaker will discuss the subject, "The Grand Lodge of Texas, its Purposes and Activities."

The centers in which these meetings have been designated have been so arranged that any mason in Texas can attend at least one of them and not be forced to travel a distance greater than 100 miles. Reports received from the district deputy grand masters throughout the State indicate they will be the most largely attended of any similar meetings ever held in the Grand Jurisdiction.

The Grand Lodge of Texas will meet in its one hundredth communication at Waco on Dec. 4 and continue for three days. Some three thousand masons are expected to be present. Among the cities in which the meetings will be held, together with the name of the speaker and date of the meeting is Cisco, Thursday, Oct. 31, Judge S. P. Sadler.

GORMAN OIL AREA ACTIVE WITH SEVEN WELLS BEING DRILLED

GORMAN, Sept. 30.—With seven wells being drilled and a like number in sight, prospects for a new oil era in this county are strengthening daily.

The equipment for the well of Gallagher and Lawson on the Moates has been put on the ground and the rig will be put up within a day or two.

The second Gorman well, being drilled by States Oil corporation, is now down to 2400 feet and barring hard luck should be ready for the acid within a few days.

Adjoining the Stone tract south of town the Woodie well is down to better than 2,500 feet. The six inch casing was cemented last week and they are now drilling the plug preparatory to giving it the acid test.

Farther west from them on the Lusk tract the well of Martin and Case is now at 1340 with the eight inch casing set. They have had plenty of water in the hole and had to fight it all the way down. Unless they get a lot more water they will go down to the pay level with an open hole the remainder of the distance which will run about 1200 feet.

The old well on the Lusk tract which was given the acid test several weeks ago is still making seven barrels per hour.

On the Hampton well the boys got a flood of water at 15 feet when they started to spud and they worked for several days just bailing water in an effort to lower it in the hole. They finally had to set the surface casing to shut the water off and they are now shut down for a few days.

To the west of town on the Fleming tract Walton et al are down to 2500 feet and are making good time. They hope to have this well in operation within a short time if they have no trouble.

On the Bascom Johnson tract they are now engaged in a nice fishing job and have been at it for some time. The boys think they are about done with that job however.

As soon as Walton's men get off of one of these wells in the Jewell country they are moving north of Gorman to the vicinity of the Woods well and will start work there on a series of eight or ten wells.

Fuel and tools are now being stored on the Woods for use in that section.

With the Thompson well of Northrup and Campbell being cleaned out after a shot of nitro in a deeper pay, it begins to look good for it to be a real producer.

Several leases have been sold in the last few days in the area between the Do Leon highway and the Duster road and there will likely be a number of tests drilled there if these other wells come in for almost any production.

It's Artichoke Blossom Time!

When it's artichoke blossom time in San Mateo county, Calif.—and it is right now, as pretty Sally McGrew of Burlingame demonstrates—everyone there is busy and happy.

From the first specimens of the vegetable grown in the United States, this district has built up a thriving artichoke industry. And beauty, it seems, has kept apace.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE ARE IN NEW ACCORD

PARIS, Oct. 1.—Britain and France moved a step nearer unity today in the face of a menace of war an official spokesman said, and the chances are three to one France will support Britain.

This development came after "important" conversations between Pierre Laval and Sir George Clerk, British ambassador and a meeting of Laval and the Prince of Wales.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—The Prince of Wales was host to Premier Laval and the Minister of Marine and Post Offices at the British embassy lunch today, which followed a conference between Laval and Sir George Clerk, British ambassador.

Both conversations were considered as of major importance in the Italian-Ethiopian dispute, coming at a time Britain is seeking to gain French support and France seeks, in return, to win Britain's agreement to act in any crisis involving European nations—really Germany.

WAR EXPECTED IN ETHIOPIA AT ANY TIME

ROME, Oct. 1.—Italians today awaited news that war with Ethiopia had started in the wild, frontier zone of the East African colonies of Eritria and Somaliland.

Statements of officials left no room for doubt war was imminent. In a broad zone between the Italian colonies and Ethiopia, Italians, armed with every engine of modern warfare and Ethiopian tribal warriors, faced each other.

An official dispatch from Asmara, capital and chief war base of Eritria, denied Ethiopians had retired 20 miles behind the frontier as Emperor Haile Selassie said. The Ethiopian outposts remained where they always had been, the dispatch said, and had been reinforced.

Indicative of feeling here, a spokesman commenting on reports Italian troops had crossed the frontier, said he had no news of such an advance but it was believed Ethiopians in the ill defined zone would be out of hand soon and would attack Italians suddenly.

VOTE 71 TO 68 TO CONSIDER A MONOPOLY

Bill Passed By House Can Be Taken Up For Consideration Again Now.

AUSTIN, Oct. 1.—Liquor license advocates won a first test of strength in the house today, 71 to 68. They defeated a motion which would have prevented re-consideration of the liquor monopoly bill, passed by the house yesterday, 72 to 67.

The motion to table was by Representative Sydney Latham, Longview, who urged the house not to "somersault from their action" in favor of a monopoly. Debate on the motion to reconsider was to begin at 2 p. m.

Should re-consideration be considered the monopoly bill would be thrown out. Latham asked the house to stand pat on the grounds legislators "have almost, if not quite, a mandate from the people for a state monopoly."

"I think it would be an indictment against this house to somersault on this bill," he said.

R. E. Morse, Houston, author of the license bill, told dry members that measure would not necessarily legalize by-the-drink sales. The first amendment to be offered if his bill is brought up, he said, will be to insert a no-drinking-on-the-premises provision.

One of the new model radios, with the metal tubes, which are designed for more stable reception, extreme quietness, more efficiency and more enjoyable reception, is being installed in the Times office in order that the play-by-play of the games between Detroit and Chicago may be received.

Oil Belt Teachers Committee Meets

The executive committee of the Oil Belt Teachers Association met last night in the tea room of the Laguna Hotel at Cisco.

The meeting was called to lay plans for the fall meeting of this association which is to be held in Cisco Tuesday, Oct. 29. The theme of curriculum revision from the teachers' and administrators' side will be followed. Speakers of renown and of outstanding accomplishments in their fields will appear on the program.

Other items of business passed on were accepting the invitation of Abilene for the spring meeting of this association and the election of Superintendent Walton of Ranger to fill the vacancy on the committee occasioned by R. F. Holloway's resignation, and the re-election of O. G. Lanier as secretary-treasurer.

Those present at the meeting were Ross, principal of Mineral Wells High School and chairman of the committee; O. G. Lanier of Ranger, secretary-treasurer; Superintendent Cluck of Cisco; Principal Brandon of Cisco High School; Superintendent Williams of Cross Plains; Superintendent Green of Hamlin; Principal Woolridge of Sweetwater High School; Superintendent Walton of Ranger; Superintendent McGehay of Taylor county schools.

Woodruff was made chairman of the program committee. Williams was named chairman of the legislative committee, and McGehay was appointed chairman of the committee on resolutions for this fall meeting of the association.

Each teacher in the 13 counties of the Oil Belt territory is invited to this meeting in Cisco Oct. 29.

THINK ANALYSIS OF GORMAN GIRL MAY GIVE LIGHT

Justice of Peace Todd at Gorman Monday night awaited a report on an analysis of the viscera of Wayne Delberry, 16-year-old school girl who died last week, which was sent to Austin for examination.

Contents of the stomach at first were thought to include strychnine which officials reasoned might be responsible for the girl's death.

Louis Dolberry, also 16 and cousin of the girl, has made $5,000 bond on a murder charge in connection with the case.

Prepares Requests For Education Aid Of County Schools

Applications of 29 Eastland county schools for state aid are being prepared for transmission to the rural aid division of the State Department of Education, County Superintendent C. S. Eldridge announced Tuesday.

The requests ask for aid which approximate $40,000, and will, if approved, provide money for tuition, transportation and salary aid for teachers.

BRITAIN IS READY FOR A WAR ANY TIME

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Great Britain, dreading war, is nevertheless ready for it and its dire consequences, the news from Europe indicated today.

There were straws in the wind which seemed to indicate that London is at least considering possibility of closing the Suez canal and the Strait of Gibraltar, bottling up Italy in the Mediterranean and isolating her armies in Africa.

The modernized battleship, Juven Elizabeth, arrived at Gibraltar and steamed in the direction of the canal to reinforce the scores of battleships and other warships already assembled there.

More air force officers and men also arrived for service with the formidable air fleet Britain is assembling at both ends of the Mediterranean and at Malta.

Most significant was the disclosure at Paris that Rome recognizes the Mediterranean may be closed in contracting for 120,000,000 tons of French coal—coal is vital to Italy because she has none—the Italians stipulated it must be delivered overland by rail if the sea route is closed.

Life Was Great Risk Only 84 Years Ago

There came to this desk not long ago a copy of a life insurance policy, issued by the American Temperance Life Insurance Company in the year 1851.

After setting forth the company's obligations in the usual stilted language, the policy went on to tell what the insured person might not do while the policy was in force.

The contract would be void, it stated, if the insured person should, without consent of the company, pass beyond the "settled limits" of the United States (with the exception of certain parts of Canada), visit California or Oregon, travel south of the southern borders of Virginia or Kentucky between the months of June and November, take a job as locomotive engineer or fireman or as tender of a stationary steam engine, or die as a result of a duel.

By glancing at this formidable list of restrictions, we can see what human actions were looked upon as specially risky in the days before the Civil War—and, in that way, we can get a revealing picture of the state of society in those days.

No visit to California or Oregon—if you went by sea you had to pass around dangerous Cape Horn, or take a short cut across Panama, which was full of yellow fever; if you went by land, you had to cross trackless wilderness full of hostile Indians. Such trips, obviously, were no bargain for an insurance company.

Just why a man would become a bad risk if he went into the south in the summertime is not so clear. The southland was a settled and orderly land. The only explanation that occurs to one is the fact that yellow fever and malaria used to pop up in the south in hot weather; that, presumably, was what the insurance company had in mind.

The restriction on having anything to do with steam engines is an interesting one. A steam engine was apt to be a dangerous contraption, in 1851. One could never quite be sure that it was not going to blow up.

A locomotive cab was an even more dangerous place; roadbeds were insecure, block signals were unheard of, dispatching systems were rudimentary—yes, the company was wise to rule out engineers.

And duels . . . the old custom had not yet died, though it was on the way out. A hot-tempered and prideful man could still get in a duel, and the hazard was at least great enough to be worth mentioning in an insurance policy.

That, then, was our United States less than 90 years ago. When you think how absurd such a policy would sound today, you can get a measure of the changes in American life.

An Old Colonial Town Scorns Rushing Cities

It isn't often that the birthday celebration of a town of 7000 inhabitants becomes a national event. But when the people of Concord, Mass., got together the other day to mark their town's 300th anniversary, the occasion was something for all America to notice.

In that fact there is a neat little object lesson about the things that make a city great.

Concord is a little place, and a sleepy one, as New England towns go, attractive with its colonial houses, its trees, and its general air of having come through the Revolution only day before yesterday. It is like a dozen other Massachusetts towns—and yet, at the same time, utterly unlike them. It has a strange and distinguished history.

Its fame is not due merely to the accident of war. To be sure, the Revolution did get under way there. Those farmers who formed at the end of a bridge and found out that homespun Americans could stand up against British regulars started something that hasn't ended yet, and put a great day in the annals of their nation; yet it was not solely on their account that Concord's tercentenary was a national event.

Concord is worth remembering because it is a living proof that it is neither commerce, finance, nor industry that makes a city great, but the moral and intellectual caliber of its people.

In Concord lived Emerson Thoreau, Hawthorne—and they made this little country town, for a time, the intellectual capital of the United States. Europeans knew the towns as a source of clear, enlightened thinking, a center for steadfast devotion to that moral and spiritual freedom which was America's greatest contribution to the world.

Now Concord came to its fame at the very time when America was at its busiest in the great task of expansion and physical development. The railroad era was just beginning, the winning of the west was just starting, the whole tremendous job of clearing a continent and founding a civilization upon it was taking all the energy and intelligence that the nation could supply.

Concord shared in none of this. It remained aloof, like Thoreau at Walden pond, and saw to it that the new nation's mind and spirit developed along with its powerful, lusty body.

It has always been our tendency to worship bigness. Concord ought to be a reminder that bigness and greatness do not necessarily go together.

Judged by any material standard, Concord is just another small town. Yet its name is one of the most important in the history of the republic.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

Willis Thornton, NEA Service staff correspondent, is pinch-hitting for Rodney Dutcher, NEA Washington correspondent, while Dutcher is on his vacation.

BY WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt undoubtedly would appreciate a quiet, peaceful session of Congress next winter, but Congress is likely to have different ideas.

For it looks as if the people who have been demanding that Congress assert itself and shake loose from White House dictation are to have their wish. Even if the president did announce that "the basic program now has reached substantial conclusion and the breathing spell is here."

But there will be controversial bills, and reform bills, too, despite the White House dictum.

It won't be the administration's fault. All the reformers are by no means in the administrative end. There are quite enough in Congress to assure a lively session without White House stimulation.

Congress, asserting that wished-for independence of the executive, passed the Spanish War pension bill and the potato control bill, neither of which the administration wanted. In fact, the AAA has consistently held potato control impossible to administer, and tending to boost the price of still another staple "poor man's food."

It wanted no part of it, but now, in the face of open defiance by some farmers, it must try to administer the will of Congress as best it can.

THIS winter the World War bonus will come to a head immediately. A vote has been promised in January. The administration is against it. But this time it looks as though Congress will show its independence and pass it anyway.

And that will be a business jitters they can't lay at the White House door. Roosevelt "took the rap" by vetoing it once; he can't be expected to take it forever.

As to reform the O'Mahoney bill aimed at federal control of interstate business through a system of federal incorporation, or practically licensing, will be actively pushed by the American Federation of Labor.

It's not an administration bill, it's not part of the "basic program," but it's going to get strong backing from congressmen who have declared their independence of all that. Another business jitters that isn't the administration's baby.

The United Textile Workers are going to go to bat for the Ellenbogen bill, which does for the textile industry what the Guffey bill does for soft coal.

STRONGER neutrality legislation, a new relief appropriation, ship subsidy policy, legislation to solve the perennial railroad problem, the food and drug bill, a move to liberalize the social security act even before it gets going, the Walsh bill to put NRA conditions in government contracts, a permanent wages-and-hours bill being studied by Senator Wagner, long-pending copyright legislation—all these have backing among congressmen who are manifesting that independence of administration direction which so many have longed for.

It assures a lively session without regard to administration views.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

Incidentally everyone who made the Amarillo trip is more or less highly elated. But in a different way from the way they joked about the San Angelo game. The consensus of opinion among those who saw the game was the Bulldogs did much better than the score indicated, and the most cheering aspect of the whole thing is that the boys are getting the proper football spirit, if the calamity howlers around town will just leave them alone and quit trying to do coaching on the side.

More trouble and confusion can be stirred up within a football team that is not winning games by the outsiders trying to tell what they know about the game and how everyone should play, where they should play and what the coach should do, if anything, than could be stirred up between Italy and Ethiopia.

"We have more material than we have ever had," is the wail of some.

"But just what is material? There you have them. They will quote weights of players. But did they ever stop to think that there are a lot of elements that enter into a football game than weight? When Jack Dempsey was world heavyweight champion there were probably 25,000 men of his age in the United States alone who weighed as much, or more. Yet Jack was the champion. He had the ability, ability gained through experience and training.

The Bulldogs have some weight, they have some training and they have some experience. They will gain in everything but weight as the pre-season games are behind them, so there is no reason for a squawk until they get down to serious business and begin playing conference games. These pre-season games are to add seasoning to the players, but they can do little with everyone trying to boss the coaching job, off the field.

A school can't win all the time, and Ranger has won so long the fans are spoiled. They can't take defeat. But Dewey Mawhat at Abilene won the state championship in 1931 and has not won in the district since, which is no reflection on Mawhat as a coach, but means merely that he has not had the ability on his teams he had in 1931.

But do we have the best material we have ever had? Even judging by weight, as some are doing, we don't. Back in 1931, when Curtis was coaching, the team won only from Eastland and Brownwood, tied Cisco and lost to Abilene and Breckenridge by 14 to 0 and 25 to 0. That year the four tackles on the team weighed more than 180, two being listed at that weight, one at 192 and the other at over 200, so the team had more "material" at tackles. The end-weighted 170 each, another case of material, while the guards were 147, 170, 170 and 156. More material. In the backfield the weight-lister that year were 190, 170, 168, 168, 148 and 180. More weight, so more material, but the team couldn't win. So weight and material are not necessarily synonyms as far as football is concerned.

But the main thing that cheers many is the spirit. That is what counts to a great degree. Spirit, brains, speed. So we still expect to see Ranger in the win column before the football season gets well underway. If the Main street coaches will let them.

Ethiopian Cocktail Described by Senator

AUSTIN.—Senator Clint C. Small, Amarillo, sent the recipe for an Ethiopian cocktail to the Senate's committee considering liquor regulation.

"The drink takes its name," Small said, "from its effect. One drink makes you roar like a conquering lion."

"We know that's the kind of liquor they have in dry territory," responded Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodul, from wet Houston.

Band Committee Is Organized Monday For Coming Season

A big year for the Ranger band was forecast at an enthusiastic meeting held Monday night, at which time a new committee for the coming year was named to outline a financial and activities program. The committee is composed of F. D. Hicks, chairman; C. E. May, secretary; and Mrs. E. M. Glazner, J. A. Johnson and Dr. W. L. Jackson as members.

A meeting is being held today with the athletic committee of the Ranger High school, in order that a plan for playing at football games might be worked out similar to the one made with the committee last season.

With the organization of the new committee new policies, new methods of checking and caring for the equipment belonging to the band and an even more concerted effort to help make the Ranger band one of the outstanding organizations of the town is anticipated.

Last year, the first under which the band operated under a committee of citizens, proved to be the most prosperous, the most active and from every standpoint, the best the band has ever experienced.

Collections on pledges are to be continued as in the past, and there is every indication that the financial condition of the band, which was put in good condition last year, will be just as good this year under the new setup.

Fellowship Rally At First Baptist to Be Held Tonight

A great fellowship rally will be held at the First Baptist church tonight from 7:30 till 9:30. Every man, woman and child in the church is expected to be present for this important meeting.

Frank Walker of Cisco will address the meeting for 30 minutes. The speaker will bring a message that will greatly bless every person present. Following his address there will be an open meeting in which questions may be asked, suggestions offered, and testimonies given. The final feature of the meeting will be a brief and delightful "get acquainted" season in special recognition of the splendid group of new members which has been received into the church during recent months.

"This meeting has already created wide interest among the membership of the church," Rev. G. W. Thomas stated today. "A rising tide of spirituality is being experienced by the congregation, and there is observed on every hand evidences of a forward march toward greater progress. There have been additions to the church every Sunday for several weeks. Tonight's meeting is being held in compliance with requests on the part of laymen of the church, and is expected to contribute much toward making the ministry of the church a more spiritual and helpful one to the community, and to the world about us."

Feeding of Circus Tremendous Problem

Imagine a town or city of 500 to 1500 people, their usual run of business houses and all the branches of business it requires to supply them with the necessities of life. Just picture a city that same size traveling about throughout the universe. All the people in one gathering or body and always intact. Then visualize the tremendous problem of feeding a traveling city. That is what Seal Bros. Circus does every day in the year. Each day in a different city or town and a different location. Each day the kitchen is set up in some other town, sometimes 200 miles away. Then try to compare this organization back of it, that has all three meals at a regular time. They seldom miss the hour at the time the meal is called. After you have pictured this problem then you have a fair idea of the terrific task you would have if you were required to supervise the labor of it all. It would seem impossible to do so, but that is exactly what Seal Bros. Circus does every day, like all large circuses in America, accomplish from day to day as a part of the usual routine. Buying of the bread, meat, groceries and other provisions and preparing the daily rations for the people of the Tented City, as Seal Bros. Circus is nothing less than a small city within itself, as they have their own doctor, lawyer, detective, baker, barber, carpenter, mechanics, nurses, veterinarians, in fact every artisan of a small city.

Cardui Pain Relief Also Strengthening For Weak Women

Failure to receive proper nourishment from the food they eat is believed to cause many women to have monthly suffering which stronger women escape.

Promptly relieving certain functional pain, and (by its continued use) strengthening the entire system,—Cardui has won the praise of thousands of women.

"I suffered quite a bit of pain, cramping and bad feeling and this made me extremely nervous," writes Mrs. H. Anglada, of Biloxi, Miss. "A friend recommended Cardui and I commenced using it right away. Cardui did me so much good — built me up and I was much better in every way. I took twelve bottles in all. I am glad I heard of Cardui."

Of course, if Cardui does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.
